

A

A. Note of the scale (6th degree of natural scale of C). Hence Ab, Abb, Anat., A#, A##, A major, A minor, etc. A is note commonly used for tuning instr. (orchs. tune to the ob. A). A = 440 vibrations per second, internationally accepted since 1939, although some orchs. still accept A = 435 and (in USA) A = 445.

A (It.), À (Fr.). At, by, for, with, in, to, in the manner of, etc. For expressions beginning with A or À, e.g. A cappella, Atempo, see under their own entries. 'A 2' in orch. scores and parts directs (a) 2 instr. that normally play separate parts (e.g. the 2 ob. or 2 fl.) to play in unison, or (b) 2 or more instr. that normally play in unison (e.g. 1st vns.) to divide to play the separate parts provided for them.

A. Analytical term used to describe first section of a piece of music, i.e. A B A = first section, different section, first section repeated, as in many songs.

A. Abbreviation for accelerando found particularly in Elgar's scores.

A.A.G.O. Associate of the American Guild of Organists.

Ab (Ger.). Off. In org. mus., applied to a stop no longer required.

ABA. Term of analysis to describe form of a piece of mus., i.e. 1st section (A) followed by different section (B) followed by repeat of 1st section (A). Many permutations possible.

Abaco, Evaristo Felice dall' (b Verona, 1675; d Munich, 1742). It. violinist and composer at the Munich court; wrote sonatas and concs. for vn., vc., etc.

Abandonné (Fr.). Negligent (in such an expressionas Un rythme un peu abandonné--rhythm rather free-and-easy).

Abbà-Cornaglia, Pietro (b Alessandria, Piedmont, 1851; d Alessandria, 1894). It. composer and organist. Operas incl. Isabella Spinola (1877) and Una partitadi scacchi (1892). Also wrote a requiem and chamber mus.

Abbado, Claudio (b Milan, 1933). It. cond. Studied pf. and comp., Verdi Acad., Milan, and cond. in Vienna. Won Koussevitzky Award at Berkshire Music Center, 1958, Mitropoulos prize, 1963. Cond. Berlin P.O. 1964 and at Salzburg Fest. 1965. Prin. cond., La Scala, Milan, 1968--86; regular cond., Vienna P.O. from 1970. Eng. début Manchester 1965. CG début 1968 (Don Carlos). Prin. cond. LSO from 1979. Mus. dir., Vienna Opera from 1986.

Abbandono (It.). Abandon. Free, impassioned style. Hence the adverb abbandonatamente, vehemently.

A battuta (It.). With the beat, indicating return to strict tempo.

Abbassare (It.). To lower, e.g. to tune down a str. of an instr. of the vn. family to obtain a note normally outside its compass.

Abbatini, Antonio Maria (b Città di Castello, c.1609; d Città di Castello, 1677). It. church musician and composer. Choirmaster at St John Lateran and other Roman churches. Helped to prepare new edn. of Gregorian hymns. Wrote several operas, incl. the comedy Dal male il bene (Rome, 1653).

Abbellimenti (It.). Ornaments, embellishments.

Abbreviations. Signs whereby writing-out of phrases or groups of notes may be abbreviated. For example, continued repetition of a note is indicated by crossing its stem with one or more strokes to show the required sub-division into smaller values (fortriplets or groups of 6 the figures 3 or 6 are added above the notes); and a passage to be played in octaves may be written as a single line, with the words con ottave or con 8ve.

Abdämpfen (Ger.). To damp off. To mute, especially in connection with timp.

Abduction from the Seraglio, The (Mozart). See Entführung aus dem Serail, Die.

Abe, Komei (b Hiroshima, 1911). Japanese composer and cond. Studied vc. Tokyo Acad. of Mus., then in Ger. with Pringsheim (comp. 1933--6) and cond. with Rosenstock (1935--9). Prof. of comp., Kyoto Univ. of Arts 1969--74. Works incl.: Theme and Variations, orch. (1936), vc. conc. (1942), pf. conc. (1945), Sym. No. 1 (1957), No. 2 (1960), Serenade (1963), Sinfonietta (1965), Variations on a Subject by Grieg, brass ens. (1972); 9 str. qts. (1935--55), 2 fl. sonatas (1948, 1949), cl. quintet (1942), pf. sextet (1964), pf. sonatina (1970), choral mus., songs, film mus.

Abegg Variations. Schumann's Op. 1, for solo pf., comp. 1830. Written on a theme made out of the notes A--Bb (Ger. B = Eng. Bb)--E--G--G, and ded. to his friend Meta Abegg.

Abel, Karl Friedrich (b Cöthen, 1723; d London, 1787). Ger. composer and player of viola da gamba. Pupil of J. S. Bach at Leipzig; orch. player under Hasse at Dresden 1748--58. Settled in London 1759, becoming chamber musician to Queen Charlotte. Associated with J. C. Bach in promoting and directing subscription concerts 1764--82. Comps. incl. ov. to T. Arne's pasticcio Love in a village (1762), syms., ovs., sonatas, etc.

Abencérages, Les. Opera in 3 acts by Cherubini to lib. by V. J. E. de Jouy, based on Florian's novel Gonzalve de Cordove (f.p. Paris, 1813; revived Florence, 1957). Title refers to Moorish Abenceragi warriors.

Abend (Ger.). Evening; Abendlied. Evening Song; Abendmusik. Evening mus. perfs., usually religious and specifically those by Buxtehude at Lübeck on the 5 Sundays before Christmas, started in 1673. Continued after his death until 1810.

Abercrombie, Alexander (b London, 1949). Eng. pianist and composer. Studied RCM. Début London 1972. Gave f.ps. of pf. works by Finnissy, Xenakis, Skalkottas, etc.

Albert, Hermann (b Stuttgart, 1871; d Stuttgart, 1927). Ger. mus. scholar. His recasting (1919--21) of Jahn's standard life of Mozart was very important. Prof. at Univs. of Leipzig (1920), Berlin (1923).

Aberystwyth. Hymn-tune by Joseph Parry to which words 'Jesu, lover of my soul' are sung. Tune pubd. 1879. Words, by Charles Wesley, written in 1740 for his Hymns and Sacred Poems.

Abide With Me. Hymn, words written by Rev. Henry Francis Lyte (1793--1847) in 1820 after attending death-bed of friend at Pole Hore, near Wexford, and first pubd. in Lyte's Remains (1850). Tune, 'Eventide', comp. by organist William Henry Monk (1823--89) for these words for Hymns Ancient and Modern (1861). Descant by Vaughan Williams in Songs of Praise (1925). Among most popular hymns, nowadays particularly assoc. with FA Cup Final at Wembley where crowd sing it, movingly if incongruously, before teams come on to the pitch.

Ablösen (Ger.). To loosen from one another. There are various applications, e.g. to separate the notes (i.e. to play staccato).

Abnehmend (Ger.). Off-taking, i.e. Diminuendo.

Abraham and Isaac. (1) Britten's Canticle II for alto, ten., and pf., text from Chester miracle play, comp. 1952 for Kathleen Ferrier and Peter Pears. (2) Sacred ballad for bar. and chamber orch. by Stravinsky to Hebrew text. Comp. 1962--3 and ded. to 'people of the State of Israel'. F.p. Jerusalem 1964.

Abraham, Gerald (Ernest Heal) (b Newport, I. o. W., 1904). Eng. mus. critic and scholar, authority on Russ. mus.; ed. of Monthly Musical Record 1945--60. On BBC staff 1935--47, again 1962--7; first Prof. of Mus., Liverpool Univ. 1947--62. C.B.E. 1974. Author of Concise Oxford History of Music (1979).

Abram, Jacques (b Lufkin, Texas, 1915). Amer. concert pianist and teacher. Studied Curtis Institute, 1927--30 and at Juilliard Sch., NY, 1931--8. Schubert memorial award, 1938. Professional début Philadelphia 1938. Toured Europe 1951. Taught at Juilliard Sch. 1934--8, at Oklahoma Coll. for Women, Chickasha, 1955--60, and at Toronto Royal Cons. of Mus. from 1960.

Abravanel, Maurice (b Salonika, 1903). Gr.-born cond. Studied in Lausanne and Berlin (with Kurt Weill). Début Paris 1932. Cond. at Zwickau and in opera houses in Berlin and Rome. Cond. at NY Met. 1936. Cond. of Utah S.O. 1947--79 Special sympathy for Eng. mus., notably that of Vaughan Williams.

Abruzzese (It.). A song or dance in the style of the Abruzzi district, to the E. of Rome.

Abschied (Ger.). Farewell. Hence Abschiedssymphonie (No. 45 in F# minor) by Haydn. 6th and last movement of Mahler's Das Lied von der Erde is named 'Der Abschied'.

Abschiedssymphonie (Farewell Symphony). Nickname of Haydn's Sym. No. 45 in F# minor, 1772 (Hob. I:45) because of the following incident: Prince Nikolaus, Haydn's employer, became so attracted to his lonely Esterháza Castle that he spent longer there each year. Except for Haydn, the court musicians could not have their families with them and grew depressed. Haydn comp. this sym. with a final adagio during which one player after another blew out the candle on his mus.-stand and crept away, leaving only 2 vns., Tomasini and Haydn. As they too were about to leave, the Prince is supposed to have taken the hint by saying: 'Well, if they all leave, we might as well go too'---and next day the court returned to Vienna.

Absil, Jean (b Bonsecours, Belgium, 1893; d Brussels, 1974). Belg. composer. Studied Brussels Cons. under Gilson. Prof. of harmony, Brussels Cons. 1931--59. Many comps., incl. 5 syms., 3pf. concs., 2 vn. concs., 4 str. qts., and many instr. and choralworks.

A.B.S.M.; A.B.S.M. (T.T.D.). Associate of the Birmingham School of Music (Teachers' Training Diploma).

Absolute Music. Instr. mus. which exists simply as such, i.e. not 'Programme Music', or in any way illustrative.

Absolute Pitch (Sense of). That sense which some people possess of the actual pitch of any note heard, as distinct from Relative Pitch, which implies the recognition of a note as being a certain degree of the scale or as lying at a certain interval above or below another note heard. The sense of relative pitch may readily be acquired by practice, but the sense of absolute pitch much less easily. Absolute pitch is really an innate form of memory: the possessor retains in his or her mind (consciously or unconsciously) the pitch of some instr. to which he or she has been accustomed and instinctively relates to that pitch every sound heard. Many good musicians possess this faculty; as many others do not. The possession of this sense is sometimes extremely useful, but may also prove an embarrassment, as, for instance, when a singer with absolute pitch is called upon to read mus. accompanied by an instr. tuned to what is to him or her 'the wrong pitch', necessitating a conscious transposition of the vocal line.

Abstossen (Ger.). (1) To detach notes from one another, i.e. to play staccato. (2) In org. playing, to cease to use a stop. (Abgestossen is the past participle.)

Abstract Music. Same as Absolute Music. As used by Ger. writers (Abstrakte Musik), the term has a different meaning---mus. lacking in sensitivity, 'dry' or 'academic'.

Abt, Franz Wilhelm (b Eilenburg, 1819; d Wiesbaden, 1885). Ger. composer of vocal mus. and pf. pieces (over 600 opus nos.). Also Kapellmeister in various cities 1841--82.

Abu Hassan. Singspiel in 1 act by Weber to lib. by F. K. Hiemer after tale in 1001 Nights. Prod. Munich 1811; London (with mus. adapted) 1825; NY 1827.

Abwechseln, Abzuwechseln (Ger.). To change. Used of orch. instr. alternating with another in the hands of the same player, etc.

Abyngdon (Abingdon, Habyngton, etc.), Henry (b c.1418, d 1497). Eng. singer, organist, and composer (none of whose works has yet been found). Precentor of Wells Cath. First person known to have taken a mus. degree at Cambridge (B.Mus., 1464).

Academic Festival Overture (Akademische Festouvertüre). Brahms's Op. 80, f.p. 1881 at Breslau Univ. in acknowledgement of an honorary Ph.D. degree conferred on him there in 1879. Makes fantasia-like use of 4 Ger. student songs, Wir hatten gebauet einstattliches Haus (We have built a stately house), Der Landesvater (The Land Father), Was kommt dort von der Höhe (What comes from afar), and Gaudeamus igitur (Therefore let us rejoice).

Academy of Ancient Music. London Soc. formed 1726 for perf. and study of vocal and instr. works. For some time dir. Pepusch. Survived until 1792. Title revived in 1970: for early mus. ens. dir. by Christopher Hogwood.

Academy of St Martin-in-the-Fields. Chamber orch. founded 1958 and so called because it gave concerts in the London church of that name. Dir. Neville Marriner until 1978, then Iona Brown.

Academy of Vocal Music. Founded at St Clement Dane's, Strand, in 1725/6 and met fortnightly. Members incl. Pepusch, Greene, Bononcini, Geminiani, etc.

A Cappella (It.). In the chapel style, which in choral singing has come to mean unaccompanied. See Cappella.

Accardo, Salvatore (b Turin, 1941). It. violinist. Gave concerts as child; studied Naples Cons. and Siena (with Astruc). Professional début Naples, aged 13. First winner, Paganini Competition, 1958. Wide repertory, but particularly assoc. with mus. of Paganini, of whose long-lost E minor conc. he gave first modern perf.

Accarezzevole, accarezzevolmente (It.). Caressing, caressingly.

Accelerando, accelerato (It.). Accelerating, accelerated; i.e. getting gradually quicker.

Accent. (1) An emphasis on a particular note, giving a regular or irregular rhythmic pattern. For more detail, see Rhythm. (2) The name is also applied to the simplest forms of plainsong tones (see Plainsong), i.e. very slightly inflected monotones.

Accento (It.). Accent; hence accentato, accented.

Accentuation. Emphasizing certain notes. In setting words to mus., coincidence of natural accents in text with mus. results in good accentuation.

Accentus (Lat.). (1) The part of the R.C. liturgy chanted only by the priest or his representative, as distinct from the Concentus, chanted by the congregation or choir. (2) See Accent 2.

Acciaccato (It.). Broken down, crushed. The sounding of the notes of a chord not quite simultaneously, but from bottom to top.

Acciaccatura. A species of grace note, indicated by a small note with its stem crossed through, viz., [ol26] [xn^The prin. note retains its accent and almost all its time-value. The auxiliary note is theoretically timeless; it is just 'crushed' in as quickly as possible before the prin. note is heard. Some renowned pianists even play the 2 notes simultaneously, immediately releasing the Acciaccatura and retaining the prin. note. Sometimes 2 or more small notes are shown before the prin. notes, and then they generally amount to Acciaccatura (being in most cases perf. on the 'crushed-in', or timeless and accentless, principle), although they have no strokes through their tails, and although the names Double or Triple Appoggiatura are often given them. [ol32] [bn^Note a combination of Acciaccatura with Spreadchord: [ol32] [xn[ol0] [bnperf. as though notated--- [ol32] [xn^Although the Acciaccatura is theoretically timeless, it nevertheless must take a fragment of time from somewhere. In the cases shown above (which may be considered the normal ones) it takes it from the following note. In 2 othercases, however, time is taken from the preceding note: (1) when harmonically and in context it is clearly attached to that note rather than the following note; (2) when, in pf. mus., it appears in the bass followed by a chord in the left hand or in both hands---the composer's intention being to increase harmonic richness by sounding the bass note in a lower octave and then holding it by the pedal whilst the chord is played; in this case the chord (as a whole) is to be heard on the beat, the Acciaccatura slightly preceding it. See also Mordent.

Accidental. The sign indicating momentary departure from the key signature by the raising or lowering of a note by means of a sharp, flat, natural, etc. It holds good throughout the measure(bar) unless contradicted, and where it occurs attached to the last note of the measure and this note is tied to a note in the next measure, it holds good for that latter note also. In some 20th-cent. mus. any accidental which occurs is understood to affect only the note before which it is placed, as was also often the case with mus. from the medieval period to the 17th cent.

Accompagnato (It.). Accompanied. In It. opera, from about the time of Cavalli, recitativo accompagnato meant a dramatic type of recit., fully written-out with ens. acc., as opposed to recitativo secco, notated with figured bass acc. only. In 18th-cent. opera, acc. recit. was normally reserved for the most important dramatic scenes and introduced the most brilliant arias.

Accompaniment. The term as sometimes usedtoday implies the presence of a prin. perf. (singer, violinist, etc.) more orless subserviently supplied with a background by another perf. or perfs. (pianist, orch., etc.). This is not the original use of the word, which carried no suggestion of subservience, 'Sonata for Harpsichord with Violin Accompaniment' being a common 18th-cent. term. However, to describe the orch. part of a Brahms conc. as a subservient acc. is obviously ridiculous. Equally, the pf. part of songs by such composers as Schubert, Wolf, Strauss, Fauré, and others is often of equal importance with the v. Thus, in the 20th cent., the art of pf. acc. has become highly developed, e.g. by Gerald Moore, Benjamin Britten, and many others.

Accompaniment to a Film Scene (Begleitungsmusik zu einer Lichtspielszene). Orch. work by Schoenberg, Op. 34, comp. Berlin 1929--30. F.p. Berlin 1930 cond. Klemperer; f.Eng.p. BBC broadcast 1931 cond. Webern. 3 movements are: Drohende Gefahr (Danger threatens), Angst (Anguish), Katastrophe. No specific film was in Schoenberg's mind, this being an example of 'pure' film mus.

Accoppiare (It.). To couple (org.). Hence Accoppiato, Coupled; Accoppiamento, Coupling (the noun).

Accord (Fr.). (1) Chord. (2) 'Tuning'.

Accordare (It.). To tune.

Accordato, accordati, accordata, accordate (It.). Tuned. (The word is sometimes used in a phrase indicating a particular instr. tuning, e.g. of the timps.) Hence accordatura (It.), Tuning.

Accorder (Fr.). To tune. Hence Accordé, Tuned.

Accordion (Accordeon). Small portable instr., shaped like a box, with metal reeds which are vibrated by air from bellows. The Accordion is similar in principle to the mouth org. but is provided with bellows and studs for producing the required notes (or, in the Piano-Accordion, a small kbd. of up to 3;FD octaves). It is designed to be held in both hands, the one approaching and separating from the other, so expanding and contracting the bellows section, while melody studs or keys are operated by the fingers of the right hand and studs providing simple chords by those of the left hand. Invention credited to Damian of Vienna, 1829.

Accordo (It.). Chord.

Accoupler (Fr.). To couple (org.). So accouplé, coupled; accouplement, coupling, coupler (nouns); accouplez, couple (imperative).

Accursed Hunter, The (Franck). See Chasseur maudit, Le.

Acht (Ger.). (1) Eight. (2) Care.

Achtel, Achtelnote (Ger.). Eighth, Eighth-note, i.e. Quaver; hence Achtelpause, a quaver rest. Achtstimmig, in 8 vv. (or parts).

Achucarro, Joaquin (b Bilbao, 1936). Sp. pianist who studied in Madrid, Siena, and Saarbrücken. Début Masaveu, Spain, 1950. Won Liverpool Int. pf. competition, 1959, making London début same year.

Acis and Galatea. Masque, serenata, or pastoral in 2 acts by Handel to text by John Gay with additions by Pope, Dryden, and Hughes, based on Ovid's Metamorphoses XIII. Written and f.p. at Cannons, Edgware, seat of Earl of Carnarvon, later Duke of Chandos, May 1718; London f.p. 1732, when part of Aci, Galatea e Polifemo, comp. Naples, 1708, was incorporated. Rev. for larger forces and pubd. 1743. Contains bass aria O ruddier than the cherry. Lully, Haydn, and Hatton were among other composers of dramatic works on this subject.

Ackermann, Otto (b Bucharest, 1909; d Berne, 1960). Romanian-born cond. (later Swiss citizen) who worked in most leading opera houses. Studied Bucharest Royal Acad. and Berlin Hochschule für Musik. Cond. Düsseldorf Opera 1927--32, Brno 1932--5, Berne 1935--47, Zürich 1949--55, Cologne 1955--8. Noted for interpretation of operettas by J. Strauss II and Lehár.

Ackté, Aïno (b Helsinki, Finland, 1876; d Nummela, 1944). Finn. sop., studied at Paris Cons. 1894-7, début Paris Opéra 1897 as Marguérite in Faust, London début 1907. First London Salome (1910), a role in which she won special acclaim. Dir., Finn. Nat. Opera, 1938.

Acoustic bass. Org. stop with 2 rows of pipes, those mentioned under Quint.

Acoustics. In its true sense, anything pertaining to the sense of hearing, but, as commonly used, firstly, the branch of physics concerned with the properties, production, and transmission of sound; and secondly, the quality of a building as regards its suitability for the clear hearing of speech or mus. Sound is due to the vibrations of a source, such as a mus. instr., which are transmitted through the air to the ear-drum where they set up vibrations at the same rate. The pitch of a sound depends on the speed of those vibrations, which if rapid produce a 'high' pitch and if slow a 'low' pitch. The rate of vibration per second is known as the 'frequency' of the note. The loudness of a sound depends on the 'amplitude' of the vibrations; for instance, a vn. str. violently bowed will oscillate for a considerable distance on either side of its line of repose, thereby producing strong vibrations and a loud sound, whereas one gently bowed will only oscillate a short distance on each side and so produce small vibrations and a soft sound. Smaller instr. produce more rapid vibrations and larger ones slower vibrations: thus the ob. is pitched higher than its relative the bn., likewise a vn. than a vc., a stopped str. than an 'open' str., a boy's v. than a man's v., etc. But other factors enter into the control of pitch. For instance, mass (the thinner str. of a vn. vibrate more quickly than the thicker ones and so possess a higher general pitch) and tension (a vn. str. tightened by turning the peg rises in pitch). The varying quality of the sound produced by different instr. and vv. is explained as follows. Almost all vibrations are compound, e.g. a sounding vn. str. may be vibrating not only as a whole but also at the same time in various fractions which produce notes according to their varying lengths. These notes are not easily identifiable by the ear but are nevertheless present as factors in the tonal ens. Taking any particular note of the harmonic series (as G, D, or B), the numbers of its harmonics double with each octave as the series ascends. The numbers attached to the harmonics represent also the ratios of the frequencies of the various harmonics to the fundamental. Thus if the frequency of the low G is 96 vibrations per second, that of the B in the treble stave (5th harmonic) is  $5 \times 96 = 480$  vibrations per second. Whilst these harmonics are normally heard in combination some of them may, on some instr., be separately obtained. By a certain method of blowing, a brass tube, instead of producing its first harmonic, or fundamental, can be made to produce other harmonics. By lightly touching a str. (i.e. a stopped str.), at its centre and then bowing it, it can be made to produce (in a peculiar silvery tone-quality) its 2nd harmonic; by touching it at a 3rd of its length it will similarly produce its 3rd harmonic, etc. (Harmonics are notated in str. parts as an 'o' above the note. 'Natural' harmonics are those produced from an open str.; 'artificial' harmonics those produced from a stopped str.). The normal transmission of sound is through the air. The vibrations of a str., a drum-head, the vocal cords, etc. set up similar vibrations in the nearest particles of air; these communicate them to other particles, and so on, until the initial energy is gradually exhausted. This process of transmission of pressure to adjacent units of air creates what are known as sound waves: unlike waves created by water-motion, there is no forward movement, but each particle of air oscillates, setting up alternate pressure and relaxation of pressure which in turn produce similar effects on the human or animal ear-drum (= vibrations), so causing the subjective effect of 'sound'. To judge pitch differences, or intervals, the human ear obeys a law of perception called the Weber-Fechner law, which states that equal increments of perception are associated with equal ratios of stimulus. Perception of the octave pitch is a 2:1 frequency ratio. In judging the loudness of sound there are 2 'thresholds', those of hearing and of pain. If the intensity of sound at the threshold of hearing is regarded as 1, the intensity at the pain threshold is 1 million million. Acousticians' scale of loudness, following the Weber-Fechner law, is logarithmic and based on a ratio of intensities 10:1. This is known as a bel. The range of loudness perception is divided into 12 large units. Each increment of a bel is divided into 10 smaller increments known as decibels, i.e. 1 bel = 10 decibels. A difference in loudness of 1 decibel in the middle range of hearing is about the smallest increment of change which the ear can gauge. When 2 notes near to one another in vibration frequency are heard together their vibrations necessarily coincide at regular intervals and thus reinforce one another in the effect produced. This is called a beat. When the pf. tuner is tuning 1 str. of a certain note to another str. of the same note the beat may be heard to diminish in frequency until it gradually disappears with correct adjustment. When the rate of beating exceeds 20 per second, the sensation of a low bass note is perceived. When 2 loud notes are heard together they give rise to a 3rd sound, a Combination or Resultant Tone, corresponding to the difference between the 2 vibration numbers: this low-pitched note is called a Difference Tone. They also give rise to a 4th sound (another Combination Tone--high and faint) corresponding to the sum of the 2 vibration numbers: this is called a Summation Tone. There is reflection of sound, as of light, as we experience on hearing an echo. Similarly there are sound shadows, caused by some obstruction which impedes the passage of vibrations which reach it. However, unlike light vibrations, sound vibrations tend to 'diffract' round an obstruction, and not every solid object will create a complete 'shadow': most solids will transmit sound vibrations to a greater or lesser extent, whereas only a few (e.g. glass) will transmit light vibrations. The term Resonance is applied to the response of an object to the sound of a given note, i.e. its taking up the vibrations of that note. Thus if 2 identical tuning-forks are placed in close proximity and one is sounded, the other will set up sympathetic vibrations and will also produce the note. The 1st fork is then a Generator of sound and the 2nd a Resonator. It is often found that a particular church window will vibrate in response to a particular organ note, and that a metal or glass object in a room will similarly respond to a certain vocal or instr. note. This phenomenon is true resonance ('re-sounding') in the strict scientific sense of the word. There is also a less strict use of the word, which is sometimes applied to the vibration of floor, walls, and ceiling of a hall, not limited to a particular note, but in response to any note played or sung. A hall may either be too resonant for the comfort of performers and audience, or too little so---too 'dead' (a hall with echo is often described as 'too resonant', but there is an obvious clear distinction to be made between the mere reflection of sounds and the sympathetic reinforcements of them). Reverberation time is defined as the time it takes for sound to fall 60 decibels (1 millionth of original intensity). Materials of walls and ceiling should be neither too reverberatory nor too absorbent ('dead'). Acoustical engineers have worked out co-efficients of absorption for building materials, but absorption is rarely uniform throughout the whole spectrum of pitch. Only wood and certain special acoustic materials show nearly even absorption in the total frequency range. Amplifiers and loud-speakers can be used (as they nowadays often are) to overcome difficulties caused by original faulty design.

Action. The mechanism of a pf., org., or similar instr. which connects the kbd. and str., or the pipes and stops.

Action, Ballet d' (Pas d'). A ballet with a dramatic basis.

Act Tune (Curtain Tune, Curtain Music). A 17th- and 18th-cent. term for mus. between the acts of a play while the curtain was down, similar to an entr'acte or intermezzo.

Actus Tragicus. Name for Bach's church cantata No. 106, Gottes Zeit ist die allerbeste Zeit (God's Time is the best). It appears to have been written, probably in 1707, for an occasion of mourning on the death of some public personage.

Adagietto (It.). (1) Slow, but less so than Adagio. (2) A short adagio comp. A famous example is the Adagietto for str. and harp, the 4th movement of Mahler's Sym. No. 5.

Adagio (It.). At ease. Slow (not so slow as Largo, but slower than Andante). A slow movement is often called 'an Adagio'. Adagissimo, Extremely slow. Adagio assai, very slow.

Adam, Adolphe (Charles) (b Paris, 1803; d Paris, 1856). Fr. composer and critic. Studied Paris Cons. and with Boieldieu. Wrote 70 operas, mostly opéras comiques, of which best-known are Le Postillon de Lonjumeau (1836) and Si j'étais roi (1852). Also wrote church mus., songs, and several ballets, incl. Giselle (1841). Prof. of comp., Paris Cons. from 1849.

Adam, Theo (b Dresden, 1926). Ger. bass-bar. Opera début Dresden 1949. Member of Berlin Staatsoper from 1952. Bayreuth début 1952, CG début 1967 (Wotan), NY Met. 1963 (Sachs). Notable in Wagner roles but also as Strauss's Ochs, Beethoven's Pizarro, Berg's Wozzeck, and Mozart's Don Giovanni.

Adam de la Halle (de la Hale, de la Hèle) (b ?Arras, c.1231; d Naples, 1288). Fr. troubadour. His Le Jeu de Robin et Marion, written for Fr. court at Naples, is regarded as precursor of opéra comique. Also wrote motets, chansons, and Le Jeu d'Adam (Arras, 1262).

Adam le Bossu (Adam the Hunchback). Identical with Adam de la Halle.

Adamberger, Valentin (b Munich, 1743; d Vienna, 1804). Ger. ten., known in It. early in his career as Adamonti. Friend of Mozart, who greatly admired him and wrote for him the part of Belmonte in Die Entführung aus dem Serail.

Adamis, Michael George (b Piraeus, Greece, 1929). Gr. composer. Studied Athens Cons. 1947--59 and at Brandeis Univ., Mass., 1962--5, where he was assoc. with elec. mus. studio. Founded Athens Chamber Choir, 1958.

Adams, Stephen. See Maybrick, Michael.

A.D.C.M. Archbishop of Canterbury's Diploma in Church Mus., awarded only after examination to Fellows of the Royal Coll. of Organists who hold the Ch.M. (Choirmaster) diploma.

Added 6th, Chord of. In key of C, the chord F-A-C-D and similarly in other keys, i.e. the subdominant chord plus the 6th from the bass (major 6th added to major or minor triad), or, looked at from another viewpoint, the first inversion of the (diatonic) supertonic 7th. Frequently used by Delius, Mahler, and in jazz.

Addinsell, Richard (b Oxford, 1904; d Chelsea, 1977). Eng. composer. Trained Oxford, RCM, and Vienna. Wrote songs and film mus., of which outstanding example is Warsaw Concerto, skilful pastiche of romantic pf. conc., written for 1941 film Dangerous Moonlight. (See Film Music).

Additional Accompaniments. New or rev. accs. written by a later composer or ed. for mus. of the early masters, where perhaps only a figured bass is provided in the original. An extravagant example of such additions is found in the instr. parts Mozart wrote into Handel's Messiah for an occasion when no organ was available to provide the figured bass used in perf. of Handel's own time.

Addolcendo (It.). Becoming dolce.

Addolorato (It.). Grieved, i.e. in a saddened style.

Adelaide. Song for high v. and pf. by Beethoven, Op. 46, comp. 1795/6 to poem by F. von Matthisson.

Adélaïde Concerto. Vn. conc. dubiously attrib. to the 10-year-old Mozart, supposedly ded. to the Princess Adélaïde, daughter of King Louis XV of France.

Adeney, Richard (b London, 1920). Eng. flautist. Studied RCM. Prin. flautist, LPO, 1941--50 and 1960--9; and in Melos Ens. and ECO.

Adeste Fideles (O come, all ye faithful). This hymn and tune probably date from the first half of the 18th cent. The late G. E. P. Arkwright detected that the first part of the tune closely resembled a tune which appeared in a Paris vaudeville of 1744 (where it was described as 'Air Anglais') and suggested that it was probably an adaptation of some popular tune combined, in the hymn, with reminiscences of the air 'Pensa ad amare' from Handel's Ottone (1723). This view is supported by more recent researches, notably those of Dom John Stéphan, of Buckfast Abbey, Devon, who in 1947 discussed a newly-discovered MS. of the tune in the handwriting of John Francis Wade, a Lat. teacher and music copyist of Douai (d 1786). Stéphan believed this to be the 'first and original version', dating from 1740--43, and attrib. both words and mus. to Wade.

À deux cordes (Fr.). On 2 strings.

À deux mains (Fr.). For 2 hands.

À deux temps (Fr.). In 2/2 time.

Adieux Sonata. Fr. title (in full, Sonate caractéristique; les adieux, l'absence et le retour) given by publisher to Beethoven's Pf. Sonata No. 26 in Eb major, Op. 81a, comp. 1809--10. Beethoven disapproved of the title, preferring the Ger. Das Lebewohl (The Farewell). Ded. to Archduke Rudolph on his departure from Vienna for 9 months.

Adler, Guido (b Eibenschütz, Moravia, 1855; d Vienna, 1941). Austrian critic and musicologist; prof. of music history, Prague Univ., 1885--97. Succeeded Hanslick as prof. of music history, Vienna Univ. 1898--1927. Author of books on Wagner (1904) and Mahler (1916), gen. ed. Handbuch der Musikgeschichte (1924).

Adler, Kurt (b Neuhaus, Cz., 1907; d New Jersey, 1977). Cz. cond., pianist, and scholar. Studied Vienna. Ass. cond. Berlin State Opera 1927--9; cond. Ger. Opera, Prague, 1929--32, Kiev Opera 1933--5. Settled in USA 1938. Ass. cond. and ch. master NY Met. 1943. On staff NY Met. 1943--73 (ch. master from 1945, ass. cond. from 1951).

Adler, Kurt Herbert (b Vienna, 1905). Austrian-born cond. and impresario. Studied Vienna Cons. Th. cond. in Vienna, Prague, etc. Ass. to Toscanini, Salzburg 1936. Went to USA as cond. Chicago Opera 1938--43. Cond., San Francisco Opera 1943, art. dir. 1953, gen. dir. 1956--82. Hon. C.B.E. 1980.

Adler, Larry (Lawrence Cecil) (b Baltimore, 1914). Amer. virtuoso on harmonica (mouth org.). Has toured the world as mus.-hall artist and recitalist. Works written for him by Vaughan Williams, Hindemith, Milhaud, Arnold, etc. Also writer for periodicals, reviews, etc. Settled in Eng. 1949.

Adler, Peter Herman (b Jablonec, 1899). Cz. cond. who became Amer. citizen. Studied in Prague with Zemlinsky. Held posts in Bremen, Kiev, and Prague. Helped Fritz Busch to found New Opera Co., NY, 1941. Dir. NBC TV opera 1949--60. Cond., Baltimore S.O. 1959--68. NY Met. début 1972.

Adler, Samuel (b Mannheim, 1928). Amer. composer and cond. Attended Boston Univ., USA, 1946--8. Teachers have incl. Copland, Piston, Hindemith, and Koussevitzky. Prof. of comp., Eastman Sch. of Mus., 1966. Works incl. operas and syms.

Ad libitum (Ad lib.) (Lat.). Optional or At will, with regard to (a) Rhythm, tempo, etc.; (b) Inclusion or omission of some v. or instr.; (c) Inclusion or omission of some passage; (d) The extemporization of a cadenza.

Adni, Daniel (b Haifa, 1951). Israeli pianist. Studied Paris Cons. with Perlemuter. Début London 1970. Specialist in romantic repertory. Settled in Eng.

Adriana Lecouvreur. Opera in 4 acts by Cilea to lib. by Colautti from play of same name by Scribe and Legouvé (1849). Prod. Milan 1902; London 1904; NY 1907. Adriana was one of greatest 18-cent. Fr. tragic actresses, much admired by Voltaire.

Adson, John (b late 16th cent.; d London, 1640). Eng. composer, member of King's Musick under Charles I in 1625. Comp. Courtly Masquing Ayres for vns., consorts, and cornets in 5 and 6 parts (1611, another edn. 1621).

A due corde (It.). On two str.

Adventures of Mr Brouc^;ek, The (Janáć^;ek). See Excursions of Mr Brouc^;ek, The.

Adventures of the Vixen Bystrous^;ky (Janáć^;ek). See Cunning Little Vixen, The.

Aeolian Harp (from Aeolus, the mythological keeper of the winds). An instr. consisting of a box about 3' long, with catgut str. of different thicknesses but tuned in unison attached to its upper surface. It could be placed along a window ledge or elsewhere where the wind could catch it and set the str. in vibration, thereby producing harmonics which varied with the thickness of the str. and the velocity of the wind to give a chordal effect. The Aeolian harp was popular from the late 16th or early 17th cents. to the late 19th cent. Now made as a toy.

Aeolian mode. See Modes.

Aeolina. Mouth org. or harmonica, comprising metal plates enclosing free reeds.

Aeoline. Soft org. stop of 8' length and pitch, supposed to imitate Aeolian harp.

Aeroforo (It.). Aerophor.

Aerophone. Term for mus. instrs. which produce their sound by using air as principal vibrating factor. These instr. are subdivided according to whether air is unconfined by the instr. (bull-roarer, motor horn, etc.) or enclosed within a tube (wind instr. proper). One of 4 classifications of instr. devised by C. Sachs and E. M. von Hornbostel and pubd. in Zeitschrift für Ethnologie, 1914. Other categories are chordophones, idiophones, and membranophones, with electrophones recently added.

Aerophor. Device (invented by Ger. flautist Bernhard Samuel and patented 1912) to help wind players. A small bellows, worked by foot, supplies wind by tube to a corner of the mouth, leaving the player free to breathe uninterruptedly through the nose. Richard Strauss called for its use in his Festliches Präludium, Op. 61, erroneously describing it as Aerophon, and in his Alpensinfonie, Op. 64.

Aevia. This 'word' consists of the vowels of 'Alleluia'. Used as an abbreviation in a similar way to Eovae.

Affetto (It.). Affection. Hence, Affettuoso, affettuosa, affectionate, with tenderness; affettuosamente, affectionately; Affezione, affection.

Affekt (Ger. 'fervour'). Affektvoll, full of fervour; mit Affekt, with warmth or passion.

Affretando (It. 'hurrying', 'quicken'). Instruction to increase tempo, implying also an increase in nervous energy.

Africaine, L' (The African Woman). Opera in 5 acts by Meyerbeer to lib. by Scribe. Begun 1837, but work on it intermittent owing to constant alterations to lib., etc. Completed 1864. Meyerbeer died in Paris while supervising rehearsals. Orig. version lasts 6 hours. Prod. Paris, London, and NY 1865.

African Sanctus. Comp. by David Fanshawe for 2 sop., pf., org., ch., and perc. incl. rock-kit drummer, cymbals, congas, timp., bass and ten. drums, tam-tam, tom-tom, amplified lead and rhythmic guitars, and tape recordings made in Africa. F.p. London 1972. Rev. version f.p. Toronto, Jan. 1978, f.p. in England BBC TV film. F. concert p. Worcester 1978.

Afternoon of a Faun, The (Debussy). See Après-midi d'une faune, Prélude à l'.

Agazzari, Agostino (b Siena, 1578; d Siena, 1640). It. composer of church mus. Treatise La musica ecclesiastica (1638) discusses decrees of Council of Trent. Wrote influential treatise on thoroughbass.

Age of Anxiety, The. Sym. No. 2 by Leonard Bernstein for pf. and orch. (Title from Auden poem.) F.p. Boston, Apr. 1949 cond. Koussevitzky, soloist Bernstein. As ballet, NY Feb. 1950.

Age of Gold, The (Zolotoy vek.). Ballet in 3 acts with mus. by Shostakovich, Op. 22, lib. A.Ivanovsky, choreog. E. Kaplan and V. Vaynonen. Comp. 1927--30. Prod. Leningrad 1930. Also suite for orch., 1929-32. Some of the mus. used in ballet The Dreamers, 1975.

Age of Steel, The (Stalnoy skok; Fr. Le Pas d'acier). Ballet in 2 scenes with mus. by Prokofiev (Op. 41, 1925), choreog. Massine, lib. Yakulov. Prod. Paris 1927. Symphonic suite contains 4 movements.

Aggiustamente, aggiustatamente (It.). Exact (in point of rhythm).

Agitatamente (It.). Comfortably, freely, i.e. with suitable liberty as regards speed, etc. (not to be confused with Agitatamente).

Agilement (Fr.), agilmente (It.). In an agile manner, implying speed and nimble execution. Agilité (Fr.), agilità (It.). Agility.

Agincourt Song. A famous 15th-cent. Eng. song commemorating the victory at Agincourt in 1415, for 2 vv. and 3-part ch. Used by Walton in his film music for Henry V (1944).

Agitato; agitatamente (It.), agité (Fr.), agitirt, agitiert (Ger.). Agitated, in an agitated manner. Agitazione, agitamento (It.). Agitation. Not to be confused with Agiatamente.

Agnesi, Luigi (Louis Agniez) (b Erpent, Namur, 1833; d London, 1875). Belg. bass especially celebrated for his singing in Rossini's operas.

Agnew, Roy (Ewing) (b Sydney, N.S.W., 1893; d Sydney, 1944). Australian pianist and composer of pf. sonatas and smaller pieces, also chamber and orch. mus., and songs. On staff N.S.W. State Cons., Sydney.

Agnus Dei (Lamb of God). Part of Ordinary of the Mass. Many settings by various composers.

Agogic (from Gr. Agoge, melody). (1) An adjective indicating a variety of accentuation demanded by the nature of a particular mus. phrase, rather than by the regular metric pulse of the mus. The first note of a phrase, for instance, may be felt to suggest a slight lingering which confers the effect of an accent: similarly, a leap to note significantly higher or lower than the preceding notes, or a strong discord resolving to a concord, may convey an effect of accentuation (by means of lingering, pressure etc.) and there are other examples. The complementary term to 'Agogic Accent' (accent of movement) is 'Dynamic Accent' (accent of force), which implies the normal and regular rhythmic accentuation of a piece of music. (2) In a wider sense, 'Agogic' covers everything connected with 'expression', e.g. rallentando, accelerando, rubato, pause, accentuation as described above, etc.

Agon (Contest). Ballet for 12 dancers by Stravinsky, choreog. Balanchine. Comp. 1953--7. F.p. as concert work Los Angeles, June 1957; as stage work by NY City Ballet, Dec. 1957.

Agostini, Paolo (b Vallerano, 1583; d Rome, 1629). It. maestro of Vatican chapel, 1626. Comp. church mus. incl. Agnus Dei in canon for 8 vv.

Agrell, Johan (Joachim) (b Löth, 1701; d Nuremberg, 1765). Swed. composer, violinist, and harpsichordist. At court in Kassel 1734--46. Kapellmeister, Nuremberg, from 1746. Wrote syms., concs., and many kbd. sonatas.

Agréments (agrément) (Fr.). Grace notes.

Agricola, Alexander (b Netherlands, 1446; d Valladolid, 1506). Flemish composer in service of Fr. and It. royalty and aristocracy. Wrote masses, motets, songs, etc.

Agrippina. Opera in 3 acts by Handel to lib. by Grimani. Prod. Venice 1709.

A.G.S.M. Associate of Guildhall School of Music and Drama (internal students only).

Agthe, Karl Christian (b Hettstedt, 1762; d Ballenstedt, 1797). Ger. organist and composer who wrote several Singspiele. His son Wilhelm Johann (1790--1873) was a pianist, teacher, and composer for the pf.

Agujari, Lucrezia (b Ferrara, 1743; d Parma, 1783). It. operatic sop., much admired by Mozart, with remarkable range and compass. Début Florence 1764. Sang in London 1775--7. Because she was illegitimate, was known as 'La Bastardella' or 'Basterdina'. Retired on marriage, 1780.

Ägyptische Helena, Die (The Egyptian Helen). Opera in 2 acts, Op. 75, by R. Strauss to lib. by Hofmannsthal, comp. 1923--7, f.p. Dresden and NY Met. 1928. Rev. 1933.

Ahna, Pauline de (b Ingoldstadt, 1863; d Garmisch, 1950). Ger. sop. who married Richard Strauss in 1894 and became notable exponent of his Lieder, many of which were written for her. Sang at Bayreuth. Created role of Freihild in Strauss's Guntram, Weimar 1894. Christine in Strauss's Intermezzo is a portrait of her, as (less directly) are several other of Strauss's operatic heroines. Known for her waspish tongue and massive (probably calculated) indiscretions; her coquettish nature is instrumentally portrayed in her husband's Ein Heldenleben and Symphonia Domestica.

Ahronovich, Yury (b Leningrad, 1932). Israeli cond. of Russ. birth. Studied Leningrad 1939 and after 1945. Violinist, but studied cond. with Sanderling. Cond. Saratov P.O. 1956--7, Yaroslav S.O. 1957--64, Moscow Radio S.O. 1964--72. Left Russia 1972, settling in Israel. Opera début in Europe, Cologne 1973. CG début 1974 (Boris Godunov). Cond. Gürzenich Concerts, Cologne, from 1975.

Aiblinger, Johann Kaspar (b Wasserburg, 1779; d Munich, 1867). Ger. composer. Cond. of It. opera in Munich 1819--23. Comp. church mus. and operas incl. Rodrigo und Chimene (based on Le Cid), 1821.

Aichinger, Gregor (b Regensburg, 1564; d Augsburg, 1628). Ger. organist and composer. Spent some years in It. and was influenced by Venetian sch., notably Gabrieli. His religious choral works are among the finest of their time in Ger.

Aida. Opera in 4 acts by Verdi to lib. by Ghislanzoni, being It. trans. from Fr. prose of Camille du Locle based on plot by Fr. Egyptologist Auguste Mariette Bey (Verdi had major hand in lib. and wrote words of final duet 'O terra, addio'). Metastasio's lib. Nitteti (1756) was major source of plot. Commissioned by Khedive of Egypt (but not, as is often said, for opening of either Suez Canal or Cairo Opera House). Comp. 1870. F.p. Cairo 1871, Milan 1872 (with extra aria for Aida), NY 1873, London 1876. Spelling Aïda, with di; Jcresis, is incorrect in It.

Aiglon, L' (Fr. 'The Eaglet'). Rare example of opera by two composers, Ibert writing the first and 5th acts and Honegger the middle 3. Text by Cain after Rostand. Comp. 1935. (Prod. Monte Carlo 1937.)

Air. (1) Melody. (2) Comp. of melodious character. See also Aria and Ayre.

Airborne Symphony. Sym. for narrator, ten., bar., ch., and orch. by Blitzstein to composer's text on evolution of flying. Comp. 1945, f.p. NY 1946 cond. Bernstein.

Air de caractère (Fr.). In ballet, mus. for 'characteristic' occasions, such as an entry of warriors.

Air on the G String. The name given to an arr. for vn. and pf. by Wilhelmj in 1871 of the 2nd movement (Air) of J. S. Bach's Suite No. 3 in D, in which the melody is transposed from D to C, the violinist playing on his lowest (G) str. Also heard in arr. for full str. orch., and for various other instr.

Ais (Ger.). A#. Aisis, A##.

Akademische Festouvertüre (Brahms). See Academic Festival Overture.

Akimenko (Akimyenko, etc.), Fyodor Stepanovich (b Kharkov, 1876; d Paris, 1945). Ukrainian composer, pupil of Rimsky-Korsakov. On staff St Petersburg Cons. Comp. opera The Snow Queen, ballet, orch. works, chamber mus.

Akkord (Ger.). Chord. Also a set of several different-sized instr. of one type.

Akkordieren (Ger.). To tune.

Al (It.). At the, to the, in the, in the style of, etc., i.e. the same as A with the article added. [rf]

Ala and Lolly (Prokofiev). See Scythian Suite.

À la corde (Fr.). At the string. In str. playing, indication that the bow should be kept on the str., to ensure legato movement from note to note.

Alain, Jehan (b St Germain-en-Laye, 1911; killed Petit-Puy, nr. Saumur, 1940). Fr. organist and composer for org., pf., chamber combinations, etc.; in all, wrote 127 works. Pupil of Dupré (org.) and Dukas (comp).

Alain, Marie-Claire (b St Germain-en-Laye, 1926). Fr. organist. Studied Paris Cons. (Dupré for org., Duruflé for harmony). Début St Germain-en-Laye 1937. Org. prize, Geneva Competition, 1950. Worldwide tours as recitalist. Recorded complete org. works of Bach and of her brother Jehan.

Alalà. Plainsong-like type of Sp. folksong, in 4-line verses. The singer is at liberty to add melodic decorations to the vocal line.

Alaleona, Domenico (b Montegiorgio, 1881; d Montegiorgio, 1928). It. composer and teacher. His theories incl. splitting octave into unorthodox equal divisions and ways of combining the 12 notes of the chromatic scale into single chords.

A.L.A.M. Associate of the London Academy of Music.

Alan, Hervey (b Whitstable, 1910; d Croydon, 1982). Eng. bass-bar. in opera and oratorio. First sang with Glyndebourne co. at Edinburgh Fest. 1949, then regularly to 1960. Prof. of singing, RCM. Pres. I.S.M. 1969. O.B.E. 1974.

À la pointe d'archet (Fr.). At the point of the bow.

Alard, Jean Delphin (b Bayonne, 1815; d Paris, 1888). Fr. violinist and vn. teacher, author of a Violin School, and ed. and composer of vn. works. Among pupils was Sarasate. Prof. of vn., Paris Cons., 1843--75.

Albanese, Licia (b Bari, 1913). It.-born sop. (Amer. citizen from 1945). Début Parma 1935, as Butterfly, and at CG 1937, NY Met. 1940--66. Recorded Mimi and Violetta with Toscanini.

Albani, (Dame) Emma (b Chambly, nr. Montreal, 1847; d London, 1930). Fr.-Canadian sop., born Marie Louise Cécilie Emma Lajeunesse, taking professional name from Albany, NY, where she spent early life. Studied in Paris and Milan. Début Messina 1870 in La sonnambula. CG début 1872. First CG Senta (Fliegende Holländer), 1877, first Desdemona at NY Met., 1894. Sang Isolde, CG 1896, retiring from stage a month later, but continuing to sing in oratorio. Retired to teach in 1911. D.B.E. 1925. Albéniz, Isaac (Manuel Francisco) (b Camprodón, Catalonia, 1860; d Cambôles-Bains, France, 1909). Sp. pianist and composer. After studying in Paris, Madrid, Leipzig, and Brussels, he followed Liszt's tour of Weimar, Prague and Budapest, perfecting his piano technique with him. From 1880 toured widely, playing many of own pf. works, of which he comp. 250 between 1880 and 1892, most of them employing Sp. rhythmic and melodic idioms. For his Eng. banker patron F. Money-Coutts (Lord Latymer) he set 3 opera libs., Henry Clifford (Barcelona 1895), Merlin, and Pepita Jiménez (Barcelona 1896). Settled in Paris 1893, being influenced by Fauré and Dukas. His Iberia, 12 pf. pieces, was pubd. in 4 vols., 1906--9. Also wrote operettas, songs, orch. rhapsody Catalonia, pf. conc., and 5 pf. sonatas. Iberia was orch. by Arbós, and Suite espagnola by R. Frühbeck de Burgos.

Albert, Eugen d' (really Eugène Francis Charles) (b Glasgow, 1864; d Riga, 1932). Scottish-born pianist and composer of Anglo-Fr. parentage, Ger. by adoption. Won scholarship at Nat. Training Sch. of Mus. (now RCM). Début London 1881; in same year won Mendelssohn Scholarship for study abroad at Vienna and under Liszt. Added fresh reputation as composer of operas, and wrote 2 pf. concs., vc. conc., sym., chamber mus., also ed. of pf. classics. Succeeded Joachim as dir., Berlin Hochschule für Musik, 1907. Of his 20 operas comp. 1893--1932, most successful were Tiefland (Prague 1903), Die Abreise (Frankfurt 1898), and Die toten Augen (Dresden 1916). 2nd of 6 wives was pianist Teresa Carre; atno.

Albert Hall, Royal (London). See Royal Albert Hall.

Albert, Heinrich (b Lobenstein, Saxony 1604; d Königsberg, 1651). Ger. organist, poet and composer, cousin and pupil of Schütz. Comp. words and mus. of hymns and secular songs. Pioneer of basso continuo. His Comödien-Musik (1644) is early example of Ger. opera.

Albert Herring. Comic chamber opera in 3 acts, Op. 39, by Britten to lib. by Eric Crozier freely adapted from short story by Maupassant (Le Rosier de Mme. Husson, 1888). Prod. Glyndebourne 1947, Tanglewood, Mass., 1949.

Albert, Prince, Consort of Queen Victoria (b Rosenau, Ger., 1819; d Windsor, 1861). Trained in mus. by his father Ernest, Duke of Saxe-Coburg, who himself comp. opera. Patron of many Eng. mus. enterprises and friend of Mendelssohn. Wrote church mus. and some pleasant Lieder in style of Schubert and Mendelssohn.

Albert, Stephen (b NY, 1941). Amer. composer. Studied Eastman Sch., Rochester, and later with Milhaud, Rochberg, and others. Amer. Prix de Rome 1965--6, 1966--7. Works incl. Bacchae, ch. and orch. (1969), Wolf Time, sop. and instr., Orchestrabook, orch., Voices Within, orch. (1975), and chamber mus.

Alberti Bass. Simple (and often commonplace) acc. to a melody, consisting of 'broken chords', viz., broken triads of which the notes are played in the order: lowest, highest, middle, highest. It takes its name from the It. composer who favoured it, Domenico Alberti.

Alberti, Domenico (b Venice, 1710; d Rome, 1740). It. composer of operas, songs, and of hpd. sonatas in which his use of the formula known as Alberti Bass occurs frequently.

Albicastro, Henrico (Heinrich Weissenberg) del Biswang (b c.1680; d c.1730). Swiss composer and violinist of Ger. orig. who served in army and later worked in Netherlands. His 12 concs. à 4 are still played.

Albinoni, Tommaso (b Venice, 1671; d Venice, 1751). It. composer of instr.mus. and of over 70 operas. Bach made use of several of his themes and used Albinoni bass parts for practice in thorough-bass. In recent years there has been keen interest in his concs. for str., concerti grossi, ob. and tpt. concs. The popular Adagio for org. and str. in G minor owes very little to Albinoni, having been constructed from a MS. fragment by the 20th-cent. It. musicologist, Remo Giazotto, whose copyright it is.

Alboni, Marietta (Maria Anna Marzia) (b Città di Castello, 1823; d Ville d'Avray, 1894). It. cont. So impressed Rossini that he taught her the cont. roles in his operas. Début Bologna 1842. Leading cont. CG 1847, becoming rival attraction to Jenny Lind, her salary being voluntarily raised overnight from ;bp500 to ;bp2,000 for the season. Sang in Paris and toured USA 1852. Sang with Patti at Rossini's funeral, 1868. Retired 1872.

Alborada (Sp.). Dawn. Morning music (see also Aubade). This word has special application to a type of instr. mus. with a good deal of rhythmic freedom and often played on bagpipe (or rustic ob.) and small drum.

Alborado del gracioso (Aubade of the Clown). 4th of Ravel's pf.pieces entitled Miroirs (1905). Orch. 1918.

Albrecht, Gerd (b Essen, 1935). Ger. cond., pianist, and violinist. Studied Kiel Univ., Hamburg Univ., and Hamburg Acad. of Mus. Début Hamburg 1956. Won Hilversum Cond. Competition 1958. Coach and cond., Stuttgart Opera 1958--61. Opera cond. Mainz 1961--3, Lübeck 1963--6, Kassel 1966--72, Berlin (Deutsche Oper) 1972--9. Cond. Tonhalle orch., Zürich, 1975--80.

Albrechtsberger, Johann Georg (b Klosterneuberg, nr. Vienna, 1736; d Vienna, 1809). Austrian organist at Viennese court (1772) and cath. (1791); composer, but best remembered as comp. teacher (pupils incl. Beethoven) and as author of many theoretical works, incl. important text-book of comp. (1790, widely used in Eng. trans.).

Albright, William (b Gary, Indiana, 1944). Amer. composer. Studied Juilliard Sch., NY 1959--62, and later at Paris Cons. with Messiaen. Ass. dir. of elec. mus.studio, Michigan Univ. 1970. Many comps. for org. and for jazz ens.

Albumblatt (Ger.). Album Leaf. Fanciful title for a brief instr. comp., usually for pf., and of a personal character (like an autograph in an album).

Albumblätter (Album-leaves). Title of 20 pf.pieces by Schumann (Op. 124, 1832--45, pubd. 1854).

Alceste (Gr. Alkestis). Opera in 3 acts by Gluck, lib. by Calzabigi, after Euripides. Prod. Vienna 1767, London 1795; Fr. version rev. by Gluck with text by Du Roullet, prod. Paris 1776. Preface to score contains Gluck's famous declaration on the nature of opera, which adumbrates mus.-drama. Other operas on this subject by Lully (1674), Schweitzer (1773), Boughton (1922), and Wellesz (1923), among others. Handel wrote a masque, Alceste, to a lib. by T. Smollett.

Alcina. Opera in 3 acts by Handel to lib. by Marchi after Ariosto's Orlando furioso. (Prod. CG 1735, revived London 1957.)

A.L.C.M. Associate of the London College of Music.

Alcock, (Sir) Walter (Galpin) (b Edenbridge, Kent, 1861; d Salisbury, 1947). Eng. organist. Ass.organist Westminster Abbey; organist of Chapels Royal (1902), and Salisbury Cath. from 1916 to death; composer of church mus. Knighted 1933. Played org. at coronations of Edward VII (1902) and George V (1911).

Alcuin (b York, c.735; d Tours, c.804). Friend and counsellor of Charlemagne at Aix-la-Chapelle; later Abbot of Tours. Author of treatise De musica.

Alcuno, alcuna, alcun' (plurals alcuni, alcune, etc.) (It.). Some.

Alda, Frances (née Davis) (b Christchurch, N.Z., 1883; d Venice, 1952). N.Z. operatic sop. who studied with Mathilde Marchesi in Paris where she made début as Manon in 1904. From 1908 to 1929 sang at NY Met., to whose dir., Gatti-Casazza, she was married 1910--28. Much given to litigation.

Aldeburgh Festival. Annual Fest. at Aldeburgh, Suffolk, since 1948, revolving largely round mus. and personality of Benjamin Britten and his circle. Has superb concert-hall, The Maltings, at nearby Snape. Several Britten works had first perf. at Fest., incl. operas A Midsummer Night's Dream (1960) and Death in Venice (1973). Berkeley's A Dinner Engagement (1954), Walton's The Bear (1967), and Birtwistle's Punch and Judy (1968) were also f.p. at Aldeburgh. After Britten's death, Rostropovich became one of art. dirs., as did Murray Perahia and Oliver Knussen.

Aldrich, Henry (b London, 1648; d Oxford, 1710). Eng. musician, theologian, and architect. Successively undergraduate, tutor, canon, and dean of Christ Church, Oxford, and twice Vice-Chancellor of the Univ. Comp. church mus. and catches, incl. 'Great Tom is cast'.

Aldrich, Richard (b Providence, R.I., 1863; d Rome, 1937). Amer. mus. critic. On NY Tribune 1891--1902, mus. critic of NY Times 1902--24. Books incl. Guide to Parsifal (1904) and Guide to the Ring (1905).

Aleatory Music (from Lat. alea, dice; hence the throw of the dice for chance). Synonym for indeterminacy, i.e. mus. that cannot be predicted before perf. or mus. which was comp. through chance procedures (statistical or computerized). The adjective 'aleatoric' is a bastard word, to be avoided by those who care for language.

Aleko. Opera in 1 act by Rakhmaninov, lib. by V. Nemirovich-Danchenko, based on Pushkin's poem Tsygany (Gipsies). Prod. Moscow 1893, NY 1926, London 1972.

Alessandro (Alexander). Opera in 3 acts by Handel to lib. by Paolo Rolli (London 1726). Revived as Roxana, with additions probably by another hand, London 1743.

Alexander Balus. Oratorio by Handel, text by Dr Thomas Morell. Comp. 1747. F.p. CG 1748.

Alexander Nevsky. Mus. by Prokofiev for film dir. by S. Eisenstein (1938), later developed into cantata, Op. 78, with text by V. Lugovskoy and Prokofiev, for mez., ch., and orch. (f.p. Moscow 1939). Film mus. in adaptation for broadcast, f.p. Eng. 1941.

Alexander's Feast. Setting by Handel of Dryden's ode, with some changes and additions by Newburgh Hamilton, f.p. London 1736. Re-orch. by Mozart. Orig. setting for St Cecilia's Day, 1697, by Jeremiah Clarke.

Alexandre, Jacob (b Paris, 1804; d Paris, 1876). Fr. founder of Paris firm of harmonium makers. In 1874 introduced the Alexandre Organ.

Alexandrov, Alexander (Vasilyevich) (b Plakhino, 1883; d Berlin, 1946). Russ. composer, pupil of Rimsky-Korsakov. Cond. from 1928 of Red Army Song and Dance Ens. Comp. Hymn of the Bolshevik Party, adapted as Russ. nat. anthem, 1943.

Alexandrov, Anatoly (b Moscow, 1888; d Moscow, 1982). Russ. composer, studied with Taneyev. Composer of operas, syms., pf. mus., and incidental mus. for many plays.

Alfano, Franco (b Posillipo, Naples, 1875; d San Remo, 1954). It. composer. Studied in Naples and Leipzig. Dir. of Bologna Cons. 1919--23, Turin 1924--39. Operas incl. Risurrezione (1902--3) and Sakuntala (1914--20; rewritten 1952). Completed Puccini's Turandot (1926) from composer's sketches. Also wrote syms., str. qts., sonatas, etc.

Alfonso und Estrella. Opera in 3 acts (1821--2, D732) by Schubert to lib. by F. von Schober (Weimar 1854, Vienna 1882). Its ov., possibly revised, was used by Schubert as the ov. to Rosamunde at the latter's f.p. in Dec. 1823.

Alford, Kenneth J. (real name Frederick Joseph Ricketts) (b Ratcliff, London, 1881; d Reigate, 1945). Eng. composer and bandmaster. Enlisted as bandboy 1895, playing cornet, pf., and organ. Student bandmaster at Kneller Hall 1904--8, bandmaster Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders 1908. Dir. of mus., Royal Marines 1927--40. Wrote under pseudonym, Alford being mother's maiden name. Considered to surpass Sousa in the quality of his march comps. These incl. Colonel Bogey (1914), The Thin Red Line (1925), Dunedin (1928), and Eagle Squadron (1942).

Alfred. Masque orig. in 2 acts about King Alfred by Thomas Arne, with words by J. Thomson and D. Mallet, prod. Cliveden, Bucks., 1740. Contains song 'Rule, Britannia!' Later revised extensively both as oratorio and opera in 3 acts, with much new material. Perfs. in Dublin 1744, 1756; London 1751, 1753, 1754, 1755, 1759, 1762, and 1773.

Alfvén, Hugo (b Stockholm, 1872; d Falun, 1960). Swed. composer, violinist, and dir. of mus. at Univ. of Uppsala (1910--39). Comp. 5 syms., choral works, and 3 Swed. Rhapsodies of which the first, Midsummer's Vigil (Midsommarvaka), comp. 1904, is well known.

Algarotti, Francesco (b Venice, 1712; d Pisa, 1764). It. author of notable treatise, Saggio sopra l'opera in musica (1755) which made important criticisms of contemporary opera presentation and foresaw a th. not far short of Wagner's Bayreuth.

Aliquot Scaling. Arr., devised by the Blüthner firm, whereby the weak upper notes of a pf. are provided with sympathetic str. tuned an octave higher, thus increasing vol. of tone.

Alison (Allison), Richard (fl. late 16th and early 17th cents.). Eng. composer of madrigals and many instr. works, and compiler of famous book of metrical psalm tunes (1599).

Alkan (pseudonym of Charles Henri Valentin Morhange) (b Paris, 1813; d Paris, 1888). Fr. pianist, composer, and teacher. Studied Paris Cons. under Zimmermann from age 6, winning pf. prize at 10. His comps. for pf. (and for pedal-pf.) incl. chromatic harmonies well in advance of their time and are extremely difficult to perform.

Alkestis. Gr. tragedy by Euripides which has been the basis of many operas. See Alceste.

All', alla (It.). To the, at the, on the, with the, in the manner of.

Alla Breve (It.). Indicates 2/2 time when, in a measure of 4 beats, the tempo is so fast that the measure may be considered to have 2 beats. See also Breve.

Allant (Fr.). (1) Going, i.e. active, brisk. (2)^Going on, in sense of continuing, e.g. Debussy's Allant grandissant--Going on growing, continuing to grow (i.e. getting louder).

Allargando (It.). Enlarging. Getting slower and broadening, without loss of fullness in tone.

Alldis, John (b London, 1929). Eng. cond. and chorusmaster. Founded John Alldis Choir, 1962. On staff GSM. Chorusmaster, LSO 1966--9; cond., London Phil. Choir, 1969; Leeds Fest. Ch. 1975.

Alle (Ger.). All. Thus if 1 vn. has been playing alone all are now to enter. Alle ersten means all the first vns. and Alle zweiten allthe 2nd.

Allegramente (It.). Allègrement (Fr.). Brightly, gaily.

Allegretto (It.). Moderately quick, pretty lively (but not so much as allegro). Allegrezza. Mirth, cheerfulness.

Allegri, Gregorio (b Rome, 1582; d Rome, 1652). It. priest, ten. singer, and composer among other things of a celebrated Miserere in 9 parts, long kept as exclusive possession of Sistine Chapel, where he served for the last part of his life. Mozart at the age of 14 secretly wrote out this work after 1 or 2 hearings.

Allegri Quartet. Brit. string quartet founded 1953 with Eli Goren (vn.), James Barton (vn.), Patrick Ireland (va.), William Pleeth (vc.). Peter Thomas succeeded Barton 1963. Re-formed 1968 with Hugh Maguire (leader), David Roth (vn.), Ireland, and Bruno Schrecker (vc.). In 1977 Peter Carter became leader and Prunella Pacey violist. Keith Lovell succeeded Pacey in 1983. In addition to classics, the Allegri has specialized in works by Brit. composers, e.g. Britten, Maconchy, LeFanu, and S. Forbes.

Allegro (It.). Merry, i.e. quick, lively, bright. Often used as the title of a comp. or movement in that style. The superlative is AllegriSSimo.

Allegro Barbaro. Work for solo pf. by Bartók, comp. 1911 and f.p. by him in Budapest on 27 Feb. 1921. Orch. transcr. by Kenessey, 1946.

Alleluia. This Lat. form of Hebrew exclamation, meaning 'Praise Jehovah', was added to certain of the responds of the R.C. Church, suitably joyful mus. for it being grafted on to the traditional plainsong and, in time, itself becoming traditional.

Alleluiasymphonie. Title given to Haydn's Sym. No. 30 in C (Hob. I:30), 1765. Incorporates part of a plainsong alleluia.

Allemand (Fr.). German.

Allemande (Almand, Almayne, Almain, etc.) (Fr.). The name of 2 distinct types of comp., both probably of Ger. origin. (1)^Dance, usually in 4 :4, but sometimes in duple time, much used by 17th- and earlier 18th-cent. composers as the first movement of the suite, or the first after a prelude. It is serious in character but not heavy, and of moderate speed: it is in simple binary form. (2)^Peasant dance still in use in parts of Germany and Switzerland. It is in triple time, and of waltz-like character. Occasionally composers have called a comp. of this type a Deutscher Tanz (plural Deutsche Tänze), or simply Deutsch (plural Deutsche).

Allen, (Sir) Hugh (Percy) (b Reading, 1869; d Oxford, 1946). Eng. organist, cond., and teacher. Org.scholar Christ's College, Cambridge, organist at caths. of St Asaph (1897) and Ely (1898); then of New College, Oxford (1901--18). Prof. of mus., Oxford Univ. (1918--46), and general inspirer of Oxford mus. activities; Dir. RCM (1918--37). Cond., Bach Choir 1907--20. Knighted 1920, G.C.V.O. 1935.

Allen, Thomas (b Seaham Harbour, 1944). Eng. bar. Opera début with WNO 1969. CG début 1971. Glyndebourne début 1973 (Papageno). Fine interpreter of Britten's Billy Budd (WNO) and of Mozart's Don Giovanni (Glyndebourne). Many concert appearances in Orff, Berlioz, etc.

Allende y Saron, Pedró Humberto (b Santiago, Chile, 1885; d Santiago, 1959). Chilean composer and violinist, who also organized research into folk mus. Works incl. vn. conc., 12 Tonadas for pf. (3 of them orch.), and choral settings.

Allentamento, allegando (It.). Slowing.

Allin, Norman (b Ashton-under-Lyne, 1884; d Hereford, 1973). Eng. bass. Trained RMCM 1906--10. Became member of Beecham Opera Co. in 1916. Début CG 1919. Leading bass and dir. BNOC 1922--9. Member, Carl Rosa Co. 1942--9. Sang in first Glyndebourne Figaro, 1934. On staff RAM 1935--60 and RMCM 1938--42. C.B.E. 1958.

Allison, Richard. See [fy65]Alison, Richard.

Allt, Wilfrid Greenhouse (b Wolverhampton, 1889; d London, 1969). Eng. organist and teacher. Ass.organist, Norwich Cath., 1910; organist St Giles's Cath., Edinburgh, 1915, and choral cond. in Edinburgh. Prin., TCL, 1944--65. Pres.RCO 1962--5.

All through the Night. The tune usually known outside Wales by this title is that of the Welsh folk-song Ar Hyd y Nos.

Alma Redemptoris Mater. See Antiphons of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

Almeida, Antonio de (b Paris, 1928). Fr. cond. Studied in Buenos Aires with Ginastera. Later studied with Koussevitzsky and Szell. Held cond. posts in Portugal from 1957 and has toured Europe and USSR. Chief guest cond. Houston S.O. 1969--71.

Almira. Opera in 3 acts (his first) by Handel to lib. by Feustking after It. text by G. Pancieri. Contains 41 Ger. and 15 It. airs. Prod. Hamburg 1705.

Alnaes, Eyvind (b Fredriksstad, 1872; d Oslo, 1932). Norweg. composer and organist best known for songs (often sung by Flagstad) though he wrote syms. and a pf. conc.

Alpaerts, Flor (b Antwerp, 1876; d Antwerp, 1954). Belg. composer and cond. Studied at Antwerp Cons. where he later became prof. Wrote opera Shylock (1913), symphonic poems, and cantatas.

Alpensinfonie, Eine (An Alpine Symphony). Orch. comp. by Richard Strauss (Op. 64, 1911--15). 10th and last of his tone-poems. In 22 sections, it describes 24 hours in the mountains. Scored for very large orch. incl. wind and thunder machines. F.p. Berlin 1915, London 1923.

Alphorn, Alpenhorn (Ger.), Cor des Alpes (Fr.). The Alpine horn, a Swiss peasant instr. used for the evening calling of the cattle scattered over the summer pastures of the mountains (see also Ranz des vaches). It is made of wood and varies in length from about 7' to 12'. It has a similar mouthpiece to that of the cornet, and is restricted to notes of the harmonic series. Strauss wrote a part for Alphorn in Daphne, but it is usually played by tb. (except in Haitink's recording).

Alpine Symphony, An. See Alpensinfonie, Eine.

Als (Ger.). As, like, when, than.

Alsager, Thomas Massa (b 1779; d 1846). Eng. newspaper manager and amateur musician particularly devoted to furtherance of Beethoven's chamber mus. At his prompting The Times became first newspaper to employ professional mus. critics.

Al segno (It.). To the sign, meaning 'Go to the sign ^'. This may mean 'Go back to the sign', i.e. the same as Dal segno, or it may mean 'Continue until you reach the sign'.

Alsop, Ada (b Darlington, 1915). Eng. sop. Specialist in oratorio, singing with all leading Brit. choral socs.

Also sprach Zarathustra (Thus spake Zoroaster). Tone-poem by Richard Strauss, Op. 30, comp. 1895--6 and f.p. Frankfurt 1896. Freely based on Nietzsche's epic prose poem of same name. Delius set 11 sections of poem in his Mass of Life.

Alt. (1) High. The note g" marks the beginning of the range of vocal notes spoken of as in alt, and from g"" as in altissimo. (2)^<sup>(Ger.)</sup>. The alto (contralto) v.: prefixed to the name of an instr. (e.g. Althorn), it implies an alto pitch. (3)^<sup>(Ger.)</sup>. Old.

Alta (It.). High, e.g. Ottava alta, High octave, i.e. one octave higher than written. Not to be confused with alto.

Altenberglieder (Songs by Altenberg). 5 songs to picture-postcard texts by Peter Altenberg (pseudonym of Richard Englander, 1862--1919), comp. by Berg for v. and orch. (Op. 4). At f.p. in Vienna of 2 of the songs on 31 Mar. 1913, a riot seriously disrupted the concert. Not perf. complete until 1952 (Rome, cond. Horenstein).

Altenburg, Johann Ernst (b Weissenfels, 1734; d Bitterfeld, 1801). Ger. organist and virtuoso trumpeter who comp. works for the latter instr., incl. a conc. for 7 tpts., and wrote a treatise on tpt. playing (1795). His father Johann Caspar (d 1761) was also a noted trumpeter. Both had military careers.

Altenburg, Michael (b Alach, 1584; d Erfurt, 1640). Ger. theologian and composer, several of whose chorale melodies are still sung. Pubd. important colls. of sacred mus.

Altered Chord. Amer. synonym for Chromatic Chord.

Alternativo (It.). Name applied in early 18th-cent. mus. in dance style to a contrasting middle section (later called Trio). Sometimes used of a whole comp., apparently implying that the 2 sections may be alternated at will.

Altflügelhorn (Ger.). Another name for the flügelhorn in Eb.

Altgeige (Ger.). Alto fiddle, i.e. the viola.

Althorn (Ger.). The alto saxhorn in Eb and the flügelhorn in Eb are sometimes referred to as althorns.

Altissimo. See Alt.

Altiste (Fr.). (1) a player of the alto, i.e. of the viola. (2)^<sup>(An)</sup> An alto singer.

Altmeyer, Jeannine (b Pasadena, 1948). Amer. sop. of Ger. parentage. Studied Mus. Acad. of Santa Barbara 1968--71, then with Lotte Lehmann, and at Salzburg Mozarteum. NY Met. début 1971 (First Lady in Die Zauberflöte), Chicago 1972 (Freia in Das Rheingold). European début 1973, Salzburg Easter Fest. (Freia). Zürich Opera 1973--5, Stuttgart Opera 1975--9. Bayreuth début 1976 (Sieglinde). Sang role of Brünnhilde in Janowski recording of The Ring.

Alto (It.). High. (1)^<sup>(Usually high type of falsetto male v., much used in Eng. church mus.; thus in SATB, A stands for alto. (2)^<sup>(Low-register female v., usually referred to as contralto. (3)^<sup>(Applied to instr., the 2nd or 3rd highest of the family. (4)^<sup>(Fr.)</sup> Viola.</sup></sup></sup>

Alto Clarinet. The clarinet in Eb and in F.

Alto Clef. Formerly used for alto v., now mainly used for viola. See Clefs.

Alto flügelhorn. The Bb flügelhorn, also in Eb.

Alto flute. The fl. in G, transposing instr. notated 4th above actual sound.

Alto Moderne. Also called 'Viole-ténor'. A large viola, played like the vc. and introduced in the 1930s by R. Parramon of Barcelona.

Alto oboe. The Eng. hn. (cor anglais), pitched in F, a 5th below the oboe.

Alto Rhapsody. Name by which Brahms's Rhapsody for cont. solo, male ch., and orch. (Op. 53, 1869) is known in Eng. Text taken from Goethe's poem Harzreise im Winter. Ger. title of comp. is Rhapsodie aus Goethes Harzreise im Winter.

Alto saxhorn. The sop. saxhorn in Bb (or C), differing little from the Bb cornet.

Alto saxophone. The Eb sax., usually played in jazz (especially beautifully by Johnny Hodges of Duke Ellington's orch.).

Alto Staff. See Great Staff.

Alto Trombone. Obsolete type of trombone, written for by Mozart, later replaced by ten. tb.

Altposaune (Ger.). Alto trombone.

Altra, altre. See Altro.

Altra volta (It.). Encore.

Altro, altri; altra, altre (It.). Another, others.

Alva, Luigi (b Lima, 1927). Peruvian ten., début Lima 1949, Milan 1954, Edinburgh 1957, CG 1960. Specializes in light, lyrical Mozart and Rossini roles.

Alvary, Max (Maximilian Achenbach) (b Düsseldorf, 1856; d Gross-Tabarz, Thuringia, 1898). Ger. ten. Studied with J. Stockhausen and Lamperti. Début Weimar. Sang Don José in Carmen at NY Met. 1885. Specialist in Wagnerian roles (Loge, Siegfried, Tristan, Tannhäuser). Bayreuth 1891. In CG Ring under Mahler, 1892.

Alwin, Karl (b Königsberg, 1891; d Mexico City, 1945). Ger. pianist, cond., and composer. Held various operatic posts before going to Vienna State Opera in 1920. At one time married to the sop. Elisabeth Schumann. Arr. certain items by R. Strauss. Cond. first London perf. (1924) of 2nd version (1916) of Strauss's Ariadne auf Naxos. Cond., Nat. Opera, Mexico City, from 1941.

Alwyn, Kenneth (b London, 1925). Eng. cond. and composer. Studied RAM. Prin. cond. BBC Northern Ireland Orch. Assoc. cond. SW Th. Ballet 1952--6, Royal Ballet 1956--9.

Alwyn, William (b Northampton, 1905). Eng. composer, pianist, flautist, poet, translator, and painter. Studied RAM. Began career as orch. flautist with LSO. Prof. of comp., RAM, 1926--56. First orch. work (5 Preludes for Orch.) played at a Promenade Concert, 1927. 3 times chairman, Composers' Guild. Has written much mus. for films, incl. wartime documentaries Desert Victory and The Way Ahead. Has written several vols. of poetry and has trans. Fr. poets. C.B.E. 1978. Prin. comps.:

opera: Miss Julie (1961--76).

orch.: Syms. No. 1(1950), No. 2 (1954), No. 3 (1956), No. 4 (1960), No. 5 (1973); symphonic prelude The Magic Island(1953), Festival March (1952), Conc. grosso No. 1 (1952), No. 2, str. (1951), No. 3 (1964); Elizabethan Dances (1957), ob. conc. (1951), Lyra Angelica, conc. for harp and str. (1955), Autumn Legend, cor anglais and str. (1956), Derby Day (1962), Sinfonietta for str. (1970), No. 2 (1976).

chamber music: Str. trio (1963); Str. qts. No. 1 in D minor (1955), No. 2 (Spring Waters) (1976); cl. sonata (1962); Naiades, fl. and harp sonata (1972); Divertimento, fl. (1940).

piano: Fantasy Waltzes (1956), Sonata alla toccata (1951), 12 Preludes (1959).

song cycles (all with pf.): Mirages, bar. (1974), 6 Nocturnes, bar. (1976), A Leavetaking, ten. (1977), Invocations, sop. (1978).

Alyabyev, Alexander (b Tobolsk, 1787; d Moscow, 1851). Russ. composer and precursor of nat. sch. Wrote famous song The Nightingale, utilized by Patti and others for lesson scene of Rossini's Il barbiere di Siviglia, and transcr. for pf. by Liszt.

Alzato, alzati; alzata, alzate (It.). Raised, lifted off (of a mute or mutes, etc.).

Alzira. Opera in prol. and 2 acts by Verdi to lib. by Cammarano based on Voltaire's play Alzire (1736). Comp. 1845. Prod. Naples 1845; revived Rome 1967, NY (concert) 1968, London (stage) 1970.

Am (Ger.). At the, on the, to the, by the, near the. As in Am Meer, by the sea.

Amabile (It.). Lovable, hence amabilità, lovable ness.

Amadeus Quartet. Highly successful and admired Brit. str. qt. which gave its first London concert in Jan. 1948, though it had played, under various different titles, for a year before then. Its membership has remained constant, viz., Norbert Brainin, Sigmund Nissel (vns.), Peter Schidlof (va.), Martin Lovett (vc.). Britten's 3rd qt. (1975) comp. for them. Brainin O.B.E. 1960, his three colleagues 1973.

Amahl and the Night Visitors. Opera in 1 act by Menotti to his own lib. First TV opera (NBC NY 1951). First stage perf. Indiana Univ., Bloomington, 1952, NY 1952, BBC TV 1967. The Night Visitors are the Magi.

Amati. It. family of vn.-makers (also vas., vcs., and dbs.) at Cremona. Comprised Andrea (c.1520--c.1580) whose sons Antonio (1550--1638) and Girolamo (Geronimus) (1561--1630) made many changes. Nicola (1596--1684), son of Girolamo, is reckoned the greatest of the Amatis. Among his pupils were Stradivari and Guarneri. The last of the line was Nicola's son Girolamo (1649--1740).

Amato, Pasquale (b Naples, 1878; d NY, 1942). It. bar. Studied Naples Cons. Début Naples 1900. Career chiefly spent at NY Met. (1908--21), where he created role of the Sheriff in Puccini's La fanciulla del West (1910). Became teacher and dir. of univ. opera prods.

Amberley Wild Brooks. No. 2 of 2 Pf. Pieces by Ireland, comp. 1921.

Ambrosian Chant. Type of plainsong now lost, assoc. with St Ambrose, Bishop of Milan 374--397, who reorganized singing and tonality in the Christian church. See under Modes and Plainsong.

Âme (Fr.). Soul. The sound-post of the vn., etc. The fanciful name doubtless comes from its importance to the whole tone-quality of the instr., which depends much on its correct position. The Italians call it anima, which also means 'soul'.

Amelia goes to the Ball (Amelia al ballo). Comic opera in 1 act by Menotti to It. lib. by composer (Eng. trans. by George Meade). Prod. Berlin and Philadelphia 1937, San Remo 1938, Liverpool 1956.

Ameling, Elly (Elisabeth) (b Rotterdam, 1938). Dutch sop. Studied The Hague Cons. and with Bernac. Début Amsterdam 1961. London début 1966, Amer. 1968. Specializes in Lieder and oratorio, being particularly fine in Bach cantatas and Passions, and Schubert songs.

Amen. So be it. The Hebrew terminal word of prayer in Jewish, Christian, and Mohammedan worship. It has been extended by composers, many times, into a long comp., e.g. the 'Amen Chorus' of Handel's Messiah. Shorter settings have been made for liturgical use, such as Gibbons's Threefold Amen and Stainer's Sevenfold Amen. The Dresden Amen comes from the Threefold Amen of the Royal Chapel of Dresden (common also throughout Saxony); its composer was J. G. Naumann.

Amen Cadence. See Cadence.

America ('My Country, 'tis of thee'). Patriotic hymn with words by Rev. Samuel Francis Smith (1832) sung to tune of 'God save the King'. Also title of symphonic rhapsody (1928) by E. Bloch.

American Academy (Rome). Building in Rome, formerly Amer. Sch. of Architecture, where winners of Amer. Rome Prize live. See Prix de Rome.

American Federation of Musicians. Trade-union organization for professional musicians in USA and Canada; founded 1895 and very active under the presidency (1942--58) of James C. Petrillo.

American Guild of Organists. Nat. assoc. of Amer. church orgs., founded 1896.

American in Paris, An. Orch. piece by Gershwin, score of which incl. parts for 4 taxi-horns. F.p. NY 1928.

American Musical Terminology (compared with Brit.). Certain divergences between Amer. and Brit. mus. terminology sometimes cause confusion: (1)

note[nm and [smstone]. Such expressions as '3 tones lower', or 'the scale of 5 tones' have different meanings to the Amer. and the Brit. reader. A Brit. reader, finding these expressions in an Amer. book or journal, must be careful to understand by them '3 notes lower' and 'scale of 5 notes', while an Amer. reader finding such expressions in a Brit. book must interpret them as '3 whole-steps lower' or 'a scale of 5 whole-steps'. (2) Eng.
bar = Amer.

measure, the former term being often reserved in Amer. for the actual bar-line. (3) Eng.
semibreve, minim, etc. = Amer.

whole[nm-

note[nm, [smhalf-[smnote, etc. (4) Eng.

naturals, e.g. the white keys of a pf., etc. = Amer.

long keys. (5) Eng.

natural notes (of brass instr.) = Amer.

primary tones. (6) Eng.

to flatten[nm and [smto sharpen = Amer.

to flat[nm and [smto sharp. (7) Eng.

organ (generally) = Amer.

pipe[nm [smorgan (to distinguish from the various reed organs). (8) Eng.

gramophone = Amer.

phono[nm- [smgraph. (9) Eng.

concert[nm-[smgiving = Amer.

con[nm- [smcertizing. (10) Amer.

applied music means perf. mus.; hence univ. courses in Applied Music are courses in instr. or vocal technique and interpretation. (11) The Eng. term folk song is often used in the USA in a loose way, covering not only trad. peasant songs but also any songs which have become widely known by people in general. (12) Eng.

first violin or Leader (of orch.) = Amer.

concertmaster. (13) Eng.

conductor (of orch.) = (often) Amer.

leader (and Eng. to conduct = Amer. to lead). (14) Eng.

part[nm-[smwriting = Amer.

voice[nm-[smleading. (15) Eng.

record sleeve (container) = Amer.

disc (disk) liner.

American Organ. Called in USA the 'cabinet org.', this is a type of reedorg. like the harmonium in which air is sucked through reeds. Invented by workman in Alexandre's factory but developed in Boston, Mass.

'American' Quartet. Name by which Dvo;Akrák's Str. Qt. in F, Op. 96, is generally known. Comp. in USA, 1893 and partly inspired by Negro melodies, hence its former names, now frowned on, of 'Negro' or 'Nigger' Qt.

American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers ('ASCAP'). Founded 1914 to protect copyrights, perf. rights, etc. Headquarters in NY.

Amériques (New Worlds). Comp. for large orch. by Varèse, instr. incl. cyclone whistle, fire siren, crow-call, etc. Comp. 1918--21. F.p. Philadelphia 1926.

Amfiparnaso, L'. Comedia harmonica by Orazio Vecchi. A string of pieces in madrigal style, in 3 acts with a prol.; not intended to be staged. (Prod. Modena 1594; pubd. 1597; revived Florence 1933, London 1946).

Amico Fritz, L' (Friend Fritz). Opera in 3 acts by Mascagni, lib. by P. Suardon (N. Daspuro), based on novel by Erckmann-Chatrian (1864). (Prod. Rome 1891; London and Philadelphia 1892; NY 1894).

Amid Nature (or In Nature's Realm, Cz. Vp; Akrírode^;). Ov. for orch., Op. 91, by Dvo;Akrák, comp. 1891, as first of cycle of 3 ovs. called Nature, Life, and Love, the others being Carneval and Othello. Also title of Dvo;Akrák's 5 chs. for mixed vv., Op. 63, to words by Hálek, comp. 1882.

Amis, John (b London, 1922). Eng. critic and administrator, with prin. reputation as presenter of mus. programmes on radio and TV. Studied to be professional singer and recorded ten. solo in Bernard Herrmann's Moby Dick. Secretary of Dartington Summer School since inception.

Ammerbach, Elias Nickolaus (b Naumberg, ?1530; d Leipzig, 1597). Ger. organist and composer. At Thomaskirche, Leipzig, from 1561. His Orgel-oder Instrument-tabulatur (1571) demonstrates progress in practice of tuning and kbd. fingering.

Amner, John (b Ely, 1579; d Ely 1641). Eng. composer and organist. Studied at Oxford. Org. of Ely Cath. for 31 years. Wrote much sacred mus. and some kbd. variations on a psalm-tune.

Amon, Johannes Andreas (b Bamberg, 1763; d Wallerstein, 1825). Ger. hn.-player and composer. Pupil of Punto. Dir. of mus. at Heilbronn 1789--1817. Composed syms., pf. conc., sonatas, ob. qts., fl. and va. conc., etc.

Amor brujo, El (Love, the Magician). Ballet in 1 act by Falla, based on Andalusian gipsy tale. Requires ballerina to sing as well as dance. Also exists as orch. suite (with cont.). The famous 'Ritual Fire Dance' occurs in it. Brujo means 'male witch' and the title is best trans. as 'Wedded by Witchcraft'. F.p. Madrid 1915; London in concert version 1921, as ballet 1931.

Amore (It.), Amour (Fr.). Love. A word often found in the names of certain forms of old instr., generally implying a lower pitch than the ordinary and a claim to sweeter tone, e.g. va. d'amore, ob. d'amore. In bowed instr. it also indicates the possession of sympathetic strings.

Amore dei tre re, L' (The Love of the Three Kings). Opera in 3 acts by Montemezzi to lib. adapted by Sem Benelli from his verse tragedy (1910). Prod. Milan 1913; NY and London 1914.

Amoyal, Pierre (b Paris, 1949). Fr. violinist. Studied Paris Cons., won Ginette Neveu Prize 1963, Paganini Prize 1964, Enescu Prize 1970. Pupil of Heifetz in Los Angeles 1966--71. Returned to Paris, giving 4 perfs. of Berg conc. with Solti and Orchestre de Paris, 1972. Worldwide tours.

Amplifier. A piece of electrical equipment which 'amplifies', i.e. increases, the vol. of sound. Voltage-controlled amplifiers alter the vol. of the input signal. They can be used in electronic music in conjunction with voltage-controlled oscillators and filters and a kbd. to function as a monophonic mus. instr.

Amram, David (b Philadelphia, 1930). Amer. hn.-player and composer. Played in jazz groups and sym. orchs. Studied comp. with Giannini and hn. with G. Schuller. First composer-in-residence with NY P.O. Works incl.: incid. mus. for chamber orch. for nearly 20 Shakespeare prods., opera Twelfth Night (1968), Shakespearean Concerto, King Lear Variations, incid. mus. to Peer Gynt, triple conc., vn. conc., cantata A Year in our Land, vn. sonata, str. qt., and songs.

A.Mus.L.C.M. Associate in Music ;obi.e. theory of mus.;cb of London College of Music.

A.Mus.T.C.L. Associate in Music, Trinity College of Music, London.

Amy, Gilbert (b Paris, 1936). Fr. composer and cond. Studied Paris Cons. 1955--60 under Messiaen and Milhaud. Cond. of Domaine Musical, Paris, 1967--73. Strongly influenced by Boulez and for 3 years attended Darmstadt summer courses. His comps. have moved from strict serialism to a more flexible use of the system and his later works, some employing tape, are of considerable poetic refinement. Prin. works:

orch: Refrains (1972), Mouvements (1958), Inventions (1959--61), Diaphonies (1962), Iriade (1963--4), Chant pour orchestre (1968), Jeux et formes, ob. and chamber orch. (1971), 7 Sites, 14 instr. (1975), Eclos XIII, 13 instr. (1976), Adagio et Stretto (1977--8).

vocal: D'un Espace déployé, sop., 2 pf., 2 orch. groups (1972--3); Sonata pian'e forte, sop., mez., 12 players (1974); Après 'd'un désastre obscur', mez. and instr. (1976); Shin'anim Sha'ananim, mez., cl., vc., and ens. (1979); Messe, sop., cont., ten., bass, opt. children's ch., ch., and orch. (1982--3).

unacc. chorus: Récitatif, air et variation (1970).

chamber music: ././. d'un Désastre obscur, mez. and cl. (1976); Jeux, ob. (1976); pf. sonata (1957--60); Epigrammes (1961); Quasi Scherzando, vc. (1981).

An (Ger.). On, by, to, at, as in An die Musik, 'To Music'. In org. mus. it signifies that the stop in question is to be drawn.

Anacréon, ou L'amour fugitif. Opera-ballet in 2 acts by Cherubini, text by Mendouze. Prod. Paris 1803.

Anacreontic Society. Aristocratic mus. soc. in London 1766--94, meeting fortnightly during the season. Haydn attended a meeting. At each meeting, pres. sang constitutional song 'To Anacreon in Heaven'. See Star-Spangled Banner.

Anacrusis (plural Anacruses). Unstressed syllable at the beginning of a line of poetry or an unstressed note or group of notes at the beginning of a mus. phrase.

Analytical Notes. Another name for 'programme-notes', the descriptions of comps. which appear in annotated programmes. Possibly the earliest example is the programme of a Concert of Catches and Glees, given by Arne at Drury Lane Th. in 1768. It has a preface explaining the nature of the catch and the glee, and the various items are provided with historical interest. 15 years later (1783) Frederick the Great's Kapellmeister, J. F. Reichardt, founded in Potsdam a regular Tuesday perf. and provided in his programmes both the words of the songs and 'historical and aesthetic explanations enabling the audience to gain a more immediate understanding'. John Ella, prominent in London mus. life as dir. of a chamber mus. organization, the Musical Union (1845--80), is often spoken of in Britain as the introducer of annotated programmes: he had been anticipated, but it was probably the utility of his analytical notes over a long period that formally est. the practice which from then on became widespread. Some programme-notes have had a value beyond the occasion for which they were written, notably those by Sir George Grove for August Manns's orch. concerts at the Crystal Palace and those by Sir Donald Tovey for the Reid concerts in Edinburgh.

Anc^;erl, Karel (b Tuc^;apy, Bohemia, 1908; d Toronto, 1973). Cz. cond. Studied Prague Cons. and with H. Scherchen in Berlin (1929--31). Cond. for Prague radio 1933--9. Sent to concentration camp by Nazis. Cond. Cz. Radio Orch. 1947--50, Cz. P.O., 1950--68; Toronto S.O., 1969--73.

Ancient Concert (Concert of Ancient Music). Important London subscription series (1776--1848). The royal and noble 'Directors' (e.g. George III, Prince Albert, Duke of Wellington) took turns to choose programmes. Another name was 'King's Concert' or, in Victorian times, 'Queen's Concert'. (Sometimes confused with Academy of Ancient Music, 1726--92.) From 1804 the concerts were given in Hanover Sq. Rooms.

Ancora (It.). Still, yet; i.e. Ancora forte, still loud; Ancorapiù forte, even louder. Also used to mean 'Again', i.e. repeat. See also Encore.

Anda, Géza (b Budapest, 1921; d Zürich, 1976). Hung.-born pianist and cond. Pupil of Dohnányi and winner of Liszt Prize. Escaped from Hung. to Switzerland in 1943, becoming Swiss citizen 1955. World-wide reputation as interpreter of Mozart, Brahms, Beethoven, and especially Bartók.

Andaluz, andaluza (Sp.), andalouse (Fr.). Vaguely applied to several Sp. dances common in Andalusia, e.g. Fandango, Malague; Atna, and Polo.

Andamento (It.). Going (i.e. running). A fugue subject of above average length, often of a running character. See also Attacco.

Andante (It., from andare, to go). Moving along, flowing (slowish but not slow). The word is often used for the title of a comp. Andantino. A diminution of andante. Some composers use it to mean a little slower than andante, but the commonly accepted modern usage means a little quicker.

Andante cantabile. (It.). Flowing and songlike. A direction often used by composers. To a large section of the public, however, it means one work, the 2nd movement, andante cantabile, of Tchaikovsky's Str. Qt. No. 1 in D (1871), Op. 11.

Andante favori. Publisher's title for Andante in F, pf. solo by Beethoven comp. 1804 and intended for the Sonata in C (Waldstein), Op. 53, but discarded and pubd. separately in 1806.

Andante spianato. (It.). Flowing and smooth. The title of Chopin's Op. 22 for pf. and orch., 1834. Linked by Chopin to a Polonaise in Eb major.

An den Baum Daphne (To the Daphne Tree). Epilogue by R. Strauss to his opera Daphne (1936--7) for unacc. 9-part mixed ch., to words by J. Gregor, comp. 1943. This was the lib. for a choral finale to the opera which Strauss discarded in favour of an orch. transformation scene. He set the words later as this motet.

Anders, Peter (b Essen, 1908; d Hamburg, 1954). Ger. ten., specializing in lighter Mozart roles, notably at Berlin State Opera 1936--48, though later he sang Otello. CG début 1951 as Walther in Die Meistersinger under Beecham.

Andersen, Karsten (b Oslo, 1920). Norweg. cond. and violinist. Studied in Norway and It. Cond. and mus. dir. Stavanger 1945--64, Bergen from 1964. Chief cond. Iceland S.O. from 1973. Guest cond. of leading European orchs.

Anderson, Emily (b Galway, Ireland, 1891; d London, 1962). Eng. translator of the letters of Mozart and his family (1938) and of the letters of Beethoven (1961). Studied at Univs. of Berlin and Marburg and entered Brit. Foreign Office, being seconded to War Office 1940--3. O.B.E.

Anderson, Leroy (b Cambridge, Mass., 1908; d Woodbury, Conn., 1975). Amer. composer of light mus., notably Sleigh Ride and Blue Tango, but has also written more extended works.

Anderson, Lucy (née Philpot) (b Bath, 1797; d London, 1878). Eng. pianist, the first woman to play at a Phil. Soc. concert in London (29 April 1822, in a Hummel conc.). Teacher of Queen Victoria. Her husband, George Frederick Anderson (b London, 1793; d London, 1876) was a violinist and Master of the Queen's Musick, 1848--70.

Anderson, Marian (b Philadelphia, 1902). Amer. cont., mainly in concert repertory but became first black singer at NY Met. as Ulrica in Un ballo in maschera, 1955. Studied with Boghetti. Won competition to appear with NY P.O. 1925. Studied in Europe 1933--5, making début in London. Sang at inauguration of Pres. J. F. Kennedy, 1961.

Anderson, Ronald Kinloch (b Edinburgh, 1911; d London, 1984). Scot. pianist, teacher, writer, and record producer. Studied Edinburgh Univ. Début London 1938. Pianist in Robert Masters Qt. 1946--58, prof. of pf., TCL, 1946--63. Harpsichordist with Menuhin Fest. Orch. 1957--63. Producer of many gramophone recordings, incl. operas with Barbirolli and Karajan.

An die ferne Geliebte (To the Distant Beloved). Song-cycle by Beethoven, with pf. acc. (Op. 98, 1816), of 6 poems by Alois Jeitteles. Not to be confused with Beethoven's songs An die fernen Geliebten (1809, words by Reissig) and An die Geliebte (1811, words by J. L. Stoll, re-comp. 1814).

Andrade, Mario de (b São Paulo, 1893; d São Paulo, 1945). Brazilian musicologist, critic, and student of folk mus. Dir., Brazilian Dept. of Culture 1935--8. His book Musica do Brasil was pubd. 1941.

André, Franz (b Brussels, 1893; d Brussels, 1975). Belg. cond. Prin. cond. Belg. Radio S.O. 1935--58. On staff Brussels Cons. 1920--45.

André, Johann (b Offenbach-am-Main, 1741; d Offenbach-am-Main, 1799). Ger. composer, but best-known for publishing firm he founded in 1774. Among his own operas was the 4-act Belmonte und Constanze, oder die Entführung aus dem Serail, prod. Berlin 1781, the year before Mozart's setting of the same opera. His son, Johann Anton (1775--1842) in 1799 acquired entire mus. reicta of Mozart from the composer's widow and also pubd. Mozart's own thematic catalogue of his works from 1784 to 1791.

André, Maurice (b Ales, Gard, 1933). Fr. trumpeter. Studied Paris Cons. Début 1954. Prof. of tpt., Paris Cons., from 1967. Won Geneva Int. Competition 1955, Munich Int. Competition 1963. Soloist with leading orchs. Specialist in baroque and contemporary mus.

Andrea Chénier. Fr. Revolution opera in 4 acts by Giordano to lib. by Illica. Prod. Milan and NY 1896; London 1903.

Andreae, Volkmar (b Berne, 1879; d Zürich, 1962). Swiss cond. and composer. Dir. Zürich sym. concerts 1906--49, head of Zürich Univ. mus. dept. 1914--41. Cond. f.p. of Walton's Portsmouth Point, 1926. Comp. 2 operas, 2 syms., chamber mus.

Andreozzi, Gaetano (b Aversa, 1755; d Paris, 1826). It. composer, pupil of Jommelli. Wrote 43 operas and 6 str. qts.

Andrews, Herbert (Kennedy) (b Comber, Co. Down, 1904; d Oxford, 1965). Irish organist and scholar. Organist (1938--56) New College, Oxford, and univ. lecturer there. Author Oxford Harmony, Vol. 2, also books on Palestrina and Byrd.

Andrews, Hilda (Mrs. G. M. Lees) (b Birmingham, 1900; d Louth, Lincs., 1983). Eng. musicologist. Ed. of Byrd's My Ladye Nevells Booke, North's Musicall Grammian (part of his Memoires of Musick), biography of Sir Richard Terry, etc. Compiler of Catalogue of MS. Mus. in Buckingham Palace Library.

Andriessen, Hendrik (b Haarlem, 1892; d Heemstede, 1981). Dutch composer and org., brother of Willem Andriessen. Studied Amsterdam Cons. Organist at Haarlem and Utrecht between 1916 and 1938. Dir., Utrecht Cons. 1937--49, and Royal Cons., The Hague, 1949--57. Comp. principally org. and choral mus. but also operas, syms., and sonatas.

Andriessen, Louis (b Utrecht, 1939). Dutch composer, son of Hendrik Andriessen, with whom he studied comp., later becoming pupil of Berio in Milan and Berlin. Comps. incl. th. and film scores and reflect influences of Cage, Stockhausen, and Stravinsky. Has made special critical study of Stravinsky. Mus. th. pieces incl. Matthew Passion, (1976), Orpheus (1977), George Sand (1980). Other works incl. The 9 Symphonies of Beethoven, orch. and ice-cream vendor bell (1970), Symphonies of the Netherlands, 2 or more wind bands (1974), and Velocity, orch. (1983).

Andriessen, Willem (b Haarlem, 1887; d Amsterdam, 1964). Dutch pianist and composer. Dir. of Amsterdam Cons. 1937--53. Composer of choral and orch. works.

Anerio, Felice (b Rome, c.1560; d Rome, 1614). It. church musician. Palestrina's successor as composer to Papal Chapel. Wrote 4 masses, spiritual madrigals, and secular canzonettas.

Anerio, Giovanni Francesco (b Rome, c. 1567; d Graz, 1630). It. composer and priest, brother of Felice Anerio. Mus. dir. to King of Poland and later active in Rome. Composed masses, 83 motets, and many madrigals. More progressive than his brother.

Anfang (Ger.). Beginning. Anfangs, at the beginning. Wie anfänglich, as at the beginning. Vom Anfang is Ger. equivalent of Da capo.

Anfossi, Pasquale (b Taggia, nr. Naples, 1727; d Rome, 1797). It. composer of over 70 operas and then of church mus. when he became maestro of St John Lateran in 1792. Pupil of Piccinni. For Vienna prod. (1783) of his opera Il Curioso indiscreto, Mozart comp. 3 additional arias. Mus. dir., King's Th., London, 1782--6 Angeles, Victoria de los. See De Los Angeles, Victoria.

Angelica (It.), angélique (Fr.), angel-lute (Eng.). Instr. of the lute type popular c.1700. An archlute with long neck, 16 or 17 gut str. and 2 peg-boxes. Tuned diatonically.

Angelus. Prayer to the Virgin Mary offered at morning, noon, and evening at the sound of the Angelus bell. Also title of opera by Edward Naylor (1867--1934) which won Ricordi Prize and was prod. CG 1909.

Angerer, Paul (b Vienna, 1927). Austrian cond. and composer. Began career as orchestral violist. Kapellmeister, Bonn State Theatre 1964--6; opera dir. Salzburg Landestheater 1967--72. Harpsichordist and recorder-player in various baroque ens. Leader, S.W. Ger. Chamber Orch. since 1971. Comps. incl. va. conc., fl. conc., chamber works, and setting of Whitman's Song of Myself.

Anglais, Anglaise (Fr.). English. Term of variable meaning sometimes used by 18th-cent. composers as the title of a hornpipe or country dance; or of anything else thought to be Eng. in character.

Anglican Chant. Simple type of harmonized melody used in the Anglican Church (and nowadays often in other Eng.-speaking Protestant churches) for singing unmetrical texts, principally the Psalms and the Canticles (when these latter are not sung in a more elaborate setting). The main principle is that of the trad. Gregorian tones, i.e. a short melody is repeated to each verse of the text (or sometimes to 2 or more verses; see below), the varying numbers of syllables in the different lines of the words being accommodated by the flexible device of a reciting note at the opening of each line---this being treated as timeless and so capable of serving as the vehicle for many or few syllables, while succeeding notes are sung in time and (normally) take one syllable each. The 1st part of the chant has 3 measures and the 2nd part 4.

Anhang (Ger.). A supplement, i.e. a Coda in the mus. sense, or in musicological terminology a section appended to a critical edn. of a work containing variant readings, material of doubtful attribution, etc.

Aniara. Opera in 2 acts by Blomdahl. Lib. by E. Lindegren based on H. Martinson's fantasy about space travel. (Prod. Stockholm and Edinburgh Fest. 1959.)

Anievas, Agustin (b NY, 1934). Amer. pianist of Sp.-Mexican descent. Studied Juilliard Sch., NY. Début NY 1959. Winner of Queen Elisabeth of the Belgians and Mitropoulos Int. prizes (1961).

Anima (It.). Soul, i.e. the sound-post of a vn., etc. (See also Âme, Sound-post.) Con anima, with feeling.

Animando (It.). Animating. Animandosi, becoming animated. Animato (It.), animé (Fr.). Animated.

Animo, animoso (It.). Spirit, spirited, Animosamente, spiritedly.

Animuccia, Giovanni (b Florence, c. 1500; d Rome, 1571). It. composer. Predecessor of Palestrina as maestro of the Vatican and regarded as extraordinarily fertile innovator. Comp. Laudi, some of which were pubd. in 1563 and 1570.

Anna Bolena. Opera in 2 acts by Donizetti to lib. by Romani. Inaccurate but moving dramatization of life of Henry VIII's 2nd wife Anne Boleyn. (Prod. Milan 1830; London 1831; New Orleans 1839.) Revived for Maria Callas at Milan, 1957, and at Glyndebourne 1965.

Anna Magdalena Books (J. S. Bach). 2nd and 3rd of the 3 colls. of kbd. pieces by Bach known as Klavierbüchlein. They were for the instruction of his 2nd wife Anna Magdalena and were pubd. 1722 and 1725.

Années de pèlerinage (Years of Pilgrimage). 23 pf. pieces by Liszt issued in 3 books as follows: Book 1 (1st Année, Switzerland). 1. La Chapelle de Guillaume Tell. 2. Au lac de Wallenstadt. 3. Pastorale. 4. Au bord d'un esource. 5. Orage. 6. Vallée d'Obermann. 7. Eglogue. 8. Le mal du pays. 9. Les Cloches de Genève. Comp. 1848--54, pubd. 1855. Nos. 1--4, 6--8, and 9 based on Album d'un Voyageur, 1835--6; Book 2 (2nd Année, Italy). 1. Sposalizio. 2. Il Penseroso. 3. Canzonetta del Salvator Rosa. 4. Sonetto 47 del Petrarca. 5. Sonetto 104 del Petrarca. 6. Sonetto 123 del Petrarca. 7. Après une lecture du Dante, fantasia quasi sonata. Comp. 1837--49, pubd. 1858. Book 3 (3rd Année). 1. Angelus! 2. Aux cyprès de la Villa d'Este (3/4). 3. Aux cyprès de la Villa d'Este (4/4). 4. Les jeux d'eau à la Villa d'Este. 5. Sunt lachrymae rerum. 6. Marche funèbre. 7. Sursum corda. Comp. 1866--77, pubd. 1883.

Annibali, Domenico (b Macerata, c. 1705; d Rome, 1779). It. male sop. assoc. with Handel operas in London 1736--7.

Annie Laurie. The poem is by William Douglas of Fingland (c. 1880), but has been much altered by various people, especially Lady John Douglas Scott (1810--1900, see Loch Lomond), who also wrote the air. First pubd. 1838.

Annunzio, Gabriele d' (b Pescara, 1863; d Vittoriale, 1938). It. poet and dramatist who was keen student of mus. Worked in Rome as mus. critic; in 1917 ed. National Collection of Italian Music with help of Pizzetti and Malipiero, among others. Debussy comp. incidental mus. for his play Le Martyre de Saint-Sébastien (1911) and Zandonai's Francesca da Rimini is based on another of his plays.

Anon in Love. Sequence of 6 love poems, anonymous 16th- and 17th-cent. lyrics, set for ten. and guitar in 1959 by Walton. F.p. Aldeburgh 1960 (Peter Pears and Julian Bream). Version for ten. and small orch. 1971.

Anreissen (Ger.). To tear at. Use a very forceful pizzicato.

Anschlag (Ger.). (1) Sometimes called a 'Double Appoggiatura' but consisting of the notes immediately below and above the prin. note. (2)^Touch (pertaining to a kbd. instr.). (3)^`Attack', etc.

Ansell, John (b 1874; d Marlow, 1948). Eng. composer. Trained GSM. Mus. dir. various London ths. BBC 1925--30.

Ansermet, Ernest (b Vevey, Switzerland, 1883; d Geneva, 1969). Swiss cond. Studied mus. with E. Bloch, among others. Became cond. at Kursaal, Montreux, 1911. Cond. for Diaghilev's Russian Ballet from 1915, touring widely. Cond. Buenos Aires S.O., 1924--7. In 1918 founded L'Orchestre de la Suisse Romande, of which he remained cond. until 1966. Noted as interpreter of Stravinsky (cond. several f.ps.), Ravel, and Debussy. Cond. f.p. of Britten's The Rape of Lucretia, Glyndebourne 1946. Taught mathematics in his youth at a Lausanne school, not (as is often stated) at the University.

Anstimmen (Ger.). To tune.

Anstrich (Ger.). Bow `stroke'. (See also Strich).

Answer in Fugue. The 2nd entry of the main theme (subject) of a fugue a 5th higher (or lower) than the 1st is called the Answer. If subject and answer are identical it is a Real Answer; if the intervals are changed in the answer it is a Tonal Answer.

Antar. (1) Orch. work by Rimsky-Korsakov, Op. 9, first described as his Sym. No. 2 when it appeared in 1868. Rev. and re-orch. 1876 and 1897 and again in 1903 when it was designated 'oriental suite'. Based on an oriental tale by Sennkovsky. (2)^Opera by Gabriel Dupont (1912--13).

Antarctic Symphony (Vaughan Williams). See Sinfonia Antartica.

Antecedent. In a Canon the v. which first enters with the tune to be imitated is called the Dux or Antecedent.

Antechrist. Work for chamber ens. (incl. cowbell) by Maxwell Davies. Comp. and f.p. 1967 (London, Pierrot Players, cond. composer).

Antheil, George (b Trenton, NJ, 1900; d NY, 1959). Amer. composer of Polish descent. Studied with Sternberg and Bloch. Caused furore in Europe in 1920s at his pf. recitals with his comps. called Airplane Sonata and Mechanisms. His Ballet méchanique, comp. 1923--4 and f.p. Paris 1926, was designed as film mus. but was rev. for the concert hall (scored for 8 pf., pianola, 8 xylophones, 2 doorbells, and sound of aeroplane propeller). For NY première in 1927 he doubled the pfs., added car-horns and anvils, and used a real propeller. A final rev. (1953) reduced the pfs. to 4 but incl. tape of a jet engine. Returned to USA 1933 and wrote Hollywood film scores from 1936. Became more conservative. Works incl. 6 syms., ballets, 3-act opera Volpone (1950--2), and 2 earlier 3-act operas, pf. conc., vn. conc., str. qts., and vn. sonatas. Also wrote detective stories, a study of the glandular abnormalities of criminals, and a daily column of advice to the lovelorn.

Anthem. The Eng.-speaking Protestant Churches' equivalent of the Latin motet, from which it sprang. An Anglican creation, with a place in the C. of E. liturgy. It constitutes in ordinary church the one great occasion when the choir alone undertakes the duty of song, and when an elaborate vocal setting impossible and unsuitable in other parts of the service becomes proper and effective. It is usually but not necessarily acc. by organ, and frequently incl. passages for solo vv., individually or in combination. The anthems of Purcell and Blow are like cantatas. S. S. Wesley was prolific composer of anthems nearer to the style favoured today. The term is also less strictly used, as in the phrase 'National Anthem', to denote a solemn, hymn-like song.

Anticipation. The sounding of a note of a chord before the rest of the chord.

Antill, John (b Sydney, N.S.W., 1904). Australian composer and administrator on staff of Australian Broadcasting Commission. Comp. operas and orch. works, and ballet Corroboree (1946) (based on aboriginal dances). C.M.G. 1981.

Antiphon (from Gr., 'sounding across'). (1) A versicle or phrase sung by one choir in reply to another. (2)^In the R.C. Church the antiphon is intoned or sung during the recitation of Divine Office, before and after the psalm or canticle, which is itself responsively sung by the singers divided into two bodies. The antiphon may serve to reinforce the meaning of the psalm, or to introduce a Christian application of the orig. Jewish text. The plainsong tune of the antiphon, though not the same as the 'tone' of the psalm, is in keeping with it as to mode, etc. (3)^Many antiphons now exist without psalms and are sometimes sung to comp. settings, rather than to the orig. plainsong, hence the Eng. word 'anthem', derived from 'antiphona'. Several composers have given the title Antiphon to a comp., e.g. Vaughan Williams in 5 Mystical Songs.Antiphonal, Antiphonary, Antiphoner. Properly, the R.C. Church's coll. of trad. plainsong antiphons, but the word has come to be more comprehensively used as meaning the book containing all plainsong for the Divine Office, as distinct from the Gradual, which contains the plainsong for the Mass.

Antiphonal Singing. When 2 parts of a choir (Decani and Cantoris) sing alternately, one answering the other. (Alternation between officiant and choir is 'responsorial'.) The term 'antiphonal' is generally used of the mus. effects drawn from groups of singers or instrumentalists stationed apart.

Antiphons of the Blessed Virgin Mary. There are 4, each with its season: (a) during Advent and until the Purification of the Virgin Mary, Alma redemptoris mater; (b) from then until Wednesday in Holy Week, Ave regina coelorum; (c) from then until Whitsun, Regina coeli laetare; (d) from the Octave of Whitsun until Advent, Salve regina, mater misericordiae.

Anvil. Perc. instr., imitating real anvil, used in many works, usually operas. In Das Rheingold Wagner uses 18 in 3 sizes to depict the activity in Nibelheim. In Siegfried Act I, Siegfried splits an anvil with the sword Nothung. Real anvils are used in Il trovatore (Verdi), Benvenuto Cellini (Berlioz), Mahler's 6th Sym., Bax's 3rd Sym., Walton's Belshazzar's Feast, and Britten's The Burning Fiery Furnace.

Anwachsend (Ger.). Growing. Swelling out in tone.

Apel, Willi (b Konitz, 1893). Amer. (Ger.-born) musicologist. Taught at various Ger. univs. and in 1936 settled in USA, joining staff of Harvard Univ. 1938--42 and becoming prof. of musicology, Indiana Univ., 1950--70. Pubd. many works, incl. Harvard Dictionary of Music (1944, rev. 1969). Has also written books on fugue, medieval harmony, and Gregorian chant.

Aperto(It.). Open. (1) Clear, distinct. (2)^Broad in style.

ApIvor, Denis (b Collinstown, Eire, 1916). Irish-born composer of Welsh parentage. Studied at choir schs. of Christ Church (Oxford) and Hereford, and under Hadley and Rawsthorne 1937--9. Works incl. 2syms., operas She Stoops to Conquer (1943--7), Yerma (1959), Ubu Roi (1966); ballets A Mirror for Witches (1952), Blood Wedding (1953), and Saudades (1955); cantata The Hollow Men (T. S. Eliot, 1939--46) for bar., male ch., and orch., and concs. for cl., pf., and vn. Is qualified doctor of medicine.

Apollo Musagetes (Apollo, Leader of the Muses; Fr. Apollon Musagète). Ballet in 2 scenes by Stravinsky, scored for str. (1927--8). (Prod. Washington, Paris, London, 1928.) Choreog. Adolph Bolm for Washington, Balanchine for Paris (Diaghilev).

Apostel, Hans (Erich) (b Karlsruhe, 1901; d Vienna, 1972). Ger.-born Austrian composer. Studied with Schoenberg and Berg and settled in Vienna. Works incl. pf. conc., requiem, 2 str. qts., pf. pieces, songs, etc.

Apostles, The. Oratorio by Elgar, Op. 49, text compiled by Elgar from the Bible and other sources. Comp. 1901--3. For 6 soloists, ch., and orch. (F.p. Birmingham 1903, NY, London, and Cologne 1904.) See Kingdom, The.

Appalachia. 'Variations on an Old Slave Song' by Delius, for orch. with bar. solo and ch. First version comp. 1896, re-worked 1902--3. (F.p. Elberfeld 1904, London 1907.)

Appalachian Spring. Ballet by Copland, comp. 1943--4, choreog. Martha Graham, 1944. Scored for fl., cl., bn., 4 vn., 2 va., 2 vc., db., and pf. Fuller orch. version of suite and of ballet 1945.

Appassionata Sonata. Publisher's apt title for Beethoven's Pf. Sonata No. 23 in F minor, Op. 57, comp. 1804--5.

Appassionato, appassionata (It.). Impassioned; so appassionatamente, passionately; appassionamento, passion.

Appeldoorn, Dina (b Rotterdam, 1884; d The Hague, 1938). Dutch composer. Her works incl. symphonic poems, pf. pieces, and songs.

Appenzeller, Benedictine (b Oudenaarde, c.1500; d after 1558). Flemish composer. Wrote a 4-part Nenia in memory of Josquin Després. Choirmaster to Netherlands regent 1537--after 1551. Composed nearly 50 chansons.

Appia, Adolphe (b Geneva, 1862; d Nyon, 1928). Swiss scenic artist who pioneered modern operatic trend for imaginative lighting and minimum of scenery. Designed The Ring for Bayreuth, 1899 and Tristan for Scala, Milan (Toscanini) 1923.

Applied Music. Amer. term for a study course in perf. as opposed to theory.

Appoggiando; appoggiato (It.). Leaning; leaned. (1) Each note passing very smoothly to the next (i.e. portamento). (2) Stressed.

Appoggiatura (It.). Leaning Note. A grace note or species of ornament of which the exact interpretation has differed in various periods. In the 18th cent. the appoggiatura was often unwritten and left, e.g. in Handel and Mozart, to be inserted by the singer. Operatic appoggiatura was regarded as obsolete until its revival in certain operatic productions c.1960. Its harmonic application may be described as follows: Properly an unprepared suspension (if such a contradictory term may be allowed) whether it be shown in full-sized type as a part of the chord in which it momentarily appears, or as a small note printed just before that chord. Having a harmonic status it is not an 'ornament' in the same sense as, for instance, the Acciaccatura. [bn<sup>a</sup>] With Ordinary and Dotted Notes. [ol64] [xn] The Appoggiatura is as important melodically as the note on which it 'leans', from which it takes normally half the time-value (two-thirds the time-value if the supporting note is dotted). [bn<sup>b</sup>] With Tied Notes. [ol64] [xn] When the Appoggiatura 'leans upon' two tied notes, it normally takes the whole of the time-value of the first of these to itself. [bn<sup>c</sup>] With a Chord. [ol37] [xn] As the Appoggiatura leans only upon one note of the chord the other notes are unaffected.

Apprenti Sorcier, L' (The Sorcerer's Apprentice). Symphonic poem ('Scherzo') by Dukas, f.p. Paris 1897, London and NY 1899. 'The Apprentice Sorcerer' would be a more accurate trans. Based on a poem by Goethe which, in turn, is based on a dialogue in Lucian (2nd cent.

a.d.). The apprentice, in his master's absence, tries one of his spells and, to his consternation, cannot countermand it. In Disney film Fantasia, the apprentice was represented by Mickey Mouse.

Aprahamian, Felix (b London, 1914). Eng. mus. critic and organist of Armenian descent. On staff of Sunday Times since 1948. Authority on org. mus., Fr. mus., and works of Delius (mus. adviser, Delius Trust since 1961).

Après-midi d'un faune, Prélude à l' ('Preludeto the afternoon of a faun'). Tone-poem by Debussy, comp. 1892--4 and f.p. Paris 1894 (London 1904), being an orch. 'impression' of the poem by Mallarmé. He intended a set of 3 pieces, Prélude, Interlude, and Paraphrase finale, but only the first was written. It was the subject of a ballet by Nijinsky, Paris 1912, for Diaghilev.

A punta d'arco (It.). At the point of the bow (in str. playing).

Aquarelle (Fr.). Water-colour; sometimes musically applied to a piece of delicate texture, as in Eric Fenby's arr. for str., as Aquarelles, of Delius's 2 wordless chs. 'To be sung of a summer night on the water'.

Arabella. Opera in 3 acts by R. Strauss to lib. by Hofmannsthal based on a combination of his short story Lucidor (1909) and his play Der Fiaker als Graf (The Cabby as Count) (1925). Their last collaboration. Comp. 1930--2. Prod. Dresden 1933, CG 1934, NY 1955. Rev. 1939 (Munich).

Arabesque (Fr., Eng.), Arabeske (Ger.). A florid element in Arabian architecture, hence a florid melodic section. The term is sometimes applied to a piece of instr. mus. (not always in an appropriate manner) as by Schumann for his pf. piece, Op. 18, or by Debussy to his 2 Arabesques for pf.

Arada (Sp.). Ploughed land. A type of folk-song assoc. with ploughing.

Aragonese (Sp.), aragonaise (Fr.). Sp. dance deriving from Aragon.

A.R.A.M., A.R.C.M., A.R.C.O., A.R.M.C.M. Assoc. of, respectively, Royal Academy of Music, Royal College of Music, Royal College of Organists, Royal Manchester College of Music.

Arányi, Jelly d' (b Budapest, 1893; d Florence, 1966). Hung.-born violinist, great-niece of Joachim. Trained at Royal High School for Mus., Budapest, under Hubay. Début Vienna 1909. Settled in London and became Brit. subject. Gave f.ps. (in London) with Bartók of Bartók's 2 vn. sonatas (1922 and 1923) both of which were ded. to her, as were Vaughan Williams's vn. conc. (1925) and Ravel's Tzigane (1924), in both of which she was also first soloist. Gave first Brit. perf. of Szymanowski 1st Vn. Conc. (1930). Her sister was Adila Fachiri.

Arbeau, Thoinot (pen-name of Jehan Tabourot) (b Dijon, 1520; d Langres, 1595). Fr. priest. Author of famous book on the dance, Orchésographie (1588--9) which also contained mus. illustrations. See Capriol Suite.

Arbós, Enrique (Fernández) (b Madrid, 1863; d San Sebastián, 1939). Sp. cond., composer, and violinist; pupil of Vieuxtemps and Joachim. Leader of Berlin P.O. and Boston S.O.

Cond., Madrid S.O. from 1904. Settled in Eng. where he was on staff of RCM 1894--1916. Comp. opera and chamber mus. but best known for his orch. of several pieces from Albéniz's Iberia: those he left unfinished were completed in 1954 by Surinach.

Arcadelt (Arkadelt, Arcadet, Arcadente, etc.), [fy65,3] Jacob [fy75,1] (b c.1510; d Paris, 1568). Flemish composer attached to St Peter's and Sistine Chapel, Rome; then in Paris. Wrote church mus. but is chiefly remembered for secular madrigals, chansons, and motets, of which 5 books were pubd. before 1544.

Arcata (It.). Stroke of bow (in str. playing), often followed by the words in giù (down), or in su (up).

Arcato (It.). Bowed (after a passage of pizzicato).

A.R.C.C.O. Assoc. of the Royal Canadian College of Organists.

Archbishop of Canterbury's Degrees. By a custom begun in 13th cent. the Archbishop of Canterbury may confer degrees, among them a doctorate of mus., known as 'Canterbury' or 'Lambeth' degrees (Lambeth being site of the Archbishop's London palace). In 1936 he instituted a diploma in church mus. granted on examination to F.R.C.O.s who hold a choirmaster's diploma. Those who pass become A.D.C.M.s.

Archduke Trio. Beethoven's Pf. Trio in Bb, Op. 97 (1811). Sonicknamed from ded. to Archduke Rudolph of Austria, who was pf. and comp. pupil of Beethoven.

Arched Viall. Instr. similar to a Geigenwerk, a kind of hurdy-gurdy, mentioned by Pepys in 1664 ('It will never do', he said).

Archet (Fr.). Bow (of a str.instr.).

Archi (It.). Bows (of str. instr.); the singular is Arco.

Archlute. Large double-necked lute or theorbo with extra bass strns.

Arco (plural archi) (It.). Bow. Used alone or as coll' arco (with the bow) after a passage marked pizzicato (plucked).

Arden muss Sterben (Arden must die). Opera in 3 acts by A. Goehr to Ger. lib. by Erich Fried based on anonymous play Arden of Feversham (1592). Prod. Hamburg 1967, London 1974 (in Eng. trans. by G. Skelton).

Arditi, Luigi (b Crescentino, 1822; d Brighton, 1903). It. composer and cond. Toured widely as cond. of opera cos., e.g. Mapleson's. Settled in Eng., conducting regularly at CG. Cond. f.p. in London of Cavalleria Rusticana. Remembered as composer for his waltz-song Il bacio (The Kiss).

Arend, Max (b Deutz, 1873; d Cologne, 1943). Ger. expert on mus. of Gluck and founder (1913) of Gluck Soc. Studied at Leipzig under Riemann.

Arensky, Anton (Stepanovich) (b Novgorod, 1861; d Terijoki, Finland, 1906). Russ. composer. Studied in St Petersburg with Rimsky-Korsakov. Prof. of harmony and counterpoint, Moscow Cons. 1882. Comp. 3 operas, 2 str. qts., and 2 syms., but best-known works are the pf. conc., pf. trio in D minor (in memory of the cellist Davidov), Variations on a Theme of Tchaikovsky for str., and many pf. pieces.

Aretino, Guido. See Guido d'Arezzo.

Arezzo. See Guidod'Arezzo.

Argento, Dominick (b York, Penn., 1927). Amer. composer. Studied Peabody Cons., Baltimore, with N. Nabokov and Cowell, later at Eastman Sch. with Hovhaness and Hanson. Also studied in It. with Dallapiccola. Mus.dir., Hilltop Opera, Baltimore, 1958. Member of Dept. of Mus., Minnesota Univ., from 1958. Primarily interested in opera. Works incl.:

operas: Colonel Jonathan the Saint (1958--60); The Boor (1957); Christopher Sly (1962); The Masque of Angels (1963); The Shoemaker's Holiday (1967); Postcard from Morocco (1971); A Waterbird Talk (1974); The Voyage of Edgar Allan Poe (1975--6); Miss Havisham's Fire (1978--9).

ballets: The Resurrection of Don Juan (1956); Royal Invitation, or Homage to the Queen of Tonga (1964).

orch: From the Album of Allegra Harper, 1867 (suite from opera Colonel Jonathan) (1961); Divertimento for pf. and str. (1955); Ode to the West Wind, conc. for sop. and orch. (1956); Suite, Resurrection of Don Juan (1956); Suite, Royal Invitation (1964); Variations (The Mask of Night) (1965); Bravo Mozart! for vn., ob., hn., and chamber orch. (1969); A Ring of Time (1972).

choral: Revelation of St John the Divine, for ten., male ch., brass, and perc. (1966); A Nation of Cowslips, 7 Keats songs for unacc. ch. (1968); Tria Carmina Paschalia for women's vv., harp, guitar (1970); Jonah and the Whale, oratorio for ten., bass, narrator, ch., and chamber ens. (1973).

song-cycles: 6 Elizabethan Songs, ten. (or sop.) and baroque ens. (1958); Letters from Composers, 7 songs for ten. and guitar (1968); To be Sung Upon the Water, for high v., pf., cl., and bass cl. (1972); From the Diary of Virginia Woolf, for medium v. and pf. (1974).

Argerich, Martha (b Buenos Aires, 1941). Argentinian pianist. Soloist with orch. in Buenos Aires at age of 8. Studied with V. Scaramuzzo, F. Gulda, N. Magaloff, and Michelangeli. 1st prize, Busoni Contest and Geneva international mus. competition 1957, 1st prize international Chopin competition, Warsaw, 1965. Soloist with world's leading orchs. Remarkable vitality and power in her performances. London début 1964.

Aria (It.). Air. From the time of A. Scarlatti in the 18th cent. onwards this has had the definite implication of a more or less lengthy and well-developed solo vocal piece in A-B-A form. The 19th-cent. operatic aria became more elaborate and complex. Arias used to be rather minutely classified as (a) Aria cantabile, slow and smooth; (b) Aria di portamento, in long notes and dignified, to be sung in legato style; (c) Aria di mezzo carattere, more passionate and with often elaborate orch. acc.; (d) Aria parlante, declamatory; (e) Aria di bravura (or d'agilità, or d'abilità), requiring great v.-control; (f) Aria all'unisono, with acc. in unison or octaves with the vocal part; (g) Aria d'imitazione, imitative of bird-song, hunting hns., etc.; (h) Aria concertata with elaborate acc.; and so on.

Ariadne. (1) Setting of poem by C. Day Lewis for sop. and orch. (1970) by Maconchy (f.p. King's Lynn Fest. 1971). (2) Concertante for ob. and 12 instrumentalists by Crosse (f.p. Cheltenham Fest. 1972).

Ariadne auf Naxos (Ariadne on Naxos). Opera in prol. and 1 act by R. Strauss to lib. by Hofmannsthal. There are 2 versions. No. 1 was designed for perf. after Molière's play Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme (with incidental mus. by Strauss). F.p. Stuttgart 1912, London 1913. 2nd version substituted an operatic prol. for the play, f.p. Vienna 1916, London 1924, NY 1934. Many other composers have based operas on the Ariadne legend. Naxos is the island on which Ariadne, awaiting death, is consoled by Bacchus.

Arianna a Naxos (Ariadne on Naxos). Dramatic cantata by Haydn, for sop. and hpd. or pf. (Hob. XXVIb:2), comp. 1790.

Ariane et Barbe-bleue (Ariadne and Bluebeard). Fantasy-opera in 3 acts by Dukas to lib. based on Maeterlinck's play. (Prod. Paris 1907; NY 1911; London 1937.)

Arianna (Ariadne). Opera in prol. and 8 scenes by Monteverdi to lib. by Rinuccini. Prod. Mantua 1608. Score now lost, only surviving part being Lamento d'Arianna.

Arienzo, Nicola d' (b Naples, 1842; d Naples, 1915). It. composer of operas prod. Naples and Milan, of which 2 (Monzu Gnazio and I due mariti) were in Neapolitan dialect. Also wrote syms. and concs.

Arietta (It.). A shorter and simpler Aria. Usually lacks a middle section. Term sometimes applied to a piece of instr. mus.

Ariettes oubliées (Forgotten ariettas). Debussy's settings of 6 poems by Verlaine (1888). The songs' titles are: C'est l'Extase langoureuse; Il Pleure dans mon cœur; L'Ombre des arbres; Chevaux de bois; Green; Spleen.

Ariodante. Opera in 3 acts by Handel to It. libretto anonymously adapted from Ginevra, Principessa di Scozia by Antonio Salvi (Pratolino, 1705) based on Ariosto's Orlando furioso (canti V and VI). F.p. London (CG) 1735.

Arioso. (1) A recitative of the more melodious type. (2) A short melodious passage at the beginning or end of an aria. (3) A short air in an opera or oratorio. (4) In instr. mus., a cantabile passage.

Ariosti, Attilio (b Bologna, 1666; d ?England, 1729). It. composer, formerly monk who obtained dispensation to devote himself to mus. and occupied various court positions in Ger. and Austria; colleague in London of Bononcini and Handel as dir. of opera enterprise (Royal Academy of Music, 1719--27), and composer of 20 operas etc.; perf. on and composer for viola d'amore.

Arkadelt. See Arcadelt, Jacob.

Arkwright, Godfrey (Edward Pellen) (b Norwich, 1864; d Highclere, 1944). Eng. musicologist; ed. of comprehensive 'Old English Edition' in 25 vols. (1889--1902), and a quarterly, The Musical Antiquary (1909--13). Ed. of Purcell's church mus.

Arlecchinesco (It.). In the spirit of a Harlequinade.

Arlecchino (Harlequin). Opera in 1 act by Busoni, Op. 50, to his own lib. A 'theatrical capriccio', comp. 1914--16, prod. Zürich 1917, London (radio and TV) 1939, Glyndebourne (stage) 1954.

Arlésienne, L' (The Maid of Arles). Daudet's play, for which Bizet composed 27 items of incidental mus., Paris 1872 (later incorporating some of it into the ballet of Carmen). There are 2 orch. suites, the first arr. Bizet, the 2nd Guiraud.

Armide. Opera in 5 acts by Gluck. Lib. by Quinault, based on Tasso's Jerusalem Delivered. (Prod. Paris 1777; Manchester, in concert version, 1860; NY 1910.) Among 40 operas based on Tasso's story are those by Lully, Handel, Jommelli, Salieri, Haydn, Rossini, and Dvořák.

Armonia, armonica (It.). (1) 'Harmony'. (2) 'Wind band'. (3) One of several names for the hurdy-gurdy (also armonie).

Armstrong, (Daniel) [fy65,3] Louis ('Satchmo') (b New Orleans, 1900; d NY, 1971). Amer. jazz trumpeter and singer. From 1917 played on Miss. river boats. Joined King Oliver's Creole Jazz Band 1922. Played often with Fletcher Henderson's orch. 1924--8, then formed own band. Became world-famous as result of recordings in 1920s in which his virtuoso trumpet-playing and his idiosyncratic singing had enormous influence on jazz scene. Nickname 'Satchmo' a diminutive of 'Satchelmouth'. Visited Eng. and Europe in 1932 and 1934. Made many films and appeared with big bands in 'swing' era. Formed his All Stars 1947, touring Europe 1949, 1952, and 1956. Particularly remembered for his appearance with Bing Crosby and Frank Sinatra in film High Society (1956).

Armstrong, Richard (b Leicester, 1943). Eng. cond. Studied Cambridge Univ. On mus. staff CG 1966--8. Ass. cond. WNO 1968--73, mus. dir. 1973--86. Janáček Medal 1979. CG début 1982 (Billy Budd).

Armstrong, Sheila (Ann) (b Ashington, 1942). Eng. soprano. Studied RAM, winning a Ferrier scholarship, 1965. Opera début SW 1965 (Despina in Così fan tutte), Glyndebourne 1966 (Belinda in Purcell's Dido and Aeneas), CG 1973 (Marzelline in Fidelio). NY début 1973. Sang in f.p. of McCabe's Notturni ed Alba, 1970. Notable exponent of Elgar oratorios, Vaughan Williams's Sea Symphony, etc.

Armstrong, (Sir) Thomas (Henry Wait) (b Peterborough, 1898). Eng. organist and teacher. Studied Oxford and RCM. Organist Exeter Cath. 1928--33, Christ Church Cath., Oxford, 1933--55. Choragus and lecturer in mus., Oxford Univ., 1937--54. Prin., RAM, 1955--68. Composer of choral works, church mus., chamber mus., etc. Knighted 1957.

Arne, Michael (b London, c. 1740; d London, 1786). Eng. composer, illegitimate son of Thomas Arne. Lived for a time in Hamburg. Comp. stage mus., etc.; his song The Lass with a delicate air is still heard.

Arne, Thomas (Augustine) (b London, 1710; d London, 1778). The leading Brit. composer of his day, notable for incidental mus. to plays, incl. Shakespeare's. His masque Alfred (1740) incl. song 'Rule, Britannia!' Operas incl. Artaxerxes (1762) and oratorio Judith (1761).

Arnell, Richard (Anthony Sayer) (b London, 1917). Eng. composer. Trained RCM 1935--9, studying comp. with Ireland. Lived in USA 1939--47. Comps. incl. 7 syms., ballet Punch and the Child (1947), symphonic portrait Lord Byron, pf. conc., vn. conc., str. qts., and 3 operas. On staff TCL 1948--64.

Arnim, Achim (really Ludwig Joachim) von (b Berlin, 1781; d Wiepersdorf, 1831). Ger. poet who can claim inclusion in a mus. dictionary because of his co-editorship with his future brother-in-law Clemens Brentano of the anthology of German folk poetry Des knaben Wunderhorn (Youth's Magic Horn), 1805--8, extracts from which have been set by several composers, notably Mahler. In 1811 he married Elisabeth (Bettina) Brentano, a friend of Beethoven.

Arnold, Denis (Midgley) (b Sheffield, 1926). Eng. critic and teacher. Educated Sheffield Univ. (M.A., B.Mus.). Senior lecturer, Hull Univ., 1964--9; Prof. of Mus., Nottingham Univ. 1969--75; Prof. of Mus., Oxford Univ. from 1975. Author of books on Monteverdi and G. Gabrieli. Specialist on 16th- and 17th-cent. It. mus. Joint ed. Music and Letters 1976--80. Ed., New Oxford Companion to Music, 1983. C.B.E. 1983.

Arnold, Malcolm (Henry) (b Northampton, 1921). Eng. composer, trumpeter, and cond. Studied RCM 1938--40. Trumpeter in LPO 1941--2, BBCS.O. 1945, LPO (prin.) 1946--8. Studied in It. 1948--9. C.B.E. 1970. Works, in many genres, notable for melodic invention, colour, exuberance, and craftsmanship. One of post-1950 Eng. composers who has kept in touch with his audience without debasing his style or lowering his standards. Several film scores, incl. The Bridge on the River Kwai, 1957. Prin. works:

ballets: Homage to the Queen, Op. 42 (1953); Rinaldo and Armida, Op. 49 (1955); Electra, Op. 79 (1963).

orch: Syms: No. 1, Op. 22 (1951), No. 2, Op. 40 (1953), No. 3, Op. 63 (1954), No. 4, Op. 71 (1960), No. 5, Op. 74 (1961), No. 6, Op. 95 (1967), No. 7, Op. 113 (1973), No. 8, Op. 121 (1979); Toy Symphony, Op. 62 (1957); Sym. for Brass, Op. 123 (1979); Concs.; cl., No. 1, Op. 20 (1951), No. 2, Op. 115 (1974); fl., No. 1, with str., Op. 45 (1954), No. 2, Op. 111 (1972); guitar, Op. 67 (1961); harmonica, Op. 46 (1954); hn., No. 1, with str., Op. 11 (1947), No. 2, with str., Op. 58 (1956); ob. and str., Op. 39 (1952); org., Op. 47 (1954); pf. duet and str., Op. 32 (1950); 2 pf. (3 hands), Op. 104 (1969); va., Op. 108 (1971), 2 vn. and str., Op. 77 (1962), Fantasy on Theme of John Field, pf., Op. 116 (1975), Serenade, guitar and str., Op. 50 (1957); Serenade, Op. 26 (1950); Symphony for Str., Op. 13 (1947); Sinfonietta No. 1, Op. 48 (1956), No. 2, Op. 65 (1958), No. 3, Op. 81 (1964); A Grand Grand Ov. (3 vacuum cleaners, floor polisher, 4 rifles, and orch.) Op. 57 (1956); Anniversary Ov., Op. 99 (1968); Beckus the Dandipratt, Op. 5 (1948); The Fair Field Ov., Op. 110 (1972); Ov., Peterloo, Op. 97 (1968); Tam O'Shanter, Op. 51 (1955); Divertimento No. 2, Op. 24 (1952); English Dances, Set I, Op. 27 (1951), Set II, Op. 33 (1951); A Sussex Ov., Op. 31 (1951); Ov., The Smoke, Op. 21 (1948); 4 ScottishDances, Op. 59 (1957); Suite, Homage to the Queen, Op. 42 (1953); Little Suite No. 1, Op. 53 (1956), No. 2, Op. 78 (1963), Little Suite for brass band, No. 1, Op. [sm80 (1963), No. 2, Op. 93 (1966); Water Music, Op. 82b (1965); Concerto for 28 Players, Op. 105 (1970); Flourish, Op. 112 (1973); 4 Cornish Dances, Op. 91 (1966); Philharmonic Conc., Op. 120 (1976); 6 Variations on a Theme of Ruth Gipps, Op. 122 (1977).

choral: Psalm 150, ch. and org., Op. 25 (1950); A John Clare Cantata, Op. 52 (1956); The Return of Odysseus, cantata, ch. and orch. (text by P. Dickinson), Op. 119 (1976).

chamber music: Divertimento, fl., ob., cl., Op. 37 (1952); Vn. sonatas No. 1, Op. 15 (1947), No. 2, Op. 43 (1953); Quintet, fl., vn., va., hn., bn., Op. 7 (1944); Quintet, 2 tpts., hn., tb., tuba, Op. 73 (1963); Sonatina, recorder and pf., Op. 41 (1953); 3 Shanties, wind quintet, Op. 4 (1943); Trio, fl., va., bn., Op. 6 (1943); Pf. Trio, Op. 54 (1956); Str. Qts., No. 1, Op. 23 (1951), No. 2, Op. 118 (1975); ob. qt., Op. 61 (1957); Trevelyan Suite, wind ens., Op. 93 (1967); Fantasies for solo wind and brass (1965--7); Fantasy, guitar, Op. 107 (1970); Fantasy, harp, Op. 117 (1975); va. sonata, Op. 17 (1948); fl. sonatina, Op. 19 (1948); fl. sonata, Op. 121 (1977); ob. sonatina, Op. 28 (1951); cl. sonatina, Op. 29 (1951).

piano: Five by Ten, Books I--V (1952); Variations on a Ukrainian Folk Song, Op. 9 (1948); Children's Suite, Op. 16 (1948).

Arnold, Samuel (b London, 1740; d London, 1802). Eng. composer. Organist of Chapel Royal and Westminster Abbey; composer to CG Th., proprietor of Marylebone Gardens, cond. of Academy of Ancient Music. Comp. many popular operas, church mus., etc.; ed. Handel's works in 36 vols. and a supplement to Boyce's Cathedral Music in 4 vols. Comp. 4 numbers in pasticcio The Maid of the Mill (London, 1765).

Aroldo (Harold). Opera in 4 acts by Verdi to libretto by Piave. Comp. 1856--7. Prod. Rimini 1857. Most of mus. issame as that for Stiffelio (1850), though Act 4 was newly composed and lib. is new.

Aronowitz, Cecil (Solomon) (b King William's Town, S. Africa, 1916; d Ipswich, 1978). Eng. va. player of Russo-Lithuanian parentage. Studied RCM with Vaughan Williams and G. Jacob (comp.), and A. Rivarde (vn.). After war changed to va. Played in all London professional orchs. and was prin. violist of Boyd Neel Orch., London Mozart Players, and ECO. Founder member, Melos Ens. Frequent chamber mus. player. Prof. of va., RCM 1948-75; Head of Str. Sch., RNCM, 1975--7; Dir. of Str. Studies, Snape Maltings Sch. 1977--8.

Arpa (It.). Harp.

Arpa Doppia (It. 'double harp'). Name given in 16th-cent. Italy to both double-strung and triple-strung harp, probably because of increased range and size. Incl. in Monteverdi's Orfeo (1607).

Arpège (Fr., from arpe, 'harp'), Arpeggio (It., plural arpeggi). A chord 'spread', i.e. the notes heard one after the other from the bottom upwards, or sometimes from the top downwards, as on the harp.

Arpeggiare (It.). To play chords as arpeggios. (Present and past participles, arpeggiando, arpeggiato.)

Arpeggione (Guitare d'amour). Type of guitar-shaped 6-str. vc. with fretted fingerboard, played with a bow. Invented 1823 by G. Staufer. Schubert wrote a sonata for it in 1824 which is normally played on the vc. (also transcr. for va.).

Arraché (Fr.). Torn. Extreme form of pizzicato.

Arrangement or Transcription. Adaptation of a piece of mus. for a medium other than that for which it was orig. comp. Sometimes 'Transcription' means a rewriting for the same medium but in a style easier to play. (In the USA there appears to be a tendency to use 'Arrangement' for a free treatment of the material and 'Transcription' for a more faithful treatment. In jazz 'Arrangement' tends to signify 'orchestration'.)

Arrau, Claudio (b Chillán, Chile, 1903). Chilean pianist. Début Chillán 1908. Studied Santiago Cons., then from 1911 at Berlin with M. Krause. Début Berlin recital, 1914. Prof. of pf., Stern Cons., Berlin, 1925. Won Grand Prix de Genève 1927. London début 1922, USA 1923. Superb interpreter of Chopin, Liszt, Beethoven, Mozart, Schumann, and Brahms. Played all Bach's kbd. mus. in 12 recitals in Berlin, 1935--6.

Arriaga y Balzola, Juan Crisóstomo Jacobo Antonio de (b Rigoitia, Bilbao, 1806; d Paris, 1826). Sp. composer of great but unfulfilled talent. Opera Los esclavos felices (The Happy Slaves) prod. Bilbao, 1820. Studied Paris Cons. 3 str. qts. pubd. Paris, 1824. Also comp. sym.

Arrigo, Girolamo (b Palermo, 1930). Sicilian composer. Studied in Palermo 1950--4 (Bellini Cons.) and with Max Deutschin Paris, 1954--7. Settled in Paris. Vocal mus., film scores, chamber works and Orden, a 'collage opera'. Also Epitaffi for ch. and orch. (1963), settings of Michelangelo.

Arroyo, Martina (b NY, 1936). Amer. sop. Early training in NY. Début NY 1958, then sang at Vienna State Opera and Deutsche Oper, Berlin. Substituted for Nilsson as Aida at NY Met. 1965. CG début 1968 (Aida). Noted Verdi singer.

Ars Antiqua (Lat.). Old Art. The medieval W. European mus. style, based on plainsong and organum, employed by composers (notably Leonin and Pérotin) of the Notre Dame or Parisian sch. in the 12th and 13th cents. See Ars Nova.

Arsinet Thesin, Per. See Canon.

Ars Nova (Lat.). New art. The new style of mus. comp. in Fr. and It. in 14th cent. Name derived from tract (c.1320) by Philippe de Vitry. Restrictions of Ars antiqua were replaced by greater variety of rhythm, duple instead of triple time, and increased independence in part-writing. In Fr. Machaut was finest exponent of Ars nova and in Italy G. da Cascia, J. da Bologna, and Landini. The It. madrigal was a later flowering of Ars nova.

Artaria. Austrian firm of mus. publishers founded in Mainz 1765, moving to Vienna 1766. Founders were cousins, Carlo Artaria (1747--1808) and Francesco Artaria (1725--97). Pubd. work by Haydn in 1780, leading to over 300 edns. of his comps. Mozart followed in 1781 and Beethoven in 1783. The firm also pubd. Boccherini, Clementi, Gluck, and Salieri. Firm closed 1858.

Artaxerxes. Thomas Arne's most successful opera, in 3 acts. Lib. is Eng. trans. of Metastasio. (Prod. London 1762; Dublin 1765; NY 1828.) Many operas on this subject, e.g. by Hasse(1730), Galuppi (1749), Gluck (1741), Paisiello (1771), Piccinni (1762), Sacchini (1768), Cimarosa (1784), and Isouard (1794).

Art de toucher le clavecin, L' (The Art of playing the Harpsichord). Method by F. Couperin (1716), with instructions and 8 illustrative comps. Known to have influenced Bach.

Articolato (It.), articulé (Fr.). Well-articulated; so articolazione (It.). Articulation.

Art of Fugue, The (J. S. Bach). See Kunst der Fuge, Die.

Art of Playing the Harpsichord (Couperin). See Art de toucher le clavecin, L'.

Artôt, Alexandre (Montagney, Joseph) (b Brussels, 1815; d Ville d'Avray, Paris, 1845). Belg. violinist. Mademany world tours. Composer for vn. and for chamber combinations.

Artôt, Désirée (b Paris, 1835; d Berlin, 1907). Belg. mez., later sop. Studied with Pauline Viardot-García. Sang in opera in London 1859--66. In 1869 married Spanish bar. Mariano Padilla y Ramos, with whom she often sang. Their daughter Lola Artôt de Padilla (b Sèvres, 1876; d Berlin, 1933) was member of the Berlin Hofoper company from 1909 and sang the role of Oktavian at the first Berlin perf. of Der Rosenkavalier. Created Vreli in Delius's A Village Romeo and Juliet, Berlin 1907.

Arts Council of Great Britain. Independent body est. 1945 as successor to wartime Council for the Encouragement of Music and the Arts. Incorporated by Royal Charter 1946 `to preserve and improve standards of performance in the various arts'. New charter granted 1967. Annual grant-in-aid is provided through Dept. of Education and Science. Members, limited to 20, are appointed for periods not exceeding 5 years by the Minister responsible after consultation with the Secretaries of State for Scotland and Wales. Professional staff, under secretary-general, incl. mus. dir. Specialist advisory panels incl. one for mus. Subsidies are disbursed to many organizations, being channelled through certain independent bodies and regional arts assoc. Headquarters in London, but there are separate committees with executive powers for Scotland and Wales (Scottish and Welsh Arts Councils), each with dir. and ass. dirs. for individual arts, incl. mus.

Arundell, Dennis (Drew) (b London, 1898). Eng. actor, author, translator, and composer, but best known as opera producer. Educated Tonbridge and Cambridge (M.A., B.Mus.). Prod. first stage perf. of Handel's Semele, Cambridge 1925. Also Stravinsky's The Soldier's Tale (Cambridge, 1928), Honegger's King David (Cambridge, 1929), Purcell's Fairy Queen (1931), and Vaughan Williams's The Pilgrim's Progress (Cambridge 1954). Many prods. for SW Opera incl. Janáček's Ká;akta Kabanová (1951). Radio prods. of Stravinsky's The Rake's Progress and Benjamin's Tale of Two Cities. Eng. trans. of Ravel's L'Enfant et les sortilèges and Honegger's Jeanne d'Arc au bûcher.

A.S. Al segno.

As (Ger.). The note Ab.

Asafyev, Boris (b St Petersburg, 1884; d Moscow, 1949). Russ. composer, pupil of Lyadov and Rimsky-Korsakov. Chief reputation as composer of ballets, but wrote 10 operas and 5 syms. Under pseudonym Igor Glebov wrote criticism and books, incl. monograph on Stravinsky (1929).

Asas (Ases) (Ger.). The note Abb.

Ascanio in Alba. Serenata teatrale in 2 acts by boy Mozartto lib. by Parini (Milan, 17 Oct. 1771).

A.S.C.A.P. American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers. Founded 1914.

Ascension, L' (The Ascension). Comp. in 4 movements by Messiaen, for orch. (1933) and for org. (1934). The movements are 1. Majesté du Christ demandant sa gloire à son Père. 2. Alléluias sereins d'une âme qui désire le ciel. 3. Alléluia sur la trompette, alléluia sur la cymbale. 4. Prière du Christ montant vers son Père. 3rd movement of orch. version differs from that in the organ version, which is entitled Transports de Joie d'une âme devant la gloire du Christ. F.p. orch. version, Paris 1935.

Ashdown Ltd., Edwin. London mus. publishing firm (founded 1860), successors to Wessel and Stodart (dating from 1825).

Ashkenazy, Vladimir (b Gorky, 1937). Russ. pianist and cond. Studied at Moscow State Cons. with Lev Oborin. Winner Queen Elisabeth Prize, Brussels, 1956; joint winner Tchaikovsky competition, Moscow 1962. Toured USA 1958. London début 1963. Later settled in Eng., but now divides time between Iceland and Switzerland. One of finest pianists of post-1950 generation.

Ashton, Algernon (Bennet Langton) (b Durham, 1859; d London, 1937). Eng. composer, pianist, and teacher. Studied Leipzig Cons. with Reinecke, and with Raff at Frankfurt. Prof. of pf. RCM 1885--1910. Comp. 5 syms., concs., chamber mus. Also pubd. 2 vols. of his letters to the press on every possible subject. Known also for his exploration of London cemeteries, with frequent agitation for repair of tombstones of great men.

Ashton, (Sir) Frederick (William) (b Guayaquil, Ecuador, 1904). Eng. choreog. Associated with SW (now Royal) Ballet since 1936. Ballets incl. Symphonic Variations, La Fille mal gardée, Fa;Alcade, Horoscope, Ondine, Sylvia, Romeo and Juliet, Cinderella (first 3-act ballet choreog. by Englishman), Enigma Variations, A Month in the Country. C.B.E. 1950, C.H. 1970, O.M. 1977. Knighted 1962.

Askenase, Stefan (b Lwów, Poland, 1896). Polish-born pianist, later Belg. citizen. Trained in Lwów and Vienna. Prof. of pf., Royal Cons., Brussels 1954--61. Noted Chopin player.

Asola, Giovanni Matteo (b Verona, ?1532; d Venice, 1609). It. composer. Cath. appointments in Treviso 1577, and Vicenza 1578. Became chaplain in Venice 1582. Influenced by Giovanni Gabrieli and Palestrina. Comp. book of madrigals for 2 vv. in strict canon throughout.

Aspull, George (b Manchester, 1813; d Leamington, 1832). Eng. pianist who gave f.p. in Eng. of Weber's Konzertstück.

Israel. Title of Sym. in C minor, Op. 27, by Suk, comp. 1906. Israel is the Angel of Death. Begun as memorial to Dvořák, Suk's father-in-law, in 1904, became memorial also to Suk's wife who died 18 months after her father. Contains quotation from Dvořák's Requiem.

Assai (It.). Very, extremely (formerly synonymous with Fr. assez, but respective meanings have changed).

Assassinio nella cattedrale, L' (Murder in the Cathedral). Opera in 2 acts by Pizzetti to lib. adapted by A. Castelli from play by T. S. Eliot (1935). Prod. Milan 1958.

Assemble All Ye Maidens. No. 7 of Holst's 7 PartSongs Op. 44 for female vv. and str. to words by Robert Bridges, and often perf. separately. Has part for solo sop. F.p. London 1927.

Assez (Fr.). Enough, but the usual and best translation is 'fairly', e.g. assez vite, Fairly quick.

Associated Board of the Royal Schools of Music. Founded 1889, partly to combat effect of numerous spurious examining bodies, being a combination, for the conduct of local and sch. examinations, of the RAM, RCM, and also (since 1972) the RNCM, Manchester, and the RSAM.

Assoluto (It.). Absolute, free, alone. As in prima donna (ballerina) assoluta.

Aston (Ashton, Aystoun, etc.), Hugh (b c.1485; d 1558). Eng. composer of church and virginal mus., and pioneer of true instr. style. Master of choristers, St Mary Newarke Coll., Leicester 1525--48. Kbd. writing well in advance of his time.

Aston, Peter (George) (b Edgbaston, 1938). Eng. composer, cond., and teacher. Lecturer, York Univ. 1964--74. Prof. of music, Univ. of E. Anglia, since 1974. Cond. Aldeburgh Fest. Singers since 1975. Ed. complete works of George Jeffreys. Works incl. Sacrapane the Sorcerer, children's opera (1969), My Dancing Day, cantata (1969), 5 Songs of Crazy Jane (Yeats), for sop. solo (1960), Haec Dies, mixed vv. and org. (1971), 3 Pieces for ob. (1968), and many choral works and part-songs.

Astorga, Baron d' (Emanuele Gioacchino Cesare Rincón) (b Augusta, Sicily, 1680; d? Madrid, c.1757). Sp.-It. singer, harpsichordist, and composer, especially of chamber cantatas and of a Stabat Mater (f.p. London 1752). His opera Dafni was prod. Genoa 1709.

Atalanta in Calydon. 'Choralsym.' for vv. only by Bantock (Manchester 1912), poem by Swinburne (1865). Comp. 1911.

A.T.C.L. Associate of Trinity College of Music, London.

Atempause (Ger.). Breath pause. Very slight pause on a weak beat in order to give greater effect to the following strong beat.

A tempo (It.). In time. Denotes reversion to speed at beginning of piece or movement after a deviation.

Athalia. Oratorio by Handel to lib. by S. Humphreys, after Racine. Rev. 1735 and 1756. (F.p. Oxford 1733).

Athalie. Mendelssohn's incidental mus. to Racine's drama (Op. 74; 1843--5). Ov. and War March of the Priests are the parts usually heard today.

Atherton, David (b Blackpool, 1944). Eng. cond. Studied Cambridge Univ. Début at CG 1968, Scala, Milan 1976, San Francisco 1978. Mus. dir. and founder London Sinfonietta 1968--73. Youngest ever cond. at Henry Wood Proms., 1968. Prin. cond. RLPO 1980--3. Mus. dir. San Diego S.O. from 1981.

Atkins, (Sir) Ivor (Algernon) (b Llandaff, 1869; d Worcester, 1953). Eng. organist, composer, and cond. Organist Worcester Cath. 1897--1950. Cond. Worcester Fests.; composer of choral works, e.g. Hymn of Faith. Ed. with Elgar of Bach's St Matthew Passion (1911). Knighted 1921.

Atlántida (Atlantis). Cantata escénica by Falla in prol. and 3 parts, text being poem by Jacinto Verdaguer adapted by Falla. Begun 1926 and left unfinished in 1946. Rev. and completed in first version by Ernesto Halffter, Barcelona 1961 (staged Milan 1962), Edinburgh 1962. Halffter's 2nd (concert) version f.p. Lucerne 1976.

Atlas, Dalia (b Haifa, 1933). Israeli cond. and pianist. Studied Haifa Cons., Israel Acad. of Mus., and with Celibidache and Swarowsky. Cond., Haifa Chamber Orch. from 1963. Guest cond. BBC Northern S.O. from 1964, RLPO 1964, Houston S.O. 1976, and other leading orchs.

Atmosphères (Atmosphere). Work for orch. by Ligeti, comp. 1961, f.p. Donaueschingen, cond. Rosbaud, 1961.

Atonal. Not in any key, hence atonality. Schoenberg preferred the term pantonal, denoting synthesis of all keys. Atonality is usually applied where there is no tonal centre and the notes of the chromatic scale are used impartially: the 12 notes of the octave function independently, unrelated to a key centre. Atonality is foreshadowed in the mus. of Debussy and Skryabin, even Liszt, but can perhaps be dated from the finale of Schoenberg's 2nd str. qt. (1908). From atonality there developed the twelve-note system. With atonality, consonances and dissonances of trad. harmony no longer apply.

A.T.S.C. Associate, Tonic Sol-fa College of Music.

Attacca (It.). Attack! (imperative). Used at the end of a movement to mean 'Start the next movement without a break'.

Attacco. Very short motif used as material for imitation or as fugue subject (see Andamento).

Attaignant, Pierre (b ?Donai, c.1494; d Paris, 1552). Fr. mus. printer and publisher. Experimented for years with music types. In 1527--8 produced Chansons nouvelles in a diamond-shaped notation, with staff segments attached, which required only one impression. This halved the printing time and led to cheap printed mus. From 1537 was official printer of the King's mus. First publisher to achieve a European distribution.

Attaque (Fr.). Attack. The Chef d'attaque in an orch. is the leader (Amer. 'Concert-master').

Atterberg, Kurt (b Gothenburg, 1887; d Stockholm, 1974). Swed. composer and writer on mus., subsidized by the Swed. Govt. Mus. critic, Stockholms Tidningen 1919--57. Composer of 5 operas, 5 concs., and 9 syms. of which the 6th won the £bp2,000 prize offered by Columbia Graphophone Co. in the centenary year of Schubert's death (1928). Sec. RAM, Stockholm, 1940-53.

Attey, John (d Ross-on-Wye, 1640). Eng. composer who pubd. a book of lute songs in 1622 (the last of such publications to appear).

At The Boar's Head. Opera in 1 act about Falstaff by Holst to lib. adapted by composer from Shakespeare's Henry IV Parts 1 and 2. Music based largely on folk tunes. Comp. 1924. (Prod. Man- chester 1925; NY 1935).

Attila. Opera in 3 acts with prol., by Verdi to lib. by Solera. Verdi's 9th opera. Comp. 1845--6. (Prod. Venice 1846; London 1848; NY 1850). Revived in 1951 (concert perf.) after long neglect; staged Florence, 1962, SW 1963.

Attwood, Thomas (b London, 1765; d London, 1838). Eng. composer and org. Boy chorister in Chapel Royal; pupil in Vienna of Mozart; host and friend in London of Mendelssohn; org. St Paul's Cath., 1796--1838; composer of th. and church mus. One of first profs. at RAM, 1823. Founder-member of Philharmonic Soc., 1813.

Atzmon, Moshe (b Budapest, 1931). Hung.-born cond. Studied Tel Aviv Cons. and Acad. of Mus., and GSM. First prize, Liverpool Int. Cond. Competition, 1964. Chief cond., Sydney S.O. 1969--71. Cond. N. Ger. Radio S.O. 1972--6. Chief cond. Basle S.O. Guest cond. of world's leading orchs. Opera début, Berlin 1969.

Aubade (Fr., from Aube, dawn). Early morning music, likewise Serenade--evening music.

Aubade Héroïque (Heroic dawn). Orch. work by Lambert, f.p. 1942, inspired by composer's witnessing dawn invasion of The Hague by Ger. parachutists in 1940.

Auber, Daniel (Fran; Alcois Esprit) (b Caen, 1782; d Paris, 1871). Fr. composer. Pupil of Cherubini. In youth, in business in London; then prominent in Paris as composer of instr. mus., and later of operas in which he collab. with the dramatist Scribe. Wrote in all 49 operas, of which the best known are La Bergère châtelaine (1820), La Muette de Portici (Masaniello) (1828), Fra Diavolo (1830), Le Cheval de bronze (1835), Le Domino noir (1837), Les Diamants dela couronne (1841), and Manon Lescaut (1856). From 1842 to 1870 was head of Paris Cons. and in 1852 mus. dir. to Napoleon III.

Aubert, Jacques (b Paris, 1689; d Belleville, 1753). Fr. violinist and composer of mus. for vn. and for the stage. Wrote several vn. sonatas with bass, 10 concs. for 4vn. and bass, opera, and short pieces.

Aubin, Tony (Louis Alexandre) (b Paris, 1907; d Paris, 1982). Fr. composer and cond., pupil of Dukas. Won Prix de Rome 1930. Prof. of comp., Paris Cons., 1945. 2 syms., choral works, film mus., str. qt., etc.

Auden, W(ystan) H(ugh) (b York, 1907; d Vienna, 1973). Eng.-born poet (later Amer. citizen) and librettist. Wrote lib. for Britten's first opera Paul Bunyan (1941) and, with Chester Kallman, for Stravinsky's The Rake's Progress (1951), and Henze's Elegy for Young Lovers (1961) and The Bassarids (1966).

Audran, Edmond (b Lyons, 1840; d Tierceville, 1901). Fr. organist at Marseilles and composer first of church mus. and later (with great success) of comic operas such as La Mascotte (1880), and La Poupee (1896).

Auer, Leopold (b Veszprém, Hung., 1845; d Loschwitz, Dresden, 1930). Hung. violinist and teacher. Pupil of Joachim and others. Played in Ger. orchs. until in 1868 he became head of the vn. dept. of St Petersburg Cons., a post he held until 1917. Tchaikovsky dedicated his vn. conc. to him, but he refused it, saying the work was unplayable in its orig. form. Among his pupils were Heifetz, Zimbalist, and Elman.

Auf (Ger.). On, etc., e.g. Auf der G (like It. Sul G), means On the G (str.).

Auf einer Gondel (On a gondola). Title given by Mendelssohn to 3 of his Lieder ohne Worte: Op. 19, No. 6 in G minor, Book I (1834); Op. 30, No. 12 in F# minor, Book II (1835), and Op. 62, No. 29 in A minor, Book VI (1843).

Aufforderung zum Tanz (Weber). See Invitation to the Dance.

Aufführung (Ger., from Aufführen, to perform). Performance. Aufführungspraxis is the practicalities of perf., particularly in relation to old mus. where a composer's directions were often lacking in explicit detail.

Auflage (Ger.). Edition.

Auflösen (Ger.). To loosen, release, etc. (1) To resolve a discord. (2) In harp playing,to lower again a str. which has been raised in pitch. (Hence the noun Auflösung, Auflösungszeichen, release-sign). (3) The sign for the natural (nat.).

Aufschlag (Ger.). Up-beat (down-beat being Niederschlag).

Aufschnitt (Ger.). Slit, i.e. portion omitted, a cut (in a score, etc.).

Aufschwung (Ger.). Up-soaring, flight, e.g. Mit Aufschwung, in a lofty (impassioned) spirit.

Aufstieg und Fall der Stadt Mahagonny (Weill). See Rise and Fall of the City of Mahagonny.

Aufstrich (Ger.). Up-bow (in str. playing; down-bow being Niederstrich).

Auftakt (Ger.). Up-beat (down-beat being Niederschlag).

Aufzug (Ger.). Raising (of curtain). Act (of stage work).

Augengläser (Ger.). Eye-glasses. Word used by Beethoven on title-page of his duet for vn. and vc.--`mit 2 Augengläser obbligato', being a jocular reference to the 2 spectacled players for whom it was comp.

Augenlicht, Das (Eyesight). Setting by Webern, Op. 26, for mixed ch. and orch. of text by Hildegard Jone. Comp. 1935. Pubd. 1938. F.p. London 1938, cond. Scherchen.

Augmentation and Diminution. In melodic parts, the respective lengthening and shortening of the time-values of the notes. Thus, in a fugue, the subject may (especially towards the end) appear in longer notes, a device which adds dignity and impressiveness.

Augmentation, Canon by. When the imitating vv. in a canon are in longer notes than that which they are imitating. Canon by diminution is the reverse process.

Augmented Intervals. If any perfect or major interval is increased by a semitone it becomes augmented. Thus: [xp[ol0][xfAugmented[[sv1,1s] 2nd:[[sv2,1s] C up to G^, with harmonic[sv3,1s] [va0,1,3][sv4,3s][vs5,4,29][vd0,2,5] [cl8][cm[ap[dt5vg,1v,2v,3v,][btAugmented [nt1st: [ntC up to C# [et[bt,,[qc[nt2nd: [ntC up to D# [et[bt,,[qc[nt4th: [ntC up to F# [et[bt,,[qc[nt5th: [ntC up to G#, with harmonic implication of major 3rd, e.g. augmented 5th chord on C = C -- E -- G# [et[bt,,[qc[nt6th: [ntC up to A#. [et[bn^Chords of augmented 6th are chromatic. The 3 most common are as follows (e.g. in key of C): [ol4] _ _ (a) _ _ (b) _ _ (c) _ _ [ol20] [xn^(a)^Chord of the Italian 6th: Ab -- C -- F# (b)^Chord of French 6th: Ab -- C -- D -- F# (c)^Chord of the German 6th: Ab -- C -- Eb -- F# The Ger. 6th is the commonest and serves as a convenient pivot for modulation, since it may be approached as based on the flattened submediant in one key, and quitted as based on the flattened supertonic in another (or vice versa); also, by enharmonic change (see Interval), it can be transformed into the chord of the Dominant 7th of another key, and so quitted (e.g. the Ger. 6th in key C (Ab -- C -- Eb -- F#) can be treated as the chord [cj3,4,27] of the Dominant 7th in key D<sub>b</sub> (A<sub>b</sub> -- C -- E<sub>b</sub> -- G<sub>b</sub>). [nb_There are otherpossibilities. Augmented 8th: C up to next C# but one.

Augusteо. Rome concert-hall, opened in 1908, built on the ruins of the mausoleum of Augustus.

Auld Lang Syne. The poem is a re-casting by Robert Burns (pubd. in final form 1794) of a popular song (probably orig. a folk-song) then current in various versions. The tune now current is sometimes stated to be by Shield; something like it appeared in his opera Rosina, as a part of the ov. (CG 1783), where it is treated to imitate Scottish bagpipe mus. Sir Alexr. Don's Strathspey (issued possibly a year later than the perf. of Shield's opera) seems to have strong claim to bethe orig.; it may have already been known to Shield, who was brought up at Durham, not far from the Scottish border. The air, like many Scots tunes, is based on the pentatonic scale. It has been proposed as the 'hidden theme' in Elgar's Enigma Variations, but the composer denied it.

Aulos. Ancient Gr. wind instr. with double reed, used to accompany the dithyramb in the orgiastic rites of Dionysus.

Auric, Georges (b Lodève, Hérault, Fr., 1899; d Paris, 1983). Fr. composer. Studied Paris Cons. and Schola Cantorum (pupil of d'Indy). Youngest member of Les Six. Wrote for Diaghilev ballet in 1920s and worked as mus. critic. Gen. admin., Paris Opéra and Opéra Comique 1962--8. Works incl. operas, ballets (notably Les Matelots, 1925), film mus., orch. works, pf. sonata, songsetc.

Aurora's Wedding. The divertissement of the last act, perf. separately, of ballet The Sleeping Beauty (mus. by Tchaikovsky) supplemented by extra numbers based on Diaghilev's London prod. 1921. F.p. Paris 1922.

Aurresku. A type of Basque folk dance. The zortziko forms part of it.

Aus den Sieben Tagen (From the Seven Days). 15 comps. by Stockhausen (1968) for varying ens. for upwards of 3 musicians. Each piece has a verse or text to suggest a mood the players must create, a way of playing, combinations of both, etc., e.g. No. 14 Goldstaub (Gold Dust) for small ens.: 'Live completely alone for 4 days without food in complete silence, without much movement. Sleep as little as necessary, think as little as possible. After 4 days, late at night, without talking beforehand, play single sounds WITHOUT THINKING what you are playing. Close your eyes. Just listen.' The 15 items are 1. Richtige Dauern (Right Durations), about 4 players; 2. Unbegrenzt (Unlimited), ens.; 3. Verbindung (Union), ens.; 4. Treffpunkt (Rendezvous), ens.; 5. Nachtmusik (Night Music), ens.; 6. Abwärts (Downwards) ens.; 7. Aufwärts (Upwards), ens.; 8. Oben und Unten (High and Low), th. piece for man, woman, child, 4 instr.; 9. Intensität (Intensity), ens.; 10. Setz die Segel zur Sonne (Set sail for the Sun), ens.; 11. Kommunion (Communion), ens.; 12. Litanei (Litany), speaker or ch.; 13. Es (E<sub>b</sub>), ens.; 14. Goldstaub (Gold Dust), small ens.; 15. Ankunft (Arrival), speaker or speaking ch.

Ausdruck (Ger.). Expression. Hence ausdrucks voll, expressively.

Ausfüllgeiger(Ger.). Filling-out fiddler. A Ripieno violinist.

Ausgabe (Ger.). Out-giving. Edition.

Ausgehalten(Ger.). Held out, i.e. Sustained.

Aushalten (Ger.). To hold out, i.e. To sustain; so aushaltungszeichen, holding-out sign, i.e. pause.

Aus Italien (From Italy). Symphonic Fantasia in 4 movements by Richard Strauss, Op. 16, his first orch. work with pictorial background. Comp. 1886. F.p. Munich 1887. Finale quotes Denza's Funiculì, Funiculà.

Aus meinem Leben (From my Life; Cz. Z mého ;Akzivota). Sub-title of Smetana's Str. Qt. No. 1 in E minor (1876), an avowedly autobiographical work.

Austin, Frederic (b London, 1872; d London, 1952). Eng. bar. and composer. Opera début CG 1908 as Gunther in The Ring under Richter. Prin. bar., Beecham Opera. Sang Peachum in his own highly successful version of The Beggar's Opera, 1920. Art dir., BNOC, 1924. Comp. sym., symphonic poem, choral works.

Austin, Richard (b Birkenhead, 1903). Eng. cond. Trained RCM under Boult and Sargent and in Milan 1922--6. Cond. Carl Rosa Opera and then Bournemouth Municipal Orch. 1934--40. Mus. dir. New Era Concert Soc. 1947--57. Prof. RCM from 1946. Son of Frederic Austin.

Austin, Sumner (Francis) (b Anerley, Kent, 1888; d Oxford, 1981). Eng. bar. and opera prod. Carl Rosa 1919, then with O'Mara Opera Co. Sang at Old Vic and SW from 1920s to 1940. Prod. many SW operas, also first Eng. prod. of Wozzeck at CG 1952.

Austral, Florence (née Wilson) (b Richmond, Melbourne, 1894; d Newcastle, N.S.W., 1968). Australian sop. Brünnhilde for BNOC in Die Walküre, CG 1922, and later in complete Ring cycles in London and on tour. Also a fine Isolde and Aida.

Austria. Name under which the Austrian 'Emperor's Hymn', comp. by Haydn, is found in many hymnals.

Auszug (Ger.). (1) Extract. (2) Arrangement.

Authentic Cadence. See Cadence.

Authentic Modes. See Modes.

Autoharp. Type of easily-played zither, played with the fingers or a plectrum. Chords are prod. by depressing keys.

Auxcousteaux (Hautcousteaux), Artus (b ?Amiens, 1590; d Paris, 1654). Fr. composer of church mus. and secular songs. Singer in chapel of Louis XIII 1613--27 and later dir. of mus., St Quentin Cath.

Auxiliary Note. This may be described as a variety of Passing Note which, instead of passing on to another note, passes back to the note it has just left. Such a note may, like a Passing Note, be either diatonic or chromatic. Shakes, Mordents, and Turns offer examples of the Auxiliary Note applied decoratively.

Avant-garde (Fr. 'vanguard'). Term used in the arts to denote those who make a radical departure from tradition. In 20th cent. mus., Stockhausen may be regarded as avant-garde, but not Shostakovich.

Aveling, Valda (b Sydney, N.S.W., 1920). Australian pianist, harpsichordist, and teacher. Studied N.S.W. State Cons., Sydney. Début Sydney 1938. Settled in Eng. Duo with Evelyn Barbirolli, co-recitalist with Menuhin, Joan Sutherland, etc.

Ave Maria (Hail Mary). Prayer consisting partly of the biblical salutations of the Archangel Gabriel and Elizabeth to the Virgin Mary, and partly of matter added in the 15th cent. Many settings, that by Schubert being to a Ger. trans. of Walter Scott's poem from 'The Lady of the Lake' (1810). That known as by 'Bach-Gounod' is the first prelude from Bach's Wohltemperierte Klavier with Gounod's Méditation as counterpoint, the words having been added by someone else.

Ave Maris Stella (Hail, Star of the Sea). Hymn of R.C. Church.

Ave Regina Coelorum. See Antiphons of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

Ave Verum Corpus (Hail, true body). Hymn (anonymous and of unknown date) possessing its own plainsong and also frequently set by composers (Després, Byrd, Mozart, Cherubini, S. Wesley, Gounod, Elgar, etc.), such motet settings being frequently sung in the Roman office of Benediction. Translations sometimes begin Jesu, Word of God Incarnate, Jesu, Blessed Word of God Incarnate, or Word of God Incarnate.

Avidom, Menahem (orig. Mahler-Kalkstein) (b Stanislavow, Poland, 1908). Polish-born Israeli composer and sec.-gen. of Israel P.O. Studied in Beirut and Paris, settled Tel Aviv 1935. Wrote 9 syms., 5 operas, concs. Mus. critic, Jerusalem Post 1958--73.

Avison, Charles (b Newcastle upon Tyne, 1709; d Newcastle upon Tyne, 1770). Eng. composer; pupil in London of Geminiani; organist of parish church of his native town from 1736; composer of 60 concs. for str. orch., 3 vols. of sonatas for hpd. and vn., and author of much-discussed Essay on Musical Expression (1752).

Avison Edition. Edn. of works by Brit. composers, prod. by certain publishers under the auspices of Soc. of Brit. Composers between 1905 and 1918.

Avoided Cadence. See Cadence.

Ax, Emmanuel (b Lwów, 1949). Polish-born Amer. pianist. Studied Warsaw and Juilliard Sch., NY. Has lived in USA since 1961. 1st prize, 1st Rubinstein comp., Israel, 1974. NY début 1975, London 1977. Noted Chopin-player, also interpreter of Ravel, Bartók, and Schoenberg.

Axman, Emil (b Ratay, Moravia, 1887; d Prague, 1949). Cz. composer of 6 syms., sonatas, 4 str. qts., choral works. Pupil of Novák.

Ayre. Medieval spelling of 'Air', a type of Eng. song written by Dowland and others, less contrapuntal than a madrigal, being more like a strophic song, with vocal or instr. (usually lute) acc., pubd. in a large book around which the performers could gather.

Ayrton, Edmund (b Ripon, 1734; d Westminster, 1808). Eng. organist and composer. Master of Children of Chapel Royal 1780--1805. His son William (b London, 1777; d London, 1858) was a mus. critic and a founder of the Philharmonic Soc.

B

B. 7th degree of natural scale of C. So Bb, Bbb, Bnat., B#, B##, B major, B minor etc. In Ger., B = Bb and Bb = Bbb. The Eng. note B is represented in Ger. by H (hence composers can write fantasias on the name BACH, the notes being Bb-A-C-Bnat.). J. S. Bach himself used these notes in the unfinished final fugue of The Art of Fugue).

Baal Shem. Suite for vn. and pf. by Bloch, comp. 1923, subtitled '3 pictures of Chassidic Life'. Baal Shem Tov (Master of the Good Name) founded the Jewish sect of Chassidism in 17th cent. Movements are Vidui (Contribution), Nigun (Improvisation), and Simchas Torah (Rejoicing). Version with orch., 1939.

Babar le petit éléphant, Histoire de (Story of Babar the little elephant). Narration for v. and pf. by Poulenc to text by Jean de Brunhoff. Comp. 1940--5. Version with orch. by Françaix, 1962.

Babbitt, Milton (b Philadelphia, 1916). Amer. composer and mathematician. Studied at Princeton Univ. and with Roger Sessions. On staff at Princeton since 1938, becoming Conant Prof. of Mus. His comps. developed from the 12-note system of Schoenberg and Webern, later employing elec. devices such as synthesizers and tape. Author of articles and monographs on Bartók qts., elec. mus., Varèse, and Schoenberg. Works incl.:

orch: Relata I (1965), II (1968); Concerti, vn., orch., tape (1974--)

6). [sm] chamber music: Composition for 4 instruments (1948); Str. Qts.: No. 1 (1950), No. 2 (1954), No. 3 (1969--70), No. 4 (1970); Woodwind Qt. (1953).

choral: Music for the Mass (1941); 4 Canons (1969); More Phenomena (1977).

piano: 3 Compositions (1947); Partitions (1957); Post-Partitions (1966); Reflections, with tape (1974).

electronic: Composition for Synthesizer (1961); Philomel, sop., recorded sop., and syn. (1964); Correspondences, string orch. and syn. (1967); Phenomena, sop. and tape (1974).

Babell, William (b Canonbury, c.1690; d Canonbury, 1723). Eng. organist, harpsichordist, violinist, and composer for his instrs. Noted for his virtuoso hpd. arrs. of operatic arias and for the embellishments in his sonatas.

Babin, Victor (b Moscow, 1908; d Cleveland, Ohio, 1972). Russ.-born pianist and composer. Studied in Berlin with Schnabel and Schreker. Settled in USA 1937. Dir., Cleveland Institute of Mus. from 1961. Famous pf. duo with his wife, Vitya Vronsky, whom he married 1933. Works incl. 2-pf. conc., Konzertstück for vn. and orch., str. qt., songs, etc.

Babi-Yar. Sub-title of Shostakovich's Sym. No. 13 in Bb minor, Op. 113, for bass, bass ch., and orch., to poems by Yevtushenko. Comp. and f.p. 1962. Babi-Yar was site of grave of thousands of Russ. Jews, murdered by Germans in World War II.

Baccaloni, Salvatore (b Rome, 1900; d NY, 1969). It. operatic bass (Rome 1922; LaScala 1926; CG 1928; Chicago 1930; Glyndebourne 1936--9; NY Met. 1940) outstanding as Leporello, Don Pasquale, Osmin, and similar comic roles.

Bacchanale (Fr., from Lat. Bacchanalia, a feast of dancing and singing in honour of Bacchus, god of wine). An orgiastic comp., as in the Venusberg scene of Wagner's Tannhäuser and in Saint-Saëns's Samson et Dalila.

Bacchetta (It.). Stick. (1) Drumstick. (2) Baton. The plural is bacchette--e.g. bacchette di legno, wooden drumsticks; bacchette di spugna, sponge-headed drumsticks.

Bacchus et Ariane (Bacchus and Ariadne). Ballet in 2 acts with mus. by Roussel, choreog. Lifar, comp. 1930 and prod. Paris 1931. 2 orch. suites were extracted, the 2nd being the more popular.

Baccusi, Ippolito (b Mantua, c.1550; d Verona, 1609). It. madrigalist and church musician. Choirmaster, Verona Cath. from 1592. One of first composers to recommend instr. doubling of vocal parts.

Bacewicz, Grazyna (b ;Ulód;aaz, 1909; d Warsaw, 1969). Polish violinist and composer. Studied Warsaw Cons., Warsaw Univ., and in Paris with Nadia Boulanger. Vn. pupil of Flesch. Taught at ;Ulód;Aaz Cons. 1934--5, 1945; Warsaw Acad. of Mus. 1966--9. Wrote 4 syms., 7 vn. concs., 7 str. qts., 2 vc. concs., va. conc., pf. conc., 5 vn. sonatas, 2 pf. quintets, etc.

Bach (Family). The Bach family lived from the early 16th cent. in the Thuringian duchies of Saxe-Weimar-Eisenach, Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, and Saxe-Meiningen and the principality of Schwarzburg-Arnstadt. Their profession was mus.---there are records that 53 Bachs held posts as organists, cantors, or town musicians over a span of 300 years. J. S. Bach himself compiled a genealogy of his family, which began, as far as his own line was concerned, with Veit Bach (d 1619), a miller with a passion for lute-playing. Other prin. members of thefamily up to J. S. Bach's time were: Hans Bach (b c.1550; d 1626). Violinist, son of Veit, and known as Der Spielmann (The Player). Carpet-weaver by trade. Johann Bach (b 1604; d 1673). Eldest son of Hans. Organist at Schweinfurt and Erfurt. Christoph Bach (b 1613; d 1661). 2ndson of Hans. Organist and composer. Town-musician at Eisenach. Heinrich Bach (b Wechmar, 1615; d Arnstadt, 1692). 3rd son of Hans. Arnstadt church organist for 51 years. Johann ChristianBach (b Erfurt, 1640; d Erfurt, 1682). Eldest son of Johann. Served under his father among town musicians of Erfurt but became first of family to settle at Eisenach where he married. Returned to Erfurt to succeed his father 1671. Johann Egidius Bach (b 1645; d 1716). 2nd son of Johann. Organist at Erfurt and composer of church mus., also va.-player. Georg Christoph Bach (b Eisenach, 1642; d 1697). Eldest son of Christoph. Cantor at Schweinfurt. Composer. Johann Christoph Bach (1) (b Arnstadt, 1642; d Eisenach, 1703). Eldest son of Heinrich. Became organist at Eisenach at age 23 in 1665. Considered byC. P. E. Bach as 'great and expressive' composer. Many elaborate and progressive vocal works, also instr. comps. 2 motets for double ch., Herr nun Lasset and Ich lasse dich nicht are extremely fine. Johann Michael Bach (b Arnstadt, 1648; d Gehren, 1694). Brother of preceding. Organist and parish clerk of Gehren from 1673 until his death. Maker of vns. and hpds. His motets have high merit. The youngest of his 5 daughters, Maria Barbara (b 20 Oct. 1684) became J. S. Bach's first wife. Johann Ambrosius Bach (b Erfurt, 1645; d Eisenach, 1695). 2nd (twin) son of Christoph. Played vn. and va. in addition to org. One of Erfurt compagnie of musicians from 1667 until Oct. 1671 when he succeeded his cousin, Johann Christian, at Eisenach. There the youngest of his 8 children, Johann Sebastian, was born on 21 Mar. 1685. Johann Christoph Bach (2) (b Erfurt, 1645; d Arnstadt, 1693). Twin brother of Johann Ambrosius. Court violinist at Arnstadt, where he was Hofmusikus and Stadtpfeifer. Johann Jakob Bach (b Wolfsbehringen, 1655; d Ruhla, 1718). Org. in Thal, cantor in Steinbach. Johann Bernard Bach (b Erfurt, 1676; d Eisenach, 1749). Son of Johann Egidius. Organist at Erfurt and Magdeburg. In 1703 succeeded cousin Johann Christoph (1) at Eisenach and became Kammermusikus in court orch. of Duke of Saxe-Eisenach. Instr. comps. admired and perf. at Leipzig by Johann Sebastian. Johann Nikolaus Bach (b Eisenach, 1669; d Eisenach, 1753). Eldest son of Johann Christoph (1). University and town organist at Jena from 1695 until death. Org.-builder and maker of hpds., to which he contributed some improvements. Comp. orch. suites, church mus. and opera. Johann Ludwig Bach (b Thal, 1677; d Meiningen, 1731). Son of Johann Jakob. Composer and Kapellmeister at Saxe-Meiningen. Johann Christoph Bach (3) (b Erfurt, 1671; d Ohrdruf, 1721). Eldest son of Johann Ambrosius, and brotherof Johann Sebastian. Pupil of Pachelbel at Erfurt. Organist at Ohrdruf. Taught his brother the klavier. Johann Jakob Bach (b Eisenach, 1682; d Stockholm, 1722). Son of Johann Ambrosius and brother of Johann Sebastian. Town musician at Eisenach. Entered Swed. army service in 1704 as oboist and in 1713 became Hofmusikus at Stockholm. It was for his joining the army that Johann Sebastian comp. the Capriccio on the departure of his beloved brother (BWV 992).

Bach, Carl (Karl) Philipp Emanuel (b Weimar, 1714; d Hamburg, 1788). Ger. composer. 5th child and 3rd son of J. S. Bach. Intended for legal career but turned to mus. while at Frankfurt Univ. In 1738 became cembalist in Berlin at court of Frederick the Great, holding this post until 1767, when he succeeded Telemann as dir. of church mus. at Hamburg. Applied unsuccessfully in 1750 to succeed his father at Leipzig. His achievement was to develop sonata-form and invest it with weight and imaginative quality, most evidently in his kbd. sonatas, of which there are over 200, but also in his sinfonias, concs. (over 50), and vn. sonatas. Also comp. 22 Passions, 2 oratorios, and many songs. Wrote celebrated treatise on klavier-playing.

Bach, Johann Christian (b Leipzig, 1735; d London, 1782). Ger. composer. 18th child and 11th (youngest) son of J. S. Bach. Known as 'the English Bach'. Learned klavier-playing from his half-brother C. P. E. Bach in Berlin. Went to Bologna in 1754 to study counterpoint with Padre Martini. After becoming a Roman Catholic was appointed organist Milan Cath. in 1760. His 3-act opera Artaserse was prod. at Turin in 1760, followed by Catone in Utica in Naples the same year and Alessandro nell'Indie in 1762. These events were regarded in Milan as unduly frivolous, and Bach accepted offer from Signora Mattei, dir., King's Th., London, to succeed Cocchi as composerto the opera. His first London opera, Orione, prod. 1763. On this occasion cls. were first used in an Eng. orch. Later the same year his Zanaida was an equal success, and he was appointed music-master to Queen Charlotte. In 1764, when the boy Mozart visited London, Bach perf. a sonata with him. Also in 1764 he inaugurated a series of concerts with Karl Friedrich Abel, who had been a pupil of J. S. Bach. These continued until 1782. His later operas met with less success. One of them, Carattaco, was on an Eng. subject which later attracted Elgar. On visits to Ger., Bach prod. his Temistocle in 1772 at Mannheim and his Lucio Silla, which Mozart had already set, in 1774. Comp. an opera for Paris, Amadis de Gaule, in 1779, and his last London opera, La Clemenza di Scipione, was successfully perf. in 1778. He died in debt, and was buried in a mass grave in St Pancras churchyard. Queen Charlotte helped to meet expenses arising from his debts and enabled his widow to return to Italy. His death went almost unnoticed by Londoners. There is a fine portrait of him by Gainsborough. Besides 11 operas, Bach wrote many instr. works---sinfonias, ovs., nearly 40 pf. concs., sonatas, qts., trios, marches, etc. Their felicitous scoring and melodic charm leave no doubt why Mozart admired Bach so much and why not only Mozart but also Haydn and Beethoven were fruitfully influenced by his work. Most of his church mus. was written before he left Italy.

Bach, Johann Christoph Friedrich (b Leipzig, 1732; d Bückeburg, 1795). Ger. composer. 16th child and 9th son of J. S. Bach. Attended Leipzig Univ. and in 1750 appointed Kammermusikus to the court at Bückeburg; Konzertmeister 1756. In 1778 visited his half-brother Emmanuel in Hamburg and his brother Johann Christian in London. Comps. incl. 14 syms., 8 kbd. concs., sonatas, trios, oratorios, cantatas, secular songs.

Bach, Johann Sebastian (b Eisenach, 1685; d Leipzig, 1750). Ger. composer and organist. Son of Johann Ambrosius Bach, organist and town musician, J. S. Bach was orphaned at the age of 10 and went to live with his elder brother Johann Christoph at Ohrdruf where he had klavier and org. lessons. In 1700 was a chorister at St Michael's Church, Lüneburg, staying for 3 years, learning much from the organist-composer Georg Böhm. Organist at Arnstadt, 1703, and then Mühlhausen, 1707, when he married his cousin Maria Barbara Bach. In 1708 became organist in the Kapelle of the Duke of Saxe-Weimar, where he remained for 9 years, leaving in disappointment at not being appointed Kapellmeister in 1717. By this time he had comp. some of his finest org. works and church cantatas. In 1717 appointed Kapellmeister at the court of Anhalt-Cöthen where the prince's interest was not in religious works but in instr. comps. From this period date his vn. concs., sonatas, suites, and Brandenburg concs. Also comp. many of his best klavier works at Cöthen, probably for his children's instruction. In 1720 his wife died and in Dec. 1721 he married Anna Magdalena Wilcken, 20-year-old daughter of the court trumpeter. Now dissatisfied with life at Cöthen, where the ruler's new wife showed little interest in mus., Bach applied for the cantorship at St Thomas's, Leipzig, in Dec. 1722. He was not selected, but the chosen candidate, Graupner, withdrew and Bach was appointed in May 1723, having in the meantime cond. his St John Passion in St Thomas's as evidence of his fitness for the post. Remained at St Thomas's for the rest of his life, not without several disputes with the authorities. During time there, comp. more than 250 church cantatas, the St Matthew Passion, Mass in B minor, Christmas Oratorio, Goldberg Variations, and many other works incl. his last, the unfinished Die Kunst der Fuge (Art of Fugue). In 1740 began to have trouble with his eyesight and in the last year of his life was almost totally blind. Bach was famous as an org. virtuoso. As a composer his reputation in his lifetime was restricted to a fairly narrow circle and his mus. was regarded by many as old-fashioned. His fame in no way approached that of, e.g., Telemann. His pubd. works today fill many vols., but in his lifetime fewer than a dozen of his comps. were printed, and for half a century after his death this position was only slightly improved until in 1801 the Well-Tempered Klavier was issued. The revival of interest in Bach's mus. may be dated from the Berlin perf. of the St Matthew Passion on 11 Mar. 1829, cond. Mendelssohn. Systematic publication of his works by the Bach Gesellschaft began in 1850 to mark the centenary of his death. (See Bach Revival.) ^Bach's supreme achievement was as a polyphonist. His N. Ger. Protestant religion was the root of all his art, allied to a tireless industry in the pursuit of every kind of refinement of his skill and technique. Sonata form was not yet developed enough for him to be interested in it, and he had no leaning towards the (to him) frivolities of opera. Although some of the forms in which he wrote---the church cantata, for example---were outdated before he died, he poured into them all the resources of his genius so that they have outlived most other examples. The dramatic and emotional force of his mus., as evidenced in the Passions, was remarkable in its day and has spoken to succeeding generations with increasing power. Suffice it to say that for many composers and for countless listeners, Bach's mus. is supreme---to quote Wagner: 'the most stupendous miracle in all music'. Prin. works:

orch: Brandenburg Concertos Nos. 1--6 (BWV1046--51); 7 Concertos for hpd. and str. (BWV1052--8), No. 1 in D minor, No. 2 in E, No. 3 in D, No. 4 in A, No. 5 in F minor, No. 6 in F, No. 7 in G minor; 3 concs. for 2 hpd. and str. (BWV1060--2), No. 1 in C minor, No. 2 in C, No. 3 in C minor; 2 concs. for 3 hpd. and str. (BWV1063--4), No. 1 in D minor, No. 2 in C (No. 1 arr. for vn., fl., ob., No. 2 for 3 vn. or fl., ob., vn.); conc. for 4 hpd. and str. in A minor (BWV1065, transcr. of Vivaldi conc. Op. 3 No. 10); conc. for fl., vn., hpd., str. (BWV1044), hpd., ob., str. (BWV1059), vn., str. in A minor (BWV1041, same work as BWV1058), vn., str. in E (BWV1042, same work as BWV1054), 2 vn. and str. in D minor (BWV1043, same work as BWV1062), vn., ob., str., in D minor (BWV1060, reconstr. of hpd. conc.); 4 Suites (BWV1066--9), No. 1 in C, No. 2 in B minor, No. 3 in D, No. 4 in D.

chamber music: Die Kunst der Fuge (The Art of Fugue) (BWV1080); Das Musikalische Opfer (The Musical Offering) (BWV1079); 3 Partitas, solo vn. (BWV1002, 1004, 1006), No. 1 in B minor, No. 2 in D minor, No. 3 in E; 3 Sonatas, solo vn. (BWV1001, 1003, 1005), No. 1 in G minor, No. 2 in A minor, No. 3 in C; 6 Sonatas for vn. and klavier (BWV1014--9), No. 1 in B minor, No. 2 in A, No. 3 in E, No. 4 in C minor, No. 5 in F minor, No. 6 in G; 6 Sonatas for vn./fl. and klavier (BWV1020--5), No. 1 in G minor, No. 2 in G, No. 3 in F, No. 4 in E minor, No. 5 in C minor, No. 6 in A; 4 Sonatas for 2|vn./2|fl./2 ob. and hpd. (BWV1036--9), No. 1 in D minor, No. 2 in C, Nos. 3 and 4 in G; 6 Sonatas, for fl. and hpd. (BWV1030--5), No. 1 in B minor, No. 2 in Eb, No. 3 in A, No. 4 in C, No. 5 in E minor, No. 6 in E; 3 Sonatas for viola da gamba (vc.) and klavier (BWV1027--9), No. 1 in G (same as BWV1039), No. 2 in D, No. 3 in G minor; sonata for fl. in A minor (BWV1013); 6 Suites for vc. (BWV1007--12), No. 1 in G, No. 2 in D minor, No. 3 in C, No. 4 in Eb, No. 5 in C minor, No. 6 in D.

keyboard: Capriccio in Bb (on the departure of a beloved brother) (BWV992); Chromatic Fantasia and Fugue in D minor (BWV903); 16 concs. for solo hpd. (BWV972--87), Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 7 and 9 transcr. of Vivaldi, No. 3 of Marcello, Nos. 14 and 15 of Telemann; 6 English Suites (BWV806--11), No. 1 in A, No. 2 in A minor, No. 3 in G minor, No. 4 in F, No. 5 in E minor, No. 6 in D minor; Fantasia in A minor (BWV922); Fantasia and Fugue in A minor (BWV904); 6 French Suites (BWV812--17), No. 1 in D minor, No. 2 in C minor, No. 3 in B minor, No. 4 in Eb, No. 5 in G, No. 6 in E; Fugue in C (BWV952);

Goldberg Variations (BWV988); 15 Inventions (2-part) (BWV772--86); 15 Inventions (3-part) (BWV787--801); Italian Concerto (BWV971); 6 Partitas (BWV825--30); 9 Preludes for W. F. Bach (BWV924--32); 6 Preludes (BWV933--8); 7 Toccatas (BWV910--16), No. 1 in F# minor, No. 2 in C minor, No. 3 in D, No. 4 in D minor, No. 5 in E minor, No. 6 in G minor, No. 7 in G; Variations in the Italian Style (BWV989); Das Wohltemperierte Klavier (The Well-Tempered Klavier), 48 preludes and fugues (BWV846--93).

lute: Suites: in A (BWV1007), in E minor (BWV996), in E (BWV1006a, transcr. from BWV1006, vn. Partita No. 3), in C minor (BWV997), in G minor (BWV995).

organ: 6 concs. (BWV592--7), all transcr. from other composers, incl. Vivaldi); 4 Duets (BWV802--5); Fantasia and Fugue in C minor (BWV537), in G minor (BWV542); Fantasias, in C (BWV573), in C minor (BWV562), in G (BWV572); Fugues, in C minor (BWV574), in C minor (BWV575), in G (BWV577), in G minor (BWV578); Passacaglia and Fugue in C minor (BWV582); Prelude and Fugue: in A (BWV536), in A minor (BWV543), in A minor (BWV551), in B minor (BWV544), in C (BWV531), in C (BWV545), in C (BWV547), in C minor (BWV546), in C minor (BWV549), in D (BWV532), in D minor (BWV538), in D minor (BWV539), in E minor (BWV533), in E minor (Wedge) (BWV548), in E flat (BWV552), in F minor (BWV534), in G (BWV541), in G (BWV550), in G minor (BWV535), in G minor (BWV542); 8 Preludes and Fugues (BWV553--60), No. 1 in C, No. 2 in D minor, No. 3 in E minor, No. 4 in F, No. 5 in G, No. 6 in G minor, No. 7 in A minor, No. 8 in Bb; 6 Sonatas (BWV525--30), No. 1 in Eb, No. 2 in C minor, No. 3 in D minor, No. 4 in E minor, No. 5 in C, No. 6 in G; Toccata, Adagio, and Fugue in C (BWV564); Toccata and Fugue in D minor (Dorian) (BWV538), in D minor (BWV565), in E (BWV566), in F (BWV540); Trio in D minor (BWV583), in G (BWV586).

chorale preludes: Orgelbüchlein (Little Organ Book) (BWV599--644), containing 46 items; also many others of which only a brief selection is given here: Ach, bleib bei uns (BWV649), Allein Gott in der Höh' sei Ehr (BWV711), An Wasserflüssen Babylon (BWV653b), Christum wir sollen Loben schon (BWV696), Ein' feste Burg (BWV720), Herr Jesu Christ, dich zu uns wend (BWV709), In dulci jubilo (BWV729), Jesu, meine Freude (BWV713), Jesus Christus, unser Heiland (BWV688), Komm, Gott Schöpfer (BWV667), Komm, heiliger Geist (BWV652), Kommst du nun, Jesu (BWV650), Liebster Jesu, wir sind hier (BWV706), Meine Seele erhebet den Herren (BWV648), Nun danket alle Gott (BWV657), Nun komm, der Heiden Heiland (BWV659), O Gott, du frommer Gott (BWV767), O Lamm Gottes unschuldig (BWV656), Schmücke dich, O liebe Seele (BWV654), Vater unser in Himmelreich (BWV682/3, 737), Vom Himmel hoch (BWV700, 701 fugghetta, 738, 769 canonic variations), Wachet auf (BWV645), Wer nur den lieben Gott (BWV647, 690, 691), Wo soll ich fliehen hin (BWV646).

cantatas: Merely a selection of these is given here, with dates of comp. where known: No. 4 Christ lag in Todesbanden (c.1707), No. 6 Bleib bei uns (1725), No. 10 Meine Seele' erhebt den Herren 1724, rev. 1744--50), No. 11 Lobet Gott (c.1735), No. 12 Weinen, Klagen, Sorgen, Zagen (1714), No. 20 O Ewigkeit, du Donnerwort (1724), No. 23 Du wahrer Gott und Davids Sohn (1723), No. 28 Gottlob Nun geht das Jahr zu Ende (1725), No. 29 Wir danken dir, Gott (1731), No. 34 O ewiger Feuer (? after 1742), No. 40 Dazu ist erschien der Sohn Gottes (1723), No. 45 Est ist dir gesagt (1726), No. 51 Jauchzet Gott (1730), No. 60 O Ewigkeit, du Donnerwort (1723), No. 61 Nun komm, der Heiden Heiland (1714), No. 68 Also hat Gott die Welt geliebt (1725), No. 78 Jesu, der du meine Seele (1724), No. 80 Ein' feste Burg ist unser Gott (1724), No. 82 Ich habe genug (1727), No. 93 Wer nur den lieben Gott (1724), No. 95 Christus der ist mein Leben (1723), No. 106 Gottes Zeit ist die allerbeste Zeit (c.1707), No. 140 Wachet auf (1731), No. 143 Lobe den herrn (1735), No. 147 Herz und Mund (10th movement is Jesu, bleibet meine Freude, Jesu, joy of man's desiring) (1723), No. 197 Gott ist unser Zuversicht (c.1728), No. 201 Der Streit zwischen Phoebus und Pan (?1729), No. 202 Weichet nur, betrübte Schatten (?1718--23), No. 208 Was mir behagt (?1713), No. 209 Non sa che sia dolore (after [sm1740]), No. 211 Schweigt stille, plaudert nicht (Coffee cantata, 1732), No. 212 Mer hahn en neue Oberkeet (Peasant cantata, 1742). Canons for 2, 3, 4, and 7 voices(BWV1075, 1077, 1073, and 1078 respectively).

oratorios etc: Christmas Oratorio in 6 parts (Weihnachtsoratorium) (BWV248, 1734); Easter Oratorio (BWV249, 1736); Magnificat in Eb (BWV 243a, perf. Christmas Day 1723 incl. 4 Christmas texts), Magnificat in D (BWV243, rev. of Magnificat in Eb, c.1728--31, omitting Christmas texts); Mass in B minor (BWV232, 1724--49); Mass in G (BWV236, c.1738); Mass in G minor (BWV235, c.1737); 6 Motets (BWV225--230) 1. Singet dem Herrn ein neues Lied, 2. Der Geist hilft, 3. Jesu meine Freude, 4. Fürchte dich nicht, 5. Komm, Jesu, komm, 6. Lobet den Herrn; St John Passion (Johannespassion) (BWV245, 1723); St Matthew Passion (Matthäuspassion) (BWV244, 1727).

songs and arias: Notebook (No. 2) of Anna Magdalena Bach (BWV508--18), contains 11 songs, the first being Bist du bei mir (With you beside me); Aria, Gott lebet noch (BWV461); Jesus ist das schönste Licht (BWV474); Aria, Komm, süßer Tod (BWV478); O Jesulein süß (BWV493); Song, Vergiss mein nicht, mein allerliebster Gott (BWV505).

Bach, WilhelmFriedemann (b Weimar, 1710; d Berlin, 1784). Ger. composer. 2nd child and eldest son of J. S. Bach. Possibly also favourite son, but one who sadly failed to justify parental hopes. First part of The Well-Tempered Clavier was written for his instruction. After Leipzig Univ., became a church organist in Dresden (he was regarded as one of the greatest organists of his day), and comp. many instr. works, such as kbd. concs. and sonatas. In 1746 resigned to become organist of the Liebfrauenkirche at Halle. In 1762 was invited to succeed Graupner at Darmstadt but does not seem to have taken up his duties. Left Halle in 1764. For the last 20 years of his life held no regular post, giving occasional org. recitals in Brunswick, Göttingen, and Berlin, and teaching. Befriended by his father's biographer, J. N. Forkel. Poverty led him to sell several of his father's MSS. and also to pass off some of his father's works as his own. In fact his own comps. have character and are today often played.

Bacharach, Burt (b Kansas City, 1928). Amer. composer and pianist. Studied McGill Univ., Montreal. Night club pianist and entertainer, accompanist to Marlene Dietrich. Composer, with lyrics by Hal David, of many popular songs and film scores. Best-known songs are I'll never fall in love again, What's new pussycat? and Raindrops keep fallin' on my head (from film Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid, 1970).

Bachauer, Gina (b Athens, 1913; d Athens, 1976). Gr. pianist of Austrian parentage. Trained Athens Cons. and École Normale, Paris; teachers incl. Cortot and Rakhmaninov. Début Athens 1935. Recitalist and soloist at orch. concerts in Athens, Middle-Eastern centres, and Paris. London début 1947, NY 1950.

Bach Bow. A curved (convex) vn. bow invented by the violinist Emil Telmányi as particularly suitable for performing the contrapuntal solo vn. mus. of J. S. Bach.

Bach Choir. Formed permanently in London in 1876 following success of first 2 complete Brit. perfs. in Apr. and May 1876 of Bach's Mass in B minor by group of amateurs assembled in 1875 under the choral direction of Otto Goldschmidt, who remained cond. until 1885. His successors have been Stanford, Walford Davies, Hugh Allen, Vaughan Williams, Boult, Reginald Jacques and David Willcocks. Gives 2 annual perfs. of St Matthew Passion; many modern works in its repertory. Choirs in several other cities and towns use the title preceded by their name, e.g. Oxford Bach Choir, Newcastle Bach Choir.

Bache, Walter (b Birmingham, 1842; d London, 1888). Eng. pianist and cond. Studied in Leipzig; from 1862 to 1865 in Rome was a pupil of Liszt. In 1871 in Florence had lessons from Bülow. For many years dir. concerts devoted to Liszt's mus. at which several of Liszt's works (Faust Symphony, both pf. concs., St Elizabeth etc.) were f.p. in London. Prof. of pf. RAM. His brother Francis Edward (b Birmingham, 1833; d Birmingham, 1858) was a composer and pianist of exceptional promise. Their sister Constance (b Birmingham, 1846; d Montreux, 1903) trans. Bülow's letters (1896).

Bachelet, Alfred (b Paris, 1864; d Nancy, 1944). Fr. composer. Winner of Prix de Rome, 1880, with cantata Cléopatre. His 3-act opera Scerno (Paris 1914) stimulated controversy at the time. Comp. songs, pf. pieces, and a ballet. Dir., Nancy Cons. from 1919.

Bach Gesellschaft (Bach Society). Ger. soc. founded 1850 to commemorate the centenary of the death of J. S. Bach by publishing complete critical edn. of his works based mainly on the coll. of his MSS. in Berlin. The project, urged by Robert Schumann in an article in the Neue Zeitschrift für Musik (xix, 87), was executed by Otto Jahn in assoc. with Schumann, Carl Friedrich Becker, Moritz Hauptmann, and the publishing firm of Breitkopf und Härtel. Issued 46 annual publications in 59 vols. between 1850 and 1900. The achievement was a vast feat of scholarship but, understandably, not without error. Some works definitely or probably not by Bach were incl. With publication of the concluding volume on 27 Jan. 1900 the Society was wound up and the Neue Bach Gesellschaft founded under the presidency of Herman Kretzschmar, Prof. at Leipzig Univ. Its objective was to publish Bach's mus. in practicable performing scores and to popularize it throughout Ger. by Bach fests. In 1904 the soc. began issue of a Jahrbuch (Yearbook), in which the latest Bach research is pubd., and in 1907 bought Bach's birthplace at Eisenach and made it a museum. A Bach Soc. was founded in London 1849 to collect a library of Bach's comps. either printed or in MS. Under its auspices took place the first Eng. perfs. of St Matthew Passion (Hanover Sq. Rooms, London, 6 Apr. 1854) and Christmas Oratorio (London, 13 June 1864). 11 movements from the Mass in B minor were perf. on 24 July 1860. Soc. dissolved in Mar. 1870 and library given to RAM.

Bachianas Brasileiras. 9 pieces by Villa-Lobos combining native Brazilian elements with the contrapuntal spirit of J. S. Bach's mus. They are: 1. for 8 vc. (1930); 2. for small orch. (1930); 3. for pf. and orch. (1938); 4. for pf. (1930--6) orch. 1941; 5. for v. and vcs. (1938); 6. for fl. and bn. (1938); 7. for orch. (1942); 8. for orch. (1945); 9. for str. or unacc. ch. (1944).

Bachmann, Anton (b Berlin, 1716; d Berlin, 1800). Ger. court musician who invented several improvements in construction of dbs. and vcs.

Bachmann, Karl Ludwig (b Berlin, 1743; d Berlin, 1809). Son of Anton Bachmann. Noted solova.-player in Berlin Royal Chapel. Later took over his father's business.

Bach Revival. In the half-century after J. S. Bach's death only a handful of his works were pubd., though these incl. C. P. E. Bach's edn. of the complete coll. of Vierstimmige Choralgesänge (Choral Songs for 4 Voices), issued by Breitkopf & Härtel (1784--7). Nevertheless, Mozart at the end of his life was a profound admirer of Bach, and at Bonn in 1780 Beethoven was instructed in the '48' preludes and fugues, then still in MS. The revival gathered momentum with publication in 1801 in 4 centres (Bonn, Zürich, Vienna, and Leipzig, with a London reprint of the Bonn edn.) of the Well-Tempered Klavier (Wohltemperierte Klavier) and the appearance in 1802 of Forkel's biography Über Johann Sebastian Bachs Leben. The Magnificat was pubd. in 1811, the St Matthew Passion in 1830, the Mass in B minor partially in 1833, fully in 1845, the St John Passion in 1830 (pf. score), vocal parts 1834; many cantatas, all the org. works, many works for klavier and much besides appeared between 1803 and 1850. In the matter of perf., the critic Johann Friedrich Rochlitz (1769--1842) stimulated interest by his articles in the Allgemeine musikalische Zeitung, which he founded in 1798, remaining ed. until 1818. Publication of the motets led to their perf. in the 1820s by the Berlin Singakademie under Carl Friedrich Zelter. At his house Mendelssohn and the Devrients met to study Bach's mus. On 11 Mar. 1829 Mendelssohn cond. the first perf. since Bach's day of the St Matthew Passion with the Singakademie. Two further perfs. followed within 5 weeks. In 1833 the Singakademieperf. the St John Passion and a much-cut Mass in B minor. Other leading Ger. mus. centres, incl. Leipzig, followed Berlin's lead. In Eng., where it might have been thought that J. C. Bach would have encouraged study of his father's work, little was done until Samuel Wesley's concerts of J. S. Bach's mus. in 1808 and 1809. William Crotch also helped, but the main stimulus came from Mendelssohn's visits in 1829 and 1832, when he played Bach's org. works in St Paul's Cath. and elsewhere. In 1837 he had a section of the St Matthew Passion incl. in the Birmingham Fest. But it was not until the later 19th cent. that regular perfs. of Bach's mus. in Eng. began. Sterndale Bennett cond. first complete Eng. perf. of St Matthew Passion (in English) on 6 April 1854, in London. It was f.p. at Three Choirs Fest. 1871.

Bach Trumpet. High-pitched natural (i.e. unvalved) tpt. used in late 17th and 18th cents. J. S. Bach and Handel wrote ornate passages for it in certain comps. In the late 1880s valved versions were prod. on which such passages could be played, but virtuoso players today have recovered the art of playing the natural tpt. and need no such aids.

Back. The lower or rear part of the resonant box of str. instr. The strings are extended across the upper part, the belly or 'table'. The back has no sound holes; its primary function is to be reverberated by the air waves generated by the belly as it vibrates under the str. Usually made of maple, pear, or other hard wood.

Bäck, Sven-Erik (b Stockholm, 1919). Swed. composer, conductor, and violinist. Studied Royal Mus. Acad. Stockholm 1938--43; comp. pupil of Rosenberg and, in Rome 1951--2, of Petrassi. Member of several str. qts. Comp. 2 chamber operas, 3 str. qts., orch. works, elec. works.

Backer-Gröndahl, Agathe Ursula (b Holmestrand, Norway, 1847; d Orm; Upen, 1907). Norweg. pianist, pupil of Hans von Bülow and Liszt, and popular composer of songs and pf. mus.

Backfall. (1) Part of an org., being the lever which connects the rods (stickers) to the kbd. (2) 17th-cent. Eng. term for a type of upper appoggiatura in lute and hpd. mus.

Backhaus (Bachaus), Wilhelm (b Leipzig, 1884; d Villach, Austria, 1969). Ger. pianist. Trained Leipzig Cons. and under d'Albert, etc. Made first concert tour age 16; later toured world. Prof. of pf., RMCM in 1905. Noted as Beethoven interpreter, recording most of the sonatas after his 80th birthday.

Bacon, Ernst (b Chicago, 1898). Amer. composer, cond., and critic. Works are mainly for v. with various accs. and incl. settings of Walt Whitman and Emily Dickinson. Also 4 syms., incl. 1 with narrator (No. 3, 1956), and 2-act 'music play' A Tree on the Plains (1940, rev. 1962). Has written over 250 songs.

Badajoz (fl. 15th--16th cent.). Sp. composer and organist. Choirmaster to John III of Portugal.

Badarczewska, Tekla (b Warsaw, 1834; d Warsaw, 1861). Polish composer of pf. pieces, among them The Maiden's Prayer, pubd. Warsaw 1856 and Paris 1859.

Badia, Carlo Agostino (b Venice, 1672; d Vienna, 1738). It. composer. First 'official composer' to the Viennese court, 1694. Comp. 25 operas, 42 oratorios, and other works.

Badinage, Badinerie (Fr.). Playfulness. Used as title of movement in 18th-cent. suite, e.g. Badinerie of J. S. Bach's Suite in B minor.

Badings, Henk (*b*Bandoeng, Java, 1907). Dutch composer. Began as engineer, but studied mus. with Pijper and joined staff of Rotterdam Cons. in 1934; co-dir., Amsterdam Lyceum 1937--41; dir., Hague Cons. 1941--5; dir., elec. mus. studio, Utrecht Univ., 1960--4; Prof. of comp., Musikhochschule, Stuttgart, 1962--72. Comps. incl. several operas and 14 syms., 25 concs., chamber mus., and elec. works. His Sonata No. 2 for 2 vn. (1963) is in 31; Dhnote scale and his ballet Genesis (1968) for 5 tone-generators.

Badura-Skoda, Paul (b Vienna, 1927). Austrian pianist. Trained Vienna Cons. 1945--8 and with Edwin Fischer. Début Vienna 1948. Many recordings; specialist in Mozart and with musicologistwife Eva (b Munich, 1929) author of book on interpretation of his pf. mus. (1957, Eng. trans. 1962).

Bagatelle (Fr., Ger.). Trifle. So a short unpretentious instr. comp., esp. for pf. (Beethoven wrote 26 bagatelles, of which Für Elise is one). Dvořák's Bagatelles Op. 47 (1878) are for 2 vn., vc., and harmonium (or pf.).

Bagpipe Family. Forms of the bagpipe have existed for at least 3,000 years and it is known to many races in Europe and Asia. Machaut (1300--77) mentions bagpipes in a description of one of his own polyphonic works. Its essentials are that (a) It is a reed-pipe instr. and (b) Interposed between the medium supplying the wind and the reed-pipe is a bag serving as a reservoir and so preventing any undesired breaking of the flow of sound by the player's necessity to take breath. Variable characteristics are: (c) The source of the wind-supply to the reservoir may be either by mouth or by a small bellows held under the arm. (d) The reed-pipe (Chanter) from which the various notes of the tune are obtained by means of a series of holes or keys may, or may not, be acc. by 1 or more other reed-pipes each confined to a single note (Drones), these being tuned to the Tonic or Tonic and Dominant of the key of the instr. (e) The reed may be either single, like that of the cl. family, or double like that of the ob. family; in practice the chanter reed is usually (perhaps always) double, while the drone reeds vary in different types of instr. The compass of nearly all bagpipes is limited to an octave but on some few types a 2nd octave can be obtained. Brit. forms of the instr. are: 1. Scottish Highland Bagpipe, or Great Pipe, mouth-blown and possessing a conical-bore chanter and 3 drones (2 tuned to a' and 1 to a). The tone is penetrating and best heard in the open air; the chanter scale is of D major but extends from a' with a Gnat. and with the C and F pitched between sharp and natural. 2. Scottish Lowland Bagpipe is much the same as the foregoing but bellows-blown. 3. Northumbrian Bagpipe is also bellows-blown but sweet and gentle in tone and normal as to scale (G major); it has usually 4 drones; its chanter pipes are end-stopped, so that when the player closes all the finger-holes at once sound from them ceases, making possible a characteristic crisp staccato. 4. Irish 'Union' Bagpipe (the assertion that the word is a corruption of Uillean is unfounded). This is bellows-blown and sweet in tone; it has 3 drones. Its scale is nearly chromatic. Foreign terms for the bagpipe are: Fr. musette; Ger. Dudelsack, Sackpfeife; It. piva, zampogna; Sp. gaita.

Baguette (Fr.). Stick. In mus. usage (1) Drumstick (baguettes de bois, wooden drumsticks; baguettes d'éponge, sponge-headed drumsticks). (2) Stick of bow of vn., etc. (3) Conductor's baton.

Bahr-Mildenburg, Anna von. See Mildenburg, Anna von.

Bailey, Lilian (June) (b Columbus, Ohio, 1860; d London, 1901). Amer. sop. Studied in Paris 1878 with Pauline Viardot-García and later in London with George Henschel whom she married, 1881. Gave many recitals with her husband.

Bailey, Norman (b Birmingham, 1933). Eng. bass-bar. Studied in Vienna and made reputation in Austria and Ger. before SW début in 1967 (on tour) and in 1968 (London). Début CG 1969. Sang Hans Sachs at Bayreuth, 1969. NY début 1975, Met. 1976. Specialist in Wagner roles, e.g. Sachs, Dutchman, Wotan, Kurwenal. Has appeared with ENO, WNO, and Scottish Opera. C.B.E. 1977.

Baillie, (Dame) Isobel (Isabella) (b Hawick, Scotland, 1895; d Manchester, 1983). Scot.-born sop., noted for singing of oratorio (especially Messiah) and Lieder. Studied in Manchester with Sadler Fogg, later in Milan. Début, Hallé Concert, Manchester 1921, under name Bella Baillie, then at all chief Eng. Fests. Chosen by Toscanini for perfs. of Brahms's Requiem. One of 16 orig. singers in Vaughan Williams's Serenade to Music 1938. Amer. début 1933. Taught at RCM 1955--7, Cornell Univ. 1960--1, Manchester Sch. of Mus. from 1970. C.B.E. 1951, D.B.E. 1978. Autobiography pubd. 1982.

Baillot, Pierre (Marie Françoise Alcois de Sales) (b Passy, nr. Paris 1771; d Paris, 1842). Fr. vn. virtuoso and composer of 9 vn. concs. Prof., Paris Cons. from 1795. Wrote L'Art du violon (1834).

Bainbridge, Simon (b 1952). Eng. composer. Studied RCM, comp. with J. Lambert, cl. with S. Fell. Teacher, RCM junior dept. Works incl. Music to Oedipus Rex (1969), 2 Pieces for Piano (1969), Heterophony for orch. (1969--70), Spirogyra for chamber orch. (1970), wind quintet (1971), str. qt. (1972), Interlude Music (Heterophony) (1973, preliminary study for Amoeba for ens.), va. conc. (1977), Landscapes and Woods, sop. and ens. (1981).

Baines, William (b Horbury, Yorks., 1899; d York, 1922). Eng. composer and pianist. Mainly self-taught. Worked as cinema pianist. Few works pubd. in his lifetime, but his mother gave his musical effects to Brit. Mus. in 1960. Wrote sym. (1917), vn. sonata (1917), str. qt. (1917--18), songs, and a large number of piano pieces, incl. sonatas, Paradise Gardens (1918--19), Coloured Leaves (1918--21), 7 Preludes (1918--19), Twilight Pieces (1921), and 8 Preludes (1921).

Bainton, Edgar (Leslie) (b London, 1880; d Sydney, N.S.W., 1956). Eng. composer. Studied RCM under Stanford and Wood and then lived as pianist and dir. of Cons. in Newcastle upon Tyne 1912--34, having been prof. of pf. and comp. there from 1901. Dir., State Cons., Sydney, N.S.W. (1934--47). Comps. in many genres.

Baird, Tadeusz (b Grodzisk, Poland, 1928; d Warsaw, 1981). Polish composer. Studied at Warsaw State Music Acad. 1947--51 and Univ. 1948--52. Several of post-1956 works use 12-note procedures. Works incl.:

opera: Tomorrow (Jutro) (after J. Conrad) (1966).

orch: Syms: No. 1 (1950), No. 2 (1952), No. 3 (1968--9); Sinfonietta (1949); pf. conc. (1949); Concerto for Orchestra (1953); Cassation (1956); 4 Essays (1958); Espressioni varianti, vn. and orch. (1959); Variations without a Theme (1962); Epiphany Music (1963); Sinfonia brevis (1968); Psychodram (1972); ob. conc. (1973).

instr: Colas Breugnon, fl., chamber orch. (1951); 4 Dialogues, ob., chamber orch. (1964); 4 Novelettes, chamber orch. (1967).

vocal: 4 Shakespeare Love Sonnets, bar., chamber orch. (1956); Exhortation, narrator, ch., orch. (1960); Erotica, sop., orch. (1961); Songs of Trouvères, mez., fl., vc. (1964); 5 Songs, mez., chamber orch. (1967--8); Goethe Letters, bar., ch., and orch. (1970).

Bairstow, (Sir) Edward (Cuthbert) (b Huddersfield, 1874; d York, 1946). Eng. organist and composer. Held various organist's positions, incl. Leeds Parish Church (1906) and York Minster (1913 to death). V. trainer and choral cond. Wrote church mus. Prof. of mus., Durham Univ. from 1929. Knighted 1932.

Baiser de la fée, Le (The Fairy's Kiss). Ballet in 1 act by Stravinsky, mus. based on pf. pieces and songs by Tchaikovsky with linking passages by Stravinsky in Tchaikovsky's vein. Orch. 1928, rev. 1950. Scenario based on Andersen's Ice Maiden. Choreog. Nijinskaya. Prod. Paris 1928; London with choreog. by Ashton 1935. A Divertimento arr. from Le Baiser de la Fée was comp. 1934, rev. 1949.

Baker, George (b Birkenhead, 1885; d Hereford, 1976). Eng. bar. especially but not exclusively assoc. with the Gilbert and Sullivan operettas. Studied RCM and Milan. Also writer and adjudicator. BBC Overseas Music Dir. 1944--7. 2nd wife was sop. Olive Groves (d 1974). C.B.E. 1971.

Baker, (Dame) Janet (Abbott) (b Hatfield, Doncaster, 1933). Eng. mez. Sang in Leeds Phil. Choir (soloist in Haydn's Nelson Mass 1953). Studied with Hélène Isepp and Meriel St Clair. Joined Ambrosian Singers 1955; 2nd prize Kathleen Ferrier Competition 1956; opera début 1956 Roza in Smetana's The Secret with Oxford Univ. Opera Club. Glyndebourne Ch. 1956. Queen's Prize 1959. Wexford Fest. 1959. Sang leading roles with Handel Opera Soc. 1959; sang Dido in Purcell's Dido and Aeneas, cond. Anthony Lewis, Birmingham 1961, followed by roles in Tamerlano (1962), Ariodante (1964), Orlando (1966), Admeto (1968), also in Rameau's Hippolyte et Aricie (1965). Sang at Aldeburgh Fest. with Britten from 1962, giving f.p. of Phaedra, 1976. Sang Lucretia in EOG's Russ. tour 1964. Recorded Angel in Elgar's Gerontius with Barbirolli 1964. NY début 1966. CG début Hermia in Britten's Midsummer Night's Dream 1966. Sang Dorabella (Così fan tutte) with Scottish Opera 1967 followed by Berlioz's Dido (1969), Oktavian (1971), Composer in Ariadne auf Naxos (1975), Orpheus in Gluck's opera (1979); Diana in La Calisto, Glyndebourne 1970, followed by Penelope in Il ritorno d'Ulisse in patria, 1972. Sang Poppea for ENO in L'incoronazione di Poppea 1971, Mary Stuart (Donizetti) 1973, Charlotte in Massenet's Werther, 1977. Created role of Kate in Britten's Owen Wingrave (television 1971, CG 1973). Retired from operatic stage 1982, last appearance being as Orpheus in Gluck's opera at Glyndebourne. One of most intense and intelligent of contemporary singers, as impressive in operatic parts as in the realm of Lieder, Eng. and Fr. song, oratorio, and Mahler. C.B.E. 1970. Hamburg Shakespeare Prize 1971. D.B.E. 1976.

Baker, Richard (Douglas James) (b London, 1925). Eng. broadcaster and mus. presenter. Professional appearances on concert-platform as narrator in King David (Honegger), Fa;Alcade (Walton), Peter and the Wolf (Prokofiev), Survivor from Warsaw (Schoenberg), etc. O.B.E. 1976.

Baker, Theodore (b NY, 1851; d Dresden, 1934). Amer. mus. scholar; after business training studied mus. in Leipzig; literary ed. (1892--1926) for G. Schirmer; books incl. Biographical Dictionary of Musicians (1900; 6th edn., 1978, 7th edn., 1984, both ed. N. Slonimsky).

Bakst, Ryszard (b Warsaw, 1926). Polish pianist and teacher. Trained Moscow State Cons. (pf. with Neuhaus). Taught at Warsaw State Acad. of Mus., 1953--68; RNCM, 1969--72; since 1972 RNCM, Manchester. Exponent of Chopin and Szymanowski.

Balakirev, Mily (Alexeyevich) (b Nizhny-Novgorod, 1837 (old style 1836); d St Petersburg, 1910). Russ. composer who made major contribution to development of nationalist school. Spent his formative years in the country home of Oulibichev, biographer of Mozart, where he studied in the library and had practical instruction with private orch. At 18 went to St Petersburg, where Glinka, impressed by his nationalist ideals, encouraged him to continue his own work. From 1861 Balakirev became centre of a group of nationally inclined composers known as 'the Five' (the others being Cui, Borodin, Mussorgsky, and Rimsky-Korsakov). In 1862 founded Free Sch. of Mus. At its sym. concerts Balakirev introduced many of the new works by his colleagues of 'the Five' and later those by Lyadov and Glazunov. Nervous breakdown led to his retirement from music 1871--6, during which period he worked as a railway official. From 1883 was mus. dir. to the Russ. court. Himself a fine pianist, his Islamey, like his other pf. works, is a brilliant virtuoso showpiece. Prin. works:

orch: Syms., No. 1 in C (1893--7), No. 2 in D minor (1900--08); Overture on Spanish Themes (1857, rev. 1886), Overture on 3 Russian Themes (1863--4, rev. 1884), Overture on Czech Themes (1867, rev. 1905); sym.-poem Tamara (1867--82).

piano: Oriental fantasy, Islamey (1869, rev. 1902), 6 mazurkas, 3 scherzos, 3 nocturnes, 4 waltzes, Spanish Serenade. Also many songs.

Balalaika. Russ. guitar, triangular in shape with (normally) 3 str., and a fretted fingerboard. Exists in various sizes. Assoc. with it, in balalaika bands, are the Domra, a somewhat similar instr. and the Gusli.

Balanchine (né Balanchivadze), George (b St Petersburg, 1904; d NY, 1983). Russ.-Amer. choreog. Thorough mus. training. Imperial Sch. of Ballet 1914--1921. Left Russ. 1924. After an appearance in Paris, was engaged by Diaghilev as choreographer. Stravinsky's Apollo Musagetes had Balanchine choreog. for its first Paris perf. (1928). (Other Stravinsky works were later choreog. by Balanchine, incl. Orpheus, Jeu de Cartes, Baiser de la fée, Danses concertantes, Movements, and Agon.) In 1932 became choreog. for Col. de Basil's Ballets Russes de Monte Carlo. In 1934 went to USA to create Amer. Ballet Co., débüt 1935. This was residentballet at NY Met. 1935--8, when it was disbanded. Balanchine then worked as teacher and free-lance choreog. (incl. Hollywood films). Co-founder Ballet Soc. (1946) which became celebrated NY City Ballet, 1948, with Balanchine as art. dir. From this period dates his great and influential work for modern dance. Among ballets he choreog. were: The Prodigal Son (Prokofiev) 1929, Ballet Imperial (Tchaikovsky) 1941, Night Shadow (Bellini-Rieti) 1946, La Valse (Ravel) 1951, Ivesiana (Ives) 1954, 7 Deadly Sins (Weill) 1958, Slaughter on 10th Avenue (Rodgers) 1968, Duo Concertante (Stravinsky) 1970. Among musicals he choreographed were: On your Toes (1936), The Boys from Syracuse (1938). Also worked as opera producer (Stravinsky's Rake's Progress, NY 1953; Tchaikovsky's Eugene Onegin, Hamburg 1962).

Balanchivadze, Andrey (b St Petersburg, 1906). Brother of G. Balanchine and son of Meliton Balanchivadze, composer of first Georgian nat. opera. Andrey's works incl. 4 pf. concs., 2 syms., operas, ballets, and film mus. People's Artist of U.S.S.R., 1968.

Balart, Gabriel (b Barcelona, 1824; d Barcelona, 1893). Sp. violinist and composer. Cond. Barcelona Opera 1853--4. Wrote 5 syms., chamber mus., songs, and the zarzuela Amor y Arte (1868).

Balassa, Sándor (b Budapest, 1935). Hung. composer. Studied Bartók Cons., Budapest. Mus. dir. Hung. Radio. Comps. incl. Requiem for Lajos Kassák (1969); Xenia (1970); Iris (1971) for orch.; wind quintet; Legend for mixed ch; Tabulae for chamber orch. (1973); 3 Fantasies for orch. (1984).

Balbi, Lodovico (b Venice, 1545; d Venice, c.1604). It. church musician and composer in Verona, Padua, and Venice. Also comp. madrigals.

Baldi, Antonio (fl. 1722--35). It. counter-ten. who sang in London 1725--8 in operas by Handel (Alessandro, Ottone, Scipione, Radamisto, and Serse), and Bononcini.

Baldwin Company. Pf.makers of Cincinnati. Founded 1862 by Dwight Hamilton Baldwin. Factories also in Canada, Eng., and W. Ger. Developed electronic org. 1947.

Balfe, Michael (William) (b Dublin, 1808; d Rowney Abbey, Herts., 1870). Irish composer, violinist, and bar. Lived for a time in Paris and Berlin and prod. his operas there and in St Petersburg. Sang Figaro in Rossini's Il Barbiere de Siviglia in Paris, 1827, and sang at La Scala, Milan, with Malibranin 1830s. Sang Papageno in The Magic Flute in Eng. at Drury Lane, 1838. First opera, I rivali di se stessi, was prod. Palermo 1829. His Falstaff was prod. London 1838 and his greatest success The Bohemian Girl in 1843. Cond. of opera at His Majesty's, London, 1845--52.

Balkwill, Bryan (Havell) (b London, 1922). Eng. cond. Trained RAM. On cond. staff CG 1959--65; WNO 1963--7; SW (mus. dir.) 1966--9; Glyndebourne 1950--8; and posts in N. Amer.

Ball, (Sir) [fy65,3] George Thomas Thalben. See Thalben-Ball, George Thomas.

Ball, Eric (b Bristol, 1903). Eng. composer, cond., and arranger, principally of works for brass band. Also adjudicator of band competitions. Assoc. for many years with C.W.S. (Manchester) Band. Arr. Elgar's Enigma Variations for brass band (f.p. Warwick, 1984).

Ball, Ernest R. (b Cleveland, Ohio, 1878; d Santa Ana, Calif., 1927). Amer. popular composer, 3 of whose songs were in the regular repertory of John McCormack, namely Mother Machree, When Irish Eyes are Smiling, and Little Bit of Heaven.

Ballabile (It.). In a dance style.

Ballad. (1) Properly a song to be danced to (It. Ballare, to dance) but from the 16th cent. or earlier the term has been applied to anything singable, simple, popular in style, and for solo v. (2) The word 'ballad' was in the 19th cent. also attached to the simpler type of 'drawing-room song'---sometimes called 'Shop Ballad', possibly to distinguish it from those hawked by the ballad-seller on broadsheets. Hence the Eng. 'Ballad Concerts' inaugurated by the mus. publisher, John Boosey, in 1867. (3) Self-contained narrative song, suchas Loewe's Edward or Schubert's Erlkönig. Also applied to certain narrative operatic arias, e.g. Senta's ballad in Wagner's Der fliegende Holländer. (4) Term applied in jazz to sentimental song.

Ballade (Fr.). Ballad. A term given by Chopin to a long, dramatic type of pf. piece, the mus. equivalent of a poetical ballad of the heroic type. He wrote 4---G minor, Op. 23; F major, Op. 38; Ab major, Op. 47; and F minor, Op. 52. Brahms, Liszt, Grieg, Fauré, and others later used the title.

Ballad Horn. Type of Saxhorn. Different makers apply the name to different varieties, but generally understood as alto hn. in Eb or C with cup mouthpiece and 3 piston valves.

Ballad Opera. Opera with spoken dialogue and using popular tunes of the day provided with new words. Form originated in England with Allan Ramsay's The Gentle Shepherd (1725), but the success in 1728 of Gay's The Beggar's Opera started the vogue for this type of entertainment which lasted for nearly 30 years. Charles Coffey's The Devil to pay (1731) was adapted in Ger. in 1743 as Der Teufel ist los and est. the Singspiel tradition which culminated in Mozart's Die Entführung aus dem Serail. There are also wider definitions of the genre; and in the 20th cent. Vaughan Williams's Hugh the Drover (1914) is described as a 'romantic ballad opera' by the composer although it has no spoken dialogue and does not exclusively comprise traditional tunes.

Ballata (It.). One of poetic forms in It. secular songs of 14th and early 15th cents., the others being madrigal and caccia. Form comprised ripresa (refrain), two piedi, volta, and ripresa. Landini was prolific comp. of ballate. Was used by Dufay and then lost its appeal.

Ballerina, Ballerino (It.). Ballet dancer---female and male respectively, hence prima ballerina, the leading female dancer of the co., and prima ballerina assoluta, the undisputed leading female dancer of the co.

Ballet. Entertainment in which dancers, by use of mime, etc., perform to mus. to tell a story or to express a mood. The ballet was largely developed in the courts of Fr. and It. during the 16th and 17th cents. and especially in that of Louis XIV (reigned 1643--1715), where Lully was in charge of the mus. The ballets of this period were danced by the court itself and were very formal (gavottes, minuets, chaconnes, etc.), heavy dresses being worn, with wigs, high heels, and other trappings of court life. But the first ballet is generally held to have been the Balet comique de la Royne given in Paris in 1581. Even in the days of the ballerina Camargo (1710--70), who introduced many innovations, dress was ample, skirts still falling below the knees; however, she introduced a more vigorous style involving high jumps. J. G Noverre (1727--1810) banished the conventions hitherto ruling as to the use of mythological subjects, set order of dances, elaborate dresses, etc., and thus made himself the founder of the dramatic ballet, or ballet d'action. He est. the 5-act ballet as an entertainment in its own right; collab. with Gluck and Mozart in operatic ballets, and wrote an important treatise on the ballet. Other great masters of this period were Dauberval (1742--1806), Gaetano Vestris (1729--1808), and Pierre Gardel (1758--1840). Vestris was the founder of a family of maîtres de ballet, active in 3 generations (1747--1825), and of several important ballerinas. The Italian choreographer Salvatore Vigano (1769--1819), for whom Beethoven wrote Die Geschöpfe des Prometheus, continued Noverre's work. By the end of the 18th cent. the ballet had almost discarded the last of its stately court influences and had developed gymnastic virtuosity, although movement was still mainly confined to the legs and feet. Dancing on the pointe (on the tips of the toes) came in only about 1814; it calls for arduous practice, requires special shoes, and carries a danger of dislocation; Marie Taglioni (career from 1822 to 1847) was its first notable exponent. The Romantic Movement introduced into the ballet an attempt at ethereal informality. Costumes grew shorter and the skin-tight Maillot, named after its Parisian inventor, was daringly introduced. From the mid-19th cent., spectacular ballets, of a realistic and topical character, became common, and much effective ballet mus. was written, esp. by Fr. composers: Adam's Giselle (1841) has remained a classic and the appearance of Delibes's Coppélia (1870) marks an epoch. Ballet as an integral part of opera was at its height of popularity in the first half of the 19th cent. Some of the operas of Rossini and Donizetti incl. ballets, and Verdi, bowing to the demands of Paris, where a ballet was de rigueur in opera, incl. ballets in many of his operas for that capital, even writing ballet mus. for Otello for its Paris prod. (1894). The high priest of ballet-in-opera was Meyerbeer, and even Wagner had to introduce ballet into Tannhäuser to placate his Paris audiences (but enraged the blades of the Jockey Club by refusing to place it, as was customary, in the 2nd act, by which time they would have finished their coffee and cigars). The extent of the Parisian 'craze' can be judged from the fact that Berlioz's orchestration of Weber's Invitation to the Dance (Aufforderung zum Tanz, 1819) was commissioned for the 1841 prod. of Der Freischütz, and dances from Bizet's incidental mus. to L'Arlésienne were interpolated into Carmen. Fr. influence on the Russ. Imperial court ths. also created a tradition of ballet in St Petersburg and Moscow to which national traditions were added. Both cities had long had their royal schs. of ballet where technique was highly polished but there was little of mus. worth for them to dance until the masterpieces of Tchaikovsky: Swan Lake (1876), The Sleeping Beauty (1889), and Nutcracker (1892). The outstanding choreog. was Marius Petipa (b Marseilles, 1818; d Gurzuf, Crimea, 1910) who was principal ballet master in St Petersburg from 1862 to 1903. The 20th cent. saw reforms and revolutionary tendencies in the development of ballet which may be identified principally but not wholly with two individuals. The Amer. Isadora Duncan (1878--1927) was inspired by Gr. classicism and by the natural movements of the birds, the waves, etc., thereby rejecting many conventional choreographical formulae. She toured Russ. and was seen by the young dancer Mikhail Fokine (1880--1942) who was also working to free ballet from its 19th-cent. conventions, having been deeply impressed by the visit of Siamese dancers to Russ. in 1900. He achieved his ambition in collab. with the impresario and opera producer Serge Diaghilev (1872--1929). Taking advantage of the Franco-Russ. entente and realising that radical reforms would not be allowed in the imperial ths., Diaghilev est. his Russian Ballet (Ballets Russes) in Paris, 1909, bringing together choreogs. such as Fokine, and dancers such as Nijinsky, Pavlova, and Karsavina. Ballet scores were commissioned from 'progressive' contemporary composers, e.g. Ravel (Daphnis et Chloé), Stravinsky (Fire-Bird, Petrushka, The Rite of Spring), Strauss (Josephslegende), and Debussy (Jeux). The artists Bakst and Picasso were among those commissioned to design scenery. Ballet mus. ceased to be wholly subservient to the dancers' demands. The impact of these Diaghilev prods. on Paris, London, Berlin, and other cities was electrifying and exercised considerable influence on all the arts. Diaghilev introduced 1-act ballets, making an evening from 2 or 3 short ballets. In this way there came about the ballet based on the Polovtsian Dances from Borodin's Prince Igor, the famous Spectre de la rose (to the Weber-Berlioz Invitation to the Dance) and, as a vehicle for Nijinsky, a ballet to the mus. of Debussy's Prélude à l'après-midi d'un faune. Diaghilev frequently used re-workings of mus. not comp. for dancing as the basis of successful ballets, the most famous being Les Sylphides (1909), from Chopin pieces. Other composers treated in this way were Rossini, Cimarosa, Scarlatti, and Handel. Stravinsky was adept at these re-workings, as can be heard from Pulcinella (Pergolesi) and Le Baiser de la fée (Tchaikovsky). After the 1914--18 war, Stravinsky continued for a time to collaborate with Diaghilev but other composers who wrote ballets for him were Satie (Parade), Falla (Three-Cornered Hat) and Prokofiev (Chout, Le Pas d'acier, and L'Enfant prodigue). Most of the outstanding figures of ballet between 1918 and 1939 came from the Diaghilev co., Serge Lifar, Léonide Massine and George Balanchine among them. The virtuosity of dancers and the constantly developing art of choreogs. has successfully brought a vast range of non-ballet mus. into the ballet th. Examples of scores to which ballets have been devised incl. Strauss's Till Eulenspiegel, Tchaikovsky's 5th Sym., Brahms's 4th Sym., Berlioz's Symphonie fantastique, Elgar's Enigma Variations and Mahler's Das Lied von der Erde. Nevertheless the comp. of orig. ballet scores has prospered. Tchaikovsky's heir was undoubtedly Prokofiev, whose Cinderella and Romeo and Juliet, for the Bolshoy Ballet, are superb, and distinguished scores have been written for ballet by Bartók, Copland, Shostakovich, Henze, Hindemith, Britten, and others. In Brit. ballet was imported after the days of the masque, but the impetus provided by the Diaghilev co. led to the formation of the Camargo Soc. in 1930, of whom the leading lights were the economist Maynard Keynes (married to Lydia Lopokova), his doctor brother Geoffrey Keynes, and Ninette de Valois. Among its first prods. was Vaughan Williams's Job, the first large-scale modern ballet score (though it is designated 'a masque for dancing') by a Brit. composer. The Camargo Soc. became the Vic-Wells Ballet, under the aegis of Lilian Baylis at the Old Vic and SW, later the SW Ballet, and eventually the Royal Ballet (based on CG). Leading figures assoc. with Brit. ballet have incl. Constant Lambert, Frederick Ashton, John Cranko, Antony Tudor, Anton Dolin, Alicia Markova, Robert Helpmann, Marie Rambert, Margot Fonteyn, Rudolf Nureyev, and Kenneth MacMillan. Beside the Royal Ballet, leading cos. working regularly in Brit. are London Festival Ballet, Ballet Rambert, and the Northern Ballet Th. Orig. ballet scores by Brit. composers incl. Bliss's Checkmate and Miracle in the Gorbals, Britten's Prince of the Pagodas, Walton's The Quest, Arnold's Hommage to the Queen and Solitaire, and Maxwell Davies's Salome. In Europe after Diaghilev, and contemporary with him, leading influences in varying degrees were the Paris-based Ballets Suédois, under Rolf de Maré (1886--1964), the Ger. choreog. Kurt Jooss's Ballets Jooss, (for which the mus. was written by one composer, Frederick Cohen (1904--67)), Rudolf von Laban (1879--1958), Mary Wigman (1886--1973), Ida Rubinstein (c.1885--1960), Emile Jaques-Dalcroze (1865--1950) and Maud Allan (1883--1956). There has been a vigorous expansion of ballet and ballet potentialities in the USA. Ex-Diaghilev associates such as Balanchine worked there and other pioneers of ballet there incl. Ruth St Denis (1877--1968), Ted Shawn (1891--1972), and Adolph Bolm (1884--1951). Later the chief figures were Mary Wigman and especially Martha Graham (b 1894), Paul Taylor (b 1930), and Louis Horst (1884--1964) who was director of the Denishawn Sch. 1915--25 and mus. dir. for the Graham co. 1926--48. Amer. composers have been prolific in writing mus. specifically for dancing and while ballet has invaded the popular Broadway musicals such as On Your Toes, Oklahoma!, and Kiss Me, Kate, avant-garde ballet developments have kept pace with those in music. The collab. between the composer John Cage and the choreog. Merce Cunningham (b 1919) pioneered new forms of presenting ballet as, to quote Cage, 'an activity of movement, sound, and light', using non-sequential, non-mimetic movement. The aleatory trend in mus.

has had its parallel in ballet, where all formal organization has been thrown overboard. Elec. scores have become commonplace, and slide and film projections are used. As mus. is now prod. without instr. or performers, ballet can be prod. without dancers, by means of electrocybernetic devices. Mention should also be made, if briefly, of the influence on ballet of jazz, Latin-Amer. mus., African tribal dances, and the stylized ballets of China and Japan.

Ballet de Cour (Fr.). Fr. Court ballet of the 17th cent. The Balet comique de la royne, comp. for the marriage festivities of the Duc de Joyeuse and the sister of the queen of Fr. in 1581 is considered the first of its kind. Numerous other ballets were comp. for the Fr. court up to the 1670s, when they were gradually superseded by Lully's operas.

Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo. Ballet co. formed in 1932, and orig. called Ballets Russes de Monte Carlo, in effort to continue Diaghilev's work. It was headed by Colonel Wassili de Basil and René Blum, with Fokine, Massine, and Balanchine as choreogs. Later de Basil split away from Blum and Massine and his co. disbanded in Paris in 1947, though it was revived for a year in London, 1951. The Blum-Massine co., under the name Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, went to USA at outbreak of World War II where it toured N. Amer. until disbandment in 1962.

Ballets Russes (Russian Ballet). See under Ballet and Diaghilev.

Balletomane. 20th-cent. term meaning one who is extremely enthusiastic about ballet, hence also 'balletomania'.

Ballett (Ballet). A form of madrigal orig. so called because the performers also danced to the tune. Thought to have been invented by the It. 16th-cent. composer Gastoldi who in 1591 pubd. Balletti a cinque voci with instructions for dancing and instr. accs. In Eng. the ballett was popularized by Morley and Weelkes, whose first colls. were pubd. respectively in 1595 and 1598. Balletts differ from madrigals in their irregular rhythm and (an indispensable feature) the singing of 'fal-lal-la' between the clauses.

Ballif, Claude (b Paris, 1924). Fr. composer and teacher. Studied at Bordeaux 1942--51, Paris Cons. (under Messiaen) and Berlin Hochschule (with Blacher). Taught in Berlin and Hamburg 1955--1958. Worked at Fr. radio's Groupe de Recherches Musicales 1959--61. Teacher at Reims Cons. 1965--8, prof. of analysis Paris Cons. from 1971. Author of book on Berlioz (1968). Works incl.:

orch: Voyage de mon oreille (1957); Fantasio (1957[nm, rev. 1976]); Ceci et cela (1959--65); A cor et à cri (1962); Poème de la felicité (1978).

instr: Antienne No. 1 à la Ste. Vierge, 6 singers, 8 instr. (1952, rev. 1956); 3 str. qts. (1955, 1958, 1959); 2 str. trios (1956, 1959); vn. sonata (1957); 4 quintets (1952--60); Phrases sur le souffle, alto, 8 instr. (1958); quintet for fl., ob., str. trio (1958); fl. sonata (1958); Mouvement pour 2, fl., pf. (1959); double trio for fl., ob., vc., and vn., cl., hn. (1961); Imaginaire I, fl., cl., tpt., tb., vn., vc., harp (1963).

piano: Sonatas: Nos. 1--5 (1957--60).

organ: 4 Sonatas (1956).

choral: Requiem, 8 solo vv., 5 ch., orch. (1953--68); Prières, ch. (1971); Chapelet, ch. (1971).

Balling, Michael (b Heidingsfeld-am-Main, 1866; d Darmstadt, 1925). Ger. cond. who began as violist. Founded mus. sch. in N.Z., 1892. Ass. cond. at Bayreuth, 1896--1924. Cond., Karlsruhe Opera, 1903--9. Cond. Wagner's Ring in Eng. with Denhof Co., Edinburgh, 1910. Cond., Hallé Orch., 1912--14; mus. dir., Darmstadt from 1919.

Ballo (It.). Ball, dance; so tempo di ballo, which can mean (a) At a dancing speed, or (b) A dance-style movement.

Ballo in Maschera, Un (A Masked Ball). Opera in 3 acts by Verdi to lib. by Somma based on Scribe's lib. for Auber's Gustave III ou Le Bal masqué. Prod. Rome 1859, NY and London 1861. Events of the opera are based on assassination of King Gustavus III of Sweden in 1792. The Naples censor forbade regicide on the opera stage and ordered Verdi to adapt his mus. to a new lib. He refused, but Rome agreed to stage the opera if the locale was moved outside Europe. Verdi and Somma thereupon changed Sweden to Boston, Mass., before the War of Independence. In 1952 at CG the action was replaced in Sweden and the characters resumed their orig. (and historical) names. These, with the Boston version equivalents in brackets, are: Gustavus (Riccardo, Earl of Warwick); Count Ankarstroem (Renato); Mme Arvidson (Ulrica); Count Ribbing (Samuel); Count Horn (Tom). Only the heroine, Amelia, and the page Oscar were unaffected by the change. Other operas on this subject are Auber's Gustave III (Paris 1833), Gabussi's Clemenza di Valois (Venice 1841), and Mercadante's Il reggente (Turin 1843).

Balsam, Artur (b Warsaw, 1906). Polish-born pianist. Educated Lódz; aaz Cons. and Berlin Hochschule. Début Lódz; aaz 1918. Settled in USA, where he has taught at various academies. Distinguished chamber-mus. player.

Baltsa, Agnes (b Lefkas, 1944). Greek mezzo-soprano. Studied Athens Acad., winning first Callas Scholarship. Frankfurt Opera 1968--71, making début as Cherubino. Sang Oktavian in Vienna 1970. Deutsche Oper, Berlin, from 1970. La Scala début 1976, Amer. début 1971 (Houston), CG 1976, NY Met. 1979. Outstanding Carmen, Composer (Ariadne auf Naxos), Dorabella, and Dido in Berlioz's Les Troyens. Sang Romeo in revival of Bellini's I Capuleti e i Montecchi at CG, 1984.

Baltzar, Thomas (b Lübeck, c.1630; d London, 1663). Ger.-born violinist and the most accomplished up to his period heard in Eng., according to Evelyn and Anthony Wood. Appointed leader of band of Charles II, 1661. Some comps. survive.

Bamberg Symphony Orchestra. Orch. based in Bamberg, Bavaria, founded 1946 from the Prague Deutsche Philharmonie. Prin. cond. have incl. Herbert Albert (1947--8), Eugen Jochum (1948--9), Joseph Keilberth (1949--68), Jochum (1969--78), James Loughran (1978--83), and Rafael Kubelik from 1983. Has twice toured Britain.

Bamberger, Carl (b Vienna, 1902). Austrian-born cond. and teacher. Studied Vienna Univ., cond. opera in Danzig, Darmstadt, and Russia 1924--31, before settling in USA in 1937. Mus. dir., spring fest., Columbia, S. Car., 1942--50. Cond. Montreal Chamber Concerts 1950--2. Founder-cond. Mannes College Orch. 1938--75. Author of book on conducting.

Bamboo Pipe. Simple instr. of the recorder type, introduced into Amer. schs. in the 1920s and later into those of Brit., the players usually making their own instr. Vaughan Williams wrote a Suite (1939) for treble, alto, ten., and bass pipes.

Bamboula. (1) Primitive Negro tambourine in use in the West Indies. (2) Dance to which this is the acc.

Bampton, Rose (b Lakewood, Ohio, 1908). Amer. operatic sop. (at first mez.). Trained Curtis Institute. Début NY Met. 1932, member of Met. 1932--50. CG 1937. Buenos Aires 1942--50. Taught at Juilliard Sch. from 1974.

Banalités (Banalities). Song-cycle by Poulenc to 5 poems by Guillaume Apollinaire, comp. 1940. Titles are: Chanson d'Orkenise, Hôtel, Fagnes de Wallonie, Voyage à Paris, Sanglots.

Banchieri, Adriano (b Bologna, 1568; d Bologna, 1634). It. composer, organist, and theorist. Org., S. Michele, Bosco, and of Monte Oliveto, where in 1613 he became abbot. His L'organo suonarino, pubd. Venice 1605, contains first precise rules for accompanying from a figured bass. In Moderna practica musicale (Venice 1613) he discusses alterations necessary because of the influence of figured bass on ornaments in singing. Comp. much church mus., also 'Intermedi' for comedies. His La pazzia senile (1598), regarded as almost the first comic opera, is a sequence of madrigals, in the Vecchi manner, based on the commedia dell'arte character Pantaloon. He was pioneer of fantasies for instr. ens.

Band. A numerous body of instr. players, e.g. brass, dance, military, steel, and perc. bands. Rarely now applied to full sym. orch except affectionately (Hallé Band). Also applied to sections of the orch., e.g. str. band and, particularly, wind band. Thus when Berlioz in his Requiem and Walton in Belshazzar's Feast require extra brass 'bands', they mean brass sections, not a full complement à la Black Dyke Mills.

Bandoneon. Argentinian type of Accordion. Instead of a kbd. it has buttons producing single notes.

Bandora. Eng. wire-str. mus. instr. similar to lute invented by John Rose of Bridewell in 1561. A bass instr. with sonorous quality of sound, it was used to acc. the v. by such composers as J. Mundy and Peerson and works for solo bandora survive. Orig. had 6 courses but a 7th was added in 17th cent. Name possibly derived from Sp. bandurria.

Bandurria. Sp. type of flat-backed guitar, known as early as 14th cent. as mandurria. 3-course (sometimes 4 or 5) instr. shaped like rebec and played with plectrum.

Banfield, Raffaello de (b Newcastle upon Tyne, 1922). It. composer whose works incl. 2 operas based on stories by Tennessee Williams, Lord Byron's Love Letter and Orpheus Descending.

Banister, John (b London, c.1625; d London, 1679). Eng. violinist, member of the band of Charles II, becoming leader in 1662. Dismissed for financial irregularities, 1667. Composer and said to be Britain's first organizer of public concerts (in London, 1672).

Banjo. Instr. of the same general type as the guitar, but the resonating body is of parchment strained over a metal hoop and it has an open back. There are from 4 to 9 str. (usually 5 or 6), passing over a low bridge and 'stopped' against a fingerboard, which is often without frets; one is a melody string (thumb string, or chanterelle), the others providing a simple chordal acc. Some examples have gut str. (played with the finger-tips) and others wire str. (played with a plectrum). Used by Gershwin in Porgy and Bess and by Delius in Koanga. The origin of this instr. is supposed to be Africa, and it was in use among the slaves of S. USA; then, in the 19th cent., it became the accepted instr. of 'Negro Minstrels' and in the 20th found a place in jazz bands. These last sometimes used a Tenor Banjo, with a different scheme of tuning (resembling that of the vn. family). The Zither Banjo is of small size and has wirestr.

Banjolin. Instrument of the banjo type, but with a short, fretted neck, like that of a mandoline. It has 4 single (or pairs of) str., played with a plectrum.

Banks, Don (Donald Oscar) (b Melbourne, 1923; d Sydney, N.S.W., 1980). Australian composer. Studied Melbourne Univ. Cons. of Mus., 1947--9, then privately with Seiber (London 1950--2) and Dallapiccola (Florence 1952--3). Worked in Australia as jazz pianist and arranger. Several film scores. Met Milton Babbitt in 1952 and has followed his excursions into elec. mus. Mus. dir., Goldsmiths' College, London Univ., 1969--71. Head of comp. and elec. music studies, Canberra Sch. of Mus. from 1974. Prin. works incl. concs. for vn. (1968), hn. (1965), Settings from Roget for jazz singer and jazz qt. (1966), Assemblies for orch. (1966), Tirade, mez., pf., harp, perc. (1968), Psalm 70, sop. and chamber orch., Divisions for orch., Nexus, orch. and jazz quintet, Commentary, pf. and tape, Prospects (1973).

Banner of St George, The. Ballad for ch. and orch., Op. 33 by Elgar. Text by Shapcott Wensley. Comp. 1896--7. F.p. London 1897.

Bantock, (Sir) Granville (b Westbourne Park, London, 1868; d London, 1946). Eng. composer, cond., and educationist. Trained at RAM 1889--93, toured as cond. of a theatrical co. and became mus. dir. at New Brighton, nr. Liverpool, where he gave remarkable concerts of mus. by contemporary Brit. composers. Was among first Eng. champions of mus. of Sibelius, whose 3rd Sym. is ded. to him. From 1900 Prin. of Sch. of Mus. in Birmingham and from 1908 Prof. of Mus., Birmingham Univ.; in 1934 became Chairman of Corporation of TCL. Knighted 1930. His orch. mus. is extremely brilliantly scored in a romantic manner but has not held its place in the repertory apart from occasional perfs. of his ov. Pierrot of the Minute and his tone-poem after Browning Fifine at the Fair. Prolific composer of part-songs for competitive fests., and his most ambitious works were 2 unacc. choral syms. Atalanta in Calydon (Manchester 1912) and Vanity of Vanities (Liverpool 1914) and a 3-part setting for cont., ten., and bass soloists, ch., and orch. of Omar Khayyám (1906, 1907, 1909). Other comps. incl.:

stage: Caedmar, opera (1893); The Pearl of Iran, opera (1894); Eugene Aram, unfinished opera (1896); Hippolytus, incid. mus. (1908); Electra, incid. mus. (1909); The Great God Pan, ballet (1915); Salome, incid. mus. (1918); The Seal-Woman, opera (1924); Macbeth, incid. mus. (1926).

orch: Elegiac Poem, vc. and orch. (1898); Helena Variations (1899); English Scenes (1900); Tone-poems: Dante (1901, rev. as Dante and Beatrice, 1910), Fifine at the Fair (1901), Hudibras (1902), The Witch of Atlas (1902), Lalla Rookh (1902); Sapphic Poem, vc. and orch. (1906); ov. The Pierrot of the Minute (1908); From the Scottish Highlands, str. (1913); Dramatic Poem, vc. and orch. (1914); Hebridean Symphony (1915); Pagan Symphony (1923--8); Celtic Symphony, str., 6 hps. (1940); Overture to a Greek Comedy (1941); The Funeral (1946).

chorus and orch: The Fire Worshippers, soloists, ch., and orch. (1892); The Blessed Damozel, reciter and orch. (1892); The Time Spirit, ch. and orch. (1902); Ferishtah's Fancies, v. and orch. (1905); Sappho, v. and orch. (1906); Sea Wanderers, ch. and orch. (1906); Omar Khayyám, cont., ten., bass, ch., and orch. (1906--9); Song of Liberty, ch. and orch. (1914); Song of Songs, soloists, ch., and orch. (1922); Pagan Chants, v. and orch. (1917--26); The Pilgrim's Progress, soloists, ch., and orch. (1928); Prometheus Unbound, ch. and orch. (1936); Thomas the Rhymer, v. and orch. (1946).

unacc. voices: Mass in Bb, male vv. (1903); Atalanta in Calydon, sym. for ch. (1911); Vanity of Vanities, sym. for ch. (1913); A Pageant of Human Life, sym. for ch. (1913); 7 Burdens of Isaiah, male vv. (1927); 5 Choral Songs and Dances from The Bacchae, female vv. (1945).

chamber music: Str. qt. (c.1899); Pibroch, vc., hp. (1917); va. sonata (1919); vc.sonata (1924); 3 vn. sonatas (1929, 1932, 1940); 2 vc.sonatas (1940, 1945). Also many pf. pieces, 40 song-cycles, nearly 50 solo songs, works for brass band.

Bar, Bar Line. The vertical line marked on a stave to denote the point of metrical division is actually the bar but in modern usage has come to be called the bar line, while the space between such lines is the bar itself. Thus, '3 beats to the bar'. In Amer. parlance, a bar is called a measure, and a bar means a bar line. 2 vertical lines close together are, in Eng., a double bar, not double bar line.

Barbarie, Orgue de. Small mechanical org. played by turning a handle, at one time commonly found in Eng. streets.

Barber, Samuel (b West Chester, Penn., 1910; d NY, 1981). Amer. composer. Played pf. and vc. at age 6. At 14 entered Curtis Institute, Philadelphia, as one of first charter students, studying comp. under Scalero, pf. under Isabelle Vengerova, and singing under Emilio de Gogorza. In 1928 formed a lasting and fruitful friendship with Gian Carlo Menotti. From 1933 his comps. began to be played, notably his setting of Arnold's Dover Beach, in which he sang the bar. part, and his Vc. Sonata, in which he played the pf. In 1935 won a Pulitzer scholarship and in 1936 the Amer. Academy's Prix de Rome. His first Sym. was given its f.p. in Rome that year. Toscanini cond. f.ps. of his Adagio for Strings (orig. the slow movement of his str. qt.) and the first Essay for Orchestra in 1938 and in subsequent years f.ps. of his works were given in NY, Boston, and Philadelphia under Walter, Koussevitzsky, Leinsdorf, Mitropoulos, Ormandy, and Mehta. His 4-act opera Vanessa, to lib. by Menotti, was perf. at the NY Met. in 1958 and another opera Antony and Cleopatra was commissioned for the opening of the new Metropolitan in the Lincoln Center, NY, in Sept. 1966. Barber's mus. is in the European traditional line rather than specifically 'American'. Conservative in idiom, it is melodic, elegant, and brilliant. His lyricism is best heard in Knoxville: Summer of 1915, for sop. and orch., and his romanticism in Dover Beach, the Vc. Sonata, and the Sym. No. 1. His Pf. Sonata, first played by Horowitz, is a bravura work. The operas met with a poor initial response, but the concs. and songs are highly effective. Prin. works:

operas: Vanessa (1957), A Hand of Bridge (1958), Antony and Cleopatra (1966, rev. 1974).

ballets: Medea (1946), Souvenirs (1952).

orch: Sym. No. 1 (1936), No. 2 (1944), Overture to School for Scandal (1933); Music for a Scene from Shelley (1937), Essay No. 1 (1937), No. 2 (1942), No. 3 (1978); Adagio for Strings (1938) (orch. from Str. Qt. Op. 11).

vocal and choral: Dover Beach (bar. with str. qt. or str. orch.) (1933), Knoxville: Summer of 1915, sop. and orch. (1947), Prayers of Kierkegaard (1954), Andromache's Farewell (1962), and many solo songs, incl. Hermit Songs (1953) and The Lovers, song-cycle of 9 poems of Neruda (1971).

concertos: Vn. (1940), Vc. (1945), Pf. (1962), Capricorn Concerto (for chamber orch.) (1944).

chamber music: Cello Sonata (1932), Excursions for Pf. (1944), Piano Sonata (1949), String Quartet (1936), Summer Music (woodwind quintet) (1956).

Barber of Bagdad, The (Cornelius). See Barbier von Bagdad, Der.

Barber of Seville, The (Rossini; also Paisiello). See Barbiere di Siviglia, Il.

Barber's Shop Music. One of the regular haunts of mus. in the 16th and 17th cents. was the barber's shop. Here customers awaiting their turn found some simple instr. on which they could strum. The barbers themselves, waiting between customers, took up the instr. and thus came to possess some repute as performers. In Eng. lit. of the 16th and 17th cents. allusions to barbers as musicians are numerous. The mus. proclivities of barbers ceased in Eng. in the earlier part of the 18th cent. The tradition was maintained longer in Amer. where 'barber-shop harmony', implying a rather banal style of close harmony singing, has enjoyed a 20th-cent. revival.

Barbican. District in City of London where arts and conference centre is situated. Arts centre, opened in 1982 at a cost of £143 million, includes concert-hall, theatre and studios, lending and reference library, art gallery, sculpture court, and cinema. Guildhall School of Music and Drama housed on the site since 1977.

Barbier von Bagdad, Der (The Barber of Bagdad). Comedy-opera in 2 acts by Cornelius to his own lib. based on 1001 Nights. (Prod. Weimar, under Liszt, 1 perf. 1858; NY and Chicago 1890; London 1891). Most perfs. since 1884 have been of a rev. and re-orchestration by Mottl.

Barbiere di Siviglia, Il (The Barber of Seville). 2-act opera buffa by Rossini, to lib. by Sterbini based on Beaumarchais. To differentiate it from Paisiello's opera of the same name it was called Almaviva, ossia L'inutile precauzione (Almaviva, or the Useless Precaution) at its f.p. (Rome 1816). Perf. London 1818, NY 1819. The famous ov. had already been used by Rossini for 2 other operas (Aureliano in Palmira and Elisabetta, Regina d'Inghilterra). Paisiello's opera is in 4 acts to a lib. by Petrosellini. Prod. St Petersburg 1782, London 1789. Several modern revivals. Operas on this subject were also comp. by Elsperger (1783), Benda (1785), Schulz (1786), Morlacchi (1816), and Graffigna (1879).

Barbieri, Fedora (b Trieste, 1920). It. mez. who made operatic débuts in Trieste and in Florence, 1941. Sang in opera cos. at Rome 1941--2, Milan (La Scala) 1943, Florence 1945. CG 1950 and 1957--8. NY Met. 1950--4 (début as Eboli in Don Carlos) and 1956--75.

Barbirolli, (Lady) Evelyn (née Rothwell) (b Wallingford, 1911). Eng. oboist and teacher. 2nd wife of Sir John Barbirolli whom she married 1939. Trained at RCM. Oboist, CG Touring Orch. 1931--2, Scottish Orch. 1933--7, Glyndebourne Opera Orch. 1934--8, LSO 1935--9. Thereafter soloist and recitalist, member of various ens. Gave f.p. in modern times of Mozart's oboe concerto (K314), Salzburg, 1948. Author of several books on ob. technique. Prof. of ob., RAM, from 1971. O.B.E. 1984.

Barbirolli, (Sir) John (Giovanni Battista) (b London, 1899; d London, 1970). Eng. cond., of It.-Fr. parentage. Studied at TCL and RAM, being prominent as cellist. First public appearance as conc. soloist, London 1911. Member of Queen's Hall Orch. 1916. Served in army 1918. After war, free-lance cellist and member of str. qt. Formed own str. orch. to conduct, 1924. Appointed staff cond., BNOC, 1926. Cond at CG 1929 and became prin. cond. CG touring co. 1929--33. Cond., Scottish Orch., Glasgow 1933--6, NY Phil.-Sym. Orch. 1936--42. Returned to Eng. 1943 as cond., Hallé Orch., Manchester, where he remained until his death, lifting the orch. to new heights and taking it on several foreign tours. Also prin. cond., Houston S.O. 1961--7. Guest cond. of orchs. throughout the world, esp. Berlin P.O., Boston S.O., and Chicago S.O., etc. Famed interpretations of Mahler, Elgar, Vaughan Williams, Sibelius, Puccini, and Verdi, but successful in remarkably wide repertory. Also arr. mus. by Purcell, Corelli, Pergolesi, and Elizabethan composers for orch. and as ob. concs. for his wife Evelyn Barbirolli whom he married 1939. Knighted 1949, C.H. 1969. Hon. Freeman of Manchester, 1958.

Barcarolle (Fr. from It.; Ger. Barkarole). Boat song or an instr. comp. with a steady rhythm (in compound duple or compound quadruple time) reminiscent of songs of the Venetian gondoliers or barcaruoli.

Barcarolle from Les Contes d'Hoffmann. Retrieved by Offenbach from his much earlier opera, Die Rheinnixen, 1864 (a failure). In this it figured as a Goblin's Song.

Bard, The (Barden). Tone-poem for orch., Op. 64, by Sibelius, comp. 1913, rev. 1914. F.p. Helsinki 1913, cond. Sibelius. F.p. in England 1935 (broadcast, cond. Boult), (public 1938, cond. Beecham).

Bardgett, Herbert (b Glasgow, 1894; d Leeds, 1962). Scot. choral trainer and cond. Nottingham Harmonic Soc.; ch. master Huddersfield Choral Soc., Hallé Choir, Leeds Fest.

Bardi, Count Giovanni (b Florence, 1534; d Rome, 1612). It. nobleman whose palace in Florence a group of poets and musicians met regularly in the later years of the 16th cent., this giving rise to what are considered to have been the first operatic perfs. He wrote at least 2 libs. and comp. madrigals. See Camerata.

Barenboim, Daniel (b Buenos Aires, 1942). Israeli pianist and cond. Taught pf. by his mother, then his father. Début Buenos Aires 1949. Family moved to Israel 1952. Mus. training at S. Cecilia Acad., Rome. Studied privately with Edwin Fischer and Nadia Boulanger, also attended Igor Markevitch's cond. classes at Salzburg Mozarteum. Début as conc. soloist, Paris 1955, in London 1956 (with RPO cond. Josef Krips), and NY 1957 (with Stokowski). Has several times given recital series of all Beethoven pf. sonatas (Israel, S. Amer. 1960, London 1967, 1970, NY 1970). Worked as cond.-soloist with ECO 1966 and cond. New Philharmonia Orch. 1967, Hallé and LSO (US tour) 1968, Berlin Phil. Orch. 1969, NY P.O. 1970. Mus. dir. Orchestre de Paris from 1975. Has recorded Berlioz orch. and choral works. Début in opera, Edinburgh Fest. 1973 (Don Giovanni). Cond. Tristan und Isolde, Bayreuth, 1981. Married cellist Jacqueline du Pré, 1967, and settled in Eng., pursuing highly successful career both as pianist and cond. Has acc. Janet Baker and Fischer-Dieskau in recitals and is chamber-mus. player with Zukerman, Perlman, and (until 1976) Piatigorsky. Awarded Bruckner Medal.

Bärenhäuter, Der (The Lazybones). Opera in 3 acts by Siegfried Wagner to his own lib. Prod. Munich, 1899.

Bärenreiter-Verlag (Kassel). Ger. publishers. Founded Augsburg 1924 by Karl Vötterle. Emphasis on early mus.; many musicological publications including the monumental encyclopedia, Die Musik in Geschichte und Gegenwart ed. Blume. Moved to Kassel, 1927.

Bargiel, Woldemar (b Berlin, 1828; d Berlin, 1897). Ger. pianist, composer, and teacher, stepbrother of Clara Schumann. Prof. of pf., Cologne Cons. 1858--74, when he went to Berlin as prof. of pf. at Hochschule. Comp. sym., chamber mus., and pf. pieces, much influenced by Schumann.

Baring-Gould, Sabine (b Exeter, 1834; d Lew Trenchard, Devon, 1924). Eng. author, folk-song collector, and rector. Compiled (with Rev. H. Fleetwood Shephard) Songs and Ballads of the West (1889--91). Wrote words of popular hymns (e.g. Onward, Christian Soldiers, 1865).

Bariolage (Fr.). Rapid alternation of open and stopped str. in vn.-playing. The word means 'odd mixture of colours'.

Baritone. Male v. roughly midway in compass between ten. and bass and sometimes combining elements of both. Normal range from A--f#. But in It. and Fr. opera bars. are sometimes required to sing up to ab'. The bass-bar. (e.g. Wagner's Wotan and Hans Sachs) has a range Ab--f'.

Baritone Horn. See Saxhorn.

Barker, John (Edgar) (b Twickenham, 1931). Eng. cond. Worked at Glyndebourne Opera 1958--9. Has cond. Wagner's Ring in London and on tour for ENO. Chorusmaster, CG, from 1978.

Barlow, Alan (b St Neots, 1927). Eng. cond. Studied at GSM and Salzburg Mozarteum. Prin. cond., Jacques Orch. 1967--71. Ed. suite from Elgar's mus. for Arthur.

Barlow, David (Frederick) (b Rothwell, Northants., 1927; d Newcastle upon Tyne, 1975). Eng. composer and teacher. Studied Cambridge Univ., RCM with Jacob, and in Paris with Boulanger. Senior lecturer Newcastle upon Tyne Univ. from 1968. Comps. include 2 syms., prelude The Tempest, church operas David and Bathsheba (1969) and Judas (1974), and chamber mus.

Barlow, Howard (b Plain City, Ohio, 1892; d Bethel, Conn., 1972). Amer. cond. Début Peterborough, New Hampshire, 1919. Cond. of CBS Sym. Orch. 1927--47.

Barlow, Wayne (b Elyria, Ohio, 1912). Amer. composer and author. Studied Eastman Sch. of Mus. 1930--7, having comp. lessons from Howard Hanson, among others. In 1935 studied comp. with Schoenberg at Univ. of Southern California. Taught at Eastman from 1937, becoming dir. of elec. mus. studio. Comps. incl. religious choral works, orch. works (Sinfonietta, sax. conc.), and works incorporating pre-recorded tape (Sonic Pictures, 1971; Psalm 97, 1971; Dialogues, 1969; and Moonflight, 1970).

Bärmann, Heinrich Joseph (b Potsdam, 1784; d Munich, 1847). Ger. clarinettist for whom Weber's cl. works were comp. Prin. cl. of Munich Court Orch. Comp. especially for combinations incl. his instr. His son Karl (b Munich, 1811; d Munich, 1885), composer and clarinettist, toured with him and succeeded him in court orch. Wrote Clarinet Method. Karl's son, also Karl (b Munich, 1839; d Boston, Mass., 1913) was pianist and pupil of Liszt. Settled Boston 1881.

Barnard, Charlotte Alington (Claribel) (b Louth, Lincs., 1830; d Dover, 1869). Eng. composer of songs, pubd. under her pseudonym, popular in their day but now represented solely by Come back to Erin (1866).

Barnard's Collection. Valuable and distinguished coll. of mus. in use in Brit. cath. services in the 17th cent., made by the Rev. John Barnard, a canon of St Paul's Cath. during Charles I's reign. Mus. is in 10 parts for each side of the ch., and incl. works by Tallis, Byrd, Gibbons, Morley, Weelkes, and others.

Barnby, (Sir) Joseph (b York, 1838; d London, 1896). Eng. organist, cond., and composer, whose finest service to mus. was during his period as organist at St Anne's, Soho, 1863--71, when he gave yearly perfs. of Bach's St John Passion. Cond. f.p.s. in England of Dvořák's Stabat Mater (1883) and Wagner's Parsifal (in concert version, 1884). Precentor, Eton College, 1875. Prin., GSM, 1892--6. Knighted 1892. Among his many comps., sacred and secular, the chief survivor has been the part-song Sweet and Low.

Barn Dance. Amer. rural meeting where dances are performed, perhaps taking its name from the festivities usual in the building of a new barn. But in Britain the name was applied in the late 1880s to a particular dance also known as the Military Schottische.

Baroque (Fr.). Bizarre. Term applied to the ornate architecture of Ger. and Austria during the 17th and 18th cents. and borrowed to describe comparable mus. developments from about 1600 to the deaths of Bach and Handel in 1750 and 1759 respectively. It was a period in which harmonic complexity grew alongside emphasis on contrast. So, in opera, interest was transferred from recit. to aria, and in church mus. the contrasts of solo vv., ch., and orch. were developed to a high degree. In instr. mus. the period saw the emergence of the sonata, the suite, and particularly the concerto grosso, as in the mus. of Corelli, Vivaldi, Handel, and Bach. Most baroque mus. uses continuo. By 'baroque organ' is meant the 18th-cent. type of instr., more brilliant in tone and flexible than its 19th-cent. counterpart. Note that 18th-cent. writers used 'baroque' in a pejorative sense to mean 'coarse' or 'old-fashioned in taste'.

Barraine, Elsa (b Paris, 1910). Fr. composer, pupil of Dukas at Paris Cons. Won Prix de Rome 1929. Her works incl. 2 syms. (1931, 1938), cantatas, th. and film mus.

Barraqué, Jean (b Puteaux, Seine, 1928; d Paris, 1973). Fr. composer. Studied with Messiaen 1948–51. Member of French Radio's Groupe de Recherches musicales 1951–3. Serialist composer, developing 'proliferating series' (e.g. 2 series producing a 3rd). Complex polyphonic writing is combined with irregular rhythms. Opposed to aleatory methods. Works incl. Pf. Sonata (1952), Cl. Conc. (1968), and group of works comp. after 1956 part of, or related to, large-scale dramatic cycle The Death of Virgil.

Barraud, Henry (b Bordeaux, 1900). Fr. composer. Studied Paris Cons. 1926–7; expelled because his comps. were considered 'a bad influence' and worked under Dukas, Aubert, etc. In chargeorganization of mus., Paris Int. Exposition, 1937. Mus.dir., Paris Radio, 1944–65. Comps. incl. syms., opera, oratorio Le Mystère des Saints Innocents (1946–7), pf. conc. (1939), fl. conc. (1962), Symphonie concertante for tpt. (1966), Études for orch. (1967), Rapsodie dionysienne, orch. (1962), Une saison en enfer, orch. (1969), saxophone qt. (1972), Te Deum, ch., 16 winds (1955), and La Divine Comédie (Dante), 5 solo vv., orch. (1972).

Barré (Fr.). Barred. Method of playing a chord on the guitar, etc., with one finger laid rigidly (like a bar) across all the str. raising their pitch equally.

Barrel Organ. Popular misusage has conferred this term on the street piano. The real barrel org., formerly used in churches, was a genuine automatic pipe-org. in which projections on a hand-rotated barrel brought the required notes into play. It was restricted to a no. of pre-determined tunes, like a musical box.

Barrett, Thomas A. See Stuart, Leslie.

Barri, Odoardo (really Edward Slater) (b Dublin, 1844; d London, 1920). Irish composer of Eng. drawing-room songs (e.g. The Boys of the Old Brigade, 1874).

Barrington, Daines (b London, 1727; d London, 1800). Eng. lawyer who wrote essays and books on mus. and musicians incl. Crotch, Mornington, Mozart, The Wesleys; in 1773 pubd. Experiments and Observations on the Singing of Birds.

Barrington, Rutland (really George Rutland Fleet) (b Penge, 1853; d London, 1922). Eng. bass singer. Début 1873. Joined D'Oyly Carte Co. and from 1877 a leading Gilbert and Sullivan exponent.

Barrios, Angel (b Granada, 1882; d Madrid, 1964). Sp. violinist; composer for orch. and the stage, also of guitar mus.

Barry, John (b York, 1933). Eng. composer of film mus. Studied with Francis Jackson (York Minster) and Bill Russo, Amer. arranger and composer. Has had much success with scores for films and TV.

Barsanti, Francesco (b Lucca, c.1690; d London, 1772). It. fl. and ob. player who settled in London 1714, playing in opera orchs. Then in Scotland, returning London 1743 and playing va. in orchs. Chamber comps. incl. recorder sonatas.

Barshay, Rudolf (b Labinskaya, 1924). Russ. cond. Studied Moscow Cons. Founder and cond. Moscow Chamber Orch. 1956–76. Left Russia 1976 and settled in Israel. Arr. Shostakovich's 8th str. qt. for str. orch. Prin. cond. Bournemouth S.O. from 1982.

Barstow, Josephine (Clare) (b Sheffield, 1940). Eng. sop. Studied Birmingham Univ. and London Opera Centre. Début Opera for All, 1964. Has sung at CG and with ENO, WNO, and Scottish Opera as well as overseas. CG début 1969. Created Denise and Gayle in Tippett's The KnotGarden and The Ice Break, Young Woman in Henze's We Come to the River. Fine Salome, Jen; Anufa, etc. Sang Gutrun in Ring, Bayreuth 1983. C.B.E. 1985.

Bartered Bride, The (Prodaná Neve^;stá; Ger. Die verkaufte Braut). Opera in 3 acts by Smetana to lib. by Karel Sabina. (Prod. Prague 1866; Chicago 1893; London 1895; NY Met. 1909). 1st version was in 2 acts, with ov. and 20 nos. (1863--6), rev. with ballet added 1866; further rev. 1869; 3 acts, with additions, 1870; fifth and final vers., with recitatives replacing spoken dialogue, 1870.

Barth, Christian Samuel (b Glauchau, Saxony, 1735; d Copenhagen, 1809). Ger. oboist, who comp. concs. for the instr. Studied Leipzig under J. S. Bach and became oboist in orchs. at Weimar, Hanover, Kassel, and Copenhagen. His son, Friedrich Philipp Karl August (b Kassel, 1774; d Copenhagen, 1804) was also an oboist and wrote concs. for ob., fl., and 2 hn.

Barth, Hans (b Leipzig, 1897; d Jacksonville, Florida, 1956). Ger.-born pianist and composer. Taken to USA at age 10. Became known as recitalist, etc., and held various teaching positions. Comps. incl. opera, 2 syms., etc., some employing microtones. Invented quarter-tone pf. for which he wrote 2 concs., 10 Études, and quintet.

Barth, Richard (b Grosswanzleben, Saxony, 1850; d Marburg, 1923). Ger. violinist (left-handed). Pupil of Joachim. Cond. of Hamburg P.O. 1894 and from 1908 dir. of Hamburg Cons. Author of book on Brahms's mus. (1904). Comp. chamber mus.

Barthélemon, François Hippolyte (b Bordeaux, 1741; d London, 1808). Fr. violinist and composer. Settled London 1764 as orch. leader at the opera and remained there with exception of continental tours and residence in Dublin 1771--3. Comps. incl. 6 syms., concs., and several operas (The Judgment of Paris 1768, Belphegor 1778, etc.), and ballets. Also wrote well-known tune to Bishop Ken's Morning Hymn ('Awake my soul and with the sun'). Particularly admired for his playing of Corelli's vn. sonatas.

Bartlet (Bartlett), John (fl. 1606--10). Eng. lutenist and composer of songs of the ayre type. Coll. pubd. 1606.

Bartlett, Ethel (b Epping Forest, 1896; d S. Barbara, Calif., 1978). Eng. pianist. Trained at RAM. Married fellow-student Rae Robertson and with him est. int. reputation in interpretation of mus. for 2 pf. Settled in USA and in later years was teacher. Pianist with Barbirolli (vc.) in his recitals in 1920s.

Bartók, Béla (b Nagyszentmiklós, Hungary (now Romania), 1881; d NY, 1945). Hung. composer, pianist, and folklorist. Parents were musical and mother gave him his first pf. lessons. In 1894 at Bratislava (then Pozsony) studied with the cond. Laszlo Erkel until 1899 when he entered Budapest Royal Acad. of Mus. In 1902 heard a perf. of Strauss's Also sprach Zarathustra which stimulated his powers of comp. to such a degree that he wrote his nationalistic tone-poem Kossuth in 1903. By this time was travelling abroad as solo pianist in mus. by Liszt and other kbd. virtuosi. In 1905 began systematic exploration of Hungarian peasant mus. and in 1906, with his fellow-composer Kodály, pubd. a coll. of 20 folk-songs. In 1907 became prof. of pf. at the Budapest RAM. For the next decade, while his mus. was badly received in his own country, continued systematic coll. of Magyar folk-songs. In 1917 his ballet The Wooden Prince was successfully prod. in Budapest and led to the staging in the following year of his 1-act opera Duke Bluebeard's Castle (1911). In 1922 and 1923 his first 2 vn. sonatas had their f.ps. in London, and in 1923 comp. the Dance Suite to celebrate the 50th anniv. of the union of Buda and Pest. During the 1920s resumed career as pianist, composing several works for his own use. In 1934 was given a salaried post in the Hung. Acad. of Sciences in order that he could prepare his folk-song coll. for publication. In the spring of 1940, in view of political developments in Hungary, emigrated to USA. This was not a happy time for him; his health began to fail, his mus. was infrequently perf., and there was little demand for his services as a pianist. Nevertheless the Koussevitzky Foundation commissioned the Concerto for Orchestra, Yehudi Menuhin a solo vn. sonata, and William Primrose a va. conc. (left unfinished but completed by Tibor Sérly). He died from leukaemia. Bartók's mus. is a highly individual blend of elements transformed from his own admirations: Liszt, Strauss, Debussy, folk-mus., and Stravinsky. Perhaps his greatest achievement lies in his 6 str. qts. in which formal symmetry and thematic unity were successfully related. But the melodic fertility and rhythmical vitality of all his mus. have ensured its consistent success since his death. Prin. comps.:

stage: Duke Bluebeard's Castle (A kékszakállú herceg vára), Op. 11, 1-act opera (1911, rev. 1912, 1918); The Wooden Prince (A fából fargott királyfi), Op. 13, 1-act ballet (1914--17); The Miraculous Mandarin (A csodálatos mandarin), Op. 19, 1-act pantomime (1918--19, orchd. 1923, rev. 1924, 1926--31).

orch: Kossuth, sym.-poem (1903); Rhapsody, pf. and orch., Op. 1 (1904); Suite No. 1, Op. 3 (1905, rev. c.1920), No. 2 (small orch.), Op. 4 (1905--7, rev. 1920, 1943); Vn. Conc. No. 1. (1907--8; 1st movt. rev. as No. 1 of 2 Portraits), No.2 (1937--8); 2 Portraits, Op. 5 (No. 1 1907--8, No. 2 orch. 1911); 2 Pictures, Op. 10 (1910); Romanian Dance, Op. 11 (1911); 4 Pieces, Op. 12 (1912, orchd. 1921); Suite (3 dances), The Wooden Prince (1921--4); Suite, The Miraculous Mandarin (1919, 1927); Dance Suite (1923); Pf. Conc. No. 1 (1926), No. 2 (1930--1), No. 3 (1945); Rhapsody, vn. and orch., No. 1 (1928), No. 2 (1928, rev. 1944); Transylvanian Dances (1931); Hungarian Sketches (1931); Hungarian Peasant Songs (1933); Music for Strings, Percussion and Celesta (1936); Divertimento, str. (1939); 2-pf. Conc. (arr. of Sonata for 2 pf. and perc.) (1940); Concerto for Orchestra (1942--3, rev. 1945); Va. Conc. (completed from draft by Sérly) (1945).

voice(s) and orch: 3 Village Scenes, women's vv. (1926); Cantata Profana (The 9 Enchanted Stags), ten., bar., double ch., and orch. (1930); 5 Hungarian Folk Songs, low v. (1933).

chorus: Evening, male vv. (1903); 4 Old Hungarian Folk Songs, male vv. (1910, rev. 1912); 5 Slovak Folk Songs, male vv. (1917); 5 Hungarian Folk Songs (1930); 5 Székely Songs, male vv. (1932); 27 Traditional Choruses, children's and women's vv. (1935); From Olden Times, male vv. (1935).

chamber: Pf. Qt. (1898); Pf. Quintet (1903--4, rev.? 1920); Str. Qt. No. 1, Op. 7 (1908), No. 2, Op. 17 (1915--17), No. 3 (1927), No. 4 (1928), No. 5 (1934), No. 6 (1939); Vn. Sonatas, No. 1 (1921), No. 2 (1922); Rhapsody No. 1, vn. and pf. (1928, also orch. vers.), No. 2 (1928, rev. 1945, also orch. vers.); Rhapsody, vc. and pf. (1928); 44 Duos, 2 vn. (1931); Sonata for 2 pf. and 2 perc. (1937, orch. 1940); Sonata for unacc. vn. (1944); Contrasts, vn., cl., and pf. (1938).

piano: 3 Klavierstücke, Op. 13 (1897); Scherzo (Fantasie), Op. 18 (1897); Scherzo in Bb minor (1900); 12 Variations (1900--01); 4 Pieces (1903); Rhapsody, Op. 1 (1904, also orch. vers.); 14 Bagatelles, Op. 6 (1908); 10 Easy Pieces (1908); 85 Pieces for Children (1908--9, rev. 1945); 2 Romanian Dances, Op. 8a (1909--10, No. 1 orch. 1911); 7 Sketches, Op. 9b (1908--10); 4 Dirges, Op. 9a (1909--10, No. 2 orch. as No. 3 of Hungarian Sketches, 1931); 3 Burlesques, Op. 8c (1908--11, No. 2 orch. as No. 4 of Hungarian Sketches, 1931); Allegrobarbaro (1911); Sonatina (1915, orch. as Transylvanian Dances, 1931); Romanian Dances (1915, orch. 1917); Suite, Op. 14 (1916); 3 Hungarian Folk Tunes (c.1914--18); 15 Hungarian Peasant Songs (1914--18, Nos. 6--12, 14--15 orch. 1933); 3 Studies, Op. 18 (1918); 8 Improvisations on Hungarian Peasant Songs, Op. 20 (1920); Dance Suite (1925, arr. of orch. work); Sonata (1926); Out of Doors (1926); 9 Little Pieces (1926); Mikrokosmos, 6 vols. containing 153 'progressive pieces' (1926, 1932--9). Also many Solo Songs, editions of Italian kbd. mus., etc.

Bartoletti, Bruno (b Sesto Fiorentino, 1926). It. flautist and cond., particularly of opera. Début Florence 1953. Mus. dir. Rome Opera 1965--73, cond. Maggio Musicale Orch. 1957--

-64. Introduced several 20th cent. operas to It. repertory. Amer. début Chicago 1956. Prin. cond. Chicago Lyric Opera from 1964 (art. dir. from 1975).

Bartolozzi, Bruno (b Florence, 1911; d Fiesole, 1980). It. violinist and composer. Student 1926--30 at Cherubini Cons. where he taught from 1965. Comps. incl. Conc. for Orch., vn. conc., str. qt., and vocal works. Author of book New Sounds for Woodwind.

Bartós, Jan Zdene^k (b Dv'anur Králové nad Labem, Cz., 1908; d Prague, 1981). Cz. composer and violinist. Studied Prague Cons. Violinist in orchs. and as soloist 1929--31. Teacher of comp. and theory, Prague Cons., from 1958. Works incl. 2 operas, va. conc., hn. conc., 4 syms., ballets, choral works, and chamber mus.

Baryton. Str. instr. rather like viola da gamba but with sympathetic str. There are many works by Haydn for it, because his patron, Prince Nikolaus Esterházy, played it. Use revived in 2nd half of 20th cent.

Barzun, Jacques (b Créteil, Val-de-Marne, 1907). Fr.-born historian, critic, and musicologist. Settled in USA 1919. Lecturer at Columbia Univ., NY, 1927, Prof. 1945, Provost 1958--67. Authority on Berlioz, about whom he has written extensively.

Baskische Trommel (Ger.). Basque drum, i.e. tambourine.

Basques. Various Basque dances. Pas de Basque (Fr.) is sometimes a general term with the same meaning, but it may indicate a particular dance of the Basque peasantry---one with very varied rhythms.

Bass. (1) Lowest male voice---see basso. ^ (2) Lowest note or part in a chord. (3) Lowest regions of mus. pitch. (4) Lowest of a family of instr., as shown in entries below. (5) Colloquialism for (in sym. orchs.) the db., and (in military and brass bands) the bombardon.

Bassanello. Obsolete woodwind instr., first mentioned in 1577, related to shawm. Made in 3 sizes, bass, tenor, and alto. 7 finger-holes and reed set on a crook. Legend that it was invented by the composer Giovanni Bassano or Bassani is suspect.

Bassani, Giovanni Battista (b Padua, c. 1657; d Bergamo, 1716). It. violinist, composer, and organist. Choirmaster, Ferrara Cath. from 1677, later at Bergamo, 1712. Wrote oratorios, masses, operas, and sonatas.

Bassarids, The. Opera seria with intermezzo in 1 act by Henze to lib. by W. H. Auden and Chester Kallman based on The Bacchae of Euripides. Comp. 1965. (Prod. Salzburg 1966 in Ger. trans. by M. Bosse-Sporleider; Santa Fe 1968 (in orig. Eng.); London (broadcast) 1968. ENO 1974 (cond. and prod. Henze).)

Bass-bar. In a bowed instr. the strip of wood glued under the belly along the line of the lowest str. and supporting one foot of the bridge.

Bass-baritone. See Baritone.

Bass Clarinet. One of cl. family, pitched in Bb, an octave below the sop. cl. In Eng. and Fr. instrs. its range extends to Eb (sounding D<sub>b</sub>). Earliest extant examples made in 1793. Meyerbeer wrote for it, later Wagner, Mahler, Schoenberg, and Stravinsky. See Clarinet.

Bass Clef. Sometimes called the F clef: the F below middle C as the top line but one of the staff.

Bass Drum. Large drum of indefinite low pitch. In most orch. is mounted on a large, wheeled rack so that drum can be tilted at any desired angle.

Basse chantante (Fr.). Basso cantante (It.). Lyric bass, sometimes of bar. quality.

Basse chiffrée, basse continue (Fr.). Figured bass. See Basso continuo.

Basse danse (Fr.). An early dance type which became extinct in the 16th cent. when supplanted by the Pavan. It was probably the ancestor of other dances which survived it (see also Branle). The first word meaning 'low', it hasbeen supposed that the name indicated humble origin, or (more plausibly) thatit arose from the fact that the feet were generally kept low, i.e. were glided, not lifted (see Haute Danse). The time is generally simple duple, but sometimes triple, and occasionally a mixture of the 2. Sometimes themus. falls into 3 parts: (a) Basse Danse, (b) Retour de Basse Danse (Return of the Basse Dance), and (c) Tordion (or Tourdion). Attaingnant pubd. colls. of basses danses in 1529 and 1530.

Basse d'harmonie (Fr.). Ophicleide.

Basset Horn. Alto cl. in F, whole tone higher than Eb alto cl., with a total possible compass of 4 complete octaves. Invented c.1765 and used by Mozart in Requiem, Die Zauberflöte, and La Clemenza di Tito. He first used it 1781 in the Serenade in Bb (K 361). Beethoven (Prometheus) and Mendelssohn (Scottish Symphony) wrote for it, but after 1850 it was replaced by the Eb alto cl. Richard Strauss revived it in his operas Elektra (1906--8) and Daphne (1936--7), and for his 2 wind sonatinas comp. 1943 and 1945. A transposing instr. in F. Name is said to derive from a Bavarian term for small bass, and the basset-hound was named after the sound it makes. The It. term corno di bassetto was adopted by Bernard Shaw as his pseudonym when writing mus. criticism.

Bassettflöte (Ger.). A 17th- and 18th-cent. name for a recorder of low pitch. Sometimes called Bassflöte.

Bassett Nicolo. An alto reed-cap shawm in F with extension keys and a 9-note range.

Bassflicorno (Flicorno basso). Large size of It. variety of saxhorn or flügelhorn called Flicorno. Others are Flicorno basso grave and Flicorno contrabasso.

Bassflöte. See Bassettflöte.

Bass Flute. Fl. in C, pitched one octave below the ordinary fl. (not, as sometimes miscalled, the alto fl. in G). Also an org.-stop, 8' length and pitch. See Flute.

Bass Horn. Obsolete brass instr. made in 3 sizes, alto, bass, and db., but only the bass was much used; now supplanted by bass tuba.

Bass Oboe. Term used to denote baritone oboe.

Bass-Saite (Ger.). Bass string. Lowest str. on any (bowed or plucked) instr.

Bass Saxhorn. One of brass wind instr. made by Sax. In Bb, Eb, and double Bb.

Bass Staff. See Great Staff.

Bass Trombone (Ger. Bassposaune). Brass instr. with a range to F or E below the ten. tb. Bb. See Trombone.

Bass Trumpet (Ger. Basstrompete). Wind instr., made of brass. Really a valve tb. Pitched in C, therefore not a transposing instr. See Trumpet.

Bass Tuba. Brass instr. of the tuba family of which there are the following: E♭ bass tuba or E♭ bombardon; F bass tuba; and B♭ bass tuba or B♭ bombardon. Vaughan Williams wrote a conc. for bass tuba. See Tuba.

Bass Viol. Member of the viol group of str. instr. Often called viola da gamba, 'leg viol', because it is held as the vc. is.

Basso (It.; plural bassi). Low male v., bass, normally ranging from E--e; My/f; My.

Basso continuo (It.). Continuous bass. Figured bass from which in concerted mus. of the 17th and 18th cents. the cembalist or organist played. Doubled the lowest v. part. Term often shortened to continuo. To 'play the continuo' does not mean to play a particular instr., but to play this variety of bass.

Basson (Fr.). Bassoon.

Basson russe (Fr.). Russian bassoon, a variety of bass horn.

Bassoon (It. fagotto). Bass member of the double reed (ob.) family, pitched in C, with range from B♭; My upwards for about 3; FD octaves. Made of wood and with conical bore. Dates from 1660s. Modern instrs. made by Heckel (Ger.), Buffet-Crampon (Fr.), and Fox (Amer.). Often used for comic effect but its capacity for melancholy has not been overlooked by composers. Also an org. reed stop of 8' length and pitch.

Bassoon, Double. See Double Bassoon.

Bassoon, Russian. See Basson russe.

Basso ostinato (It.). Obstinate bass, i.e. Ground bass.

Basso profondo. Bass v. of exceptionally low range.

Bastardella, La. See Agujari, Lucrezia.

Bastianini, Ettore (b Siena, 1922; d Sirmione, 1967). It. bar., outstanding in Verdi. Began career as bass at Ravenna (1945). Raised voice to bar., making 2nd début 1951. NY Met. 1953--66. CG 1962. Sang role of Prince Andrey in Prokofiev's War and Peace, Florence 1953.

Bastien und Bastienne. Singspiel in 1 act by the 12-year-old Mozart to lib. by Friedrich Wilhelm Weiskern, after Favart's parody on Rousseau's Le Devin du village (1752). (Prod. in the garden-th. of Mesmer, the introducer of mesmerism, Vienna, 1768; not again perf. until Berlin 1890; London 1894; NY 1916.)

Bat, The (Strauss). See Fledermaus, Die.

Bataille, Gabriel (b ?Brie, c.1575; d Paris, 1630). Fr. lutenist at court of Louis XIII. Comp. ballets, lute pieces, and chansons with lute acc.

Bate, Stanley (Richard) (b Plymouth, 1911; d London, 1959). Eng. composer and pianist. Comp. pupil of Vaughan Williams, Hindemith, and Nadia Boulanger. In USA 1946--50. Comp. 4 syms., concs., chamber mus., incidental mus., and 7 ballets.

Bateson, Thomas (b c.1570; d Dublin, 1630). Eng. organist and composer of madrigals. Organist of Chester Cath. and Christ Church Cath., Dublin. Pubd. 2 sets of madrigals, 1604 (29 items) and 1618 (30). Contrib. to The Triumphs of Oriana.

Bath, Hubert (b Barnstaple, 1883; d Harefield, 1945). Eng. composer of stage, film, and other (chiefly light) mus. Studied RAM 1901--4 (pf. with Beringer, comp. with Corder). Was for some years in charge of park bands in London. Wrote first sym. for brass band, Freedom, and opera based on G. du Maurier's Trilby.

Batka, Richard (b Prague, 1868; d Vienna, 1922). Austrian critic and mus. scholar of Cz. ancestry. Ed. periodical Der Merker and the Notebooks of Anna Magdalena Bach. Admirer of Mahler and Strauss. Taught history of opera at Vienna Acad. 1909--14.

Baton (Fr.). The stick used by cond. for beating time and securing expressive playing. The accurate orig. of its use is undiscoverable, but it is said that in the 15th cent. in the Sistine Choir at Rome the maestro di cappella beat time with a roll of paper called 'sol-fa'. Lully's death is alleged to have been the result of an injury to his foot caused by accidentally striking it with a heavier-than-usual cane he was using to thump out the beat on the floor. During the 18th cent. perfs. were dir. from the kbd. and early in the 19th cent. by the first violinist waving his bow at his colleagues when he was not playing. The use of a baton began in Ger. in the 19th cent. Beethoven appears to have cond. with a baton and so did Mendelssohn. Then followed the virtuoso cond. such as Wagner and Bülow. The length of the stick varies, some cond. (e.g. Richter and Boult) using a long baton. Generally, however, a light, short baton is preferred with which the cond. can indicate more than merely the beats of the bar; hence 'stick technique'. Some cond. abjure the baton and use their hands only (and, of course, their eyes).

Battaglia di Legnano, La (The Battle of Legnano). Opera in 3 acts by Verdi, his 13th, to lib. by S. Cammarano. (Prod. Rome 1849; Cardiff 1960.)

Batten, Adrian (b Salisbury, 1591; d London, 1637). Eng. composer. Singer in choirs of Westminster Abbey 1614--26, St Paul's Cath. 1626--37. Wrote anthems and services. Collected 16th-cent. church mus. in Batten Organ Book.

Batterie (Fr.). Battery. (1) The perc. instr. (2) Any rhythmic formula for the drums such as those used in the army for signalling. (3) Striking instead of plucking str. of guitar.

Battishill, Jonathan (b London, 1738; d Islington, 1801). Eng. organist, th. musician, and composer for church, stage, and glee clubs. His anthem, O Lord, look down from Heaven, still often sung. (Elgar provided an orch. accompaniment for it, Worcester Fest. 1923).

Battistini, Mattia (b Rome, 1856; d Rieti, 1928). It. bel canto operatic bar. of great dramatic force and vocal agility. His v. could encompass a high Anat. and Massenet re-wrote the ten. role in Werther for him. Début Rome 1878, London 1883. Repertory of over 80 operas. Never sang in USA. Kept his vocal powers till he was over 70.

Battle Hymn of the Republic. Poem by Julia Ward Howe (1819--1910) written 1862, first line being 'Mine eyes have seen the glory of the coming of the Lord', sung to the tune of John Brown's Body. Last verse beginning 'He is coming like the glory of the morning on the wave' is not in orig., authorship being unknown.

Battle of Prague. Pf. piece, with ad lib vn., vc., and drum, by Franz Kotzwara. Comp. 1788, it was long a favourite in Eng.

Battle of the Huns (Ger. Hunnenschlacht). Symphonic poem for orch. by Liszt, 1856--7, inspired by a fresco by Kaulbach.

Battle Symphony (or Battle of Victoria, or Wellington's Victory). Eng. title for Beethoven's Wellingtons Sieg, oder die Schlacht bei Vittoria, Op. 91, a piece of programme-mus. illustrating the Eng. defeat of Napoleon's troops at Vitoria in Sp. in 1812. Comp. 1813 for perf. by Beethoven's friend Maelzel's panharmonicon but actually perf. by a live orch. at 2 Viennese concerts in Dec. 1813 in aid of Austrian soldiers wounded in the Battle of Hanau. The tunes Rule, Britannia!, Malbrouck s'en va-t-en guerre, and God Save the King are incorporated, and the work was ded. to the Prince Regent. 'Vittoria' in the title was Beethoven's mistake for Vitoria. The work was the cause of a rift with Maelzel.

Batton, Désiré Alexandre (b Paris, 1798; d Versailles, 1855). Fr. composer. Pupil of Cherubini. Wrote 7 operas and became teacher at Paris Cons.

Battre (Fr.). To beat: battre à deux temps, to beat 2 in a measure.

Battuta, A(It.). To the beat---same as A tempo, i.e. return to normal speed (after a rallentando or accelerando).

Baudo, Serge (b Marseilles, 1927). Fr. conductor. Studied at Paris Cons. (cond. with Fourestier). Début 1950 at Concerts Lamoureux. Cond. Orch. Nationale and radio orch. Cond., Nice-Côte d'Azur Orch. 1959--62. Cond., Paris Opéra 1962--5. La Scala début 1970, NYMet. 1970--1 season. Cond., Orchestre de Paris, 1967--9, art. dir., Rhône-Alpes P.O. from 1969. Cond. f.ps. of Messiaen's Et exspecto resurrectionem mortuorum (Chartres, 1965), Milhaud's La Mère coupable (Geneva, 1965), and Dutilleux's vc. conc. (Aix, 1970).

Baudrier, Yves (b Paris, 1906). Fr. composer; co-founder of group 'Jeune France', formed 1936. Works incl. Le Musicien dans la cité for orch. (1937).

Bauer, Harold (b New Malden, Surrey, 1873; d Miami, 1951). Eng.-born pianist. From age 9 made frequent public appearances as violinist; then, 1892, as pianist (London newspaper notices show him within 3 weeks in that year as leader of str. qt., solo violinist, and pf. recitalist). After study with Paderewski appeared as pianist throughout Europe and USA, settling in NY. US début Boston 1900. Known principally as Beethoven interpreter, but did much for Fr. pf. mus. (Debussy, Ravel, Franck).

Bauerncantate (Bach). See Peasant Cantata.

Bauernleier (Ger.). Hurdy-gurdy.

Bauernlied (Ger.). Peasant song or ballad.

Bauld, Alison (b Sydney, N.S.W., 1944). Australian composer. Studied Sydney Univ. and York Univ., and with Lutyens and H. Keller. Mus. dir., Laban Centre for Dance, London Univ., 1975--8. Works incl. Exiles, mus.-th. (1974), Inanna, tape for ballet (1975), In a Dead Brown Land, mus.-th. (1971, rev. 1972), Mad Moll, sop. (1973), I Loved Miss Watson, sop. and pf., with tape (1977), One Pearl II for sop., alto fl., and str. (1976, rev. of One Pearl, 1973), Van Diemen's Land, unacc. ch. (1976), The Busker's Story, alto sax., bn., tpt., vn., db. (1978), Banquo's Buried, sop. and pf. (1982).

Baur, Jürg (b Düsseldorf, 1918). Ger. composer and teacher. Educated Cologne. Dir. of Robert Schumann Cons., Düsseldorf, 1965--71. In 1971 succeeded Zimmermann as teacher of comp. at Cologne Musikhochschule. Comps. incl. works for org., sym., concs., chamber mus., sonata for 2 pf., and song-cycles.

Bautista, Julián (b Madrid, 1901; d Buenos Aires, 1961). Sp. composer and teacher. Studied Madrid Cons., where he also taught, 1936--9; works incl. 3 str. qts., ballet, chamber mus., and Sinfonia breve (1956).

Bavarian Highlands, Scenes from the. 6 choral songs by Elgar, Op. 27. Texts, in style of Bavarian folk-songs, by C. A. Elgar. Pf. acc. 1895, orch. 1896. Three (The Dance, Lullaby, and The Marksman) arr. for orch. alone by Elgar.

Bavarian Radio Symphony Orchestra. Founded in Munich 1949, with Eugen Jochum as cond. until 1961. Rafael Kubelik was cond. from 1961 to 1981; Colin Davis prin. cond. from 1984. Has toured frequently and made many recordings.

Bax, (Sir) Arnold (Edward Trevor) (b Streatham, London, 1883; d Cork, 1953). Eng. composer who was Master of the King's (Queen's) Musick 1942--53. Studied RAM, 1900--5. Knighted 1937. Was himself a brilliant pianist and wrote fluently and perceptively for the kbd. Felt a special sympathy with Irish subjects, particularly Yeats's poetry, and with the Irish land and seascapes, hence the intensely picturesque and romantic flavour of his mus. Also much influenced by Russ. mus. after his visit to Russ. in 1910. Only stage works were for ballet, incl. The Truth About the Russian Dancers (1920), a play by Barrie in which the central non-speaking part of the ballerina was created and choreog. by Karsavina when prod. 1920 by Gerald du Maurier, with Paul Nash décor. Although a prolific composer, Bax's mus. has never est. itself in the forefront. His 7 syms., luxuriantly scored and full of romantic melody, contain too much good mus. ever to deserve total neglect, but are only intermittently perf. in the concert-hall, the public seeming to prefer the more concise tone-poems. The chamber mus. is less diffuse in form and is beautifully written for the instr., while there are also some exquisite short choral pieces. Bax's autobiography, Farewell, My Youth (1943), is one of the best books by a composer. Prin. works:

orch: Syms.: No. 1 in Eb (1921), No. 2 in E minor and C (1924--5), No. 3 in C (1929), No. 4 in Eb (1930--1), No. 5 in E minor (1931--2), No. 6 in C minor (1934), No. 7 in Ab (1939); Symphonic Variations (1905--6); In the Faery Hills (1909); The Garden of Fand (1913); The Happy Forest (1914--21); Spring Fire (1913); Symphonic Variations, pf. and orch. (1917); Tintagel (1917--19); November Woods (1917); Phantasy, viola, orch. (1920); Summer Music (1920); Northern Ballad No. 1 (1927), No. 2 (1933--4); Overture to a Picaresque Comedy (1930); Winter Legends, pf., orch. (1929--30); The Tale the Pine Trees knew (1931); vc. conc. (1932); London Pageant (1937--8); vn. conc. (1938); concertante for pf. (left-hand) (1948--9); Coronation March (1953).

voice(s) and orch: Fatherland, ten., ch., orch. (1907); Enchanted Summer (1910); 6 Songs from The Bard of the Dimbovitz, mez., orch. (1914); Of a Rose I Sing (1920); To The Name Above Every Name (1923); St Patrick's Breastplate (1923); Walsingham, ten., ch., orch. (1926); The Morning Watch (1935--6).

unacc. voices: Mater Ora Filium (1921); This Worlde's Joie (1922); The Boar's Head (1923); I sing of a maiden (1923); 5 Greek Folk Songs (1944); What is it like to be young and fair? (Garland for the Queen) (1953).

chamber music: Str. Qts.: No. 1 in G (1916), No. 2 (1924--5), No. 3 in F (1936); Pf. trio (1904); Str. quintet in G (1906--7); Pf. Quintet in G minor (1915); Ballade, vn., pf. (1916); Folk Tale, vc., pf. (1916); Elegiac Trio, fl., va., harp (1916); harp quintet (1919); va. sonata (1922); ob. quintet (1922); Nonet, fl., ob., cl., harp, str. quintet (1930); vc. sonatina (1933); cl. sonata (1934); Trio, pf., vn., va. (1946); Legend-sonata, vc., pf. (1943); Vn. sonatas: No. 1 (1910, rev. 1915), No. 2 in D (1915). [ih0p4]

piano: Valse de Concert (1904); Moy Mell (2 pf.) (1908--17); 2 Russian Tone-Pictures (1911); Toccata (1913); The Maiden with the Daffodil (1915); In a Vodka Shop (1915); A Mountain Mood (1915); Dream in Exile (1916); Romance (1918); On a May Evening (1918); What the Minstrel told us (1919); Lullaby, A Hill Tune, Country Tune (1920);

Mediterranean (1920, orch. 1921); Hardanger (2 pf.) (1927); Sonatas: No. 1 in F# minor (1910, rev. 1917--21), No. 2 in G (1919), No. 3 (1926), No. 4 (1932).

songs: A Celtic Song-Cycle (1904); A Christmas Carol (1909); 3 Chaucer Roundels (1914); Parting (1916); 5 Traditional French Songs (1920); 5 Irish Songs (1921); 3 Irish Songs (incl. Rann of Exile) (1922).

Bayer, Joseph (b Vienna, 1852; d Vienna, 1913). Austrian violinist, composer, and conductor. Studied Vienna Cons.; later was violinist in court opera orch. Dir. of ballet, Vienna Court Opera, 1885--98. Comp. 22 ballets, incl Die Puppenfee (1888), also some operettas.

Bayle, Fran;alcois (b Tamatave, Madagascar, 1932). Fr. composer. Studied under Messiaen at Paris Cons. 1959. Worked with Pierre Schaeffer at comp. studio of Groupe de Recherches Musicales 1960--2 and was its dir. from 1966. Several film scores. Most of his works are musique concrète, e.g. L'Oiseau chanteur, Galaxie, Espaces inhabitables, and L'Expérience humaine.

Baylis, Lilian (b London, 1874; d London, 1937). Eng. th. man. and impresario. From 1898 until her death was man. of the Old Vic, of which her aunt, Emma Cons, was lessee. Staged Shakespeare there, also opera and ballet (with Ninette de Valois). In 1931 re-opened SW Th., to which she transferred the opera and ballet cos. C.H. 1929.

Bayreuth. Town in Bavaria, Ger., where Wagner built his home, Wahnfried, and also his long-planned fest. th. to house perfs. of Der Ring des Nibelungen. Firstfest. 1876, cond. Hans Richter. Th. holds c.1,800 and has wonderful acoustics. Innovation was covered orch. pit. Parsifal f.p. there, 1882. Fests. of Wagner's operas held regularly (with wartime interruptions) since 1892, the successive dirs. having been members of the Wagner family. Although Beethoven's 9th Sym. has been perf. in the th., so far no opera by any composer but Wagner has been prod. there.

Bazelon, Irwin (b Evanston, Ill., 1922). Amer. composer. Studied De Paul Univ. and with Milhaud and Bloch. Has written much incidental mus. for th., cinema, and TV. Author of book on film mus. Works incl. De-Tonations, brass quintet and orch. (1978); woodwind quintet (1975); Concatenations, perc. qt. and va. (1976); Sound Dreams, fl., cl., va., vc., pf., solo perc. (1977); Imprints, pf. (1978); Junctures for Orchestra, with sop. (1979); Symphony No. 7, 'ballet for orch.' (1980); Spires, tpt. and orch. (1981); Suite, marimba (1983); Quintessentials, wind quintet (1983).

Bazzini, Antonio (b Brescia, 1818; d Milan, 1897). It. violinist and composer. After career as vn. virtuoso became prof. of comp., Milan Cons., 1873 and dir., 1882. One of leaders of It. non-operatic revival. Comp. 6 str. qts., 2 quintets, tone-poem Francesca da Rimini, also celebrated vn. solo, Rondedes lutins (Dance of the Elves) (1852).

Bazzini, Francesco (b Lovere, Brescia 1593; d Bergamo, 1660). It. organist, composer, and player of theorbo, for which he wrote sonatas. Also comp. oratorio and canzonettas.

BBC (British Broadcasting Corporation). The first Brit. broadcasting station was opened at Writtle, Chelmsford, in 1920 by the Marconi Co. In 1922 4 Brit. electrical manufacturers formed the Brit. Broadcasting Co. which began transmitting from 2LO at Savoy Hill on 15 Nov. of that year. The first mus. broadcast, by an orch. of 9 players, was on 25 Nov. 1922. In Jan. 1923 Act I of Die Zauberflöte was relayed from CG, being so successful that 20 other operatic relays followed shortly, incl. those of Siegfried and Le Nozze di Figaro. The first studio opera prod. was of Gounod's Roméo et Juliette in Oct. 1923. The importance of mus. as a staple element of broadcasting was recognized by the appointment in May 1923 of a Mus. Controller, the first being Percy Pitt. In 1924 the BBC, amid opposition and controversy, sponsored 6 public sym. concerts in London. On 1 Jan. 1927 the private co. became a public monopoly with the issue of a Royal charter constituting the British Broadcasting Corporation, its revenue coming from licence-holders. In the same year the BBC assumed financial responsibility for the London Promenade Concerts and its mus. patronage extended to the commissioning of new works and the sponsorship of important perfs. of contemporary mus. A logical outcome was the formation in 1930 of the BBC S.O., offering permanent contracts to over 110 players. Adrian Boult, who had succeeded Pitt as controller of mus. in 1930, was appointed cond., a post he held until 1950. Regional sym. orchs. were later formed in Glasgow, Manchester, Birmingham, Cardiff, and Belfast. With the inauguration of a TV service on 2 Nov. 1936 the BBC quickly seized the chance to televise opera, and in the three years 1936--9 nearly 30 operas were prod. for TV, incl. La serva padrona, Pagliacci, Gianni Schicchi, and the first staged perf. in Britain of Busoni's Arlecchino. During the war the BBC's role as a dispenser of mus. of all kinds intensified. Arthur Bliss succeeded Boult in 1942 as mus. dir., and was himself succeeded in 1944 by Victor Hely-Hutchinson. Successive dirs. (or controllers) have been Steuart Wilson 1947--50, Herbert Murrill 1950--2, R. J. F. Howgill 1952--9, William Glock 1959--73, Robert Ponsonby 1973--85, John Drummond from 1985. A major broadcasting development was the formation in Sept. 1946 of the 3rd Programme, designed for 'cultivated tastes and interests'. Music made up 50% of its output and the opportunities for broadcasting a wide range of mus. were almost limitless. In Mar. 1965 the 3rd Programme underwent changes, incl. the emergence of the Mus. Programme which ran continuously for nearly 12 hours a day. In 1970 the 3rd Programme and Mus. Programme became Radio 3. TV has also developed mus. series of its own, reaching enormous audiences. Among operas specially commissioned by BBC TV were Bliss's Tobias and the Angel (1960), and Britten's Owen Wingrave (1971).

BBC Philharmonic Orchestra. Regional symphony orchestra based in Manchester which adopted this name in 1983 having previously been BBC Northern S.O. Developed from Northern Wireless Orchestra, founded 1931, and renamed BBC Northern Orch. 1934. Chief cond. have incl. Sir Charles Groves, John Hopkins, George Hurst, Bryden Thomson, Raymond Leppard, and Edward Downes.

BBC Singers. Unacc. ch. (present strength 28 full-time professional singers) formed 1924 as Wireless Chorus. Changed name to BBC Chorus 1935, present title 1973. 1st cond. was Stanford Robinson. 1934--61 cond. was Leslie Woodgate. Other cond. Peter Gellhorn and John Poole.

BBC Symphony Orchestra. Chief orch. of the BBC, formed 1930 with 114 (later 119) players on permanent contract. Has given f.ps. of many works by Brit. composers. Guest cond. have incl. the world's leading exponents, notably Toscanini. Chief cond. since inception: Adrian Boult 1931--50; Malcolm Sargent 1950--7; Rudolf Schwarz 1957--62; Antal Dorati 1962--6; Colin Davis 1967--71; Pierre Boulez 1971--75; Rudolf Kempe 1975--6; Gennady Rozhdestvensky 1978--81; John Pritchard from 1981. Other BBC sym. orchs. are the Philharmonic (based in Manchester), Scottish (based in Glasgow), and Welsh (based in Cardiff). The BBC Symphony Chorus was formed 1928 as National Chorus (at its 1st concert, 23 Nov. 1928, Bantock cond. f.p. of his Pilgrim's Progress). Name changed to BBC Chorus 1932, to BBC Choral Society 1935, to present title 1977. Up to 1976, ch. master was dir. of BBC Singers, but in that year separate appointment (Brian Wright) was made.

B Dur (Ger.). The key of B $\flat$  major (not B major). See B.

Be (Ger.). The flat sign b.

Beach, Mrs. H. H. A. (née Amy Marcy Cheney) (b Henniker, New Hampshire, 1867; d NY, 1944). Amer. pianist and composer. Her performing career was cut short by her marriage in 1885, after which she concentrated on comp., but she resumed it in 1910 when her husband died. Wrote numerous songs, pf. conc. (1899), vn. sonata, Mass in Eb (1891), Gaelic Symphony (1896), The Canticle of the Sun (1925), Christ in the Universe (1931), and opera Cabildo (1932).

Beach, John Parsons (b Gloversville, NY, 1877; d Pasadena, Calif., 1953). Amer. composer, regarded as one of the first modernists. Graduated New Eng. Cons. and spent 7 years in Paris from 1910. Comps. incl. 2 short stage works, 2 ballets, orch. and chamber mus.

Bean, Hugh (Cecil) (b Beckenham, 1929). Eng. violinist. Studied RCM with Sammons 1938--57 and Brussels Cons. with Gertler 1952--3. Leader, Philharmonia and New Philharmonia Orch. 1957--67. Ass. leader, BBC S.O. 1967--9. Active in chamber mus. (Music Group of London) and as conc. soloist. Prof. of vn., RCM from 1954. C.B.E. 1970.

Bean, (Thomas) Ernest (b Colne, 1900; d Dorking, 1983). Eng. orch. concert administrator and lecturer. Secretary and gen. man., Hallé Concerts Society, Manchester, 1944--51; gen. man., Royal Festival Hall, London, 1951--65. C.B.E. 1965.

Bearbeitet (Ger.). Worked-over, i.e. Arranged. Bearbeitung, arrangement.

Beard, John (b 1716; d Hampton, 1791). Eng. ten. assoc. with Handel operas and oratorios. Ten. parts of Israel in Egypt, Messiah, Samson, Judas Maccabaeus, and Jephtha were written with Beard in mind. Also sang Macheath in The Beggar's Opera. Man., CG Th., 1761--7.

Beard, Paul (b Birmingham, 1901). Eng. violinist. Taught by father and played in public 1907. Spa orch., Scarborough, 1920; Leader, CBSO 1922--32, LPO 1932--6, BBC S.O. 1936--62. Prof. of vn. GSM and also taught at RAM. O.B.E. 1952.

'Bear' Symphony (L'Ours). Nickname for Haydn's Sym. No. 82 in C (Hob.I:82), 1786, first of Paris syms., because the bagpipe-like theme of the finale suggests the perf. of a bear-leader, or because of a 'growling' theme in the same movement.

Bear, The. Comic opera in 1 act---extravaganza by Walton to lib. by Paul Dehn adapted from play (vaudeville) by Chekhov (1888). Prod. Aldeburgh 1967. Also set by Jacobo Ficher, 1952.

Bearded Gamba. See Gamba (organ stop).

Beat. (1) Unit of measurement of rhythmic pulse of mus. (i.e. waltz has 3 beats to the measure), as indicated in time signature. In 4 :4 time each quarter-note (crotchet) is one beat, but in more complicated signatures much depends on the tempo selected. E.g. in  $\frac{12}{8}$  timethere are 12 beats to a measure if taken very slowly, or else one for each dotted crotchet. (2) The cond.'s action corresponding to the required rhythmic pulse. (3) When 2 notes near to each other in vibration frequency are heard together their vibrations necessarily coincide at regular intervals and thus reinforce each other. This periodical reinforcement is known as a beat and is made use of in pf.-tuning. (4) Name given variously to ornament in early mus., sometimes applied to a mordent and sometimes to acciaccatura. Still other references imply a 'reversed shake' by this term. (5) Term in jazz, basically meaning the rhythmical pulse of the mus., but also meaning jazz in a generic sense, e.g. 'the beat is black' = Negro jazz.

Béatitudes, Les (The Beatitudes). Oratorio by Franck, comp. 1869--79, based on Sermon on the Mount, for soloists, ch., and orch. (F.p. Paris 1879, privately; first complete public perf. Paris 1893. Glasgow 1900; Cardiff 1902.)

Beatitudes, The. Cantata by Bliss, 1961, for sop., ten., ch., org., and orch., biblical text being interspersed with poems. F.p. Coventry Cath. 1962.

Beatles, The. Vocal and instr. Eng. pop group (guitars and drums) who attained worldwide popularity and critical acclaim during 1960s, chiefly insongs by 2 of the members, John Lennon (b Liverpool, 1940; d NY, 1980) and Paul McCartney (b Liverpool, 1942). Formed and named in Liverpool c.1957 by Lennon, with McCartney and George Harrison (b Liverpool, 1943). Played at Casbah and Cavern Clubs, Liverpool, until invited to Hamburg, 1960, where 2 extra members were Stuart Sutcliffe (electric bass guitar) and Pete Best(drums). Sutcliffe died 1962. Best was replaced by Ringo Starr (orig. Richard Starkey, b Liverpool, 1940). Group's nat. popularity as qt. (Lennon, McCartney, Harrison, and Starr) began 1962 under management of Brian Epstein (b Liverpool, 1935; d London, 1967), followed by highly successful tours of USA and elsewhere. Term 'Beatlemania' coined to describe adulation accorded them, not only by the young. Among songs written by Lennon and McCartney were Please, please me, She loves you, Yesterday, Eleanor Rigby, Yellow submarine, and Hey Jude. Each of group became M.B.E., 1965. Group made several films; record sales were phenomenal. Ceased performing together 1969, partnership being later legally dissolved. McCartney formed new group called 'Wings', Lennon settled in USA where he was shot dead, Harrison continued to record, performing only rarely, and Starr continued to record and to perform in films.

Beatrice di Tenda. Opera in 2 acts by Bellini, lib. by Romani. Prod. Venice 1833, London 1836, Paris 1841, New Orleans 1842. Revived Catania 1935.

Béatrice et Bénédict (Beatrice and Benedick). Opera in 2 acts by Berlioz, with lib. considerably adapted by the composer from Shakespeare's comedy Much Ado about Nothing (1599--1600). Comp. 1860--2. Prod. Baden-Baden 1862; Glasgow 1936; Washington, DC, 1964. His last work.

Beaumarchais, Pierre Augustin Caron de (b Paris, 1732; d Paris, 1799). Fr. playwright and musician. An accomplished flautist and harpist, his mus. fame rests, however, on his authorship of the plays Le Barbier de Séville (1772, perf. 1775) and its sequels La Folle Journée, ou Le Mariage de Figaro (1781, perf. 1784), and La Mère Coupable (perf. 1792). The first play was originally intended as a comic opera, with mus. by Beaumarchais adapted from Sp. airs. Librettist of Tarare, opera in 5 acts by Salieri (1787). The Barber of Seville was set as an opera by Paisiello (1782) and Rossini (1816) and also by F. L. Benda (1776) and Isouard (c.1796), The Marriage of Figaro by Mozart (1786), and La Mère Coupable by Milhaud (1964--5).

Beautiful Galathea, The (Die schöne Galatea). Operetta by Suppé, prod. Vienna 1865, of whichov. is still often heard. Libretto by P. Henrion.

Beaux Arts Trio. Amer. pf. trio who gave their f.p. at Berkshire Mus. Fest., 1955, and since then have won international reputation, esp. in Haydn, Beethoven, and Schubert. Original members were Menahem Pressler, pf. (b Magdeburg, 1923), Daniel Guilet, vn., and Bernard Greenhouse, vc. (b Newark, NJ, 1916). Guilet was succeeded in 1968 by Isadore Cohen (b NY, 1922). Pressler studied with Egon Petri. Prof. of mus., Indiana Univ. since 1958. Cohen was member of Juilliard Quartet 1958--66. Greenhouse studied with Casals.

Bebend (Ger.). Trembling, i.e. Tremolo.

Be-Bop. Jazz development of the 1940s, primarily for small groups of instrumentalists, such as a rhythm section of 4 or 5 players with some solo instr. Scat singing was a feature. Be-bop used highly complex chord sequences often at very fast tempi. Specially assoc. with the alto saxophonist Charlie Parker. It had a marked effect on the jazz techniques of drumming and pf.-playing.

Bebung (Ger.). Trembling. A tremolo effect obtained by a rapid shaking movement of the finger on a str. of a bowed instr. or on a key of a clavichord (see also Bebend).

Bec (Fr.), becco (It.). Mouthpiece of cl. Flûte à bec is Fr. for recorder.

Bécarre (Fr.). The natural sign.

Bechstein, Friedrich Wilhelm Carl (b Gotha, 1826; d Berlin, 1900). Ger. pf. manufacturer. After working in pf. factories in Ger., Fr., and Eng., founded his own firm in Berlin, 1853. Branches were est. in Fr., London (1879), and Russ. London recital hall built in 1901 was named Bechstein Hall, though re-named Wigmore Hall in 1917 after the street in which it stands.

Beck. Short for Becken, cymbals.

Beck, Conrad (b Lohn, Schaffhausen, Switzerland, 1901). Swiss composer. Zürich Cons. 1921--4, studying with V. Andreae. Lived in Paris 1923--32, studying orch. with Ibert. Mus. dir. Basle Radio, 1938--66. Works incl. syms., concs. for str. qt. and orch., vn. and chamber orch., fl., va., cl., concertinos for pf., for cl., bn., and orch., ob. and orch.; 5 str. qts.; cantatas, La Mort d'Oedipe (1928), Die Sonnenfinsternis (1967); chamber cantata on sonnets of Louiza Labé (1937); and ballet Der Bär (1937).

Beck, Karl (b 1814; d Vienna, 1879). Austrian ten. who created the role of Lohengrin, Weimar, 1850.

Becken (Ger.). Cymbals.

Becker, Günther Hugo (b Forbach, Ger., 1924). Ger. composer and teacher. Comp. lessons from Fortner between 1949 and 1956, privately and at Detmold Mus. Acad. Taught in Gr. 1956--68. In 1969 in Essen founded elec. instr. ens. Gruppe MHz, re-named (1971) Live-Electronic Ensemble Folkwang, Essen. Prof. of comp., Düsseldorf Cons. from 1973.

Becker, Hugo (b Strasbourg, 1863; d Geiselgas-teig, 1941). Ger. cellist, student of (among others) Piatti. Member of Heermann Qt. 1890--1906. Taught during that time at Frankfurt Cons. From 1910 prin. vc. teacher, Berlin Hochschule. Cellist in trios with Schnabel and Flesch, and Ysaÿe and Busoni. Comp. vc. conc. (1898) and short pieces.

Becker, John Joseph (b Henderson, Kentucky, 1886; d Wilmette, Illinois, 1961). Amer. composer. Mus.B. degree from Wisconsin Cons., Milwaukee. Prof. of comp., North Texas College, 1906--14; dir. of mus., Univ. of Notre Dame, 1918--28; chairman of fine arts dept., St Thomas College, St Paul, 1928--33. While at St Paul his romantic-impressionist style as composer changed into more radical and dissonant idiom after assoc. with Cowell, Ives, Ruggles, and Rieger. Several of his later works carry message of social protest. From 1943, dir. of mus. and composer in residence, Barat College, Lake Forest, Ill. Comp. 7 syms. between 1915 and 1954, the last being unfinished; 2pf. concs., va. conc., hn. conc.; 7 Soundpieces for various chamber combinations; The Snow Goose (orch.); 1-act opera Deirdre of the Sorrows (1945).

Beckus the Dandipratt. Concert-ov. by Malcolm Arnold, pubd. 1948. A dandipratt is an urchin.

Beckwith, John (b Victoria, B.C., 1927). Canadian composer. Studied Toronto Univ. and with Nadia Boulanger in Paris 1950--2. Instructor in mus. theory, Toronto Royal Cons. 1955--65. Member of mus. faculty, Toronto Univ. since 1952, dean 1970. Works incl. 1-act opera The Night Blooming Cereus (1953--8), A Message to Winnipeg (1960), Wednesday's Child (1962), Circle, With Tangents (1967, for hpd. and 13 str.) and The Sun Dance (1968). Several of his works are described as 'collages' and employ narrators.

Bedford, David (Vickerman) (b London, 1937). Eng. composer and teacher. Studied RAM with Berkeley, and privately, 1960, in Venice with Luigi Nono. Was member of pop group 'The Whole World'. Prin. works:

music theatre: The Rime of the Ancient Mariner (school opera, 1975--6); The Ragnarok (1982--3) (school opera, part of trilogy with The Death of Baldur (1979) and Indiof's Saga (1980)).

orch: This One for You (1965); Gastrula (1968); Star's End, rock instr. and orch. (1974); Sym. for 12 mus. (1981); Sun Paints Rainbows on the Vast Waves (1982); The Valley-Sleeper, The Children, Snakes and the Giant (1982).

chorus and orch: Dream of the 7 Lost Stars (1964--5); Star Clusters, Nebulae, and Places in Devon (1971); 12 Hours of Sunset (1974); The Odyssey, sop., girls' vv., instr., elec. (1976); Song of the WhiteHorse (1977); The Way of Truth, ch., elec. (1978).

unacc. chorus: 2 Poems (Patchen) (1963), The Golden Wine is Drunk (Dowson) (1974).

instr. ensemble: Piece for Mo (1963), Five (1967), Pentomino, wind quintet (1968), The Garden of Love (1970), The Swordof Orion (1970), With 100 Kazoos (1971), Nurse's Song with Elephants (1971), Jack of Shadows, va. solo and small orch. (1973), A Horse, His Name was Hungry Fencewaver Walkins, acoustic guitar and chamber ens. (1973), Pancakes, with Butter, Maple Syrup and Bacon and the TV Weatherman, brass quintet (1973), Variations on a Rhythm by Mike Oldfield, perc. (3 players, 84 instr.) (1973).

voice and instr: Music for Albion Moonlight, sop. (1965), That White and Radiant Legend, sop. and speaker (1966), The Tentacles of the Dark Nebula, ten. (1969), When I Heard the Learn'd Astronomer, ten. (1972), Holy Thursday with Squeekers, sop. (1972).

instr: 18 Bricks Left on April 21st, 2 electric guitars (1967); Piano Piece I (1966), II (1968); 'You Asked for It', acoustic guitar (1969); Spillihpernak, va. (1972); wind sextet (1981); SPNM Birthday Piece, str. qt. (1983).

voice and acc: O Now the Drenched Land Wakes, bar. and pf. duet; Come In Here, Child, sop. and amplified pf. (1968); Because He Liked to be at Home, ten. (also plays recorder) and harp (1974); On the Beach at Night, 2 ten., pf., chamber org. (1978).

Bedford, Steuart (b London, 1939). Eng. cond. and pianist, particularly assoc. with Eng. Mus. Th. and Aldeburgh Fest. Studied RAM and Oxford Univ. On Glyndebourne mus. staff 1965--6. Cond. début SW 1967 (The Beggar's Opera). Prof. at RAM from 1965. Cond. f.p. Britten's Death in Venice, 1973, and Phaedra, 1976. Arr. orch. suite from Death in Venice (Aldeburgh 1984).

Bédos de Celles, Dom Francis (b Caux, 1709; d Saint-Denis, 1779). Fr. Benedictine, org. builder and author of important book, L'Art du facteur d'orgues (The Art of the Organ-builder, 1766--8).

Bedyngham, John (b ?Oxford, 1422; d London, 1459 or 1460). Eng. composer. Comp. motets Manus Dei, Salva Jesu, and Vide dire, also O rosa Bella, Beata es Virgo Maria, and Mi verry joy. Influential on Continent, though unlikely he worked there. Music survives largely in foreign sources.

Beecham, (Sir) Thomas (b St Helens, 1879; d London, 1961). Eng. cond. and impresario. First appearance was as cond. of Hallé Orch. at St Helens, 1899. Educated Rossall School and Wadham College, Oxford. Early ambition to be composer, but took up cond. instead.

Came to the fore about 1905 when he founded New Sym. Orch. In 1910, with backing of his father, the industrialist Sir Joseph Beecham, staged season of opera at CG at which Strauss's Elektra had first Eng. perf., also Delius's A Village Romeo and Juliet. Thereafter there was hardly a feature of Eng. mus. life with which Beecham was not closely, often controversially, and always artistically involved. Assoc. with most leading Brit. orchs. Founded LPO 1932, and RPO 1946. In decade preceding World War II was art. dir. of Royal Opera House, CG. Cond. many Amer. orchs. Ardent champion of Delius, about whom he wrote a book, and notable interpreter of Mozart, Haydn, Sibelius, Strauss, and Fr. composers of 19th cent. Thrice married. Knighted 1915, 2nd baronet 1916, C.H. 1957.

Beecke, Ignatz von (b Wimpfen, 1733; d Wallerstein, 1803). Ger. army officer and Kapellmeister. Pupil of Gluck. His pf.-playing was excellent and, with Schubart, developed new techniques. Played Mozart's conc. for 2 pf. with the composer at Frankfurt, 1790. Friend of Gluck. Comp. operas, oratorio, syms., concs., and pf. sonatas.

Beer Barrel Polka ('Roll out the barrel'). Tune composed by Jaromír Vejvoda (b 1902) and pubd. in Prague, 1934. as Lost Love (;ak Skoda Láska). Acquired Eng. title when pubd. in NY, 1939. Became very popular with Servicemen in 2nd World War.

Beer, Jakob Liebmann. Real name of Giacomo Meyerbeer.

Beeson, Jack (Hamilton) (b Muncie, Ind., 1921). Amer. composer. Studied Toronto Univ. and Eastman Sch., also had informal comp. lessons from Bartók. Accompanist and cond. of opera workshop, Columbia Univ. 1944--8. MacDowell prof. of mus., Columbia Univ. since 1967, head of mus. dept., 1968--72. Comps. incl. Sym. in A (1959) and 6 operas, Jonah (1950), Hello Out There (1953), The Sweet Bye and Bye (1956), Lizzie Borden (1965), My Heart's in the Highlands (1969), and Captain Jinks of the Horse Marines (1975).

Bee's Wedding, The. Fanciful name for Mendelssohn's Lieder ohne Worte No.34 in C for solo pf. (Book VI, Op. 67, No. 4, Spinnerlied). Sometimes known as Spinning Song. Comp. 1845.

Beethoven, Ludwig van (b Bonn, 1770; d Vienna, 1827). Ger. composer and pianist who radically transformed every mus. form in which he worked. His paternal family were of Flemish stock, his grandfather having emigrated to Bonn where he became Court Singer to the Elector. Beethoven's father also became Court Singer, but was a coarse, drunkenman, hopeful of exploiting his 2nd child Ludwig's mus. talents. Beethoven's early mus. education came from his father and several mediocre teachers. In 1779 he became a pupil of Christian Gottlob Neefe and his ass. as court organist in 1784. In 1786 he visited Vienna and may have extemporized for Mozart. On return to Bonn he found an understanding patron in Count Waldstein. For 4 years he was a violist in the court th. orch. in addition to other duties. In 1792 Haydn, visiting Bonn, saw some of Beethoven's early comps. and invited him to study with him in Vienna. There, despite his brusque and often uncouth manner, he was patronized by the aristocracy and lived for 2 years (1794--6) in the home of Prince Lichnowsky. His fame was entirely that of a virtuoso improviser at the kbd. Lessons from Haydn proved unsatisfactory and Beethoven went for theory to Schenck and later to Albrechtsberger and Salieri. His Op. 1, 3 pf. trios, was pubd. 1795 and had immediate success. Apart from occasional visits to the countryside Beethoven passed the rest of his life in Vienna. For 30 years he prod. mus. of all kinds in a steady flow. His first public appearance in Vienna was as soloist in his B<sub>b</sub> major pf. conc. in 1795. His 3rd Symphony (the Eroica), besides being a work of revolutionary import because it greatly extended the possibilities of symphonic form, was significant because it was originally ded. to Napoleon Bonaparte. Beethoven erased the dedication when he heard that Napoleon had proclaimed himself emperor. In 1805 his only opera Fidelio, originally called Leonore, was performed but withdrawn for rev. after 3 perfs. and given the following year in a 2-act version. His 5th and 6th (Pastoral) Syms. were f.p. at the same concert in 1808 and the 7th appeared in 1813, the year before the successful prod. of the further rev. Fidelio. In 1817 and 1818 he began work on his 9th Sym., which departed from all precedent by including a choral finale for solo vv., ch., and orch., and the Missa Solemnis. These were perf. in 1824. From 1824 to 1826 he comp. the last 5 of his 17 str. qts. Beethoven's mus. may have sometimes been misunderstood in his lifetime but it was never neglected. However, his personal eccentricities and unpredictability were to grow, principally because of his discovery in 1798 that he was going deaf. It was not until 1819 that conversation with him was possible only by writing in a notebook, but in the intervening 20 years his affliction, though it varied in intensity, steadily worsened. Perhaps this is also why he never married, though he loved several women, and one in particular, the still unidentified 'ImmortalBeloved' (Maynard Solomon, in his Beethoven, 1977, gives convincing but not incontrovertible reasons for believing that she was Antonie Brentano, wife of a Frankfurt merchant. She lived from 1780 to 1869. Beethoven dedicated the Diabelli Variations to her.) An indication of the esteem in which Beethoven was held is that in 1815 Vienna conferred its honorary freedom on him. When he died, his funeral at Währing was a nat. occasion. His grave is now in the Central Friedhof, Vienna. Beethoven's significance in the history and development of mus. is immense. He emancipated and democratized the art, composing out of spiritual inner necessity rather than as provider of virtuoso display material. He was not a quick or facile worker---his sketchbooks show how he laboriously developed an idea from sometimes banal beginnings to the final version. His mastery of structure and of key relationships was the basis on which he worked a revolution in the handling of sonata-form. It is to Beethoven that we owe the full emergence of the symphony as a repository for a composer's most important ideas. He expanded the coda from a formal conclusion to a climactic splendour; he transformed the minuet into the tempestuous, exultant scherzo; he was the first to use 'motto-themes' as a consistent formal device. In his slow movements, mus. expressed a mystical exaltation which even Mozart had never approached. In the str. qt. and the pf. sonata also, Beethoven extended the medium to a vastly increased technical and expressive degree (though in the case of the pf. it was not until his last sonatas that his technical use of the instr. went beyond that of his predecessors). It is probably true to say that today his mus. is the most frequently performed of any composer's. Among the most important of his many comps. are:[cm symphonies: No. 1 in C, Op. 21, comp. 1799--1800, f.p. Vienna, 2 April 1800, cond. P. Wranitzky; pubd. 1801. No. 2 in D, Op. 36, comp. 1801--2, f.p. Vienna, 5 Apr. 1803, cond. Beethoven; pubd. 1804. No. 3 in Eb (Eroica), Op. 55, comp. 1803--4, f. pub. p. Vienna, 7 Apr. 1805; pubd. 1806. No. 4 in Bb, Op. 60, comp. 1806, f. public p. Vienna, 15 Nov. 1807, cond. Clement; pubd. 1808. No. 5 in C minor, Op. 67, comp. 1804--8, f.p. Vienna, 22 Dec. 1808, cond. Beethoven; pubd. 1809. No. 6 in F (Pastoral), Op. 68, comp. 1807--8, f.p. Vienna, 22 Dec. 1808, cond. Beethoven; pubd. 1809. No. 7 in A, Op. 92, comp. 1811--2, f.p. Vienna, 8 Dec. 1813, cond. Beethoven; pubd. 1816. No. 8 in F, Op. 93, comp. 1812, f.p. Vienna, 27 Feb. 1814, cond. Beethoven; pubd. 1816. No. 9 in D minor (Choral), Op. 125, comp. 1817--23, f.p. Vienna, 7 May 1824, cond. Beethoven; pubd. 1826. Battle Symphony, Op. 91, comp. 1813, f.p. Vienna, 8 Dec. 1813, cond. Beethoven; pubd. 1816.

concertos: Piano: No. 1 in C, Op. 15 (really No. 2 in order of comp.), comp. 1795--8, f.p. (presumed) Vienna, 2 April 1800, soloist Beethoven, cond. Wranitzky; pubd. March 1801. No. 2 in Bb, Op. 19 (really No. 1 in order of comp.), comp. 1794--5, f.p. Vienna, 29 Mar. 1795, soloist Beethoven; pubd. Dec. 1801. No. 3 in C minor, Op. 37, comp. 1800--1, f.p. Vienna, 5 Apr. 1803, soloist Beethoven; pubd. 1804. No. 4 in G, Op. 58, comp. 1805--6, f.p. Vienna, 22 Dec. 1808, soloist Beethoven; pubd. 1808. No. 5 in Eb (nicknamed 'Emperor' but not by Beethoven), Op. 73, comp. 1809, f.p. Leipzig, Dec. 1810, soloist F. Schneider, f. Vienna p. 12 Feb. 1812, soloist Czerny; pubd. 1811. Vn. conc. Op. 61, arr. for pf. by Beethoven in 1807 and pubd. 1808. Violin: Vn. Conc. in D, Op. 61, comp. 1806, f.p. Vienna, 23 Dec. 1806, soloist Franz Clement; pub. 1809. Piano, violin, and cello: Triple conc. in C, Op. 56, comp. 1804, f.p. 1808; pubd. 1807.

piano sonatas (32 in number): Nos. 1, 2 and 3, Op. 2, No. 1 in F minor, No. 2 in A major, No. 3 in C major (1794--5); No. 4, Op. 7, in Eb (1796); Nos. 5, 6 and 7, Op. 10, No. 1 in C minor, No. 2 in F major, No. 3 in D major (1798); No. 8, Op. 13, Pathétique in C minor (1799); Nos. 9 and 10, Op. 14, No. 1 in E major, No. 2 in G major (1799); No. 11, Op. 22, in Bb (1800); No. 12, Op. 26, in Ab (1800--1); Nos. 13 and 14, Op. 27, No. 1 in Eb, No. 2 in C# minor (Moonlight), both described as quasi una fantasia (1800--1); No. 15, Op. 28, in D major (Pastorale) (1801); Nos. 16, 17 and 18, Op. 31, No. 1 in G major, No. 2 in D minor, No. 3 in Eb (1801--2); Nos. 19 and 20, Op. 49, No. 1 in G minor, No. 2 in G major (1802); No. 21, Op. 53, in C major (Waldstein) (1804); No. 22, Op. 54, in F major (1804); No. 23, Op. 57, in F minor (Appassionata) (1804--5); No. 24, Op. 78, in F# major (1809); No. 25, Op. 79, Sonatina in G major (1809); No. 26, Op. 81a, in Eb (Lebewohl, usually known as Les Adieux) (1809--10); No. 27, Op. 90 in E minor (1814); No. 28, Op. 101, in A major (1816); No. 29, Op. 106, in Bb (Hammerklavier) (1817--18); No. 30, Op. 109, in E major (1820); No. 31, Op. 110, in Ab (1821); No. 32, Op. 111, in C minor (1821--2).

other piano works: Sonata in D for 4 hands, Op. 6 (1797); 7 Bagatelles, Op. 33 (1782--1802); 6 Variations in F major on orig. theme, Op. 34 (1802); 15 Variations in Eb and fugue on theme from Prometheus (known as Eroica Variations) Op. 35 (1802); 32 Variations in C minor (1806--7); 6 Variations in D, Op. 76 (1810); Fantaisie in G minor, Op. 77 (1810); 11 Bagatelles, Op. 119 (1821); 33 Variations on a Waltz by Diabelli, Op. 120 (1819--23); 6 Bagatelles, Op. 126 (1823--4); Grosse Fuge in Bb Op. 133 (arr. Beethoven for pf. duet, Op. 134) (1826). Rondo a capriccio in G ('Rage over a lost Groschen'), Op. 129 (1825--6).

chamber music: String Quartets: Op. 18, Nos. 1--6 in F major, G major, D major, C minor, A major, Bb (1798--1800); Nos. 7, 8 and 9, Op. 59, Nos. 1--3 in F major, E minor, C major (the Rasoumovsky qts., ded. to Count Rasoumovsky, Russian ambassador in Vienna, a keen qt. player); (comp. 1806); No. 10, Op. 74, in Eb (known as Harp; 1809); No. 11, Op. 95, in F minor (1810); No. 12, Op. 127, in Eb (1822--5); No. 13, Op. 130, in Bb (1825--6; present finale replaces Grosse Fuge, Op. 133); No. 14, Op. 131 in C# minor (1825--6); No. 15, Op. 132, in A minor (1825); No. 16, Op. 135 in F major (1826); Op. 133, in Bb (Grosse Fuge), orig. finale of Op. 130 (1825). String Quintets: Op. 4, in Eb (1795--6), arr. of Octet for wind instr. (comp. 1792--3, pubd. 1830 as Op. 103); Op. 29 in C major (1800--1); Op. 104, in C minor, arr. by Beethoven in 1817 of his pf. Trio, Op. 1 No. 3 (1792--4). Piano Trios: Op. 1, Nos. 1--3, in Eb, G major, and C minor (1792--4); Op. 38, in Eb (with vn. or cl.), arr. by Beethoven of his Septet, Op. 20 (1820--3); 14 Variations in Eb, Op. 44 (1802--3); Op. 70, Nos. 1--2, in D major and Eb (1808); Op. 97, in Bb (Archduke) (1810--11); Variations on 'Ich bin der Schneider Kakadu', Op. 121a (Kakadu) (c.1798). String Trios: Op. 3 in Eb (pre-1794) transcribed for vc. and pf., Op. 64; Op. 8, Serenade in D major (1796--7); Op. 9, Nos. 1--3, in G major, D major, and C minor (1797--8); Piano Quintet (pf., ob., cl., hn., bn.), Op. 16, in Eb (1796), arr. for pf. qt. (1796, pubd. 1801); Septet (vn., va., vc., cl., hn., bn., and db.), Op. 20 in Eb (1799--1800). Violin Sonatas (but note that Beethoven described them as sonatas for pf. and vn.): Op. 12, Nos. 1--3, in D major, A major and Eb (1797--8); Op. 23, in A minor (1800); Op. 24, in F major (Spring) (1800--1); Op. 30, Nos. 1--3, in A major, C minor, and G major (1801--2); Op. 47, in A major (Kreutzer) (1802--3); Op. 96, in G major (1812, rev. 1815). Cello Sonatas: Op. 5, Nos. 1--2, in F major and G minor (1796); Op. 69, in A major (1807--8); Op. 102, Nos. 1--2, in C major and D major (1815).

Miscellaneous: Serenade in D major, Op. 25, fl., vn., va. (1801); Sextet in Eb, Op. 81b, 2 hn., str. (?1795); Trio in Bb, Op. 11, pf., cl. or vn., vc. (1797); Sonata in F major, Op. 17, hn., pf. (1800); Variations for vc. and pf.: in G major, WoO 45, on 'See the conqu'ring hero comes' from Judas Maccabaeus (1796), in F major, Op. 66, on 'Ein Mädchen oder Weibchen' from Die Zauberflöte (1796), and in Eb, WoO 46, on 'Bei Männern, welche Liebe fühlen' from Die Zauberflöte (1801).

orchestral (excl. Symphonies): Overtures: Coriolan, Op. 62 (1807); Die Weihe des Hauses (Consecration of the House), Op. 124 (1822); Leonora No. 1, Op. 138 (1805), Leonora No. 2 (1805), Leonora No. 3 (1806); Fidelio (1814). For details see under Fidelio; Overture and 9 items of incidental mus. for Egmont (Goethe), Op. 84 (1809--10); Overture and 8 items of incidental mus. for Die Ruinen von Athen (Kotzebue), Op. 113 (1811); Overture and 9 items of incidental mus. for König Stephan (Kotzebue), Op. 117 (1811); Ov. in C (Namensfeier), Op. 115 (1814--15); Ov., introduction, and 16 Nos. for ballet Die Geschöpfe des Prometheus, Op. 43 (1800--1).

opera: Fidelio, Op. 72 (1805, rev. 1806 and 1814).

choral: Cantata on the death of the Emperor Joseph II (1790); Cantata on the accession of Emperor Leopold II (1790); Christus am Ölberge, oratorio, Op. 85 (1803); Mass in C major, Op. 86 (1807); Mass in D major (Missa Solemnis), Op. 123 (1819--22); Choral Fantasia (pf., ch., and orch.), Op. 80 (1808); Meeresstille und Glückliche Fahrt (Calm Sea and Prosperous Voyage), Op. 112 (1814--15); Der glorreiche Augenblick (The Glorious Moment), cantata, Op. 136 (1814).

solo voice: (Songs, etc.): Scena and aria 'Ah! Perfido!', sop. and orch., Op. 65 (comp. 1796); Adelaide, Op. 46 (1795); An die Hoffnung, Op. 32 (1805); An die ferne Geliebte (To the distant beloved), song-cycle for ten. and pf. (words by A. Jeitteles), Op. 98 (1816); 25 Scot. songs, with acc. for pf. trio, Op. 108 (1815--16); 12 Scot. songs, with acc. for pf. trio, Op. 108 (1815--16); 12 Scottish songs (pubd. 1841).

Beggar's Opera, The. First and most popular of ballad operas. In 3 acts, arr. and adapted by Christoph Pepusch to a lib. by John Gay (London, Jan. 1728; NY Dec. 1750). Its 69 tunes are mostly derived from popular ballads of the day. The plot deals with London low life, the 'hero' being the highwayman Macheath and the heroine Polly, and is a satire on contemporary politics and on It. operatic conventions. 20th-cent. vogue dates from London revival at Lyric, Hammersmith, in version re-orchestrated and re-harmonized by Frederic Austin which ran from June 1920 for 1,463 perfs. Other versions by E. J. Dent (Birmingham 1944), Britten (Cambridge 1948), Bliss (film, 1953), and Muldowney (1982). Milhaud's 3-act L'Opéra des gueux (1937) is an arr. of The Beggar's Opera. The Gay-Pepusch sequel Polly, dating from 1729, was banned by the Lord Chamberlain for nearly 50 years. See also Weill, Kurt.

Beggar Student, The (Millöcker). See Bettelstudent, Der.

Beglarian, Grant (b Tiflis, USSR, 1927). Russ.-born Amer. composer who received his early mus. education in Teheran, Iran. Went to USA in 1947 and continued training at Michigan Univ. (1947--51, 1954--8). Studied comp. with R. L. Finney and va. with Paul Doktor. Founded Music Book Associates in NY, 1961. Dir. young composers' project, Ford Foundation 1961--9. Appointed dean of sch. of performing arts, Univ. of S. California, 1969. Comps. incl. vn. sonata, vc. sonata, Sym., Divertimento for orchestra (1957--8), cantata '... And All the Hills Echoed' (1968), Fables, Foibles, and Fancies (1971), Diversions, va., vc., orch. (1972) and Sinfonia for str. (1974).

Begleiten (Ger.). To accompany. Hence Begleitung, accompaniment; Begleitend, accompanying.

Beherrsch der Geister, Der (Weber). See Ruler of the Spirits, The.

Behrens, Hildegard (b Land Oldenburg, 1937). Ger. sop. Studied to be lawyer, then took up singing as pupil of Prof. Leuwen at Freiburg Mus. Acad. Opera début 1971, Deutsche Oper am Rhein, Düsseldorf, where she sang wide variety of roles from Fiordiligi in Così fan tutte and Musetta in La Bohème to Marie in Wozzeck and title-role of Ká;akta Kabanová. Sang Leonore in Fidelio, Zürich 1975. CG Début 1976 (Leonore), NY Met. 1976 (Giorgetta in Il Tabarro), Salzburg Fest. 1977 (Salome). Bayreuth 1983 (Brünnhilde).

Beier, Franz (b Berlin, 1857; d Kassel, 1914). German opera composer. Held several posts as Kapellmeister and ch. master. Operas incl. Der Posaunist von Speikingen (Kassel 1889) and Der Gauernerkönig (Kassel 1890).

Beinum, Eduard van (b Arnhem, Holland, 1900; d Amsterdam, 1959). Dutch cond. Began career in Haarlem 1926–31; 2nd cond., Concertgebouw Orch. of Amsterdam 1931–8, then associate to Mengelberg whom he succeeded as chief cond. 1945. London début, LPO 1946. Took Concertgebouw Orch. on Amer. tour 1954. Prin. cond. LPO 1949–51. Cond. Los Angeles P.O. 1956–9.

Beisser (Ger.). Biter i.e. Mordent.

Beklemmt, beklommen (Ger.). Oppressed, heavy of heart. Most famous use of this instruction is by Beethoven in middle section of cavatina of Str. Qt. in Bb major, Op. 130, where mus. modulates into Cb.

Belaieff. See Belyayev, Mitrofan.

Bel Canto (It.). Beautiful singing, beautiful song. A term covering the remarkable qualities of the great 18th-cent. and early 19th-cent. It. singers, and suggesting rather perf. in the lyrical style, in which tone is made to tell, than in the declamatory style. Beauty of tone and legato phrasing, with faultless technique, were the prin. ingredients.

Belcke, Christian Gottlieb (b Lucka, Altenberg, 1796; d Lucka, 1875). Ger. flautist, for many years in Leipzig Gewandhaus Orch. Comp. fl. concs. and fantasias.

Belcke, Friedrich August (b Lucka, Altenberg, 1795; d Lucka, 1874). Ger. trombonist of great virtuosity. Member of Berlin royal band 1816–58. Comp. concs. and études for tb.

Belfagor. Lyric comedy in prol., 2 acts, and epilogue by Respighi to lib. by C. Guastalla after Hauptmann. Prod. Milan 1923.

Belisario. Opera in 3 acts by Donizetti, to his own lib. Prod. Venice 1836, London 1837, Paris 1843.

Bell. (1) This popular and ubiquitous mus. instr. varies in weight from over 100 tons to a fraction of an ounce. For public bells the most usual bell metal is a bronze of 13 parts copper to 4 parts tin: the shape and proportions are the result of very intricate calculations in order to secure good tone and tuning—the latter not only of the Strike Note with its attendant overtones but also of the deep tone which persists after these have died away, i.e. the Hum Note, which should be an octave below the Strike Note. There are 2 chief ways of sounding ordinary church bells, Chiming (the clapper moved mechanically just sufficiently to strike the side of the bell) and Ringing (in which the bell is swung round full circle). A Ring of churchbells may consist of any number from 5 to 12. With 5 bells 120 variations of order, or Changes, are possible; with 12 bells they number almost 480 millions. Change Ringing by hand-ropes, a characteristic British practice, is a still popular hobby. Various standard Changes are described by various traditional names, as 'Grandsire Triples', 'Bob Major', or 'Oxford Treble Bob'. Dorothy L. Sayers's detective story The Nine Tailors (1934) hinges on bell-ringing most ingeniously. On the continent of Europe 'rings' are unknown but the Carillon is there an ancient institution—esp. in Belgium and Holland. This consists of a series of anything up to 70 bells played by skilful artists from a manual and pedal console somewhat similar to that of an organ but more cumbrous. Tunes and simple accompanying harmonies can be perf. At the hours and their halves and quarters the carillon is set in operation by clockwork. There are now some carillons in Britain and in the USA. (2) Tubular Bells are often used in the orch. and are also now used (electrically operated from a kbd.) in church towers. They are cylindrical metal tubes of different lengths, suspended in a frame and played by being struck with a hammer. (3) Handbells are small bells with handles: they are arr. in pitch order on a table and played by several performers, each in charge of several bells. They are used for the practice of change ringers and also as an entertainment. (4) A term to describe the open end of a wind instr. from which the sound comes.

Bell, William Henry (b St Albans, 1873; d Gordon's Bay, Cape Province, 1946). Eng. composer, org., and violinist. Studied RAM where he became prof. of harmony 1903--12. Went to Capetown 1912 to become prin., S. African College of Mus. in 1919, becoming dean of faculty of mus., Capetown Univ., until retirement 1935. Comp. operas, syms., hymns, va. conc., chamber mus.

Bellaigue, Camille (b Paris, 1858; d Paris, 1930). Fr. mus. critic, from 1885 for Revue des deux mondes. Biographer of Mendelssohn, Gounod, Mozart, and Verdi.

Bell Anthem. Purcell's Rejoice in the Lord alway (1684--5). The name (which dates from the composer's lifetime) alludes to the pealing scale passages of the instr. introduction.

Belle Hélène, La (Beautiful Helen). Opéra-bouffe in 3 acts by Offenbach to lib. by Meilhac and Halévy. Prod. Paris 1864; London, 1866; Chicago 1867. Successfully revived in Paris 1960 and later in London by SW Opera (now ENO).

Belletti, Giovanni Battista (b Sarzana, 1813; d Sarzana, 1890). It. bar. assoc. with Jenny Lind. Studied Bologna. Début in Stockholm 1839 in Rossini's Il barbiere di Siviglia. Sang with Lind in Donizetti, Meyerbeer, and Rossini operas in Sweden, Eng. (1848 début), and USA. In the USA his tours with Lind werearr. by Barnum. Retired 1862.

Bellezza, Vincenzo (b Bitonto, Bari, 1888; d Rome, 1964). It. cond. Studied Naples Cons. Début San Carlo, Naples, 1908, in Aida. Cond. at NY Met. 1926--35, CG 1926--30 and 1935--6. Cond. at Melba's farewell, CG 1926 and at first London perf. of Puccini's Turandot. Rome Opera after 1935. Re-visited London 1957 and 1958.

Bell'haver, Vincenzo (b Venice, 1530; d Venice, 1587). It. organist and composer. 2nd organist of St Mark's, Venice, 1586, succeeding Andrea Gabrieli. Comp. madrigals, his 2nd book being pubd. in Venice, 1575.

Belli, Giulio (b Longiano, c.1560; d Imola, 1621). It. composer and teacher. Choirmaster in churches in Venice, Forlì, Montagnana, Padua, and Imola. Comp. masses, motets, canzonets, and madrigals.

Bellincioni, Gemma (b Monza, 1864; d Naples, 1950). It. sop. who created Santuzza in Cavalleria rusticana (1890) and title-role in Fedora (1898). Début in Naples, 1879. Was first It. Salome. Wife of ten. Roberto Stagno, the first Turiddù, who was also her teacher.

Bellini, Vincenzo (b Catania, Sicily, 1801; d Puteaux, nr. Paris, 1835). It. composer. Educated San Sebastiano Cons., Naples, where he studied under Zingarelli. Perf. of his first opera, Adelson e Salvini, at cons. in 1825 led to commission for opera for San Carlo, Naples; and this in its turn led to a commission from La Scala, Milan, which resulted in Il pirata, a vehicle for the expressive lyrical style of the ten. Rubini. This opera was then prod. in Paris and initiated Bellini's fame outside It. Another success was his setting of Vaccai's version of the Romeo and Juliet story, I Capuleti e i Montecchi, prod. Venice 1830 with Pasta in the travesti role of Romeo. Recent revivals have shown this to be one of Bellini's masterpieces. However, its popularity was eclipsed by La Sonnambula (Milan 1831), in which Malibran appeared throughout Europe. Less than a year later came Norma; its sop. title-role was first sung by Pasta and succeeding exponents have included Grisi, Tietjens, Lilli Lehmann, Callas, and Sutherland. His last opera, I Puritani, was written for Paris (on the advice of Rossini) where its first cast in 1835 was led by Grisi, Rubini, Tamburini, and Lablache. Seven of his operas have libretti by Felice Romani. Bellini's vocal style requires superb legato allied to great florid agility. His long elegant melodies, of which Casta diva from Norma is a supreme example, were admired by, and influenced, Berlioz. Wagner, too, was attracted by Bellini's operas and noted the close alliance between mus. and lib. For a period, Bellini was out of fashion, being regarded as merely a composer of display pieces, but a new generation of great singers has restored them to favour, revealing their dramatic force and melodic beauty. Operas: Adelson e Salvini (Naples 1825); Bianca e Gernando (Naples 1826; rev. as Bianca e Fernando, Genoa 1828); Il pirata (Milan 1827); La straniera (Milan 1829); Zaira (Parma 1829); I Capuleti e i Montecchi (Venice 1830); La sonnambula (Milan 1831); Norma (Milan 1831); Beatrice di Tenda (Venice 1833); I puritani (Paris 1835). He also comp. songs and instr. works, incl. an ob. conc.

Bell Lyra. Portable form of glockenspiel. It is mounted on a rod held perpendicularly in the left hand whilst the right hand holds the beater.

Bellman, Carl Michael (b Stockholm, 1740; d Stockholm, 1795). Swed. poet and composer. His series of lyrics, 'Fremans Epistlar' and 'Sanger', are set mostly to the then fashionable popular Fr. melodies.

Belloni, Giuseppe (b Lodi, c.1575; d after 1606). It. composer of church mus., some of it pubd. at Augsburg c.1610.

Bellows and Tongs. One of the burlesque means of mus.-making common in the 18th cent. Presumably the sound evoked was merely that of adroit rhythmic tapping.

Bell Rondo (It. Rondo allaccampanella). Finale of vn. conc. in B minor by Paganini, containing bell-like effect. Liszt twice used same theme, in his Grande Fantaisie de bravoure sur 'La Clochette' (1832) and in La campanella (from the 6 Transcendental studies of execution based on Paganini, 1838).

Bells, The (Kolokola). Choral sym., Op. 35, by Rakhmaninov for sop., ten., and bar. soloists, ch., and orch. Comp. 1913, f.p. St Petersburg 1913, cond. Rakhmaninov; f. Eng. p. Liverpool 1921, cond. Wood. Rev. version 1936, f.p. Sheffield 1936, cond. Wood. Text is adaptation by Konstantin Balmont of E. A. Poe's poem.

Bells of Aberdovey. This is not a Welsh folk-song, as claimed in many books of such songs, but appears to be the comp. of Dibdin. He pubd. it in 1785, when it was sung in his Drury Lane opera Liberty Hall, and it appeared many times subsequently in vols. of his songs, not figuring in any of the numerous Welsh colls. before 1844.

Bells of Corneville (Planquette). See Cloches de Corneville.

Bells of Zlonice, The. A sym. in C minor by Dvořák, comp. 1865. Orig. his Op. 3, it was lost and not recovered until 1923. Pubd. 1961, it is the longest of his orch. works (c. 55 mins.).

Belly. The upper surface of a str. instr., over which the str. are stretched. Also the soundboard of pf.

Belshazzar. Oratorio by Handel. (F.p. London 1745.) Text by Charles Jennens.

Belshazzar's Feast. (1) Cantata by Walton for bar., ch., and orch. to text compiled from biblical sources by O. Sitwell, comp. 1929--31; f.p. Leeds Fest., 1931, cond. Sargent. (2) Incidental mus. by Sibelius for play by Hjalmar Procopé, from which he provided 4-movement suite for small orch. (1906).

Belyayev, Mitrofan (Petrovich) (b St Petersburg, 1836; d St Petersburg, 1904). Russ. mus. publisher. Son of wealthy timber merchant, but trained as musician. Enthusiastic sponsor of 'new' nationalist school of Russian composers. Founded his publishing house at Leipzig, 1885, and sponsored concerts in St Petersburg. Russian composers gathered at his St Petersburg house every Friday from 1891, hence 16 pieces for str.qt. known as 'Les Vendredis' (Fridays) written in his honour in collab. by Borodin, Rimsky-Korsakov, Glazunov, Lyadov, and others. Firm moved to Bonn, thento Frankfurt. Absorbed by C. F. Peters, 1971.

Bemberg, Hermann-Emmanuel (b Paris, 1859; d Berne, 1931). Fr. composer, pupil at Paris Cons. of Dubois and Massenet. His 4-act opera Elaine was a success at CG (with Melba in the cast) in 1892 and NY 1894. Other works incl. comic opera Le Baiser de Suzon (1888), cantata La Mort de Jeanne d'Arc (1886), and many songs.

Bémol (Fr.), bemolle (It.). Flat (b).

Be;aknac^;ková, Gabriela (b Bratislava, 1944). Cz. soprano. Studied at Bratislava Cons. and in Italy. Opera début Prague 1970 (Natasha in Prokofiev's War and Peace). Member Prague Nat. Th., but guest artist at world's leading opera houses, particularly in Janák^;ek operas. Opera début outside Cz., Dublin 1975 (The Bartered Bride), Moscow 1977 (Tatyana), Vienna 1978 (Jen;anufa), CG 1979 (Tatyana).

Benatzky, Ralph (b Moravské-Budejovice, 1884; d Zürich, 1957). Cz. composer of nearly 100 operettas, many film scores, and songs. Lived for some years in USA. Wrote title-song and much of the score of White Horse Inn (Im weissen Rössl, Berlin 1930).

Benda. Bohem. mus. family active in the 18th cent., 4 of them being the sons of a weaver and peripatetic musician. 3 of these were: (1) Frantis^;ek (Franz) (b Staré-Benátky, 1709; d Potsdam, 1786). Chorister in Prague, then became violinist and moved to Dresden. In 1732 obtained a place at the Berlin court of Crown Prince of Prussia, later Frederick the Great. In 1771 became Frederick's Konzertmeister, accompanying him in fl. conc. Works incl. trio sonatas, vn.concs., 6 vn. sonatas, and 2 books of vn. études. (2) Ji;Akri Antonin (Georg) (b Jungbunzlau, 1722; d Köstritz, Thuringia, 1795). Skilled oboist and kbd.-player. Went to Berlin in 1740 for lessons from his brother ((1) above). Violinist in royalband from 1742. Became Kapellmeister to Duke of Gotha in 1748. Spent 2 years in It. after 1764; on return wrote his Ariadne auf Naxos (1774) which earned him the claim to have invented melodrama. Another melodrama, Medea, followed, also Romeo und Julie (1776). Retired 1778. (3) Josef (b Staré-Benátky, 1724; d Berlin, 1804). Violinist, succeeded his brother Frantis^;ek as leader of Frederick the Great's orch. Several sons of the above also achieved mus. distinction, usually in Prussian court bands. Ji;Akri's son, Friedrich Ludwig (b Gotha, 1752; d Königsberg, 1792) comp. an oratorio, church cantatas, 3 operas incl. Der Barbier von Sevilla (1776) and 3 vn. concs. Frantis^;ek's eldest son, Friedrich Wilhelm Heinrich (b Potsdam, 1745; d Potsdam, 1814) was a fine violinist, playing in the Berlin court band from 1782, and comp. 2 operas, Alceste (1786) and Orpheus (1785), an operetta, Das Blumenmädchen, a cantata Pygmalion, and instr. works.

Bender, Paul (b Driedorf, 1875; d Munich, 1947). Ger. bass. Début Breslau 1900; but after his début there in 1903 closely assoc. with Munich Opera. CG début 1914 (Amfortas in first Eng. stage perf. of Parsifal). Distinguished exponent of roles of Wotan, Sachs, Osmin, and Baron Ochs and of ballads of J. Loewe. Became teacher at Munich Mus. Sch.

Bendl, Karel (b Prague, 1838; d Prague, 1897). Boh. composer of nationalist works in the model of Smetana. Operas incl. Lejla, Bretislav and Jikta, and The Montenegrins (Cernohorci). Also comp. sacred and secular choral works.

Benedicite. (1) The Song of the Three Holy Children (Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego) while in Nebuchadnezzar's fiery furnace. It is not in the Hebrew version of the book of Daniel, but comes from the Septuagint, or early Gr. translation of the Old Testament. It is one of the canticles of the Anglican service. (2)^Work by Vaughan Williams, for sop., ch., and orch. Comp. 1929 (prod. Leith Hill Fest. 1930); combines text of the canticle with a poem by J. Austin (1613--69).

Benedict. (Sir) Julius (b Stuttgart, 1804; d London, 1885). Ger.-born composer and cond., naturalized Eng. Son of a banker, he had lessons from Hummel who introduced him to Weber, in whose house he lived as pupil and protégé 1821--4 and by whom he was taken to meet Beethoven in 1823. Appointed cond., Vienna Kärntnerthor Th. 1823--5. Went to work at San Carlo, Naples, 1825, where several of his operas were perf., and to Paris in 1834, where the singer Malibran suggested he should visit London. From 1835 lived in Eng. He cond. opera seasons at Lyceum, Drury Lane, and Her Majesty's Th. In 1848 cond. Elijah when Jenny Lind first sang in oratorio and later dir. most of her Amer. concerts. Cond., Norwich Fest., 1845--78, Liverpool Phil. Soc. 1867--79. Of his operas, oratorios, cantatas, syms., and concs., only the opera The Lily of Killarney (1862) is still occasionally perf. Knighted 1871. Wrote important biog. of Weber (1881).

Benedictus. (1) In the R.C. Mass, the Benedictus qui venit, i.e. simply the words 'Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord', which complete the Sanctus section of the Mass. (2) The song of Zacharias (Luke I. 68 et seq.). 'Blessed be the Lord God of Israel', which is sung daily at Lauds in R.C. churches and in the Eng. Prayer Book occurs in the Order for Morning Prayer.

Beneplacito, Beneplacimento (It.). Good pleasure. Preceded by the words A suo (Atone's) this has the same sense as Ad libitum.

Benet, John. See Bennet, John.

Benevoli, Orazio (b Rome, 1605; d Rome, 1672). It. composer of Fr. extraction. Choirmaster in var. Roman churches, 1624--43. At Austrian court 1643--5. Choirmaster at Vatican from 1646. Wrote contrapuntal church mus., incl. anthems for 48 vv.

Ben-Haim, Paul (orig. Frankenburger) (b Munich, 1897; d Tel Aviv, 1984). Israeli composer and cond. Studied Munich, where he was ass. cond. at State Opera 1920--4. Cond. at Augsburg opera 1924--31. Emigrated to Tel Aviv 1933. After formation of State of Israel in 1948 became Pres., Israeli Composers' Assoc., Dir., Jerusalem Acad. of Mus. 1949--54. Traditional Jewish and Arab melodies of the Near East flavour his works, which incl. 2 syms., vc. conc. (1962), pf. sonatina, pf. conc., and oratorio Thanksgiving from the Desert.

Beni Mora. Oriental Suite in E minor, Op. 29 No. 1 for orch. by Holst in 3 movements. Comp. 1909--10 after visit to Algeria and rev. 1912. F.p. London 1912.

Benjamin, Arthur (b Sydney, N.S.W., 1893; d London, 1960). Australian composer and pianist. Studied RCM (comp. with Stanford after 1911). Prof. of pf. at Sydney Cons. 1919--21, then returned to Eng. in similar post at RCM. Comps. incl. sym., vn. conc., ob. conc., film mus., the 2-pf. piece Jamaican Rumba (1938), and 4 operas, The Devil Take Her (1931), Prima Donna (1933 prod. 1949), A Tale of Two Cities (1949--50, prod. 1957), and Tartuffe (1959--60, prod. 1964).

Benjamin, George (b London, 1960). Eng. composer and pianist. Began pf. lessons at 7 and comp. when he was 9. Studied comp. and pf. with P. Gellhorn in London from 1974 and with Messiaen and Y. Loriod in Paris. Entered Paris Cons. 1977, King's Coll., Cambridge, orch: Altitude, brass band (1977); Ringed by the Flat Horizon (1979--80); At First Flight, chamber orch. (1982).

1978--82 (comp. with A. Goehr). Gave f.p. of Britten's Sonatina Romantica, Aldeburgh Fest. 1983. Works incl.:

vocal: A Mind of Winter, sop. and small orch. (1981).

chamber music: Vn. Sonata (1976--7); Octet, fl. (picc.), cl., perc., celesta, str. (1978); Flight, fl. (1979); Duo, vc. and pf. (1980).

piano: Pf. sonata (1977--8); Sortilèges (1981); Meditation on Haydn's Name (1982).

Benjamin Cosyn's Virginal Book. A MS. coll. of mus., chiefly for virginals, made 1622--43 by Benjamin Cosyn. It is now in the Brit. Museum. Pubd. 1923.

Bennet, John (fl. late 16th--early 17th cent.). Eng. (probably Lancastrian) composer of madrigals, whose first book, pubd. 1599, refers in preface to his youth. Remembered for All creatures now are merry-minded, his contribution to The Triumphs of Oriana, in which it is No. 4, and Weep, O mine eyes. Not to be confused with John Benet (fl. ?c.1420--50), Eng. composer of sacred mus. in style of Dunstable.

Bennett, Joseph (b Berkeley, Glos., 1831; d Berkeley, 1911). Eng. organist who became mus. critic, chiefly of the Daily Telegraph, 1870--1906. Author of libs. for leading Brit. Victorian composers, incl. The Golden Legend for Sullivan.

Bennett, Richard Rodney (b Broadstairs, 1936). Eng. composer and pianist. Studied RAM 1953--6 with Lennox Berkeley and Howard Ferguson, then with Boulez in Paris for 2 years. A fluent composer, absorbing influences of jazz, atonality, and traditional harmony and structures, he has had success in many spheres incl. films, for which he has comp. over 35 scores (Far From the Madding Crowd a notable example). Prof. of comp., RAM, 1963--5. C.B.E. 1977. Settled in NY, 1979. Prin. works incl.:

operas: The Ledge (1961); The Mines of Sulphur (1963--5); Penny for a Song (1966); Victory (1968--9)

ballet: Jazz Calendar, for chamber ens. (1963--4); Isadora (1981).

orch: Nocturnes (1962); Aubade (1964); Syms.: No. 1 (1965), No. 2 (1967); Suite for small orch. (1966); Concerto for Orchestra (1973); Zodiac (1976); Serenade (1976); Commedia III for 10 instr. (1973); Music for Strings (1977); Anniversaries (1982).

concertos: Pf. (1968); ob. and str. (1969--70); guitar (1970); va. (1973); vn. (1975); Actaeon (Metamorphosis I) for hn. (1977); db. (1978); Sonnets for Orpheus, vc. and orch. (1979); hpd. (1980); Memento, fl. and str. (1983).

voice(s) and orch: The Approaches of Sleep (1960); London Pastoral, ten. and chamber orch. (1962); Crazy Jane, sop., cl., vc., pf. (1968--9); Jazz Pastoral, v. and jazz orch.

(1969); Sonnet Sequence, ten. and str. (1974); Spells, sop., ch., and orch. (1974); Love Spells (2nd and 5th movements from preceding), sop., and orch. (1974); 5 Sonnets of Louise Labé, sop. and ens. (1984).

chamber music: Winter Music, fl. and pf. (1960); ob. sonata (1962); solo vn. sonatas: No. 1 (1955), No. 2 (1964); Str. Qts.: No. 1 (1952), No. 2 (1953), No. 3 (1960), No. 4 (1964); wind quintet (1967--8); 5 Impromptus for guitar (1968); Commedia II, fl., vc., pf. (1972); IV, brass quintet (1973); Scena II, solo vc. (1973); Ob. Qt. (1975); Travel Notes, Book 1, str. qt. (1975); Travel Notes, Book 2, wind qt. (1976); Scena III, cl. (1977); hn. sonata (1978); vn. sonata (1978); Metamorphoses, str. octet (1980); 6 Tunes for the Instruction of Singing Birds, fl. (1981); Music for String Quartet (1981); sonatina for cl. (1981); After Syrinx, ob. and pf. (1982).

voice and piano (or other instr.): The Music that her Echo is, ten. and pf. (1967); A Garland for Marjory Fleming, sop. and pf. (1969); Time's Whiter Series, counter-ten. and lute (1974); The Little Ghost Who Died for Love, sop. and pf. (1976); Vocalese, sop. and. pf. (1981).

piano: Sonata (1954); Fantasy (1962); 5 Studies (1962--4); Capriccio, 4 hands (1968); Scena I (1973); 4-Piece Suite, 2 pianos (1974); Kandinsky Variations, 2 pf. (1977); Impromptu (1981); Noctuary (1981).
voices: Letters to Lindbergh, female vv. and pf. duet (1982); Puer nobis (1980); Nonsense (7 Poems of Mervyn Peake) (1979); Devotions (1971); The House of Sleep, 6 male vv. (1971); Nowell, Nowell Tidings True (1962).

Bennett, Robert Russell (b Kansas City, 1894; d NY, 1981). Amer. composer and arranger. Taught by his parents and later studied comp. with Carl Busch. In late 1920s studied for 4 years in Paris with Nadia Boulanger. At 16 began to earn living by orchestrating and arranging scores for Broadway mus. comedies and the list of works to which he has applied his talent proves his success. It incl. Rose-Marie (1924), Showboat (1927), On Your Toes (1936), Oklahoma! (1943), Carmen Jones (1943), Carousel (1945), Annie Get Your Gun (1946), South Pacific (1948), Kiss Me Kate (1948), The King and I (1951), My Fair Lady (1956), and The Sound of Music (1959). But perhaps his most famous arr. is the symphonic suite from Gershwin's Porgy and Bess. His own comps. incl. Abraham Lincoln Symphony (1931), Hollywood for orch. (1937), Concerto Grosso for wind (1957), and Sym. (1963). In 1935 he comp. a 3-act opera, Maria Malibran.

Bennett, (Sir) William Sterndale (b Sheffield, 1816; d London, 1875). Eng. composer, pianist, and teacher. Chorister at King's, Cambridge, at 7 and went 2 years later to newly founded RAM in London. Learned vn., pf., and comp. (with Crotch). Later was taught by Cipriani Potter. A pf. conc. written when he was 16 was heard a year later by Mendelssohn, who invited him to Ger. For 3 more years stayed at the RAM, composing 5 syms. and 3 more pf. concs. In one of these was soloist at a Phil. Soc. concert at the age of 19. In 1836 visited Leipzig where he became a friend of Schumann, who praised his work highly. Played his own concs. at Gewandhaus concerts. After marriage in 1844, career restricted to Eng., where he took on several demanding executive and admin. duties such as cond. of Phil. Soc. (1856--66), founder of Bach Soc., and, also in 1856, prof. of mus., Cambridge Univ. In 1866 became prin., RAM. Knighted 1871. Whether Schumann's praise was extravagant is difficult to judge, since little of Sterndale Bennett's instr. music is now played. Undoubtedly his powers as a composer were lessened by the load of official work he undertook. In his lifetime his most popular works were the pastoral cantata The May Queen (Leeds Fest. 1858) and the oratorio The Woman of Samaria (Birmingham Fest. 1867). Other works incl. ov. The Naiads. Schumann's Symphonic Studies are ded. to him. Conducted f. Eng. p. of Bach's St Matthew Passion, 1854.

Benoit, Peter (Léopold Léonard) (b Harlebeke, Flanders, 1834; d Antwerp, 1901). Belg. composer, one of the chief promoters of the Flemish mus. movement, in the interests of which he founded a sch. of mus. at Antwerp, 1867, remaining dir. until his death. Wrote articles and pamphlets, and comp. choral works to libs. in the Flemish language. Amongst works are a Rubens Cantata (Flanderens Kunstroem) (1877), calling for huge resources, incl. bells of Antwerp Cath.

Benoliel, Bernard (John) (b Detroit, 1943). Amer. composer and pianist. Studied Detroit and Michigan Univ. and with S. Wolpe. Settled in Eng. Secretary, Vaughan Williams Trust, from 1978. Works incl. 5 Poems of Emily Dickinson, ch. (1968), The Black Tower, sop. and chamber ens. (1968), str. qt. (1969), sym. (1972--3), With St Paul in Albion, amplified vc., org. (1974).

Bent, Ian (David) (b Birmingham, 1938). Eng. musicologist and univ. lecturer specializing in medieval mus. Studied Cambridge Univ. 1958--65. Lecturer in mus., King's College, London Univ. Prof. of mus., Nottingham Univ. from 1975.

Bentzon, Niels (Viggo) (b Copenhagen, 1919). Danish composer. Studied Royal Danish Cons. Comp. several ballets, an opera Faust III, 5 pf. concs., many pf. sonatas, 13 syms., 2 vn. concs., vc. conc., 9 str. qts., Symphonic Variations, fl. conc. Some of works use 12-note system, and he is also influenced by jazz.

Benvenuto Cellini. Opera in 2 acts by Berlioz (Op. 23) to lib. by Léon de Wailly and A. Barbier, loosely based on Cellini's autobiography. Comp. 1834--7. Prod. Paris 1838, London 1853 (revived 1976). Rev. in 3 acts after Weimar perfs. in 1852. Berlioz withdrew the opera because of its failure. Some of the mus. is used in the ov. Carnaval romain. Cellini issubject of operas by Schlösser, Lachner, Diaz, and Saint-Saëns, among others.

Bequadro (It.). The natural sign, (nat.).

Berberian, Cathy (b Attleboro, Mass., 1925; d Rome, 1983). Amer. sop. and singer-actress. Studied Columbia Univ. and in Milan. Specialized in avant-garde works, notably those of her former husband Luciano Berio. Also teacher, composer, and writer.

Berceuse (from Fr. Bercer, to rock to sleep). A lullaby or aninstr. comp. (in compound duple time) suggesting such. The popular pf. piece of this name, and in this style, by Chopin, is his Op. 57 in D<sup>b</sup> major (1844).

Berceuse de Jocelyn. See Godard, Benjamin.

Berceuse Élégiaque. Piano piece by Busoni, comp. 1909 and added to Elegien (1907). Orch. version, Op. 42, comp. 1909, sub-titled 'The man's lullaby at his mother's coffin'. F.p. NY 1911.

Bereite Vor (Ger.). Make ready, prepare (an organ stop).

Berenice. Opera in 3 acts by Handel to lib. by Antonio Salvi already used by Perti. Prod. London 1737. Well-known minuet occurs in the ov.

Berezovsky, Nikolay (also spelt Berezowsky) (b St Petersburg, 1900; d NY, 1953). Russ.-born violinist in Moscow and then in NY P.O. 1923--9. Cond., composer of 4 syms., concs. for vn., va., and vc., and chamber mus.

Berg, Alban (b Vienna, 1885; d Vienna, 1935). Austrian composer whose output, though small, is among the most influential and important of the 20th cent. One of 4 children of a well-to-do family, had little formal mus. education but comp. romantic songs when he was 15. In 1904 began private comp. lessons with Schoenberg and decided to devote his life to mus., giving up a job in the Civil Service. With his friend and fellow-pupil Webern, entered the avant-garde artistic life of Vienna---the Sezession artists, the poet Peter Altenberg, the painter Kokoschka---but the dominating figure was Mahler. Some of his songs were perf. at a concert by Schoenberg pupils in Vienna, Nov. 1907, the pf. variations a year later, and the str.qt. in 1911. When 2 of the 5 Altenberglieder with orch. were perf. in Vienna in Mar. 1913, cond. Schoenberg, the concert was interrupted until order was restored. In May 1914 Berg attended a perf. of Büchner's play Wozzeck and determined to make an opera of it. Military service delayed work, but the mus. was eventually finished in 1922 and was perf. in Berlin, Dec. 1925. It caused a furore but its success with the public was never in doubt, despite critical polemics. In the next decade Berg's powers were at their height and he comp. the Chamber Conc. (1925), the Lyric Suite for str. qt. (1926), and the concert aria Der Wein (1929). In 1929 began adaptation of 2 Wedekind plays as an opera lib. called Lulu. By 1934 he had completed the mus. in short score and begun full instrumentation. In the spring of 1935 began vn. conc. commissioned by Louis Krasner. Impelled by news of the death of the beautiful 18-year-old Manon Gropius, daughter of Mahler's widow by her 2nd marriage, worked unwontedly quickly and finished the conc. in Aug. 1935, dedicating it `to the memory of an angel'. 4 months later he too died, through blood poisoning from an insect-bite. It has recently been established that several of Berg's works, incl. the Lyric Suite, Lulu, and the Violin Concerto, contain mus. cryptograms referring to his love for Frau Hanna Fuchs. Berg has become, to the general public, the most acceptable of the so-called '12-note' or 'dodecaphonic' composers, probably because he never was an orthodox atonalist. His work is nearer to the Mahler idiom than to the Schoenbergian. In Wozzeck atonality is very freely used and applied to a highly formal structure, each scene being in a particular mus. form (variations, passacaglia, fugue, etc.). From the Lyric Suite onwards, Berg used 12-note procedures nearer to, but still significantly different from, the Schoenberg method. Technical methods notwithstanding, however, it is the emotional content of Berg's mus. which has awoken a ready response in listeners, particularly the Vn. Conc., which quotes the Bach chorale Es ist genug at its climax. Prin. comps.:

operas: Wozzeck (1917--22); Lulu (1929--35); Act 3 realized from short score by Cerha (1978--9).

orch: Three Pieces, Op. 6 (1913--14); 3 movements from Lyric Suite arr. for str. orch. (1928); Chamber Concerto for pf., vn., and 14 windinstr. (1923--5); Vn. Conc. (1935).

voice and orch: 7 Early Songs (1905--8, orch. 1928), 5 Altenberglieder (1912), 3 Fragments from Wozzeck, Op. 7 (f.p. Frankfurt 1924), Der Wein (1929), Lulu-Symphonie (1934).

chamber music: Variations on an Original Theme for pf. (1908), Pf. Sonata (1907--8), Str. Qt., Op. 3 (1910), 4 Pieces for cl. and pf. (1913), Lyric Suite for str. qt. (1925--6), Adagio from Chamber Concerto arr. for vn., cl., and pf. (1935).

songs: 7 Early Songs (1905--8), 4 Songs, Op. 2 (1909--10), and about 70 early songs.

Berg, Natanaël (b Stockholm, 1879; d Stockholm, 1957). Swed. composer of 5 operas, concs., symphonic poems, ballets, and chamber mus. By profession an army veterinary surgeon.

Bergamasque (Fr.), Bergamasca (It.), Bergomask (Eng.). Tune and chord sequence from Bergamo, It., found as groundbass in 16th and 17th cents. Also a peasant's dance from Bergamo. Composers have used the term with little significance, e.g. Debussy's Suite Bergamasque (1890, rev. 1905) for pf.

Berganza (orig. Vargas), Teresa (b Madrid, 1935). Sp. mez. Studied with Lola Rodrigues Aragón. Début Madrid 1955. Sang at Aix-en-Provence 1957, La Scala, Milan, 1957--8. Notable for her singing of Rossini, as in La Cenerentola. Glyndebourne 1958--9, London CG 1960.

Berger, Arthur (b NY, 1912). Amer. composer and writer on mus.; pupil of Piston and Milhaud. Some years as teacher and mus. journalist in NY, then on staff of Brandeis Univ., becoming prof. of mus., 1962. Works incl. orch. and choral mus., and chamber mus. Author of book on Copland (1953).

Berger, Erna (b Dresden, 1900). Ger. operatic sop. Début Dresden 1925. Sang at Bayreuth 1929--33; CG début 1934. Notable Mozart singer, esp. of Queen of the Night in Die Zauberflöte. Sang in opera until 1955, when became teacher. Pupils incl. Rita Streich. Retired 1968.

Berger, Francesco (b London, 1834; d London, 1933). Eng. pianist, composer, teacher, and secretary of the Phil. Soc., 1884--1911. Studied at Leipzig under Moscheles.

Berger, Jean (b Hamm, 1909). Ger. (naturalized Amer.) composer long resident in Fr., then in USA. Studied at Heidelberg and Vienna Univer. 1928--32. From 1932 to 1946 was choral cond. and accompanist. Works incl. Brazilian Psalm for ch. (1941), Vision of Peace for ch.

(1948), The Pied Piper, play with mus. (1968). Ed. of Bolognese 17th-cent. mus., e.g. by Torelli, Perti, etc.

Berger, Theodor (b Traismauer, Austria, 1905). Austrian composer. Studied Vienna Acad. 1926--32 with Franz Schmidt and Korngold. Works incl. Homeric Symphony (1948), vn. conc. (1954), and Concerto-manuale for 2 pf., metallophone, marimbaphone, perc., and str. (1951).

Bergerette (from Fr. berger, shepherd). A shepherd's song or dance or simple comp. supposed to be in the style of such. Popular in Fr. in 18th cent.

Berglund, Paavo (Allan Engelbert) (b Helsinki, 1929). Finn. cond. Studied Sibelius Acad., Helsinki. Violinist in Finn. Radio S.O. 1949--56, ass. cond. 1956--62, prin. cond. 1967--71. Prin. cond. Bournemouth S.O. 1972--9, Helsinki P.O. 1975--9.

Bergman, Erik (Valdemar) (b Uusikaarlepyy, Finland, 1911). Finn. composer. Studied Sibelius Acad., Helsinki, 1931--8, and 12-note techniques with Vladimir Vogel in Switzerland 1949--50. Prof. of comp., Helsinki Acad., from 1963. Works incl. setting of Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyám for bar., male ch., and orch. (1953), Aubade for orch. (1958), concertino da camera (1961), The Birds (F;anaglarna) for vocal soloists, perc., and celesta (1962), Noa, bar., vv., and orch. (1976), and vn. conc. (1983--4).

Bergmann, Carl (b Ebersbach, 1821; d NY, 1876). Ger. cond. and cellist. Emigrated to NY 1850 and joined orch. of Ger. émigré musicians. Cond. in Boston, Mass., 1852--4. In 1855 he cond. for NY Phil., alternating with associates until 1866 when he became sole cond. until his death. Prominent champion in USA of Wagner and Liszt.

Bergmann, Walter (George) (b Hamburg, 1902). Ger. continuo player and recorder virtuoso. Studied Leipzig Cons. Settled in Eng. as teacher and ed.

Bergonzi, Carlo (b Cremona, c.1683; d Cremona, 1747). It. maker of vns. in style of his master, Stradivarius; succeeded by his son and nephews.

Bergonzi, Carlo (b Polisene, Parma, 1924). It. ten. Studied Parma. Began career as bar. at Lecce 1948 as Figaro in Il barbiere di Siviglia. Second début, as ten., at Bari 1951 as Andrea Chénier. London 1953, Chicago 1955, NY Met. 1956, CG 1967.

Bergsma, William (b Oakland, Calif., 1921). Amer. composer. Trained Stanford Univ. and Eastman Sch.; pupil of Hanson and B. Rogers. On staff Juilliard Sch. 1946--63; Prof. Washington Univ., Seattle, from 1963. Comps. incl. opera, The Wife of Martin Guerre (1955), ballet Paul Bunyan (1937), vn. conc. (1966), 2 syms., and chamber mus.

Beringer, Oscar (b Furtwangen, Baden, 1844; d London, 1922). Ger.-born pianist. Spent childhood in Eng. to which his father fled 1849. Studied Leipzig 1864--6 and Berlin under Tausig. Appointed prof. at Tausig's Berlin Sch. for pianists, 1869. In 1873 returned to London, founding pf. sch. which survived until 1897. Gave f.p. in England of Brahms's 2nd conc., London, 14 Oct. 1882. Prof. RAM from 1885. Composer of pf. pieces.

Berio, Luciano (b Oneglia, now Imperia, It., 1925). It. composer. Studied with Ghedini at Milan Acad. until 1951, then serial techniques with Dallapiccola at Tanglewood. In 1955 with Maderna founded elec. studio at It. Radio, remaining until 1961. Went to USA 1963, teaching in California and from 1965 at Juilliard Sch., returning to It. in 1971. Comps. are influenced by serialism, elec. devices, and indeterminacy. Has developed individually the 'collage' technique, borrowing extracts from other composers or imitating stylistic characteristics. Examples are Sinfonia, in which Berio quotes material from Mahler's 2nd

Sym., Wagner's Das Rheingold, Ravel's La Valse, and Strauss's Der Rosenkavalier, and Laborintus II, where street cries and interjections are blended with references to madrigals and jazz. Another collage is Recital I (for Cathy), one of several works (e.g. Epifanie and Sequenza 3) written for his former wife, the sop. Cathy Berberian. His Sequenza series for various instr. is largely aleatory. In Circles the singer may perform either the notated pitches or the approximations: the choice is hers. While in Milan in his youth Berio cond. a small touring opera co. and has remained enthusiastic about the th., though his works for it have so far been extremely unconventional. Prin. works:

theatre: Passaggio, messa in scena for sop., 2 ch., and orch. (1962--3); Opera (3 acts) for 10 actors, sop., ten., bar., orch. (1960--70, rev. 1977); Allez Hop, mimedtale, for mez., 8 mimes, dancers, and orch. (1952--9, 1968); I trionfi del Petrarca, ballet (1974); Un Re in Ascolto, 2-act opera (1979--83); Duo, bar., 2 vns., ch., orch. (1982).

orch: Nones (1954--5); Allelujah I (1955--7), II (1956--8); Divertimento (collab. Maderna) (1957); Quaderni I-III from Epifanie (1959--63); Chemins IIB (1969); Bewegung I (1971); Still (1973); Eindrücke (1973--4); Encore (1978); Entrata (1980); Suite da 'La vera storia' (1981); Accordo, for 4 wind bands (1981).

chamber orch: Variazioni (1954--5); Differences (1958--9); Tempi Concertati (1958--9); Linea (1973--4).

solo instr. and orch: Corale on Sequenza VIII, vn., 2 hns., str. (1981); 2-pf. conc. (1972--3); `Points on the Curve to Find/./.', pf. and 23 instr. (1973--4); Il Ritorno degli Snovidenia, vc. and 30 instr. (1976--7); Pf. conc. (1977); Chemins I (from Sequenza II), harp and orch. (1965); Chemins II (from Sequenza VI) va. and 9 instr. (1967--8); Chemins IIC, bass cl. and orch. (1972); Chemins III (from Chemins II), va. and orch. (1968--9); Chemins IV (from Sequenza VII), ob. and str. (1975); Serenata, fl. and 14 instr. (1957); Concertino, cl., vn., harp, celesta, and str. (1950); Voci, va. and orch. (1984).

voice(s) and orch. or ens: Laborintus II, vv., instr., reciter, tape (1965); Bewegung II, bar. and orch. (1971); Sinfonia, 8 vv. and orch. (1968--9); Coro, 40 vv. and instr. (1974--6); Epifanie, sop. or mez. and orch. (1959--61, rev. 1965); Ora, sop., mez., and chamber ens. (1971); Magnificat, 2 sop., mystic ch., and ens. (1949); A-Ronne, radiophonic documentary for 8 actors (1974), version for 8 vv. and tape (1975); 11 Folk Songs, mez. and orch. (1975), version for mez. and 7 players (1964); Recital I (for Cathy), mez. and 17 instr. (1972); Calmo (in memoriam Bruno Maderna), sop. and ens. (1974); El Mar la Mer, mez. and 7 players (1952); O King, mez. and 5 players (1967); Circles, female v., harp, and 2 perc. (1960); Chamber Music, female v., cl., vc., harp (1953); Agnus, 2 sop., 3 cl. (1970); Cries of London, 6 vv. (1973--4), 8 vv. (1975).

instr: Opus Number Zoo, 5wind instr. (1950--1); Str. Qt. (1956); Sincronie, str. qt. (1963--4); Autre Fois, lullaby canon for Stravinsky (1971); 2 Pieces, vn. and pf. (1951); Gesti, fl. (1966); Duetti per due violini (1979--82).

piano: Memory, 2 pf. (1970); 5 Variations (1952--3); Rounds (1967) for hpd. (1965); Wasserkavier (1965); Erdenklavier (1968).

sequenza series: I, fl. solo (1958); II, harp solo (1963); III, female v. (1965); IV, pf. (1966); V, tb. (1967); VI, va. (1967); VII, ob. (1969); VIII, vn. (1975--7); IX, perc. (1978--9); IX A, cl. (1980); IX B, alto-sax. (1981). II arr. with orch. as Chemins I (1965); VI arr. for va. and 9 instr. as Chemins II (1967), for orch. as Chemins IIB (1969), and for bass cl. and orch. as Chemins IIC (1972); VII arr. for ob. and str. as Chemins IV (1975).

electronic: Mutations (1954); Perspectives (1956); Moments (1957); Theme (homage to Joyce) with v. of C. Berberian (1958); Visage, with v. of C. Berberian (1961); Chants parallèles (1975).

Bériot, Charles Auguste de (b Louvain, 1802; d Brussels, 1870). Belg. violinist and composer, also mechanic, landscape painter, and sculptor. Married the singer Malibran in 1836. Prof., Brussels Cons. 1843, retiring 1852 when sight failed. Wrote 10 vn. concs., a no. of pieces for 2 vn., etc., and also a Violin School which enjoyed much popularity.

Bériot, Charles Wilfrid de (b Paris, 1833; d Sceaux-en-Gatinais, 1914). Son of C. A. de Bériot. Pianist (pupil of Thalberg) and, as Prof., Paris Cons., teacher of Granados, Ravel, and others. Comp. 4 pf. concs.

Berkeley, (Sir) Lennox (Randall Francis) (b Boar's Hill, Oxford, 1903). Eng. composer. Studied mus. in Paris with Nadia Boulanger 1927--32. On BBC mus. staff 1942--5. Prof. of comp., RAM, 1946--68. C.B.E. 1957. Knighted 1974. His works are outstanding in quality and fastidious of workmanship. Prin. comps.:

operas: Nelson (1953), A Dinner Engagement (1954), Ruth (1956), Castaway (1966).

orch: Mont Juic (suite in collab. with Britten, 1937); Serenade for Strings (1939); Syms., No. 1 (1940), No. 2 (1956--8, rev. 1976), No. 3 (1969), No. 4 (1976--8); Divertimento (1943); Nocturne (1946); Sinfonietta (1950); Suite from Nelson (1955); Suite, A Winter's Tale (1960); Partita (1965); Windsor Variations (1969); Antiphon, str. (1973); Voices of the Night (1973); Suite for Strings (1974).

concertos: Introduction and Allegro, 2 pf. (1938); vc. (1939, f.p. 1983); pf. (1947); 2 pf. (1948); fl. (1952); 5 Pieces, vn. and orch. (1961); vn. and chamber orch. (1961); Dialogue, vc. and chamber orch. (1970); Sinfonia concertante for ob. (1973); guitar (1974).

voice(s) and orch: Domini est Terra (1937); 4 Poems of St Teresa of Avila, cont. and str. (1947); Stabat Mater (1947); Colonus' Praise (1949); Batter my Heart (1962); Signs in the Dark, ch. and str. (1967); Magnificat (1968); 4 Ronsard Sonnets, Set 2, ten. and orch. (1963, also with chamber orch.).

choral: Gibbons Variations (1951); Crux fidelis (1955); Salve Regina (1955); Missa brevis (1960); Justorum Animae (1963); Mass for 5 vv. (1964); 3 Latin Motets (1972); Hymn for Shakespeare's Birthday (1972); Herrick Songs (1974); The Lord is My Shepherd (1975); The Hill of the Graces (1975); Judica Me (1978); Ubi Caritas (1978); Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis (1980).

voice and piano (or other instr.): How Love Came In (1935); 5 Songs (1939--40); 5 De La Mare Songs (1946); The Lowlands of Holland (1947); 3 Greek Songs (1951); 4 Ronsard Sonnets Set 1, 2 ten. (1952, rev. 1977); 5 Poems of W. H. Auden (1958); Autumn's Legacy (1962); Songs of the Half Light (with guitar) (1964); Chinese Songs (1971); 5 Housman Songs (1978); Una and the Lion, cantata for sop., recorders, hpd., viola da gamba (1979); Sonnet, high v. and pf. (1982).

chamber music: Str. Qts., No. 1 (1935), No. 2 (1942), No. 3 (1970); recorder sonatina (1940); vn. sonatina (1942); str. trio (1943); va. sonata (1945); Elegy and Toccata, vn. and pf. (1950); hn. trio (1954); sextet for cl., hn., str. (1955); guitar sonatina (1957); ob. sonatina (1962); Divisions, ob., cl., bn., hn., vn., vc., pf. (1964); ob. qt. (1967); Introduction and Allegro, db. and pf. (1971); Duo, vc. and pf. (1971); In Memoriam Igor Stravinsky, str. qt. (1971); pf. and wind quintet (1975); fl. sonata (1978).

piano: 5 Short Pieces (1936); 3 Pieces for 2 pf. (1938--40); 3 Impromptus (1935); 4 Concert Studies, Set 1 (1940); sonata (1945); 6 Preludes (1945); 3 Mazurkas and Scherzo (1949); sonatina, pf. duet (1954); Concert Study in E (1955); sonatina, 2 pf. (1959); Improvisation on a theme of Falla (1960); 4 Concert Studies, Set 2 (1972); Prelude and Capriccio (1978); Bagatelle, 2 pf. (1981); Mazurka (1982).

Berkeley, Michael (b London, 1948). Eng. composer; son of Lennox Berkeley. Studied Westminster Cath. Choir Sch., RAM, and with Lennox Berkeley and Richard Rodney Bennett. BBC Radio 3 announcer 1976--9. Works incl.:

oratorio: Or Shall We Die?, sop., bar., ch., and orch. (1982).

orch: Meditations, str. (1976); ob. conc. (1977); Fantasia Concertante, chamber orch. (1977); Uprising, sym. (1980); Chamber Sym. (1980); Flames (1981); Suite, Vision of Piers the Ploughman (1981); Gregorian Variations (1981--2); vc. conc. (1982).

voice and instr: The Wild Winds, sop. and small orch. (1978); At the Round Earth's Imagin'd Corners, sop., bar., ch., org., optional tpt. (1979--80); Wessex Graves, ten. and hp. (1981).

chamber music: Str. trio (1978); Étude de Fleurs, vc., pf. (1978--9); vn. sonata (1979); American Suite, rec. or fl. and bn. or vc. (1979--80); str. qt. (1980--1); guitar sonata (1982); cl. quintet (1983).

organ: Ricercare (1978); sonata (1979).

Berlin, Irving (orig. Israel Baline) (b Tyumen, Russia, 1888). Russ.-born Amer. composer of highly successful popular mus.---an instinctive composer, since his technical knowledge was rudimentary. Among his songs, many for films and mus. comedies, are Alexander's Ragtime Band (1911), God Bless America, Easter Parade, White Christmas, Putting on my Top Hat, This is the Army, What'll I do?, and Always (1925). Wrote the words (lyrics) for almost all his songs.

Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra. One of the world's major orchs., founded 1882. Among prin. cond. have been Franz Wüllner, Karl Klindworth, Hans von Bülow, Richard Strauss, Artur Nikisch (1895--1922), Wilhelm Furtwängler (1922--45), Leo Borchard (1945), Sergiu Celibidache (1945--51), and Herbert von Karajan (from 1954). The Philharmonic Hall was destroyed during 1939--45 war and replaced by a fine modern hall in 1963.

Berlinski, Herman (b Leipzig, 1910). Ger. composer. Studied Leipzig Cons. 1928--32 and in 1933 went to Paris where he studied pf. with Cortot and comp. with Nadia Boulanger, 1934--8. Escaped to USA, 1940, and entered Seminary College of Jewish Mus., NY, 1953--60. Early works influenced by Schoenberg and Hindemith but experiences as a refugee from Nazis led to his concentration on Jewish sacred and secular mus.

Berlioz, (Louis) Hector (b La Côte-St André, Grenoble, 1803; d Paris, 1869). Fr. composer, cond., and critic. His life, especially as related by himself in his marvellous Memoirs, reads like a novel. Son of a provincial doctor, he showed early liking for mus., learning the fl. and flageolet, and later the guitar, but never the pf. Intended for a medical career, in 1821 went to Paris medical sch. In 1822 applied for mus. lessons and began to compose an opera. An oratorio followed in 1823, when he became a private pupil of Le Sueur. In 1826 entered Paris Cons. to study with Reicha and LeSueur, 1826--8. In 1827 saw Kemble's co. in Hamlet at the Odéon and wasstricken 'like a thunderbolt' with a passion both for Shakespeare and for the Irish actress who played Ophelia, Harriet Smithson. In the first 5 months of 1830, comp. the Symphonie fantastique, sub-titled 'Episodes in the life of an artist' and dealing autobiographically with his passion for Miss Smithson. It was perf. on 5 Dec. In Dec. 1832 at last met Miss Smithson and married her 10 months later. Over the next decade some of his greatest works were comp., incl. Harold in Italy, the Symphonie funèbre et triomphale, the dramatic sym. Roméo et Juliette, the Grand' Messe des morts (Requiem) and the opera Benvenuto Cellini. Though some of these works were commissions (and Paganini gave him 20,000 francs for Harold in Italy, although he never played the va. solo), Berlioz supplemented his income by writing mus. criticism, a chore he detested but accomplished brilliantly. In 1841 his marriage broke up and he formed a liaison with the singer Marie Recio. They toured Ger. in 1843, and in the ensuing years he travelled frequently, visiting Russia and also paying 4 visits to London. Dramatic cantata La Damnation de Faust was a failure in Paris, 1846, and Te Deum, comp. 1849--50, was not perf. until 1855. From 1856 to 1858 engaged on enormous opera Les Troyens, for which he wrote the lib., basing it on Virgil's Aeneid. This work, Berlioz's masterpiece, was on too large a scale and efforts to have it staged at the Opéra failed. Eventually, having divided it into 2 parts, La Prise de Troie and Les Troyens à Carthage, he saw the 2nd part prod. at the Théâtre-Lyrique, Paris, in Nov. 1863. It was withdrawn after 22 perfs., a failure which broke Berlioz's spirit. In 1860--2 completed his last work, the comic opera Béatrice et Bénédict, based on Shakespeare. For nearly 100 years after his death, Berlioz's true qualities were obscured by his image as the 'Romantic artist' par excellence. His extravagances in his scores, no longer very remarkable but ahead of their time, diverted critical attention, even among his admirers, from the classical purity of his melody and the Beethovenian grandeur of his command of dramatic contrasts. Today, the opera Les Troyens, the Grand' Messe des morts and the Nuits d'été (forerunner of Mahler's song-cycles with orch.) are recognized for their poetry and originality. Principal compositions:

stage: Les Francs Juges, Op. 3 (1826, rev. 1829, 1833); Benvenuto Cellini, Op. 23 (1834--7); Les Troyens (1856--8); Béatrice et Bénédict (1860--2); Lélio (monodrama, 1831).

orch: Ovs.: Waverley, Op. 1 bis (1827--8); Les Francs-Juges, Op. 3 (1826); Le Roi Lear, Op. 4 (1831); Le Corsaire, Op. 21 (1831); Rob Roy (1832); Le Carnaval romain, Op. 9 (1844); Harold en Italie, for va. and orch., Op. 16 (1834); Symphonie fantastique Op. 14 (1830); Révérie et caprice, for vn. and orch., Op. 8 (1839); Symphonie funèbre et triomphale (ch. ad lib.), Op. 15 (1840).

voices and orch: Grand' Messe des morts (Requiem), Op. 5 (1837); La Mort de Cléopâtre (1829); Roméo et Juliette, dramatic sym., Op. 17 (1838--9); La Damnation de Faust, Op. 24 (1828--46); L'Enfance du Christ, oratorio, Op. 25 (1850--4); Te Deum, Op. 22 (1849--50); Les Nuits d'été (with pf. or orch.), Op. 7 (1840--1, pf.; 1843--56, orch.).

Berman, Lazar (b Leningrad, 1930). Russ. pianist. Début Leningrad 1934. Pupil of Alexander Goldenweiser and at Moscow Cons. of Richter and V.Sofronitsky. London début 1958, NY 1976. Specialist in 19th-cent. composers.

Bernacchi, Antonio Maria (b Bologna, 1685; d Bologna, 1756). It. alto castrato. Pupil of Pistocchi. Sang in Ger. and studied counterpoint in Munich. It. opera début Genoa 1703. From 1709 to 1736 sang in most It. cities, and sang regularly in Munich 1720--7. London début 1716. Engaged as prin. singer by Handel for London season 1729--30. Sang in f.ps. of Handel's Lotario and Partenope. Retired 1736 and founded singing sch. in Bologna.

Bernac, Pierre (really Pierre Bertin) (b Paris, 1899; d Avignon, 1979). Fr. bar., distinguished as recitalist and teacher (Gérard Souzay among his pupils). Gave first recital 1925. Frequently assoc. with composer Poulenc, his accompanist in concerts throughout Europe and USA. Several Poulenc song-cycles written for him, incl. Tel jour, telle nuit.

Bernard, Anthony (b London, 1891; d London, 1963). Eng. cond., pianist, and composer. Studied under Holbrooke and Ireland. Cond. with BNOC. Organist, pf. accompanist, and cond. at Shakespeare Memorial Th., Stratford-on-Avon (1932--42), of London Chamber Singers and of London Chamber Orch., which he founded in 1921, reviving much old mus. Cond. of Dutch Chamber Orch., The Hague, 1922--6.

Bernardi, Mario (b Kirkland, Ontario, 1930). Canadian-It. cond. and pianist. Studied Venice and Toronto Royal Cons. Mus. dir. SW 1966--8. Cond. Nat. Arts Centre Orch., Ottawa, 1969--82.

Bernardi, Steffano (b Verona, c.1585; d ?Salzburg, 1635). It. church musician. Choirmaster, Verona Cath. 1615--22. Later, Kapellmeister Salzburg Cath. Comp. masses, motets, madrigals, and instr. works.

Bernasconi, Antonia (b Stuttgart, ?1706; d Munich, 1784). It. operatic sop. for whom Gluck is said to have written Alceste, in which she sang in Vienna 1767. Sang Aspasia in the child Mozart's Mitridate in Milan 1770--1. Also sang in London 1778 and again in Vienna 1781.

Bernauerin, Die (The Wife of Bernauer). A 'Bavarian piece' by Orff, to his own lib., for speaker, sop., ten., ch., and orch. Comp. 1944--5. Prod. Stuttgart 1947.

Berners, Lord (Gerald Hugh Tyrwhitt-Wilson) (b Arley Park, Bridgnorth, Shropshire, 1883; d Faringdon, Berks., 1950). Eng. composer, also painter, author, and diplomat. Studied music in Dresden and Vienna but pursued career as diplomat 1909--20, mainly in Rome. Early works pubd. under name Gerald Tyrwhitt. Had advice and lessons in Rome from Casella and Stravinsky. Marked gift for mus. satire and parody, as exemplified in his 3 Little Funeral Marches for pf. (1916), Fragments psychologiques for pf. (1915), 3 Orchestral Pieces (1916), Fantaisie espagnole for orch. (1918--19), and Valses bourgeoises, 2 pf. (1919). Set Mérimée's Le Carrosse du Saint-Sacrément as 1-act opera (prod. Paris 1924). His best-known work is the ballet The Triumph of Neptune (London, 3 Dec. 1926), some of which was orch. by Walton. Other ballets were LunaPark (1930 Cochran revue), A Wedding Bouquet (London 1936), which has choral parts to words by Gertrude Stein, Cupid and Psyche (1939), and Les Sirènes (1946). Also wrote L'Uomo dai Baffi, for solo woodwind, pf., str. (1918), 3 Songs in the German manner (1920), 3 Chansons (1919--20), 3 Sea Shanties (1921), and pf. piece Portsmouth Point (1920). Succeeded to barony 1918. Autobiography First Childhood highly recommended. Comp. mus. for film Nicholas Nickleby (1946), and other film scores.

Bernhard, Christoph (b ?Kolberg, 1628; d Dresden, 1692). Ger. singer and composer. Went to Dresden, with recommendation to Schütz, where his fine ten. v. induced the Kurfürst to send him to It. for further tuition. In Rome, became friend of Carissimi. Later returned to Dresden, worked in Hamburg 1664--74, returned to Dresden 1674, becoming Kapellmeister 1681. Church comp. show mastery of counterpoint, notably hymn Prudentia prudentiana, 1669.

Bernier, René (b St Gilles, Belg., 1905). Belg. composer and teacher. Studied Brussels Cons. Active in Belgian mus. education since 1945, teaching at Liège and Mons. Comps. incl. ballets, choral works, and Hommage à Sax, concertino for alto sax., 1958.

Bernstein, Leonard (b Lawrence, Mass., 1918). Amer. composer, cond., and pianist. Educated Boston Latin Sch. and at Harvard Univ. 1935--9. In 1939 entered Curtis Institute, Philadelphia, studying cond. with Reiner. Already his outstanding talent had led a friend to say 'Lenny is doomed to success'. In summers of 1940--3 studied at Tanglewood summer sch., Boston, becoming ass. to Koussevitzky and was also noticed by Rodzinski, who invited him to become ass. cond. of NY Phil. Sym. Orch. 1943--4; début Nov. 1943, deputizing for Bruno Walter. Cond. NY City Center Orch., 1945--8, presenting adventurous programmes. Taught at Tanglewood 1951--5 in orch. and cond. dept.; part-time prof. of mus., Brandeis Univ. 1951--5. Career as opera cond. began at Tanglewood, 1946, in Amer. première of Britten's Peter Grimes. Cond. his own Trouble in Tahiti at Brandeis, 1952, and Cherubini's Medea (with Callas) at La Scala, Milan, 1953, returning there to cond. La Sonnambula for Callas. Début NY Met. 1964, Vienna 1966. In 1957--8 appointed joint prin. cond. (with Mitropoulos) of NY P.O., becoming sole cond. 1958--69, the first Amer.-born holder of the post. Guest cond. many of world's leading orchs., notably Vienna P.O., Israel P.O., and LSO. In 1969 was made 'laureate conductor for life' of NY P.O. Bernstein's outstanding quality as a musician is his catholic taste. Hence his comps. are markedly eclectic, bearing influences of Gershwin, Jewish ritual mus., Mahler, Stravinsky, Villa-Lobos, and Copland. (In 1941 he worked for a popular mus. publisher, making arrs. and jazz transcrs.). His first sym., Jeremiah (1941--44) won 1944 NY Music Critics' Award and in that year his ballet Fancy Free was perf. in NY. Later the same year his musical On the Town began a long run. Other musicals have been Wonderful Town (1953), Candide (1956), and the very successful West Side Story (1957). His most famous film mus. was for On the Waterfront (1954), from which he arr. a suite. He has comp. 2 other syms., The Age of Anxiety, for pf. and orch. (1947--9), and Kaddish, for female narrator, sop., ch., boys' ch., and orch. (1961--3). Also notable are Chichester Psalms (1965) and his Mass (1970--1) described as 'theatre piece for singers, players, and dancers' to lib. by himself and Stephen Schwartz. He is also an outstanding TV mus. educator and a persuasive writer.

Béroff, Michel (b Epinal, Vosges, 1950). Fr. pianist. Trained Nancy Cons. and Paris Cons. Début Paris 1966, London 1968. Specialist in pf. works of Messiaen.

Berry, Walter (b Vienna, 1929). Austrian bass-bar. Studied at Vienna Acad., then made début at Vienna Opera 1950 in small roles. Sang Masetto in Don Giovanni there 1953, later the Count in Figaro. Sang regularly at Salzburg Fest. after 1952, creating roles in 20th cent. works by Einem, Liebermann, and Egk. London début (Festival Hall) 1954, CG 1976 (Barak in Strauss's Die Frau ohne Schatten), NY Met. 1966. Fine exponent of roles of Figaro, Ochs, Wozzeck, and Wotan. Distinguished concert-hall career.

Bersag Horn or Bersagliere Bugle. Bugle with a single valve, lowering the pitch by a 4th. Made in different sizes: sop. in B $\flat$ , cont. in E $\flat$ , ten. in B $\flat$ , bar. in B $\flat$ , and bass in F. Became popular with bugle bands during 1914--18 war. Presumably of It. origin (Bersaglieri = a sharpshooter corps of It. army).

Berté, Heinrich (b Galgócz, 1857; d Vienna, 1924). Hung. composer of ballets, notably Der Karneval in Venedig (Vienna, 1900), and operettas of which the best-known is Das Dreimäderlhaus (1916, Vienna) based on Schubert melodies and depicting (mainly fictitious) scenes from Schubert's life. Amer. version arr. Romberg prod. in 1921 as Blossom Time and Eng. version arr. G. H. Clutsam as Lilac Time (1922).

Bertin, Louise Angélique (b Les Roches, 1805; d Paris, 1877). Fr. cont., pianist, and composer of operas Le loup-garou (Paris 1827), Faust (1831), and L'Esmeralda (1836, for which Hugo adapted lib.).

Bertini, Gary (b Brichovo, Bessarabia, 1927). Israeli cond. and composer. Studied Tel Aviv, Milan Cons. 1946--7, and Paris Cons. 1951--4. Founder and cond. Israel Chamber Orch. from 1965, prin. guest cond. SNO from 1970. Cond. Detroit S.O. 1981--3, Cologne Radio S.O. from 1983. Guest cond. Scottish Opera. Head, cond. class, Israel Acad. of Mus. from 1958. Mus. dir. Jerusalem S.O. from 1977. Comps.incl. incidental mus., ballets, vn. sonata, hn. conc.

Bertini, Henri Jérôme (b London, 1798; d Meylan, Grenoble, 1876). Eng.-born composer for pf., and especially of pf. studies which have long been used by teachers. Worked in Paris 1821--59.

Berton, Henri Montan (b Paris, 1767; d Paris, 1844). Fr. violinist, composer, and teacher. Violinist in Opéra orch. from 1782. Prof. of harmony Paris Cons., 1795--1818, when he succeeded Méhul as prof. of comp. Cond., Opéra-Comique 1807--9. Besides sacred mus. and instr. works, comp. over 40 operas (some in co-operation with Méhul, Spontini, Paërs, and Boieldieu) of which best-known were Les Rigueurs du cloître (1790), a 'rescue opera' which was an exemplar for Fidelio, and Montano et Stéphanie (1799). Wrote pamphlets attacking Rossini.

Bertoni, Ferdinando Gasparo (b Salò, Venice, 1725; d Desenzano, Brescia, 1813). It. composer, pupil of Padre Martini. Organist St Mark's Venice, 1752--85. Comp. Orfeo (1776) to same lib. as Gluck. Several visits to London to conduct his own operas (of which he wrote about 50). Became cond. at St Mark's 1785 on death of Galuppi.

Bertrand, Antoine de (b c.1540; d Toulouse, c.1580). Fr. composer. Comp. notable 4-part settings of Ronsard Sonnets, using half-modal, half-tonal harmonic idiom.

Berutti, Arturo (b San Juan, 1862; d Buenos Aires, 1938). Arg. composer. Studied with Reinecke at Leipzig, then in Paris and Milan. From 1896 worked in Buenos Aires, composing instr. works and operas of strong nat. character. Operas incl. Taras Bulba (1895) and Pampa (1897).

Berwald, Franz (Adolf) (b Stockholm, 1796; d Stockholm, 1868). Swed. composer (mainly self-taught), and violinist. Studied in Berlin where he comp. opera Der Verräter. Lived for time in Vienna, where opera Estrella di Soria was comp., also orch. works. Returned to Sweden, where his work was unfavourably received, so went back to Vienna, where Jenny Lind sang in his opera Ein Ländliches Verlobungsfest in Schweden (A Swedish country betrothal, 1847). His chamber mus. is rewarding, also his 4 syms., of which only No. 1 in G minor (Sérieuse) was perf. in his lifetime. No. 3 in C major (Singulière) (1845) has become relatively popular. The best-known of his operas is the last, Queen of Golconda, 1864. Also wrote vn. conc. (1820), pf. conc. (1855), 3 str. qts. (1818, 1849, 1849), 2 pf. quintets (1853, c.1850--7), and Septet in Bb (?1828).

Bes (Ger.). The note Bbb.

Bésard, Jean Baptiste (b Besan; Alcon, 1567; d ?S. Ger., after 1617). Fr. amateur composer and lutenist. Worked variously in Rome, Cologne, and Augsburg. Author of books on medicine, history, and philosophy. Pubd. 2 vols. of lute mus., incl. own comps., 1603 and 1617.

Besch, Anthony (John Elwyn) (b London, 1924). Eng. opera producer for Glyndebourne, ENO, Scottish Opera, NY City Opera, San Francisco Opera, and others.

Besozzi. It. family of orch. musicians specializing in woodwind, particularly ob. Headed by Alessandro (b Parma, 1702; d Turin, 1793) who comp. several trio sonatas, etc. Second generation settled in Paris where the last member, Louis Désiré (b Versailles, 1814) died in 1879.

Besson, Gustave Auguste (b Paris, 1820; d Paris, 1875). Fr. maker of mus. instr. Prod. a new cornet when only 18. Many inventions to improve valve-mechanism of cornet, most successful being 'prototype system' of construction with conical steel mandrels. Also invented db. cl., and family of 'cornophones' to reinforce orch. hns. Branch factory opened London 1851.

Best, William Thomas (b Carlisle, 1826; d Liverpool, 1897). Eng. organist, recognized as the greatest concert organist of his time, the chief centre of his activities being St George's Hall, Liverpool, 1855--94. Assoc. for 21 years with Handel fests. in London. Arr. many works for his instr. Ed. Bach's org. works, and wrote books on organ-playing. Gave first recital on Royal Albert Hall organ, 1871.

Bestimmt (Ger.). (1) Decided (in style). (2, applied to a particular line in the score) Prominent.

Besuch der Alten Dame, Der (Einem). See Visit of the Old Lady, The.

Bethlehem. Choral-drama by Boughton. Lib. based on medieval Coventry Play. (Prod. Street, Somerset, 1915).

Bethlehem, Penn. Known for its fests., which began in 1742 with Moravian settlers. Since 1900 fest. has been given by Bethlehem Bach Choir, with orch. recruited from leading Amer. orch. musicians.

Betonung (Ger.). Accentuation.

Betrothal in a Nunnery (Prokofiev). See Duenna, The.

Bettelstudent, Der (The Beggar Student). Operetta in 3 acts by Millöcker to lib. by F. Zell and R. Genée. Prod. Vienna 1882, NY 1883, London 1884.

Betz, Franz (b Mainz, 1835; d Berlin, 1900). Ger. bass-bar. Studied Karlsruhe, début Hanover 1856. Created role of Hans Sachs in Wagner's Meistersinger, Munich 1868, and sang Wotan at first Bayreuth Fest. 1876. First Berlin Falstaff (Verdi).

Bevignani, Enrico (b Naples, 1841; d Naples, 1903). It. cond. and composer. Spent much of his career in London. Répétiteur at Her Majesty's Th. 1863--9. Cond., CG 1869--87 and 1890--6, NY Met. 1894--1900. Cond. first London perfs. of Aida (1876) and Pagliacci (1893). Patti insisted on his conducting for her whenever possible.

Bevin, Elway (b 1554; d Bristol, 1638). Welsh composer, and organist of Bristol Cath. from 1589. Wrote book on mus. theory. Pupil of Tallis.

Bevington and Sons. Eng. firm of org.-builders founded in London 1794 by Henry Bevington. Built orgs. of St Martin-in-the-Fields, London, and St Patrick's Cath., Dublin.

Beweglich (Ger.). Agile. So Beweglichkeit, agility.

Bewegt. (1) Moved, i.e. speeded. (2) Moved, i.e. emotionally. Bewegter. Quicker.

Bewegung. (1) Rate of motion, speed. (2) Emotion. (3) Commotion.

Beydts, Louis (b Bordeaux, 1895; d Caudéran, 1953). Fr. composer of operettas and instr. mus. Wrote mus. for film La Kermesse Heroïque.

Beyschlag, Adolf (b Frankfurt-am-Main, 1845; d Mainz, 1914). Ger. cond. and composer. Worked in Cologne, Treves, and Frankfurt, also in Belfast, Manchester (with Hallé), and Leeds (cond. Phil. Soc.). Went to Berlin as teacher, 1902. Pubd. treatise on ornamentation, Leipzig, 1908.

Bezekirsky, Vasily (b Moscow, 1835; d Moscow, 1919). Russ. violinist and composer. Many tours abroad as soloist. Leader, Imperial Th., Moscow, orch. 1871--91. Prof. of vn., Moscow Cons. of Phil. Soc. 1882--1902. Comp. orch. works incl. vn. conc. and wrote cadenzas for concs. of Beethoven and Brahms.

Bialas, Günter (b Bielschowitz, 1907). Ger. composer and teacher. Studied at Breslau Univ. 1925--7, Berlin Acad. of Church and Sch. Mus. 1927--33. Taught mus. theory at Breslau Univ. 1940--1. In 1947 taught in Weimar; teacher of comp. N.W. Ger. Acad. of Mus., Detmold, 1948--59 (prof. from 1950), Munich Municipal Sch. of Mus. from 1959. Comps. incl. 3 operas, Conc. for Orch. (1938), va. conc. (1940), fl. conc. (1947), vn. conc. (1947), cl. conc. (1961), vc. conc. (1962), choral works, songs, 3 str. qts., and vn. sonata.

Bianca (It.). White. Half-note or minim.

Bianca und Giuseppe. Opera in 4 acts by Kittl (prod. 1848) memorable only because lib. is by Wagner, who adapted König's novel for his own use in 1836 but did not set it.

Bianchi, Francesco (b Cremona, 1752; d Hammersmith, 1810). It. composer of over 80 operas and oratorios. Worked at It. Opera in Paris under Piccinni, 1775. From 1785 to 1797 was 2nd organist at St Mark's, Venice. Went to London 1794. Wrote opera Inez de Castro for It. débüt of Elizabeth Billington. Cond. in Dublin, 1797--1801. Among operas are Semiramide (1790), Acis and Galatea (1792), and Alzira (1801). Took own life.

Biancolli, Louis Leopold (b NY, 1907). Amer. mus. critic, chiefly for World-Telegram and Sun 1928--66. Programme annotator NY Phil. 1941--1949. Author of several books, incl. biography of Kirsten Flagstad (1952).

Bibalo, Antonio (b Trieste, 1922). It. composer whosettled in Norway. Studied with E. Lutyens. Has concentrated principally on opera. Comps. in this genre incl. The Smile at the foot of the ladder (based on story by Henry Miller, comp. 1958--62), Miss Julie (based on Strindberg's play, comp. 1973, rev. with orch. reduced to pf. and str. qt. 1983--4), and Ghosts (based on Ibsen's play, comp. 1981).

Bibelorgel, Bibelregal (Ger.). A type ofRegal, a reed org. which came into use in the 15th cent. and remained popular into the 17th. In appearance it was a small, portable, single-manual org. of small compass, but the pipes (all short) were at first all reed-pipes, the reeds being of that type called 'Beating Reeds' (see Reed): later flue pipes were sometimes added. The Bible Regal folded in 2 like a book.

Biber, Heinrich Ignaz Franz von (b Wartenberg, Bohemia, 1644; d Salzburg, 1704). Ger.-Bohemian violinist and composer, becoming Kapellmeister at Salzburg, 1684. Prolific composer for vn., also wrote operas, chamber mus., tpt. conc., and 'Nightwatchman' Serenade (for 2 vn., 2 va., and continuo).

Biblical Songs. 10 settings for v. and pf. by Dvořák, comp. 1894 as his Op. 99, of passages from the Psalms. Nos. 1 and 5 orch. Dvořák.

Biches, Les. (The Hinds; colloq. The Little Darlings). Ballet in 1 act with ch., incorporating 17th-cent. texts, comp. by Poulenc in 1923 and prod. Monte Carlo 1924. Scenario by composer, choreog. Nijinskaya. Suite (re-scored) 1940.

Bicinium (Lat.). A 2-v. song.

Biene, August van (b Holland, 1850; d Eng., 1913). Dutch cellist. Went to London as child and played in streets; discovered by Costa. Comp. popular The Broken Melody and played it (in mus. halls, etc.) over 6,000 times.

Biggs, (Edward George) Power (b Westcliff-on-Sea, 1906; d Boston, Mass., 1977). Eng.-born concert organist (Amer. citizen 1937). Studied RAM. Specialized in reviving neglected classical works, often on reconstructions of old instr. Commissioned works from Amer. composers.

Bigophone, Bigotphone. Improved mirliton introduced by Bigot, a Frenchman, in the 1880s. Often made up to resemble the various brass instr.

Bihári, János (b Nagyabony, 1764; d Pest, 1827). Hung. violinist and composer credited with composing the Rákóczi March, although version of the tune already existed.

Bilitis, Chansons de (Debussy). See Chansons de Bilitis.

Billings, William (b Boston, Mass., 1746; d Boston, 1800). One of first Amer.-born composers, he abandoned tanning for mus. Wrote much church mus., including 'fuguing pieces', essays in imitative counterpoint. Comp. patriotic songs.

Billington, Elizabeth (b London, 1765; d Venice, 1818). Eng. sop. with European reputation. Daughter of Carl Weichsel, Ger.-born oboist at King's Th., London. Child prodigy as pianist and composer. Studied with J. C. Bach. In 1783 married James Billington, db. player, with whom she also studied. Began opera career in Dublin, 1783, as Polly in Beggar's Opera.

Sang in Naples 1794 in Bianchi's Inez di Castro. Paisiello, Paér, and Himmel wrote operas for her. First Eng. Vitellia in Mozart's La clemenza di Tito, London 1806. Retired 1817, living in Venice from 1817. Painted by Reynolds.

Billroth, Theodor (b Bergen, Isle of Rügen, 1829; d Abazzia, 1894). Prussian surgeon and amateur musician, famous as close friend of Brahms in Vienna from 1867. Many of Brahms's chamber works received private f.ps. at his soirées. Correspondence with Brahms pubd.

Billy Budd. Opera, orig. in 4 acts, by Britten, Op. 50, to lib. by E. M. Forster and Eric Crozier from Melville's story. Comp. 1950--1, prod. London 1951, NY (TV) 1952. Rev. in 2 acts for BBC radio prod., broadcast Nov. 1960. F. stage p. of this verson, CG 1964, Chicago 1970. Subject also of opera by Ghedini (Venice 1949).

Billy the Kid. Ballet in 1 act, mus. by Copland, to lib. by Kirstein, choreog. Loring; comp. for Ballet Caravan 1938 (Chicago). Subject was 'Wild West' gunman (William Bonney). Concert Suite for orch., and pf. suite, 1938.

Binary Form. Literally, a form in 2 sections. Simple binary form, as in an 18th-cent. kbd. suite, has no strong contrast of material. The first section opens in the Tonic key and then (subject to an exception shortly to be mentioned) modulates, as it ends, into the key of the Dominant. The 2nd section then opens in that 2nd key and, before it ends, modulates back to the 1st. There are, then, 2 distinct main cadences, or points of rest, the 1st in the Dominant and the 2nd in the Tonic. The exception just referred to occurs if the piece is in a minor key, when the 1st section sometimes ends in the relative major. This form is unsuitable for very long pieces, since the variety offered to the listener is almost entirely confined to details of treatment and the element of key, the thematic material employed throughout being the same. Since the deaths of Bach and Handel, this form has been little used. It developed into compound binary form, another name for Sonata form.

Binchois, Gilles de Bins (b ?Mons, c.1400; d Soignies, 1460). Franco-Flemish composer and organist. Regarded as one of major composers of early part of 15th cent. Probably trained as chorister and thought to have been soldier in service of Earl of Suffolk in Eng. occupation army in France. In 1420s joined Burgundian court chapel. Provost of collegiate church of St Vincent, Soignies, from 1452. Most of his surviving secular songs are rondeaux. Church mus. incl. a Te Deum, several settings of the Magnificat, Credo, and Gloria, but no complete Mass survives.

Bind. See Tie or Bind. Binet, Jean (b Geneva, 1893; d Trélex-sur-Nyon, 1960). Swiss composer of choral, orch., and chamber works; pupil of Jaques-Dalcroze and Bloch. Taught in USA and Belg.

Bing, (Sir) Rudolf (Franz Joseph) (b Vienna, 1902). Austrian-born impresario. Studied Vienna Univ., then worked in concert agency 1923--7. At Darmstadt State Th., 1928--30, and Charlottenburg-Berlin Opera 1930--3, under Carl Ebert. Went to Eng. (naturalized 1946) and was manager, Glyndebourne Opera 1935--9 and 1946--9. First dir., Edinburgh Festival, 1947--9. Gen. man. NY Met., 1950--72. C.B.E. 1956. Knighted 1971.

Binge, Ronald (b Derby, 1910; d Ringwood, Hants, 1979). Eng. composer of light orch. works such as Elizabethan Serenade, Spitfire, Thames Rhapsody, also alto sax. conc. and film mus. Began career as cinema organist. Became arr. in 1935 for Mantovani, whose post-1945 'singing strings' style was his creation.

Biniou (Fr.). Bagpipe.

Binkerd, Gordon Ware (b Lynch, Nebraska, 1916). Amer. composer; studied at Eastman Sch. 1940--1 and Harvard Univ. 1946--9 (comp. with W. Piston). Prof. of comp., Illinois Univ., 1949--71. Comps. incl. 3 syms., 2 str. qts., and a song-cycle and choral work, both to words by Hardy.

Binns, Malcolm (b Gedling, Nottingham, 1936). Eng. pianist. Studied RCM. Londondébut 1957. Prof. of pf., RCM, 1962--9. Specialist in perf. of works on instr. of the period in which they were composed.

Biondi, Giovanni Battista (b Cesena, fl. 1605--30). It. Minorite friar known to have worked in Bologna and in Brisighella, near Faenza. Comp. 19 vols. of motets, masses, psalms, etc. pubd. in Venice 1606--30.

Birch, John (Anthony) (b Leek, Staffs, 1929). Eng. organist and choirmaster. Studied RCM. Organist, Chichester Cath. from 1958; prof. of org., RCM from 1959.

Bird Organ (or Serinette). Simple form of the 'Orgue deBarbarie', intended by reiteration of a short tune to teach captive birds to sing. (Serin, Fr. = the domestic canary.)

Birds, The (Gli uccelli). Suite for small orch. by Respighi. Based on 17th- and 18th-cent. bird-pieces for lute and for hpd. In 5 movements: Prelude, Dove, Hen, Nightingale, and Cuckoo. (F.p. S;Atao Paulo, Brazil, 1927.)

Birmingham. City in West Midlands, Eng., with splendid mus. tradition. Fest. was held there triennially, with occasional breaks, from 1768 to 1912. Costa cond., 1849--82; Mendelssohn's Elijah f.p. 1846 and Gounod's Rédemption 1882. Richter became cond. 1885. Byrd's Mass in 5 parts was revived 1900. Most significant fest. f.ps. were of Elgar works: The Dream of Gerontius (1900), The Apostles (1903), The Kingdom (1906), The Music Makers (1912). Sibelius cond. f.p. in England of his 4th Sym., 1912. CBSO was founded 1920 with Appleby Matthews as cond. (though first concert cond. Elgar). Conds. since then have been Boult 1924--30, Heward 1930--1943, Weldon 1943--51, Schwarz 1951--7, Panufnik 1957--9, Rignold 1960--8, Frémaux 1969--78, Rattle from 1980. Birmingham Sch. of Mus. developed slowly until appointment of Bantock as prin., 1900. Orig. part of Birmingham and Midland Institute and formally constituted in 1886 but now part of City of Birmingham Polytechnic and in new building since 1973. Pupils have incl. Julius Harrison, Frank Mullings, and Clarence Raybould. Other prins. have been A. K. Blackall (1934--45), Christopher Edmunds (1945--57), Steuart Wilson (1957--60), Gordon Clinton (1960--73), and L. Carus from 1973. At univ., Peyton Chair of Mus. was founded 1905 with Elgar as first prof. Succeeded by Bantock (1908), other incumbents being V. Hely-Hutchinson, J. A. Westrup, A. Lewis, and I. Keys.

Birtwistle, Harrison (Paul) (b Accrington, 1934). Eng. composer. As clarinettist, entered RCM 1952, studying comp. with Richard Hall. While still a student was one of Manchester New Music Group (with A. Goehr, P. Maxwell Davies and J. Ogdon), performing avant-garde works. Leaving RCM in 1960, spent a year at RAM. From 1962 to 1965 was dir. of mus., Cranborne Chase Sch. In USA 1966--8, first year as visiting fellow, Princeton Univ. With Maxwell Davies formed Pierrot Players in London for perf. of new chamber mus. involving theatrical elements (named after Pierrot Lunaire). Received commissions for works from many organizations and rapidly moved into forefront of Eng. composers of his generation. Music marked by genuine lyrical impulse built on dramatic use of ostinato and repeated thematic fragments. A strong poetic feeling pervades all his work. Prin. comps.:

opera and dramatic: Punch and Judy (1966--7); Down by the Greenwood Side (1968--9); The Mask of Orpheus, (1973--5, 1981--4); Bow Down (1977); Yan Tan Tethera, tv opera (1983--4).

ballet: Frames, Pulses and Interruptions (1977).

orch: Chorales (1960--3); 3 Movements with Fanfares (1964); Nomos (1967--8); An Imaginary Landscape (1971); The Triumph of Time (1972); Melencolia I (1976); Still Movement, 13 solo str. (1984).

instrumental (without v.); Refrains and Choruses, wind quintet (1957); The World is Discovered, chamber ens. (1960); Tragoedia, wind quintet, hp., str. qt. (1965); Verses for Ensembles, wind quintet, brass, perc. (1969); Some Petals from the Garland, chamber ens. (1969); Medusa, ens. (1969--70, rev. 1980); Dinah and Nick's Love Song, 3 sop. sax., hp., or 3 cor. ang., hp. (1972); Tombeau, in mem. Igor Stravinsky, fl., cl., hp., str. qt. (1972); Chorales from a Toyshop (1974); Silbury Air, chamber ens. (1977); Carmen Arcadiae Mechanicae Perpetuum, chamber ens. (1977); For O, For O, the Hobby Horse is Forgot, 6 perc. players (1976); Pulse Sampler, ob. and claves (1981).

instrumental (with vv.): Monody for Corpus Christi (1959); Entr'actes and Sappho Fragments, sop. and ens. (1964); Cantata, sop. and ens. (1969); Nenia on the Death of Orpheus, sop. and ens. (1970); Prologue, ten. and ens. (1970); The Fields of Sorrow, 2 sop., ch., and ens. (1971, rev. 1972); Meridian, mez., ch., and ens. (1970--1); La Plage, sop., 3 cl., pf., marimba (1972); .|. agm .|. .|., 16 solo vv. and 3 instr. ens. (1978--9).

unacc. voices: Description of the Passing of a Year, ch. (1963); On the Sheer Threshold of the Night, 4 solo vv. and 12-part ch. (1980).

brass band: Grimethorpe Aria (1973).

electronic: 4 Interludes from a Tragedy, cl. and tape (1968--9); Chronometer, 8-track tape (1971--2).

chamber music: Verses, cl., pf. (1965); Linoi, cl., pf. (1968), with tape and dancer added (1969), cl., pf., vc. (1973); cl. quintet (1980); Deowa, sop., cl. (1983); Duets for Storab, 2 fl. (1983).

incidental music: Hamlet (1975).

Bis (Fr.). Twice. (1, at a concert) `Encore!'. (2, in a score) Repeat the passage.

Bisbigliando (It. `Whispering'). Effect used on harp. Constantly repeated notes are played pianissimo in upper and middle registers. Involves both hands playing adjacent strings set to same pitch with the pedals.

Biscroma (It.). The 32nd note or demisemiquaver.

Bishop, (Sir) Henry (Rowley) (b London, 1786; d London, 1855). Eng. composer and cond., pupil of F. Bianchi. Engaged in 1810 to cond. and compose for CG. Founder member and dir., London Phil. Soc., 1813. Left CG 1824, becoming mus. dir. Drury Lane. `Adapted' other composers' operas for Eng. stage, incl. Mozart's Figaro and Don Giovanni. Prof. of mus. Edinburgh Univ. 1841--3, Oxford Univ. 1848--55. Knighted 1842, first musician to be thus honoured. Of his large output only 2 songs effectively survive, Home, Sweet Home and Lo, Here the Gentle Lark.

Bishop-Kovacevich, Stephen (b Los Angeles, 1940). Amer. pianist of Yugoslav parentage, living in Eng. Studied with Lev Shorr; début 1951 (San Francisco). Studied with Myra Hess in London, 1959, début Wigmore Hall, 1961. Int. tours as recitalist and in concs. Dedicatee and first player of Richard Rodney Bennett's conc.

Bispham, David (Scull) (b Philadelphia, 1857; d NY, 1921). Amer. operatic and concert bar. Pupil of Lamperti in Milan. Eng. début 1891 in Messager's La Basoche; sang Kurwenal in Tristan under Mahler, Drury Lane, 1892; NY Met. début as Beckmesser in Die Meistersinger, 1896. Determined advocate of opera in English.

Bissex. 12-str. guitar, invented 1770 by Vanhecke, with 6 str. over the finger-board and the rest sympathetic.

Bist du bei mir (With you beside me). Aria by J.S. Bach from Anna Magdalena Bach notebook (1725) written on 2 staves only, with v. part and unfigured bass.

Bitonality. The use of 2 keys simultaneously, as in the works of Stravinsky, Vaughan Williams, Holst, and many other 20th-cent. composers. See Tonality and Polytonality.

Bittner, Julius (b Vienna, 1874; d Vienna, 1939). Austrian composer. Trained as lawyer, but turned to mus. and comp. operas, songs, chamber mus., etc., as well as editing a mus. journal. Operas incl. Das höllisch Gold (1916) and Das Veilchen (1934).

Bizet, (Alexandre Césare Léopold), known as Georges (b Paris, 1838; d Bougival, 1875). Fr. composer. Studied Paris Cons., pupil of Halévy (whose daughter he married). Won Grand Prix de Rome 1857, in which year his Docteur Miracle was perf. In Rome comp. an opéra-bouffe Don Procopio (prod. Monte Carlo 1906) and a choral sym. Vasco da Gama, also his Te Deum (1858). On return to Paris comp. several operas, none of which had much success. They were Les Pêcheurs de perles (The Pearl Fishers) (1863), La Jolie Fille de Perth (The Fair Maid of Perth) (1866), and Djamileh (1871). In the early 1860s, comp. a 5-act opera Ivan IV which he later abandoned, using some of the mus. in other works, but which was prod. in a mutilated edn. after World War II as Ivan le Terrible. Other operas which exist either in incomplete or fragmentary form are La Coupe du Roi de Thule (1868), Grisélidis (1870--1), which incl. mus. later used in L'Arlésienne and Carmen (Flower Song), and Don Rodrigue (1873). Had more success in his lifetime with non-operatic works such as Souvenirs de Rome (perf. 1869, pubd. 1880 as suite Roma), the Petite Suite, Jeux d'enfants (1871), and incidental music to L'Arlésienne (1872). In 1873 began work on an opéra-comique Carmen, prod. Paris 1875 and coolly received, though it has since become one of the most popular operas ever written. A brilliant pianist, Bizet also comp. for that instr. and his songs and church mus. are of high quality. A Sym. in C, 1855, of felicitous youthful charm, was disinterred in 1933 and f.p. in Basle cond. Weingartner, 26 Feb. 1935. If Bizet's fame rests largely on Carmen, all his pubd. work has colour, melody, and brilliant aptness of orchestration. But in practically all of Bizet's work, incl. Carmen, there are musicological pitfalls for the unwary writer who has not consulted the work of authorities such as Winton Dean concerning spurious edns., additions, and interpolations. Prin. works:

operas: Le Docteur Miracle (1856); Don Procopio (1858--9); La Prêtresse (?1861); Ivan IV (?1862--3, rev. 1864--5); Les Pêcheurs de perles (The Pearl Fishers) (1863); La jolie fille de Perth (The Fair Maid of Perth) (1866); Djamileh (1871); Carmen (1873--4).

incidental music: L'Arlésienne (play by A. Daudet) (1872).

orch: Overture (c. 1855); Sym. in C (1855); Scherzo et Marche funèbre (1860--1); Roma, sym. (1860--8, rev. 1871); Marche funèbre (1868--9); Petite Suite (1871, orch. of Nos. 2, 3, 6, 11, and 12 from Jeux d'Enfants, pf. duet 1871); L'Arlésienne, Suite No. 1 (1872. Suite No. 2 is by Guiraud); Patrie, ov. (1873).

choral: Valse in G, 4 vv., orch. (1855); La Chanson du Rouet, solo v., 4 vv., pf. (1857); Clovis et Clotilde, cantata (1857); Te Deum, sop., ten., 4 vv., orch. (1858); Vasco de Gama, ode-symphony (1859--60); La Mort s'avance, 4 vv., orch. (1869).

piano: Grande Valse de Concert in Eb, Nocturne in F (1854); 3 Esquisses Musicales (1858); Chants du Rhin (1865); Variations Chromatiques de Concert (1868); Nocturne in D (1868); Jeux d'Enfants (Children's Games), 12 pieces, pf. duet (1871).

songs: Vieille Chanson (1865); Après l'hiver (1866); Feuilles d'Album, 6 songs (1866); Chants des Pyrénées, 6 folk-songs (1867); Berceuse (1868); La Coccinelle (1868); Absence (1872); Chant d'Amour (1872); Sérénade: O, quand je dors (1870); 12 extracts from unperf. stage works all fitted with new words (pubd. 1886).

Bizony, Celia (b Berlin, 1904). Ger.-born v. teacher, composer, and harpsichordist. Studied Geneva and Vienna. Co-founder Musica Antica e Nuova, Cambridge, 1942--8. Lecturer and teacher in Canada 1949--55. Prof., GSM and lecturer, Morley College, London, 1956--69. Mus. dir., Musica Antica e Nuova, London, from 1956. Comp. part-songs, str. qt., hpd. pieces. Wrote short history of Bach family.

Bjoner, Ingrid (b Kråkstad, Norway, 1927). Norwegian sop. Studied Oslo Cons. and Frankfurt Hochschule für Musik. Début Oslo 1957 (Donna Anna in Don Giovanni). Wuppertal Opera 1957--9, Düsseldorf 1959--61, Munich from 1961. Guest singer, leading opera houses and fests.

Björling, Jussi (Johan) (b Stora Tuna, Sweden, 1911; d Island of Siar Oe, 1960). Swed. ten., taught by father. Early public appearances in male v. qt. with father and 2 brothers. Studied Royal Opera Sch., Stockholm. Début Stockholm 1930 as Don Ottavio in Don Giovanni. London début 1939. NY Met. 1938--59 (excluding war).

Blacher, Boris (b Niu-chang, China, 1903; d Berlin, 1975). Ger. composer. Studied mus. in Irkutsk, Siberia, and at Charbin, China, where he worked in the opera house, 1919. Moving to Berlin 1922, studied architecture and mathematics, and comp., after 1924, with Friedrich Koch. Taught at Dresden Cons. 1938--9. In 1945 became prof. of comp., Berlin Hochschule and dir., 1953--1970. Prolific composer in many forms, Blacher's mus. is basically tonal, though he has used the 12-note method, and he developed (in Ornamente, Op. 37, for pf., 1950) a rhythmical process called 'variable metres' whereby systematic changes of metre are planned according to mathematical relationships. Employed jazz styles in early works and elec. devices in later ones (after 1962). Works incl.:

operas: [fy75,1] Fürstin Tarakanowa (1940; also orch. suite); Romeo und Julia (1943); Die Flut (1946); Die Nachtschwalbe (1947); Preussisches Märchen (1949); Rosamunde Floris (1960); Zwischenfälle bei einer Notlandung, 'reportage' for elec. instr. and singers (1965); 200,000 Taler (1969); Yvonne, Prinzessin von Bergund (1972); Das Geheimnis des entwendeten Briefes (1974).

ballets: Harlekinade (1939); Das Zauberbuch von Erzerum (on themes of Flotow) (1941; rev. as Der erste Ball, 1950); Chiarina (1946); Lysistrata (1950; also orch. suite); Hamlet (1949; also orch. suite); Der Mohr von Venedig (based on Othello) (1955); Demeter (1963); Tristan (1965; also orch. suite).

orch: Kleine Marschmusik (1932); Kurmusik (1933); Divertimento, str. (1935); Divertimento, wind (1936); Geigenmusik, vn., orch. (1936); Concertante Musik (1937); Sym. (1938); Hamlet, sym.-poem (1940); Conc. for str. (1940); Partita, str., perc. (1945); Variations on a Theme of Paganini (1947); Pf. Conc. No. 1 (1947), No. 2 (1952); Vn. Conc. (1948); Conc. for cl., bn., hn., tpt., hp., str. (1950); 2 Inventions (1954); Va. Conc. (1954); Fantasy (1955); Hommage to Mozart (1956); Music for Cleveland (1957); Variations on a Theme of Clementi, pf., orch. (1961); Konzertstück, wind quintet, str. (1963); Vc. Conc. (1964); Collage (1968); Conc. for tpt. and str. (1970); Cl. Conc. (1971); Stars and Strings, jazz ens., str. (1972); Poème (1974); Pentagramm, str. (1974).

choral: Der Grossinquisitor, oratorio after Dostoyevsky (1942); Träume vom Tod und vom Leben, cantata, ten., ch., orch. (1955); Die Gesänge des Seeräubers O'Rourke und seiner Geliebten Sally Brown, sop., female cabaret singer, bar., speaker, speaking ch., orch. (1958); Requiem, sop., bar., ch., orch. (1958).

voice[nm]

s) [smand instr: Jazz-Koloraturen, sop., alto sax., bn. (1929); Francesca da Rimini, sop., vn. (1954); 13 Ways of Looking at a Blackbird, sop. or ten., str. (1957); 3(6;plx) oder For Seven, sop., perc., db. (1973).

chamber music: Str. qts., No. 1 (1930), No. 2 (1940), No. 3 (1944), No. 4 (Epitaph) (1951), No. 5 (Variationen über einem divergierenden c-moll-Dreiklang) (1967); vc. sonata (1940);

vn. sonata (1941); solo vn. sonata (1951); 4 Studies for hpd. (1967); pf. trio (1970); quintet, fl., ob., str. trio (1973); Tchaikovsky-Variations, vc., pf. (1974).

piano: 2 sonatinas (1940); 3 Pieces (1943); Ornamente (1950); sonata (1951); 24 Preludes (1974).

elec: Multiple Raumperspektiven, pf., elec. (1962); Glissierende Deviationen, tape (1962); Der Astronaut, tape (1963); Elektronisches Scherzo, tape (1965); Ariadne, duodrama, 2 speakers, elec. (1971).

Blachut, Beno (b Ostrava-Vitkovice, 1913; d Prague, 1985). Cz. ten. Studied Prague 1935--9. Opera début Olomouc, 1938, as Jenik in Smetana's The Bartered Bride. Member, Prague Nat. Th. from 1941. One of finest singers of Janáček and Smetana operatic roles.

Black Dyke Mills Band. Brass band, founded 1855, in connexion with mills of same name in village of Queensbury, Yorkshire. Has always held high place in band world, frequently winning Brit. nat. championships and other prizes, and touring both sides of the Atlantic.

Blackford, Richard (b London, 1954). Eng. composer and cond. Studied with Lutyens and at RCM. Ass. to Henze in It. 1975. Founded mus.-th. workshop at London Acad. of Mus. and Dramatic Art, 1977. Works incl. opera for children Sir Gawain and the Green Knight (1977); Inamorata---6 Sappho Fragments for sop., harp, and str. sextet (1976), Concerto for 7 (1976), Sinfonie Poliziane for 3 orch. groups (1977), and Pietà for orch. (1977).

Black Key Étude. No. 5 (in G $\flat$  major) of Chopin's 12 Grandes Études for pf. (Op.10; pubd. 1833). The right hand confines itself to the black keys.

Black Knight, The. Sym. for ch. and orch. by Elgar, his Op. 25. Comp. 1889--93. Setting of Longfellow's trans. of Uhland. (F.p. Worcester Choral Soc. 1893; London, 1895).

Blackshaw, Christian (b Cheadle Hulme, 1949). Eng. pianist. Studied RMCM 1965--70, Leningrad Cons. 1970--2, RAM 1972--4. Début, London 1969. 1st prize Casella Int. Pf. Competition, Naples, 1974.

Black, Stanley (b London, 1913). Eng. composer, pianist, and cond., esp. of film mus. Studied Matthay Sch. of Mus. Cond., BBC Dance Orch. 1944--52; mus. dir. ABC Pictures, 1958--63; prin. cond. BBC Northern Ireland Orch., 1968--9; ass. cond. Osaka P.O. 1971; N.Z. Proms 1972.

Bladder-Pipe. Instr. similar to bagpipe which existed from 13th to 16th cents. and was sometimes called Platerspil. Attempted to combine bagpipe's continuous air flow with a means of stopping and starting more easily, thus making some kind of tonguing and articulation possible. This it did by using elastic animal bladder which expelled air down the pipe by its own elasticity instead of, as in the bagpipe, by arm pressure on animal skin.

Blades, James (b Peterborough, 1901). Eng. percussion-player. Prof. of timp. and perc. RAM. Former member, ECO, Melos Ens., etc. Author of books on perc. instr. and technique. O.B.E. 1972.

Blagrove, Henry (Gamble) (b Nottingham, 1811; d London, 1872). Eng. violinist. Studied in Ger. with Spohr 1832--4. On return to Eng. formed qt., establishing first regular series of chamber concerts in London, 1835. Leader of many British orchs. of his time.

Blagrove, Richard (Manning) (b Nottingham, 1826; d London, 1895). Brother of Henry Blagrove. Noted va. player, and propagandist, as composer and executant, for the concertina.

Blake, David (Leonard) (b London, 1936). Eng. composer. Studied Cambridge Univ. and Ger. Acad. of Arts, Berlin, with Eisler. Lecturer in mus., York Univ., 1964--71, senior lecturer from 1971, prof. from 1981. Also cond. and pianist with his ensemble Lumina. Early works in tonal idiom influenced by Bartók and Mahler, later adopted 12-note system, but later evolved a freer, more relaxed style, the vn. conc. being deeply romantic in style and spirit. Prin. works:

opera: Toussaint L'Ouverture, 3 acts (lib. by T. Ward) (1974--6, rev. 1982).

orch: Chamber Symphony (1966), Metamorphoses (1971), vn. conc. No. 1 (1976), No. 2 (1983), Sonata alla Marcia (1978).

vocal and choral: 3 Choruses to Poems by Frost (1964), Beata L'Alma, sop. and pf. (1966), Lumina, soloist, ch., and orch. (1969), The Bones of Chuang Tzu, bar. and pf. (1972), bar. and chamber orch. (1973); In Praise of Krishna, sop. and 9 instr. (1973); Toussaint Suite, mez., bar., orch. (1977); Toussaint: Song of the Common Wind, mez., orch. (1977); From the Mistress Grave, 12 Heine poems for sop. and 11 instr. (1978), The Spear, mez., speaker, ch., cl., tpt., va., pf. (1982), Change is Going to Come, mez., bar., ch., and 4 players (1982), Rise, Dove, bar. and orch. (1982).

chamber music: Str. Qt. No. 1 (1961--2), No. 2 (1973), No. 3 (1982), Sequence, 2 fl. (1967), Nonet for wind (1971, rev. 1978), Scenes for vc. (1972), Arias, cl. (1978), cl. quintet (1979--80), Cassation, wind octet (1979), Capriccio, wind, str., pf. (7 players) (1980).

Blake Watkins, Michael. See Watkins, Michael Blake.

Blanche (Fr.). White. The half-note or minim.

Blanik (Smetana). See Má Vlast.

Blasinstrumente (Ger.). Blowing instruments, i.e. wind instr.

Blasis, Carlo de (b Naples, 1797; d Cernobbio, L. Como, 1878). It. ballet dancer and choreog. on whose system classical trainingis still based. Dir., Royal Acad. of Dance, Milan, 1837--53. Worked in London and Paris. Created 90 ballets, some with ownmus. Father was composer and sister operatic sop.

Blasmusik (Ger.). Blowing mus., i.e. mus. of wind instr.

Blaukopf, Kurt (b Czernowitz, 1914). Austrian musicologist and writer. Studied with S. Wolpe and H. Scherchen in Vienna, 1932--7 and with Tal in Jerusalem 1940--2. Prof. of mus. sociology, Vienna Hochschule für Musik from1963. Ed., Phono, 1954--65. Author of two books onMahler (1969, Eng. trans. 1973, and 1976, Eng. trans. 1976).

Blavet, Michel (b Besan;Alcon, 1700; d Paris, 1768). Fr. flautist and composer of operas, fl. sonatas, and ballets. Probable that several of Leclair's fl. sonatas were written for him.

Blech (Ger.). Sheet metal, i.e. the Brass. Blechmusik, brass band.

Blech, Harry (b London, 1910). Eng. violinist and cond. Trained TCL and RMCM. Member Hallé Orch., and then BBC S.O. 1930--6. Founder and leader, Blech Str. Qt. 1933--50. Founded London Wind Players 1942, London Symphonic Players 1946, London Mozart Players 1949 (mus. dir. until 1984). O.B.E. 1964, C.B.E. 1984.

Blech, Leo (b Aachen, 1871; d Berlin, 1958). Ger. cond. and composer. Studied Berlin Hochschule, 1890. First cond. posts in Aachen and Prague; from 1906 Kapellmeister, Royal Berlin Opera, becoming Generalmusikdirektor 1913--23, working for much of that period with R. Strauss, of whose operas he cond. several f.ps. in Berlin. Brief spell in Vienna, then cond. (jointly with Kleiber) Berlin State Opera 1926--37, until removal by Nazis. Cond. Riga 1937--41 and Stockholm 1941--1946. Returned to Berlin Städtische Oper 1949--53. Composer of 5 operas, symphonic poems, and other works.

'Bleeding chunks'. Phrase sometimes used by writers on mus. when referring to operatic extracts played out of context in the concert-hall. It is a quotation from a programme-note by Sir Donald Tovey on Bruckner's 4th Sym. in his Essays in Musical Analysis, Vol. II (1935), p. 71. Tovey wrote: 'Defects of form are not a justifiable ground for criticism from listeners who profess to enjoy the bleeding chunks of butcher's meat chopped from Wagner's operas and served up on Wagner nights as Waldweben and Walkürenritt'.

Bleiben (Ger.). To remain. In org. mus., Bleibt (remains) means that the stop in question is to remain in use.

Blessed Damozel, The (La Damoiselle élue). Cantata (poème lyrique) by Debussy for sop., women's ch., and orch., comp. 1887--8 on G. Sarrazin's trans. of D. G. Rossetti's poem (1850). Re-orchestrated 1902.

Blessed Virgin's Expostulation, The. Song for sop. or treble by Purcell, comp. 1693 to text by Nahum Tate beginning 'Tell me some pitying angel'.

Blest Pair of Sirens. Ode for ch. and orch. by Parry, f.p. 1887. Words from Milton's At a Solemn Musick.

Blind Man's Buff. Th. piece by Maxwell Davies, masque for sop. (or treble), mez., and mime, and stage band. Text by composer from Büchner's Leonce und Lena, and other sources. F.p. London 1972 (Josephine Barstow, Mary Thomas, Mark Fourneaux, BBC S.O., cond. Boulez).

Bliss, (Sir) Arthur (Drummond) (b London, 1891; d London, 1975). Eng. composer, conductor, and administrator. Studied counterpoint with Charles Wood at Cambridge Univ. Mus.B. 1913. Pupil of Stanford at RCM 1913--14. Served in Royal Fusiliers 1914--17, Grenadier Guards 1917--18. From 1919 earned reputation of being enfant terrible, influenced in such works as Madame Noy and Rout by Stravinsky, Satie, etc. Wrote incid. mus. for Nigel Playfair, 1919. Cond., Portsmouth Philharmonic Soc. 1921. His Colour Symphony was commissioned for the 1922 Three Choirs Fest. on Elgar's suggestion. Went to Santa Barbara, Calif., 1923--5, working as cond. Returned to Eng. 1925, writing a series of chamber works for virtuosi soloists and ensembles. His Morning Heroes (1930) was perf. at 1930 Norwich Fest., one of its movts. being a setting of a war poem by Wilfred Owen. Music for Strings followed in 1935. In 1934--5 he wrote the mus. for Korda's H. G. Wells film Things to Come and in 1937 his ballet Checkmate was produced at S.W. Two other important ballet scores, Miracle in the Gorbals (1944) and Adam Zero (1946), followed. His piano concerto was first performed at the 1939 New York World Fair. From 1939 to 1941 he taught at Berkeley in California, but on return to Eng. became BBC dir. of mus., 1942--4. An opera, The Olympians, to a lib. by J. B. Priestley, failed to win approval at its 1949 CG première, but he wrote an opera for television, Tobias and the Angel, in 1960 to a lib. by Christopher Hassall. In 1950 he was knighted and in 1953 became Master of the Queen's Music, a post he filled with flair and energy. Among the best of his later works were the vn. conc. (for Campoli) and the orch. Meditations on a Theme by John Blow (both 1955) and the vc. conc. (1970). K.C.V.O. 1969. C.H. 1971. Bliss's early Stravinskian phase gave way to works in a bold, post-Elgarian style, vigorous and rich in texture but lacking the inner poetry of his model. Some of his best music is to be found in his chamber works, notably the cl. quintet, written for Frederick Thurston, and the ob. quintet, for Léon Goossens. His sense of drama and of vivid musical imagery found their truest outlet in his ballet scores and in the excellent Things to Come suite. Prin. works:

operas: The Olympians (1948--9); Tobias and the Angel (1960); The Beggar's Opera (1952-3, version of Gay-Pepusch work for film).

ballets: Checkmate (1937); Miracle in the Gorbals (1944); Adam Zero (1946); The Lady of Shalott (1958).

orch: 2 Studies (1920); Mélée Fantasque (1921, rev. 1937 and 1965); A Colour Symphony (1921--2, rev. 1932); Introduction and Allegro (1926, rev. 1937); Hymn to Apollo (1926, rev. 1965); Music for Strings (1935); Processional, with org. (1953); Meditations on a Theme by John Blow (1955); Edinburgh Overture (1956); Metamorphic Variations (1972); 2 Contrasts, str. (1972, arr. from Str. qt. No. 2).

concertos: 2 pianos (1924, rev. 1925--9 and 1950), also arr. for 2 pianos (3 hands) in 1968; pf. (1938--9); vn. (1955); vc. (1970).

choral: Pastoral: Lie strewn the white flocks, mez., ch., and orch. (1928), Morning Heroes, sym. for orator, ch., and orch. (1930); A Song of Welcome, sop., bar., ch., and orch. (1954); The Beatitudes, sop., ten., ch., and orch. (1961); Mary of Magdala, cont., bar., ch., and orch. (1962); The Golden Cantata, ten., ch., and orch. (1963); The World is charged with the grandeur of God, ch. and wind (1969); 2 Ballads, women's vv. and orch. (1971).

unacc. voices: Aubade for Coronation Morning (1953); Seek the Lord (1956); Birthday Song for a Royal Child (1959); Stand up and bless the Lord your God (1960); Cradle Song for a Newborn Child (1963); O Give Thanks (1965); River Music (1967); Lord, who shall abide in Thy Tabernacle (1968); A Prayer to the Infant Jesus (1968); Ode for Sir William Walton (1972); Prayer of St Francis of Assisi (1972); Put thou thy trust in the Lord (1972); Sing, Mortals! (1974); Shield of Faith (1974).

voice and ens.: Madam Noy, sop. (1918); Rhapsody, sop., ten. (1919); Rout, sop. (1920); 2 Nursery Rhymes, sop. (1920); The Women of Yueh, sop. (1923--4); Serenade, bar. (1929); The Enchantress, scena for cont. (1951); Elegiac Sonnet, ten. (1954); A Knot of Riddles, bar. (1963).

brass and military band: Kenilworth Suite (1936); The First Guards (1956); Belmont Variations (1963); The Linburn Air (1965); and many ceremonial fanfares for royal and other occasions.

chamber mus.: Str. qt. (1914, withdrawn), str. qt. (1923--4? MS.), No. 1 in Bb (1941), No. 2 (1950); Conversations, fl., alto fl., ob., cor ang., vn., va., vc. (1920); pf. quintet (1919, unpubd.); ob. quintet (1927); cl. quintet (1932).

incid. mus. (stage and radio) and film mus.: As You Like It (1919); King Solomon (1924); Things to Come (1934--5); Conquest of the Air (1937); Caesar and Cleopatra (1944); Men of Two Worlds (1945); Christopher Columbus (1949); Summer Day's Dream (1949).

piano: Bliss (1923); Masks (1924); Toccata (c. 1925); Interludes (1925); Suite (1926); The Rout Trot (1927); Study (1927); Sonata (1952); Miniature Scherzo (1969); Fun and Games, 2 pf. 3 hands (1970); Triptych (1970); A Wedding Suite (1974).

solo songs: The Tramps (c. 1916); 3 Romantic Songs (1921); 3 Songs (1923, rev. 1972); When I was One and Twenty (1923); Ballads of the 4 Seasons (1923); 3 Jolly Gentlemen (1924); The Fallow Deer at the Lonely House (1924); A Child's Prayer (1926); Rich or Poor (1925--6); Simples (1932); 7 American Poems (1940); Auvergnat (1943); Angels of the Mind, song-cycle, 7 songs (1969); Tulips (1970).

Blitheman, John (b c. 1525; d London, 1591). Eng. organist of Queen Elizabeth's Chapel Royal from 1553; composer of church mus. and virginals mus.---the latter important for its influence on his successor in the organistship, his pupil John Bull.

Blitzstein, Marc (b Philadelphia, 1905; d Fort-de-France, Martinique, 1964). Amer. composer and pianist. Scion of a wealthy family, his work reflected his radical political outlook. Studied Curtis Institute, 1924--6, in Paris with Boulanger 1926, and Berlin with Schoenberg 1927. Returning to USA during depression, decided to compose for the popular th. and prod. perhaps his finest work, The Cradle Will Rock (1936). Never repeated its success, though his adaptation of Brecht's Threepenny Opera (1952) was acclaimed. Served 1942--5 with US Air Force in Eng. and comp. Airborne Symphony (1945). After he abandoned Parisian neo-classicism, his work was based on diatonicism laced with jazz and popular influences, in the manner made more familiar by Bernstein. Other works incl.:

operas: Triple-Sec (1928), No For An Answer (1940), I've Got the Tune (1937), Regina (1949), Juno, based on O'Casey's Juno and the Paycock (1958).

ballets: Cain (1930), The Guests (1949).

orch.: works incl. pf. conc. and mus. for th. and films.

Bloch, Ernest (b Geneva, 1880; d Portland, Oregon, 1959). Swiss-born composer (naturalized Amer.). First mus. instruction from Jaques-Dalcroze. Comp str. qt. and sym. before age 15. Brussels Cons. 1897, studying with Ysaÿe, followed by spells at Frankfurt with Knorr and Munich with Thuille. Went to Paris 1903. From this period date the symphonic poem Winter--Spring (1904--5) and the opera Macbeth, prod. Paris 1910, in which the influence of Mussorgsky and Debussy can be detected together with Bloch's hallmarks of frequent changes of tempo and key, use of modality, cyclic form, and propensity for open 5ths and 4ths. The next few years saw some works of Jewish inspiration, the Israel Symphony (1912--16), Trois poèmes juifs for orch. (1913), Psalm 22 for bar. and orch. (1914), and Schelomo, rhapsody for vc. and orch. (1916). This distinctive and powerful Jewish element in Bloch's mus. sprang from a deep spiritual impulse and not from external application. He said that the Jewish heritage as related in the Old Testament moved him powerfully. In 1915 became prof. of comp. at Geneva Cons., but went to USA in 1916 as cond. for the dancer Maud Allan. He became and remained Amer. citizen, 1924. Taught in NY 1917--20, first director, Cleveland Institute of Mus. 1920--5, head of San Francisco Cons., 1926--1930. From 1930--9 lived principally in Geneva and Rome. In this period comp. symphonic suite for orch. Evocations (1937), the Sacred Service (Avodath Hakodesh) for bar., ch., and orch. (1930--1933), pf. sonata (1935), Voice in the Wilderness, vc. and orch. (1936), and vn. conc. (1938). In 1941 returned to USA and settled at Agate Beach, Oregon. For a time was prof. of mus. at Univ. of Calif. in Berkeley. In last 20 years of his life comp. the Concerto Grosso No. 2 for str. qt. and str. (1953), Symphony in Eb (1954--5), Concerto symphonique, pf. and orch. (1948), Suite hébraïque, va. and orch. (1953), str. qts. Nos. 2--5 (1946, 1951, 1954, 1956), and 2nd pf. quintet (1957). Among his earlier works are some of his masterpieces, e.g. Suite for va. and pf. or orch. (1919), Pf. Quintet (1921--3), Baal Shem for vn. and pf. or orch. (1923), and Concerto Grosso No. 1 for str. and pf. (1924--5). Also wrote America, epic rhapsody (1926) and Helvetia, symphonic fresco (1929).

Block Flute (Ger. Blockflöte). Recorder or flageolet, so called after its 'block' or fipple; also an org. stop.

Block, Michel (b Antwerp, 1937). Belg. pianist. Childhood in Mexico, where he made début at 16 with Mexican Nat. Orch. Studied Juilliard Sch., NY, 1954. NY début 1959.

Blockx, Jan (b Antwerp, 1851; d Antwerp, 1912). Belg. composer; pupil and follower of Benoit, whom he succeeded in 1901 as dir. of Royal Flemish Cons., Antwerp. Propagandist for Flemish nat. movement. Wrote 8 operas to Fr. and Flemish texts, incl. Thyl Uylenspiegel (1900).

Blom, Eric (Walter) (b Berne, 1888; d London, 1959). Eng. critic and scholar. Active as writer of annotated programmes; London mus. critic Manchester Guardian 1923--31; Birmingham Post 1931--46; Observer 1949--59; ed. Everyman's Dictionary of Music (1946, rev. 1954), Grove's Dictionary of Music and Musicians, 5th edn. (1954); Music and Letters, 1937--50 and 1954--9; Master Musicians series. Author of book on Mozart. C.B.E. 1955.

Blomdahl, Karl-Birger (b Växjö, Sweden, 1916; d Kungsängen, 1968). Swed. composer, pupil of Hilding Rosenberg, studied in Fr. and It. 1946--7. Prof. of comp., Swedish Royal operas: Aniara (1959), Herr von Hancken (1962--4).

Acad. of Mus., 1960---4, dir. of mus., Swedish Radio, from 1965. Pioneered elec. mus. studio. After a Hindemithian early phase, adopted serial techniques and, later, elecs. First opera Aniara (Stockholm 1959) is set in a spaceship. Prin. works incl.:

orch: Concerto Grosso (1944), Sym. No. 1 (1943), No. 2 (1947), No. 3 (Facets) (1948), Va. Conc. (1941), Vn. Conc. (1947), ChamberConc. (1952--3), Sisyphos, choreographic suite (1954), Minotauros, choreographic suite, (1957), Altisonans (tape) (1966).

choral: In the Hall of Mirrors (I splegnarnes sal) for soloists, reciter, ch., and orch. (1951--2).

chamber music: Trio (1938), Str. qt. (1939), Str. trio (1945), etc.

Blondel (de Nesle) (fl. 12th cent.). Fr. trouvère (minstrel), 22 of whose songs survive. Said to have discovered where King Richard I was imprisoned by Duke of Austria.

Blossom Time. Amer. version of operetta Das Dreimäderlhaus by Berté.

Blow, John (b Newark, Notts., 1649; d Westminster, 1708). Eng. composer and organist. One of first choirboys of Chapel Royal after Restoration in 1660. Organist, Westminster Abbey, 1668--79, when his pupil Purcell succeeded him, and 1695--1708. Also Master of Choristers, St Paul's Cath., 1687--1703. Wrote over 100 anthems, 13 services, many secular songs, and the masque Venus and Adonis. Bliss comp. Meditations on a Theme by John Blow.

Bluebeard's Castle (Bartók). See Duke Bluebeard's Castle.

Blue Bells of Scotland (properly 'Bell', not 'Bells'). This song, of unknown origin, first appears at the end of the 18th or beginning of the 19th cent., sung by the London actress, Mrs Jordan (an Irishwoman), at Drury Lane Th.

Blue Bird, The. Part-song for mixed ch., with sop. solo, by Stanford, Op. 119 No. 4, comp. 1911, setting of poem by Mary Coleridge (1861--1907).

Blue Danube, On The Beautiful (An der schönen blauen Donau). Concert waltz, Op. 314, by Johann Strauss II, known in Eng. simply as The Blue Danube. F.p. Vienna 1867. Orig. with ch. part.

Blues. Slow jazz song of lamentation, generally for an unhappy love affair. Usually in groups of 12 bars, instead of 8 or 16, each stanza being 3 lines covering 4 bars of music. Tonality predominantly major, but with the flattened 3rd and 7th of the key (the 'blue notes'). Harmony tended towards the plagal or subdominant. The earlier (almost entirely Negro) history of the Blues is traced by oral tradition as far back as the 1860s, but the form was popularized about 1911--14 by the Negro composer W. C. Handy (St Louis Blues, Basin Street Blues). Composers such as Gershwin, Ravel, Copland, and Tippett have used the term to indicate a Blues-type mood rather than a strict adherence to the form. Among notable blues singers were Bessie Smith and Billie Holiday (though Holiday's main repertoire was pop music).

Blum, Robert (Karl Moritz) (b Zürich, 1900). Swiss composer. Studied Zürich Cons. 1919--22 and later with Busoni at Prussian State Acad., Berlin. Cond. at Baden from 1925. Teacher at Zürich from 1945. Composer of much film and incidental mus. but also of 6 syms., conc. for orch., choral works, triple conc. (vn., ob., tpt.), and va. conc.

Blume, Friedrich (b Schluchten, 1893; d Schluchten, 1975). Ger. musicologist. After studying medicine, philosophy, and mus. at Eisenach, Munich, Berlin, and Leipzig, embarked on distinguished career as ed. of early mus. and writer of scholarly studies on a wide variety of mus. subjects. Prof. of musicology, Kiel Univ. 1935--58. From 1943 directed the preparation of the encyclopedia Die Musik in Geschichte und Gegenwart, which began to appear in 1949. Authority on Bach and Mozart.

Blumenfeld, Harold (b Seattle, 1923). Amer. composer. Studied Eastman Sch., 1941--3, Yale 1946--9 (comp. with Hindemith) and Zürich Univ. 1948--9. Prof., Washington Univ. in St Louis since 1951. Comps. incl. opera Amphitryon 4 (1956--62), TV opera The Road to Salem (1966--1969), Songs of War (Sassoon poems) (1970), Elegy for the Nightingale (choral work, 1954), and orch. suites, etc.

Blumenstück (Flower-piece). Pf. solo in D<sub>b</sub> major, Op. 19, by Schumann, comp. 1839.

Blüthner. Pf.-making firm, founded Leipzig 1853.

Blyth, Alan (b London, 1929). Eng. critic, broadcaster, and author. Studied Oxford Univ. Contributor to The Times 1963--77, Musical Times, Opera (ass. ed. 1967--84), esp. on operatic subjects. Member of mus. staff of Daily Telegraph from 1977. Author of monographs on Colin Davis and Janet Baker. Ed. Opera on Record (1979), Remembering Britten (1981), and Opera on Record 2 (1983).

Blyton, Carey (b Beckenham, 1932). Eng. composer. Studied zoology but decided to follow mus. career, entering TCL 1953. Bantock comp. prize 1954. Studied Copenhagen 1957 with Jersild. Prof. of harmony, TCL, 1963--73. Mus. ed., Faber Mus., 1964--71. Comps. incl. orch. suite Cinque Port, ov. The Hobbit, works for sax. qt. and for guitar, cantatas, song-cycles, madrigals, chamber mus., and vocal pieces such as Lyrics from the Chinese, Lachrymae, and Symphony in Yellow.

B Moll (Ger.). The key of B<sub>b</sub> minor (not B minor; see B).

B.N.O.C. See British National Opera Company.

Boatswain's Mate, The. Opera in 1 act by Ethel Smyth to her lib. based on W. W. Jacobs's story. (Prod. London 1916).

Boatwright, Howard (b Newport News, Virginia, 1918). Amer. composer, studied with Hindemith at Yale (1945--8). Teacher of mus. theory, Yale, 1948--64, dean of mus. sch., Syracuse Univ. from 1964. Works incl. The Woman of Trachis (1955), cl. qt. (1958), St. Matthew Passion (1962), Canticle of the Sun (1963), Ship of Death (1966).

Bobillier, Marie. See Brenet, Michel.

Boccaccio. Opera in 3 acts by Suppé to lib. by F. Zell and R. Genée. Prod. Vienna 1879, Boston and NY 1880.

Bocca chiusa (It.). Closed mouth, i.e. a wordless humming (in choral mus.).

Boccherini, Luigi (b Lucca, 1743; d Madrid, 1805). It. cellist and composer. Famous in teens as virtuoso cellist. Contemporary of Haydn and resembling him in ideals, methods, and general spirit. Settled in Madrid in 1769, remaining until 1787. Appointed 'composer of his Chamber' by Friedrich Wilhelm II of Prussia. Returned to Spain 1797, when he then lacked a patron and died in poverty. Comp. opera, 30 syms., 11 vc. concs., 91 str. qts., 154 quintets (various combinations), guitar qts., 60 trios, church mus., etc. The famous Minuet is from the String Quintet in E major, Op. 13, No. 5. Boccherini's mus., which combines harmonic adventurousness with melodic profundity, is well worth detailed study.

Bocchino (It.). Mouthpiece of a wind instr.

Bocedization. 16th-cent. Flemish system of naming notes of scale (Bo-Ce-Di, etc.), somewhat on principle of tonic sol-fa. Introduced by Hubert Waelrant.

Bochsa, (Robert) Nicolas Charles (b Montmédi, 1789; d Sydney, N.S.W., 1856). Fr. composer and harpist, author of a famous harp method and leader of a colourful life. Studied Paris Cons. 1806. Revolutionized way of playing the harp. Harpist to Napoleon 1813 and to Louis XVIII 1816. Wrote 8 operas for Opéra Comique between 1813 and 1816. Fled from France 1817, was tried in absentia for forgeries and sentenced to 12 years' imprisonment. Settled in London. Dir., Lent oratorios from 1823. First gen. sec. and prof. of harp RAM from 1822. Dismissed 1827. Cond., King's Th., London, 1826--30. In 1839 ran away with singer Anna Bishop, wife of Henry Bishop, after touring provinces as her accompanist. Spent rest of his life on tour abroad (except in Fr.). Composed Requiem in 15 movts., 1816, commissioned for ceremony of reinterment of the beheaded Louis XVI's remains. Contains anticipations of Berlioz's Symphonie funèbre et triomphale. Also comp. sym. (1821), 5 harp concs., and many chamber works involving harp.

Bodanzky, Artur (b Vienna, 1877; d NY, 1939). Austrian cond. Trained Vienna Cons. as violinist, then took various humble conducting posts. Ass. to Mahler at Vienna Opera 1903--4. Cond. first Brit. perf. of Parsifal, CG, 1914. Then at NY Met. from 1915 until his death, apart from brief break in 1928. Notorious for the cuts he made in Wagner's Ring cycle.

Bode, Johann Joachim Christoph (b Barum, Brunswick, 1730; d Weimar, 1793). Ger. composer, bassoonist, and oboist. Mus. teacher and ed., Hamburg, 1757--78, later becoming printer and publisher. Comp. syms., bn. conc., vc. conc., vn. conc., and songs.

Boehm, Theobald (Boehm System, Boehm Flute) (b Munich, 1794; d Munich, 1881). Ger. flautist and composer, remembered principally for the system whereby he replaced the clumsily-placed holes of his instr. by keys enabling the cutting of the holes in their proper acoustical positions, yet leaving them in easy control of the fingers. He made his first 'ring key' fl. in 1832, while a player in Munich court orch., and in 1847 brought out an improved metal fl. with 15 holes and 23 levers and keys. This system has been adapted for ob., cl., and bn. Boehm was also a goldsmith and ironmaster. From 1833 to 1846 he superintended reorganization of Bavarian steel industry.

Boëllmann, Léon (b Ensisheim, Upper Alsace, 1862; d Paris, 1897). Fr. organist and composer, pupil of Gigout. From 1881 organist of Paris church of St Vincent de Paul; wrote org. mus. and mus. for other instr., incl. Symphonic Variations for vc. and orch.

Boesmans, Philippe (b Tongeren, 1936). Belg. composer and pianist. Studied Liège Cons. and privately with Pousseur, 1962. Mus. prod. for Belg. radio from 1961. From 1971 collab. with Pousseur at Liège elec. mus. studios. Works incl. opera La Passion de Gilles (Brussels 1983), Sonances, 2 pf. (1964), Impromptu, 23 instr. (1965), Sym., pf. (1966), Verticales, orch. (1969), Upon la mi, sop., hn., 11 instr., elec. (1971), Intervalles, orch. (1973), Multiples, 2 pf., orch. (1974), Eléments/Extensions, pf., ens. (1975).

Boëssel, Antoine (b Blois, 1586; d Paris, 1643). Fr. court musician, being master of royal mus. from 1613 and holding other royal posts simultaneously. Pubd. 9 vols. of airs (1617--42), also masses and motets.

Boethius, Anicius Manlius Torquatus Severinus (b Rome, c.475; d Pavia, c.525). Roman philosopher and mathematician who wrote De institutione musica, a 5-vol. treatise on Gr. mus.

Boettcher, Wilfried (b Bremen, 1929). Ger. cond. and cellist. Studied Hamburg and Paris (with Fournier). Prin. cellist, Hanover Opera 1956--8. Prof. of vc., Vienna Acad. of Mus. 1958. Founder and dir. Vienna Soloists 1959. Prof. of vc. and chamber mus., Hamburg Acad. 1965. Cond. Hamburg S.O. 1967--71. Guest cond. of several Brit. orchs.

Boeuf sur le toit, Le (The Ox on the Roof). Pantomimic divertissement with mus. by Milhaud to lib. by Cocteau. Prod. Paris 1920 as mus.-hall spectacle, later as ballet.

Bogatyryov, Anatoly (Vasilyevich) (b Vitebsk, 1913). Russ. composer. Studied at Minsk Cons. where he eventually became dir. Composer of 2 operas, syms., and cantatas.

Bogen (Ger.). (1) Bow. So Bogenstrich, bow stroke. (2) Short for Krummbogen. (3) The Tie or Bind. (4) Bogen form. The design of e.g. a movement of a sym. which can be likened to the curve of a bow.

Bohème, La (Bohemian Life). (1) Opera in 4 acts by Puccini to lib. by Giacosa and Illica, based on H. Murger's novel Scènes de la vie de Bohème (1847--9). Comp. 1894--5. Prod. Turin 1896, Manchester (in Eng.) and Los Angeles 1897, San Francisco and NY 1898, London 1899. (2) Opera by Leoncavallo, also founded on Murger's novel but using different episodes. Prod. Venice 1897.

Bohemian Girl, The. Opera in 3 acts by Balfe to lib. by Alfred Bunn based on a ballet-pantomime The Gipsy by Saint-Georges and orig. from Cervantes's La Gitanella. Prod. London 1843, NY 1844. Incl. songs I dreamt that I dwelt in marble halls and When other lips. Revived by Beecham, Liverpool and London, 1951.

Bohemian String Quartet. See Czech Quartet.

Bohemia's Meadows and Forests, From (Smetana). See Má Vlast.

Böhm, Georg (b Goldbach, 1661; d Lüneburg, 1733). Ger. organist and composer. Worked in Hamburg, 1693--8. Org., Johanniskirche, Lüneburg, 1698--1733. Influenced Bach, whom he knew, through his suites, preludes, and fugues. Also comp. hymns, Passions, and chorale preludes.

Böhm, Karl (b Graz, 1894; d Salzburg, 1981). Austrian cond. Studied Graz and Vienna Cons. First post at Graz 1917, becoming chief cond. 1920. At Munich Opera 1921--7. Generalmusikdirektor Darmstadt 1927--31, Hamburg 1931--4, Dresden 1934--42, Vienna 1943--5. Dir. of rebuilt Vienna State Opera 1955--6. Regular cond. Salzburg, Vienna, Bayreuth. London début, CG 1936; NY 1957. Specialist in mus. of R. Strauss. Cond. f.ps. of Die schweigsame Frau (1935) and Daphne (1938), both Dresden.

Bohnen, Michael (b Cologne, 1887; d Berlin, 1965). Ger. bass-bar. Début as Kaspar in Der Freischütz, Düsseldorf, 1910. Berlin Court Opera 1913--21. NY Met. 1923--32 where he sang Jonny in NY première of Kákrenek's Jonny spielt auf. Berlin Deutsches Oper 1933--45. Intendant, Berlin Städt- ische Oper, 1945--7.

Boieldieu, Fran; alcois Adrien (b Rouen, 1775; d Jarcy, 1834). Fr. composer. First 2 operas, to libs. by his father, were prod. in Rouen in 1793 and 1795. Went to Paris in 1795, soon having operas staged there. First major success in 1800 with Le Calife de Bagdad, but Cherubini asked him 'Are you not ashamed of such undeserved success?' and took him as pupil, the first result (another success) being Ma Tante Aurore (1803). From 1803 to 1811 cond. of Imperial Opera, St Petersburg. Returning to Paris 1811, comp. Jean de Paris (1812), his biggest success until La Dame blanche (The White Lady) 1825, which is based on two Scott novels (The Monastery and Guy Mannering). Last years were haunted by ill-health and money troubles. Also composed chamber mus., concs. for harp and for pf., and was prof. of pf., Paris Cons., 1798--1803, prof. of comp. 1817--26.

Bois (Fr.). Wood. Avec le bois d'archet, play with the wood of the bow, not the hair (same as col legno); Les bois, the woodwind; Baguette de bois, wooden-headed drumstick.

Boismortier, Joseph Bodin de (b Thionville, 1689; d Roissy-en-Brie, 1755). Fr. composer of 3 opéra-ballets, cantatas, works for recorder, bn. conc., and pieces for the then fashionable hurdy-gurdy. Remembered chiefly, however, for his many works for fl., and for composing the first Fr. solo concerto (conc. for vc., bn., or viol, 1729).

Boîte (Fr.). Box, i.e. swell box of org.

Boîte à joujoux, La (The box of toys). Children's ballet in 4 scenes by Debussy, comp. 1913 for pf. to scenario and choreog. by André Hellé, and f.p. Paris 1919. Version for orch. sketched 1914 and completed 1918--19 by Caplet, f.p. Paris 1923.

Boito, Arrigo (baptized Enrico) (b Padua, 1842; d Milan, 1918). It. composer and poet, son of It. painter and Polish countess. Fame chiefly rests on superb libs. for Verdi's last operas, Otello (1886) and Falstaff (1893). First collab. with Verdi in 1862 on The Hymn of the Nations, after which there was coolness between them until he rev. the existing lib. of Simone Boccanegra in 1880--1. Studied mus. in Milan and went to Paris on a government travelling scholarship, 1862, with Faccio. Met Hugo, Berlioz, Verdi, and Rossini there. Returning to It., espoused cause of mus. reform and redress of neglect of Ger. classics. Comp. opera Mefistofele 1866--7. F.p. in Milan 1868 was attended by much publicity about its revolutionary nature; this led to a riot in La Scala between traditionalists and reformers and eventually to the opera's withdrawal on police orders. Rev. version, perf. Bologna 1875, was acclaimed. Wrote libs. for Faccio's Amleto (1865), Catalani's La Falce (1875), and Ponchielli's La Gioconda (1876, under the anagrammatic pseudonym Tobia Gorrio). Also trans. into It. the texts of Beethoven's 9th Sym. and Wagner's Rienzi and Tristan. Only other pubd. opera, Nerone, was begun in 1877 and left unfinished. Completed and rev. by Toscanini, Smareglia, and Tommasini, and prod, Milan 1924. Received hon. doctorates of mus. from both Cambridge and Oxford and was dir., Parma Cons. 1889--97. Correspondence with Verdi is of great interest.

Bolcom, William Elden (b Seattle, 1938). Amer. composer. Studied Univ. of Washington 1949--58 and then at Paris Cons. 1959--61 with Milhaud and Messiaen, and at Stanford Univ. 1961--4. Has worked as teacher (at Sch. of Mus. of Univ. of Michigan at Ann Arbor) and critic. Comps. admit wide range of influences, from serialism to collage. They include several str. qts., Session 2 for vn. and va. (1966), Black Host for organ, perc., and tape (1967), 14 Piano Rags (1967--70), Dark Music for timp. and vc. (1970), Open House, ten. and chamber orch. (1975). One of his highly praised works is the Songs of Innocence and Experience (48 Blake poems), for 9 solo vv., 2 ch., unacc. ch., children's ch., and orch. (1981--3, f.p. Stuttgart, 1984).

Bolero. Sp. dance in simple triple time, almost same as Cachucha but danced by a couple or several couples. Acc. is of (or incl.) the dancers' own vv. and castanets, sometimes with added guitars and tambourines. Introduced c.1780.

Boléro. Ballet in 1 act by Ravel, choreog. Nijinskaya, comp. for Ida Rubinstein in 1928 (prod. Paris Opéra, Nov. 1928). Mus. consists of repetition of theme, in C major almost throughout, in unvarying rhythm and gradual crescendo. Its immense popularity made Ravel world-famous. Later also choreog. Lifar (1941), Béjart (1961), and others.

Bolet, Jorge (b Havana, 1914). Cuban-born pianist, now Amer. citizen. Studied Curtis Institute, Penn., 1926--32, later with Godowsky and Rosenthal. European début Amsterdam 1935, Amer. début Philadelphia 1937. Mus. dir. US Army G.H.Q. Tokyo, 1946, when he directed Japanese première of Sullivan's The Mikado. Prof. of mus., Indiana Univ. 1968--77, then head of piano dept., Curtis Inst. Soundtrack pianist in film biography of Liszt, Song Without End (1960). Outstanding player of Liszt.

Bolshoy Theatre (Russ., 'Great Theatre'), Moscow. Oldest th. in Moscow, home of the Bolshoy opera and balletcos. Orig. named Petrovsky and built by Englishman (Maddox) in 1780. Destroyed by fire in 1805. Bolshoy Petrovsky opened 1825, but in 1853 its interior was burnt out. Restored by Cavos and reopened in 1856. Seats approx. 2,000 people. Stage is half as wide again as that of CG. There was also a Bolshoy Theatre in St Petersburg, 1783-1859.

Bolt, John (b 1564; d Louvain, 1640). Eng. virginalist and composer. Fled from Eng. because he was papist and became organist in Brussels 1608--11, thereafter at Louvain.

Bolt, The (Bolt). Ballet (choreographic spectacle) in 3 acts, mus. by Shostakovich, Op. 27, lib. by V. Smirnov, choreog. Lopokov. Prod. Leningrad 1931. Also orch. suite 1931.

Bomarzo. Opera ('gothic melodrama of sex and violence') in 2 acts (15 scenes with instr. interludes) by Ginastera, to lib. by Manuel Mujica Láinez based on his novel. Bomarzo is 16th-cent. It. nobleman. Prod. Washington and NY 1967, Buenos Aires 1972, London 1976 (Eng. trans. by Lionel Salter). Ginastera's cantata Bomarzo (1964) for narrator, bar., and orch. is derived from the same literary source by Láinez but is distinct musically.

Bombard. A type of shawm--but in 14th and 15th cent. was applied in Fr. and Eng. to alto-pitched shawm. Name was probably taken over from an artillery piece of the same name. (The word is derived from the Lat. bombus, drone or buzz). Note that the Bombardon has nothing in common with it, being a brass instr., as is the It. Bombarda, euphonium.

Bombarda (It.). Euphonium.

Bombarde, Bombardon. Powerful org. Reed Stop, often in pedal department and sometimes of 32' pitch.

Bombardon. (1) Form of bass tuba with 3 piston valves, in Bb, C, CC, F, or Eb. Replaced by Sax's Eb or BBb bass tubas, 1842 (double letter indicates specimens with wider bore). (2) It. term for bass shawm.

Bonavia, Ferruccio (b Trieste, 1877; d London, 1950). It.-born violinist and mus. critic. Studied vn., etc. in Milan. For 10 years was member of Hallé Orch., Manchester, under Richter, at same time writing for Manchester Guardian on mus. subjects. From 1920 until death a mus. critic of London Daily Telegraph. Wrote book on Verdi, and comp. str. mus. (qt., octet, etc.).

Bonci, Alessandro (b Cesena, 1870; d Viserba, 1940). It. ten. Opera début as Fenton in Falstaff, Parma 1893. First visit to London 1900, NY 1906. Especially effective in Bellini, Donizetti, and Rossini.

Bond, Capel (b Gloucester, 1730; d Coventry, 1790). Eng. composer and org. Dir. and organist first Birmingham Fest., 1768. Pubd. 6 concs., incl. tpt. and bn., in 1766 and 6 anthems in 1769.

Bond, Carrie Jacobs (née Jacobs) (b Janesville, Wisc., 1862; d Glendale, Calif., 1946). Amer. song composer, among her most popular being 'Just a-wearyin' for you' and 'The end of a perfect day' (of which over 5 million copies were sold).

Bondeville, Emmanuel (b Rouen, 1898). Fr. composer and administrator. Art. dir. Radiodiffusion Française 1937--45, dir., Monte Carlo Opera 1945--9, Paris Opéra-Comique 1949--52, and Paris Opéra 1952--70. Comps. incl. Madame Bovary, opera (1951), L'École des Maris, lyric comedy (1935), Symphonie lyrique (1957), Symphonie choréographique (1965). Bonduca, or The British Heroine. Incidental mus. by Purcell to a play adapted from Beaumont and Fletcher on the story of Boadicea (1695).

Bones. Two pieces of animal rib bone held between the fingers and rhythmically clacked---the 19th-cent. 'nigger minstrel' equivalent of the castanets.

Bongos. Small Cuban drums, bucket-shaped vessels cut out of solid wood, bound with brass, and having strong vellum heads. 2 of them are fixed together by a bar of metal. They are played with the thumb and fingers by dance-band musicians and have been used in comps. by John McCabe, Varèse, Orff, and Boulez.

Bonini, Severo (b Florence, 1582; d Florence, 1663.). It. organist and composer of madrigals, motets, and a setting of Rinuccini's Lamento d'Arianna (1613). One of first to use monodic style. Author of important treatise Prima parte de' discorsi e regole sovra la musica (First part of discourses and rules about music), completed 1649--50.

Bonmarché (Bonmarchié), [fy65,3] Jean de (b ?Douai, c.1520--5; d ?Madrid, 1570). Belg. composer. Master of choristers, Cambrai Cath. from 1560. From 1565 master of Royal Chapel of Philip II of Spain. Comp. many masses and motets.

Bonne Chanson, La (The Good Song). (1) Settings by Fauré in 1892--3, Op. 61, of 9 poems by Verlaine, namely Une Sainte en son auréole; Puisque l'aube grandit; La Lune blanche luit dans les bois; J'allais par des chemins perfides; J'ai presque peur en vérité; Avant que tu ne t'en ailles; Donc ce sera par un clair jour d'été; N'est ce pas?; L'hiver a cessé. (2) Tone-poem by Loeffler comp. 1901 and f.p. Boston 1902. Also inspired by Verlaine.

Bonnet, Joseph (Élie Georges Marie) (b Bordeaux, 1884; d nr. Quebec, 1944). Fr. organist and composer. Pupil of Guilmant; at 22 organist of St Eustache, Paris; toured widely in Europe and Amer. Organ comps. have wide popularity.

Bonnie Annie. Folk tune to which words of 'John Peel' were later fitted by J. W. Graves.

Bononcini, Antonio Maria (b Modena, 1677; d Rome, 1726). It. composer. Brother of Giovanni Bononcini and said to be the more talented. Comp. at least 17 operas and 39 cantatas. Was also cellist.

Bononcini, Giovanni (b Modena, 1670; d Vienna, 1747). It. composer and cellist. Usually spelt his name Buononcini. Elder son of G.M. Bononcini. Studied in Bologna. Worked in Rome from 1692 and scored success throughout It. with opera Il trionfo di Camilla (1696). Went to Vienna 1697 and was court composer there 1700--11, but also spent time in Rome and Berlin. Invited to London in 1720 to work at newly-founded Royal Acad. of Mus. with Handel as dir. Enjoyed great favour, esp. with the Marlborough family who paid him ;bp500 p.a. Several operas prod. in London over next decade, most successful being Astarto (1720, rev. of 1714 Rome version). In 1721 contrib. act to Muzio Scevola, the other 2 being by Amadei and Handel. In 1722 wrote anthem for Duke of Marlborough's funeral in Westminster Abbey. In 1732 left Eng. for Fr., scorning to answer an accusation of plagiarism. Lived rest of his life in Paris, Vienna, and Venice. Comp. nearly 50 operas, also masses, oratorios, many cantatas for solo voice, and a large amount of chamber mus.

Bononcini, Giovanni Maria (b Montecorone, nr. Modena, 1642; d Modena, 1678). It. composer. Head of family of musicians. Employed at court of Duke of Modena. Wrote operas, masses, cantatas, sonatas, etc. Pubd. treatise on mus. 1673.

Bonporti (Buonporti), [fy65,3]Francesco Antonio (b Trento, 1672; d Padua, 1748). It. violinist and composer of instr. mus. Comp. 10 'Inventions' for vn. and figured bass, 1712 (Bach's use of word apparently taken from this), also vn. sonatas and minuets.

Bontempi (really Angelini), Giovanni Andrea (b Perugia, 1624; d Brufa, nr. Perugia, 1705). It. musician. Sang as castrato in St Mark's, Venice, 1643--50, when he went to Dresden. Befriended by Schütz, becoming associate Kapellmeister with him in 1656. Wrote 3 operas and several theoretical treatises. Settled in It., 1680, becoming choirmaster Spello 1686.

Bonynge, Richard (b Sydney, N.S.W, 1930). Australian cond. and pianist. Studied Sydney Cons., RCM. Cond. début, Rome 1962. Specializes in late 18th- and early 19th-cent. bel canto operas, many of them vehicles for his wife, the sop. Joan Sutherland. CG début 1964, NY Met. 1970. Mus. dir., Australian Opera 1976--84. C.B.E. 1977.

Boobams. Perc. instr. of definite pitch made of lengths of bamboo each having an end covered by a plastic membrane which is struck by the finger or a soft-headed hammer. Pitch determined by length of tubes. Name is an inversion of bamboos.

Boogie-Woogie (or Boogie). Jazz style of pf.-playing originating in early years of 20th cent. but becoming popular from about 1928. One of first exponents was Negro jazz pianist Clarence 'Pine Top' Smith. Prin. feature is ostinato bass in broken octaves.

Boosey & Hawkes, Ltd. London mus. publishers and instr. manufacturers. Boosey founded 1816; Hawkes 1865. Amalgamation 1930. Catalogue incl. works by R. Strauss, Stravinsky, Bartók, Britten, Ginastera, and many young composers. Specialists in brass band mus. Subsidiary cos. in USA, Fr., Ger. Major manufacturer of wind instr. Published magazine Tempo from 1939.

Bord. Paris pf.-making firm; est. 1843 and taken over by Pleyel 1934.

Bordes, Charles (b La Roche-Carbon, Indre-et-Loire, 1863; d Toulon, 1909). Fr. composer. Pupil of César Franck. Organist of Paris church of St Gervais, where he founded a choral body for the perf. of Renaissance church mus. under the name of 'Les Chanteurs de St Gervais' (later an independent body); with Guilmant and d'Indy founded also the Société Schola Cantorum for the study of church mus. (1894), which led to est. of Schola Cantorum of Paris as mus. sch. (1896). Collected and pubd. early church mus. and Basque folk tunes, and comp. mus. for pf., orch., etc. From 1905, at Montpellier, organized perfs. of Rameau operas.

Bordoni, Faustina (b Venice, 1700; d Venice, 1781). It. mezzo-soprano. Brought up under protection of A. and B. Marcello and taught singing by M. Gasparini. Début Venice 1716. Sang in Venice until 1725 in operas by Albinoni, Lotti, etc. Ger. début Munich 1723, Vienna 1725. First sang in London 1726 in Handel's Alessandro. Created 4 other Handel operatic roles 1727--8. Her rivalry with Cuzzoni led to a fight between them on stage in 1727. Returned to It. 1728--32. Married comp. Hasse in 1730 and thereafter sang chiefly in his operas after he became Kapellmeister at Dresden 1731. Retired from stage 1751. Voice was of exceptional brilliance, with accurate intonation and capable of intense dramatic expression.

Bore. Interior of tube of wind instr. Determines length and proportions of air column and pitch of lowest note obtainable. In brass instr. length of bore is variable by use of valves, in woodwind by opening and closing sideholes.

Borg, Kim (b Helsinki, 1919). Finn. bass singer and composer. Studied chemistry and mus., Helsinki. Début Helsinki 1947, in opera at Aarhus 1951. Frequent visits to USA and Eng. Recorded Elgar's Dream of Gerontius with Barbirolli. Comp. songs.

Borge, Victor (b Copenhagen, 1909). Danish pianist and entertainer. Studied Copenhagen Cons., Berlin Univ. and with Egon Petri. Début Copenhagen 1922. Best known as humorist, dealing amusingly with mus. quirks and oddities.

Borghi, Giovanni Battista (b Camerino, 1738; d Loreto, 1796). It. organist and composer of at least 25 operas, incl. Piramo e Tisbe (1783) and La Morte di Semiramide (1791). Studied in Naples. Choirmaster, Macerata Cath. 1759--78, Loreto 1778--96. Also wrote much sacred mus.

Borgioli, Dino (b Florence, 1891; d Florence, 1960). It. ten. Début, Milan 1914, London 1925 (as Edgardo in Lucia di Lammermoor). Often sang at CG and Glyndebourne (1937--9), his Mozart and Rossini style being much admired. Law graduate, also a painter.

Borgström, Hjalmar (b Christiania, 1864; d Oslo, 1925). Norweg. composer and critic. Wrote 2 syms., pf. conc., vn. conc., tone-poem John Gabriel Borkman (1905), and chamber mus.

Bori, Lucrezia (orig. Lucrecia Borja y Gonzalez de Riancho) (b Valencia, 1887; d NY, 1960). Sp. sop. Trained in Milan. Début Rome 1908 as Micaela in Carmen. Sang Manon Lescaut opposite Caruso in Paris 1910. First It. Oktavian, Milan 1911. Début NY Met. 1912 as Manon. Career interrupted by throat operation 1915, but resumed 1919. Member of NY Met. co. 1921--36 and of board of dirs. from 1935.

Boris Godunov. Opera in 4 acts, with prol., by Mussorgsky to his own lib. based on Pushkin's poetic drama, The Comedy of the Distress of the Muscovite State, of Tsar Boris, and of Grishka Otrephev (1826) and Karamzin's History of the Russian Empire (1829). Orig. version comp. 1868--9, rev. 1871--2, 3 scenes prod. St Petersburg 1873 and complete opera 1874, but withdrawn after 25 perfs. Cut, re-orchestrated, and rev. by Rimsky-Korsakov after Mussorgsky's death and thus prod. St Petersburg 1896. This version rev., with some cuts restored, 1906, prod. NY and London 1913. Orig. versions of 1869 and 1872 pubd. Leningrad 1928 in edn. prepared by Prof. Pavel Lamm of Moscow and perf. Leningrad 1928, London (SW) and Paris 1935. The 1869 version had 7 scenes which were altered and re-arranged and an extra (Kromy Forest) scene added. Musicological controversy rages on the 'correct' version to use, but there is a growing tendency to prefer the Mussorgsky orchestration. In 1975 David Lloyd-Jones pubd. an edn., for which he had the use of MS. sources unknown to Lamm, which also corrects errors of detail and transcr. in Lamm. Vol. I of Lloyd-Jones contains Mussorgsky's 1872 version of prol. and 4 acts and Vol. II the 1869 version of Act 2, the discarded 'St Basil' scene, with variants and other scenes. A re-orch. version by Shostakovich exists (1940, prod. Leningrad 1959). Title-role inseparably assoc. with Chaliapin and Christoff.

Borkh, Inge (orig. Ingeborg Simon) (b Mannheim, 1921). Ger.-born Swiss sop. Began career as actress 1937, then vocal training in Milan and Salzburg. Début Lucerne 1940. Int. career followed success in Menotti's The Consul in Lucerne 1952. US début San Francisco 1953, London 1955 in concert perf. of Elektra, at CG 1959 in Salome. Renowned for dramatic Strauss roles and Verdi's Lady Macbeth, esp. as member of Stuttgart Opera.

Bo;Akrkovec, Pavel (b Prague, 1894; d Prague, 1972). Cz. composer. Studied privately with J. B. Foerster and K;Akric<sup>h</sup>;ka and at Prague Cons. with Suk. In 1920s was a leading figure in Czech neo-classic sch. Taught comp. Prague Acad. 1946--64. Comps. incl. 3 syms. (1926--7, 1955, 1959), 2 sinfoniettas(1947, 1969), 2 pf. concs. (1931, 1950), vn. conc. (1933), vc. conc. (1951), opera Tom Thumb (1945--7), Dreams, 7 songs for low v. and orch. (1962), chamber mus., etc.

Borodin, Alexander (Porfiryevich) (*b*St Petersburg, 1833; d St Petersburg, 1887). Russ. composer, one of the group known as 'The Five'. Illegitimate sonof Russ. prince. Showed childhood talent for mus. and science, composing pf. pieces and fl. conc. Entered medical profession, graduating in 1855 from Acad. of Medicine and Surgery, St Petersburg. Studied science in Heidelberg and elsewhere 1859--62. Appointed ass. prof. of chemistry, Acad. of Medicine 1862. Meeting with Balakirev 1862 persuaded him to devote leisure to serious study of mus. while continuing his scientific work, which incl. foundation of School of Medicine for Women, where he lectured from 1872 to his death. His 1st sym. was prod. 1869, but he had already tasted failure with comic opera The Bogatys in 1867. His Sym. No. 2 in B minor was also a failure at f.p. 1877, the year in which he visited Liszt at Weimar. Liszt in 1880 ensured a perf. of the 1st Sym. at Baden-Baden which initiated Borodin's popularity outside Russia. In 1869 his friend Stasov suggested an opera on the subject of Prince Igor. This appealed to Borodin's nationalism, but difficulties with the lib., plus the interruptions from his scientific career, made comp. slow and the work, Borodin's masterpiece, was never finished, but was completed by Rimsky-Korsakov and Glazunov. Melodic and harmonic originality of Borodin's style are best heard in Prince Igor, but the 2nd sym., the 2 str. qts., and the tone-poem In the Steppes of Central Asia (1880) ensure his survival. Prin. works:

opera: Prince Igor (unfinished, completed by Rimsky-Korsakov and Glazunov) (1869--70, 1874--87).

orch: Syms.: No. 1 in Eb (1862--7), No. 2 in B minor (1869--76), No. 3 in A minor (1885--6, unfinished, completed and orch. by Glazunov); tone-picture In the Steppes of Central Asia (V sredney Azii) (1880); Nocturne from 2nd Str. Qt., orch. Sargent.

chamber music: Str. Qts.: No. 1 in A major (1877--9), No. 2 in D (1881--7); Pf. Quintet in C minor (1862).

piano: Petite Suite (1885), orch. Glazunov; Scherzo in Ab; Polka, Requiem, Dead March, and Mazurka in coll. Paraphrases on theme of Chopsticks (1880).

Boroni (Buroni), Antonio (b Rome, 1738; d Rome, 1792). It. composer and choirmaster. Studied under Padre Martini and at Naples. Followed Jommelli as Kapellmeister at Stuttgart 1771--7. Choirmaster, St Peter's, Rome, 1778--92. Comp. 21 operas, masses, motets, and contrib. with J. C. Bach to a book of odes pubd. in London 1775.

Borowski, Felix (b Burton, Westmorland, Eng., 1872; d Chicago, 1956). Eng.-born composer, violinist, and teacher,of Polish and Brit. parentage (later Amer. citizen). Studied Cologne Cons. Went to USA 1897 as teacher at Chicago Mus. Coll., becoming pres. 1916--25. Pres., Civic Music Assoc., 1926--32. Wrote mus. criticism for Chicago Sun and other papers. Comp. 3 syms., pf. conc., ballets, opera, and 3 org. sonatas.

Borre, Borree, Borry. Old Eng. spellings of Bourrée.

Borri, Giovanni Battista (b Bologna, fl. 1665--88). It. composer who worked principally in Bologna. Comp. oratorio La Susanna, mass and other church mus., and instr. works such as sinfonia a tre (2 vn. and vc.).

Borsdorf, (Friedrich) Adolph (b Dittmendorf, Saxony, 1854; d London, 1923). Ger. hn. player who studied in Dresden but in 1879 settled in Eng. where he joined CG orch. and became 1st hn. in Richter's London orch. Later with Scottish Orch., Queen's Hall Orch. and LSO. Superb technician but especially noted for beauty of phrasing in such works as Brahms's hn. trio. As a teacher at RCM (from 1882) and RAM (from 1897) trained whole generation of English hn.-players, incl. his son Oscar.

Bortkevich, Sergey (Eduardovich) (b Kharkov, 1877; d Vienna, 1952). Russ. composer. Studied St Petersburg and Leipzig. Lived in Berlin 1901--14. Left Russia after revolution, living in Istanbul, Berlin, and Vienna. Comps. (in late 19th-cent. Ger. idiom) incl. 3 pf. concs. (1 for left hand), vn. conc., vc. conc., and symphonic poem Othello.

Bortnyansky, Dmitry (Stepanovich) (b Glukhov, Ukraine, 1751; d St Petersburg, 1825). Russ. composer who studied in Moscow and in St Petersburg under Galuppi. When Galuppi left Russia, Empress Catherine gave Bortnyansky funds to follow him to Venice in 1768; later studied in Bologna, Rome, and Naples. His operas Creonte and Quinto Fabio were performed respectively in Venice (1776) and Modena (1778). On return to Russia in 1779, became dir. of Empress's church choir (re-named Imperial Kapelle in 1796) which he reformed and for which he comp. large amount of mus. His sacred works were pubd. in 10 vols. in St Petersburg under editorship of Tchaikovsky (1885).

Boschi, Giuseppe Maria (fl. 1698--1744). It. bass. Sang at Venice 1707 in operas by Lotti. In London 1710--11, creating role of Argante in Handel's Rinaldo. In Dresden 1717--20. From 1720 to 1728 sang in London in all 32 operas prod. by Handel's Royal Academy, incl. 13 by Handel, 7 by Bononcini, and 6 by Ariosti. Returned to Venice 1729 and became member of choir of St Mark's. His wife was the cont. Francesca Vanini (d Venice, 1744).

Borwick, Leonard (b Walthamstow, 1868; d Le Mans, 1925). Eng. pianist, pupil of Clara Schumann at Frankfurt 1883--9, making début there 1889. London début 1890. Played Brahms's D minor conc. in Vienna under Richter 1891. After 1912 took up pf. works of Debussy and Ravel, making pf. versions of the former's L'Après-midi d'un faune and Fêtes.

Bösendorfer. Viennese pf.-making firm, founded 1828 by Ignaz Bösendorfer (b Vienna, 1796; d Vienna, 1859) and carried on by son Ludwig from 1859. Bösendorfersaal (concert-room) opened 1872. Taken over by Jasper Corp., 1966.

Boskovich, Alexander (Urijah) (b Cluj, Transylvania, 1907; d Tel Aviv, 1964). Romanian-born Israeli composer, cond., and pianist. Studied Vienna Acad. 1924--9 and in Paris with Dukas, Boulanger, and Cortot. Cond. Cluj State Opera 1930--8. Emigrated to Palestine 1938, teaching at Tel Aviv Acad. 1945--64. Mus. critic, Israeli newspaper Ha'aretz 1955--64. Comps. incl. Suite, The Golden Chain (1937), vn. conc. (1942), ob. conc. (1943, rev. 1960), Semitic Suite for orch. (1946--7), Daughter of Israel, cantata (1960), Concerto da camera, vn. and 10 instr. (1962), and The Hidden Light (Ha'or haganuz), oratorio (1964).

Boskovsky, Willi (b Vienna, 1909). Austrian violinist and cond. Educated Vienna Acad. Joined Vienna P.O., 1933, co-leader 1939--71. Cond. of celebrated New Year's Day Vienna concerts of Strauss waltzes. Cond. Vienna Strauss Orch. from 1969.

Bossa-nova. Brazilian term that first appeared in 1959 in a song 'Desafinado' by Jobim which was extremely complex in melody and harmony, but its innovation was its radical change in the rhythmic structure of the samba. In 1960 bossa-nova became associated with social protest. 'Bossa' in Rio slang means 'shrewdness'.

Bossi, Marco Enrico (b Salò, Lake Garda, 1861; d at sea, 1925). It. organist, teacher, and composer, one of chief figures in revival of non-operatic It. mus. at end of 19th cent. Studied Bologna and Milan 1871--81. Organist and choirmaster, Como Cath. 1881--91; prof. of org. and theory, Naples Cons., 1891--5. Dir. Liceo Benedetto Marcello, Venice, 1896--1902, dir.

Liceo Musicale, Bologna, 1902--12, dir. Academy of St Cecilia, Rome, 1916--23. Wrote large body of works, incl. 3 operas, org. conc., and chamber mus., but best known are 3 choral works, Canticum Canticorum (Leipzig 1900), Il paradieso perduto (Augsburg 1903), and Giovanna d'Arco (Cologne 1914). His son Renzo (b Como, 1883; d Milan, 1965) was also organist, composer, and cond.

Boston Symphony Orchestra. One of great orchs. of world, founded at Boston, Mass., 1881 by Henry Lee Higginson who endowed it with a million dollars. First concert 22 Oct. 1881, cond. by Sir George Henschel who was cond. 1881--4. He was succeeded by Wilhelm Gericke 1884--9, Nikisch 1889--93, Emil Paur 1893--8, Gericke 1898--1906, Karl Muck 1906--8, Max Fiedler 1908--12, Muck 1912--18, Henri Rabaud 1918--19, Pierre Monteux 1919--24, Serge Koussevitzky 1924--49, Charles Munch 1949--62, Erich Leinsdorf 1962--9, William Steinberg 1969--72, Seiji Ozawa from 1973. Koussevitzky's 25-year tenure was outstanding for its encouragement of new works both by Amer. composers and by est. composers such as Prokofiev, Stravinsky, and Bartók.

Bote and Bock. Ger. mus. publishing firm, founded in Berlin in 1838 by Eduard Bote and Gustav Bock. Remained in Bock family until 1935 when it was reorganized as limited co. under direction of Robert Lienau, dir. of R. & W. Lienau. Wiesbaden branch, 1948. Publisher of mus. of many Ger. composers incl. Reger, Blacher, and Einem.

Bottesini, Giovanni (b Crema, Lombardy, 1821; d Parma, 1889). It. virtuoso of db. which he took up because there was a vacancy at Milan Cons. in 1835 only for a db. student. Extraordinary mastery of the instr. soon acknowledged. Settled in Havana, Cuba, as prin. db. of orch. there. First played in London 1849. Used 3-str. basso da camera made by Testore of Milan, with a bow more like that for a vc. Was successful opera cond. in Paris 1855--7 and in London 1871. Dir. of opera ths. at Palermo, 1861--3, Barcelona, and Cairo. Cond. f.p. of Verdi's Aida, Cairo, 1871. Comp. many pieces for db., several operas, and an oratorio The Garden of Olivet (Norwich, 1887).

Bouche fermée (Fr.). Closed-mouth singing, i.e. humming.

Bouchés, Sons (Fr.). Stopped notes in hn. playing (see also Gestopft and Schmetternd).

Boucourechliev, André (b Sofia, 1925). Bulg.-born composer and pianist, Fr. citizen since 1956. Studied Sofia State Acad. 1946--9, École Normale de Musique, Paris, 1949--51, Saarbrücken Cons. 1955 (pf. with Giesecking), and at Darmstadt summer courses 1958--62. Has worked for radio in Milan and Paris. Teacher of pf. École Normale 1954--60. Mus. critic of various Fr. publications since 1957. Author of books on Schumann, Chopin, Beethoven, and Stravinsky. Comps. incl. pf. sonata (1959), Texte I (tape, 1959), Texte II (tape, 1960), Musiques nocturnes, cl., harp, pf. (1966), Archipel 1 for 2 pf., 2 percussionists (1967), Archipel 2, str. qt. (1968), Archipel 3, pf., 6 percussionists (1969), Archipel 4, pf. (1970), Archipel 5, 6 instr. (1970); Ombres, str. (1970); Faces, orch. (1972); pf. conc. (1974--5). The Archipel works are in open form, generally perf. in 2 or more versions per concert. In open form the sequence and/or structure of some parts of a work can be varied by the performers.

Bouffons (or Mattachins, or Matassins). Old sword dance of men wearing armour of gilded cardboard.

Bouffons, Querelle des. 'War of the Comedians' in Paris, 1752--4. A quarrel over an opera by Destouches led to the invitation to Paris of troupe of It. comedians, who made much stir with their perf. of Pergolesi's intermezzo La serva padrona. The Fr. literary and mus. world split into 2 factions, favouring respectively It. and Fr. opera (as exemplified by Rameau). Rousseau and Diderot joined the controversy on the It. side.

Boughton, Rutland (b Aylesbury, 1878; d London, 1960). Eng. composer. Studied RCM under Stanford and Walford Davies 1900--1. Early orch. works perf. 1901 and 1902. From 1904 to 1911 on staff of Birmingham Midland Institute of Mus. Choral work, Midnight (1907), perf. Birmingham Fest. 1909. Inspired by Wagner's theory of mus. drama, conceived idea of an Eng. Bayreuth at Glastonbury for perf. of series of mus. dramas, based on the Arthurian legends, by himself, with Reginald Buckley as librettist. First fest. held 1914 when his The Immortal Hour (1912--13) was perf. In 1916 his Bethlehem (1915) and parts of The Birth of Arthur (1908--9) were perf. In 1920 the Glastonbury Players perf. The Immortal Hour and other works at the Old Vic, London, preceding f.p. at Glastonbury in Aug. of the complete Birth of Arthur and The Round Table (1916). In 1922 his Alkestis (1920--22), a 3-act setting of Gilbert Murray's trans. of Euripides, was perf. at Glastonbury and, in 1926, The Queen of Cornwall (1923--4), based on Hardy's verse-play. Greatest success came in 1922 with the long London run of Birmingham Repertory Th.'s prod. of The Immortal Hour, with Gwen Ffrangcon-Davies. Alkestis was prod. CG 1924. In 1934 The Lily Maid was prod. in London. In 1943--4 Boughton wrote the mus. drama Galahad, followed in 1945--6 by Avalon. Also comp. 3 syms. (1904, 1927, 1937) and other instr. works. His daughter Joy (1913--63) was a talented oboist.

Boulanger, Lili (Juliette Marie Olga) (b Paris, 1893; d Mézy, 1918). Fr. composer, sister of Nadia Boulanger. Studied at Paris Cons. 1912 with G. Caussade and P. Vidal, winning 1st Grand Prix de Rome in 1913 (the first woman to do so) with cantata Faust et Hélène. Career constantly interrupted by ill-health, but comps. show exceptional gifts. They incl. mus. for Maeterlinck's Princesse Maleine, 2 symphonic poems, 2 Psalms with orch., str. qt., etc.

Boulanger, Nadia (Juliette) (b Paris, 1887; d Paris, 1979). Fr. composer and cond. but principally known as outstandingly influential teacher of comp. At Paris Cons. won 1st prizes in harmony, counterpoint, fugue, org., and acc. Studied comp. with Fauré. Awarded 2nd Grand Prix de Rome 1908 for cantata La Sirène. Teacher at Paris Cons. from 1916, at École Normale de Musique, Paris, 1920--39, in USA 1940--6, and at Amer. Cons., Fontainebleau, from 1921 (dir. 1950). The list of her pupils, many of them private, is long and incl. many distinguished composers, esp. Americans (Copland, Harris, Thomson, Carter, and Piston). Eng. pupils incl. Lennox Berkeley and Hugo Cole. Frequent visitor to USA, teaching at Juilliard Sch., etc. Was among first in 20th cent. to rediscover Monteverdi madrigals, making famous 78 r.p.m. records. Noted cond. of Fauré's Requiem. First woman to cond. complete concert of Royal Phil. Soc., London, 4 Nov. 1937. Cond. Boston S.O. (1938), NY P.O. (1939), and Hallé Orch. (1963). Cond. f.p. of Stravinsky's Dumbarton Oaks Concerto, Washington D.C., 1938. Hon. C.B.E.

Boulevard Solitude. Opera in 7 scenes by Henze to lib. by G. Weil after W. Jöckisch, being modernized version of Prévost's Manon Lescaut. Prod. Hanover 1952, London 1962. Santa Fe 1967.

Boulez, Pierre (b Montbrison, 1925). Fr. composer and cond. Intended for career in engineering, went to Paris Cons. in 1942, studying comp. with Messiaen until 1945. Studied counterpoint with Andrée Vaurabourg-Honegger and 12-note technique with René Leibowitz. In 1946 became mus. dir. and cond. of Barrault-Renaud co. at Théâtre Marigny, Paris, travelling with them to N. and S. Amer. and European cities during next 10 years. In 1953, with Barrault's help, founded the Concerts Marigny, later re-named Domaine musical when the venue was moved to the Odéon in 1959. In this series Boulez introduced to Paris audiences not only works by Schoenberg, Webern, and Berg, but mus. of his contemporaries. At this time, est. contacts with Maderna and Stockhausen and joined teaching staff at the Int. summer sch. for new mus., Darmstadt. In early 1960s cond. engagements increased and dir. several major European orchs., incl. the Vienna P.O. at Salzburg, 1962. Cond. first Fr. p. of Berg's Wozzeck, Paris 1963. In 1963 visiting prof. at Harvard Univ.; made Amer. conducting débüt with Cleveland Orch. 1964. In 1966 cond.

Parsifal at Bayreuth and in same year severed connection with Paris life as a protest over ministerial appointment. Guest cond. BBC S.O. in London 1964 and in USA in 1965 and on its Russ. tour in 1967. Gave up conductorship of Domaine musical, 1967. Prin. guest cond., Cleveland Orch., 1969--70 and chief cond. of the BBC S.O. 1971--5 and NY P.O. 1971--7. His BBC period was notable for remarkable perfs. of 20th cent. music, especially Schoenberg, Webern, and Debussy. Cond. centenary cycle of Wagner's Ring at Bayreuth, 1976. From 1976 dir. Fr. Govt.'s research institute into techniques of modern comp. (IRCAM). Cond. first complete perf. of Berg's Lulu, Paris, 1979. Boulez's importance and originality as an avant-garde composer were evident from the first. He came to prominence with the Sonatine for fl. and pf. and the Pf. Sonata No. 1. The cantata Le visage nuptial, to poems by René Char made use of choral speech, spoken glissandi, crying, and whispering. Boulez's orthodox use of serialism is found in Structures I for 2 pf. Le Marteau sans maître, to text by Char (f.p. Baden-Baden June 1955, cond. Rosbaud) made him a celebrity. His most ambitious work to date is Pli selon pli for sop. and orch. This 5-part portrait of Mallarmé developed from Improvisation sur Mallarmé. These are now flanked by 2 outer movements, Don and Tombeau, all 5 containing extracts from Mallarmé sung or declaimed in many ways. There are elements of indeterminacy in the 3 sections of the improvisations. The work has constantly been radically rev., in accordance with Boulez's view that a comp. is never finished. Boulez experimented with musique concrète in early 1950s and combined it with elec. sounds in Poésie pour pouvoir (1958). His use of indeterminacy dates from about 1957 with the 3rd Pf. Sonata, the 5 movements of which can be played in any order except for the 3rd which must be central. Like Mahler and Richard Strauss, Boulez has pursued parallel careers as cond. and composer. Prin. comps.:

orch: Strophes (1957), re-comp. as Don (1960--2); Doubles (1958), expanded as Figures-Doubles-Prismes (1964); Livre pour Cordes (1968--); ... explosante fixe ..., unspecified forces (1971), fl., cl., tpt. (1972), fl., cl., tpt., hp., vibraphone, vn., va., vc., elec. (1973, rev. 1974); Mémoriales (1973--5); Rituel in memoriam Bruno Maderna (1974--5); Notations (rev. of early pf. pieces, 1981); Répons, 24 players, 6 instr. soloists, elec. (1981).

ens: Le Visage nuptial (Char), sop., alto, chamber orch. (1946), rev. sop., alto, women's ch., orch. (1950--1); Éclat, 15 instr. (1965), expanded as Éclats/Multiples (1970, in progress); Domaines, cl., 21 instr. (1968).

vocal: Le Soleil des Eaux (Char), mus. for radio play (1948), rev. as cantata for sop., ten., bass, chamber orch. (1950), rev. sop., ten., bass, ch., orch. (1958), rev. sop. and ch. (1965); Le Marteau sans Maître (Char), alto, alto fl., guitar, vib., xylorimba, perc., va. (1952--4, rev. 1957); Improvisation sur Mallarmé I, sop., hp., bells, vib., perc. (1957), alternative version 1962, II, sop., celesta, hp., pf., bells, vib., perc. (1957), III, sop., orch. (1959) 2nd. version (1983); Tombeau, sop., orch. (1959, rev. 1962); Don, sop., orch. (1960--2); Pli selon pli (Don, Improvisation sur Mallarmé I-III, Tombeau) (1957--62); e.e.cummings ist der dichter, 16 solo vv., 24 instr. (1970--).

incidental music: Ainsi parla Zarathoustra (1974).

piano: Sonatas: No. 1 (1946), No. 2 (1948), No. 3 (1955--7); Structures, Book I, 2 pf. (1952) complete (1953), Book II, 2 pf. (1956--61).

chamber music: Sonatine, fl., pf. (1946); Livre pour quatuor, str. qt. (1948--9, rev. as Livre pour Cordes, 1968--^); Messagesquisse, 7 vc. (1977).

tape: Etudes I, sur un son, II, sur sept sons, 1-track tape (1952); Symphonie Méchanique, 1-track tape (1955).

Boult, (Sir) Adrian (Cedric) (b Chester, 1889; d Tunbridge Wells, 1983). Eng. cond. Began mus. education at Christ Church, Oxford, under H. P. Allen. At Leipzig Cons. 1912--13. While there studied Nikisch's methods of conducting. Came into prominence 1918--19 with outstanding perfs. of works by Elgar, Vaughan Williams, and Holst, all of whom became close friends. Teaching staff RCM 1919--30. Cond. London season of Diaghilev ballet and operas at CG. Toured Europe introducing Brit. mus. to foreign audiences. Championship of Eng. composers has been dominant but not exclusive element in his career. Cond., CBSO 1924--30. Appointed mus. dir., BBC, 1930--42, and chief cond., BBC S.O., 1931--50. Prin. cond. LPO 1951--7. Guest cond. of world's leading orchs. Returned to RCM staff 1962--6. Author of handbook on conducting and of autobiography. Knighted 1937. C.H. 1969. Retired 1979.

Bourdon. (1) Dull-toned pedal stop found on every org., however small; end-plugged; 8' length and 16' pitch. (2) Lowest str. on the lute or vn. (3) Very large and deep-toned bell. (4) Drone str. of hurdy-gurdy. (5) Drone pipe of bagpipe.

Bourgault-Ducoudray, Louis Albert (b Nantes, 1840; d Vernouillet, Paris, 1910). Fr. composer and scholar. Student at Paris Cons. under Thomas; then cond. of a Paris choral body which revived comps. of Palestrina, Bach, and others. Prof. of History of Mus. at Cons., 1878--1908. In 1874 went to Greece on official mission, and studied folk mus. on which he became authority. Pubd. colls. of folk-songs from Greece, Brittany, Scotland, and the Middle East. Comp. 5 operas and choral works, incl. Stabat Mater.

Bourgeois, Derek (David) (b Kingston-on-Thames, 1941). Eng. composer. Studied Cambridge Univ. and RCM (1963--5). Lecturer in mus., Bristol Univ., from 1971. Comps. incl. syms., concs., cantatas, str. qt., vn. sonatas, variations for 2 db. and orch., brass quintets, org. sym., etc.

BourgeoisGentilhomme, Le (The would-be gentleman). Comédie-ballet in 5 acts by Molière (Jean-Baptiste Poquelin), written in 1670 for court of Louis XIV. Mus. for f.p. comp. by Lully. In 1912, for his Op. 60 (the first version of Ariadne auf Naxos), R. Strauss comp. incidental mus. for adaptation by Hofmannsthal (Der Bürger als Edelmann). Some of Lully's mus. was quoted. In 1916, for second version of Ariadne auf Naxos, the play was abandoned and Strauss expanded the incid. mus. in 1917 to 17 items for a further adaptation of Le bourgeois gentilhomme by Hofmannsthal. This was f.p. Berlin, 9 April 1918, prod. by Max Reinhardt. From this Strauss arr. a Suite for orch. comprising: 1. Overture, 2. Minuet, 3. The fencing master, 4. Entrance and dance of the tailors, 5. Minuet of Lully, 6. Courante, 7. Entrance of Cléonte (after Lully), 8. Prelude, Act 2 (Intermezzo), 9. The Dinner (Table music and dance of the kitchen boy). Nos. 1--4 and 8--9 are from the 1912 mus., Nos. 5--7 from the 1917 reworking. F.p. of Suite, Vienna 1920; f. Eng. p. Manchester 1921.

Bourgeois, Louis (b Paris, c.1510; d Paris, c.1561). Fr. church musician, in Geneva 1541--57 where he played leading part in compiling Genevan Psalter. Developed a system of sight-reading. Pubd. settings of 83 psalms, 1561.

Bourguignon, Francis de (b St Gilles, 1890; d Brussels, 1961). Belg. composer and pianist. Accompanist to Melba in Australia. Comp. sym., concs., chamber mus. Taught harmony at Brussels Cons. 1939--55.

Bournemouth Symphony Orchestra. Title adopted in 1954 by Bournemouth Municipal Orch., founded 1893 by Dan Godfrey and famous for its encouragement of mus. by Eng. composers. Godfrey was succeeded, 1934, by Richard Austin. Other cond.: Rudolf Schwarz 1946--51, Charles Groves 1951--61, Constantin Silvestri 1961--9, George Hurst 1969--71, Paavo Berglund 1972--9, Uri Segal 1980--3, Rudolf Barshai from 1983.

Bourrée (Fr.; Old Eng. Borry, Borree, etc.). A lively dance style very like the gavotte, in quadruple time beginning with an up-beat. It is sometimes found in the classical suite in a ternary arrangement: (a) 1st Bourrée, (b) 2nd Bourrée, (c) 1st Bourrée again.

Boutade (Fr.). Improvised dance or other comp.

Boutique fantasque, La. (The Fantastic Toyshop). Ballet in 1 act with mus. arr. from Rossini's Soirées musicales, and other pieces, by Respighi to lib. by Derain. Choreog. Massine. Prod. London 1919.

Bovicelli, Giovanni Battista (b Assisi, fl. 1592--4). It. singer at Milan Cath. and author (1594) of important work on vocal figuration and ornamentation.

Bow. Flexible stick with horsehair (usually) stretched across it, used to produce sound vibrations from strings of vn., va., vc., db., and other str. instr. Until 17th cent. bow was convex. As vn. technique developed, new forms of concave bow were devised, with hairs kept in place and at an even spread by means of metal ferrule through which hair passed as it left the nut, or 'frog' at one end of the bow. Prin. developer of modern bow was Fran;Alcois Tourte, c.1785.

Bowed Lyre. Instr. known in Middle Agesby variety of names---cruit, crot, rota, rotta, crwth, crouthe, chorus, and others---of which the Welsh crwth has survived longest. The bowed lyre was made from one piece, the yoke's resonator and pillars being hollowed out and the soundboard added. Fitted with plain pegs which required a tuning key.

Bowen, (Edwin) York (b Crouch End, 1884; d London, 1961). Eng. composer and pianist. At RAM 1898--1905 and later on staff. Best known for short pf. pieces but wrote sym. (1912), 3 pf. concs. (1904, 1906, 1908), vn. conc. (1920), and va. conc.

Bower, (Sir) John Dykes (b Gloucester, 1905; d Orpington, 1981). Eng. organist. Studied Cambridge Univ. Organist Truro Cath. (1926), New Coll., Oxford (1929), Durham Cath. (1933), St Paul's Cath., London (1936--67). Prof. of organ, RCM, 1936--69. Knighted 1968.

Bowing. (1) Style or method in which bow is applied to str. of instr. (2) Marking of score (often by cond.) to indicate to the player which notes should be played to an up (V) or down (gP) stroke of the bow. (3) Particular types of bowing technique incl. spiccato, sautillé, staccato, ricochet, saltato, col legno.

Bowles, Paul (Frederic) (b NY, 1910). Amer. composer. Studied with Copland and Thomson. Collector of folk mus. in Sp., N. Africa, C. and S. America, results influencing his exotic and colourful mus. Has comp. much chamber mus., 3 operas (2 to texts by Lorca), 5 ballets, incl. Yankee Clipper (1936), film mus. and much th. mus. (for plays by Tennessee Williams, Saroyan, Koestler, and Hellman). Also successful as novelist (e.g. The Sheltering Sky, 1949).

Bowman, James (Thomas) (b Oxford, 1941). Eng. counterten. Studied Oxford Univ. DébutLondon 1967 as Oberon in Britten's A Midsummer Night's Dream, a role he has made his own. His perf. led Britten to compose the Voice of Apollo in Death in Venice for him (Aldeburgh 1973).Has sung with EOG, Early Music Consort, Glyndebourne, CG, ENO, Scottish Opera, etc. Has sung many of the castrato roles in Handel operas.

Boyce, Bruce (b London, Ontario, 1910). Canadian bar. Prof. RAM from 1956. Many opera perfs., also Bach Passions and Delius works with Beecham.

Boyce, William (b London, 1711; d London, 1779). Eng. composer and organist. Boy chorister, St Paul's Cath., then pupil of Maurice Greene. Organist of Oxford Chapel, Vere Street, 1734, and became known as composer of masques and oratorios. Organist, St Michael's, Cornhill, 1736, also becoming composer to Chapel Royal. Appointed cond., 3 Choirs Fest., 1737. Organist, Allhallows the Great and Less, Thane Street, 1749. D.Mus., Oxford, 1749. Succeeded Greene as Master of the King's Musick, 1755. Organist, Chapel Royal, 1758. Resigned from St Michael's 1768, dismissed from Allhallows 1769. Increasing deafness, which had first manifested itself in his youth, caused him to give up other posts c.1770. Retired to Kensington to edit a coll. of English Cathedral Music, a task projected by Greene who bequeathed to Boyce the material he had collected. Boyce's 3 vols. remained in use for almost 150 years. His comps. incl. masques, odes, ovs., church anthems and services, trio sonatas, and 8 syms., of which the modern revival is due to the researches and enthusiasm of Constant Lambert. The song Heart of Oak was comp. by Boyce in 1759 for the pantomime Harlequin's Invasion.

Boyd, Anne (b Sydney, N.S.W., 1946). Australian composer. Studied N.S.W. Cons. and Sydney Univ. (comp. with Sculthorpe). Went to Eng. 1972, studying at York Univ. with Mellers and Rands. Lecturer in mus. Sussex Univ. 1975--7. Head of Mus. Dept., Hong Kong Univ. from 1980. Works incl.: The Voice of the Phoenix (1971) (orch., incl. amplified instr. and optional synthesizer); As Far As Crawls the Toad (1970, rev. 1972), th. piece for young percussionists; 2 str. qts. (1968, rev. 1971, and 1973); The Rose Garden (1971), th. piece for singing actress, ch., and chamber ens.; The Metamorphoses of the Solitary Female Phoenix (1971), wind quintet, pf., perc.; As it leaves the Bell (1973), pf., harp, perc.; Summer Nights (1976), alto and str., perc., harp; As All Waters Flow (1976), 5 female vv., chamber ens.; As I Crossed a Bridge of Dreams (1975), 12 unacc. vv.; Anklung (1974), pf.; Bencharong (1976), str.; The Death of Captain Cook, oratorio, sop., ten., bar., ch., and orch. (1978); The Little Mermaid, children's opera (1978); The Beginning of the Day, children's opera (1980); Anklung 2, vn. (1980).

Boyden, David (Dodge) (b Westport, Conn., 1910). Amer. musicologist and expert on str.instr. Studied Columbia Univ., Hartt Sch. of Mus., Harvard Univ. Teacher at Univ. of Calif. 1938--75. Author of book on counterpoint and history of vn.-playing (1965).

Boyhood's End. Cantata for ten. and pf. by Tippett on texts by W. H. Hudson. Comp. 1943.

Bozay, Attila (b Balatonfiizfo, Hungary, 1939). Hung. composer. Studied with Farkas at Budapest Acad. 1958--62. Mus. influenced by serialism and folk-derived rhythms in manner of Bartók. Works incl. Papirszeletek (Paper Slips), song-cycle (1962); wind quintet (1962); str. qts. No. 1 (1964), No. 2 (1971); Variations for pf. (1964); Pezzo concertato for va. and orch. (1966); Pezzo sinfonico for orch. (1967); Labyrinth, ens. (1973).

Bozza, Eugène (b Nice, 1905). Fr. composer and cond. Studied Paris Cons. (1st Grand Prix de Rome 1934). Prin. cond. Opéra-Comique 1939--48. Composer of 3 operas, 4 syms., oratorio, vn. conc., pf. conc., and mus. for wind ens.

Br. Short for Bratsche(n) (Ger.), i.e. viola(s).

Braban;alconne, La. Belg. nat. anthem. Written and comp. at time of 1830 demonstration in Brussels which led to separation of Belg. from Holland. Author of words was Fr. actor then in Brussels, named Jenneval, and composer was Fran;Alcois van Campenhout. Name comes from 'Brabant'.

'Braccio' and 'Gamba'. All viols were held downwards and to them was given the general name of Viole da gamba, i.e. 'leg-viols', a description afterwards restricted to latest survivor of the family, bass viol. The smaller members of the vn. family were held on the shoulder, and, by analogy, all members of this family (incl. even those which from their size had to be held downwards) came to be called Viole da braccio, i.e. 'arm-viols'. Later this term became limited to the alto vn., i.e. the va. (still in Ger. called Bratsche).

Brace. Perpendicular line, with bracket, joining the staves in scores.

Bradbury, Colin (James) (b Blackpool, 1933). Eng. clarinettist. Studied RCM, and prof. there from 1963. Début 1951. Prin. cl., BBC S.O. from 1960.

Bradbury, Ernest (b Leeds, 1919). Eng. critic and lecturer. Studied with Bairstow. Chief mus. critic Yorkshire Post 1947--84.

Brade, William (b 1560; d Hamburg, 1630). Eng. composer and violinist who lived mainly on continent, working at Danish court 1594--6, 1599--1606, and 1620--2, and intermittently in Hamburg, Berlin, and elsewhere. Comps. incl. suites, dances, and ovs.

Bradshaw, Susan (b Monmouth, 1931). Eng. pianist and critic. Studied RCM and in Paris with Boulez. Specialist in contemporary works.

Braga, Francisco (b Rio de Janeiro, 1868; d Rio, 1945). Brazilian composer, cond., and teacher. In 1890 studied at Paris Cons. with Massenet. Cond. sym. concerts in Rio 1908--33. Comp. operas Jupira (Rio 1899) and Anita Garibaldi (1901, unfinished), symphonic poems, etc.

Braga, Gaetano (b Giulianova, Abruzzi, 1829; d Milan, 1907). It. cellist and composer. After touring widely, lived mainly in Paris and London. Comp. 9 operas, 2 vc. concs., 2 syms., and a very popular song, 'Angel's Serenade'. Also wrote vc. method.

Braga-Santos, Joly (b Lisbon, 1924). Portuguese composer and cond. Studied Lisbon Cons. 1934--43, Venice Cons. 1948 (cond. with H. Scherchen). Studied elec. mus. in Switzerland 1957--8. Cond., Oporto Radio S.O., 1955--9. Comps., some of them atonal, incl. 6 syms., 3 operas, va. conc., double conc. (vn. and vc.), Requiem for Pedro de Freitas-Branco (1964).

Braham (orig. Abraham), John (b London, 1774; d London, 1856). Eng. ten., pupil of Leoni. Début aged 13 at CG. Became pf. teacher until 1794 when he took up singing again at Bath. Engaged by Storage for Drury Lane 1796. Sang in oratorios and at Three Choirs Fests. Sang in Fr. and It. with Nancy (Anna) Storage. Reappeared CG 1801. Following custom of time, wrote mus. of his own part in several operas in which he appeared. For Lyceum opera The Americans (1811), comp. The Death of Nelson, which remained most popular item in his repertory. Sang part of Max in English in Weber's Der Freischütz, 1824, and created role of Sir Huon in Weber's Oberon, 1826. His v., regarded as unequalled in It. opera and in Handel, deepened in the 1830s and he sang bar. roles of William Tell at Drury Lane in 1838 and Don Giovanni a year later. Toured America unsuccessfully in 1840. Last appearance was in London, Mar. 1852, when he was 78.

Brahms, Johannes (b Hamburg, 1833; d Vienna, 1897). Ger. composer and pianist. Son of db. player in Hamburg State Th. In childhood was taught vn. by father, pf. by Otto Cossel, and comp. by Eduard Marxsen. Public début as pianist, Hamburg, September 1848. Earned living by teaching and by playing at theatres, for dances, and in taverns frequented by prostitutes. In 1853 engaged to acc. Hung. vn. virtuoso Reményi on a concert tour. While in Hanover met Joachim, who was impressed by youth's comps. and gave him letters of introduction to Liszt and Schumann. Latter hailed him as genius in an article entitled Neue Bahnen (New Paths) in the Neue Zeitschrift für Musik of 28 Oct. 1853. After Schumann's death in 1856, Brahms became pf. teacher to Princess Friederike and choral cond. at little court of Lippe-Detmold 1857--60, unexacting duties which left him time for comp. In 1860 signed famous manifesto opposing 'new music' methods adopted by Liszt and his followers and thereafter was regarded as the polar opposite to Wagnerian sch. in Ger. mus. His first pf. conc. had been a failure at its f.p. in Leipzig on 27 Jan. 1859 and it was not until nearly 10 years later, with Ein Deutsches Requiem, that he achieved a major success. In 1862 first visited Vienna, where he lived for most of next 35 years. From 1863--4 was cond. of Vienna Singakademie and in 1872 succeeded Rubinstein as art. dir. of Gesellschaft der Musikfreunde, holding post until 1875. Thereafter his life was uneventful except for comp. of major works and tours as pianist. Brahms was a master in every form of comp. except opera, which he never attempted. He eschewed programme-mus. and wrote in the classical forms, yet his nature was essentially romantic. His 4 syms. are superb examples of his devotion to classical mus. architecture within which he introduced many novel thematic developments. In the chamber mus. practically every work is a masterpiece; his 4 concs. are indispensable features of concert life, and his songs, numbering nearly 200, are closely based on Ger. folk-songs but are polished and refined to a highly sophisticated degree. His prin. comps. are:

symphonies: No. 1 in C minor, Op. 68 (f.p. Karlsruhe, 6 Nov. 1876, cond. Dessooff); No. 2 in D major, Op. 73 (f.p. Vienna, 30 Dec. 1877, cond. Richter); No. 3 in F major, Op. 90 (f.p. Vienna, 2 Dec. 1883, cond. Richter); No. 4 in E minor, Op. 98 (f.p. Meiningen, 25 Oct. 1885, cond. Bülow).

concertos: Pf., No. 1 in D minor, Op. 15 (f.p. Leipzig, 27 Jan. 1859, Brahms soloist); No. 2 in Bb major, Op. 83 (f.p. Budapest, 9 Nov. 1881, Brahms soloist); Vn., in D major, Op. 77 (f.p. Leipzig, 1 Jan. 1879, cond. Brahms, Joachim soloist); Vn. and Vc. in A minor, Op. 102 (f.p. Cologne, 15 Oct. 1887, soloists Joachim (vn.), R. Hausmann (vc.), cond. Brahms).

chamber music: Str. Sextets No. 1, Bb major, Op. 18 (1860), No. 2 in G major, Op. 36 (1864--5); Str. Qts., Op. 51, No. 1 in C minor, No. 2 in A minor (1859--73), No. 3 in Bb major, Op. 67 (1875); Str. Quintets, No. 1 in F major, Op. 88 (1882), No. 2 in G major, Op. 111 (1890); Cl. Quintet in B minor, Op. 115 (1891); Pf. Qts., No. 1 in G minor, Op. 25 (1861), No. 2 in A major, Op. 26 (1861), No. 3 in C minor, Op. 60 (1855--75); Pf. Quintet in F minor, Op. 34 (1864); Pf. Trios, No. 1 in B major, Op. 8 (1853--4, second version 1890), No. 2 in C major, Op. 87 (1880--2), No. 3 in C minor, Op. 101 (1886); Hn. Trio in Eb major, Op. 40 (1865); Vc. Sonatas, No. 1 in E minor, Op. 38 (1862--5), No. 2 in F major, Op. 99 (1886); Vn. Sonatas, No. 1 in G major, Op. 78 (1878--9), No. 2 in A major, Op. 100 (1886), No. 3 in D minor, Op. 108 (1886--8); Cl. (or Va.) Trio in A minor, Op. 114 (1891); Cl. (or Va.) Sonatas, Op. 120, No. 1 in F minor, No. 2 in Eb major (both 1894); Scherzo in C minor, vn., pf. (1853).

misc. orch: Serenades, No. 1 in D, Op. 11 (1857--8), No. 2 in A, Op. 16 (1857--60, rev. 1875), Hungarian Dances, Variations on a Theme by Haydn, Op. 56a (1873), Akademische Festouvertüre, Op. 80 (1880), Tragic Ov., Op. 81 (1880--1).

piano: Sonatas, No. 1 in C major, Op. 1 (1852--3), No. 2 in F# minor, Op. 2 (1852), No. 3 in F minor, Op. 5 (1853); Scherzo in Eb minor, Op. 4 (1851), Variations on a Theme by R. Schumann, Op. 9 (1854), Variations and Fugue on a Theme by Handel, Op. 24 (1861), Hungarian Dances (21 pf. duets) (1852--69), Variations on a Theme by Paganini, Op. 35 (1862--3), Variations on a Theme by Haydn, Op. 56b (two pianos) (1873), LiebesliederWaltzes, Op. 52, 18 waltzes for SATB and pf. 4 hands (1868--9), Op. 52a (without vocal parts) (1874), Pf. Quintet in F minor, Op. 34, arr. for 2 pf. as Op. 34a; rhapsodies, intermezzos, and studies.

chorus and orch: Ein Deutsches Requiem, sop., bar., ch. and orch., Op. 45 (1857--68), Rinaldo, ten., male ch., and orch., Op. 50 (1863--8), Rhapsody for cont., male ch., and orch., Op. 53 (1869), Schicksalslied, ch. and orch., Op. 54 (1871), Triumphlied, ch. and orch., Op. 55 (1870--1), Nänie, ch. and orch., Op. 82 (1880--1), Gesang der Parzen, ch. and orch., Op. 89 (1882).

organ: 11 Choral Preludes, Op. 122 (pubd. 1896 in 2 books) Bk. I: 1, Mein Jesu, der du mich. 2, Herzliebster Jesu. 3, O Welt, ich muss dich lassen. 4, Herzlich tut mich erfreuen. Bk. II: 5, Schmücke dich, O liebe Seele. 6, O wie selig seid ihr doch, ihr Frommen. 7, O Gott, du frommer Gott. 8, Es ist ein Ros' entsprungen. 9, Herzlich tut mich verlangen. 10, O Welt, ich muss dich lassen (II); Fugue in Ab minor (1856); Prelude and Fugue in A minor (1856); Prelude and Fugue in G minor (1857).

part-songs etc.: 4 Part-Songs, Op. 17, women's vv., 2 hns., harp (1860); 7 Marienlieder, Op. 22, mixed ch.; Ps. XIII, Op. 27, women's vv., pf. (1859); 2 Motets, Op. 29, unacc. ch. (1860); Geistliches Lied (Lass dich nur nichts dauern), Op. 30, ch., org. or pf. (1856); 3

Quartets, Op. 31, solo vv., pf. (1859--63); 3 Sacred Ch., Op. 37, unacc. women's vv. (1859--63); 5 Soldatenlieder, Op. 41, unacc. male ch. (1861--2); 3 Lieder (incl. Abendständchen), Op. 42, unacc. male ch. (1859--61); 12 Lieder und Romanzen, Op. 44, unacc. women's vv. (1859--63); 7 Lieder, Op. 62, unacc. (1874); 3 Quartets, Op. 63, 4 solo vv., pf. (1862--74); 2 Motets, Op. 74, unacc. (1863--77); 4 Quartets, Op. 92, solo vv., pf. (1877--84); 6 Lieder und Romanzen, Op. 93a, unacc. (1883--4); Tagelied, Op. 93b, unacc. (1884); 11 Zigeunerlieder, Op. 103, 4 vv., pf. (1887); 5 Lieder, Op. 104, unacc. (1888); Deutsche Fest- und Gedenksprüche, Op. 109, unacc. double ch. (1886--8); 3 Motets, Op. 110, unacc. (1889); 6 Vocal Quartets, Op. 112, unacc. (1889--91); 13 Canons, Op. 113, women's vv., pf. (1863--90); also 14 Ger. Folksongs, unacc. (1864); 14 Volks-Kinderlieder, vv., pf. (pubd. 1858).

song-cycles: Die schöne Magelone, Op. 33, v. and pf., 15 Romanzen from Magelone (L. Tieck, 1773--1853): 1, Keinen hat es noch gereut. 2, Traun! Bogen und Pfeil. 3, Sind es Schmerzen, sind es Freuden. 4, Liebe kam aus fernen Landen. 5, So willst du des Armen. 6, Wie soll ich die Freude. 7, War es dir? 8, Wir müssen uns trennen. 9, Ruhe, Süßliebchen. 10, So tönet denn. 11, Wie schnell verschwindet. 12, Muss es eine Trennung geben. 13, Geliebter, wo zaudert dein irrander Fuss. 14, Wie froh und frisch. 15, Treue Liebe dauert lange. (1861--8); Vier ernste Gesänge, Op. 121, low v. and pf. (orch. by Sargent): 1, Denn es gehet dem Menschen. 2, Ich wandte mich und sahe. 3, O Tod, wie bitter. 4, Wenn ich mit Menschen- und mit Engelszungen redete (1896).

songs: Brahms published over 200 songs, from his Op. 3 (1852--3) to his Op. 107 (1886). Among the best known, with poets' names, are: Abenddämmerung (Schack), Op. 49, No. 5 (1868), Am Sonntag Morgen (Heyse), Op. 49, No. 1 (1868), An eine Aeolsharfe (Mörike), Op. 19, No. 5 (1859), Auf dem Kirchhofe (Liliencron), Op. 105, No. 4 (1886), Blinde Kuh (Kopisch), Op. 58, No. 1 (1871), Botschaft (Daumer), Op. 47, No. 1 (c.1860), Dein blaues Auge (Groth), Op. 59, No. 8 (1873), Es lieb sich so lieblich (Heine), Op. 71, No. 1 (1877), Feldeinsamkeit (Allmers), Op. 86, No. 2 (1877--8), Geistliches Wiegenlied (Geibel), with va. obb., Op. 91, No. 2 (1884), Gestillte Sehnsucht (Rückert), with va. obb., Op. 91, No. 1 (1884), Immer leise (Ling), Op. 105, No. 2 (1886), Der Jäger (Halm), Op. 95, No. 4 (1884), Kein Haus, keine Heimat (Halm), Op. 94, No. 5 (1884), Komm bald (Groth), Op. 97, No. 5 (1884), Der Kranz (Schmidt), Op. 84, No. 2 (1881), Lerchengesang (Candidus), Op. 70, No. 2 (1877), Liebestreu (Reinick), Op. 3, No. 1 (1853), Das Mädchen spricht (Gruppe), Op. 107, No. 3 (1886), Die Mainacht (Hölty), Op. 43, No. 2 (1868), Mein Herz ist schwer (Geibel), Op. 94, No. 3 (1884), Mit vierzig Jahren (Rückert), Op. 94, No. 1 (1884), Die Nachtigall (Reinhold), Op. 97, No. 1 (1884), Nachtigallen schwingen (Fallersleben), Op. 6, No. 6 (1853), O kühler Wald (Brentano), Op. 72, No. 3 (1876--7), Salome (Keller), Op. 69, No. 8 (1877), Sapphische Ode (Schmidt), Op. 94, No. 4 (1884), Sonntag (Uhland), Op. 47, No. 3 (c.1865), Ständchen (Kugler), Op. 106, No. 1 (1886), Steig auf, geliebter Schatten (Halm), Op. 94, No. 2 (1884), Therese (Keller), Op. 86, No. 1 (1877), Vergebliches Ständchen (trad.), Op. 84, No. 4 (1881), Verzagen (Lemcke), Op. 72, No. 4 (1877); also several duets and 7 vols. containing 49 Ger. folk-song settings.

Braille, Louis (b Coupvray, Paris, 1809; d Coupvray, 1852). Fr. inventor of 'Braille'. Blind from age of 3, developed Braille system of mus. notation for blind, perfecting it by 1834. Attempts to standardize method for int. use began at Cologne in 1888 but were not finally agreed until 1929.

Brailowsky, Alexander (b Kiev, 1896; d NY, 1976). Amer. pianist of Russ. birth, pupil in Vienna of Leschetizky, 1911, and later of Busoni. Début Paris 1919, NY 1924. Specialist in Chopin.

Brain, Aubrey (b London, 1893; d London, 1955). Eng. player of French hn. Studied RCM. Prin. hn. of several orchs. incl. BBC S.O. 1930--45. Prof. RAM 1923--55. His brother Alfred (b London, 1885; d Los Angeles, 1966), regarded by some as an even finer player, was for many years first hn. of Henry Wood's Queen's Hall Orch., until in 1923 he went to USA becoming prin. hn. of Los Angeles P.O. and manager of Hollywood Bowl concerts.

Brain, Dennis (b London, 1921; d Hatfield, 1957). Eng. player of French hn., son of Aubrey Brain, with whom he studied at RAM. Prin hn., RPO from 1946 and later of Philharmonia Orch., frequent conc. soloist, and founder of Dennis Brain Wind Ens. Regarded as finest virtuoso of his day. Britten, Hindemith, and others comp. works for him. Killed in car crash.

Brain, Leonard (b London, 1915; d London, 1975). Eng. player of ob. and cor anglais, son of Aubrey Brain. Studied RAM. Played in RPO 1946--73. Member, Dennis Brain Wind Ens. Prof. of oboe, RAM, from 1963.

Brainin, Norbert (b Vienna, 1923). Austrian-born violinist. Studied Vienna Cons. Settled in London 1938, studying with Flesch and Rostal. Founded Amadeus Quartet 1947. O.B.E. 1960.

Braithwaite, Nicholas (Paul Dallon) (b London, 1939). Eng. cond. Son of Warwick Braithwaite. Studied RAM, Vienna Acad. of Mus. Cond. début, BBC Scottish S.O. 1966. Ass. cond., Bournemouth S.O., 1967--70, ass. prin. cond., SW Opera, 1971--1974. Guest cond. leading sym. orchs. Cond. Glyndebourne Touring Opera 1977--81. Prin. cond. Göteborg Opera from 1981, Manchester Camerata from 1984.

Braithwaite, Warwick (b Dunedin, N.Z., 1896; d London, 1971). New Zealand cond. Studied RAM 1916--19. Cond. with O'Mara Opera Co. 1919--22, BNOC 1922. Mus. dir. BBC Wales, 1924--32. Cond., Sadler's Wells Opera, 1932--40, Scottish Orch. 1940--6, CG 1950--2, prin. cond. SW Ballet 1948--52. Cond. Nat. Orch. of N.Z. 1953--4, Nat. Opera of Australia 1954--6, Welsh National Opera 1956--60, SW Opera 1960--8.

Brandenburg Concertos. Bach's 6 'Concerti Grossi' for various combinations. Dedicated to Christian Ludwig, Margrave of Brandenburg (1721) but it appears they were never played for him. They are as follows: (1) F Major. 2 hn., 3 ob., and bn., str. (incl. Violino Piccolo, i.e. small vn.), hpd. (2); Sd F Major. In 2 groups, plus Continuo---(a) Concertino: tpt., fl., ob., vn.; (b) Ripieno: str.; (c) hpd. (3) G Major. 3 groups of str. (each vn., va., vc.), db., and hpd. (4); Sd G Major. In 2 groups, plus Continuo---(a) Concertino: vn. and 2 fl.; (b) Ripieno: str.; (c) hpd. (5); Sd D major. In 2 groups, plus Continuo---(a) Concertino: hpd., fl., vn.; (b) Ripieno: str. (no 2nd vns.); (c) hpd. for the continuo. (6) Bb Major. (No vns.) 2 va., 2 viole da gamba, vc., hpd. It will be seen that the 3 marked ;Sd are true Concerti Grossi in the traditional style of contrasting groups. No. 3 has only 2 movements and there is considerable scholastic speculation on the 'missing' middle movement. Presumably the works were comp. for Cöthen court orch. Bach's title for them was Concerts avec plusieurs instruments.

Brandt, Michel (b Rennes, 1934). Fr. cond. Studied Paris Cons. and École Normale de Musique. Début, Aarhus, Denmark. Cond. Biel-Solothurn 1961--4, Cologne Opera 1964--71. Lecturer, RNCM, Manchester, from 1973. Guest cond., Manchester Camerata and other orchs.

Branle (Bransle, etc.; from branler, to sway). Rustic round-dance of Fr. origin, at one time carried out to singing of dancers. Popular at court of Louis XIV but had earlier been taken up in Eng. (Shakespeare calls it 'Brawl'; Pepys 'Brantle'). Mus. usually in simple duple time.

Brannigan, Owen (b Annitsford, 1908; d Newcastle upon Tyne, 1973). Eng. bass singer. Studied GSM. Début Newcastle 1943. Created several roles in Britten operas, i.e. Swallow (Peter Grimes), Collatinus (Rape of Lucretia), Supt. Budd (Albert Herring), Noye (Noye's Fludde), Bottom (A Midsummer Night's Dream). Also distinguished in oratorio and Gilbert and Sullivan, with special affection for and knowledge of N. Country folk-songs. Glyndebourne début 1947, CG 1948. O.B.E. 1964.

Brant, Henry Dreyfuss (b Montreal, 1913). Amer. (Canadian-born) composer, flautist, pianist, and organist. Studied McGill Univ. Cons., 1926--9 and Institute of Mus. Art, NY, 1929--34, Juilliard Sch. 1932--4. Private comp. studies with Rieger and Antheil. Earned living in 1930 as orchestrator for Kostelanetz and Benny Goodman. Later comp. and cond. for radio, films, and ballet in NY and Hollywood. Teacher at Columbia Univ. (1945--52), Juilliard (1947--54), Bennington Coll., Vermont, from 1957. Disciple of Ives. Comps. are markedly experimental, employing spatial effects. His Antiphony 1 (1953), using 5 separated orch. groups, anticipated Stockhausen's Gruppen. Other works incl. syms., sonatas, ballets (The Great American Goof, City Portrait), cantata December, Millennium 2 for sop., bass, and perc., Kingdom Come for 2 orchs. and org., Verticals Ascending for 2 orch. groups and 2 cond.s., etc.

Bransle, Brantle. See Branle.

Brass. This term, technically used, covers wind instr. formerly made of that metal, some of which, however, are now sometimes made of other metals; it does not incl. instr. formerly of wood but now sometimes of metal, e.g. fl., nor does it incl. metal instr. with reed mouthpieces, e.g. sax. and sarrusophone. Each instr. possesses a mouthpiece of the nature of a cup or funnel to be pressed against the player's lips, which vibrate within it something like the double reed of the ob. family. The shape of this mouthpiece affects the quality of the tone, a deep funnel-shaped mouthpiece (e.g. hn.) giving more smoothness, and a cup-shaped mouthpiece (e.g. tpt.) more brilliance. The shape of the bell with which the tube ends also affects the character of the tone as does the nature of the tube's bore, i.e. cylindrical or conical. 'Natural' brass instr., playing merely the notes of the harmonic series of their 'fundamental' note, are no longer in artistic use, a system of valves having been introduced which makes it possible instantaneously to change the fundamental note of the instr. and so to have at command the notes of another whole harmonic series. However, composers sometimes ask for a 'natural' sound, e.g. Vaughan Williams in his Pastoral Symphony (2nd movement) and Britten in his Serenade. And the 'natural' hn. is often used today for 18th-cent. mus. The tbs. have always formed a class apart, as they possess a sliding arrangement by which the length of the tube can be changed and a fresh fundamental, with its series of harmonics, quickly obtained. Usual brass section of orch. comprises 4 hn., 3 tpt., 2 ten. and 1 bass tb., 1 tuba, with additions as specified.

Brass Band. This type of combination is found all over Europe and in countries settled by Europeans, but highest standard of perf. is possibly reached in N. of Eng., especially Lancashire and Yorkshire, where its popularity is great. Usual constitution in Brit. is cornets, flügelhorn, saxhorns, euphoniums, tbs., and bombardons, with perc. Saxs. (not strictly a brass instr.) are sometimes incl. All the wind instr. of the brass band except the bass tb. are scored for as transposing instr. Their keys being Bb and Eb, their notation shows, respectively, 2 flats less (or 2 sharps more) than the sounding effect, or 3 flats less (or 3 sharps more). With exception of bass tbs. and perc. all are notated in treble clef: except Eb cornet, where the sound is a minor third higher than the notation, all the sounds are lower, the intervals of the discrepancy ranging from a 2nd below (Bb cornet) to 2 octaves and a second below (Bb bombardon). Thus a brass band score is rather puzzling to an unaccustomed reader. Many 20th-cent. Eng. composers (e.g. Elgar, Holst, Vaughan Williams, Ireland, Bliss, Bantock, Howells, Birtwistle and Bourgeois) have written for brass bands, as has Henze. There is also a distinguished line of 'brass band composers', including Percy Fletcher, Cyril Jenkins, Hubert Bath, Denis Wright, Kenneth Wright, Eric Ball, Gilbert Vinter, and Edward Gregson. The 'brass band movement' in Brit. has a history (almost a folklore) stretching back to the start of the 19th cent. It derived partly from the old city 'waits' and partly from the military wind bands, of which there were many during the Napoleonic Wars. After Waterloo (1815) men left the army, but the musicians continued playing in civilian life. Brass instruments were comparatively cheap, and the bands flourished as hobbies among the working-class population in the manufacturing towns of Lancs. and Yorks. (though also in Cornwall and elsewhere). Brass band competitions began

*c.*1818 but developed fully *c.*1840. Among the most celebrated championships are the British Open (formerly held at Belle Vue, Manchester) and the National (held in London). It was for the latter in 1930 that Elgar comp. his Severn Suite. Bands are frequently named after an industrial firm or colliery as well as after a place. Among the most celebrated have been Bacup, Black Dyke Mills, Besses o' th' Barn, Wingate's Temperance, Foden's Motor Works, St Hilda Colliery (reputedly the greatest of all), Creswell Colliery, Brighouse and Rastrick, Munn and Felton's, Fairey Aviation, CWS Manchester, GUS Footwear, Grimethorpe Colliery, Cory, Carlton Main Frickley, and Hammond's Sauce Works---names of industrial poetry! Among notable band impresarios, arrangers, and conductors mention should be made of Henry Geehl, William Rimmer, William Halliwell, Eric Ball, Walter Hargreaves, Elgar Howarth, J.|H.|Iles, Alexander Owen, John Gladney, Edwin Swift, Roy Newsome, Maj. Peter Parkes, the Wrights (Denis, Frank, and Kenneth), and the Mortimers (Alex, Fred, Harry, and Rex).

Bratsche (Ger.). Viola (see Braccio and Gamba). So Bratschist, viola player.

Braunfels, Walter (b Frankfurt-am-Main, 1882; d Cologne, 1954). Ger. pianist and composer, pupil of Leschetizky. Dir. of Hochschule für Musik, Cologne, 1925--33 and 1946--50. Wrote 7 operas, pf. conc., Mass, and Te Deum.

Brautlied (Ger.). Bridal song.

Brautwahl, Die (The Bridal Choice). Opera by Busoni, Op. 45, to his own lib. based on E. T. A. Hoffmann. Prod. Hamburg 1912.

Bravington, Eric (b Ealing, 1920; d 1982). Eng. trumpeter and orch. administrator. Studied RCM. Joined LPO 1939, prin. tpt. 1948--59 when he became man. dir. of the orch until 1980.

Bravo (It.). Brave, fine. Exclamation of approval which therefore has no need to alter, though purists would insist on brava for a woman performer, bravi for male performers, and brave for female performers. Superlative form is bravissimo.

Bravoure (Fr.). (1) Bravery, gallantry. (2) Same as Bravura.

Bravura (It.). Courage, or swagger. A bravura passage calls for a brilliant and extrovert display of vocal or instr. technique.

Brawl, Brawle. Old Eng. name for Branle.

Break. (1) Place in the v. range where the registers change. (2) The permanent change in the male v. which occurs at puberty. (3) A term in jazz meaning an improvised solo passage, in the style of a cadenza.

Bream, Julian (Alexander) (b London, 1933). Eng. guitarist and lutenist. Won RCM exhibition aged 12 and studied pf. and vc. there; later given special scholarship as student of guitar. Became protégé of Segovia. Début Cheltenham 1947, London 1950. Also a lutenist and has ed. and transcr. much early mus. for his instrs. Britten, Walton, Henze, and Tippett have comp. works for him. O.B.E. 1964.

Brecher, Gustav (b Eichwald, 1879; d aboardship, 1940). Ger.-Boh. cond. and composer. Cond. opera in Hamburg, Leipzig, Cologne, and Frankfurt 1924--33. Comp. symphonic poem Rosmersholm (1895) and other works.

Brecht, Bertolt (b Augsburg, 1898; d Berlin, 1956). Ger. dramatist and theatrical producer whose radical outlook had enormous influence before and after Nazi régime in Ger. After 1948 his Berliner Ens. fathered a sch. of realistic theatrical experiment. He provided libs. for several mus. works by Kurt Weill, chief among them Die Dreigroschenoper (Threepenny Opera) (1928) and Aufstieg und Fall der Stadt Mahagonny (Rise and Fall of the City of Mahagonny) (1927--9). Also wrote libs. for Hindemith, Eisler, Wagner-Regény, Dessau, and Sessions.

Breeches Part. See Travesti.

Brehme, Hans (b Potsdam, 1904; d Stuttgart, 1957). Ger. composer and pianist. Teacher at Stuttgart Hochschule für Musik 1928--45 and 1949--57. Comp. 3operas, 2 syms., cl. conc., 2 pf. concs., chamber mus. incl. several works for accordion.

Breit (Ger.). Broad. Sometimes the equivalent of Largo, and sometimes applied to bowing, e.g. Breit gestrichen, broadly bowed.

Breitkopf and Härtel. Ger. firm of mus. publishers founded Leipzig 1719 by Bernhard Christoph Breitkopf (1695--1777) as book publishers. His son Johann Gottlieb (1719--94) invented system of movable mus. type in 1750 enabling publication in 1756 of full score of an opera pseudonymously comp. by Princess of Saxony. Breitkopf family severed connection in 1800, dir. being transferred to Gottfried Christoph Härtel (1763--1827) who concentrated on mus. and prod. complete edns. of Mozart (17 vols., 1798--1816), Haydn (12 vols., 1800--6), Clementi, and Dussek. He also founded Allgemeine musikalische Zeitung. By 1874 firm's catalogue listed over 14,000 works, incl. complete edns. of Beethoven, Mendelssohn, Schumann, Schubert, Chopin, Liszt, Wagner, and Berlioz, and edns. of earlier composers such as Palestrina, Schütz, Victoria, Lassus, and Sweelinck. In 20th cent. many important composers have been added to their lists. Firm is now divided between East Germany (Leipzig) and West Germany (Wiesbaden).

Brema, Marie (née Minny Fehrman) (b Liverpool, 1856; d Manchester, 1925). Eng. mez. (Ger. father, Amer. mother). Did not begin serious mus. study until after marriage in 1874. Studied with Henschel, 1890; sang in London 1891 under name Bremer (allusion to father's birthplace, Bremen). Later that year appeared as Lola in London at first Eng. perf. of Cavalleria Rusticana. Sang Ortrud in Lohengrin at Bayreuth 1894, Fricka in The Ring 1896, Kundry in Parsifal 1897. Amer. tour 1894 singing Ortrud, Brangäne, and Brünnhilde. Thereafter specialized in Wagner, singing Brünnhilde in Götterdämmerung under Richter in Paris 1902. Created part of Angel at f.p. of Elgar's Dream of Gerontius 1900. In 1910 promoted 2 seasons of opera at Savoy, London, singing Gluck's Orpheus and producing all the works. From 1913 until her death was prof. of singing and dir. of opera class at RMCM.

Brendel, Alfred (b Wiesenberk, Moravia, 1931). Austrian pianist. Studied Vienna Acad. of Mus., and with Edwin Fischer. First recital, Graz 1948. Toured with Vienna Chamber Orch. 1951. Début with Vienna P.O., Salzburg, 1960. Played all Beethoven sonatas, London 1962. Amer. début 1963. Thereafter built worldwide reputation through tours and recordings. Settled in London, 1974. Admired principally for playing of Mozart, Beethoven, Schubert, Schumann, and Liszt, but is frequent performer of Schoenberg's pf. conc. Has written essays on several composers and comp. pf. mus.

Brenet, Michel (really Antoinette Christine Marie Bobillier) (b Lunéville, 1858; d Paris, 1918). Fr. musicologist. Author of biographies of Ockeghem, Palestrina, Handel, Grétry, etc., an historical dictionary of mus. (posthumous), and many other works of research.

Brentano, Elisabeth (Bettina) (b Frankfurt-am-Main, 1785; d Berlin, 1859). Friend of Goethe and later of Beethoven. Her hysterical nature led her to invent letters she said she received from Goethe, and only one letter to her from Beethoven, though revealing an affectionate relationship, has been authenticated. In 1811, married poet A. von Arnim who collab. with her brother Clemens (1778--1842) in editing the folk-anthology Des Knaben Wunderhorn.

Bretón, Tomás (b Salamanca, 1850; d Madrid, 1923). Sp. composer. Played vn. in cafés as child. Studied Madrid Cons. and in Paris, Rome, and Vienna on special grants. Became cond. of Madrid Opera and, in 1903, dir. of Madrid Cons. Like Albéniz fought for the cause of Sp. mus. nationalism, his special contribution being artistic treatment of the operatic form of the Zarzuela. Also wrote 9 operas, orch. works incl. vn. conc., and oratorio.

Brett, Philip (b Edwinstowe, Notts, 1937). Eng. musicologist and writer. Studied King's Coll., Cambridge, 1955--62, with Thurston Dart. Collab. with Dart in rev. Fellowes's English Madrigalists. Also rev. 2 vols. of Byrd's works and ed. new vols. Teacher at Univ. of Calif., Berkeley, from 1966 (assoc. prof. from 1971). Author of book on Britten's Peter Grimes (1983).

Breuning. Ger. family remembered for its connection with Beethoven who at 18 became mus. teacher in Bonn to 2 of the 4 children of a widow, Hélène Breuning. He became almost an adopted son. His closest friend was perhaps the 2nd son, Stephan (1774--1827), to whom the vn. conc. is ded. Letters from Beethoven to various members of the family are pubd.

Bréval, Lucienne (b Männedorf, 1869; d Neuilly, 1935). Swiss-born sop. (real name Berthe Agnes Lisette Schilling), naturalized Fr. Studied Geneva and Paris Cons. Opera début Paris 1892, London 1899, NY 1901. Noted for Wagnerian roles at Paris Opéra, but created title roles in Massenet's Grisélidis and in Fauré's Pénélope.

Breve (—). Double whole-note. Formerly the short note of mus., but as the longer notes have fallen into disuse and shorter ones been introduced it has become the longest (twice the length of the semibreve or whole-note). Alla breve means (it is not clear why) 'Take the minim as your beat-unit' (the same effect may be indicated by the time-signature ;s2[hm-1v];i2, or |^, or sometimes ;s4[hm-1v];i2). Still occurs in vocal mus., but rarely in instr. scores where it has been replaced by 2 tied whole-notes.

Brevi, Giovanni Battista (b Bergamo, c.1650; d Milan, after 1725). It. church musician and organist in Milan and Bergamo. Comp. motets, ariettas, and cantatas pubd. between 1693 and 1725.

Bréville, Pierre Onfroy de (b Bar-le-Duc, Meuse, 1861; d Paris, 1949). Fr. composer, pupil of Dubois and Franck. Teacher at Schola Cantorum, also mus. critic. Comp. chamber mus., pf. works, incidental mus. for Maeterlinck's Les sept princesses, but best known for 3-act lyric drama Eros vainqueur, prod. Brussels 1910, Paris 1932.

Brewer, (Sir) (Alfred) Herbert (b Gloucester, 1865; d Gloucester, 1928). Eng. organist, cond., and composer assoc. in all 3 capacities with Gloucester meeting of 3 Choirs Fest. Chorister Gloucester Cath. 1877--80, org. schol. Exeter College, Oxford, 1883. Studied RCM 1883--5. Organist, Bristol Cath., 1885, St Michael's, Coventry, 1886--92. Mus. master Tonbridge Sch. 1892--6. Organist and choirmaster Gloucester Cath. 1896--1928. Knighted 1926. Comps. incl. cantatas Emmaus (1901, some of it scored by Elgar) and The Holy Innocents (1904).

Brewer, Thomas (b London, 1611; d c. 1660--70). Eng. composer of songs, glees, and mus. for viols.

Brian, Havergal (b Dresden, Staffs., 1876; d Shoreham-by-Sea, 1972) (christened William, adopted name Havergal in 1899). Eng. composer. Mainly self-taught and did not devote himself wholly to mus. until he was 23. Was Manchester mus. critic of Musical World 1905, attending Richter's Hallé concerts. His English Suite for orch. was cond. by Wood 1907, and Beecham cond. 2 of his works at Hanley 1908. His ov. Dr. Merryheart was perf. at Birmingham in 1913 and taken up by Wood. Other orch. works were cond. by Ronald, Godfrey, Bantock, and others, but none est. themselves in the permanent repertory. He comp. 32 syms. but was 78 years old before any was perf., this being No. 8 in a BBC broadcast, 1954. The 18th was perf. in London in 1962 and the 32nd in Jan. 1971 on the eve of his 95th birthday. The BBC undertook to broadcast all the syms. to mark the centenary of Brian's birth, and a movement developed to try to remedy the neglect he had suffered in his life. His largest work was the Gothic Symphony (No. 1), comp. 1919--27, for an orch. of 180, with 4 brass groups and 4 large mixed choirs. This was f.p. in London in 1961 and again in 1966 to mark his 90th birthday. Prin. works:

operas: The Tigers (1916--18, orch. 1918--29); Turandot (?1949--51); The Cenci (1952); Faust (?1954--6); Agamemnon (1957).

orch: Syms.: No. 1 in D minor (The Gothic), SATB soloists, ch., children's ch., brass band, orch. (1919--27), No. 2 in E minor (1930--1), No. 3 in C# (1931--2), No. 4 (Das Siegeslied), sop., ch., and orch. (1932--3), No. 5 (Wine of Summer), bar. and orch. (1937), No. 6 (Sinfonia tragica) (1947--8), No. 7 in C (1948), No. 8 in Bb minor (1949), No. 9 in A minor (1951), No. 10 in C minor (1953--4), No. 11 (1954), No. 12 (1957), No. 13 in C (1959), No. 14 in F minor (1960), No. 15 in A (1960), No. 16 (1960), No. 17 (1960--1), No. 18 (1961), No. 19 in E minor (1961), No. 20 (1962), No. 21 in Eb (1963), No. 22 (Symphonia brevis) (1964--5), No. 23 (1965), No. 24 in D (1965), No. 25 in A minor (1965--6), No. 26 (1966), No. 27 in C (1966), No. 28 in C minor (1967), No. 29 in Eb (1967), No. 30 in Bb minor (1967), No. 31 (1968), No. 32 in Ab (1968); Dr Merryheart, comedy ov. (c. 1911--12); English Suite No. 3 (1919), No. 4 (1921), No. 5 (1953); Vn. Conc. No. 2 in C minor (1934--5); The Tinker's Wedding, comedy ov. (1948); Elegy, sym.-poem (1954); Vc. Conc. (1964); Concerto for Orchestra (1964); Ave atque Vale (1968).

chorus and orch: Psalm 23, op. 9, ten., ch., and orch. (1901, reconstructed 1945); Requiem for the Rose, women's vv. and orch. (or pf.) (1911); Prometheus Unbound (1937--44, lost). Also many choral songs and solo songs.

Bridge. (1) In str. instr., the piece of wood that supports the str. and communicates their vibrations to the belly. (2) A term, usually 'bridge passage', in comp., meaning a short section which links together---perhaps by a key change---2 important sections of a large-scale sym. or similar work.

Bridge, Frank (b Brighton, 1879; d Eastbourne, 1941). Eng. composer, conductor, violinist, violist, and teacher. Studied RCM, comp. pupil of Stanford 1899--1903. Played vn. and va. in several str. qts., incl. Joachim, Grimson, and English. Was a member of the last-named until 1915. Also cond. of New S.O. and of opera during Marie Brema's 1910--11 season at the Savoy. Cond. at CG 1913 and many BBC studio concerts in 1930s. Visited USA 1923, under sponsorship of Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge, to cond. own works. Was noted teacher, but his only composition pupil was Benjamin Britten, who first went to him for lessons at the age of 14. Bridge's early songs, chamber mus., and orch. works such as The Sea are in an idiom familiar to British audiences from the works of Bax, Ireland, and Delius. However, the impact of the First World War on one of deeply held pacifist convictions wrought a significant change and the piano sonata of 1921--4 showed a tougher harmonic idiom, with a more radical approach which in the 3rd and 4th str. qts. came near to the atonality of the Second Viennese School. Yet Bridge never wholly severed his 'Englishness', as can be heard in the orch. tone-poem Enter Spring (1927). His detachment from the 'establishment' figures in the Eng. mus. of his day led to his being regarded as an outsider and to the almost complete neglect of such major works as the Phantasm for pf. and orch. (1931) and the vc. conc. Oration (1930). It was not until his works were rehabilitated by his former pupil Britten at Aldeburgh Festivals that a new generation had its interest in him stimulated, leading to many more performances and recordings. Prin. comps.:

opera: The Christmas Rose (1918--29).

orch.: Coronation March (1901); 3 Orchestral Pieces (1902); Isabella (1907); Dance Rhapsody (1908); Suite, str. (1910); The Sea (1910--11); Dance Poem (1913); Summer (1914); Lament, str. (1915); Sir Roger de Coverley, str. (also str. qt.) (1922); Enter Spring (1927); There is a willow grows aslant a brook (1928); Oration, concerto elegiaco, vc. and orch. (1930); Phantasm, pf. and orch. (1931); Rebus Overture (1940); Allegro Moderato, str. (1941, unfinished, last 21 bars orch. Anthony Pople 1979).

chamber music: Pf. Trio (1900); Scherzo Phantastick, str. qt. (1901); str. qt. in Bb (1901); pf. qt. in C minor (1902); Phantasie String Quartet (1905); 3 Idylls, str. qt. (1906); Phantasie Piano Trio (1907); Allegro appassionato, va. and pf. (1908); Phantasie Piano Quartet (1910); Elégie, vc. and pf. (1911); pf. quintet (1904--7); str. sextet (1906--12); vc. sonata (1913--17); str. qt. (1915); Sally in our Alley, Cherry Ripe, str. qt. (1916); Str. Qt. No. 3 (1925--6, rev. 1927); Trio, rhapsody, 2 vn., va. (1928); pf. trio No. 2 (1929); vn. sonata (1932); Str. Qt. No. 4 (1937).

vocal: Music when soft voices die, SATB (1904); A Prayer, ch. and orch. (1916); A Litany, 3-part ch. (1918); Evening Primrose, 2-part ch. (1923); Golden Slumbers, 3-part ch. (1923).

solo songs: Blow, blow, thou winter wind (1903); Tears, idle tears (1905); Love is a rose (1907); Love went a-riding (1914, also orch. acc.); Go not, happy day (1916); Blow out, you bugles (1918, also orch. acc.); Journey's End (1925).

piano: Capriccio Nos. 1 and 2 (1905); 3 Sketches (1906); 3 Pieces (1912); Lament (1915, also for str.); 4 Characteristic Pieces (1915); Sally in our Alley, Cherry Ripe, Pf. duet (1916, also for str. qt.); Fairy Tale Suite (1917); sonata (1921--4); In Autumn (1924); 4 Pieces (1925); Winter Pastoral (1925); Berceuse (1929).

organ: 3 Pieces (1905); Organ Pieces, Book 1 (1905), Book 2 (1912); In memoriam C.H.H.P. (1918); Minuet (1939); Prelude (1939); Processional (1939).

Bridge, (Sir) (John) Frederick (b Oldbury, Worcs., 1844; d London, 1924). Eng. composer, cond., and organist. Boy chorister, Rochester Cath. Organist, Manchester Cath., 1869--75, prof. of harmony, Owens College, Manchester, 1872--5. Deputy organist, Westminster Abbey, 1875--82, organist, 1882--1918. Cond., Royal Choral Soc., 1896--1922. First Prof. of Mus., Univ. of London, 1903. Arr. mus. at 2 coronations (1902 and 1911) and for Queen Victoria's diamond jubilee service (1897). Comp. mainly oratorios. Knighted 1897.

Bridgetower, George Augustus Polgreen (b Biala, Poland, 1778; d Peckham, 1860). Violinist (mulatto, having African father). Début Paris 1789. From then lived mainly in London, but also Rome and Paris. Was violinist in service of Prince of Wales at Brighton and played in Haydn-Salomon concerts, London 1791. Beethoven's 'Kreutzer' Sonata comp. for him and first played by him and composer, Vienna 1803. Quarrel caused Beethoven to transfer ded. to Fr. violinist Rodolphe Kreutzer.

Bridgewater, (Ernest) Leslie (b Halesowen, Worcs., 1893; d Hong Kong, 1975). Eng. pianist and composer. Mus. dir. various ths. Light mus. section BBC 1935--42. Comp. pf. conc. and incidental mus. for stage and films.

Brigg Fair. 'English Rhapsody' for orch. by Delius, being variations on Lincolnshire folk-song introduced to Delius by Grainger. Comp. 1907. (F.p. Liverpool, Jan. 1908, cond. Bantock).

Brighenti (Brighetti), Maria (b Bologna, 1792; d ^?^). It. operatic singer, début Bologna 1814. Created Rosina in Rossini's Il barbiere di Siviglia (Rome 1816). Rossini then wrote La Cenerentola for her (Rome 1817). Retired 1836.

Bright, Dora Estella (Mrs. Knatchbull) (b Sheffield, 1863; d Babington, Som., 1951). Eng. pianist and composer. Trained RAM. First woman to be invited to compose work for Phil.

Soc. (Fantasia in G for pf. and orch. 1892) and said to be first pianist to give a recital entirely devoted to Eng. mus. Comp. 3 operas, 2 pf. concs.

Brindisi (It.). Toast. Jovial song to acc. the drinking of a health. A famous operatic example is 'Libiamo' in Act I of Verdi's La traviata.

Brindle, Reginald Smith. See Smith Brindle, Reginald.

Brinsmead, John and Sons, Ltd. London pf.-makers. Est. 1835 by John Brinsmead (b Wear Giffard, Devon, 1814; d London, 1908). His younger son Edgar Brinsmead (d London, 1907) wrote History of the Pianoforte (1870; 2nd ed. 1879).

Brio (It.). Vigour, spirit, fire. So the adjective Brioso. Con brio, spiritedly.

Brisé (Fr.). Broken. Applied (a) to a chord played in arpeggio fashion, or (b) to str. mus. played in short, detached movements of the bow. The style brisé was the characteristic arpeggiated style of 17th-cent. Fr. lute mus., which in turn influenced the kbd. mus. of the later clavecinistes.

British Council. Govt.-sponsored organization formed 1935 to spread interest in Brit. and its cultural activities. Centres in various parts of the world, with libraries, helping towards perf. of British plays and mus. It sponsors exhibitions and tours by Brit. artists, actors, and musicians, and occasionally sponsors recordings. It receives a considerable govt. grant.

British Federation of Music Festivals. Founded 1921 as assoc. of amateur competitive mus. fests. in Brit. and the Commonwealth. Organizes summer schs.

British Grenadiers. Orig. words date from end of 17th cent., but a later version now sung includes an allusion to Battle of Waterloo (1815). Origin of tune unknown; earliest copy dates from c.1740. Regimental march of the Grenadier Guards.

British Institute of Recorded Sound. Organization founded 1948 by Patrick Saul and incorporated 1951 in London for preservation of recordings of all kinds, which are then made available for study.

British National Opera Company. Formed 1921 by singers and instrumentalists of Sir Thomas Beecham's opera co., disbanded when financial difficulties compelled Beecham's temporary withdrawal from mus. scene. F.p. at Bradford in Feb. 1922, opera being Aida. Dir. was Percy Pitt, succeeded 1924 by Frederic Austin. Most of its work was in the provinces, with short seasons at CG and His Majesty's Th. Repertory was wide, embracing Wagner, Debussy, the Italians and several Eng. works, e.g. Vaughan Williams's Hugh the Drover and Holst's The Perfect Fool and At the Boar's Head. Co. incl. most of leading British singers and cond. of day, Barbirolli, Boult, Harty, and Sargent among the latter, and Allin, Radford, Labbette, Turner, Mullings, Heming, and Nash among former. Co. ceased to exist, crippled by entertainment tax, in 1929, but was re-named Covent Garden English Company, with Barbirolli as mus. dir., in Sept. 1929 and survived in that form for another 3 seasons.

Britten, (Edward) Benjamin (Lord Britten of Aldeburgh) (b Lowestoft, 1913; d Aldeburgh, 1976). Eng. composer, pianist, and cond. His birth on St Cecilia's Day, 22 Nov., was a happy augury for the career of one of Britain's greatest composers. Essentially a vocal composer, his operas and song-cycles won wide int. acceptance. He never abandoned the principles of tonality and was a 'modern' composer who reached a mass audience and a conservative whose originality no radical would sensibly deny. He shared with his predecessors Parry, Vaughan Williams, and Holst, an intense interest in the work of amateurs and children. His brilliant gifts as a pianist and cond., coupled with the virtuoso nature of his inventiveness, also led him to compose mus. for great performers such as the cellist Rostropovich and the singers Vishnevskaya, Fischer-Dieskau, and Janet Baker. The greatest personal influence on his mus. was his friendship with the tenor Peter Pears, for whom he comp. many operatic and vocal roles. Britten's mus. gifts became apparent at an early stage. In sch. holidays he had lessons from Harold Samuel (pf.) and Frank Bridge (comp.); the influence of Bridge in particular was strong and lasting. Britten was at RCM 1930--3, but found mus. atmosphere uncongenial and resented official refusal to allow him to study with Berg in Vienna. Studied pf. with Benjamin and comp. with Ireland. His astonishing early works were pubd., incl. the Sinfonietta and A Boy was Born, and his song-cycle with orch. Our Hunting Fathers (Auden) was perf. at Norwich Fest. 1936. He worked for the G.P.O. Film Unit, writing mus. for a dozen short documentaries, the best known being Coal Face and Night Mail (both 1936). In 1937, for the Boyd Neel String Orch.'s concert at the Salzburg Fest., he wrote the Variations on a Theme by Frank Bridge. He and Pears followed their friend the poet Auden to N. Amer. in 1939, staying until 1942. While in NY, f.ps. of his Vn. Conc. (1939) and Sinfonia da Requiem (1940) were given in Carnegie Hall under Barbirolli. Returning to Eng., Britten settled at Aldeburgh, Suffolk. His opera Peter Grimes was perf. at SW on 7 June 1945, a day of importance for Eng. mus. comparable with the f.p. of Elgar's Enigma Variations in June 1899. His interest in chamber opera led in 1947 to foundation of the EOG (later English Music Theatre) and his desire for a fest. rooted in Eng. village life and the work of amateurs yet capable of enticing int. performers led to the Aldeburgh Festival, first held in 1948. Thereafter his career was uneventful outwardly except for the prolific output of works of all kinds, in many of which he took part as cond. or pianist. He excelled not only in his own mus.: as an accompanist in Schubert he was 2nd to none, he played and cond. Mozart superbly, and cond. major works by Bach, Mahler, Elgar, Schumann, and others. The Aldeburgh Fest. also featured neglected works by composers whom Britten and his colleagues deemed to deserve reappraisal. After a severe heart operation in 1973 his activities were much reduced. C.H. 1953, O.M. 1965. First composer to be created life peer (Lord Britten of Aldeburgh, 1976). (Lord Berners was a hereditary peer.) A major strength of Britten's art, which contributes to the dramatic effectiveness of his operas, is his gift for finding the apt, simple, quickly memorable, and not thereafter easily forgotten phrase to illustrate a point or situation. Another feature is his uncanny ability to capture the imagination and interest of children. Such works as Let's Make an Opera, Noye's Fludde, and Saint Nicolas testify to this. He was much preoccupied with themes of innocence destroyed, of the persecution of the 'outsider' in society (stemming from his own pacifism and conscientious objection to war service), and of cruelty. These themes found their most impressive outlet in the operas Billy Budd, The Turn of the Screw, and Owen Wingrave, the two last being adaptations by Myfanwy Piper of Henry James. If these, and such works as the great War Requiem, represent the dark side of his musical personality, the 1953 Coronation opera Gloriana (a failure at first), his splendid Midsummer Night's Dream, the comedy Albert Herring, and a host of choral and instrumental works such as the pf. conc., the Cantata Academica, and the Spring Symphony show a capacity for joy. He invented a new genre of music theatre in the 3 church parables, the first (Curlew River) being an adaptation of a Japanese Noh play; his song-cycles, to Eng., Fr., It., Ger., and Russ. texts are magnificent word-settings; his 5 canticles are works of original insights; and his instrumental works, in particular the str. qts. and vc. suites, explore and stretch the players' capacities without ceasing to be musical. Few composers have caught the public's imagination in their lifetime as vividly as did Britten; each new work was eagerly awaited and absorbed. Intensely practical, he won the devoted admiration of the artists for whom he wrote, and on his several visits to the Soviet Union formed a firm friendship with Shostakovich who dedicated his 14th Sym. to him. If it is his operas, particularly Peter Grimes, with its evocation of early 19th cent. Aldeburgh, which dominate his output, it is a mistake to overlook his genius in non-vocal forms. Prin. works are:

operas: Paul Bunyan (1940--1, rev. 1974); Peter Grimes (1945); The Rape of Lucretia (1946); Albert Herring (1947); The Beggar's Opera (new version of Gay's opera, 1948);

Let's Make an Opera (1949); Billy Budd (1951, rev. 1960); Gloriana (1953); The Turn of the Screw (1954); Noye's Fludde (1958); A Midsummer Night's Dream (1960); Owen Wingrave (1971); Death in Venice (1973; orch. suite arr. S. Bedford, 1984).

church parables: Curlew River (1964); The Burning Fiery Furnace (1966); The Prodigal Son (1968).

ballet: The Prince of the Pagodas (1956).

orch: Sinfonietta (1932); A Simple Symphony (1934); Soirées musicales (arr. of Rossini, 1936); Variations on a Theme of Frank Bridge (1937); Mont Juic (suite of Catalan dances composed jointly with L. Berkeley (1937)); Canadian Carnival (1939); Young Apollo, pf., str. qt., str. orch. (1939, withdrawn until 1979); Overture, Paul Bunyan (1940, rev. 1974, orch. C. Matthews 1977); Sinfonia da Requiem (1940); An American Overture (1941--2, f.p. 1983); Matinées musicales (arr. of Rossini, 1941); Prelude and Fugue for str. (1943); Four Sea Interludes, Passacaglia from Peter Grimes (1944); Young Person's Guide to the Orchestra (Variations and Fugue on a Theme of Purcell) (1946); Occasional Overture (1946); Men of Goodwill (Variations on a Christmas Carol) (1947); Ov., The Building of the House (with ch. ad. lib.) (1967); Suite on English Folk Tunes (A Time There Was ./.). (1974); Lachrymae, va. and str. (1976, arr. of 1950 work for va. and pf.); The Prince of the Pagodas, concert suite arr. from 1956 ballet by Lankester (1979).

concertos: Pf. (1938, rev. 1945); Vn. (1939, rev. 1958); Diversions on a Theme, pf. left-hand (1940, rev. 1954); Scottish Ballad, 2 pf. (1941); Vc. Sym. (1963).

brass: Russian Funeral, brass and perc. (1936).

choral: Hymn to the Virgin (1930, rev. 1934); A Boy Was Born (1933, rev. 1955); Friday Afternoons (children's vv.) (1933--5); Te Deum (1934); Advance Democracy (1938); Ballad of Heroes (1939); AMDG, 4 prayers and holy songs of G. M. Hopkins, for unacc. ch. (1939); Ceremony of Carols; Hymn to St Cecilia (1942); Rejoice in the Lamb (1943); Festival Te Deum (1944); Saint Nicolas (1948); Spring Symphony (1949); Five Flower Songs (1950); Missa Brevis (boys' vv.); Cantata Academica (1959); Jubilate Deo and Venite (1961); War Requiem (1961); Cantata Misericordium (1963); Voices for Today (1965); The Golden Vanity (boys' vv.) (1966); Children's Crusade (1968); Sacred and Profane (1975); Welcome Ode (young people's ch. and orch.) (1976).

solo voice and orch: Quatre chansons francaises (1928); Our Hunting Fathers (1936); Les Illuminations (1938--9); Serenade (1943); Nocturne (1958); Phaedra (1975).

solo voice and piano (unless otherwise indicated): 3 Early Songs (1922--6); 4 Cabaret Songs (1937); On This Island (1937); Seven Sonnets of Michelangelo (1940); Folk-Song Arrangements, Vol. I British (1945), II French (1946); III British (1948); 9 Holy Sonnets of Donne (1945); Canticle I, My Beloved is Mine (1947); A Charm of Lullabies (1947); Canticle II, Abraham and Isaac (1952); Winter Words (1953); Canticle III, Still Falls the Rain (with hn. and pf.) (1954); Songs from the Chinese (v. and guitar) (1957); 6 Hölderlin Fragments (1958); Songs and Proverbs of William Blake (1965); The Poet's Echo (1965); Who are these Children? (1969); Canticle IV, Journey of the Magi (1971); Canticle V, The Death of St Narcissus (1974); A Birthday Hansel (v. and harp) (1975); 8 Folk Song Arrangements (v. and harp) (1976).

chamber works: Elegy, va. (1926); Rhapsody, str. qt. (?date); Quartettino, str. qt. (1930); Phantasy String Quintet (1932); Phantasy Oboe Quartet (1932); 2 Insect Pieces, ob. and pf. (1935, Op. posth., f.p. 1979); Suite for vn. and pf. (1934--5); 3 Divertimenti, str. qt. (1936); Temporal Variations, ob. and pf. (1936); Reveille, vn. and pf. (1937); Str. Qt. No. 1 (1941), No. 2 (1945), No. 3 (1975); Str. Qt. in D (1931, rev. 1974); Lachrymae, va. and pf. (1950); 6 Metamorphoses after Ovid, ob. (1951); Vc. Sonata (1961); Suite No. 1 for vc. (1964), No. 2 (1967), No. 3 (1971); Gemini Variations (fl., vn., and pf. 4 hands) (1965).

pianoforte: 5 Walzes (Waltzes) (1923--5, re-written 1969); Holiday Diary (1934); Sonatina Romantica (1940, f.p. Aldeburgh 1983); Night Piece (Notturno) (1963).

two pianos: Introduction and Rondo alla burlesca (1940); Mazurka Elegiaca (1941).

incidental music for films, plays and radio: Coal Face, Night Mail (1936); The Ascent of F6, Love from a Stranger (1937); Hadrian's Wall (1938); The Sword in the Stone (1938); concert suite for chamber ens. ed.C. Matthews); Johnson Over Jordan (1939); The Rescue

(1943); This Way to the Tomb, The Duchess of Malfi (1945); The Dark Tower (1946), and others.

Britten, Improvisations on an Impromptu of Benjamin. Orch. work by Walton, comp. 1969, f.p. San Francisco 1970. Theme taken from Britten's pf. conc.

Britten, Sinfonia in Memoriam Benjamin. Work for 17 wind instr. by Fricke, 1976--7. F.p. in England, Aldeburgh 1978.

Britton, Thomas (b Higham Ferrers, Northants., 1651; d London, 1714). Eng. coal merchant, organizer of concerts in London in which the young Handel took part with Pepusch and others. Known as 'the small-coal man'.

Brixi, Frantis^;ek (b Prague, 1732; d Prague, 1771). Cz. composer and organist of Prague Cath. from 1759. Prolific composer of masses, oratorios, and requiems, also org. concs. and other secular works.

Broadcast Music Inc. (BMI). Amer. performing right soc. owned by the broadcasting and TV industry. Founded 1940 by broadcasters in NY.

Broadwood, Rev. John (b 1798; d Lyne, 1864). Eng. clergyman and folklorist. Member of pf. firm family and one of earliest collectors of Eng. folk-songs. His Old English Songs of Surrey and Sussex was pubd. 1843.

Broadwood, John & Sons Ltd. London firm of pf. makers, orig. founded in 1728 by Burkat Shudi, whose daughter married John Broadwood (1732--1812), hpd. maker in the firm. Broadwood became Shudi's partner 1770. Firm re-named John Broadwood & Son in 1795, & Sons 1807. Earliest Broadwood grand built 1781.

Broadwood, Lucy Etheldred (b Melrose, 1858; d London, 1929). Eng. folk-song collector. Niece of Rev. John Broadwood, whose interest in folk-song she pursued. Pubd. Sussex Songs 1889, being an expanded reprint of her uncle's Old English Songs, and English County Songs (with J. A. Fuller Maitland) 1893. Founder-member of Folk Song Soc. 1898, serving as its hon. sec. 1904--8 and 1914--18. Encouraged Vaughan Williams to collect folk-songs.

Brockway, Howard (b Brooklyn, 1870; d NY, 1951). Amer. composer and pianist. Studied in Berlin 1890--5. Then various important educational positions Baltimore and NY. Comp. orch. and chamber works, etc., and collected Kentucky mountain tunes.

Brod, Max (b Prague, 1884; d Tel Aviv, 1968). Cz. novelist, critic, and composer. Trans. Janáć^;ek's operas into Ger. and wrote his biography (1924). Went to Palestine 1939. Comp. requiem, songs, and chamber mus.

Brodsky, Adolph (b Taganrog, Russia, 1851; d Manchester, 1929). Russ. violinist and teacher. Studied in Vienna under Hellmesberger. Joined staff of Moscow Cons. and later Leipzig. Gave f.p. of Tchaikovsky vn. conc., Vienna, 1881. From 1890 to 1894 was leader of NYS.O. Leader of Hallé Orch., Manchester, 1895, but on Hallé's death in Oct. 1895 succeeded him as Prin., RCM, holding this post until 1929. Brodsky Qt. concerts were notable feature of Eng. mus. life; Elgar ded. his Str. Qt. in E minor to the Brodsky team. Among many famous Brodsky pupils was Arthur Catterall.

Broken Cadence. Interrupted cadence.

Broken Chord. A chord in which the notes are played one after the other, or a group followed by another group, instead of simultaneously.

Broken Consort or Broken Music. A consort which contained both str. and woodwind instr., as opposed to a whole consort (all str. or all woodwind).

Broken Melody. Comp. for vc. by A. van Biene.

Broken Octave. Began as device for reducing expenditure on organs and other kbd. instr. On orgs. the lowest octave was complete from C to C, except that the lowest C# was replaced by a more useful note, the A from below. See also Short Octave.

Broman, Sten (b Uppsala, 1902). Swed. composer and violist. Also mus. critic in Malmö 1930--66. Has written 9syms., Concerto for Orchestra, 4 str. qts., and an Academic Festival ov.

Bronfman, Yefim (b Tashkent, 1958). Russian-born pianist. Studied with his mother and, after emigration to Israel in 1973, at Rubin Acad. of Mus., Tel Aviv. Studied with Rudolf Serkin in USA 1976--8. Appeared with most of the leading Amer. orchs. London début 1981.

Bronsart, Hans von (Bronsart von Schellendorff) (b Berlin, 1830; d Munich, 1913). Ger. pianist, composer, and opera administrator. Intendant, Hanover Opera 1867--87, Weimar 1887--95. Comp. pf. conc. played by Bülow and other pf. and orch. works and chamber mus.

Bronze Horse, The (Le Cheval de bronze). Opera by Auber to lib. by Scribe. F.p. Paris and London 1835, NY 1837.

Brook Green Suite. Suite for str. orch. and optional woodwind, by Holst. Comp. 1933.

Brook, Peter (Stephen Paul) (b London, 1925). Eng. producer. Produced Shakespeare at Stratford, 1945. Dir. of productions CG 1948--9, an appointment ended by the furore over his 1949 prod. of Strauss's Salomé. Prod. Faust NY Met. 1953. His 1982 'compressed' vers. of Carmen in Paris---The Tragedy of Carmen---was controversially successful.

Broqua, Alfonso (b Montevideo, 1876; d Paris, 1946). Uruguayan composer. Studied with d'Indy in Paris 1898--1904, then returned to Montevideo. Wrote in nationalist style. Comp. opera, several song-cycles for v. and guitar, and pieces for solo guitar.

Brosa, Antonio (b Canonja, Sp., 1894; d Barcelona, 1979). Sp. violinist who settled in Eng., 1914. Founded Brosa Qt. 1925 (disbanded 1938). Soloist début, London 1926. In USA 1940--6. Gave f.p. of Britten's Vn. Conc., NY 1940.

Brott, Alexander (b Montreal, 1915). Canadian violinist, cond., and composer. Trained McGill Cons. (later on staff) and Juilliard Sch., NY. Leader, McGill Qt., Les Concerts Symphoniques, etc. Comps. incl. vn. conc. (1950), symphonic suite From Sea to Sea (1947), symphonic poems, and chamber mus.

Brott, Boris (b Montreal, 1944). Canadian cond. Son of Alexander Brott. Studied McGill Univ. and with Monteux, Markevich, Bernstein, and A. Brott. Début as violinist, Montreal 1949, as cond. Mexico 1958. Ass. cond. Toronto S.O. 1963--5; cond. Northern Sinfonia, Newcastle, 1964--8; BBC Welsh S.O. 1972--9; mus. dir. and cond., Lakehead S.O., 1968--72.

Brouc^;ek, The Excursions of Mr (Janác^;ek). See Excursions of Mr Brouc^;ek, The.

Brouwenstijn, Gré (b Den Helder, 1915). Dutch sop. Stage début Amsterdam 1940 in Die Zauberflöte. First CG appearance 1951 as Aida. Bayreuth 1954--6, Glyndebourne 1959. A distinguished Leonora in Fidelio. Retired from stage 1971.

Brower, Leo (b Havana, 1939). Cuban composer and guitarist. Studied guitar with I. Nicola and later at Juilliard Sch., NY 1959--60 (comp. with Persichetti and Wolpe) and at Hartt College. Taught harmony, counterpoint, and comp., Nat. Cons., Havana, 1961--7. Dir., experimental dept. of Cuban film industry since 1969. Comps. influenced by Xenakis, Nono, and Henze. His Sonograma I was first mus. by Cuban to use indeterminacy. Has written over 40 film scores, works for solo guitar, guitar conc. (1972), and elec. comp. Homenaje a Lenin.

Brown, Christopher (Roland) (b Tunbridge Wells, 1943). Eng. composer. Studied King's College, Cambridge, and RAM (under Berkeley). Also in Berlin under Blacher. On staff RAM from 1969. Early works were mainly religious, but increasingly has developed impressive command of instr. style. Works incl.:

orch: Triptych (1978); The Sun Rising: Threnody (1977); Sonata for Strings (1974); Sinfonia (1971); Org. Conc. (1979); Festival Variations, str. (1981).

voice(s) and orch: Soliloquy (1976); David, cantata for bar. soloists, ch., and orch. (1970); 3 Mediaeval Lyrics, sop., ten., ch., and orch. (1973); The Snows of Winter for vv. and chamber ens. (1971); Chauntecleer, sop., ten., bar., ch., and orch. (1979); Magnificat, SATB soloists, ch., and orch. (1980); The Vision of Saul, sop., ten., counterten., bar., ch., orch. (1983); Tres Cantus Sacri, ch. and chamber orch. (1984).

choral: Hymn to the Holy Innocents, chamber cantata (1965); Aubade (1968); Gloria (1968); Laus Creatorum (1969); 4 Motets (1970); 3 Mediaeval Carols (1969--73); Hodie Salvator Apparuit (1970); Oundle Jubilate (1972); Even Such is Time (1977).

chamber music: Chamber Music (cl., hn., vn., vc., pf.) (1974, rev. 1979); Str. Qt. No. 2 (1975); Trio (fl., bn., pf.) (1975); All Year Round, ten. and guitar (1976).

Brown, David (Clifford) (b Gravesend, 1929). Eng. writer and scholar. Studied Sheffield Univ. 1949--52. Studied Russ. while on national service 1952--4. Schoolteacher 1954--9, mus. librarian London Univ. 1959--62. On staff Southampton Univ. from 1962. Author of 3-vol. biog. of Tchaikovsky. Biographies of Glinka (1974), Wilbye (1974), and Weelkes (1969).

Brown, Earle (b Lunenburg, Mass., 1926). Amer. composer. Studied at Schillinger House Sch. of Mus., Boston, 1946--50. Worked with Cage in NY 1952--5 on project for mus. for magnetic tape. Influenced by visual arts, esp. sculpture of Calder and paintings of Pollock. His 25 Pages (1953) for 1--25 pf. uses 'open form' and space-time notation, e.g. pitches and durations are specified but, clefs being absent, the pages can be played either way up. On faculty Cologne Cons. 1966. His Available Forms I was commissioned by Darmstadt, 1961, and Available Forms II (1962) by Rome Radio Orch. Other works:

orch: Modules 1 and 2 (1966), Module 3 (1969), Time Spans (1972), Cross Sections and Color Fields (1973--5).

choral: New Piece: Loops (1972); From Here (1963).

instr. ens: Transients (1976); Event---Synergy II (1967--8); Sign Sounds (1972); Centering (1973); Novara (1962); Syntagm III (1970); Times Five (1963).

chamber music: Str. qt. (1965); Music, vn., vc., pf. (1952); Corroboree, 3 or 2 pf. (1964).

Browne, (William Charles) [fy65,3]Denis[fy75,1] (b Leamington Spa, 1888; d Achi Baba, Turkey, 1915). Eng. composer and critic. Studied at Cambridge Univ., becoming friend of

E. J. Dent. After spell as schoolteacher, wrote mus. criticism for The Times, 1913--14, and New Statesman, 1914. Wrote several beautiful songs, which suggest that his death in action robbed Eng. mus. of a rich talent. His works incl. a ballet The Comic Spirit, God is Our Strength for unacc. ch. (1912), 2 Tennyson settings (Move Eastward, Happy Earth and The Snowdrop) (c.1909), and the songs Arabia (de la Mare), Epitaph on Salathiel Pavy (Jonson), Diaphenia (H. Constable), and To Gratiana Dancing and Singing (Lovelace).

Browning, John (b Denver, Col., 1933). Amer. pianist. Studied Juilliard Sch., NY. Début Denver 1943. Queen Elisabeth Int. Competition Prize, 1956. Gave f.p. of Barber's pf. conc. 1962. Soloist with world's leading orchs.

Brownlee, John (Donald Mackenzie) (b Geelong, 1901; d NY, 1969). Australian bar. Début CG as Marcello in La Bohème on night of Melba's farewell, 8 June 1926. Paris Opéra, 1927--36. Glyndebourne 1935--9 (where he was a famous Don Giovanni), NY Met. 1937--56. Staff of Manhattan Sch. of Mus., NY, from 1953, pres. 1958--69.

Bruch, Max (b Cologne, 1838; d Friedenau, 1920). Ger. composer and cond. Studied in Cologne with F. Hiller and Reinecke, returning as teacher 1858--61. Cond. of various concert organizations in Berlin and Bonn and of Liverpool Phil. Soc. 1880--3 (an unhappy period). Dir. Orchesterverein, Breslau, 1883--90, prof. of comp. Berlin Hochschule 1892--1910, among his pupils for a brief period being Vaughan Williams. Cond. Scottish Orch. 1898--1900. His comps. incl. 3 operas (one of them, Hermione, Berlin 1872, based on Shakespeare's The Winter's Tale), 3 syms. (1870, 1870, 1887); many choral works (by which he is best known in Ger.), 3 vn. concs. (No. 1 in G minor, 1868, No. 2 in D minor, 1878, No. 3 in D minor, 1891), Scottish Fantasia for vn. and orch. (1880), Kol Nidrei, vc. and orch. (1881), and 2 str. qts. (1859, 1860).

Bruckner, Anton (b Ansfelden, 1824; d Vienna, 1896). Austrian composer and organist. Son of village schoolmaster, showed precocious mus. talent but had no expert teaching until aged 11. Was choirboy at St Florian's monastery, 1837--40, and in 1840 began training in Linz as a schoolmaster, mus. remaining an absorbingsideline. Persisted with org. studies and became a virtuoso of the instr., especially in art of improvisation. In 1845 returned to St Florian as ass.teacher, but continued his mus. studies. In 1848 became 'provisional' organist. For some years had been composing org. and choral mus., but 1849 saw the first recognizably Brucknerian work, the Requiem in D minor. In 1851 became official organist of St Florian and in 1855 was appointed organist of Linz Cath. Also in 1855 decided to study harmony and counterpoint with Simon Sechter in Vienna, lessons which continued until 1861. In 1862 studied orchestration in Linz with Otto Kitzler, cellist and cond., who also introduced him to Wagner's mus. From this period, 1863--9, came 3 Masses and 3 syms. In 1868 moved to Vienna, where he was to live for the next 28 years, to succeed Sechter as prof. of harmony and counterpoint at the Cons. Continued in demand as an improviser on the org., visiting Paris in 1869 to play in Notre Dame and London in 1871 to play at the new Albert Hall. In 1865 first met Wagner in Munich at the première of Tristan and their friendship grew. The 3rd Sym. of 1873 was ded. to Wagner. Though this was a matter of personal delight to Bruckner it made him the butt of Viennese mus. politics at the period of great hostility between the supporters of Brahms and of Wagner and ensured him the critical hostility of Hanslick. In 1875 became lecturer in harmony and counterpoint at Vienna Univ. During 1871--6 wrote Syms. Nos. 2--5, following this with a 3-year spell of rev. F.p. of 3rd Sym. in 1877 was fiasco. From 1879 to 1887 worked on Syms. Nos. 6--8 and Te Deum. F.p. of No. 4 in 1881 was first considerable success with Viennese public. In 1883, while working on the Adagio of Sym. No. 7, heard of Wagner's death: he referred to the coda of that movement as 'funeral music for the Master'. Success of the first 2 perfs. of No. 7 under Nikisch (1884) and Levi (1885) launched int. recognition, but Bruckner received severe blow in 1887 when Levi rejected score of No. 8 with several bitter criticisms. Began another period of rev. with the advice of friends, and the 8th Sym. was not played until 1892 when, under Richter, it had a triumphant reception. In the last 5 years of his life Bruckner enjoyed greater financial reward than before and received several state and university honours. But his health deteriorated and he worked on his 9th (actually 11th) Sym. from 1891 until the day he died (11 Oct. 1896), leaving 200 pages of the finale of No. 9 in sketch form only.

Bruckner's personal character has for too long been misrepresented as boorish and simple-minded. He did have a child-like religious faith, which lies at the root of all his mus., and a becoming modesty. But the composer of those superbly organized and complex syms., most of them over an hour in duration, was no simpleton. He was a late starter as a composer because of his determination to master his technique and recognition only came late in his lifetime. The 'Wagnerian' tag on his syms. led to their being regarded as elephantine monsters, but they are now widely recognized as being in the Austrian tradition of Schubert's last sym. and are admired for their combination of contrapuntal splendour with intense melodic beauty and grandeur (but not extravagance) of orchestration. His Masses, also on a symphonic scale, are equally splendid, and in all his mature church mus. there is the radiance of a devout believer and the technical dexterity of a composer whose mastery of vocal polyphony stemmed from intimate study of Palestrina and his sch. A peculiarly complex problem exists over the various versions of Bruckner's syms. caused by his proclivity for revisions, often at the behest of well-meaning friends who urged him to cut and reorchestrate works in order to have them perf. and pubd. Since 1934, first under the editorship of Robert Haas and later of Leopold Nowak, the Int. Bruckner Soc. has pubd. the 'original' edns. of the syms. Even here confusion arises because there are discrepancies in some of the syms. ed. by both Haas and Nowak. The general tendency today is to return to Bruckner's first thoughts. For this reason the following list of the syms. is in some detail:

Symphony in F minor. Comp. 1863. Symphony in D minor (designated by Bruckner as 'No. 0'). Comp. 1863--4, rev. 1869 (some authorities insist 'comp. 1869'). F.p. Klosterneuburg, 12 Oct. 1924. Publication: Ed. Nowak 1968. No. 1 in C minor. Comp. 1865--6, rev. 1868, 1877, 1884 (foregoing known as 'Linz Version'). Major rev. ('Vienna version') 1890--1. F.p. 9 May 1868 Linz, cond. Bruckner; 13 Dec. 1891 Vienna, cond. Richter. Publication: 1893 (Eberle); Linz and Vienna versions ed. Haas 1934, Linz version ed. Nowak 1953. (Nowak ed. mainly corrects misprints.) No. 2 in C minor. Comp. 1871--2, rev. 1873; 1876--7 version 2 (cuts and alteration). F.p. 26 Oct. 1873, Vienna, cond. Bruckner; version 2, 20 Feb. 1876, Vienna, cond. Bruckner. Publication: 1892 (Eberle), ed. Haas 1938, version 2 ed. Nowak 1965. Haas ed. restores many of Bruckner's 1876--7 cuts. No. 3 in D minor. Comp. 1873, rev. 1874; thorough rev. (excising several Wagner quotations) 1876--7 (version 2). Another thorough rev. (version 3) 1888--9. F.p. 16 Dec. 1877 (version 2) Vienna, cond. Bruckner; 21 Dec. 1890 (version 3) Vienna, cond. Richter. F.ps. of 1873 version, 1 and 2 Dec. 1946, Dresden, cond. Keilberth. Publication: 1878 (Rättig, version 2), 1890 (Rättig, version 3); ed. Nowak (version 3) 1959. No. 4 in Eb major ('Romantic'). Comp. 1874 (version 1). Major rev. (new scherzo) 1878, new finale 1879--80, minor rev. 1881, 1886 (version 2); major cuts and alterations by F. Löwe 1887--8 (version 3). F.p. 20 Feb. 1881, Vienna, cond. Richter (version 2); 22 Jan. 1888, Vienna, cond. Richter (version 3); f.p. version 1: 20 Sept. 1975, Linz, cond. Wöss (but scherzo alone was perf. 12 Dec. 1909, Linz, cond. A. Göllerich). Publication: 1896 (Doblinger); ed. Haas (version 2) 1936 and 1944; ed. Nowak (version 2) 1953. No. 5 in Bb major. Comp. 1875--6, minor rev. 1877--8. F.p. 8 April 1894, Graz, cond. F. Schalk (spurious version by Schalk); orig. version 20 Oct. 1935, Munich, cond. Hausegger. Publication: 1899 (Doblinger); ed. Haas 1936, ed. Nowak 1951 (little discrepancy). No. 6 in A major. Comp. 1879--81. F.p. 11 Feb. 1883, Vienna, cond. Jahn (2nd and 3rd movements only); 26 Feb. 1899, Vienna, cond. Mahler (with severe cuts); 14 March 1901, Stuttgart, cond. Pohlig (complete). Publication: 1899 (Doblinger); ed. Haas 1936, ed. Nowak 1952 (minor discrepancies.). No. 7 in E major. Comp. 1881--3. F.p. 30 Dec. 1884, Leipzig, cond. Nikisch. Publication: 1885 (Gutmann); ed. Haas 1944, ed. Nowak 1954. (Discrepancies affect dynamic and tempo markings, deleted by Haas, restored as 'authentic' by Nowak.) No. 8 in C minor. Comp. 1884--7 (version 1). Thorough revision, inc. rev. coda of 1st movement, new trio, major cuts and changes of scoring, 1889--90 (version 2). F.p. 18 Dec. 1892, Vienna, cond. Richter (version 2). F.p. (version 1) 2 Sept.

1973 (BBC broadcast), Bournemouth S.O., cond. Schönzeler. Publication: 1892 (Lienau, version 2); ed. Haas 1935 (version 2), ed. Nowak 1955 (version 2). (Haas restores several cuts). No. 9 in D minor. First 3 movements comp. 1891--4 (sketches date from 1887), sketches for finale 1894--6. F.p. 11 Feb. 1903, Vienna, cond. Löwe (in spurious Löwe version), 2 April 1932, Munich, cond. Hausegger (orig.). Publication: 1903 (Universal); ed. Orel 1934, ed. Nowak 1951 (almost identical). Completion of finale in version prepared (1979--83) by William Carragan, prof. of physics at Hudson Valley Community Coll., Troy, NY, perf. by American S.O. cond. Moshe Atzman, 8 Jan. 1984. (In 1979 Carragan, assisted by Paul Nudelman, made pf. score of finale based on Orel's edn. of sketches but with coda added. This was perf. in NY 1979). Other works incl.:

orch: Overture in G minor (1863); 4 Orchestral Pieces (1862).

choral: Masses, No. 1 in D minor (1864, rev. 1876, 1881--2); No. 2 in E minor (wind band acc.) (1866, rev. 1869, 1876, 1882); No. 3 in F minor (1867--8, rev. 1876--7, 1881, 1890--3); Te Deum (ch. and orch.) (1884), Mass in F (1844), Requiem in D minor (1849), Missa solemnis in Bb (1852), Ave Maria (1861), Pange lingua (1868), Abendzauber (1878), Os justi (1879), Ave maria (1882), Vexilla Regis (1892), Germanenzug (male ch. and brass band) (1863), Helgoland (male ch. and orch.) (1893).

chamber: Str. Quintet in F major (1879), Intermezzo for str. quintet (1879).

Brueggen, Frans (b Amsterdam, 1934). Dutch virtuoso of the recorder, also cond. Prof. of recorder and transverse fl., Hague Royal Cons. Visiting prof., Univ. of Calif., 1974.

Bruhns, Nikolaus (b Schwabstedt, Schleswig, 1665; d Husum, 1697). Ger. organist and composer. Pupil of Buxtehude. Wrote choral works and org. pieces.

Brüll, Ignaz (b Prossnitz, Moravia, 1846; d Vienna, 1907). Austrian pianist and composer. Visited London 1878, playing at 20 concerts. Comp. sym., 2 pf. concs., vn. conc., sonata for 2 pf., and 10 operas, of which best known is Das goldene Kreuz (Berlin 1875).

Brülles, Gaces (fl. 13th cent.). Fr. composer of chansons.

Brumel, Antoine (b c.1460; d c.1515). Flemish composer. Wrote sacred mus. and chansons. Held posts in Paris, Lyons, and Ferrara. First of great Renaissance composers of Fr. origin.

Bruneau, (Louis Charles Bonaventure) [fy65,3]Alfred (b Paris, 1857; d Paris, 1934). Fr. composer and critic. Studied Paris Cons. under Massenet. His 2nd opera Le Rêve, in 4 acts based on Zola, was a success in 1891, being regarded as very 'advanced' harmonically. Followed by L'Attaque du moulin (1893) in which Zola collab. directly as librettist, as he did for Messidor (1897), L'Ouragan (1901), and L'Enfant-Roi (1905). Comp. 13 operas, several employing Wagnerian principles, also ballet, orch. works, and songs. Worked as mus. critic and wrote several books.

Brunskill, Muriel (b Kendal, Cumbria, 1900; d Bishops Tawton, Devon, 1980). Eng. cont. Trained by Blanche Marchesi. Début London 1920. In BNOC 1922--7. Late in career sang frequently in Gilbert and Sullivan operas.

Brunswick, Mark (b NY, 1902; d London, 1971). Amer. composer, studied at various periods under Rubin Goldmark, Bloch, Boulanger, and Sessions. Prof. of Mus., City College of NY, 1946--67. Comps. incl. syms., chamber mus., and unfinished opera The Master Builder (Ibsen).

Bruscantini, Sesto (b Porto Civitanova, Macerata, 1919). It. bar. Studied in Rome. Début La Scala 1949; Glyndebourne 1951. Sang Verdi's Falstaff with Scottish Opera, Glasgow 1976. Amer. début Chicago 1961. Produced Verdi's Un giorno di regno, Wexford 1981.

Brushes, Wire. Used to produce particular effect from snare drum, cymbals, etc., esp. in jazz.

Bruson, Renato (b Este, nr. Padua, 1936). It. baritone. Studied at Padua. Opera début Spoleto 1961 (Luna in Il Trovatore). Scala début 1972 in Donizetti's Linda di Chamounix. NY Met. 1968--9. Brit. début Edinburgh Fest. 1972. CG 1976 (Ankarstroem in Verdi's Un Ballo in Maschera). Outstanding Falstaff in Giulini--Eyre prod. for San Francisco 1982.

Brustad, Bjarne (b Christiania, 1895; d Oslo, 1978). Norweg. composer, cond., and violinist. Studied in Berlin, 1915--16, with Carl Flesch. Prin. viola Oslo P.O. 1929--43. Teacher of comp., Oslo Cons. from 1937. Works incl. opera Atlantis, syms., vn. concs., and chamber mus.

Brustwerk (Ger.). Choir Organ.

Brydon, Roderick (b Edinburgh, 1939). Scot. cond. Studied Edinburgh Univ. and mus. academies in Siena and Vienna. Operatic work with ENO and especially Scottish Opera. Ass. cond. SNO. Art. dir. Scottish Chamber Orch. from 1974.

Brymer, Jack (b South Shields, 1915). Eng. clarinettist. Prin. cl. RPO 1947--63, BBC S.O. 1963--71, LSO from 1971. Soloist and chambermus. player. Prof. RAM 1950--9. Popular broadcaster. O.B.E. 1960.

Bryn-Jones, Delme (b Brynamman, Wales, 1934). Welsh bar. Studied GSM. Début Glyndebourne, CG, and WNO 1963. San Francisco 1967.

Bryn-Julson, Phyllis (Mae) (b Bowdon, N. Dakota, 1945). Amer. sop. of Norweg. parentage. Trained as pianist, but at prompting of Gunther Schuller studied singing at Tanglewood. Début with Boston S.O. Oct. 1966, in Berg's Lulu-Symphonie. Eng. début, London 1975 (Boulez's Pli selon pli). Sang in Amer. f.p. of Sessions opera Montezuma (Boston 1976). Has made reputation in contemp. mus. because of her perfect pitch, range of 3 octaves, and ability to sing accurately in quarter-tones.

Bryson, Ernest Robert (b Liverpool, 1867; d St Briavels, Glos., 1942). Eng. composer of opera (The Leper's Flute, Glasgow, 1926), syms., and chamber works.

Bucchi, Valentino (b Florence, 1916; d Rome, 1976). It. composer. Studied Florence Univ. and Cherubini Cons. (comp. with Dallapiccola). Has worked as critic and teacher. Comp. operas, syms., and religious choral mus.

Buccina. Roman wind instr., made of metal, varying from 8' to 12' long. Its notes were of the natural or 'bugle' scale.

Buchbinder, Rudolf (b Leitmeritz, 1946). Austrian pianist. Studied Vienna Acad. of Mus. London début 1962.

Buch der hängenden Gärten, Das (The Book of the Hanging Gardens). Settings for solo v. and pf. by Schoenberg of 15 poems by Stefan George (Op. 15; 1908). F.p. Vienna, Jan. 1910.

Buchner, Hans ('Hans von Constanz') (b Ravensburg, Württemberg, 1483; d 1538). Ger. organist and composer for his instr. Constanz Cath. 1512--26. Was also organ-builder.

Budapest Quartet. Hung. string quartet founded 1917 by players from Budapest Opera Orch. (Emil Hauser, Imre Poganyi, Istvan Ipolyi, and Harry Son). First played in London 1925. By 1936 membership was Russ. and Ukrainian (1st vn. Joseph Roisman). Under Roisman, quartet became noted for brilliance of style and made many recordings. Settled in USA 1938, being quartet-in-residence at Library of Congress until 1962, when they moved to State Univ. of NY at Buffalo. Recorded all Beethoven's quartets three times. Last public appearance 1967.

Budden, Julian (Midforth) (b Hoylake, 1924). Eng. writer, administrator, and musicologist. Studied Oxford Univ., RCM, and TCL.BBC mus. producer 1956, chief prod. of opera 1970-6, mus. organizer, external services from 1976. Authority on Verdi.

Buffa, Buffo (It.). Gust, Puff. The term has come to mean comic, thus basso buffo, comic bass in opera. Opera buffa, comic opera, is opposite of opera seria.

Buffet d'orgue. (Fr.). Organ case.

Buffoon, The (Prokofiev). See Chout.

Bugle. Valveless brass or copper instr. of treble pitch, with wide tube of conical bore, moderate-sized bell, and cup-shaped mouthpiece. Notes are merely a few of those of the harmonic series, normally in Bb, and it is mainly a means of military signalling or (in bugle bands) simple acc. of marching.

Bugle à clefs. Keyed Bugle.

Bühnenfestspiel, Bühnenweihfestspiel. Wagner's Ger. terms respectively for (a) Der Ring des Nibelungen, a 'stage-festival-play', and (b) Parsifal, a 'stage-consecrating festival-play'.

Buisine (Fr. corruption of Lat. buccina). Medieval straight tpt. over 6' long, made in jointed sections often with flared bell.

Bull, John (b ?Radnor, c.1562; d Antwerp, 1628). Eng. composer and virginalist. Choir-boy in Queen Elizabeth I's Chapel Royal; organist, Hereford Cath. 1582-5 and then Chapel Royal; D.Mus., Oxford and Cambridge, and first Gre-sham Public Reader in Mus., London 1597. Left Eng. for Belg. 1613 becoming organist, Chapel Royal, Brussels, and of Antwerp Cath., 1617 until his death. Friend of Sweelinck. His importance is as a highly skilled performer on and ingenious composer for the virginals. He ranks as one of the founders of kbd. perf. and the kbd. repertory. He contributed to Parthenia, 1611. One of his comps. is called God Save the King but bears no resemblance to the nat. anthem; however, another untitled piece by Bull is a possible source of this melody.

Bull, Ole Bornemann (b Bergen, Norway, 1810; d Lys;open, Bergen, 1880). Norweg. violinist and composer. In emulation of Paganini, toured widely as virtuoso recitalist. Convinced patriot, frequently played Scandinavian melodies, earning large sums and founding in USA in 1852 a Norweg. colony and in the capital of his own country a mus. conservatory (both of which schemes proved abortive). Wrote 2 vn.concs. Encouraged Grieg.

Buller, John (b London, 1927). Eng. composer. Worked as architectural surveyor until 1959 when he studied comp. with Anthony Milner. Came to notice in 1970s with series of works based on James Joyce's Finnegans Wake. Works incl.: The Cave, fl., cl., tb., vc., tape (1970); 2 Night Pieces from 'Finnegans Wake', for sop., fl., cl., pf., vc. (1971); The Melian Debate, ten., bar., fl., cor anglais, hn., tpt., hp., vc. (1971); Finnegan's Floras, ch., perc., pf. (1972); Poor Jenny, fl., perc. (1973); Le Terrazze, 14 instr., tape (1974); Familiar, str. qt (1974); The Mime of Mick, Nick, and The Maggies, sop., ten., bar., ch., orch. (1975-6); Proen;acca, mez., elec. guitar, orch. (1977); The Theatre of Memory, orch. (1980-1); Sonnet, mez., fl., str. qt. (1983); Towards Aquarius, ens.(1983).

Bullock, (Sir) Ernest (b Wigan, 1890; d Aylesbury, 1979). Eng. organist and educator. Studied with Bairstow. Sub-organist, Manchester Cath., 1912–15. Organist, Exeter Cath. 1919–27, Westminster Abbey 1928–41. Prin., RSAM, and Prof. of Mus., Glasgow Univ. 1941–52; dir., RCM 1953–60. Comp. org. mus. and songs. Knighted 1951. In charge of mus., Coronation of George VI, 1937.

Bull Roarer. See Thunder Stick.

Bülow, Hans (Guido) Freiherr von (b Dresden, 1830; d Cairo, 1894). Ger. cond. and pianist. Pf. pupil of Friedrich Wieck. Became law student but abandoned it for mus. under influence of f.p. of Wagner's Lohengrin at Weimar. Went to Zürich for instruction from Wagner. Pf. pupil of Liszt, 1851. First concert tour of Ger., 1853. Prin. pf. prof., Stern-Marx Cons., Berlin, 1855–64, during which time developed conducting potentialities inaddition to making many tours as concert pianist. Married Liszt's daughter Cosima, 1857. Chief cond., Munich Royal Opera, 1864, and there cond. f.p. of Wagner's Tristan und Isolde (1865) and Die Meistersinger von Nürnberg (1868) to the composer's immense satisfaction. In 1869 left Munich because of Wagner's affair with Cosima; they were divorced the next year. First visit to London 1873, to USA 1875–6. In 1880 became court cond. to Duke of Meiningen and made the court orch. finest in Europe for disciplined playing. Resigned 1885, handing over to his protégé Richard Strauss. Cond. Berlin P.O. 1887–93. In 1888 became cond. of opera and concerts in Hamburg. Comp. orch. and pf. works and pubd. edn. of Beethoven sonatas. Gave f.p. of Tchaikovsky's 1st pf. conc. (Boston, 25 Oct. 1875).

Bumbry, Grace (b St Louis, 1937). Amer. mez., later sop. Studied with Lotte Lehmann, 1955–8. Début Paris Opéra 1960 as Amneris in Aida. Basle Opera 1960–3. Sang at Bayreuth 1961, being first black singer to do so. NY début 1962. CG début 1963, Salzburg 1964. Remarkable Carmen and Salome.

Bunting, Edward (b Armagh, 1773; d Dublin, 1843). Irish organist and pianist renowned for his coll. of over 300 Irish folk tunes, harp mus., etc., pubd. in 3sections, 1796, 1809, and 1840.

Buonaccordo (It.). Child's toy pf. or spinet.

Buonomici, Giuseppe (b Florence, 1846; d Florence, 1914). It. pianist, studied Munich Cons. under Bülow. Prof. of pf., Istituto Musicale, Florence, from 1873. Ed. Beethoven sonatas and other classics.

Buononcini. See Bononcini, Giovanni.

Buonporti. See Bonporti, Francesco Antonio.

Burden, or Burthen. (1) A recurring line after each stanza of a ballad, etc. (2) Drone or bass of bagpipe.

Burgmüller, Johann Friedrich (b Regensburg, 1806; d Beaulieu, Fr., 1874). Ger. composer remembered chiefly for his mus. for the ballet La Péri.

Burton, Geoffrey (b Hambledon, 1941). Eng. composer. Studied GSM (with Wishart) and with Berkeley. Played tpt. in jazz groups and orchs. Original and imaginative user of all the influences and procedures at the disposal of the 20th-cent. composer. High reputation as composer of incid. music for television, e.g. Brideshead Revisited and Tinker, Tailor, Soldier, Spy. Works incl.:

music theatre: Epitaph for Sir Walter Raleigh (1968); Joan of Arc (text by Susan Hill) (1970).

ballets: The Golden Fish (1964); Ophelia (1964); The Calm (1974); Running Figures/Goldberg's Dream (1975); Persephone (1979); Songs, Lamentations and Praises (1979).

orch: Conc. for str. (1963); 5 Pieces for Str. (1967); Gending (1968); Alleluia Nativitas (1970); Cantus Alleluia (1973); Brideshead Variations (1981); The World Again (1982--3).

voices and orch.: Acquainted with Night, counter-ten., str., harp, perc. (1965); Think on Dredful Domesday (1969); Magnificat (1970); The Golden Eternity (1970); Requiem (1976); Veni Spiritus, sop., bar., ch., and orch. (1978--9); Orpheus, sop., ten., bar., bass, male ch., and orch. (1982).

voice(s) and piano [nmor [smensemble: Cantata on Mediaeval Latin Texts, counterten., fl., ob., bn. (1964); Hymn to Venus, mez. and pf. (1966); 5 Sonnets of Donne (1967); Worldes Bliss, counter-ten. and ob. (1971); This Endris Night, ten., female vv., brass (1972); Canciones del Alma, 2 counterten. and 13 solo str. (1975); The Fall of Lucifer, ten., bar., counterten., ch., and ens. (1977); Hymn to St Thomas, ch. and str. (1980).

choral: 3 Elegies (1964); Short Mass (1965); Farewell Earth's Bliss, 6 solo vv. (1966); A Prayer to the Trinity (1972); The Fire of Heaven (1973); DosCoros (1975); But Have Been Found Again (1983).

chamber music: Chamber Dances (1981--2); Ob. qt. (1980); Sanctus Variations, 2 tpts., org. (1980).

Burian, Emil Frantis^;ek (b Pilsen, 1904; d Prague, 1959). Cz. composer and actor; studied Prague Univ. (comp. with J. B. Förster) 1920--7. Sometime dir., Brno Nat. Th. Comps. incl. operas, jazz opera, 8 str. qts., wind quintet, etc.

Burkhard, Paul (b Zürich, 1911; d Tosstal, 1977). Swiss composer, pianist, and cond. Studied Zürich Cons. Cond. radio orch. Beromünster, 1945--57. Successful operettas incl. Tic-Tac (1941) and Der schwarze Hecht (The Black Jack) (1939) which was rev. 1948 as Feuerwerk (Firework) and contained the popular 'O mein Papa'.

Burkhard, Willy (b Évilard sur Bielle, Switzerland, 1900; d Zürich, 1955). Swiss composer, pianist, and cond. Studied at Cons. of Berne, Leipzig, and Munich, and then became teacher of comp. and pf. in Berne. Comp. opera Die schwarze Spinne (The Black Spider) (Zürich 1949), 2 syms., cantatas, 2 vn. concs., oratorio Das Gesicht Jesajahs (The Vision of Isaiah) (Basle 1936), str. qts., vc. sonata, organ mus.

Burla (It.). Jest. So burlando, jestingly; burletta, a mus. farce, etc.

Burlesco, Burlesca (It.). Burlesque, jocular (see also Burla). So the adverb, burlescamente.

Burleske (Burlesque). Work for pf. and orch. in D minor by R. Strauss, comp. 1885--6, rev. 1890. F.p. Eisenach, 1890.

Burlesque (Fr.; It. burlesca; Ger. Burleske). Humorous form of entertainment involving an element of parody or exaggeration. Applied in 18th cent. to mus. works in which comic and serious elements were contrasted. In Eng. word usually means a dramatic work ridiculing stage conventions, while in Amer. it means a varietyshow, often involving strippers.

Burletta (It.). Type of Eng. mus. farce which had a vogue in late 18th/early 19th cent.

Burney, Charles (b Shrewsbury, 1726; d London, 1814). Eng. organist (London churches, King's Lynn, finally Chelsea Hospital); minor composer; author of History of Music (4 vols., 1776--89), of 2 books narrating his travel experiences in Fr., It., Ger., etc., also of a life of Metastasio. Friend of and greatly esteemed by Johnson, Garrick, Reynolds, Burke, and other leaders of politics, science, art, literature, and social life of his period. Father of the novelists Fanny and Sarah Harriet Burney, of the writer on South Sea exploration, Admiral James Burney (one of Cook's officers in his circumnavigation), and of the Gr. scholar, Charles Burney, jun.

Burning Fiery Furnace, The. 2nd parable for church perf., Op. 77, by Britten to lib. by W. Plomer based on Book of Daniel. Prod. Aldeburgh Fest. (Orford Church) 1966.

Burrell, Mary (1850--98). Daughter of Sir John Banks, Regius Prof. of Medicine, Trinity College, Dublin; wife of Hon. Willoughby Burrell (after her death Lord Gwydyr). Amassed enormous coll. of Wagner documents of every kind; planned complete life of Wagner but only immense first vol. was pubd., covering 21 years (1898). Other material now at Philadelphia (Catalogue pubd. 1929).

Burrowes, Norma (Elizabeth) (b Bangor, Co. Down, 1944). Irish sop. Studied RAM. Singer in opera, Lieder, and oratorio. CG début 1970 (Fiakermilli in Arabella), Salzburg and Wexford, 1971. Title-role in Janáček's The Cunning Little Vixen, Glyndebourne 1975.

Burrows, (James) [fy65,3]Stuart[fy75,1] (b Pontypridd, 1933). Welsh tenor. Was schoolteacher until winning tenor comp. at Royal Nat. Eisteddfod 1959. Opera début with WNO 1963 (Ismaele in Nabucco). CG 1967, S. Francisco 1967, Vienna 1970 (Tamino in Die Zauberflöte), NY Met. 1971. Particularly noted as Mozart singer.

Burt, Francis (b London, 1926). Eng. composer. Studied comp. with Howard Ferguson at RAM 1948--51 and in Berlin with Boris Blacher 1951--4. Lived in Vienna from 1956. Prof of comp., Vienna Hochschule für Musik from 1973. Comps. incl. opera Volpone (Ben Jonson) (1952--8), Iambics for orch. (1953), Espressione orchestrale (1958--9) and Und Gott der Herr sprach, mez., bar., bass, ch., and orch. (1983) and many works for Ger. and Austrian ths. and TV.

Burthen. See Burden.

Busch, Adolf (Georg Wilhelm) (b Siegen, Westphalia, 1891; d Guilford, Vermont, 1952). Ger.-born violinist and composer. Studied at Cologne with Willy Hess. Violin prof. Berlin Hochschule 1918. Founded qt. 1919. Settled in Basle 1927, taking Swiss nationality 1935. Went to USA 1939. His qt. mademany famous recordings. Noted for sonata recitals with his son-in-law, the pianist Rudolf Serkin. Comp. sym., concs., sonatas.

Busch, Fritz (b Siegen, Westphalia, 1890; d London, 1951). Ger. cond., brother of A. Busch. Studied Cologne Cons. (cond. with F. Steinbach). Opera house appointments at Riga 1909, Aachen 1912, Stuttgart 1918, succeeding Fritz Reiner at Dresden, 1922. His period at Dresden revived gloriesof Schuch era. Cond. f.ps. of R. Strauss's Intermezzo (1924) and Die ägyptische Helena (1928). Left Ger. 1933, working in Buenos Aires 1933--6 and 1941--5 and at NY Met. 1945--49. In England best known as first cond. of Glyndebourne Opera 1934--9, returning in 1950 and 1951. Also had long assoc. with Danish Radio S.O. and Stockholm P.O.

Bush, Alan (Dudley) (b London, 1900). Eng. composer, cond., and pianist. Studied RAM 1918--22 and privately with John Ireland 1922--7. Teacher at RAM since 1925. In 1929--31 studied at Berlin Univ. Had pf. lessons from Moiseiwitsch and Schnabel. Many of his works reflect his Communist sympathies but are held in highest esteem for their mus. qualities by listeners of all political persuasions. Major works are:

operas: The Press-Gang (1946); Wat Tyler (1948--50) (Leipzig 1953, London 1974); The Spell Unbound (1953); Men of Blackmoor (1954--5) (Oxford 1960, Weimar 1965); The

Ferryman's Daughter (1961); The Sugar Reapers (1961--4) (Leipzig 1966); Joe Hill: the Man Who Never Died (1965--8) (Berlin 1970).

orch: Syms., No. 1 in C (1939--40), No. 2 'Nottingham' (1949), No. 3 'Byron' (1959--60), No. 4 'Lascaux' (1982--3); Pf. Conc., with bar. and male ch. (1934--7); Vn. Conc. (1948); Concert Suite for vc. and orch. (1952); English Suite for str. (1946); Dorian Passacaglia and Fugue (1959); Variations, Nocturne and Finale on an English Sea Song, pf. and orch. (1960); Time Remembered for chamber orch. (1968); Africa, pf. and orch. (1971--2); Liverpool Overture (1972).

chamber: Str. Qt. in A minor (1923); Dialectic for str. qt. (1929); 3 Concert Studies for pf. trio (1947); Serenade for str. qt. (1969); pf. sonata (1971); Suite of Six for str. qt. (1975); 24 Preludes, pf. (1977).

Bush, Geoffrey (b London, 1920). Eng. composer, teacher, and writer. Chorister, Salisbury Cath., 1928--33. Lecturer, Oxford Univ., Extra-Mural Dept., 1947--52, London Univ. from 1952. Works incl. operas, concs., 2 syms., Music for Orchestra, ov. Yorick, pf. pieces, songs, and Twelfth Night for ten., ch., and orch. Ed., pf. and chamber mus. of Sterndale Bennett 1972.

Busnois, Antoine (b c.1430; d Bruges, 1492). Fr. composer. May have been pupil or colleague of Ockeghem. Was for long in service of Charles the Bold (who became Duke of Burgundy in 1467) and after Charles's death in 1477 served his daughter Mary of Burgundy until her death in 1482. Moved to Bruges and became rector cantoriae at the church of St Sauveur. Regarded as one of leading composers of his day, ranking next to Ockeghem, with whom he shared a penchant for elaborate melody, the use of canon, and lively rhythms. His Missa L'homme armé is one of earliest based on this secular tune, but some of his most original work is to be found in his chansons, of which over 60 survive. For some of these he wrote the words. His motet Anthoni usque limina has a part for a tenor who sings the note D in imitation of a bell. Its text has a reference to his name in the line `.|.|. in omnibus noys'. His three-part setting of an It. text, the motet Fortunata desperata, was a model for Josquin Després, and the melodies of some of his chansons were used in Masses by his contemporaries just as he had used L'homme armé.

Busoni, Ferruccio Benvenuto (b Empoli, 1866; d Berlin, 1924). It. composer, cond., and pianist. Son of clarinettist and pianist. First public pf. recital, Trieste, at age 7. Studied comp. at Graz, 1880--1 and Leipzig 1886. Teaching posts at Helsinki 1889, Moscow 1890, Boston, Mass., 1891--4. After 1894 settled mainly in Berlin. Although his brilliance as a pianist earned him most fame, from 1898 concentrated on comp. and also est. master classes at Weimar in 1901 and 1902 which broke new ground as meeting-places for young composers and performers. From 1902--9 cond. orch. concerts in Berlin at which contemporary works were perf. From 1913--15 dir. of Liceo Rossini, Bologna, but disagreements with the municipal authorities over reforms ensured failure. Lived in Zürich from 1915, refusing to enter the belligerent countries, but returned to Berlin 1920. Resumed pianist career despite failing health. Busoni's pf.-playing, of virtuoso quality, was also notable for its grandeur and poetry. His mus. found mixed favour in his lifetime but has become increasingly admired for its visionary nature and for its anticipation of many of the devices and styles of 'advanced' composers. Deriving from the impressionistic late works of Liszt, it ventured into harmonic and rhythmic territory that became the preserve of Webern, Bartók, and Messiaen. His earlier works, in a classical-romantic style, are best represented by the Vn. Sonata in E minor, the Vn. Conc., and the Pf. Conc. (in 5 movements, with male ch. in finale). His change in style dates from the Elegies for pf. of 1907. His most elaborate work was his opera Doktor Faust, begun 1916 and left incomplete. His writings were both progressive and influential, particularly the Entwurf einer neuen Ästhetik der Tonkunst (Trieste, 1907). Prin. works:

operas: [fy75,1] Die Brautwahl (The Bridal Choice) (1908--11); Arlecchino (1914--16); Turandot (1917, orig. incid. mus. 1911); Doktor Faust (1916--24, completed. by P. Jarnach).

orch: Symphonic Suite (1883); Konzertstück, pf., orch. (1890); Concert-Fantasy, pf., orch. (1888--9), rev. as Symphonisches Tongedicht, orch. (1893); Suite No. 2 (1895, rev. 1903); vn. conc. (1896--7); Comedy Overture (1897, rev. 1904); pf. conc. (male ch. in finale) (1903--4); Turandot Suite (1904); Berceuse élégiaque (1909, orig. for pf.); Symphonic Nocturne (1912); Indianische Fantasie, pf., orch. (1913); Rondò Arlecchinesco (1915); Indianisches Tagebuch (Book II) (1915); cl. concertino (1918); Divertimento, fl., orch. (1920); Tanzwalzer (1920).

voice and orch: Ave Maria, bar., orch. (1882); Unter den Linden, sop., orch. (1885, 1893); Zigeunerlied, bar., orch. (1923); Schlechter Trost, low v., orch. (1924).

chamber: Str. Qt. No. 1 in C minor (1880--1), No. 2 in D minor (1887); Vn. Sonata No. 1 in E minor (1890), No. 2 in E minor (1898); Little Suite, vc., pf. (1886); Bagatelles, vn., pf. (1888); Serenata, vc., pf. (c.1882); Elegy, cl., pf. (1920).

piano: Prelude and Fugue in C minor (1878); 24 Preludes (1879--80); 3 Pieces (1884); Study in Form of Variations (1884); 5 Pieces (1887); Elegien (7 pieces) (1907--9; No. 7, Berceuse, comp. 1909 and orch. as Berceuse élégiaque); Christmas Night (1909); Sonatinas: No. 1 (1910), No. 2 (1912), No. 3 (1916), No. 4 (1917), No. 5 (transcr. of Bach) (1919), No. 6 (on Carmen) (1920); Indianisches Tagebuch (Book I) (1915); Fantasia contrappuntistica (based on Bach), 1st version (1910), 2nd version (1910), 3rdversion (1912), 4th version, arr. 2 pfs. (1921); 3 Albumblätter (1917--21); Klavierübung (1st edn. in 5 parts, 1917--22; 2nd edn. in 10 parts, 1925). Also songs and many transcr. and arr. of Bach, Beethoven, Bizet, Chopin, Cornelius, Liszt, Mozart, Schoenberg, Schubert, and Wagner. His transcr. of J. S. Bach's Chromatic Fantasia dates from 1911.

Busser, Henri Paul (b Toulouse, 1872; d Paris 1973). Fr. composer, organist and cond., pupil of Gounod, Franck, and Widor at Paris Cons. and at 21 won Prix de Rome. In 1902 became cond. at the Opéra-Comique, at the Opéra 1905. Prof. of comp., Paris Cons. 1931--49. Wrote several operas incl. Jane Grey (1891), Colomba (1921), Les Noces corinthiennes (1922), and Le Carrosse du Saint-Sacrement (1948). Orch. Debussy's Petite Suite, Printemps, and other works. Bussotti, Sylvano (b Florence, 1931). It. composer. Studied vn. as a child but pursued career as composer. Studied under Max Deutsch in Paris 1957--8. Prizewinner at I.S.C.M. festival and Venice Biennale. Influenced by Webern and serialism, later by John Cage. Operas incl. Lorenzaccio (1972) and Nottetempo (1976). Otherworks incl.: La Passion selon Sade, vv., instr., narrator (1966), 5 Piano Pieces for David Tudor (1959), Torso, v. and orch. (1963), Rara Requiem (1969). Some of these are in graphic score. Also a painter.

Buths, Julius (b Wiesbaden, 1851; d Düsseldorf, 1920). Ger. cond. and pianist. After conducting at Elberfeld, 1879--90, moved to Düsseldorf, 1890--1908, where he became mus. dir., Lower Rhine Fest. Cond. several now famous contemporary works by, among others, Mahler, Delius, and Strauss, but most notably Elgar's Dream of Gerontius, which he trans. into Ger. and prod. at Düsseldorf in 1901 and 1902. Soloist in f.p. of Delius's pf. conc. at Elberfeld, 1904 (cond. Haym).

Butt, (Dame) Clara (b Southwick, 1872; d North Stoke, Oxon, 1936). Eng. cont. Studied Bristol and, from 1890, at RCM. Sang title-role of Gluck's Orfeo in 1892 at Lyceum with conspicuous success but thereafter pursued career on concert platform except for an Orfeo with Beecham at CG, 1920. Toured British Empire in ballad recitals with husband Kennerley Rumford. First singer of Elgar's Sea Pictures, Norwich 1899, and of the song version of Land of Hope and Glory, 1902. Also sang in his Spirit of England, 1916. D.B.E. 1920.

Butterworth, Arthur (Eckersley) (b Manchester, 1923). Eng. composer, cond., and trumpeter. Studied RMCM. Trumpeter in SNO 1949--54, Hallé Orch. 1955--61. Cond., Huddersfield P.O. from 1964. Works incl. 3 syms., several works for brass band, Trains in the Distance, ch. and orch. Arr. Elgar's Introduction and Allegro (str.) for brass band (1976).

Butterworth, George (Sainton Kaye-) (b London, 1885; d Pozières, Battle of Somme, 1916). Eng. composer. Educated Eton and Trinity College, Oxford. At Oxford influenced by H. P. Allen and began collecting folk-songs, leading to friendship with Vaughan Williams and Cecil Sharp. Was excellent folk-dancer. Comps., few in number, suggest he might have achieved greatness. Left several fine settings of Housman's 'Shropshire Lad' poems, with orch. rhapsody, A Shropshire Lad (Leeds 1913) based on theme of his song 'Loveliest of Trees'. Orch. idyll The Banks of Green Willow f.p. London 1914. Song-cycle Love Blows as the Wind Blows (W. E. Henley) was composed 1911--12, being 4 songs for voice with pf. and str. qt. but was revised in 1914 as 3 songs with orch. Posthumously awarded Military Cross. Vaughan Williams's A London Symphony is ded. to his memory.

Butting, Max (b Berlin, 1888; d Berlin, 1976). Ger. composer. Studied Munich Univ. and Cons. Early specialist in comp. for radio. Inactive 1933--45; mus. dir., E. Berlin radio 1948. Comp. opera, 10 syms., pf. conc., 10 str. qts., etc.

Button. Pin at the end of a vn., etc., which bears the pull of the str.

Buxtehude, Dietrich (Diderik) (b Oldesloe, Holstein, 1637; d Lübeck, 1707). Danish organist and composer. In 1668 appointed organist, Marienkirche, Lübeck, from which his fame as a player spread through Europe. Instituted in 1673 ambitious mus. perfs. in assoc. with church services. Known as Abendmusiken (evening concerts), they were held annually on the 5 Sundays before Christmas. Such was Buxtehude's fame that J. S. Bach walked 200 miles from Arnstadt to hear him play. Comp. many works for org. (which influenced Bach), and trio sonatas. His vocal music, most of it to sacred texts, is as important as his organ works. He wrote 20 cantatas; his other vocal comps. may be categorized as concertos, chorales, and arias. His arias suggest the influence of Monteverdi, with a strong preference for strophic form over the da capo aria.

Buzuk. Turkish instr. resembling long-necked lute, having 4 str. passing over a movable bridge, a fingerboard twice as long as the soundboard, a small oval body, and rounded back.

BWV, Bach Werke-Verzeichnis (Index to Bach's Works). The initials, preceding nos., which indicate the catalogue nos. of J. S. Bach's works in the thematic index (Thematisch-Systematisches Verzeichnis der musikalischen Werke von Johann Sebastian Bach) compiled and ed. by Wolfgang Schmieder (1950). Now accepted as standard means of numbering his works, e.g. St John Passion is BWV245.

Byrd, William (b probably Lincoln, 1543; d Stondon Massey, Essex, 1623). Eng. composer. Pupil of Tallis. Organist, Lincoln Cath., 1563. From 1572 hon. organist, Chapel Royal jointly with Tallis. In 1575 he and Tallis jointly pubd. a coll. of motets, Cantiones sacrae, dedicated to Queen Elizabeth I. Little is known of Byrd's life apart from various lawsuits over property and the fact of his Roman Catholicism, from the consequences of which he seems to have been protected at a time of anti-Papism by his fame as a composer and by friends in high places. In his motets and masses, Byrd showed himself the equal of his Fr. and It. contemporaries as a contrapuntist. He was an innovator in form and technique in his liturgical works, the finest of which is the Great Service. His madrigals are also of exceptional quality, and there is superb mus. in his solo songs and songs for the stage. In his Fancies and In Nomines for str. instr. he est. an Eng. instr. style of comp., but perhaps even more significant was his mus. for virginals, in which he developed variation form. Prin. comps.:

sacred works: Masses, No. 1 in 3 v.-parts, No. 2 in 4, No. 3 in 5. Motets: Cantiones (with Tallis, 1575. Contains 17 items by Byrd); Cantiones Sacrae, Book I, 1589 (29 motets), Book II, 1591 (32 motets); Gradualia, Book I, 1605 (63 motets), Book II, 1607 (45 motets).

Preces, Psalms and Litany; Short Service; Great Service; 12 verse anthems; 10 psalms.

secular: Madrigals, sonnets; Songs of sundrie natures (1589), containing 47 songs; solo songs, canons and rounds.

instrumental: 14 Fantasies; 8 In Nomines; 9 pieces in In Nomine style on plainsong melodies.

keyboard: Over 120 pieces in various colls., incl. My Ladye Nevells Booke, transcr. 1591, and Parthenia (1611).

Byzantine Music. Christian liturgical song (often highly ornamented) of the E. Roman Empire (capital Byzantium = Constantinople = Istanbul), founded ad 330 by Constantine the Great and destroyed 1453 with the Fall of Constantinople. It appears to derive from an ancient source common to it and to the plainsong of the W. Church. The various forms of notation are also a subject for special study.

C

C. First note of the natural scale, thus Cb, Cbb, Cnat., C#, C##, C major, C minor. In C means either (1) in the key of C major or (2) indicates a non-transposing instr., e.g. tpts. in C. Middle C is the C in about the middle of the pf. and is notated on the line below the treble staff. C clefs indicate position of middle C, e.g. alto and ten. clefs and sop. clef (obsolete). In SCTB, C = contralto.

C.A. Coll' arco.

Cabaca. Round or pear-shaped gourd covered with beads and with a handle. Some have beads inside to rattle. Is used in Lat. American dance bands and by several 20th cent. composers.

Cabaletta (Cabella, Cavaletta) (It., from cavata, extraction). A term with a number of meanings: (1) Short aria of simple and much reiterated rhythm, generally with repeats. (2) Type of song in rondo form, sometimes with variations. (3) Recurring passage in a song, first appearing simply and then varied (some authorities make a triplet acc. a necessary qualification for the title). (4) Final section of elaborate operatic duet or aria in which mus. often settles down to a steady rhythm, e.g. 'Ah! non giunge' in La sonnambula.

Caballé, Montserrat (b Barcelona, 1933). Sp. sop. Studied Barcelona Cons. from age 9. Opera début Basle 1956, First Lady in Die Zauberflöte. Glyndebourne 1965, NY Met. 1965. Notable for singing of Bellini, Donizetti, and early Verdi, but successful also in R. Strauss, Puccini, and Mozart. CG début 1972 as Violetta.

Cabanilles, Juan Bautista José (b Algemesí, 1644; d Valencia, 1712). Sp. composer. Organist, Valencia Cath. from 1665. Org. comps. pubd. in 4 vols. 1927--52.

Cabaret. Term applied to places of entertainment such as night clubs and to the mus. entertainment provided there. Though it had 18th cent. forerunners, cabaret in the modern sense began in 1881 when the 'Chat Noir' opened in Paris. From this milieu arose the great diseuse Yvette Guilbert (1885--1944). With her own form of Sprechgesang and eloquent movements of limbs and body, she intensified the meaning of words sung to simple tunes. In Ger. the leading cabaret was the 'Überbrett', founded by Ernst von Wolzogen (librettist of Strauss's Feuersnot) in 1901. Schoenberg cond. there and comp. some Brettlieder. Political satire was a prominent feature of the cabaret of the 1920s and 1930s in Ger., where Kurt Weill and Hanns Eisler were protagonists. This period was captured by Christopher Isherwood in his novel Goodbye to Berlin (1939) (re-named Cabaret for the stage and film). In Eng., cabaret tended to be more genteel and like an intimate revue, but something of the Ger. spirit was emulated by W. H. Auden in his The Ascent of F6 (1936), the songs being set to mus. by Britten (e.g. 'Tell me the truth about love').

Cabezón, Antonio de (b Castrillo de Matajudíos, nr. Burgos, 1510; d Madrid, 1566). Sp. composer, blind from birth, one of first to compose for the kbd. Organist and harpsichordist to Kings of Spain. Mus. ahead of its time, as shown by variations on popular melody El caballero.

Cabinet Organ. Amer. nomenclature for what in Eng. is called Amer. org. This resembles the Harmonium, but the air is sucked through the reeds instead of being forced through them and the tone is less pungent. There is no 'Expression' device and so where other means than the player's feet can be applied for operating the bellows, a pedal-board like that of an organ can be built in as part of the instr. Invented by worker in Alexandre's Paris factory but developed in Boston, Mass.

Caccia (It.). Chase, hunt, e.g. alla caccia, in hunting style. In Ars nova 2 vv. 'chased' each other in strict canon, the text often dealing with hunting. See Oboe (da caccia) and Corno da caccia.

Caccini, Giulio (b Rome, c.1548; d Florence, 1618). It. singer, composer, and lutenist. Taken to Florence by Cosimo I de' Medici, c.1565. One of members of Camerata, some of his mus. was incl. in Peri's Euridice to Rinuccini's lib. which he then also set in rivalry in 1600. Also composed opera Il rapimento di Cefalo, perf. Florence 1600. Canzonets and madrigals published in Le nuove musiche (New Music) 1602, marking change to monodic style. His daughter Francesca was a celebrated singer.

Cachucha. Andalusian dance for a single performer in triple time. Its mus. is not unlike that of the bolero.

Cadéac, Pierre (fl. 1538--56). Fr. composer of church mus. and chansons. His music was sung in Venice and Kraków, as well as in Ger. and Sp. Best known for chanson Je suis déhéritée.

Cadence or Close. Any melodic or harmonic progression which has come to possess a conventional association with the ending of a comp., a section, or a phrase. The commonest harmonic cadences are: (a) Perfect Cadence (or Full Close). Chord of the Dominant followed by that of Tonic. (b) Interrupted Cadence. Chord of the Dominant followed by that of Submediant. (c) Imperfect Cadence (or Half Close). Chord of the Tonic or some other chord followed by that of Dominant. (d) Plagal Cadence. Chord of the Subdominant followed by that of Tonic. [ol60] (a)_(b)_-(c)_-(d)_-(i) [ol60] To any of the Dominant chords above mentioned the 7th may be added. Any of the chords may be taken in inversion, but if that is done in the case of the Perfect Cadence its effect of finality (i.e. its 'perfection') is lost. The term Phrygian Cadence is applied by various writers to (i) in major key a cadence ending on the chord of the Dominant of relative minor (e.g. in Key C major E--G#--B), or (ii) any sort of Imperfect Cadence (Half Close) in minor mode, or (iii) first inversion of Subdominant chord followed by Dominant chord (e.g. in Key C the chord A--C--F followed by the chord G--B--D). (It seems best to confine the name to the cadence (i) above, which is fairly common in J. S. Bach and for which no other name is available, whereas (ii) and (iii) are simply varieties of the Imperfect Cadence.) For the cadence employing the Tierce de Picardie see under that term. Other terms are: Abrupt Cadence = Interrupted Cadence (see above). Amen Cadence = Plagal cadence (see above). Authentic Cadence = Perfect Cadence (Full Close; see above). Avoided Cadence = Interrupted Cadence (see above). Broken Cadence = Interrupted Cadence (see above). Church Cadence = Plagal

Cadence (see above). Complete Cadence = Perfect Cadence (FullClose; see above). Deceptive Cadence = Interrupted Cadence (see above). Demi-Cadence = Imperfect Cadence (Half Close; see above). Dominant Cadence = Imperfect Cadence (Half Close; see above). Evaded Cadence = Interrupted Cadence (seeabove). False Close = Interrupted Cadence (see above). Greek Cadence = PlagalCadence (see above). Half Cadence = Half Close (see Imperfect Cadence, above). Inverted Cadence = A Perfect or Imperfect Cadence (Full Close or Half Close; see above) with its latter chord inverted. (Some confine the name to the Perfect Cadence thus changed; others extend it to all cadences having either chord, or both, inverted.) Irregular Cadence = InterruptedCadence (see above). Mixed Cadence. The term is used in 2 ways---both of them superfluous. (1) A 'mixing' of the Plagal and Imperfect Cadences, consisting of Subdominant-Dominant, this being merely the Imperfect Cadence inone of its commonest forms. (2) A mixing of the Plagal and Perfect Cadences, consisting of the Perfect Cadence preceded by the Subdominant---making 3 chords, instead of the usual 2. This is merely the Perfect Cadenceled up to in one of its commonest manners and should not require any special name. Radical Cadence = any cadence of which the chords are in root position, i.e. the roots of the chords in the bass. Semi-Perfect Cadence = Perfect Cadence (see above) with the 3rd or 5th of the Tonic in the highest part. Surprise Cadence = Interrupted Cadence (see above). Suspended Cadence = A hold-up before the final cadence of a piece, as that in a conc. (or, in former times, an aria) for the solo performer to work in a cadenza. The above definitions accord with Brit. terminology. Amer. usage is different and inconsistent.

Cadenza (It.). A flourish (properly, improvised) inserted into the final cadence of any section of a vocal aria or a solo instr. movement. The conventional final cadence consists, harmonically, of 3 chords, the 2nd inversion of the Tonic Chord, and the Dominant and Tonic Chords in root position (i.e. ;s6:4 ;s5:3 on the Dominant bass, followed by ;s5:3 on the Tonic bass). The interpolated cadenza begins on the first of these chords, the orch. joining in again only when the soloist, after a display of vocal or instr. virtuosity, indicates by a long trill that he or she isready to be rejoined in the final chords or in any passage elaborated out of them. In the operatic aria conventional practice admitted 3 cadenzas---one at the end of each of its sections (see Aria), the most elaborate being reserved to the last. The term melisma has been used for the vocal cadenza. From the time of Mozart and Beethoven in instr. mus. the tendency grew for the composer to write out the cadenza in full,although Mozart's and Beethoven's cadenzas are often still rejected by soloists who substitute cadenzas by other hands (e.g. by Busoni, Reinecke, etc.). In Beethoven's and Brahms's vn. concs. the cadenza was left to the performer's invention, but Joachim and Kreisler (and others) provided written-out cadenzaswhich are generally used. Schumann in his pf. conc. and Mendelssohn in his vn.conc. began the trend, general now, of integrating the cadenza into the comp. There are many fine examples of acc. cadenzas (e.g. Elgar's Vn. Conc.). Sometimes the cadenza assumes the importance of, effectively, an extra movement (e.g. Shostakovich's First Vn. Conc., Walton's Vc. Conc.). Of course, with the growth of aleatory procedures, the improvised cadenza has come back into its own. Cadenzato (It.). Cadenced, i.e. rhythmic.

Cadman, Charles Wakefield (b Johnstown, Penn., 1881; d Los Angeles, 1946). Amer. composer, organist, and mus. critic. Specialist in mus. of Amer. Indians, using it in his own works which incl. several operas, orch. comps., and many songs.

Caffarelli (Gaetano Majorano) (b Bitonto, 1710; d Naples, 1783). It. mezzo-soprano castrato. Studied in Naples under Porpora. Début Rome 1726. Sang in prin. It. opera-houses from 1729 but chiefly in Naples, where he was appointed to royal chapel. Sang in London 1737--8, creating title-roles in Handel's Faramondo and Serse. Sang in Fr. 1754, Lisbon 1755, Madrid 1756. Temperamental artist who was once imprisoned for making obscene gestures during a performance. Retired with a fortune and bought a dukedom,an estate, and a palace.

Cage, John (b Los Angeles, 1912). Amer. composer, pianist, and writer. Studied with Cowell and Schoenberg. From 1937 developed interests in dance and perc. In 1938 invented the 'prepared pf.' by inserting various objects, from rubber-bands to hatpins, between the str. to create new effects. Settled in NY 1942, beginning long assoc. with Merce Cunningham Dance Co. as mus. dir. Study of oriental philosophies led to his utilization of 'chance' in his mus., as in Music of Changes (1951). In 1952 he prod. his first piece involving tape, Imaginary Landscape V, and in the same year came 4'33" in which the performer makes no sound. The particular elements of Cage's avant-garde outlook are: use of any kind of environmental sounds or noises; use of 'chance', as in Music of Changes where the selection process involves tossing a coin; abandonment of formal structures; use of silence; use of a wide range of elec. and visual techniques. Books incl. Silence (1961), A Year from Monday (1967), and For the Birds (1981). Works incl.:

orchestra: Conc. for prepared pf. and orch. (1951); Concert for pf. (1957--8); Atlas Eclipticalis (1961--2); Cheap Imitation (1972, orch. version of pf. solo); Etcetera (1973); Score (40 drawings by Thoreau) and 23 Parts (for any instr. and/or vv., 1974); Quartets I--VIII (24, 41, or 93 instrs., 1976); 30 Pieces for 5 Orchestras (1981).

percussion and electronic: Construction I in Metal for perc. sextet (1939); Imaginary Landscape I for 2 variable speed gramophone turntables, frequency recordings, muted pf. and cymbal (1939); Imaginary Landscape II (March) for perc. quintet (1942); Imaginary Landscape III for perc. sextet (1942); Amores (1943); Imaginary Landscape IV (March No. 2) for 12 radios, 24 players and cond. (1951); Imaginary Landscape V (1952); Speech for 5 radios with news reader (1955); 27'10.554" for percussionist (1956).

chamber music: 3 pieces for fl. duet (1935); Str. Qt. (1950); [sm4'33[nm" (silent, for any instr. or combination of instr.) (1952); Variations I--VI for any no. of players and sound-producing means (1958--66); HPSCHD for 7 hpd. soloists and 51 or any no. of tape machines (1967--9); 30 Pieces for Str. Qt. (1984).

piano solo: Metamorphosis (1938); 7 Haiku (1952); Music of Changes (1951, in 4 vols.); Music for Piano (1952--6, several works); [sm0'00[nm" to be perf. in any way by anyone (1962); Cheap Imitation (1969, orch. version 1972); Étude Australes, 32 studies in 4 books (1974--5).

prepared piano: Bacchanale (1938); Meditation (1943); Sonatas and Interludes (1946--8); Music for Marcel Duchamp (1947).

miscellaneous: Cl. Sonata (1933); Music for Carillon Nos. 1--5 (1952--67); Les Chants de Maldoror pulvérés par l'assistance même (1971).

voice: 5 Songs for cont. and pf. (e.e. cummings) (1938); The Wonderful Widow of Eighteen Springs for v. and closed pf. (Joyce) (1942); Song Books, Solos for voice 3--92 (1970); 62 Mesostics re Merce Cunningham (1971, unacc.); Hymns and Variations (12 amp. vv., 1978); Litany for the Whale (2 vv., 1980).

tape[nm, [smaudio-visual etc.: Water Music (1952); Fontana Mix (1958); Where are we going? And what are we doing? (1960); Rozart Mix (1965); Bird Cage (12 tapes, 1972); Lecture on the Weather (12 perf., 1975).

Cahier, Mme Charles (b Nashville, Tenn., 1870; d Manhattan Beach, Calif., 1951). Amer. mez., born Sarah-Jane Layton Walker. Studied in Paris with J. de Reszke and in Berlin with Amalie Joachim. Début in opera, Nice 1904. Vienna Opera 1907--11, NY Met. 1911--13. Taught at Curtis Institute. Soloist in f.p. in 1911 (Munich) of Mahler's Das Lied von der Erde.

Cahill, Teresa (Mary) (b Maidenhead, 1944). Eng. sop. Studied pf., then singing at London Opera Centre. Début Glyndebourne 1970, CG 1970. Milan début 1976. Won John Christie award 1970.

:AlCa Ira! (That will succeed). This expression, many times repeated, made up about half the words of a revolutionary song (later the official song of the Revolution) said to have originated on 5 Oct. 1789 when the Fr. mob marched to Versailles to bring the King and the royal family to Paris, and which became the mus. acc. to almost every incident of the Terror. The tune adopted was that of a popular contredanse, called Carillon national, by a th. violinist of the day, Bécourt. See also Carmagnole.

Cairns, David (Adam) (b Loughton, Essex, 1926). Eng. critic and writer. Studied Oxford Univ. (1945--8) and Princeton Univ. (1950--1). One of founders of Chelsea Opera Group, 1950. Authority on Berlioz, translating and editing the Memoirs (1969, rev. 1977). Mus. critic Financial Times, 1962--7, New Statesman, 1967--70, Sunday Times from 1973 (chief critic from 1983). Worked for record company, 1967--72. His brilliant essays on mus. subjects were published under title Responses (1973).

Caisse (Fr.). Box, hence drum.

Caisse claire (Fr.). Clear drum, i.e. Snare drum, otherwise side drum.

Caisse grosse (Fr.). Large drum, i.e. Bass drum.

Caisse roulante (Fr.). Rolling drum, i.e. Tenor drum.

Caisse sourde (Fr.). Dulldrum, i.e. Tenor drum; see also Caisse roulante.

Caixd'Hervelois, Louis de (b Paris, c.1670; d/Paris, 1760). Fr. performer on and composer for the viola da gamba, some of whose works are now sometimes perf. by cellists. Wrote 5 books of pieces for viola da gamba, 3 books of fl. sonatas.

Calando (It.). Lowering. Diminuendo, with also rallentando.

Calcando (It.). Trampling. Much the same as accelerando, i.e. quickening gradually.

Caldara, Antonio (b Venice, c.1670; d Vienna, 1736). It. composer, pupil of Legrenzi. Imperial chamber-composer at Vienna court 1714, ass. Kapellmeister to Fux from 1716. Comp. 87 operas, over 40 oratorios, masses, and other church mus., incl. Christmas Cantata, and songs, of which Come raggio di sol is well known. Among his many operas was the first setting of Metastasio's libretto La Clemenza di Tito (Vienna, 1734).

Caldwell, Sarah (b Maryville, Miss., 1924). Amer. opera producer, administrator, and conductor. Studied vn. at New England Cons. Staged Vaughan Williams's Riders to the Sea at Tanglewood 1947. Head of Boston Univ. opera workshop 1952--60. Founded Boston Opera Co. 1957. Responsible for f. Amer. ps. of Prokofiev's War and Peace, Nono's Intolleranza, and Schoenberg's Moses und Aron. First woman cond. at NY Met., 1976 (La Traviata). Has cond. NY P.O., Boston S.O., etc.

Calife deBagdad, Le (The Caliph of Bagdad). Opera in 1 act by Boieldieu to lib. by C.H. d'A. de Saint-Just. Prod. Paris 1800; London 1809; New Orleans 1806.

Calinda, La. Orch. interlude by Delius in his opera Koanga (1896--7); it is a dance named after a Negro dance imported to Amer. by African slaves.

Calino Castureme (Caleno custureme). Tune mentioned by Shakespeare in Henry V (Act IV, sc.|4). It is to be found in the Fitzwilliam Virginal Book. In A Handfull of Pleasant Delites, 1584, the words 'Caleno Custureme' are interpolated between every 2 lines of the poem 'When as I view your comly grace'. Possibly a perversion of the Irish 'Cailín, ó cois t Suire, mé' (I am a girl from the banks of the river Suir).

Caliph of Bagdad, The (Boieldieu). See Calife de Bagdad, Le.

Calisto, La. Opera in 2 acts by Cavalli to lib. by G. Faustini, prod. Venice 1651, and revived at Glyndebourne 1970 in a realization by Raymond Leppard.

Callas, (Cecilia Sophia Anna) Maria (Kalogeropoulos) (b Manhattan, NY, 1923; d Paris, 1977). Amer.-born sop. of Gr. parentage. Studied Athens Nat. Cons. from 1936 with Sp. coloratura sop. Elvira de Hidalgo. Début Athens 1940 in Suppé's Boccaccio, Leonore in Fidelio, and Tosca. It. début Verona, 1947, in La gioconda. Among her roles at this time were Isolde, Brünnhilde (Die Walküre), Kundry, and Turandot. Potentialities recognized by cond. Tullio Serafin when, in 1948, she was singing Brünnhilde in Venice. Prima donna engaged as Elvira for next opera, Bellini's I puritani, fell ill and Serafin suggested Callas as substitute. Her singing of a bel canto role in the powerful, dramatic way the composer intended was a revelation. Not since Lilli Lehmann had a sop. encompassed Wagnerian roles and the coloratura repertory. With Serafin and de Sabata, Callas revived operas wholly or relatively neglected in It. for over a century, incl. Rossini's Armida and Il turco in Italia, Cherubini's Medea, Spontini's La vestale, Donizetti's Anna Bolena, and Bellini's Il pirata, thereby changing the face of the post-1945 opera repertory. First sang at La Scala, Milan, April 1950. From then until 1958 reigned supreme there, earning title La divina in her vivid portrayals of Norma, Violetta, and Tosca, working with de Sabata, Giulini, Bernstein, and Karajan as cond., and the producers Visconti and Zeffirelli. Voice not beautiful but musicianship was impeccable, insight remarkable, and acting ability exceptional, so that she presented her roles as organic wholes. Her Norma, Tosca, and Violetta were unforgettable examples of dramatic opera singing-acting, linking her in this branch of her art to the legendary names of Malibran and Schröder-Devrient. Sang at CG 1952-3 (Norma), 1957-9, and 1964. Amer. début at Chicago, 1954, and at NY Met. 1956 (Norma). Private life was lived in the glare of publicity inseparable from such a magnetic personality. Retired from stage 1965 (last perf. was as Tosca at CG 5 July 1965) but continued to record and gave some concerts in 1973 and 1974. Also worked as producer and teacher.

Caller Herrin'. Poem by Lady Nairne (1766--1845) written c.1821 to fit tune of a hpd. piece comp. c.1798 by Nathaniel Gow in which he incorporated Edinburgh fishwives' traditional cry with bells of St Andrew's Church.

Calligrammes. Song-cycle by Poulenc to 7 poems by Guillaume Apollinaire, comp. 1948. Titles are: L'Espionne, Mutation, Vers le Sud, Il pleut, La Gâce exilée, Aussi bien que les cigales, Voyage.

Calliope. Amer. term for steamblown mechanical organ.

Calmato, Calmando (It.). Calmed; calming.

Calm Sea and Prosperous Voyage (Meeresstille und glückliche Fahrt). Poems by Goethe set by several composers incl. (1) Beethoven, Op. 112, for SATB and orch., comp. 1815, pubd. 1823. (2) Song by Reichardt (1752--1814). (3) Song (Meeresstille section only) by Schubert (D216), comp. 1815. (4) Concert-ov. by Mendelssohn, Op. 27, 1832, f.p. 1836. Theme from this is quoted by Elgar in 13th (Romanza) of his Enigma Variations.

Calore (It.). Heat. Passion. So the adjective caloroso.

Calvé, Emma (orig. Rosa Calvet) (b Decazeville, 1858; d Millau, 1942). Fr. operatic sop. particularly noted for perf. as Carmen. Studied in Paris. Début Brussels 1881, Milan 1887, CG 1892 after further study with Mathilde Marchesi. NY Met. 1893, where first sang Carmen. Created roles of Anita in Massenet's La Navarraise and Suzel in Mascagni's L'amico Fritz. Retired 1910.

Calvocoressi, MichelDimitri (b Marseilles, 1877; d London, 1944). Fr.-born mus. critic of Gr. parentage. Career in Paris as mus. critic, author, and lecturer on mus.; settled in London.

Early student of Russ. mus. and assoc. with Diaghilev opera enterprise; wrote books on Mussorgsky, Schumann, Glinka, Liszt, and other mus. subjects; provided many trans. of Russ. libs., contributed in various languages to mus. journals.

Calypso, W. Indian folk dance, but better known in its sung form. Began among slaves on plantations. Forbidden to talk, they chanted news and opinions to a tom-tom rhythm, using a patois. Today, especially in Trinidad, is used as a way of commenting on politics, scandal, and sport. Among best-known examples are the cricket calypsos, such as 'Cricket, lovely cricket', with its references to the bowling of Ramadhin and Valentine in the Test matches of 1950 when, at Lord's, W. Indies beat England for the first (but not the last!) time in England.

Calzabigi, Raniero de (b Leghorn, 1714; d Naples, 1795). It. writer of libs. for Gluck's Orfeo, Alceste, and Paride ed Elena. Pubd. ed. of Metastasio's works. Ran lottery in Paris in partnership with Casanova.

Camargo. See Ballet.

Cambert, Robert (b Paris, c.1628; d London, 1677). Fr. harpsichordist and organist; colleague in Paris of the Abbé Pierre Perrin who in 1669 obtained monopoly for perf. of opera in Fr. language, Cambert's Pomone (1671) being earliest Fr. opera. On Lully taking over the monopoly in 1672, Cambert went to Eng. where he founded a Royal Academy of Music, which soon failed. Only fragments of his compositions remain.

Cambini, Giovanni (Gioacchino) (b Leghorn, 1746; d Bicêtre, nr. Paris, 1825). It. composer, violinist, and violist, associated with Paris Concert Spirituel. Comp. syms., over 140 qts., concs., operas, and shorter pieces.

Cambio, Perissone (fl. 16th cent.). Fr. composer who lived in Venice, where he was a singer at St Mark's. Works incl. mass, madrigals, and canzonas.

Cambridge University. Eng. univ. which has conferred mus. degrees (Bachelor of Music, Doctor of Music) since 1463. Formal examinations were instituted by Sterndale Bennett, 1857. The Professors of Mus. have been---1684 Nicolas Staggs; 1705 Thos. Tudway; 1730 Maurice Greene; 1755 John Randall; 1799 Charles Hague; 1821 J. Clarke-Whitfield; 1836 Thomas A. Walmisley; 1856 W. Sterndale Bennett; 1875 G. A. Macfarren; 1887 C. V. Stanford; 1924 Charles Wood; 1926 E. J. Dent; 1946 Patrick Hadley; 1962 Thurston Dart; 1965 Robin Orr; 1976 Alexander Goehr.

Camden, Archie (Archibald Lewis) (b Newark, Notts., 1888; d Wheathampstead, Herts., 1979). Eng. bassoonist. Trained RMCM. Member Hallé Orch. 1906--33 (prin. bn. from 1914), BBC S.O. 1933--45, RPO 1946--7. Soloist and recitalist. Prof. of bn. RMCM 1914--33. Cond. London Stock Exchange Orch. O.B.E. 1969.

Camden Festival. Annual festival founded in 1954 as the St Pancras Festival. Special feature is production of operas outside standard repertory, e.g. Brit. stage premières of Haydn's Orfeo ed Euridice (1955) and Il Mondo della Luna (1960), Verdi's Un giorno di regno (1961), Donizetti's Maria Stuarda and Verdi's Il corsaro (1966), Massenet's Sappho (1967), Rimsky-Korsakov's Mozart and Salieri (1968), Storace's Gli equivoci (1974), Meyerbeer's L'Etoile du Nord and Donizetti's Torquato Tasso (1975), Delius's Fennimore and Gerda (1979) and Margot-la-Rouge (1984), Cavalli's Eritrea, Pacini's Maria Tudor (1983), Lecocq's Dr Miracle (1984), and Vivaldi's Juditha triumphans (1984). Concert perfs. were given of Strauss's Feuersnot (1978), Walton's Troilus and Cressida (1982), J. C. Bach's Adriano in Siria (1982), Shostakovich's Lady Macbeth of Mtsensk (1984).

Camera (It.). Chamber---as opposed to hall, opera-house, etc. (For Cantata da camera, see Cantata; for Concerto da camera, see Concerto; for Sonata da camera, see Sonata.) Musica di camera (It.). Chamber mus.

Camerata (It.). Society. Group of poets and musicians who met in houses of Florentine aristocrats Bardi and Corsi from about 1580 and from whose discussions opera was developed. Among them were composers Galilei, Peri, Caccini, and Cavalieri. Bardi wrote lib. for Peri and Caccini. The group evolved the monodic stile rappresentativo of which the first example (now lost) was Peri's dramma per musica, Dafne. Various modern chamber-mus. organizations use word Camerata in their title.

Cameron, Basil (b Reading, 1884; d Leominster, 1975). Eng. cond. Studied Berlin Hochschule für Musik 1902--6. At early stage of his career called himself Basil Hindenburg because cons. with Eng. names then received few engagements. Cond. Torquay Municipal Orch. 1913--14, Hastings 1923--30, Harrogate 1924--30, San Francisco S.O. 1930--2, Seattle 1932--8. Ass. cond. Henry Wood Promenade Concerts from 1940. C.B.E. 1957.

Cameron, Douglas (b Dundee, 1902; d London, 1974). Scot. cellist. Studied RAM. Member, Blech String Qt. Played in several leading Brit. orchs., being prin. cellist of Beecham's RPO. Prin. cellist BBC S.O. O.B.E. 1974.

Cameron, John (Ewen) (b Coolamon, N.S.W., 1920). Australian bar. Studied Sydney Cons. Settled in Brit. 1949. Opera at CG (début 1949 as Germont père in La traviata), Glyndebourne, and many concert appearances.

Camidge. Eng. family of organists spanning nearly 200 years. John (b York, 1735; d York, 1803), organist, York Minster 1756--99 and composer for hpd. His son Matthew (b York, 1758; d York, 1844), organist, York Minster 1799--1842, composer of org. mus. His son John (b York, 1790; d York, 1859), organist, York Minster 1842--8. His son Thomas Simpson (b York, 1828; d York, 1912), organist, York Minster 1848--59. His son John (b York, 1853; d York, 1939), organist, Beverley Minster 1875--1933.

Camilleri, Charles (Mario) (b Hamrun, Malta, 1931). Maltese composer and cond. Studied Malta and Toronto Univ. Cond. Canadian Broadcasting Corporation 1960--5. Comp. incl. 1-act opera Melita (1968), Maltese Dances for orch., Maqam, pf. and orch., Zeitgeist, orch., ob. concertante, accordion conc., pf. trio, vc. sonata, and Missa Mundi for organ.

Cammarano, Salvatore (b Naples, 1801; d Naples, 1852). It. poet, dramatist, and librettist. Had plays staged when he was 18. Wrote first lib. in 1834 (for Vignozzi). In 1835 first collab. with Donizetti. Among the many libs. he wrote for him were those of Lucia di Lammermoor and Belisario. In 1841 wrote Alzira for Verdi, following it with La battaglia di Legnano, Luisa Miller, and most of Il Trovatore (he died before completing the last). Also wrote libs. for Pacini and Mercadante.

Campana; Campane (It.). Bell; bells, e.g. those used in the orch.

Campana sommersa, La (The Submerged Bell). Opera in 4 acts by Respighi to lib. by Guastalla based on play by G. Hauptmann. Prod. Hamburg 1927, NY Met. 1928.

Campanella (It.). Little bell. (The plural, campanelle, is sometimes used for Glockenspiel.)

Campanella, La. Transcr. for pf. by Liszt of the Rondo alla campanella (Ronde à la clochette; Bell rondo) from Paganini's Vn. Conc. in B minor. Liszt first used theme in Grand Fantaisie sur La Clochette (La campanella) of 1831--2, rev. in Six grandes études d'après les caprices de Paganini (1838, rev. 1851).

Campanello di Notte, Il (The Night Bell). Opera in 1 act by Donizetti (sometimes also known as Il campanello dello Speziale) to text by composer. Prod. Naples 1836, London 1837.

Campanetta (It.). Glockenspiel.

Campbells are Coming, The. This popular Scot. tune first appeared in print in 1745, at which time it was used as a country dance under the title Hob and Nob, but about the same period also found with its present title. Many contradictory statements about its origin.

Campenhout, Fran;Alcois van (b Brussels, 1779; d Brussels, 1848). Belg. ten., violinist, and composer. Comp. operas, ballets, and church mus., but remembered chiefly as composer of Belg. nat. anthem, La Braban; Alconne.

Campiello, Il (The Square). Opera in 3 acts by Wolf-Ferrari to lib. by Ghisalberti based on Goldoni's comedy. Prod. Milan 1936.

Campion (Campion), Thomas (b Witham, Essex, 1567; d Witham, 1620). Eng. composer, lawyer, and physician. Pubd. first Book of Ayres, with a group by Rosseter, 1601, following it with 4 more (1610--12) in which he wrote both mus. and words, with lute acc. Wrote several masques for perf. at court, critique of Eng. poetry, and treatise on counterpoint (1613)---a prototype 'Elizabethan man', proficient in all the arts.

Campoli, Alfredo (b Rome, 1906). It.-born violinist. Studied with father. Settled in Eng. as a child. London début at age 11. Made reputation in light mus., running his own orch., but after 1945 devoted himself to the conc. repertory, notably in Elgar and Bliss. Amer. début 1953 (NY).

Campra, André (b Aix-en-Provence, 1660; d Versailles, 1744). Fr. composer. Dir. of mus. at several caths., incl. Notre Dame de Paris 1694--1700. First stage work was opéra-ballet L'Europe galante (Paris 1697). Created the form opéra-ballet. Comp. many more operas and opéra-ballets, incl. Tancrède (1702) and Idomenée (1712). Also wrote much church mus. incl. Requiem (c.1722).

Canale. Another name for psaltery.

Canaries (or Canarie, or Canary). Old dance in rhythm something like gigue but with all its phrases beginning on first beat of the measure with a note a beat and a half long. So called in 17th cent. because it imitated Canary Is. rituals.

Can-Can (or Chahut). Boisterous (and supposedly indecorous) Parisian dance of quadrille pattern. Best-known example is Offenbach's from Orpheus in the Underworld.

Canción (Sp.). Song. There are diminutives---Cancioncica, Cancioncilla, Cancioncita. The Canción danza is a Sp. dance-song.

Cancrizans. See Canon.

Candide. Comic operetta by Leonard Bernstein, to lib. by Lillian Hellman adapted from Voltaire. Prod. Boston, Oct. 1956.

Caniglia,Maria (b Naples, 1906; d Rome, 1979). It. sop. Début Turin 1930; Milan 1930--42; at CG 1937, 1939, and 1950; NY Met. 1938--9. A famous Tosca.

Canino, Bruno (b Naples, 1935). It. pianist and composer. Studied at Milan Cons. Won prizes at int. pf. comps. at Bolzano and Darmstadt. Specialist in contemp. mus., notably works by Donatoni and Bussotti. Often accompanied Cathy Berberian. Member of Trio di Milano. Prof. of mus., Milan Cons. from 1961. Works incl. chamber concs. and str. qts.

Cannabich, Johann Christian (b Mannheim, 1731; d Frankfurt, 1798). Ger. violinist, composer, and cond. Trained under Stamitz. In 1759 became leader of Mannheim orch., becoming dir. 1775. Dir., court mus. at Munich, 1778. Mozart praised his conducting. Wrote operas, ballets, syms., sinfonie concertanti, and chamber mus. His son Karl (b Mannheim, 1771; d Munich, 1806) succeeded him as dir. of Munich orch. 1800.

Cannon, (Jack) Philip (b Paris, 1929). Eng. composer and cond. Studied Dartington Hall with Imogen Holst and RCM with Vaughan Williams and Gordon Jacob. Lecturer, Sydney Univ. 1957--9; prof. of comp. RCM from 1960. Works incl. operas Morvoren (Cornish for 'mermaid'), Dr Jekyll and Mr Hyde, and The Man from Venus; pf. concerto; str. qt. (1964); Sym. (Oraison funèbre de l'âme humaine); The Temple (1974), unacc. ch.; pf. trio (Lacrimae mundi); Son of Man, 'European choral symphony' in Lat., Eng., Fr., and Ger. for ten., bar., ch., and orch.; Son of God, unacc. ch.; Son of Science, cantata; Spring, symphonic study; 5 Chansons de Femme, sop. and harp; Fleeting Fancies, unacc. ch.; 3 Rivers, ten. and pf.; Carillon for organ; cl. quintet; Te Deum, ch. and organ (1975); Lord of Light, oratorio, soloists, ch., semi-ch., organ, orch. (1980).

Canntaireachd. Curious Scot. Highland bagpipe notation, in which syllables stand for recognized groups of notes.

Canon. (1) Strictest form of contrapuntal imitation. The word means 'rule' and, musically, it is applied to counterpoint in which one melodic strand gives the rule to another, or to all the others, which must, at an interval of time, imitate it, note for note. Simple forms of choral canon are the Catch and the Round. There are varieties of canon, as follows: [el4]^Canon at the Octave in which the vv. (human or instr.) are at that pitch-interval from one another. Canon at the Fifth, or at any other interval, is similarly explained. A Canon for 2 vv. is called a Canon 2 in 1 (and similarly with Canon 3 in 1, etc.). A Canon 4 in 2 is a double canon, i.e. one in which 2 vv. are carrying on 1 canon whilst 2 others are engaged on another. Canon by Augmentation has the imitating vv. in longer notes than the one that they are imitating. Canon by Diminution is the reverse. Canon Cancrizans is a type in which the imitating v. gives out the melody backwards ('Cancrizans' from Lat. Cancer = crab; but crabs move sideways). Other names for it are Canon per recte et retro (or Rectus et Inversus) and Retrograde Canon. ^A Perpetual Canon or Infinite Canon is a Canon so arranged that each v., having arrived at the end, can begin again, and so indefinitely as in Three blind mice. The converse is Finite Canon. Strict Canon in which the intervals of the imitating v. are exactly the same as those of the v. imitated (i.e. as regards their quality of major, minor, etc.). In Free Canon the intervals remain the same numerically, but not necessarily as to quality (e.g. a major 3rd may become a minor 3rd). That v. in a canon which first enters with the melody to be imitated is called Dux (leader) or Antecedent, and any imitating v. is called Comes (companion) or Consequent. In Canon by Inversion, (also styled al rovescio), an upward interval in the Dux becomes a downward one in the Comes, and vice versa. Canon per Arsin et Thesin has the same meaning, but also another one, i.e. Canon in which notes that fall on strong beats in the Dux fall on weak beats in the Comes, and vice versa. ^Choral Canon in which there are non-canonic instrumental parts is Accompanied Canon. ^Passages of canonic writing often occur in comps. that, as wholes, are not canon. In addition to actual canonic comp. there exists a great deal of comp. with a similar effect but which is too free to come under that designation, being mere Canonic Imitation. (2) Name for psaltery (or canale).

Cantabile (It.). Singable, singly, i.e. with the melody smoothly perf. and well brought out. Critics frequently write of a performer's cantabile style, meaning a lyrical 'singing' style. (For Aria Cantabile see Aria.) Cantando (It.), singing.

Cantata (It.). Sung. Term with different meanings according to period: (1) In early 17th cent., often a dramatic madrigal sung by one v., with lute acc. or basso continuo. The form became very popular in It. later in 17th cent., being perf. by several vv., some cantatas being comp. of recit., others of a succession of arias. The cantata da camera was secular, the cantata da chiesa (developed by Carissimi) sacred. A prolific exponent of the cantata was A. Scarlatti, who wrote 600 for solo v. and continuo, 60 for v. and instrs., and several chamber cantatas for 2 vv. (2) During 18th cent., became more theatrical, comprising a ritornello, aria on two contrasted themes, and concluding ritornello, and acc. by str. In Ger. the form was found mainly in the church, written for soloist(s), ch., organ, and orch. on biblical text. Telemann, Schütz, and Handel wrote in this style but were overshadowed by Bach who wrote nearly 300 church cantatas as well as secular cantatas which resemble a short opera (Coffee Cantata and Peasant Cantata). (3) From Bach's model there developed the cantata of the 19th cent. which was usually on a sacred subject and was, in effect, a short oratorio. Secular cantatas on an elaborate scale are Elgar's King Olaf and Caractacus. In the 20th cent. the term has acquired a much looser meaning. Walton's Belshazzar's Feast and Vaughan Williams's Sancta Civitas are described by their composers as oratorios, but could equally well be classified as cantatas. Britten's Cantata academica is for soloists, ch., and orch., while Stravinsky's Cantata is for 2 soloists, women's ch., and 6 instr.

Cantata. Setting by Stravinsky for sop., ten., female ch., 2 fl., 2 ob., cor anglais, and vc. of anon. 15th- and 16th-cent. Eng. poems (incl. 'Lyke Wake Dirge' and 'Westron Wind'). Comp. 1951--2. F.p. Los Angeles 1952; London 1953.

Cantata Academica (Carmen Basiliense). Choral work, Op. 62, by Britten, comp. 1959 for 500th anniv. of Basle Univ. For SATB soloists, ch., and orch. F.p. Basle 1960. Lat. text, compiled from Univ. Charter and orations in praise of Basle, by Bernhard Wyss.

Cantata Profana (A Kilenc csodaszarvas; The 9 Enchanted Stags). Work by Bartók for double ch., ten. and bar. soloists, and orch., comp. 1930 and f.p. London (BBC broadcast) 25 May 1934.

Cantatrice (It.). Female singer.

Cante flamenco. Type of melody popular in Andalusia and used in both song and dance. A branch of Cante hondo. The significance of the word Flamenco (Flemish) is much disputed. See also Flamenco.

Cante hondo or Cante jondo (Sp.). Deep song. Traditional Andalusian song, with a good deal of repetition of the note, much melodic decoration, and the use of some intervals that do not occur in the accepted European scales. The Phrygian cadence is much used and the acc. is usually by guitar, played by another performer.

Cantelli, Guido (b Novara, 1920; d Orly, Paris, 1956). It. cond. Studied Milan Cons. Début Novara (Teatro Coccia) 1943. Guest cond. La Scala, Milan, after 1945. Invited by Toscanini to guest-cond. NBC Orch., NY, 1949. Edinburgh Fest. 1950. Appointed mus. dir. of La Scala, Milan, a few days before death in air crash.

Canteloube de Malaret, Marie-Joseph (b Annonay, 1879; d Paris, 1957). Fr. composer. Pupil of Schola Cantorum of d'Indy, whose biography he wrote (1949). Wrote 2 operas but best known as collector of Fr. folk-songs, hence the Chants d'Auvergne, 9 songs for v. and pf. or orch. taken from the 4 vols. he pubd., 1923--30.

Canterbury Degrees. See Archbishop's Degrees.

Canterbury Pilgrims, The. (1) Opera in 3 acts by Stanford to lib. by G. A. A'Beckett based on Chaucer's poem. Prod. London 1884. (2) Opera in 4 acts by de Koven to lib. by MacKaye after Chaucer. Prod. NY Met. 1917. (3) Cantata by George Dyson based on Chaucer (modernized text) f.p. Winchester 1931 (ov. At the Tabard Inn 1946).

Canti carnascialeschi (It.). Carnival Songs (singular is canto carnascialesco). Processional madrigals of an early simple variety, with several stanzas to the same mus., something like the Eng. Ayre but with the tune in thethen. Part of social life of Florence in the 15th and 16th cents.

Canticle. (1) A Bible hymn (other than a psalm) as used in the liturgy of a Christian church. In the R.C. Church the Canticles drawn from the New Testament are called the Evangelical Canticles or Major Canticles, in distinction from those drawn from the Old Testament, which are called the Minor Canticles. ^(2) Concert work with (usually but not exclusively) religious text, particularly favoured by Britten (see below).

Canticles. Name given by Britten to 5 of his comps. I (1947) Op. 40, is a setting of a poem by Francis Quarles (My beloved is mine) and is sub-titled 'In Memory of Dick Sheppard' (a former vicar of St Martin-in-the Fields, London); II (1952) Abraham and Isaac, Op. 51, on a text from a Chester miracle play, for cont., ten., and pf.; III (1954) Still Falls the Rain, Op. 55, for ten., hn., and pf., poem by Edith Sitwell; IV (1971) Journey of the Magi, Op. 86, for counteren., ten., bar., and pf., poem by T. S. Eliot; V (1974) The Death of St Narcissus, Op. 89, for ten. and harp, poem by Eliot.

Canticum Sacrum (ad honorem Sancti Marci nominis) (Sacred song (to the honour of the name of St Mark)). Comp. by Stravinsky in 5 movements, with introductory ded., for ten., bar., ch., and orch. Comp. 1955. F.p. Venice (St Mark's) 1956.

Canti di Prigionia (Songs of Imprisonment). Work by Dallapiccola, comp. 1938--41 as a protest against Mussolini's adoption of Hitler's racial policies (Dallapiccola's wife was Jewish), for ch., 2 pf., 2 harps, and perc. 3 movements are: 1, Preghiera di Maria Stuarda, 2, Invocazione di Boezio, 3, Congedo di Girolamo Savonarola.

Cantiga. Sp. or Port. folk-song; also type of medieval religious song, of which most celebrated examples are probably contained in the 420 Cantigas de Santa Maria (Songs of the Virgin Mary), compiled 1250--80 by Alfonso the Wise, King of Sp.

Cantilena (It.; Fr. cantilène). Cradle song. (1) Smooth, melodious (and not rapid) vocalwriting (used operatically esp. in relation to R. Strauss) or perf. (2, now obsolete). Short song. (3) In choral mus., the part carrying the main tune. (4) Type of solfeggio in which all the notes of the scale appeared.

Cantillation. Chanting in free rhythm, in plainsong style. The term is most used in connexion with Jewish liturgical mus.

Cantiones sacrae (Sacred Songs). Term used by many composers, incl. (1) Motets by William Byrd. Book I (1589) contains 29 for 5 vv., Book II (1591) 20 for 5 vv. and 12 for 6 vv. In 1575 Byrd and Tallis jointly pubd. vol. of Cantiones sacrae of which 17 were by Byrd. (2) Comp. by John Gardner for sop., ch., and orch., to biblical text, f.p. Hereford 1952.

Canto (It.). Song, melody. So Col Canto, With the song, i.e. the accompanist to take his time throughout from the performer of the melody. Also marcato il canto, bring out the tune.

Canto fermo (It.). See Cantus firmus.

Cantor. (1) The precentor or dir. of the mus. in a Ger. Protestant church (as J. S. Bach was at Thomaskirche, Leipzig). (2) The leading singer in a synagogue.

Cantoris (Lat.). Of the singer, i.e. precentor. That side of the choir of a cath., etc., on which the precentor sits but now normally the north side. Opposite of decani.

Cantrell, Derrick (Edward) (b Sheffield, 1926). Eng. organist. Studied Oxford Univ. Master of Mus., Chelmsford Cath. 1953--62; organist, Manchester Cath. 1962--77. Prof. of org. RCM and RNCM from 1963.

Cantus (Lat.). Song. In the 16th and 17th cents. applied to the uppermost v. in choral mus.

Cantus choralis. See Chorale. For Cantus figuratus, Cantus mensuratus, and Cantus planus, see Plainsong.

Cantus firmus (Lat.). Fixed song. A melody, usually taken from plainsong, used by composers in 14th--17th cents. as the basis of a polyphonic comp. and against which other tunes are set in counterpoint. Also, in 16th cent., the upper v.-line of a choir. Sometimes referred to as canto fermo. See Conductus.

Canyons aux Étoiles, Des (From Canyonsto the Stars). Work by Messiaen for pf., hn., and orch., comp 1970--4, f.p. NY, 1974.

Canzona, canzone (It., plural canzoni). (1) Type of troubadour song in the characteristic form AAB (also known as canzo or canso (Proven; Alcal)). (2) Designation for several types of 16th-cent. It. secular vocal mus., some similar to the madrigal, others to the popular villanella. ^ (3) In 18th- and 19th-cent. mus., a song or instr. piece of lyrical character, e.g. Voi che sapete from Mozart's Le nozze di Figaro. ^ (4) 16th- and 17th-cent. instr. comp. which developed from lute and kbd. arrs. of Fr.-Flemish chansons of Janequin, Sermisy, Josquin Després, etc. It. composers wrote orig. comps. on these models either for organ (canzona d'organo), or for instr. ens. (canzona da sonar), which led in turn to the 17th-cent. sonata and kbd. fugue. Notable composers of the kbd. canzona, which throughout its development retained characteristic sectional form and quasi-fugal use of imitation, incl. G. Cavazzoni, A. Gabrieli, C. Merulo, Frescobaldi, Froberger, and J. S. Bach; while sectional variety and contrast of the ens. canzona exploited by G. Gabrieli and Frescobaldi.

Canzonet, canzonetta. Diminutive of Canzona. In late 16th and 17th cents., a short, polyphonic, dance-like vocal piece, unacc. or (later) with instr. acc.; later applied to a light, flowing kind of simple solo song. Tchaikovsky called the slow movt. of his vn. conc. a canzonetta.

Caoine. Irish funeral song, acc. by wailing (Eng. spelling is 'Keen').

Cape, Safford (b Denver, Col., 1906; d Brussels, 1973). Amer. cond., specialist in medieval mus. Settled in Brussels 1925. Founded Pro Musica Antiqua for perf. of early mus., 1933. Also comp. chamber mus.

Capell, Richard (b Northampton, 1885; d London, 1954). Eng. critic and author. Studied Lille Cons. Mus. critic of London Daily Mail (1911--31) and of Daily Telegraph (1931--54). Owner and ed. of quarterly Music and Letters from 1936. Wrote Schubert's Songs (1928) and trans. lib. of R. Strauss's Friedenstag (Day of Peace) 1938. Served 1914--18 war and as war correspondent 1939--45 war, writing Simiomata (Jottings) about Greece 1944--5. O.B.E. 1946.

Capella. See Cappella.

Capelle (Fr.). Same as Ger. Kapelle.

Capellmeister. See Kapellmeister.

Capet, Lucien (b Paris, 1873; d Paris, 1928). Fr. violinist, composer, and teacher at Paris Cons. Wrote str. qts. and vn. sonata but memorable chiefly as founder and leader of the Capet Qt. which existed, with varying membership, from 1893 until Capet's death, apart from an interlude 1899--1903 and again 1914--18.

Capilupi, Geminiano (b Modena, 1573; d Modena, 1616). It. composer, pupil of Vecchi whom he succeeded as choirmaster, Modena Cath., 1604. Wrote madrigals, motets, etc.

Capitán, El. March by Sousa, also an operetta by him to lib. by C. Klein with lyrics by T. Frost. Prod. Boston and NY 1896, London 1899.

Caplat, Moran (b Herne Bay, 1916). Eng. administrator and actor. Joined staff at Glyndebourne 1945 becoming gen. admin. 1949--81. C.B.E. 1968.

Caplet, André (b Le Havre, 1878; d Paris, 1925). Fr. cond. and composer. Studied Paris Cons. (Prix de Rome 1901). Cond. Boston, Mass., Opera Co. 1910--14; CG 1912. Friend of Debussy whose Children's Corner and Pagodes he orch. and whose Le Martyre de Saint-Sébastien he cond. at its f.p. 1911. Comp. orch. works, chamber mus., choral works, and songs.

Capo, Capotasto, capo d'astro, capodastro (It.); Capodastère (Fr.), Kapotaster (Ger.). Head of the touch, i.e. the 'nut', orraised portion of the top of the fingerboard of a str. instr., which 'touches' the str. and defines their length at that end. Another name is Barre (Fr.). A movable capotasto has sometimes been used (esp. in guitar playing) which can be placed at any point on the str. (in vc. playing the thumb acts as such and in the 18th cent. was sometimes so called). In USA the name capotasto is reserved for this type.

Cappella. (It.). Chapel. A cappella or alla cappella (applied to choral mus.) meaning in church style, i.e. unaccompanied (like 16th-cent. and other church mus.). A rarer sense of these expressions makes them synonymous with alla breve.

Cappuccilli, Piero (b Trieste, 1929). It. baritone. Studied in Trieste. Official début Teatro Nuovo, Milan, 1957 in Pagliacci (Tonio). Scala début 1964, CG 1967 (La Traviata), Chicago 1969. One of outstanding Verdi bar. of his generation.

Capriccio (It.); caprice (Eng. and Fr.). (1) Term applied to some 16th-cent. It. madrigals and, later, to a kind of free fugue for kbd. instr., and later to any light quick comp. (2) In early 18th cent. sometimes used for 'Cadenza'. ^ (3) A capriccio means According to the fancy (caprice) of the performer, hence a comp. which has unexpected and orig. effects. Stravinsky and Janáček both wrote works for pf. and orch. which they called Capriccio, Janáček's being for left hand only and wind ens. (comp. for the Cz. pianist Otakar Hollmann). 2nd movement of Haydn's Sym. No. 86 (Hob.I:86) is called Capriccio, unusual in a sym.

Capriccio. R. Strauss's last opera, comp. 1940--1, styled a 'conversation piece', written in 1 act but usually perf. in 2-act Munich version. Lib. by Clemens Krauss, incorporating elements by Hans Swarowsky, Josef Gregor, S. Zweig, and Hofmannsthal, and loosely based on Casti's comedy Prima la musica, poi le parole (1786). Prod. Munich 1942, London CG 1953, NY 1954. F.p. of version in Eng. trans., Glyndebourne Touring Co. 1976.

Capriccio Burlesco. Orch. work by Walton, commissioned for 125th anniv. of NY P.O. and f.p. by that orch., cond. Kostelanetz, 1968. London 1969.

Capriccio espagnol. See Spanish Caprice.

Capriccio italien. See Italian Caprice.

Capriccioso (It.), capricieux (Fr.). Capricious, hence in a lively, informal, whimsical style. So the adverb capricciosamente. La Capricieuse is by Elgar (Op. 17) for vn. and pf., comp. 1891.

Caprice. See Capriccio.

Caprioli (or Caproli), Carlo (b Rome, c.1615; d Rome, c.1692). It. composer, thought to be one of the originators of the cantata. Comp. operas, oratorio, and songs.

Capriol Suite. Suite for str. orch. by Peter Warlock, comp. 1926, later arr. for full orch. Its 6 movements are based on old Fr. dances from Arbeau's Orchésographie (1589), 'Capriol' being a character in the book.

Capuana, Franco (b Fano, 1894; d Naples, 1969). It. cond. Début Brescia 1919. Cond. San Carlo, Naples, 1930--7, Scala, Milan, 1937--40, 1946--52 (mus. dir. from 1949). First to cond. opera at CG after World War II (La traviata, 5 Sept. 1946). Specialist in Wagner and Strauss. Cond. first It. perf. of Janáček's Jenůfa, Venice 1941.

Capuletie i Montecchi, I (The Capulets and the Montagues). Opera in 4 parts by Bellini to lib. by Romani freely adapted from the It. sources of Shakespeare's Romeo and Juliet. Prod. Venice 1830, London 1833, New Orleans 1847.

Capuzzi, Giuseppe Antonio (b Brescia, 1755; d Bergamo, 1818). It. violinist and composer, pupil of Tartini. Visited London 1796. Comp. operas, chamber mus., cantatas, and orch. works, incl. conc. for db. and conc. for violone.

Cara, Marchetto (b Verona, late 15th cent.; d Mantua, c.1527). It. composer of frottola and works for lute. Was in service of Gonzaga court from about 1490 until his death.

Carabella, Ezio (b Rome, 1891; d Rome, 1964). It. composer. Studied Milan and Rome. Comp. comic opera, operettas, sym., and other orch. works, and film mus.

Caractacus. Several composers have written mus. based on the Brit. King or chieftain who put up almost the last resistance to the Romans, but the best-known work is Elgar's dramatic cantata, Op. 35, for sop., ten., bar., and bass soloists, ch., and orch. to text by H.A. Acworth. F.p. Leeds 1898, London 1899.

Caradori-Allan, Maria (Caterina Rosalbina) (b Milan, 1800; d Surbiton, 1865). It.-born sop. who settled in Eng. Début London 1822 in Le Nozze di Figaro (Cherubino). Successful career in opera, but chief claims to fame are as sop. soloist in first London perf. Beethoven's 9th Sym. 1825, and in f.p. of Mendelssohn's Elijah, Birmingham 1846. She was duettist with Malibran at Manchester Fest. 1836 when the latter collapsed, dying 9 days later.

Carapetian, Armen (b Isphahan, Persia, of Armenian parents, 1908). Persian-Amer. musicologist. Educated Teheran, then Sorbonne and Harvard Univ. Also studied vn. under Capet and comp. under Malipiero. In 1944 founded Institute of Renaissance and Baroque Mus., Rome, superseded by the American Institute of Musicology of which he was dir. Ed works of Brumel.

Cardew, Cornelius (b Winchcombe, Glos., 1936; d London, 1981). Eng. composer and guitarist. Chorister, Canterbury Cath. 1943–50. Studied RAM 1953–7 as pupil of H. Ferguson. Studied elec. mus., Cologne 1957–8, becoming ass. to Stockhausen 1958–60. Also studied in Rome with Petrassi 1964–5. Prof. of comp. RAM, from 1967. His early pf. works are in the style of early Boulez and Stockhausen, but later comps. follow a Cage-like indeterminacy, e.g. Treatise (1963–7), a graphic score of nearly 200 pages containing no instructions to the performer. Formed Scratch Orch. 1969. Works incl. Str. Trio (1957); 2 Books of Study for Pianists (1958); Octet '61 (1961) for unspecified instr.; 3 Winter Potatoes (1965) for pf.; The Great Learning (parts 1–7, 1968–70) for various perf.; The East is Red, vn. and pf. (1972); Piano Album, pf. (1973); The Old and the New, sop., ch., and orch. (1973); Thälmann Variations, pf. (1974); Vietnam Sonata, pf. (1976).

Cardillac. Opera in 3 acts by Hindemith to lib. by Ferdinand Lion based on E.T.A. Hoffmann's Das Fräulein von Scuderi (1818). Prod. Dresden 1926. Concert perf. London 1936. Rev. version, also with new lib. by composer, Zürich 1952. F. London stage p. 1970 (SW), Santa Fe 1967. Cardillac is name of prin. character.

Cardoso, Fray Manuel (b Fronteira do Alemtejo, 1566; d Lisbon, 1650). Portuguese composer and organist. Wrote masses, motets, and other church mus. influenced by Palestrina.

Cardus, (Sir) (John Frederick) Neville (b Rusholme, Manchester, 1889; d London, 1975). Eng. critic and essayist, also writer on cricket. Chief mus. critic Manchester Guardian 1927–40, Sydney Morning Herald 1941–7, rejoined Guardian 1951 but wrote occasionally for other newspapers. Author of book on Mahler's first 5 syms., 2 vols. of autobiography, and several colls. of mus. and cricket essays. C.B.E. 1964, knighted 1967.

Carestini, Giovanni (b Filottrano, nr. Ancona, 1705; d Filottrano, c.1760). It. castrato (cont.) singer. After successes on continent 1721–33, went to London where Handel engaged him for opera prods. in 1734. Returned to Venice 1735 and was active for another 20 years.

Carewe, John (b Derby, 1933). Eng. cond. Studied GSM, then with W. Goehr, Deutsch, Boulez, and with Messiaen at Paris Cons. Founded New Mus. Ens. 1957. Staff, Morley Coll., 1958–66. Cond. BBC Welsh S.O. 1966–71. Mus. dir. Brighton Phil. Soc. from 1974.

Carey, (Francis) Clive (Savill) (b Sible Hedingham, Essex, 1883; d London, 1968). Eng. bar. Trained RCM (on staff 1946–53). Toured with English Singers, sang in opera at Old Vic from 1920, prof. of singing, Adelaide, 1924–8, Melbourne 1942–5, worked as producer at SW 1933, and comp. incidental mus. for plays. Active in Eng. folk-song movement. C.B.E. 1955.

Carey, Henry (b ?Yorkshire, c.1690; d Clerkenwell, 1743). Eng. composer, poet, and playwright. Wrote successful burlesques of It. opera and cantatas, and songs, incl. 'Sally in our alley' c.1715 (of which he also wrote the words).

Carezzando, carezzevole (It.). Caressing; caressingly.

Carillon. (1) See Bell. ^ (2) Org. stop; a Mixture of 3 ranks (12th, 17th, 22nd): chiefly in USA.

Carillon. Recitation with orch. by Elgar, Op. 75, to poem by Belg. writer E. Cammaerts, comp. Nov. 1914 as tribute to Belgium. Can be perf. without narrator.

Carissimi, Giacomo (b Marini, Rome, 1605; d Rome, 1674). It. composer, one of early masters of oratorio form. Choirmaster Assisi 1628–9, Collegio Germanico, 1629–74.

Oratorios incl. Lucifer, Job, Baltazar, Jephte (1650), Judicium Salomonis; motets, and recits. (e.g. Abraham and Isaac). Adapted Monteverdi's operatic innovations to sacred drama. His Missa 'L'Homme armé' was last of its kind. In 1656 was appointed choirmaster to Queen Christina of Sweden when she established her court in Rome.

Carl Rosa Opera Company, Royal. Eng. opera co. founded 1875 in Dublin and London by Ger. violinist Karl August Nicolaus Rose who settled in Eng. in 1866 and became known as Carl Rosa. Rosa died in 1889, when co. became touring organization and was accorded title 'Royal' by Queen Victoria in 1893. 1923--50 dir. H.B. Phillips. After various dissensions, Arts Council withdrew subsidy in 1958 and co. became defunct, and attempt to revive it failed in 1960. Policy was opera in English and co. provided invaluable training-ground for many singers. Gave f.p. in England of Massenet's Manon (1885), Puccini's La Bohème (1897), and Giordano's Andrea Chénier (1903).

Carlton, Nicholas (fl. early 16th cent.). Eng. composer. His 'Verse for 2 to play on 1 org.' (or virginals) is among earliest examples of 4-hand mus. for kbd. instr.

Carlton, Richard (b c.1558; d c.1638). Eng. composer of madrigals and contributor to The Triumphs of Oriana ('Calm was the Air', in 5 parts). Vicar of Norfolk churches.

Carmagnole, La. Originally name of short coat, worn in north It. district of Carmagnola, and imported into Fr. by workmen from that district. The insurgents of Marseilles in 1792 introduced it to Paris, where it became identified with the Revolution. A round dance of the time was given the name, and a song with the refrain, 'Dansons la Carmagnole, vive le son du canon', to a very catchy air, became identified with activities during Reign of Terror. Authorship of words and mus. unknown.

Carman's Whistle. Tune to be found, with variations by Byrd, in Fitzwilliam Virginal Book. It is that of a ballad pubd. 1592. A carman was a carter.

Carmelites, The (Poulenc). See Dialogues des Carmélites, Les.

Carmen (Lat.). (1) Tune, song, strain, poem. (2, in 14th- and 15th-cent. parlance; plural carmina.) V. part of a comp. (as distinguished from the instr. parts), or uppermost part of a choral comp.

Carmen. Opera (opéra-comique) in 4 acts by Bizet to libretto by Meilhac and Halévy after Mérimée nouvelle (1845). Comp. 1873--4. Sometimes perf. with orig. spoken dialogue replaced by recitatives composed by Ernest Guiraud. Prod. Paris 1875, Vienna (with Guiraud recit.) 1875, London and NY 1878. The famous Habañera may have been inspired (consciously or unconsciously) by a chanson havanaise by, or collected by, Sebastian Yradier, Sp. composer (1809--65).

Carmichael, Hoagy (Hoagland Howard) (b Bloomington, Ind., 1899; d Rancho Mirage, Calif., 1981). Amer. composer of songs and lyrics, pianist, film actor, and singer. Songs incl. Two Sleepy People, Stardust, Little Old Lady, Georgia on My Mind, Lazy Bones, Rockin' Chair, The Nearness of You, and I Get Along Without You Very Well.

Carmina Burana (cantiones profanae) (Songs of Beuren, profane songs). Scenic cantata by Carl Orff, with optional mimed action, in 25 movements for sop., ten., and bar. soloists, boys' choir, ch., and orch. (14 movements for ch.). Lat. text---student songs about wine, women, and love---based on poems in Lat., Old Ger. and Old Fr. from MS. dated 1280 found in Benedictine monastery of Beuren. First part of Orff's trilogy Trionfi. Prod. Frankfurt 1937, London 1960.

Carmirelli, Pina (b Varzi, It., 1914). It. violinist and teacher at Accademia di S. Cecilia, Rome. Concert career began 1937. Champion of mus. of Boccherini, founding Boccherini Quartet (1949) and Carmirelli Quartet (1954). Ed. of Boccherini's instr. works.

Carnaval (Carnival). Schumann's pf. comp. Op. 9, comp. 1834--5 and sub-titled Scènes mignonnes sur quatre notes (dainty scenes on 4 notes), the notes being A--S--C--H (ab--Eb--C--B). Asch was the home-town of a girl with whom he was in love and its 4 letters were the only 'musical' letters of his name. Each of the 21 pieces has a descriptive title, e.g. Papillons. Orch. version by Glazunov and others used for Fokine ballet (St Petersburg 1910).

Carnaval à Paris (Carnival in Paris). 'Episode for orchestra', Op. 9, by Svendsen, pubd. 1879.

Carnaval des animaux, Le (The Carnival of Animals). 'Grand zoological fantasy' by Saint-Saëns. Orig. chamber version for 2 pf., str. quintet, fl., cl., and xylophone, but also for 2 pf. and orch. Comp. 1886 but perf. forbidden in composer's lifetime. Pubd. 1922. 14 movements, of which No. 13 is the famous Le Cygne (The Swan).

Carnaval de Venise (Carnival in Venice). Paganini's Op. 10, comp. in or before 1829, was a set of variations for unacc. vn. on Le Carnaval de Venise, being the popular Venetian song 'O mamma mia'. Other composers, e.g. Benedict, have also used the theme. A. Thomas wrote an opera Le Carnaval de Venise, prod. 1857.

Carnaval Romain, Le ('The Roman Carnival'). 'Ouverture caractéristique' by Berlioz, comp. and f.p. 1844, derived from material in his opera Benviuto Cellini (1834--7).

Carnegie Hall. Largest concert-hall in NY, seating c.3,000, and, until 1962 when the Phil. (now Avery Fisher) Hall, Lincoln Center, opened, home of the city's prin. orch. concerts. Architect, W.|B. Tuthill. Opened May 1891, Tchaikovsky being among guest cond. Called 'Music Hall' until 1898, when renamed in honour of industrialist Andrew Carnegie (1835--1919), who had provided most of the money to build it.

Carner, Mosco (b Vienna, 1904). Austrian-born cond. and critic. Studied Vienna Univ. under Adler. Settled London 1933, working as cond. and as London correspondent for some continental papers. Has contrib. criticism to many Eng. newspapers and periodicals. Author of several books, notably Puccini (1958, 2nd edn. 1974) and Alban Berg (1975).

Carneval (Carnival). (1) Ger. title by which Dvořák's ov. Karneval is usually known. His Op. 92, comp. 1891, with Amid Nature and Othello it formed a cycle, Nature, Life and Love. F.p. in this form, Prague and NY 1892. Now usually played separately. Orig. title was Bohemian Carnival. (2) Ov., Op. 45, by Glazunov (1894).

Carol (Fr. Noel; Ger. Weihnachtslied). In medieval times a round dance with mus. acc., but soon developed into a song for 2 or 3 vv. usually (but not necessarily) to a text dealing with the birth of Christ. All Christian nations, Western and Eastern, have carols, some of them evidently of pagan origin but taken over and adapted in earlydays of Christianity. The nature of the carol varies: it may be dramatic, narrative, or lyrical. One of oldest printed Eng. Christmas carols is the Boar's Head Carol, sung as the traditional dish is carried in on Christmas Day at Queen's College, Oxford; it was printed in 1521. This is but one of a large group of carols assoc. with good cheer as an element in Christmas joy. With the growth of the Christmas season as a public holiday which became increasingly commercialized, the carol grew in popularity and, concomitantly, in vulgarity so that some 19th-cent. carols are of inferior standard, but the best of them have achieved a place alongside the folk-carols and 17th-cent. Ger. carols which were revived by the late 19th-cent. folk-song movement. A fine selection is sung annually in Eng. on Christmas Eve at King's College, Cambridge. Vaughan Williams wrote a Fantasia on Christmas Carols, Hely-Hutchinson A Carol Symphony, and Britten a Ceremony of Carols.

Caroso, Fabritio (b Sermoneta, c.1521--35; d after 1605). It. scholar and composer of lute mus. His book Il ballarino was pubd. Venice, 1581, being enlarged in 1600 as Nobiltà di dame. It is important source for 16th-cent. dance steps and mus.

Carpenter, John Alden (b Park Ridge, Ill., 1876; d Chicago, 1951). Amer. composer who, like Ives, combined mus. with successful business career. Studied pf. and, at Harvard, mus. theory. Made name with orch. suite Adventures in a Perambulator (Chicago 1915). Comp. 3 ballets, Birthday of the Infanta (Chicago 1919), Krazy-Kat, using jazz idioms (Chicago 1922), and Skyscrapers (NY 1926). Other works incl. 2 syms., tone-poem Sea Drift, vn. conc., str. qt., pf. quintet, and songs.

Carrée (Fr.). Square. Double whole-note or breve.

Carre;atno, (Maria) Teresa (b Caracas, 1853; d NY, 1917). Venezuelan pianist, taught by her father. Début NY at age 9. Studied with Gottschalk and Anton Rubinstein. Toured Europe 1865--75, when she became operatic sop. and, for a brief spell, cond. Returned topf. 1889, consolidating reputation as leading woman player of her day. Her 4 husbands incl. d'Albert.

Carreras, José (Maria) (b Barcelona, 1946). Sp. ten. Studied Barcelona. Début 1956 in Falla's Retablo de Maese Pedro. Prof. début Barcelona. London début 1971 (concert perf. Maria Stuarda), CG 1974. NY City Opera 1972, Met. 1974, Milan 1975.

Carrillo, Julián (b Ahualulco, Mexico, 1875; d San Angél, 1965). Mexican composer. Studied in Mexico 1885--90, and at Leipzig and Ghent (1899--1904) with Reinecke and Nikisch. In his teens showed exceptional interest in fractional divisions of the accepted intervals and coined term sonido 13 (13th sound) for the first 2-octave harmonic on the vn.'s 4thstr., this being for him the first pitch outside the traditional 12 semitones to the octave. Gave concerts to demonstrate potentialities of microtonal intervals and invented special instrs., incl. the octavina (8th-tones) and arpa citera (16th-tones). In 1926 his microtonal works were championed by Stokowski, who cond. the Sonata casi-fantasia (in 4ths, 8ths, and 16ths), and in the 1930s Stokowski and Carrillo toured Mexico with the Sonido 13 Orch. In 1947 built a pf. tuned in 3rds of a whole tone. Comps. divide into 3 periods: traditional tuning up to 1911, atonal from 1911 to 1922, and in Sonido 13 idiom thereafter. They incl. operas, syms., str. qts., vn. conc., and pf. mus. His Horizontes (1950) employs a small orch. tuned in 4th, 8ths, and 16ths, combined with conventionally tuned orch.

Carrodus, John(Tiplady) (b Keighley, 1836; d London, 1895). Eng. violinist, pupil of Molique. Leader of several London orchs. incl. CG, 1869--95. Comp. for vn. His 5 sons were musicians; at Hereford Fest. 1894 they and their father played in the orch.

Carroll, Ida (Gertrude) (b Manchester, 1905). Eng. mus. educationist and db. player. Secretary, Northern Sch. of Mus., Manchester, 1926, acting prin. 1956--8, prin. 1958--72, becoming dean of management RNCM. Retired 1976. Comp. pieces for db. O.B.E. 1964.

Carse, Adam (A. von Ahn Carse) (b Newcastle upon Tyne, 1878; d Great Missenden, 1958). Eng. composer and author. Studied RAM; mus. master Winchester College 1909--22, then prof. of harmony, RAM, 1922--40. Comp. orch. works, chamber mus., and educational mus., and author of valuable treatises on orchestration. Made collection of 350 old wind instruments, presented to Horniman Museum, London.

Carte, Richard D'Oyly. See D'Oyly Carte, Richard.

Carter, Elliott (Cook) (b NY, 1908). Amer. composer. Encouraged by Ives, who recommended him to Harvard where he studied with Piston and had lessons from Holst. From 1932 to 1935 studied in Paris with Boulanger. Has taught at various Amer. univs. His music is uncompromising and challenging, its harsh brilliance enhanced by compelling intellectual qualities. Early works were neo-classical in style but a new harmonic structure and treatment of rhythm became apparent in the Piano Sonata (1945--6). With the Cello Sonata (1948) he developed 'metric modulation' whereby a new tempo is established from development of a cross-rhythm within the old tempo. The listener has a clear impression of the simultaneous existence of 2 tempos. The 3 Str. Qts. have been described as the most significant comps. in the medium since Bartók. His writings on many subjects were collected into one vol. (NY 1977). Prin. works:

ballets: Pocahontas (1937--9); The Minotaur (1947).

orch: Prelude, Fanfare, and Polka (1938); Sym. No. 1 (1942, rev. 1954); Holiday Overture (1944, rev. 1961); Elegy, str. (1946); Variations (1955); Double Concerto, hpd., pf., 2 chamber orchs. (1961); pf. conc. (1964--5); Conc. for Orch. (1969); Symphony of 3 Orchestras (1976--7); Triple Duo, chamber ens. (1982--3).

voice [nm& [smens: Syringa, cantata for mez., bass, and 11 instrs. (1978); A Mirror on Which to Dwell, sop. and ens. (1975); In Sleep, In Thunder, ten. and ens. (1982).

chorus: To Music (1937); Heart Not So Heavy as Mine (1938); The Defence of Corinth (1942); The Harmony of Morning (1944); Musicians Wrestle Everywhere (1945); Emblems (1947).

chamber music: Canonic Suite, 4 sax. (1939, rev. for 4 cl. 1955--6); Pastorale, cor anglais, va., cl., pf. (1940); Elegy, va. or vc. and pf. (1943, rev. 1961; arr. str. qt. 1946, str. 1952); woodwind quintet (1948); vc. sonata (1948); 8 Études and a Fantasy, woodwind qt. (1949--50); Str. Qts., No. 1 (1951), No. 2 (1958--9), No. 3 (1971); 2 Pieces for 4 Kettledrums (1950, rev. 1966); Sonata, fl., ob., vc., hpd. (1952); Duo, vn. and pf. (1973--4); brass quintet (1974); Changes, guitar (1983).

piano: Sonata (1945--6); Night Fantasies (1980).

voice[nm & [smpiano: Voyage (1943); The Line Gang (1943).

Carulli, Ferdinando (b Naples, 1770; d Paris, 1841). It. guitarist and composer for his instr. of over 300 works, incl. concs., duos, etc. Wrote treatise on guitar playing.

Caruso, Enrico (b Naples, 1873; d Naples, 1921). It. ten., regarded as one of the greatest there has been. Studied with Vergine and Lombardi. Début Naples 1894. Created tenor roles in Cilea's Adriana Lecouvreur and Giordano's Fedora. Int. fame after Bohème with Melba at Monte Carlo 1902. CG début same year in Rigoletto. Début NY Met. 1903. Between then and 1920 sang 36 roles and appeared over 600 times at Met. First ten. to make records, his recording career extending 1902--20 and royalties in his lifetime amounting to nearly ;bp500,000. Though not flawless stylistically, his v. was of sumptuous resonance, mellow and almost baritonal, with an exquisite mezza voce. Created Dick Johnson in La fanciulla del West (NY Met. 1910).

Carvalho, Eleazar de (b Iguatu, Ceará, Brazil, 1915). Brazilian cond. and composer. Studied Nat. Sch. of Mus., Brazil. Tuba-player, later cond., at Rio Municipal Th. Member, Brazilian S.O., ass. cond. 1941. Went to USA 1946, studying with Koussevitzky. Guest cond. leading Amer. orchs. Cond., St Louis S.O. 1963--8. Returned to Brazil 1971. Works incl. operas, symphonic poems, and chamber mus.

Carvalho, Joaquim de Sousa (b Estremoz, 1745; d Alentejo, 1798). Portuguese composer of operas, kbd. mus., etc. Studied in Naples, 1761. One of few Port. composers of opera in 18th cent. Taught Port. royal family.

Cary, Tristram (Ogilvie) (b Oxford, 1925). Eng. composer and percussionist. Studied TCL 1948--50. Began interest in elec. mus. 1944 and was producing musique concrète by 1949. Founded own elec. studio, first in Brit., and prod. scores for several films and BBC TV and radio drama. Teacher at RCM where in 1968 founded elec. studio.

Caryll, Ivan (Felix Tilkin) (b Liège, 1861; d NY, 1921). Belg.-Amer.composer of mus. comedies such as The Duchess of Danzig (1903) and Our Miss Gibbs (1909). Also had th. orch. (Elgar's Sérénade lyrique, 1899, is ded. 'to Ivan Caryll's Orchestra'.)

Casa (It.). Box. Any drum of a large size, hence gran cassa, bass drum, and cassa rullante, ten. drum.

Casadesus. Of this large family of Fr. musicians, the best-known are: Robert Marcel (b Paris, 1899; d Paris, 1972). Pianist and composer. Studied Paris Cons. Notable Mozart player. Wrote syms., pf. concs., 24 pf. preludes, and chamber mus. His son Jean (b Paris, 1927; d Renfrew, Ontario, 1972) was also a pianist. Went to USA 1939 and studied at Princeton Univ. Début 1946 with Philadelphia Orch. in Ravel conc. Winner Geneva competition 1947. Many tours. Killed in car crash.

Casali, Giovanni Battista (b Rome, 1715; d Rome, 1792). It. composer, choirmaster St John Lateran, Rome, 1759--92. Wrote operas and church mus. Taught Grétry.

Casals, Pablo (Pau, in the Catalan form) (b Vendrell, Catalonia, 1876; d Rio Piedras, Puerto Rico, 1973). Sp. cellist, cond., composer, and pianist. Vc. pupil of J. Garcia in Barcelona and later studied at Madrid Cons. Began career in Barcelona cafés and Paris ths. Prof. of vc., Barcelona Cons. 1897--9. Soloist at Lamoureux Concerts, Paris, and Crystal Palace, London, 1899. First US tour 1901. Thenceforward brilliant career as world's foremost cellist. Formed notable trio with Cortot and Thibaud. Founded Casals Orch., Barcelona 1919. Went into voluntary exile from Sp. 1939 in protest against Franco régime, vowing never to return while Spain was under totalitarian rule (a vow he kept). In 1950 founded Prades Fest. in French Pyrenees. Settled in Puerto Rico, 1956, founding fest. there. In Oct. 1971 cond. his Hymn to the United Nations (Auden) at the U.N. headquarters, NY. Comp. vc. pieces, orch. works, and oratorio El pessebre (The Manger).

Casavola, Franco (b Modugno, 1891; d Bari, 1955). It. composer, pupil of Respighi. Joined 'Futurist' movement 1920, composing for 'noise- machines' of Russolo. In 1927 reverted to more conventional means, producing comic opera Il gobbo del Califfo (1929).

Casella, Alfredo (b Turin, 1883; d Rome, 1947). It. composer, cond., pianist, and author. Entered Paris Cons. 1896, studying with Fauré. On return to It. in 1915 became champion of all that was new in the arts and headed It. section of I.S.C.M. Anticipated tastes of a later epoch by interest in It. baroque mus., particularly Vivaldi. His own mus. reflected restless and questing mind. Early works influenced by Mahler, whose mus. he cond. in Paris in the early 1900s. Tempted by atonality but after 1920 identified himself with neo-classicism. Comps. incl.:

ballets: Il convento veneziano (1912), La Giara (1924).

operas: La donna serpente (1928--31), La favola d'Orfeo (1932), Il deserto tentato (1937).

orch: Syms: No. 1 (1905), No. 2 (1908--9 unpubd.), No. 3 (1940), Italia Suite (1909), Pupazzetti (1919), Scarlattiana, pf. and orch. (1926), Vn.Conc. (1928), Concerto romano (organ) (1926), Conc. for pf., vn., and vc. (1933), Vc. Conc. (1934--5), Conc. for Orch. (1937); conc. for pf., timp., perc., str. (1943), songs, and pf. pieces (incl. 2 series entitled À la manière de J.R. (In the style of J.R. (1911 and 1913), 2nd series collab. Ravel.)

Casini, Giovanni Maria (b Florence, 1652; d Florence, 1719). It. organist and scholar. Organist, Florence Cath. from 1685. Comp. org. works and church mus. Had hpd. with 4 octaves div. into 31 notes.

Casiolini, Claudio (*b*Rome, 1670; d ^?^). It. composer of motets and masses in style of Palestrina. Choirmaster S. Lorenzo inDamaso, Rome.

Casken, John (b Barnsley, 1949). Eng.composer. Studied at Birmingham Univ. with Joubert and Dickinson and in Warsaw with Dobrowolski 1971--2. Lecturer, Birmingham Univ. 1973--9, Huddersfield Polytechnic 1979--81, Durham Univ. from 1981. Featured composer at Bath Fest. 1980 where his mus. created a strong impression through its individuality, while suggesting to critics the influences of Debussy and Tippett. Prin. works incl.:

orch: Arenaria, fl. and 13 players (1976); Tableaux des Trois Ages (1976--7); Pf. Conc. (1980-1); Masque, ob., 2 hns., str. (1982); Erin, db. and small orch. (1982--3); Orion over Farne (1984).

ensemble: Kagura, 13 wind instr. (1972--3); Music for the Crabbing Sun, fl., ob., vc., hpd. (1974); Music for a Tawny-Gold Day, va., alto sax., bass cl., pf. (1975--6); Amarantos, 9 players (1977--8); Melanos, tuba and 7 players (1979); Eructavit, 10 instr.(1982); Fonteyn Fanfares, 12 brass instr. (1982).

voice and instr: Ia Orana, Gauguin, sop., pf. (1978); Firewhirl, sop. and 7 players (1979--80).

chamber mus: Music for Cello and Piano (1971--2); Jadu, 2 vc. (1973); Fluctus, vc., pf. (1973--4); Thymehaze, alto rec., pf. (1976); À Belle Pavine, vn. and tape (1980); str. qt. (1981--2); Taerset, cl., pf. (1982--3).

organ: Ligatura (1979--80).

Cassadó, Gaspar (b Barcelona, 1897; d Madrid, 1966). Sp. cellist and composer. Studied at Barcelona Cons. and with Casals in Paris in 1910. Int. career began in 1918. Toured extensively as solo cellist and in chamber mus. Prof. at Siena Acad. Wrote vc. conc., str. qts., pf. trio, and Rapsodia Catalana.

Cassation (It. cassazione). 18th-cent. instr. comp. (several by Mozart) similar to divertimento and serenade and often to be perf. outdoors.

Casse-noisette (Tchaikovsky). See Nutcracker.

Cassette (Fr.). Little box. Literally the small package into which a commercial tape-recording is packed but in a wider sense the automatic-rewinding tape itself. Record-playing equipment now generally provides facilities for playing cassettes. Many disc recordings are also issued in cassette form.

Cassilly, Richard (b Washington D.C., 1927). Amer. ten. Studied Baltimore. Prin. ten. Hamburg State Opera from 1967. CG début 1968. NY City Opera 1955--66. Milan 1970. Has also appeared with Vienna State Opera, San Francisco, Scottish Opera. His roles include Otello, Siegmund, Peter Grimes, Troilus, Laca, and Aaron Cassirer, Fritz (b Breslau, 1871; d Berlin, 1926). Ger. cond. and writer. Studied in Munich and Berlin. Held opera posts in Lübeck, Elberfeld, and Berlin. Cond. f.p. of Delius's operas Koanga (Elberfeld 1904) and A Village Romeo and Juliet (Berlin 1907) and f.p. in Eng. of Delius's Appalachia (London, 1907). Selected words from Nietzsche's Also sprach Zarathustra for Delius's Mass of Life.

Castanets (Fr. castagnettes, It. castagnette). Perc. instrs. consisting of 2 cup-shaped wooden clappers clicked rhythmically together by Sp. dancers, to whosehands they are attached. In orch. use, they are mounted on a handle which is shaken.

Castello, Dario (fl. early 17th cent.). It. maestro of instr. mus. at St Mark's, Venice, 1629. Comp. sonatas for vv. and instr. and for hpd. or spinet with vn., tpt., and bn.

Castelnuovo-Tedesco, Mario (b Florence, 1895; d Hollywood, Calif., 1968). It. composer, pupil of Pizzetti. Assoc. with progressive faction in It. mus. led in 1920s by Casella. Settled in USA 1939. Devotee of Shakespeare. Operas incl. Lamandragola (1921--5), Aucassin et Nicolette (1938), All's Well That Ends Well (1958), Il Mercanto di Venezia (1961). Comp. ballets, oratorios (Ruth 1949, Song of Songs 1963) and orch. works incl. Concerto Italiano, vn. and orch. (1926) and 2 further vn. concs. (1933, 1939), 2 pf. concs. (1928, 1939), guitar conc. (1939), conc. for 2 guitars, American Rhapsody (1943), ovs. to Shakespeare's plays (1931--42). Much chamber mus. incl. guitar quintet and guitar sonata. His songs incl. 33 Shakespeare Songs, setting in Eng. of all the song-texts in the plays.

Castiglioni, Niccolò (b Milan, 1932). It. composer and pianist. Studied Verdi Cons., Milan, (pf. with Gulda, comp. with Ghedini) and later with Blacher at Salzburg. Early works influenced by Mahler, later by Boulez. Settled in USA 1967. Comps. incl. Synchromie for orch. (1962--3), Solemn Music II for sop. and chamber orch. (1964--5), Sym. in C for ch. and orch. (1968--9), Alef for solo ob. (1971); Inverno in-ver, chamber orch. (1972); Quodlibet, pf. and chamber orch. (1976).

Castillane (Sp.). Dance of the Province of Castile.

Castor et Pollux (Castor and Pollux). Opera in prol. and 5 acts by Rameau to lib. by Pierre Joseph Bernard. Prod. Paris 1737 (rev. without prol. and with new Act I 1754); Glasgow 1927; NY 1937.

Castrato (It.). Castrated. Male sop. or cont. whose v. was preserved by castration before puberty. In great demand in It. opera in 17th and 18th cent., the voice being brilliant, flexible, and often sensuous. Gualberto, a castrato, sang title-role in Monteverdi's Orfeo (1607). Other famous castrati were Senesino, Farinelli, Caffarelli, Guadagni, and Velluti. Castrati survived in Vatican chapel and Roman churches until 20th cent. Recordings exist of Alessandro Moreschi (1858--1922), male sop. of Sistine Chapel. Wagner wanted the male soprano D. Mustafà to sing Klingsor in Parsifal.

Castro, Juan José (b Avellaneda, 1895; d Buenos Aires, 1968). Argentinian composer and cond. Studied Paris 1920 with d'Indy. Cond. posts in Buenos Aires, Havana, Montevideo, and Melbourne. Dir. Puerto Rico Cons. 1959--64. Cosmopolitan composer with nationalistic flavour and use of serialism. His several operas incl. Proserpina y el extranjero (Proserpine and the Stranger) (Milan 1952) and 2 based on plays by Lorca, La zapatera prodigiosa (1943) and Bodas di sangre (Blood Wedding) (1952). Also 5 syms., pf. conc., vn. conc., orch. suites, choral works. His brother José María (b Buenos Aires, 1892; d Buenos Aires, 1964) was also cond. and composer.

Castrucci, Pietro (b Rome, 1679; d Dublin, 1752). It. violinist, pupil of Corelli. Settled in London 1715 becoming leader of Handel's opera orch. until 1737. Invented 'violetta Marina' for which instr. Handel wrote solos in Orlando and Sosarme. Went to Dublin 1750.

Catalán (Sp.), Catalane (Fr.). Type of Sp. dance from Catalonia.

Catalani, Alfredo (b Lucca, 1854; d Milan, 1893). It. composer. Studied Paris (1872) and Milan. Friend of Boito who wrote lib. for La Falce (Milan 1875). Operas show affinity with

Ger. romantics, e.g. Weber and Marschner, and were Elda (1876, rev. 1889 as Loreley), Dejanice (1883), Edmea (1886), and La Wally (1891), the last-named being the best and most popular of his works, highlyesteemed by Toscanini.

Catalani, Angelica (b Sinigaglia, 1780; d Paris, 1849). It. sop. Début Venice 1797, London 1806. First singer in London of Mozart's Susanna in Le nozze di Figaro, 1812. Managed Paris Théâtre des Italiens 1814--17. Retired from stage 1819 but continued concert work until 1828. In her day extremely highly paid. Founded singing sch., Florence.

Catalogue Aria. Nickname for Leporello's aria in Act 1 Sc. 2 of Mozart's Don Giovanni in which he recounts to Donna Elvira a list of the Don's amorous conquests in various countries, ending each instalment with the words 'but in Spain, a thousand and three (mille tre)'. This aria was probably modelled on a similar one in Gazzaniga's Don Giovanni, the rapid singing of a list of items being a popular feature of 18th-cent. comic opera.

Catalogue d'oiseaux. Work by Messiaen for solo pf. in 7 books, comp. 1956--8, based on birdsong as noted and remembered by the composer. F.p. Paris 1959 (Loriod).

Catch. A type of round; but the term is now often used in a less general sense which confines its application to such rounds as, in the singing, afford a laugh by the way the words are heard, as for instance in the one Ah, how Sophia, which in the singingsuggests 'Our house afire', the later line 'Go fetch the Indian's borrowed plume' similarly suggesting 'Go fetch the engines!'. Restoration specimens are more amusing and much more indecent. A Catch Club (Noblemen and Gentlemen's Catch Club) was founded in London in 1761 and still exists.

Cathédrale engloutie, La (The submerged cathedral). Pf. piece by Debussy, No. 10 of his Préludes, Book I, comp. 1910. Based on cath. of Ys, with its legend of underwater bells and chanting. F.p. Debussy, Paris 1910. Quoted by Debussy in his vc. sonata, 1915. Orch. version by Büsser, f.p. Paris 1927.

Catiline Conspiracy, The. Opera in 2 acts by Hamilton to lib. by comp. based on Ben Jonson's Catalina (1611). Comp. 1972--3. Prod. Stirling 1974.

Catterall, Arthur (b Preston, 1883; d London, 1943). Eng. violinist. Taught by father from age 4. Played Mendelssohn conc. at Manchester th. atage 8. Entered RMCM 1893 as pupil of Willy Hess and later of Brodsky. First played in Hallé Orch. 1900. Played in Bayreuth orch. 1902. Soloist at Hallé concert with Richter 1904. Leader of Queen's Hall Orch., 1905--14, Hallé Orch. 1914--25, BBC S.O. 1930--6. Prof. of vn., RMCM, 1910--29. Led own str. qt. 1911--25. Frequent conc. soloist (gave f.p. of Moeran conc. 1942).

Catulli Carmina (Songs of Catullus). Scenic cantata by Orff, successor to his Carmina Burana, and 2nd part of his trilogy Trionfi. 1943 rev. of much earlier work, f.p. Leipzig 1943, Cambridge 1948. For soloists, ch., 4 pf., 4 timp., and up to 12 percussionists. Setting of 12 Lat. poems by Catullus, with opening and closing Lat. choruses by Orff.

Caucasian Sketches. Symphonic suite for orch., Op. 10, by Ippolitov-Ivanov. Comp. 1894, f.p. Moscow 1895. 4 movements are: In the Mountain Pass; In the Village; In the Mosque; March of the Sirdar.

Caurroy, Fran;Alcois Eustache de (b Gerberoy, 1549; d Paris, 1609). Fr. composer and canon of Saint Chapelle, Paris, becomingcourt composer to Fr. Kings. His Mass for the Dead was perf. at Fr. royal funerals until 18th cent. Wrote church and instr. mus.

Causton (Caustun), Thomas (d London, 1569). Eng. composer of church mus. Member of Chapel Royal from c.1550. His anthems and services were published in Day's Certaine Notes (1565).

Cavaillé-Col, Aristide (b Montpellier, 1811; d Paris, 1899). Fr. organ-builder, most prominent of his family. Went to Paris 1833, built organ for basilica of St Denis. Also built org. for Madeleine. His orgs. in Eng. incl. that for Manchester Town Hall. Estimated to have built nearly 500 organs. The great school of Fr. organ composers from Franck to Messiaen was motivated by his instruments.

Cavalieri, Emilio de' (b c.1550; d Rome, 1602). It. composer who was at the Medici Court in Florence and amember of Camerata. One of first to use Basso continuo. Wrote at least 4 early mus.-dramas to texts by Guidicinni and a morality-play, forerunner of oratorio, La rappresentazione di anima e di corpo (The Representation of Soul and Body)to a text by Manni, f.p. 1600.

Cavalieri, Katharina (b Währing, Austria, 1760; d Vienna, 1801). Austrian sop. who studied with Salieri. Spent most of her career in Vienna. Mozart wrote Constanze in Die Entführung for her and the aria `Mi tradi', added to Elvira's part in Don Giovanni for its Vienna première.

Cavalleria rusticana (Rustic Chivalry). Opera in 1 act by Mascagni to lib. by Menasci and Targioni-Tozzetti basedon play by Verga adapted from his short story. Won prize for 1-act operain competition organized by Sonzogno, 1889. Prod. Rome1890, London 1891. Usually perf. as double bill with Leoncavallo's Pagliacci, hence the vernacular `Cav. and Pag.'.

Cavalli (Caletti-Bruni), Pietro (Pier) Francesco (b Crema, 1602; d Venice, 1676). It. composer ofoperas, possibly pupil of Monteverdi. Between c.1635 and 1670 about 40 of his operas were prod. in Venice. Twice visited Paris, his Serse (Venice 1654) being given there 1660 as part of Louis XIV's marriage festivities. Operatic importance lies in enlargement of dramatic potentialities and command of comic possibilities. Operas incl. Didone (1641), L'Egisto (1643), Giasone (Jason) (1649), La Doriclea (1645), Oristeo (1651), Scipiano Africano (1664), Statira, Principessa di Persia (1655), La virtù de'strali d'amore (1642), L'Erismena, L'Ormindo (1644),La Calisto (1651), Eritrea (1652), Orione (1653), Serse (1654), Ercole amante (1662), Mutio Scevola (1665), and Pompeo magno (1666). L'Ormindo and La Calisto were revived successfully at Glyndebourne in realizations by Raymond Leppard which are sometimes some way removed from the original score. Cavalliwias also an org. and composer of church mus. (e.g. Vespers of the Annunciation (1675) and a Requiem) and instr. pieces.

Cavatina (It.). (1) Operatic solo aria in regular form and in one section instead of the classical aria's 3, without repetition of words or phrases, e.g. Porgi amor from Mozart's Le nozze di Figaro. Also used of song-like air incl. in a long scena. ^(2) Song-like instr. piece, e.g. Raff's Cavatina andthe Cavatina movement of Beethoven's Str. Qt. in Bb, Op. 130. 3rd movement of Vaughan Williams's 8th Sym. (1955) is a Cavatina for str.

Cavendish, Michael (b c.1565; d London, 1628). Eng. composer of madrigals and lute mus. Madrigal `Come, gentle swains' is in The Triumphs of Oriana.

Cawston. See Caustun, Thomas.

Cazden, Norman (b NY, 1914; d Bangor, Mne., 1980). Amer. composer and pianist. Studied Juilliard Sch. 1927--39 (comp. with Wagenaar) and later at Harvard with Piston and Copland. Piano recitalist, also worked for radio stations and dance cos. Many comps., several based on folk mus. collected in Catskill Mts., incl. sym., pf. sonatas, str. qt., brass sextet.

Cazzati, Maurizio (b Lucera, c.1620; d Mantua, 1677). It. composer and org. Choirmaster at Bergamo 1653–7, Bologna 1657–73, and Mantua 1673–7. Wrote religious mus. and instr. works.

CB. Short for Contrabassi, i.e. str. dbs.

C Clef. See Clef.C Dur (Ger.). Key of C major.Cebell (cibell). Eng. dance, used by Purcell and others, similar to a fast gavotte. So called because based on an air assoc. with the goddess Cybèle in Lully's opera Atys (1676).

Cebotari, Maria (b Kishinev, Bessarabia, 1910; d Vienna, 1949). Austro-Russ.sop. Actress at Moscow Art Th. 1926. Studied singing in Berlin. Opera début Dresden 1931 as Mimi. In Dresden co. 1931–41, also Berlin 1936–44, Vienna 1946–9. Début CG 1936 with Dresden co., sang there with Vienna Opera 1947. Created role of Aminta in R. Strauss's Die schweigsame Frau (1935). Appeared in films.

Ceccato, Aldo (b Milan, 1934). It. cond. Studied Milan; ass. to Celibidache at Siena Acad. 1961–3. Début Milan 1964, Wexford 1968, Chicago 1969, CG 1970, Glyndebourne 1971. Prin. cond. Detroit S.O. 1973–7.

Cecilia, Saint (martyred in Sicily c.

a.d. 176). Patron saint of mus., commemorated annually on 22 Nov. Her assoc. with mus. is very obscure, apparently dating from 15th cent. (There is a theory that it arose from the misreading of an antiphon for her day.) First recorded mus. fest. in her honour c.1570 at Evreux, Normandy; earliest recorded date of a Brit. mus. celebration 1683. Innumerable paintings and stained glass windows depict her playing the org.—always one of many centuries later than a.d. 176. Many comps. in her honour, outstanding examples being Purcell's Ode for St Cecilia's Day (1692) and Britten's Hymn to St Cecilia (1942).

Cédez (Fr.). Give way, i.e. Diminish the speed (present and past participles cédant, cédé).

Celere (It.). Quick, speedy. Hence celerità, speed; celeramente, with speed.

Celesta (It., Fr. céleste). Small kbd. instr. not unlike glockenspiel. Invented in Paris by Auguste Mustel in 1886. Series of steel plates (suspended over wooden resonators) which are struck by hammers when keys are depressed, giving ethereal bell-like sound. Range of 4 octaves upwards from middle C. Used in 1892 by Tchaikovsky in 'Dance of the Sugar-Plum Fairy' in Nutcracker ballet. Many others have used it since, notably Bartók in Music for Strings, Percussion and Celesta. First used in sym. by Mahler in his 6th (1903–5).

Celeste (Fr.). (1) Type of soft pedal on old-fashioned pfs., interposing a strip of cloth between the hammers and strings. (2) The Voix Céleste stop on the organ.

Celestial Railroad, The. Fantasy for pf., 1924, by Ives, arr. from 2nd movement of his Sym. No. 4.

Celibidache, Sergiu (b Iasi, Romania, 1912). Romanian cond. and composer. Studied Berlin Hochschule and Univ. Cond. Berlin P.O. 1945–51. London début 1948. Taught cond. at Siena. Author of study of Josquin Després. Comp. 4 syms. and pf. conc. Has spent much time with radio orchs., e.g., S. Ger. Radio (Stuttgart) from 1959 and Stockholm 1962–71. Insists on heavy rehearsal schedule and dislikes recordings.

Cello. Short for Violoncello. It used to be spelled with a preliminary apostrophe, but cello is now accepted as standard, like piano.

Cello Symphony. Britten's Op. 68---in full, Sym. for Cello and Orch.---comp. 1963 for, and ded. to, Rostropovich, who gave f.p. in Moscow 1964, the composer conducting. F.p. in England, Aldeburgh 1964.

Celtic Harp. See Clàrsach.

Celtic Requiem. Work by Tavener for sop., children's ch., mixed ch., and orch., comp. 1969 and f.p. London 1969.

Cembalo. See Clavicembalo.

Cendrillon(Cinderella). Opera in 4 acts by Massenet to lib. by Henri Cain. Prod. Paris 1899, NY Met. 1912, London (with puppets) 1928.

Cenerentola, La (Cinderella). Opera in 2 acts by Rossini to lib. by Ferretti. Prod. Rome 1817, London 1820, NY 1826. There are other Cinderella operas by Laruelle, Steibelt, Massenet and Wolf-Ferrari. Also ballets by Prokofiev and J. Strauss II.

Cento, Centon, Centone. A medley of tunes. See pasticcio.

Central Park in the Dark in the Good Old Summertime (or A Contemplation of Nothing Serious). Work for chamber orch. by Ives, comp. 1906.

Ceòl beag (Gaelic). Little music. That part of Scottish Highland bagpipe repertory comprising marches, strathspeys, and reels. (See also Ceòl mor and Ceòlmeadhonach.)

Ceòl Meadhonach (Gaelic). Middle music. That part of Scottish Highland bagpipe repertory comprising folk songs, lullabies, croons, and slow marches. (See also Ceòl beag and Ceòl mor).

Ceòl Mor (Gaelic). Big music. That part of Scottish Highland bagpipe repertory comprising salutes, gatherings, and laments, also tunes comp. in memory of some historical event. (See also Ceòl beag and Ceòl meadhonach.)

Ce qu'on entend sur la montagne (What one hears on the Mountain; Ger. Bergsymphonie, Mountain Symphony). Symphonic poem for pf. by Liszt comp. 1848--9, scored for orch. by Raff 1849 and by Liszt 1850, rev. 1854. Based on Victor Hugo's Feuilles d'automne, No. 5.

Ceremony of Carols, A. Settings by Britten, Op. 28, of carols (in 11 movements) for treble vv. and harp, comp. 1942 at sea on voyage back to U.K. Also arr. for SATB and harp or pf. by Julius Harrison.

Cererols, Joan (b Martorell, 1618; d Montserrat, 1676). Sp. Catalan composer, connected for most of his life with Montserrat Abbey where he was dir. of choir for over 30 years. His works show adventurous technique and incl. Requiem, Magnificat, Ave maris stella, Regina coeli, etc.

Cerha, Friedrich (b Vienna, 1926). Austrian composer and violinist. Studied Vienna Acad. and Univ. Founded instr. ens. 'Die Reihe' 1958. Prof., Vienna Acad. 1969, teaching new mus. and elec. comp. Orch. Act III of Berg's Lulu (from composer's short score) for first complete perf., 1979. Works incl.:

opera: Baal (1974--9); Netzwerk (1981).

orch: Spiegel I, for orch., II for 55 str., III-VII for orch. (1960--71); Fasce (1960--72); Langegger Nachtmusik I (1969), II (1971); Intersecazioni I for vn. and orch. (1959), II (1959--72); Sym. (1975); Conc. for vn., vc., orch. (1975); Conc. for fl., bn., orch. (1982).
chamber orch: Catalogue des objets trouvés (1968--9); Symphonies for wind and drums (1964); Curriculum, for wind (1972); Movements I--III (1960); Enjambements (1959).

voice[nm]

s) [smand orch: Exercises, bar., speaker, chamber orch. (1962--8); Baal-Gesänge, bar. and orch. (1982); Requiem für Hollensteiner, speaker, bar., ch., and orch. (1983).

unacc. chorus: Verzeichnis, 16 vv. (1969).

Cernikof, Vladimir (b Paris, 1882; d London, 1948). Franco-Russian pianist, studied Geneva and Berlin. Début Mülhausen, 1905 and London 1908. Settled in London, touring widely.

Certon, Pierre (b c.1510; d Paris, 1572). Fr. composer. Wrote over 200 chansons, chansons spirituelles, 8 masses, Magnificat, and many motets. Clerk, Notre Dame de Paris 1529--32, next 40 years at Sainte Chapelle, mostly as master of choirboys.

Cervelat (cervelas, Fr.; It. cervellate). The rackett.

Ces (Ger.). The note Cb.

Ceses (Ger.). The note Cbb.

Cesti, Pietro Antonio (b Arezzo, 1623; d Florence, 1669). Orig. friar, believed to have studied with Carissimi. Released from vows, became mus. dir. Medici Court, Florence, 1643. In 1666 became vice-Kapellmeister at Vienna imperial court. Operas rank with Cavalli's in importance. They incl. Orontea (Venice 1649), Cesare amante (Venice 1651), La Dori (Innsbruck 1657), Il Tito (Venice 1666) and Il pomo d'oro (Vienna 1668).

Ceterone. The bass cittern, dating perhaps from 1524 but certainly from end of 16th cent. Monteverdi's Orfeo (1615 ed.) lists '2 ceteroni'. Had a number of additional unstopped bass str. and was particularly suitable for continuo.

Cetula. It. medieval instr. identified by scholars as ancestor of the cittern, a derivative of the lyra. Described c.1487 as having '4 brass or steel strings usually tuned a tone, a 4th and back again a tone, and it is played with a quill'.

Chabrier, (Alexis) Emmanuel (b Ambert, Puy-de-Dôme, 1841; d Paris, 1894). Fr. composer, pianist, and cond. Largely self-taught and was civil servant until 1880. After visiting Sp. wrote orch. rhapsody Espana, 1883. Became ass. ch.-master to Lamoureux in Paris 1884-5. Fervent admirer of and propagandist for Wagner. Works incl. operas L'Étoile (1877), Une Education manquée (1879), Gwendoline (1885), Le Roi malgré lui (1887) and Briséis (unfinished); Joyeuse Marche, orch. (1888); pf. pieces and songs (incl. Ballade des gros dindons, 1889).

Cha Cha Cha. Ballroom dance originating in Cuba c.1952. Development of mambo. Name derives from rhythm---2 crotchets, 3 quavers, quaver rest. Steps are glided, with rocking of hips as in rumba.

Chaconne (Fr.; Eng. chacony, It. Ciaccona, Sp. Chacona; from Basque chocuna pretty). Amusical form almost indistinguishable from Passacaglia. Both were orig. dances of 3-in-a-measure rhythm, and the mus. of both was erected on a ground bass. In some specimens this bass theme passes into an upper part. In others while there is no actual ground bass the mus. falls into a number of quite short sections similar to those written over a ground bass. Lully, Rameau, and other composers of their period and a little later, often ended an opera with a movement of this type (e.g. Gluck's Orfeo). A universally known Chaconne is that by Bach which closesthe 2nd Partita (D minor) for solo. vn.---often played without its companion movements. Purcell's aria When I am laid in earth (Dido and Aeneas) is a chaconne, so are Beethoven's 32 Variations in C minor for piano, the finale of Brahms's Sym. No. 4 (usually called a passacaglia), and the last movement of Britten's Str. Qt. No. 2 (Chacony).

Chadwick, George (Whitefield) (b Lowell, Mass., 1854; d Boston, 1931). Amer. composer, organist, and cond. Gave up business for mus. and at 23 went to Munich and Leipzig to study. Returned to Boston 1880, becoming teacher,org., and choral cond. Joined staff New England Cons. 1882, becoming dir. 1897 until his death. Comp. opera Judith (1900), 3 syms., several symphonic poems incl. Tam O'Shanter (1911), 5 str. qts., and choral works.

Chagall Windows, The. Orch. work by McCabe inspired by Marc Chagall's stained-glass windows in synagogue of Hadassah Hospital, Hebrew Univ., Jerusalem, representing 12 tribes of Israel. Comp. 1974, f.p. Manchester 1975.

Chagrin, Francis (really Alexander Paucker) (b Bucharest, 1905; d London, 1972). Romanian-born composer and cond. resident in Eng. for many years. Studied Zürich and Paris with Boulanger, Dukas, and in London with Seiber. Founded 1943 Committee (now Society) for the Promotion of New Mus. (S.P.N.M.). Comp. andcond. for over 200 films. Cond. for various ballet cos. Works incl. King Stag, Volpone, Lamento appassionato, pf. conc., and 2 syms.

Chahut. See Can-Can.

Chains, Iron. Required by Schoenberg among perc. instr. in his Gurrelieder, 1900--11.

Chair Organ. Term applied to small organ in Eng. in 17th and 18th cents. Used in conjunction with 'great organ'. Originally separate, they were incorporated but played on different manuals.

Chaliapin (Shalyapin), Fyodor (Ivanovich) (b Kazan, 1873; d Paris, 1938). Russ. bass singer. Of humble orig., having little mus. training before joining provincial opera co. 1890. Sang in St Petersburg 1894, then joined Mamontov's private opera co. in Moscow 1896, singing Ivan in Rimsky-Korsakov's Maid of Pskov and especially Boris Godunov in Mussorgsky's opera, role with which he became inseparably assoc. Milan début 1901, NY Met. 1907, London 1913 in Beecham season. NY Met 1921--9. Created title-roleof Massenet's Don Quichotte. Gave frequent recitals. Superb actor-singer.

Chalumeau (Fr.). Reed. Simple rustic reed-pipe, ancestor of clarinet, with 6 to 8 finger-holes. Also applied to shawm and to double-reed bagpipe chanter. Also wind instr. that came into use in 17th and 18th cents. Term used to describe lowest register of cl.

Chamberlain, Houston Stewart (b Portsmouth, 1855; d Bayreuth, 1927). Eng.-born writer, naturalized Ger. Educ. Cheltenham College. In 1870 went to Stettin and conceived intense admiration for Ger. culture. Lived Dresden 1885--9 and Vienna 1889--1908. Wrote Foundations of the 19th Century (1899--1901). Married Wagner's daughter Eva 1908 and lived at Bayreuth, publishing several books on Wagner and ed. of letters.

Chamber Music (It. Musica da camera, Ger. Kammermusik). A term orig. intended (as Burney puts it c.1805)to cover such mus. as was not intended 'for the church, the theatre, or a public concert room'. As now used it has lost any implication as to place of perf.and excludes, on the one side, solo vocal mus. and mus. for a single instr. (or for a solo instr. acc. by another), and, on the other, orch.and choral mus., etc., incl. merely instr. mus. for 2, 3, 4,or more instr., played with a single instr. to a 'part', all the parts being on equal terms.

Thus it comprises duet sonatas for vn. and pf. or vc. and pf., sonatas for a wind instr. and pf., trios for str. or for 2 str. instr. and pf., qts. for str. or for 3 str. instr. and pf., instr. qts., sextets, septets, and octets, etc. Of all these types the most important is the str. qt.: the instrs. employed in it are 2 vn., va., and vc., the db. having very rarely a place in chamber mus. (two outstanding exceptions being Schubert's 'Trout' Pf. Quintet and Dvořák's Str. Quintet, Op. 77). The modern conception of chamber mus. may be said to date from Haydn. For a century and more before his time nearly all mus. was supplied with a figured bass guided by which a harpsichordist extemporized a background: in earlier times we find something more like our idea of chamber mus. in 16th-cent. mus. for viols. Most composers have contributed to the now abundant repertory of chamber mus., and so far have we departed from the early 19th-cent. idea of the meaning of the term that 'Chamber Concerts' are common. Such concerts date effectively from the 1830s when the Müller Brothers Str. Qt. began touring Europe with a fine classical repertory. Since that period there have been many world-famous str. qts., pf. trios, and other groups. Despite much concert-room perf., however, chamber mus. still retains some right to its name, since it is often treated as 'the music of friends' and is much practised privately. The term Chamber Music (Kammermusik) was used by Hindemith for 7 comps. between 1921 and 1927; these incl. a pf. conc., vc. conc., va. conc., viola d' amore conc., and organ conc., the orch. in most cases comprising at least 12 players, sometimes more. His wind quintet, 1922, he called Kleine (Little) Kammermusik.

Chamber Opera. Term applied to operas with comparatively small no. of singers and orch. players, e.g. Britten's The Rape of Lucretia and The Turn of the Screw, but there is no question of such works being perf. in a room instead of a th. R. Strauss's Ariadne auf Naxos is strictly a chamber opera, but is perf. at CG, NY Met., and Vienna State Opera.

Chamber Orchestra. Small-sized orch. capable of playing in a room or small hall, but term is elastic and works for chamber orch. of symphonic proportions are written.

Chamber Symphony (Kammersymphonie). Title of 2 works by Schoenberg for small orch. No. 1 in E major, Op. 9, for 15 solo instr., comp. 1906, f.p. Vienna 1907. Also exists in simplified arr. by Webern (1922) and 2 orch. versions by Schoenberg (1922 and 1935). No. 2, Op. 38a, was begun 1906, completed 1939, f.p. NY 1940. Other composers have used this title, e.g. Schreker, and others have preferred the term Chamber Concerto, e.g. Berg and Hugh Wood.

Chambonnières, Jacques Champion de (b Paris, c.1602; d Paris, 1672). Fr. composer and harpsichordist. His father was harpsichordist to Louis XIII as he himself became to Louis XIV, who ennobled him. Regarded as founder of Fr. hpd. sch. Pubd. 2 books of Pièces de clavecin (1670), ed. in modern times by T. Dart, 1969.

Chaminade, Cécile (b Paris, 1857; d Monte Carlo, 1944). Fr. pianist and composer. Pupil of Godard. Began composing at 8. From 1875 regularly gave pf. recitals, incl. her own comps. Eng. debut 1892. Comp. opéra-comique, ballet, orch. suites, Konzertstück for pf. and orch., Les Amazones for ch. and orch., many songs, and pf. pieces of graceful salon variety.

Champêtre (Fr.). Rustic. Hence Danse champêtre, a peasant dance in the open air; fête champêtre, a picnic.

Chance. See Aleatory.

Chandos Anthems. 12 anthems on religious texts comp. by Handel between 1717 and 1718 when he was dir. of mus. for the Earl of Carnarvon, later the Duke of Chandos, at his palace, Cannons, near Edgware, Middlesex (not far from London). They are short cantatas for 3-part ch. acc. by obs., str., and org. In No. 6 (As pants the hart) Handel used Ger. chorale as cantus firmus.

Change-Ringing. Practice, virtually confined to Britain, of ringing church bells by teams each member pulling the ropecontrolling one bell. See Bell.

Changes. Nocturnal cycle, Op. 17, by Crosse, comp. 1965, for sop., bar., children's ch., and orch. F.p. Worcester 1966. Title refers both to transience of nature and to bell-ringing.

Changing Note or Nota Cambiata (It.). Idiomatic melodic formula, salient characteristic of which is leap of a third away from an unessential note. Earliest form (in the polyphonic age) was a 3-note figure, (a). This was soon joined and eventually superseded by a 4-note idiom, (b). In the harmonic age of counterpoint (from Bach and Handel onwards) a variety of other changing note figures appear, (c) (d) (e). [ol62] In USA the term Cambiata is in common use for 'changing note'. Also when the leap of 3rd is in the dir. opposite to that of the step-wise movement the term Échappé, is sometimes used, and, where the movement is back to the orig. note, the term Returning Tone.

Chanot. Family of Fr. vn.-makers. Fran;Alcois (b Mirecourt, 1787; d Brest, 1823) invented a pear-shaped vn. with flat belly and no sound-post. His brother Georges (b Mirecourt, 1801; d Courcelles, 1873) set up his business in Paris in 1823 and his son Georges (b Paris, 1831; d London, 1893) began his own business in London in 1858.

Chanson (Fr.). Song. A term with many applications, especially: (1) Any sort of simple verse-repeating song. (2) Type of song, for several vv. or for one v. with acc., that grew up in Fr. and north It. in 14th cent. and flourished until end of 16th---really a kind of early madrigal of the 'ayre' type. The chanson de geste was an heroic verse chronicle set to mus., of the 11th and 12th cents.

Chansons de Bilitis. 3 settings by Debussy, 1897--8, for v. and pf. of prose-poems by Pierre Louÿs. They are La Flûte de Pan, La Chevelure and Tombeau des Naïades. Orch. version 1926 by Delage. Incidental mus. for 2 fl., 2 harps, and celesta to acc. recitation of poems, 1900; arr. Boulez forreciter, 2 harps, 2 fl., and celesta 1954.

Chant. See Anglican Chant. For Gregorian chant see Plainsong.

Chantant (Fr.). Singing. In a singing style. Sometimes the past participle is used, chanté (sung).

Chanter. See Bagpipe.

Chanterelle (Fr.). Highest str. of vn., etc. (See Banjo.)

Chants d'Auvergne (Songs of the Auvergne). Series of traditional dialect songs of the Auvergne collected by Canteloube and pubd. between 1923 and 1930. Best-known is suite of 9 for sop. and orch. (or pf.) drawn from series 1 to 4, being 1. Bailèro, 2. L'Aio dè rotso (Spring Water), 3. Ound 'onorèn gorda? (Where shall we go to graze?), 4. Obal din lou Limouzi (Down there in Limousin), 5. La delaïssádo (The forsaken girl), 6. Lo Fiolairé (The spinning girl), 7. Passo pel prat (Come through the meadow), 8. Brezairola (Cradle Song), 9. Chut, chut (Hush, hush).

Chanty. See Shanty.

'Chaos instead of music' (Sumbur vnesto muzyki). Notorious article published in Pravda on 28 January 1936, followed by another 10 days later, attacking Shostakovich's opera Lady Macbeth of the Mtsensk District and leading to its withdrawal from the stage. Believed to have been dictated by Stalin, who had left a performance of the opera in a rage over its alleged dissonance and immorality.

Chapelle (Fr.). See Kapelle.

Chapel Royal. No one institution was more useful in fostering Eng. musicianship and promoting the development of Eng. mus. than the Chapel Royal---by which must be properly understood not a building but a body of clergy and musicians (like Ger. Kapelle) whose principal duty was to arrange and perform divine service in the sovereign's presence. Existing records go back to 1135. During reign of Edward IV (1461--83) the Chapel consisted of 26 chaplains and clerks, 13 minstrels (a very wide term), 8 choirboys and their master, and a 'Wayte', or mus. night-watchmen, sounding the hours nightly. Under Richard III (1483--5) a press-gang system was authorized (though the practice of pressing seems to have existed earlier); this remained in operation for about 2 centuries; representatives of the Chapel were entitled to listen to all the best cath. choirs, and rob them of any boys whose vv. marked them out as fit to sing before the King. Under Henry VIII (1509--47), a practical musician, the mus. staff of the Chapel rose to 44 (32 Gentlemen and 12 Children) and remained at this strength under Edward VI (1547--53) and Mary (1553--8). Under Elizabeth I (1558--1603) and James I (1603--25), the Chapel's personnel incl. Tye, Tallis, Byrd, Gibbons, Morley, Tomkins, and Bull. These brought church mus. to a level not exceeded even by the musicians of the Sistine Chapel at Rome; they developed the Eng. madrigal, and laid foundations of artistic kbd. music. The artistically-minded Charles I (1625-49) established the King's Band (6 recorders, 3 fl., 9 ob. and sackbuts, 12 vn., and 24 'lutes and voices', plus trumpets, drums and pipes). He appointed Nicholas Lanier as 'Master of the Musick' as from 30 Nov., 1625. With the death of Charles I in 1649 the Chapel ceased. Cromwell was a lover of mus. and retained a small body of domestic musicians, but did not maintain a princely state, and, of course, did not approve of choirs as an inst. of public worship. In 1660 Charles II recalled the Chapel. A talented choir-boy, Pelham Humfrey, was sent abroad to learn foreign styles; a younger boy, Purcell, without going abroad, was very apt to learn, and these youths and others, as they matured, largely trained by Captain Henry Cooke, were quickly able to put to good use the new resources (such as the band of 24 fiddlers in church) with which the King had provided himself. Purcell, from 1677 to his death in 1695, was 'Composer in Ordinary' to the Chapel. Under William and Mary, Anne, and the Georges, less was heard of the Chapel. George III had musicians in his employ beyond those of his Chapel; he spent little time in London, and when at Windsor had no need of his 'Chapel Royal', in the technical sense, since the Chapel of St George, in Windsor Castle, had its own distinct staff, as it still has. The great days, then, were over, but a line of orgs. continued. Some clever boys, incl. Sullivan, still received training in the Chapel. Today the 'Chapel Royal' consists of a body of clergy, choirmen, and boys ('Priests in Ordinary', 'Gentlemen', and 'Children'), and the org. charged with the conduct of the Sunday services. Their place of duty is chiefly the chapel of St James's Palace, but they have other places of duty incl. Buckingham Palace. By the end of George III's reign the King's Band had almost ceased to exist. George IV maintained a private wind band and so did Victoria after her accession in 1837. The Prince Consort enlarged it to a small orchestra. In 1893 the 'Queen's Band' was constituted, unifying the private band and the state band, but Edward VII (1901--10) only required the musicians for state functions and abandoned concerts. Under George V (1910--35) they were never used, though the 24 musicians nominally still belonged to the royal household. Four survivors played in the orch. at the coronation (1937) of George VI (1936--52). Today the post of Master of the Queen's Music is an honour for a distinguished musician, with no real duties.

Chapí y Lorente, Ruperto (b Villena, Alicante, 1851; d Madrid, 1909). Sp. composer. Studied Madrid Cons. and became regimental bandmaster. Comp. many zarzuelas, orch. works incl. sym., cantatas, chamber mus.

Chappell, William (b London, 1809; d London, 1888). Eng mus. publisher. Founded Musical Antiquarian Soc. (1840) to publish works of early Eng. composers. Ed. Popular Music of the Olden Time (2 vols. 1855--9; new edn. by H. E. Woodridge 1893).

Chappell & Co. Ltd. London mus.publishers, pf. makers, etc. Founded 1810 by Samuel Chappell (1776--1834). Firm was largely responsible for building of St James's Hall, London, ran ballad concerts, was lessee of Queen's Hall, London, and sponsor of New Queen's Hall Orch. After 1st World War, its dominant interest was light music (musicals and film music), band music, and educational, but has recently accepted work of some important composers, e.g. Sebastian Forbes and Stephen Dodgson. Now part of Philips organization.

Chapple, Brian (b London, 1945). Eng. composer. Studied RAM with L. Berkeley. Influenced by Messiaen, has used serial technique but is one of group of Eng. composers who have moved to a more tonal idiom in the 1970s. Works incl.: Green and Pleasant, for orch. (1973), pf. conc. (1977), Veni Sancte Spiritus, double ch. (1974), In ecclesiis, sop. and ch. (1976), Summoned by Bells, pf. and alarm clocks (1968), Concert Piece, 2 pf. qts. (1969), 5 Blake Songs, ten. and pf. (1972), Light breaks out where no sun shines, sop. and pf. (1978), Cantica, sop., ten., ch., orch. (1978), Venus Fly-Trap, chamber ens. (1980), Delphine, orch. (1980), 5 Shakespeare songs, 6 male vv. (1981), 5 Carols, women's vv., pf. (1982), Little Sym., str. (1983).

Characteristic Piece (Ger. Charakterstück). Imprecise term occasionally applied by composers to shorter instr. comp. (esp. for pf.); the equivalent of Stimmungsbild (Ger.), Mood-picture.

Charivari (Fr.). Extemporized mus. of a violent kind made with any household utensils etc., that lie to hand, generally before the house of a person who has incurred communal disapprobation. Equivalents are Rough Music (Eng.); Chiasso (It.). Uproar; or Scampanata (It.). Bell ringing; Katzenmusik (Ger.). Cat Music; Shivaree, Calthumpian Concert (Amer). In USA also means 'musical' teasing of newly-weds.

Charleston. A fast fox-trot named after Charleston, S. Carolina, popularized in NY, 1922, in Negro revues, by Cecil Mack and Jimmy Johnson; it then had a short but widespread vogue in ballrooms and dance-halls. The dance-step was characterized by 2 twists on each foot, with one kicked sharply backwards.

Charm of Lullabies, A. Songs by Britten for mez. and pf., Op. 41, comp. 1947. Poems by Blake, Burns, Green, Randolph, and Philip.

Charpentier, Gustave (b Dieuze, 1860; d Paris, 1956). Fr. composer, pupil of Massenet at Paris Cons., winning Prix de Rome, where he wrote Impressions d'Italie for orch. (1890, arr. as ballet 1913). Had great success with opera Louise (Paris 1900) but its successor Julien (1913) failed. Wrote cantata La Vie du poète (1892). Founded in 1902 Conservatoire Populaire where working girls like Louise could learn mus. and dancing.

Charpentier, Marc-Antoine (b Paris, ?1645; d Paris, 1704). Fr. composer. Studied in Rome with Carissimi. On return to Fr. became maître de musique and court singer to Duchess of Guise until her death in 1688. In about 1670 began long association with Molière's theatrical co. Wrote prologue and intermèdes for Le malade imaginaire (1673). Never held a court post but in 1698 became master of the music of Sainte-Chapelle, for which he wrote many of his finest religious motets and oratorios. His early style was Italian based, but he soon adopted a Fr. tone of voice. His mus. is noted for harmonic richness and colour contrasts, also for the vividness of his word-painting. Comp. 17 operas, incl. Médée (Paris 1693). His other th. pieces (intermèdes and incidental mus.) are notable for lightness of texture and for wit and humour.

Chasins, Abram (b NY, 1903). Amer. pianist and composer. Studied pf. with Hofmann and Godowsky, comp. with R. Goldmark. On staff Curtis Institute 1926--35. Mus. dir. of NY radio station (WQXR) 1949--65. Author of several books. Comps. incl. 2 pf. concs., Parade (1931), Rush Hour in Hong Kong (pf.), etc.

Chassé (Fr.). In ballet, the 'chasing' away of one foot by a touch from the other.

Chasse, Cor de (Fr.). Hunting horn.

Chasse, La (Fr.). The Hunt. Nickname for Haydn's Sym. in D, No. 73 (Hob.I:73); reference is to the final movement. Comp. 1780--1.

Chasseur Maudit, Le (The Accursed Hunter). Symphonic poem by Franck (1881--2), based on ballad by G. A. Bürger.

Chatburn, Thomas (b Blyth, 1941). Eng. composer. Studied Univ. of Wales, RMCM, and Princeton Univ. Studied in USA with Sessions and Babbitt. Lecturer in mus. Oxford Polytechnic. Works incl. pieces for ch. and jazz orchs., and Study and Prayer for small orch. (1978).

Chausson, Ernest (b Paris, 1855; d Limay, 1899). Fr. composer. Law student; entered Paris Cons. 1879 to study with Massenet, but left to transfer to Franck. Best-known works are Poème de l'amour et de la mer, v. and orch., Op. 19 (1882--90, rev. 1893); Poème, vn. and orch., Op. 25 (1896); Chanson perpetuelle, v. and orch., Op. 37 (1898); pf. qt., Op. 30 (1897); sym. in B flat, Op. 20 (1889--90); Conc. for pf., vn., and str. qt., Op. 21 (1889--91). Of his 3 operas, only Le roi Arthur has been staged (Brussels 1903).

Chavez, Carlos (b Mexico City, 1899; d Mexico City, 1978). Mex. composer and cond. Travelled in Europe and USA 1922--8. Cond. Mexico S.O. 1928--48. Dir., Nat. Cons. of Mexico 1928--34. Founder and dir., Mexican Nat. Institute of Fine Arts 1947--52. Dir., composers' workshop, Nat. Cons. 1960--5. Comps. incl. 7 syms., pf. conc., vn. conc., opera The Visitors (lib. by Kallman) (1953--6), ballet Caballos de Vapor (Horse Power) (1926--7). Nationalist style but rarely used folk material.

Chaykovsky. See Tchaikovsky, Pyotr.

Che (It.). Who, which.

Checkmate. Ballet in 1 act by Bliss to his own lib., choreog. N. de Valois. Prod. by SW co., Paris 1937; then over 100 perfs. in Britain; as Suite, NY 1939.

Chef d'attaque (Fr.). Leader of the attack. Orch. leading vn. (Eng.), or concert-master (Amer.).

Chef d'orchestre (Fr.). Conductor.

Chekker. 14th-cent. name for an unidentified instr. which may have been a clavichord.

Chélard, Hippolyte André Jean Baptiste (b Paris, 1789; d Weimar, 1861). Fr. composer and violinist. Studied Paris Cons. (Prix de Rome). Opera Macbeth (lib. by Rouget de Lisle) prod. Paris Opéra 1827. Settled Munich 1830. Cond. Ger. opera in London 1832--3 and later worked in Weimar. Other operas incl. Die Hermannschlacht (Munich 1835).

Chelsea Opera Group. Opera co. founded 1950 to give concert perfs., usually in orig. language. Gave early opportunities to many young British singers,conds., and musicians who later achieved fame, e.g. Colin Davis, Thomas Hemsley, Bernard Keeffe, John Carol Case, Heather Harper, Roger Stalman, Peter Glossop, James Loughran, Alberto Remedios, Sheila Armstrong, Pauline Tinsley, Derek Hammond-Stroud, Sarah Walker, and Roger Norrington. F.p. (Don Giovanni) organized by Colin Davis, David Cairns, and Stephen Gray, was given in Oxford. Among operas perf. have been Fidelio, Menotti's The Telephone, Mozart's Zaide and Idomeneo, Hugo Cole's The Tunnel, Rossini's Guillaume Tell and Verdi's Don Carlos (both in Fr.), Berlioz's Les Troyens, Weber's Euryanthe, Mussorgsky's Boris Godunov (orig. version), Strauss's Feuersnot, Dvořák's The Jacobin, and Janáček's Jenůfa.

Cheltenham Festival. Annual summer mus.fest. held (usually in July) in spa of Cheltenham, Eng. Begun in 1945 as a fest. of Brit. contemporary mus. but scope widened in 1969 to embrace contemporary mus. of other nationalities. Many post-1945 Brit. chamber works, concs., and syms. (hence the expression 'a Cheltenham Symphony') received f.ps. at the fest., many of them from Hallé Orch., cond. Barbirolli, who gave bulk orch. concerts 1947--61. First dir. G.A.M. Wilkinson, 1944--69. Since 1969 programme dir. has been John Manduell..

Cheminée du roi René, La (King René's Chimney). Suite by Milhaud for fl., ob., cl., bn., and hn., 1939. Title refers to street in Aix-en-Provence commemorating 15th-cent. monarch.

Chemin-Petit, Hans (b Potsdam, 1902; d Berlin, 1981). Ger. composer and cond. Studied Berlin Hochschule, becoming prof. there 1929 and ass. dir. 1965--8. Dir. Magdeburg Cath. choir 1939--44 and from 1944 of Berlin Phil. Choir. Comps. incl. opera König Nicolo (1959), org. conc. (1963), 2 syms. (1932, 1949), choral works, and chamber mus.

Cherkassky, Shura (Alexander Isaakovich) (b Odessa, 1911). Russ.-born pianist, Amer. citizen. Pupil of J. Hofmann. Settled USA 1922. Studied Curtis Institute. First extensive European tours after 1945.

Cherniavsky, Mischel (b Uman, S. Russia, 1893; d Dieppe, 1982). Russ.-born cellist, later Brit. citizen. Studied with Popper. Member of pf. trio 1900--23 with brothers Leo and Jan, thereafter solo performer in concs. and recitals.

Cherry Ripe. Setting by C. E. Horn early in 19th cent. of poem by Herrick (1648).

Cherubini, (Maria) Luigi (Carlo Zanobi Salvadore) (b Florence, 1760; d Paris, 1842). It.composer. Studied in It. Comp. quantity of church mus. by age of 16. Visited London in 1784 producing 2 operas there. Settled in Paris 1788 where his new, Gluck-inspired operatic style revolutionized Fr. stage.Under a cloud because of Napoleon's disfavour, went for a time to Vienna where he met Beethoven who was strongly influenced (esp. in Fidelio) by Cherubini's operas, 4 of which he heard in Vienna. Visited London 1815, writing Sym. while there. Became prof. of comp. Paris Cons. 1816, dir. 1821--41. His Masses are deservedly famous. Among his nearly 30 operas were: Quinto Fabio (1779, rev. 1783, Rome), Armida (Florence 1782), Adriano in Siria (Leghorn 1782), Lo sposo di tre (Venice 1783), La finta principessa (London 1785), Giulio Sabino (London 1786), Ifigenia in Aulide (Turin 1788), Démophoön (Paris 1788), Lodoiska (Paris 1791), Médée (Paris 1797), Les Deux Journées (Ger. Der Wasserträger, Eng. The Water Carrier) (Paris 1800), Anacrónion (1803), Faniska (Vienna 1806), Les Abencérages (Paris 1813), Bayard à Mezières (1814). His Requiem No. 2, in D minor, still frequently performed, was written in 1836 and f.p. at the Paris Cons. in 1838. His Requiem in C minor was comp. in 1816 and f.p. in St Denis 1817. He also wrote 6 str. qts.

Chester, J. & W. Ltd. Eng. firm of mus. publishers founded in Brighton 1874, transferred to London 1915, specializing in Russ. and contemporary foreign composers. Pubd. journal The Chesterian from 1915 to 1961. Since 1957 linked with Hansen and other Scandinavian publishers.

Chest of Viols. Any complete set of 6 viols of different sizes (so called because they were usually stored in a specially built chest or cupboard).

Chest Voice. Lowest register of human v., others being 'head' and 'middle', so called because the notes seem to come from singer's chest.

Chetham's School of Music. School in Manchester founded 1653 by Humphrey Chetham as charitable foundation for boys. In 1969 became first Brit. co-educationl sch. basing admission solely on mus. audition. Has 275 pupils. Specialist mus.education given within framework of full academic curriculum.

Chevalet (Fr.). Trestle. Bridge of bowed instr., etc.

Chevé, Emile J. M. See Galin-Paris-Chevé.

Chevillard, Camille (Paul Alexandre) (b Paris, 1859; d Chatou, 1923). Fr. cond. and composer, son of leading Fr. cellist. In 1886 became ass. cond. to Lamoureux, succeeding him 1899. Prof. at Cons. 1907. Cond. Paris Opéra 1914. Wrote orch. and chamber mus.

Cheville (Fr.). Peg, e.g. of str. instr.

Chevreuil, Raymond (b Brussels, 1901; d Montignies-le-Tilleul, 1976). Belg. composer. Studied Brussels Cons. Dir. of mus.programmes, Brussels radio 1956--63. Comps. incl. 6 str. qts., 8 syms., 3 pf. concs., 2 vc. concs., 3 vn. concs., hn. conc., cl. conc., etc.

Chiaro, chiara (It.). Clear, unconfused. Hence Chiaramente, clearly, distinctly; chiarezza, clarity, distinctness.

Chiave (It.). Clef.

Chica (Sp.). Early formof Fandango.

Chicago Musical College. Division of Roosevelt Univ. since 1954 when it merged with univ.'s sch. of mus. Offers degrees of B. Mus. and M. Mus. Founded as Chicago Acad. of Mus. 1867 by Florenz Ziegfeld Sr. Changed name 1872. Rudolph Ganz was dir., later pres., 1930--54.

Chicago Opera Company. Several cos. have used this title, the first in 1910 with Campanini as dir. Leading light was sop. Mary Garden, who was art. dir. 1921--2. Co. re-formed as Civic Opera Co. 1922--32, with Giorgio Polacco as cond. (1918--30). Singers like Frida Leider and Eva Turner in co. atthis time. New opera house opened 1929, but depression closed co. 1932. Visiting cos. until 1954 when Carol Fox (b Chicago, 1926; d Chicago, 1981) formed Lyric Opera of Chicago.

Chicago Symphony Orchestra. 3rd oldest sym. orch. in USA. Founded 1891 by Theodore Thomas as the Chicago Orch. Re-named Theodore Thomas Orch. 1906, then present name 1912. Conds.: Thomas 1891--1905; Frederick Stock 1905--42; Désiré Defauw 1943--7; Artur Rodzinski 1947--8; Rafael Kubelik 1950--3; Fritz Reiner 1953--63; Jean Martinon 1963--9; Georg Solti from 1969. First tour of Europe 1971.

Chichester Psalms. Choral work by Leonard Bernstein for counterten., ch., and orch. Text in Hebrew. Written for Chichester Cath., where perf. in July 1965. Orig. scoring is for organ, harp, and perc.

Chiesa (It.). Church. Hence Aria da Chiesa (an aria for church use); Cantata da Chiesa (see Cantata); Concerto da Chiesa (see Concerto); Sonata da Chiesa (see Sonata).

Chifonie. Another name for hurdy-gurdy.

Chilcot, Thomas (b ?Bath, c.1700; d Bath, 1766). Eng. org.; composer of settings of Shakespeare songs, and kbd. works.

Childhood of Christ, The (Berlioz). See Enfance du Christ, L'.

Child of our Time, A. Oratorioby Tippett for sop., cont., ten., and bass soloists, ch. and orch. Comp. 1939--41, f.p. 1944. Lib. by composer based on persecution of Jews begun after assassination of Nazi official Vom Rath by Jewish boy Grynspan at Ger. Legation, Paris, autumn 1938. Uses Negro spirituals in manner of Bach's chorales in his Passions.

Child, William (b Bristol, 1606; d Windsor, 1697). Eng. composer and organist. Organist Chapel Royal, in reign of Charles I, also serving Charles II at Restoration. Comp. hymns, anthems, church services, mus. for viols, and catches.

Children's Corner. 6 pf. pieces by Debussy (1906--8) ded. to his daughter. With Eng. titles (explained by influence of Eng. governess)---Doctor Gradus ad Parnassum (see Gradus ad Parnassum); Jimbo's Lullaby ('Jimbo' is composer's mistake for 'Jumbo'); Serenade for the Doll; Snow is Dancing; The Little Shepherd; Golliwogg's Cakewalk. Orch. by Caplet, 1911.

Children's Overture, A. Orch. work by Quilter, 1914, based on nursery-rhymes. Intended as ov. to play 'Where the Rainbow Ends', for which Quilter wrote incid. mus., but not used.

Chilingirian, Levon (b Nicosia, 1948). Cypriot violinist. Studied RCM and with M. Parikian. First prize, BBC Beethoven Competition 1969 and Munich Int. Competition 1971. Sonata duo with Clifford Benson. Founder and leader Chilingirian Quartet from 1971.

Chilingirian Quartet. Formed 1971, led by L. Chilingirian, coached by S. Nissel (Amadeus Quartet) and Hans Keller. Resident qt. Liverpool Univ. 1973--6. Tours of Europe and Scandinavia. NY début 1977, followed by US tour.

Chime Bells. Small medieval bells related to modern cymbals. Had a high central dome.

Chinese Crash Cymbal. This differs in shape from the normal cymbal. The cup is much shallower and its edge turns up. It is made of a special alloy peculiar to the Chinese, and when struck with a drum stick gives a brilliant crash.

Chinese Temple Block. See Korean Temple Block.

Chinese Wood Block. Oblong block of wood, 7" or 8" long, with slots cut in it. Struck with stick of a snare drum gives a hard, hollow tone. Other names are Clog Box and Tap Box. Used in jazz and by 20th-cent. composers, e.g. Lambert in Rio Grande.

Ching, James (b Thornton Heath, Surrey, 1900; d 1962). Eng. pianist. Studied Oxford, RAM and RCM, Berlin, and Leipzig. Founded own pf. sch. and wrote books on pf. technique.

Chiroplast. Hand-rest for pf. practice, once a part of the Logier system's equipment.

Chisholm, Erik (b Glasgow, 1904; d Rondebosch, S. Africa, 1965). Scot. cond., pianist, and composer. Studied with Tovey and Pouishnoff (pf.). Cond. Glasgow Grand Opera Soc. 1930-9, giving Brit. première of several operas, e.g. Berlioz's Béatrice et Bénédict and Les Troyens, and reviving Mozart's Idomeneo and La Clemenza di Tito. Prof. of mus., Cape Town Univ. 1945--65, where his opera pioneering continued. Comp. 4 operas, ballets, 2 pf. concs., vn. conc., 2 syms., chamber mus.

Chistu. Basque mus. instr. similar to the Renaissance tabor pipe.

Chitarra. It. name for guitar. Hence chitarriglia, a smaller higher-pitched type of Sp. guitar; chitarrino, 17th-cent. name for small 4-course guitar; chitarra battente, 5-course metal-strung guitar with fixed metal frets and played with plectrum.

Chittarone. Largest of the lute family, developed in It. during 16th cent. Larger than its close relative the theorbo, both being designed as accompanying instr. and to improve on the bass register of the lute. However a solo repertory exists. Stringing was variable, 6 double course and 8 single basses being the most usual. Mentioned by Caccini in his Le nuove musiche (1602).

Chiuso, Chiusa (It.). Closed, stopped, with special reference to the horn.

Chladni, Ernst (Florenz Friedrich) (b Wittenberg, 1756; d Breslau, 1827). Ger. scientist who made important acoustic researches. Invented Clavicylinder, kbd. instr. with glass cylinder, worked by pedal and revolving against strips of wood, glass, or metal activated by keys.

CHM. Choirmaster's diploma of Royal College of Organists.

Ch.M. Choirmaster's diploma of Amer. Guild of Organists or of Royal Canadian College of Organists.

Chocolate Soldier, The (Der tapfere Soldat, The Valiant Soldier). Operetta by O. Straus to lib. by L. Jacobson and R. Bernauer based on G. B. Shaw's play Arms and the Man (1894). Prod. Vienna 1908, NY 1909, London 1910.

Choeur (Fr.). Chorus, choir. But Grand choeur, besides meaning Large Chorus and Full Choir, means Full Organ (or a comp. for such).

Choir or Chorus. (1) A Mixed Voice Choir (or Chorus) is one of both women and men. |(2) A Male Voice Choir is (usually) of men only, but may be of boys and men. (3) A Double Choir is one arr. in 2 equal and complete bodies, with a view not merely to singing in 8 parts but also to responsive effects. |(4) Architecturally, the choir is that part of a cath. which, in a church other than a cath., is called the chancel. |(5) Chorus tends to be used for secular bodies, but there are many exceptions.

Choir Organ(or choir). Division of org. consisting of soft stops suitable for acc. of choir.

Choke Cymbals. 2 ordinary cymbals fixed face to face on a rod, with a device by which their pressure one on the other can be adjusted, according to the tone-quality desired. They are played with a drumstick, giving a short, sharp crash.

Chop, Max (b Grenzen, 1862; d Berlin, 1929). Ger. composer and scholar. Turned to mus. from law. Comp. 2 pf. concs., orch. suites, songs, etc. Mus. critic and ed. Analyst of Liszt symphonic poems and Wagner operas. First to write monograph on Delius (1907).

Chopin, Fryderyk (Franciszek) (Frédéric Fran; Alcois), (b Zelazowa Wola, 1810; d Paris, 1849). Polish composer and pianist (Fr. father, Polish mother). Began pf. studies with Zywny 1816 and played conc. by Gyrowetz in Warsaw 1818. In 1822 began studies in harmony and counterpoint with Joseph Elsner, dir. of Warsaw Cons. In 1825 his Rondo in C minor was pubd. as Op. 1, though it was far from being his first comp. The next year, entered Warsaw Cons. as full-time mus. student, leaving in 1829. While student, wrote Krakowiak Rondo. In 1829 comp. his conc. in F minor and gave 2 concerts in Vienna. Played the conc. in Warsaw twice in Mar. 1830 and later in year played E minor conc. Left home late in 1830, travelling via Dresden and Prageto Vienna and giving many concerts. In Stuttgart heard that the Russians had captured Warsaw. Arrived Paris Sept. 1831; became pf. teacher to aristocracy, gradually renouncing public career and concentrating on composing. Became friend of most of outstanding musicians of day. In an essay taking the form of a discussion between Florestan and Eusebius, Schumann hailed the Là ci darem variations, Op. 2, with the words 'Hats off, gentlemen! A new genius!' In 1836 Chopin met Fr. novelist George Sand and lived with her 1838--47. From 1836 the first signs of the tuberculosis that was to kill him appeared and the rest of his life was a constant struggle with sickness. After break with George Sand, gave a concert in Paris early in 1848 but left for London after the revolution, in need of money. Gave concerts in Manchester, Glasgow, Edinburgh, and London and returnedto Paris to die in Oct. 1849. Although Chopin's pf. mus. is beset with romantic stories and nicknames, he himself insisted on its existence only as absolute mus., hence the rather severe titles which refer only to mus. formsand are never picturesque, as in Schumann and Liszt. His own playing was both powerful and rhythmically subtle, with astonishing evenness of touch. Taking the name 'nocturne' from John Field, he transformed the form, as he did everything, by harmonic imagination and melodic distinction. There are bold, prophetic passages in his mus., ornamentation derived from his admiration for It. opera, and, in his Polish works such as the mazurkas and polonaises, a raw passion elemental in its strength. TheVictorian conception of Chopin as a consumptive drawing-room balladeer of thekbd., a conception connived at by lesser pianists, has long been exposed as a false trail leading hearers away from the true, poetic, heroic Chopin. Prin. comps.:

piano sonatas: C minor, Op. 4 (1828); Bb minor, Op. 35 (1839, Funeral March 1837); B minor, Op. 58 (1844).

piano and orch.: Conc. No. 1 in E minor, Op. 11 (1830); No. 2 in F minor, Op. 21 (1829--30); Variations on Là ci darem la mano, Op. 2 (1827); Grande Fantaisie on Polish Airs, Op. 13 (1828); Krakowiak Rondo, Op. 14 (1828); Andante Spianato (1834); Grande Polonaise brillante in E flat,Op. 22 (1830--1).

solo piano: Ballade in G minor, Op. 23 (1831--5), in F major/A minor, Op. 38 (1836--9), in Ab, Op. 47 (1840--1), in F minor, Op. 52 (1842); Scherzo in B minor, Op. 20 (1831--2), in Bb minor/D $\flat$ , Op. 31 (1837), in C $\sharp$  minor, Op.39 (1839), in E, Op. 54 (1842); 12 Études, Op. 10 (1829--32), 12 Études, Op. 25 (1832--6); 3 Nocturnes, Op. 9 (1830--1), 3 Nocturnes, Op. 15 (1830--3), 2 Nocturnes, Op. 27 (1835), 2 Nocturnes, Op. 32 (1836--7), 2 Nocturnes, Op. 37 (1838--9), 2 Nocturnes, Op. 48 (1841), 2 Nocturnes, Op. 55 (1843), 2 Nocturnes, Op. 62 (1846), 2 Nocturnes, Op. 72 (1827, 1830); 24 Preludes, Op. 28 (1836--9), Prelude in C $\sharp$  minor, Op. 45 (1841); Valses, in Ab (1827), in E (1829), in Eb (1829--30), in E minor (1830), in Eb (1840), in Eb, Op. 18 (1831), 3 Valses, Op. 34 (1831--8), in Ab, Op. 42 (1840), 3 Valses, Op. 64(1846--7), 2 Valses, Op. 69 (1835, 1829), 3 Valses, Op. 70 (1829--41); Polonaises, in G minor (1817), in Bb (1817), in Ab (1821), in G $\sharp$  (1822), 2 Polonaises, Op. 26 (1834--5), 2 Polonaises, Op. 40 (1838--9), Polonaise in F $\sharp$ , Op. 44 (1840--1), Polonaise in Ab, Op. 53 (1842), 3 Polonaises, Op. 71 (1825--8); Polonaise Fantaisie in Ab, Op. 61 (1845--6); 4 Mazurkas, Op. 6 (1830), 5 Mazurkas, Op. 7 (1831), 4 Mazurkas, Op. 17 (1834), 4 Mazurkas, Op. 24 (1834--5), 4 Mazurkas, Op. 30 (1836--7), 4 Mazurkas, Op. 33 (1837--8), 4 Mazurkas, Op. 41 (1838--40), 3 Mazurkas, Op. 50 (1842), 3 Mazurkas, Op. 56 (1843), 3 Mazurkas, Op. 59 (1845), 3 Mazurkas, Op. 63 (1846), 4 Mazurkas, Op. 67 (1835, 1846, 1849), 4 Mazurkas, Op. 68 (1827--49); Berceuse, in D $\flat$ , Op. 57 (1843--4); Barcarolle in F $\sharp$ , Op. 60 (1845--6); Boléro, Op. 19 (1833); 3 Écossaises, Op. 72 (1826); Fantaisie in F minor, Op. 49 (1841); Fantasie Impromptu in C $\sharp$  minor,Op. 66 (1835); 3 Impromptus, Ab, Op. 29 (1837), F $\sharp$ , Op. 36 (1839), Gb, Op. 51 (1842); Allegro de concert, Op. 46 (1832--41); Tarantelle In Ab, Op. 43 (1841).

2 pianos: Rondo in C, Op. 73 (1828).

chamber music: Piano Trio in G minor, Op. 8 (1828--9); vc. sonata in G minor, Op. 65 (1845--6); Introduction and Polonaise in C, vc. and pf., Op. 3 (1829--30); Grand Duo in E on themes from Meyerbeer's Robert le Diable, vc. and pf. (1832).

songs: 17 Polish Songs (1829--47).

Chopsticks (Fr. Côtelettes, cutlets; Ger. Koteletten Walzer). Anonymous quick waltz tune for pf. first pub. London 1877 as 'the celebrated Chop Waltz'. It is perf. with 2 outstretched forefingers or with the flat hands held perpendicularly, the notes being struck by their sides (i.e. with the outsides of the little fingers), with a tonic-dominant vamping bass part and an occasional touch of glissando. The name therefore refers to chopping and to Chinese eating utensils. There is a coll. of comps. based on a similar tune---Paraphrases, by Borodin, Cui, Lyadov, Rimsky-Korsakov, and Liszt (1877).

Choragus. (1) In Ancient Gr., leader of ch. (2) An official peculiar to the Univ. of Oxford. When the Lectureship or Professorship in Mus. was founded and endowed by William Heather in 1626, he laid it down that a subordinate official, called Choragus, was to conduct practices of mus. twice a week. The office still exists (but not with that duty).

Choral (Ger.), Chorale (Eng.). (1) Metrical hymn-tune characteristic of the Ger. Reformed Church and sung in unison. Martin Luther (1483--1546) wished to restore the congregation's role in church services and wrote simple devotional words to tunes familiar either as folksongs or as old ecclesiastical melodies (i.e. plainsong chants). A famous example is Ein' feste Burg ist unser Gott (A Safe Stronghold our God is still). But the Ger. word Choral orig. belonged to the unreformed Church and means the ecclesiastical Plainsong, the Cantus choralis. Properly, the 'Choral' in the Ger. R.C. Church is that part of the plainsong sung by more than one v. (the 'Concentus' as distinguished from the 'Accentus'), but this distinction of terminology is not always observed. The first Lutheran chorales had not the regular rhythms that they later took on. They had often a mixture of duple and triple time and, indeed, a good deal of the free rhythm of plainsong. With Lutheran chorales, as with Genevan, Eng., and Scot. hymn tunes, the melody was at first in the ten. During the 17th cent. it gradually became usual to place it in the treble, as today. 4-part settings of chorales were made by many musicians in the 16th, 17th, and 18th cents. The repertory of the Ger. chorale may be said to have been completed in Bach's day. He comp. only about 30, but he made 400 reharmonizations of existing chorale melodies and used some of them with memorable effect in his settings of the Passions. (2) The term is used in USA as a synonym for choir or chorus, e.g. Robert Wagner Chorale.

Choral Fantasia. (1) Beethoven's Op. 80, in C minor, for solo pf., ch., and orch., comp. 1808. Comprises variations on Beethoven's song Gegenliebe (1794--5), a melody which resembles that of prin. theme of finale of his 9th Sym., for which this Fantasia seems to have been a preliminary experiment. Text is poem by Christoph Kuffner. (2) Holst's Op. 51, for sop., ch., org., brass, perc., and str., to words by Robert Bridges (1844--1930), comp. 1930. F.p. Gloucester Fest. 1931.

Choral Prelude or Chorale Prelude (Ger. Choral Vorspiel). From the custom of playing org. preludes and interludes to the chorale grew the technique of 2 special forms of comp., one based upon a treatment of the chorale melody, often taken line by line and surrounded by other melodic parts woven together into elaborate counterpoint, and the other not reproducing the chorale intact but suggesting it to the minds of the hearers by taking its first few notes as the theme to be elaborated. For a north Ger. congregation, to whom the melodies were all known from childhood, such a piece of organ mus. had great interest and significance. Among the composers who helped to develop this form were Sweelinck (1562--1621), Scheidt (1587--1654), Pachelbel (1653--1706), Buxtehude (1637--1707), Reinken (1623--1722), and Böhm (1661--1733). Such of Bach's forebears as were orgs. also took their part in the working out of the form, and he himself crowned the labours of all his predecessors and contemporaries. In addition to the Chorale Preludes of Bach there are certain early works which he called Chorale Partitas, the word Partita here, as with certain other composers, having not the usual sense of a suite but of an air with variations. The no. of variations corresponds to the number of the verses of the hymns, and each variation seems to be designed to re-express the thought of the corresponding verse. Since Bach many other Ger. composers have written chorale preludes, Brahms's last comp., Op. 122, being a set of 11. To some extent the same form was cultivated in Eng. Purcell has a Voluntary on the Old Hundredth that, in its way, is on the lines of the Bach Chorale Prelude.

Choral Symphony. A sym. in which a ch. is used at some point. By general usage the Choral Sym. means Beethoven's Sym. No. 9 in D minor, Op. 125, in which the finale is a setting for 4 soloists, ch., and orch. of Schiller's 'Ode to Joy'. But Holst wrote a Choral Symphony (to poems by Keats, f.p. 1925), and there are many syms. since Beethoven which use soloists and ch. in one or more movements, e.g. Vaughan Williams's A Sea Symphony, Britten's Spring Symphony, Mahler's Syms. Nos. 2, 3, and 8, and Shostakovich's 2nd and 13th Syms. Bantock's Atalanta in Calydon is a choral sym. for vv. alone.

Choral Vorspiel. See Choral Prelude.

Chord. Any simultaneous combination of notes, but usually of not fewer than 3. The use of chords is the basic foundation of harmony.

Chording. (1) A choir-trainer's term for bad and good intonation of the notes sounded together in chords. (2) Spacing of the intervals in a chord. (3) In USA the term means the improvised strumming of accompanimental chords on a banjo, etc.

Chordophone. Term for mus. instr. which produce sound by means of str. stretched from one point to another. Simple chordophones are various types of zither; composites are lutes, lyres, rebecs, violins, guitars, harps, etc. One of 4 classifications of instr. devised by C. Sachs and E. M. von Hornbostel and pubd. in Zeitschrift für Ethnologie, 1914. Other categories are membranophones, idiophones, and aerophones, with electrophones recently added.

Choreographic Poem. An orch. work designed for ballet but also self-sufficient because it has something of the quality and form of a tone-poem, e.g. Ravel's La Valse (1920), described on the score as poème chorégraphique.

Choreography. (1) The system of describing dances, esp. in ballet, by signs for the steps, written alongside the melodies. An early method was Arbeau's, described in his Orchésographie (1588--9). The term choreography was introduced by Lefeuillet in 1699. Today one speaks of a ballet having been 'choreographed' by its creator. (2) The visual comp. of the ballet.

Chorist-Fagott. Name for the bass (double) curtal, forerunner of the bn., because it was often used for doubling the bass line in church mus.

Chorley, Henry Fothergill (b Blackley Hurst, Lancs., 1808; d London, 1872). Eng. mus. critic for the Athenaeum weekly magazine 1831--68, influential in his time. Also wrote novels, plays, and libs. for operas by Sullivan, Benedict, and Wallace.

Chôros. A sequence of 14 works by Villa-Lobos, comp. between 1920 and 1929, for various instr. ranging from solo guitar to 2 pf. and orch. and incorporating S. Amer. rhythms and popular melodic characteristics.

Chorus. (1) See Choir or Chorus. (2) Old name for Bagpipe. (3) Old str. instr.---generally the crwth.

Chorus Reed. Any org. reed stop not intended for solo use.

Chorzempa, Daniel (b Minneapolis, 1944). Amer. organist, pianist, and composer. Educated Minnesota Univ. and Cologne (elec. studio). Int. reputation as org. virtuoso. Authority on Reubke.

Chotzinoff, Samuel (b Vitebsk, 1889; d NY, 1964). Russ.-Amer. pianist and critic. Settled in USA at 17, becoming accompanist to Zimbalist and Heifetz. Critic for NY World, then for NY Post. Taught at Curtis Institute. Persuaded Toscanini to become cond. of NBC Sym. Orch. in 1936 and became NBC dir. of mus. and, in 1951, producer of NBC TV operas, commissioning Menotti's Amahland the Night Visitors. Wrote several books.

Chout (Fr. spelling of Russ. Shut, buffoon). Ballet by Prokofiev (The Buffoon who out-buffooned seven buffoons), his Op. 21. First version 1915, rev. 1920. Prod. Diaghilev, Paris 1921. Based on A. Afanasyev's Russ. tales. Symphonic suite 1922.

Christie, John (b Eggesford, 1882; d Glyndebourne, 1962). Eng. org. builder and schoolmaster. Married sop. Audrey Mildmay 1931, and founded in 1934 annual summer fest. of opera in opera house built at his home Glyndebourne, near Lewes, Sussex. C.H. 1954. His son George (b Glyndebourne, 1934) succeeded him as chairman of the Glyndebourne Fest. and was knighted in 1984. In John Christie's memory, the Worshipful Company of Musicians has, since 1965, enabled the award of an annual scholarship for a promising member of the Glyndebourne company to study abroad. Holders have included Ryland Davies, Richard Van Allan, Jill Gomez, Teresa Cahill, Ian Caley, Linda Esther Gray, Elizabeth Gale, John Rawnsley, Anthony Rolfe Johnson, Fiona Kimm, Kate Flowers, and Helen Walker.

Christmas Concerto. Name of Corelli's Concerto Grosso in G minor, Op. 6, No. 8, for str. and continuo (1712). It was intended as a concerto da chiesa (for church use) and was inscribed fatto per la notte di Natale (made for Christmas Night). Torelli's 12 Concerti Grossi Op. 8 (1709) for str. and continuo are entitled con un pastorale per il Santissimo Natale, this 'pastoral for the most holy night of Christmas' being No. 6, also in G minor.

Christmas Oratorio. Choral work by Bach for soloists, ch., and orch., text by Picander and Bach, being biblical story of the Nativity with commentary. Comprises 6 cantatas designed for perf. in Leipzig on 3 days of Christmas fest., New Year's Day, New Year's Sunday, and Epiphany. Some of the mus. was comp. for secular words. Schütz also wrote a Christmas Oratorio (1664). Ger. title is Weihnachts-Oratorium.

Christoff, Boris (b Plovdiv, Bulgaria, 1914). Bulgarian bass. Orig. lawyer. Studied singing in Rome and Salzburg. Opera débüt Rome 1945, CG 1949. Chicago Opera 1958--63. Notable interpreter of Mussorgsky's Boris and Verdi's King Philip.

Christopher Columbus (Christophe Colomb). (1) Opera in 2 acts (27 scenes) by Milhaud to lib. by Paul Claudel. Comp. 1928. Prod. Berlin 1930. Paris (concert version) 1936. Uses cinema screen. Operas on this subject also by Ottoboni, Morlacchi, and Egk. (2) Early ov. by Wagner intended for play by Apel, f.p. Leipzig 1835. (3) Incidental mus. by Walton (unpubd.) for radio play by Louis MacNeice broadcast BBC Oct. 1942.

Christou, Jani (b Heliopolis, Egypt, 1926; d Athens, 1970). Gr. composer. Educated Alexandria and Cambridge Univ. Studied comp. with H. F. Redlich, also psychology with Jung. Employed serialism and 12-note technique 1948--58, then became interested in elec. sounds, establishing elec. workshop in Athens. Invented form of notation to incorporate stage action. Comps. incl. syms.; Tongues of Fire and Mysterion (oratorios); and works involving tape and aleatory procedures.

Christus. (1) Oratorio by Liszt for soloists, ch., and orch., comp. 1862--7, f.p. Budapest 1873. (2) Oratorio, Op. 97, by Mendelssohn, text by Chevalier Bunsen, begun 1844, unfinished. F.p. of 8 nos., Birmingham 1852. (3) The part of Christ in Bach's St Matthew Passion is often denominated thus.

Christus am Ölberge (Christ on the Mount of Olives). Oratorio by Beethoven, Op. 85, for sop., ten., bass, ch., and orch., comp. 1803. Lib. by Franz Xaver Huber. F.p. Vienna 1803. English version entitled En Gedi changes subject to story of David.

Chromatic (derived from Gr. chromos = colour). The chromatic was one of the 3 classifications of Gr. scales. In modern mus. it refers tonotes not belonging to the diatonic scale. They are indicated by chromatics. The chromatic scale is 12 ascending or descending semitones (sharps ascending, flats descending). Chromatic chords incl. one or more notes not in the diatonic scale of the prevailing key of the relevant passage.

Chromatic Fantasia and Fugue. Hpd. work by Bach, comp. 1720--3 at Cöthen.

Chromatic Harp. Harp built by Pleyel 1897 with a str. for every semitone, thus needing no pedals.

Chromaticism. (1) The use of chromatic intervals and chromatic chords. (2) A style of composing using chromatic harmony. Gesualdo in 16th cent. used advanced chromaticism. Bach's experiments in chromaticism were based on diatonic principles. The age of Romanticism explored chromaticism further because of need for emotional expression, hence the chromatic elements in Wagner's Tristan und Isolde and later works. See also Atonal.

Chronochromie (Time-colour). Orch. work by Messiaen in 7 sections: Introduction, Strophe I, Antistrophe I, Strophe II, Antistrophe II, Epode, Coda. Comp. 1960. F.p. Donaueschingen, 16 Oct. 1960, cond. Rosbaud. Epode is written for 18 str., each playing a different birdsong.

Chrysander, (Karl Franz) [fy65,3] Friedrich [fy75,1] (b Lübthen, Mecklenburg, 1826; d Bergedorf, 1901). Ger. critic and mus. historian. Authority on Handel, editing complete works for Ger. Handel Soc. and writing biography (1858--67; never completed). Worked also on other musicological subjects, publishing or editing works of Palestrina, Schütz, Carissimi, Corelli, Couperin, and J. S. Bach, and discovering autograph of Bach's B minor Mass.

Chueca, Federico (b Madrid, 1846; d Madrid, 1908). Sp. composer of zarzuelas, most of them in one act. Best-known is La gran via (1886), written in collab. with Valverde. His march Càdiz was Sp. nat. anthem under monarchy.

Chung, Kyung-Wha (b Seoul, Korea, 1948). Korean violinist, sister of Myung-Wha Chung and Myung-Whun Chung. Studied privately in Korea and at Juilliard Sch., NY. Début aged 9, Seoul, in Mendelssohn conc. NY début with NY P.O., 1968, European début with LSO, London, 1970. Brilliant int. career. Recordings of Sibelius, Walton, Elgar, and Stravinsky concs., among others.

Chung, Myung-Wha (b Seoul, Korea, 1944). Korean cellist, sister of Kyung-Wha Chung and Myung-Whun Chung. Studied Juilliard Sch., NY, and Univ. of S. Calif. (master-class with Piatigorsky). Soloist with leading orchs. Plays trio with sister and brother.

Chung, Myung-Whun (b Seoul, Korea, 1953). Korean pianist and cond., brother of Kyung-Wha Chung and Myung-Wha Chung. Studied Mannes Sch. of Mus. and Juilliard Sch., NY.

Début, Seoul 1960, as pianist; as cond. 1971. 2nd prize Tchaikovsky pf. competition, Moscow, 1974. Soloist with leading orchs. Ass. cond., Los Angeles P.O. 1978.

Church, John (b Windsor, 1675; d London, 1741). Eng. composer and chorister, Gentleman of Chapel Royal. Wrote anthems and songs.

Church Music Society (British). Founded 1906. Its objects are the encouragement of a high standard in the choice and perf. of mus. in worship. Predominantly Anglican in membership. See also Royal School of Church Music.

Chute de la Maison Usher, La (The Fall of the House of Usher). Opera in 3 scenes planned by Debussy based on Edgar Allan Poe but left incomplete. Work on it extended from 1908 to 1917. What survives is complete text and vocal score of scene 1 (prologue) and part of scene 2. F.p. New Haven, 1977.

Ciaia, Azzolino Bernardino della (b Siena, 1671; d Siena, 1755). It. composer, organist, and org.-designer. Wrote masses, cantatas, and instr. works.

Ciampi, Legrenzio Vincenzo (b Piacenza, 1719; d Venice, 1762). It. composer of operas and instr. pieces. Worked in London 1748--56. His opera Gli tre cicisbei ridicoli incl. song 'Tre giorni son che Nina' often attrib. Pergolesi.

Cibber, Susanna (Maria) (b London, 1714; d London, 1766). Eng. singer and actress; sister of Thomas Arne and 2nd wife (1734) of Theophilus Cibber. Début 1732, frequently singing Polly in The Beggar's Opera. Greatly admired by Handel, in whose Messiah she first sang the cont. arias (Dublin 1742). Gave up singing for acting 1746.

Ciccolini, Aldo (b Naples, 1925). It.-born Fr. pianist. Studied Naples Cons. Début 1942. Prof. of pf., Naples Cons., 1947. NY début 1950. Has specialized in works of Satie. Prof. of pf., Paris Cons., from 1971.

Ciconia, Johannes (b Liège, c. 1373; d Padua, 1412). Belg. composer of choral mus., also theorist. Importance was his combination of French Ars Nova and It. styles. Trained in Liège. Went to It. in cardinal's service, living and working there for some years.

Cid, Le. Opera in 4 acts by Massenet to lib. by d'Ennery, Gallet, and Blau, based on play by Corneille (1637). Prod. Paris 1885. Ballet mus. very popular. Operas on this subject also by Farinelli, Aiblinger, and Cornelius.

Cifra, Antonio (b probably nr. Terracina, 1575; d Loreto, 1629). It. composer, disciple of Palestrina. Held many important church mus. positions in It. and comp. over 200 motets, and madrigals, chamber mus., and org. mus.

Cigány (Hung; Ger. Zigeuner). Gipsy. What are called Cigány Bands consist normally of str., cl., and dulcimer.

Cigna (orig. Sens), Gina (b Angères, 1900). Fr.-It. sop.; studied Paris Cons. Début Milan 1927 (as Genoveffa Sens) in Rheingold, CG 1933, NY Met. 1936--8. Famous interpreter of Turandot in Puccini's opera. Became singing teacher 1948.

Cikker, Ján (b Banská Bystrica, Cz., 1911). Cz. composer. Studied Prague Cons. and Prague Acad. of Mus. (comp. with Novák). Studied cond. with Weingartner, Vienna 1936--7. Works incl. str. qts., symphonic poems, and operas incl. Resurrection (Vzkriesenie) (Tolstoy) 1962, Mr Scrooge (Dickens) 1963, and Coriolanus (1972).

Cilea, Francesco (b Palmi, Calabria, 1866; d Varazza, 1950). It. composer. Studied Naples Cons. First opera, Gina (1889), prod. while he was student. Other operas incl. La tilda (1892), L'Arlesiana (1897), Adriana Lecouvreur (1902), and Gloria (1907). From 1896 to 1904 prof. of comp., Florence Mus. Institute, dir. Palermo Cons. 1913--16, dir. Naples Cons. 1916--35.

Cima, Giovanni Paolo (b c.1570). It. composer and organist. Wrote masses, motets, and sonatas for vn., violada gamba and org., hpd., etc. Early user of medium of trio sonata. Wrote treatise on counterpoint 1622.

Cimarosa, Domenico (b Aversa, Naples, 1749; d Venice, 1801). It. composer. Studied in Naples, where he wrote first of his 65 operas. Pupil of Fenaroli and Piccinni. Worked in Rome and Naples until 1787 when he went to St Petersburg as court composer. In 1791 succeeded Salieri as court Kapellmeister in Vienna, writing Il matrimonio segreto there. Returned to Naples 1793 as choirmaster to the king. Sentenced to death 1799 for supporting French republican army but reprieved on condition he left Naples. Other operas incl. Artaserse (1784) and Le astuzie femminili (1794). Also wrote oratorios, church mus., and sonatas.

Cimbalom (Hung.). Dulcimer. It is a large concert instr. (horizontal str. struck with hammers) used in popular mus., by Kodály in his opera Háry János, and by Debussy and other composers, incl. Stravinsky (in Renard and Ragtime). First comp. to use it in symphonicmus. was Mosonyi. Stravinsky's interest was stimulated by the Hung. player, Aladar Racz. In the 1970s Márta Fábián has played works written for her by Jozsef Soproni and by György Ránki (a conc. for cimbalom and chamber ens., 1978).

Cimbasso (It.). Narrow bore tuba in Bb, used in Verdi opera scores up to Aida (1871).

Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra. Founded 1895. First regular cond. Frank van der Stucken, 1896--1907. Orch. suspended 1907--9 because of labour dispute. Stokowski cond. 1909-12; Ernst Kunwald 1912--17; Ysaye 1918--22; Fritz Reiner 1922--31; Eugene Goossens 1931--47; Thor Johnson 1947--58; Max Rudolf 1958--70; Thomas Schippers 1970--77; Michael Gielen from 1980. Concerts given in Mus. Hall since 1930s (renovated 1970).

Cinderella. (1) Various operas have been written based on Perrault's fairy-tale. See Cenerentola, La (Rossini) and Cendrillon (Massenet). (2) (Zolushka). Ballet, with songs, by Prokofiev, comp. 1940--4, f.p. Moscow 1945. Also ballet by J. Strauss II.

Cinelli (It.). Cymbals.

Cinesi, Le (The Chinese Ladies). 'Opera serenade', or divertissement, in 1 act by Gluck, to text expanded from lib. written by Metastasio for Caldara. Comp. 1754 for visit by Maria Theresa and Francis I to court of Gluck's employer, Prince von Hildburghausen.

Cipher, Ciphering. Continuous sounding of a note on the org. because of some mechanical defect.

Circles. Work by Berio for female v., harp, and 2 percussionists to text by e. e. cummings from his 'poems 1923--54'. Comp. 1960.

Circus Polka (for a young elephant). Pf. piece comp. 1942 by Stravinsky for Barnum and Bailey Circus to be danced by troupe of young elephants who gave f.p. in 1942 to arr. for wind band scored by David Reskin. Composer's version for sym. orch. f.p. Cambridge, Mass., 1944; f.p. in England, London 1952.

Cis (Ger.). The note C#.

Cisis (Ger.). The note C##.

Citole. Scholars are still uncertain just which medieval instr. was described by this term, but it seems possible that it was a forerunner of the Renaissance cittern, a kind of lyra.

Cittern. Renaissance instr. something between a lyre and a guitar, but with metal str., a flat back, and pear-shaped body. Played with a quill plectrum. Name derived from Gr. kithara (lyre), and the cittern was known as cistra (Fr.), Cister (Ger.), and Cithren (Eng.). In It. where it was developed it was called the cetra. Used as a solo instr. and in broken consort. Not to be confused with gittern. From late 17th cent. gave way to guitar but survived into early 20th cent. as folk instr. in Switz. and Ger.

City Center, New York. Home of enterprising opera and ballet cos., the former (NY City Opera) founded 1944 to provide high-standard opera at moderate prices. Housed in Lincoln Center since 1964. First mus. dir. László Halász 1944--51, then Joseph Rosenstock 1951--6, Erich Leinsdorf 1956, Julius Rudel 1957--79. Co. has given premières of several Amer. operas, also first Amer. perfs. of Bartók's Duke Bluebeard's Castle, Orff's Der Mond, and Strauss's Die schweigsame Frau. Several fine singers have begun careers with co. incl. Beverly Sills, (dir. since 1979) and Placido Domingo.

City of Desolation, The. Cantata, Op. 7, for sop., ch., and orch. by A. Milner, comp. 1955.

Civil, Alan (b Northampton, 1929). Eng. hn.-player and composer. Pupil of Aubrey Brain. Member of RPO 1953--55, Philharmonia Orch. 1955--66, prin. hn. BBC S.O. Prof. of hn. RCM. Member of several chamber groups. Comp. sym. for brass and perc. (1950), wind quintet (1951), wind octet (1951), hn. trio (1952). O.B.E. 1985.

Clair de Lune (Moonlight). (1) 3rd movement of Debussy's Suite bergamasque for pf.; exists in several other arrs., none by Debussy. (2) Song by Debussy (poem by Verlaine), No. 4 of his Fêtes galantes, in orig. version (1882). (3) Song by Fauré, his Op. 46 No. 2, same poem as (2).

Claque (Fr.). Smack, clap. Members of the audience at (usually) an opera-house but also in the concert-hall who are engaged by a performer, often at considerable expense, to applaud, call for encores, and generally show enthusiasm. Clauses are highly organized, under leadership of a chef de claque, and exert considerable influence. The clause appears to have developed in Paris c. 1820 and then to have spread to It. and to Vienna, and eventually to all the famous opera houses.

Clarabel, Clarabella, or Claribel Flute. Org. stop much the same as Hohlflöte.

'Claribel'. See Barnard, C. A.

Claricembalo, Clarichord. Misspellings (apparently) of Clavicembalo (Harpsichord) and Clavichord.

Clari, Giovanni Carlo Maria (b Pisa, 1667; d Pisa, 1754). It. composer. Studied at Bologna. Choirmaster, Pistoia Cath., 1703--24. His madrigals are notable for their daring modulations. Comp. operas and church mus., making advanced use of fugue in the latter. Best known for secular vocal duets and trios with continuo, comp. after 1730 and mainly fugal.

Clarinet. Single-reed woodwind instr. with cylindrical tube developed c. 1690 by J. C. Denner of Nuremberg, who, by adding 2 keys to the chalumeau, increased that instr.'s range by over 2 octaves. It was not playable in all keys until 1843 when Klose adapted the Boehm fl. key system to the cl. The first composer to use the cl. in a sym. was Mozart. As the reed blocks one end of the tube, the pipe acts as a 'stopped' one, sounding an octave lower than it would have done if left open. Like other cylindrical tubes the cl. overblows at the interval not of its first upper partial, the interval of an octave (as the fl. and ob. do), but at its 2nd (the interval of a 12th). The notes of the instr.'s first octave are obtained in the normal way and the gap of a 5th before the overblowing begins has to be filled by additional side-holes which leave the tone weaker at this point and the fingering somewhat more awkward. All members of the family have great powers of pianissimo and of crescendo and diminuendo---greater than those of any other wind instr. Double, triple, and flutter tonguing are possible. Varieties of cl. incl.: ^(a) Clarinet in C, Bb, or A---The normal treble instr. The existence of these 3 pitches was to enable the composer to use any key without creating undue difficulty for the player (see Transposing instrument). The Bb clarinet is a transposing instr., sounding a tone lower than written. The A clarinet sounds a minor 3rd lower than written. The C instr. is now not much used, on account of inferior tone, but figures in the scores of classical composers. It is not a transposing instr. (b) Bass Clarinet. Its range lies an octave below that of one of the above (usually of that of the Bb instr.). It differs somewhat in shape, its lower end being curved upwards and ending in a bell, and its upper one continued by a tube bent downwards to reach the player's mouth. Except in military band mus. it is treated as a transposing instr., its mus. being notated either in the treble clef and a 9th higher than the sound (Fr. method), or in the bass clef a 2nd above the sound (Ger. Method). (c) High Eb Clarinet, a 4th above the Bb instr. It is found in all military bands and occasionally figures in orch. scores, e.g. Richard Strauss's Alpensinfonie. It is a transposing instr., its mus. being notated a minor 3rd lower than the sound. (d) High D Clarinet. This serves the same purpose as the Eb Cl., but is much rarer. It is a transposing instr., being written for a tone lower than the sound. R. Strauss uses it in Symphonia Domestica and with outstanding effect in Till Eulenspiegel. (e) Alto Clarinet---in Eb and F. The Eb is practically a military band instr. and, even so, rare. The F instr. is practically a modernized Basset Horn. Both are written for in the treble clef and are transposing instr. (f) Pedal Clarinet, or Contrabass Clarinet, or Double-Bass Clarinet. Almost entirely a military band instr. Its part is written a 9th higher than the sound. (The word 'pedal' had no reference to any part of the construction and the origin of its use is not very clear.) (g) 3 obscure modern instr. related to the cl. family by possessing a single reed are the Clarina, the Heckelclarina or Heckelclarinette, and the Holztrompete. All were invented to represent the shepherd-boy's pipe in Act III of Wagner's Tristan und Isolde, but have not displaced customary use of the cor anglais. ^Note that the old Eng. spelling 'clarionet' is obsolete.

Clarinet Flute. Org. flue stop, end-plugged; 4' length and 8' pitch; slightly reedy in quality.

Clarinet Stop. Reed stop smoother than ob.; 8' pitch or occasionally 16'.

Clarino. Term applied to the high, brilliant tpt. and hn. parts in baroque mus., probably because the clarion was used for high-register playing.

Clarion. Org. stop like Trumpet but of 4' pitch.

Clarion (Fr. claron). Medieval short tpt. (2' or 3' long), used particularly by armies because it was easier to carry than the longer buisines and its high-pitched notes (hence clarino) could be more easily heard.

Clark, Edward (b Newcastle upon Tyne, 1888; d London, 1962). Eng. cond. and administrator. For some time connected with Diaghilev. With BBC, in various capacities 1923--36. Esp. interested in contemporary developments in comp. and was responsible for the f.ps. or f. broadcast ps. of many important works. Pres. Brit. section of I.S.C.M. from 1945. Husband of Elisabeth Lutyens.

Clarke, Douglas (b Reading, 1893; d Warwick, 1962). Anglo-Canadian composer, cond., and teacher. Studied Cambridge Univ., studied comp. with Holst and Vaughan Williams. Cond. Winnipeg Male Voice Ch. 1927--9; Dean of Faculty of Mus. McGill Univ., Montreal, 1930--55; cond. Montreal S.O. 1930--41. Returned to Eng. 1958. Comp. orch. and other works.

Clarke, Henry Leland (b Dover, N.H., 1907). Amer. composer. Educated Harvard Univ. Studied comp. 1929--31 with N. Boulanger in Paris and later with Holst. Held several teaching posts, incl. Univ. of California, Vassar Coll., and Univ. of Washington. Many comps. in wide range of fields incl. Gloria in 5 Official Languages of the United Nations (1950) for ch. and orch.

Clarke, Jeremiah (b London, c.1670; d London, 1707). Eng. composer and organist. Pupil of Blow. Joint org. (with Croft) of Chapel Royal 1704. Comp. setting of Dryden's Alexander's Feast, cantatas, anthems, odes, and hpd. pieces. In his 'Choice lessons for the Harpsichord or Spinet' (pubd. 1700) there occurs 'The Prince of Denmark's March', better known in its arr. as the Trumpet Voluntary. Shot himself supposedly because of unhappy love affair.

Clarke, Rebecca (b Harrow, 1886; d NY, 1979). Eng. composer, violist, and violinist. Entered RAM 1902 to study vn. Later, in 1908, became Stanford's first woman comp. student at RCM and was encouraged by him to take up va. From 1911 played in various chamber groups with the d'Arányi sisters, Myra Hess, and Suggia. Comp. 58 songs and part-songs and 24 instr. chamber works. Song 'Shy One' (Yeats) was often sung by Gervase Elwes. Prin. works incl. va. sonata (1918--19), pf. trio (1920--1). Wrote only one work (a setting of Blake's The Tiger, 1933) after 1930 until she settled in USA 1939, when she comp. more instr. works and some songs. Married James Friskin, the pianist, in 1944.

Clàrsach. The ancient small Celtic harp, revived in Scotland during the 20th cent.

Classical. Term which, applied to mus., has vague rather than specific meaning: (1) Mus. comp. roughly between 1750 and 1830 (i.e. post-Baroque and pre-Romantic) which covers the development of the classical sym. and conc. (2) Mus. of an orderly nature, with qualities of clarity and balance, and emphasising formal beauty rather than emotional expression (which is not to say that emotion is lacking). (3) Mus. generally regarded as having permanent rather than ephemeral value. (4) 'Classical music' is used as a generic term meaning the opposite of light or popular mus.

Classical Symphony. Title of Prokofiev's Sym. No. 1 in D, Op. 25, comp. 1916--17, f.p. Petrograd 1918 cond. composer. Deliberately written in style of Haydn. The gavotte was used by Prokofiev again in his Romeo and Juliet ballet mus.

Clausula. (1) Cadence. Some medieval terms are Clausula vera, Perfect cadence; Clausula falsa, Interrupted cadence; Clausula plagalis, Plagal cadence; etc. (2) Section of medieval organum in which textless contrapuntal parts are heard in strict rhythm with chant tune on which organum is based.

Clavecin. Fr. name for hpd., shortening of clavecínón, first used 1611.

Claves. Cuban perc. instr., being round sticks of hard wood 7" or 8" long. The player holds one over the upturned fingernails of his left fist and beats it with the other held lightly in the right hand. Used in dance bands but taken up by 20th-cent. composers incl. Birtwistle, Copland, Varèse, and McCabe.

Clavicembalo (It.). Clavicymbal. The It. word for harpsichord. It derives from clavichordium, found in Ger. poem of 1404 which lists the instr. of courtly love. The It. is occasionally corrupted to gravicembalo and regularly shortened to cembalo. The Fr. form is clavecinon, shortened to clavecin (1611).

Clavichord. Small kbd. instr. developed in 14th cent. from the monochord and sometimes called clarichord or manichord or chekker. The early clavichord used the same str. to produce 2, 3, or 4 notes by stopping the str. at different points along its length. There was a bridge for each note which was brought into contact with the str. from pressure on a key on the kbd. The bridge also sounded the str., producing a very soft attack. Because of this process of stopping the str., the early clavichord was known as gebunden, or fretted. (Gebunden means 'bound', and the frets on some early instr. were cords bound round the fingerboard.) Because some notes employed the same str. they could not be played simultaneously, but by the 17th cent. the proportion of str. to keys increased until in the early 18th cent. some clavichords were unfretted (bundfrei). Essentially an instr. for private practice, being too soft in tone for concert use, and is used in this way by orgs. In 20th cent. Howells has composed for it.

Clavicytherium. Upright version of hpd., developed in 15th and early 16th cents. A rare surviving example is in the coll. of the RCM.

Clavier. See Klavier.

Clavier des bombardes (Fr.). That organ manual having Trumpet and Tuba.

Clavier de Récit (Fr.). Swell Organ.

Clavierübung. See Klavierübung.

Clavicymbal. Eng. form of It. Clavicembalo, i.e. harpsichord.

Claviorganum. Combination of org. and hpd. developed in 16th cent. and known in Fr. as clavecin organisé and in It. as claviorgano. The org. pipes were laid horizontally inside the chest.

Clay, Frédéric Emes (b Paris, 1838; d Great Marlow, 1889). Eng. composer. Studied with Molique in Paris. Wrote over a dozen operettas prod. in London between 1859 and 1883. His cantata Lalla Rookh (1877) contains the song 'I'll sing thee songs of Araby'. Also wrote popular ballads 'She wandered down the mountainside' and 'The Sands of Dee'.

Clear Flute. Organ stop much like Waldflöte.

Clef (Lat. clavis, Fr. clef, key). Symbol normally placed at the beginning of every line of mus. to indicate the exact location of a particular note on the staff; also placed at any point where new clef begins to operate. The Treble Clef places the note G above middle C on the second line (the G clef); the Bass Clef fixes the note F below middle C on the second line (descending) (F clef); the Alto Clef, on the middle line, fixes middle C and is used for the va; the Tenor Clef fixes middle C on the fourth line (ascending) and is used for vc. and bn. parts above the bass staff. The Soprano Clef, fixing middle C on the first line, is obsolete, but is found in medieval mus. and in some works well into 19th cent. In the following example middle C is represented in five different ways:

Clemens (non Papa). Name applied to Jacob (Jacques) Clement (b Middelburg, c.1510; d Dixmuide, c.1556). Flemish composer. First Kapellmeister to Emperor Charles V in Vienna. Wrote masses, motets, and chansons, pubd. in Louvain, 1555--80, and 4 books of psalms set to popular Flemish melodies (Antwerp 1556--7). Nickname variously explained as distinguishing him from Pope Clement VII or from Flemish poet Jacobus Papa who also lived in Ypres, but the probability is that it was a joke.

Clement, Franz (b Vienna, 1780; d Vienna, 1842). Austrian violinist. Public début 1789, followed by tours of Ger. and Eng. Cond., Theater an der Wien, Vienna, 1802--11. Soloist, f.p. of Beethoven's vn. conc. 1806; cond. f.p. of Beethoven's 4th Sym. 1807.

Clementi, Muzio (b Rome, 1752; d Evesham, 1832). Eng. pianist and composer of It. birth. Child prodigy as organist and composer. In 1766 went to Eng. under patronage of Peter Beckford. London début as pianist and composer 1775. Cond. It. opera in London 1777--8 and in 1781 began his tours of Europe in which he engaged with other pianists (incl. Mozart) in public tests of skill in improvisation, sight-reading, etc. Returned to London 1785, composing several syms., pf. conc., and coll. of 100 studies, Gradus ad Parnassum, which remains a foundation of pf. technique. Comp. over 100 piano sonatas, some of them valued highly by Beethoven, whom Clementi met in 1807. Among pupils were Field, Moscheles, Kalkbrenner, and Cramer. Also went into the business of making pfs., becoming partner in London firm, Clementi & Co., which in 1832 became Collard & Collard. Clementi's early sonatas were written for the hpd., but after 1780 his allegiance was to the piano. His influence on subsequent piano composers was immeasurable.

Clemenza di Tito, La (The Clemency of Titus). Opera in 2 acts by Mozart (his last, K621) to lib. by Metastasio, altered by Mazzolà. Comp. for coronation of Emperor Leopold II as King of Bohemia. Prod. Prague 1791, London 1806. About 20 other composers, incl. Caldara (1734) and Gluck (1752), set Metastasio's text.

Cleobury, Nicholas (Randall) (b Bromley, 1950). Eng. cond., organist, pianist, and harpsichordist. Studied Oxford. Ass. organist Chichester Cath. 1971--2, Christ Church, Oxford, from 1972. Cond., Oxford Schola Cantorum from 1973. Ass. cond. Kent Opera and Glyndebourne. Cond. Eng. Bach Fest. Ch. Ch.-master, Glyndebourne Opera, 1977--9. Cond. Opera North's revival of Delius's A Village Romeo and Juliet, 1984.

Cleopatra. Dramatic scene for sop. (or high v.) and orch. by Iain Hamilton. F.p. Cheltenham Fest. 1978.

Cléopâtre, La Mort de (Berlioz). See Mort de Cléopâtre, La.

Clérambault, Louis Nicolas (b Paris, 1676; d Paris, 1749). Fr. org. and composer for kbd. instr. and v. His books of Fr. cantatas are the best of their period. Organist St Sulpice, Paris, later of St Jacques. Wrote 5 books of cantatas, 20 in all, pubd. 1710, 1713, 1716, 1720, and 1726. Another 5 cantatas were pubd. separately. Also comp. 3 pieces for str. under title Symphonie-sonata. His premier livre d'orgue comprises 2 suites of 14 pieces.

Clevé, Halfdan (b Kongsberg, 1879; d Oslo, 1951). Norweg. composer of 5 pf. concs., songs, pf. pieces.

Cleveland Orchestra. Amer. orch. founded 1918. Conds: Nikolay Sokoloff 1918--33; Artur Rodzinski 1933--43; Erich Leinsdorf 1943--4; Georg Szell 1946--70; Lorin Maazel 1972--82; Christoph von Dohnányi from 1984. Home since 1931 Severance Hall (acoustically renovated 1960).

Cliburn, Van (Harvey Lavan) (b Shreveport, La., 1934). Amer. pianist. Taught by his mother from age 3 until 1951 when he went to Rosina Lhévinne at Juilliard Sch. First recital at age 4; played Tchaikovsky first conc. at Houston 1946. NY début 1948. In 1958 won Tchaikovsky Competition, Moscow. Est. Cliburn Int. piano comp. at Fort Worth, Texas, 1962.

Cliffe, Frederick (b Lowmoor, Yorks., 1857; d London, 1931). Eng. composer, pianist, and organist. Prof. of pf., RCM 1883, remaining over 40 years on faculty. Comp. 2 syms., symphonic poem, vn. conc., and songs.

Clinton, (Francis) Gordon (b Broadway, Worcs., 1912). Eng. bar. Studied RCM. Career mainly in concert-hall for 35 years. Prin., Birmingham Sch. of Mus. 1960--73. Prof. of singing, RCM.

Cloches (Fr.). Bells, e.g. those used in the orch.

Cloches de Corneville, Les (The Bells of Corneville). Opera in 3 acts by Planquette to lib. by Clairville and Gabet. Prod. Paris and NY 1877, London 1878 (as The Chimes of Normandy).

Clock Symphony (Die Uhr). Nickname of Haydn's Sym. in D, No. 101 (Hob.I;101), comp. 1794 in London. So called because of 'tick-tock' acc. to first subject of 2nd movement. This movement was separately pubd. in Vienna 1798 in pf. arr. as 'Rondo, Die Uhr'.

Clog Box. See Chinese Wood Block.

Close. The same as Cadence.

Close Harmony. Harmony in which the notes of a chord are close together. In close harmony singing the vv. are distributed within the compass of an octave.

Cloud Messenger, The. Ode for ch. and orch., Op. 30, by Holst to text by Holst founded on Sanskrit poem of Kalidasa. Comp. 1910, rev. 1912. F.p. London 1913.

Cluster. Term used in connection with chords, meaning chords of which the constituents are a major or minor 2nd apart. In US, called 'tone-cluster'. Kbd. clusters, i.e. a group of adjacent notes played together with the forearm flat, were first demonstrated by the Amer. composer Cowell in 1913, but Ives had also used the same idea.

Clutsam, George Howard (b Sydney, N.S.W., 1866; d London, 1951). Australian composer, pianist, and critic, settled in London 1889. Accompanist to Melba. Perpetrated with Berté Eng. version of Das Dreimäderlhaus as Lilac Time (1923).

Cluytens, André (b Antwerp, 1905; d Paris, 1967). Belg. cond. Studied Antwerp Cons. Cond. Antwerp Opera 1927--32, Lyons from 1935, Paris Opéra from 1941, Opéra Comique 1947, Société des Concerts du Cons. 1949. First Gallic cond. at Bayreuth, 1955--58, 1965. London début 1958. [ts1][bm2][cc27,1,8,8][dt5,p5r5,5p4,p5r5,5,p5r5,5,p5r5,5][bt

g[nm or[smtreble clef[qcOn 2nd line up[qcfixing that as[qcTreble G[qc[ol5][ru5,6p6,3] [nt f[nm or [smbass clef[qcOn 2nd line down,[qcfixing that as[qcBass F[qc[ol5][ru5,6p6,3] [nt c[nm ( soprano)[sm clef[qcOn 1st line, fixing[qcthats middle[qcC[qc[ol5][ru5,6p6,3] [nt c[nm ( alto)[sm clef[qcOn 3rd line, fixing[qcthats middle[qcC[qc[ol5][ru5,6p6,3] [nt c[nm ( tenor)[sm clef[qcOn 4th line, fixing[qcthats middle[qcC[qc[ol5][ru5,6p6,3]

Coates, Albert (b St Petersburg, 1882; d Cape Town, 1953). Eng. cond. and composer, born in Russ. of Eng. parents (not Anglo-Russian, as often stated). Studied Leipzig Cons. 1902 (cond. classes with Nikisch). Cond. opera at Leipzig, Elberfeld, and Dresden. London début 1910 (LSO), CG 1914 (Tristan). Cond. of opera at St Petersburg 1911--18 during which time became close friend of Skryabin. Returned to Eng. 1919, conducting opera with Beecham, BNOC, Leeds Fest., etc. Also cond. much in USA. Settled in S. Africa 1946. Comps. incl. operas Samuel Pepys (1929) and Pickwick (1936). As a cond. was at his best in Russ. mus. and Wagner, but cond. f.ps. of Vaughan Williams's rev. London Symphony (1920), Bax's 1st Symphony (1922), and Holst's Choral Symphony (1925).

Coates, Eric (b Hucknall, Notts., 1886; d Chichester, 1957). Eng. composer and violist. Entered RAM 1906, studying va. with Tertis and comp. with Corder. Member of several str. qts. Prin. va., Queen's Hall Orch. 1912. Gave up orch. playing 1919. Comps. in light vein, distinguished by finished craftsmanship, impeccable orchestration, and personal melodic flavour. They incl. several orch. suites---From the Countryside (1915); Summer Days (1919); Cinderella (1929); From Meadow to Mayfair (1929); London (1932); London Again (1936); The Three Elizabeths (1944); The Three Bears (1926). Also Saxo-Rhapsody (1937); The Jester at the Wedding; By the Sleepy Lagoon (1939); Calling All Workers (1940); The Dam Busters March (1942), and many songs incl. 'Bird Songs at Eventide' (1926). The London Suite's 3rd movement is the march 'Knightsbridge', long famous as introductory music to BBC radio feature 'In Town Tonight'.

Coates, John (b Girlington, Yorks., 1865; d Northwood, 1941). Eng. ten., orig. bar. Sang bar. roles with D'Oyly Carte Opera Co. 1894. Début as ten. 1899. Sang Faust in Gounod's opera CG 1901. Member of Moody-Manners and Beecham opera cos., singing Tristan and Siegfried. Also achieved eminence in choral works, notably Elgar's Dream of Gerontius.

Cobbett, Walter Willson (b Blackheath, 1847; d London, 1937). Eng. businessman and amateur violinist whose love of chamber mus. led him to promote many chamber concerts and to institute prizes both for playing and comp. Commissioned many works by Brit. composers in the Elizabethan fantasia-form, preferring the spelling 'Phantasy', hence the 'Phantasy' qts., quintets, and trios by Bridge, Vaughan Williams, Bax, Goossens, Ireland, Britten, etc. Endowed Cobbett Medal for services to chamber mus. and ed. Cyclopedic Survey of Chamber Music (1929, rev. 1963).

Cocardes (Cockades). 3 songs for v. and pf. by Poulenc to texts by Cocteau. Comp. 1919. Titles are: Miel de Narbonne, Bonne d'enfant, Enfant de troupe.

Cockaigne (In London Town). Concert-ov., Op. 40, by Elgar, comp. 1900--1 and ded. to 'my friends the members of British orchestras'. Title refers to imaginary land of idleness and luxury from which word 'Cockney' is said to be derived.

Cocteau, Jean (b Maisons-Lafitte, 1889; d Milly-la-Forêt, 1963). Fr. poet, novelist, and playwright, often assoc. with mus. as librettist or propagandist. Wrote scenario for Satie's Parade (1917) and libs. for Honegger's Antigone, Stravinsky's Oedipus Rex, Milhaud's Le Pauvre Matelot, and Poulenc's La Voix humaine, among others.

Coda (It.). Tail. Orig. a section of a movement added at the end to clinch matters rather than to develop the mus. further. However, in the syms. of Mozart, Haydn, and especially Beethoven, the coda came to have integral formal significance, becoming at times 2nd development section and sometimes containing new material. Later composers have increased and extended this tendency.

Codetta (It.). Little tail. (1) Short or less important coda, often at the end of a section of a movement. (2) In a fugue, an episodic passage occurring in the exposition between appearances of the subject.

Coelho, Manuel Rodrigues (b 1583; d 1635). Portuguese composer and org. at Chapel Royal, Lisbon, 1603--23. His Flores de Música (Lisbon, 1620) was the first book of instr.

pieces to be printed in Portugal. It contains 24 tientos (ricercari), and 4 variations on a Lassus chanson, all for kbd.

Coelho, Ruy (b Alcacer do Sal, Portugal, 1892). Portuguese composer, cond., pianist, and critic. Studied Lisbon Cons., Berlin (with Humperdinck, Bruch, and Schoenberg) and Paris Cons. Comps. influenced by Portuguese folk and popular mus. They incl. 19 operas, 11 ballets, an oratorio (Fatima), 2 pf. concs., 5 Symphonias camoneanas, 2 vn. sonatas, etc.

Coertse, Mimi (b Durban, 1932). S. African sop. Studied in S. Africa and Vienna. Début Naples 1955. Joined Vienna Opera 1956. Début CG 1956, later Glyndebourne.

Coffee Cantata (Kaffeecantate). Nickname for humorous cantata by Bach (BWV 211, 1732) sometimes perf. as opera. Lib., by Picander, refers to the growing fondness for coffee at the time it was comp.

Cogli, Coi (It.). With the (plural).

Cohen, Harriet (b London, 1895; d London, 1967). Eng. pianist. Studied RAM. Won reputation as advocate of early kbd. mus. and of modern Eng. composers. Bax ded. to her his Symphonic Variations for pf. and orch. (1917) and his Concertante for orch. and pf. (left hand) (f.p. 1950), the latter written for her when she had injured her right hand. The pf. concs. by Vaughan Williams (f.p. 1933) and Fricker (1952--4) were ded. to and f.p. by her. Also considerable chamber-mus. player. C.B.E. 1938.

Cohen, Raymond (Hyman) (b Manchester, 1919). Eng. violinist. Studied RMCM. At 15 became youngest ever to play in Hallé Orch. of which he was member 1934--40. After war service adopted career as chamber-mus. player and conc. soloist, but led RPO 1960--6. Winner of first Carl Flesch int. award 1945.

Cohen, Robert (b London, 1959). Eng. cellist, son of Raymond Cohen. Studied GSM with W. Pleeth. Solo début, London 1971. Recorded Elgar conc. 1978. Won Piatigorsky comp., Tanglewood, and made Amer. début 1979. Plays in trio with father (vn.) and his mother Anthya Rael (pf.).

Col, coll', colla, colle (It.). With the, e.g. col basso, with the bass; colla voce, with the voice (indication to accompanist to be subservient, i.e. as to the time details).

Colas Breugnon. Name under which Kabalevsky's opera The Craftsman of Clamecy (Master iz Clamesy) Op. 24, is usually known outside Russ. In 3 acts, to lib. by V. Bragin based on R. Rolland's novel Colas Breugnon. Prod. Leningrad 1938. Rev. 1953 and in 1969, final rev. being given Op. No. 90.

Colascione. European version of Eastern long-necked lute, first made in It. in early 16th cent. Had 2 or 3 single or double courses made of metal, though sometimes of gut, and 24 movable frets.

Colbran, Isabella (b Madrid, 1785; d Bologna, 1845). Sp. sop., considered to be finest dramatic coloratura of her day. Début Paris 1801, Milan 1807. Engaged for Naples, 1811, where she became impresario's mistress but left him in 1815 to live with Rossini, who married her in 1822 (they later separated). Rossini wrote Elisabetta, Regina d'Inghilterra for her and she created the leading sop. roles in his Otello, Semiramide, Mosè, and other operas. Also comp. songs.

Cold, Ulrik (Thestrup) (b Copenhagen, 1939). Danish bass-baritone. Studied in Copenhagen, making débüt there 1963. Kassel Opera 1969--71. Dir., Royal Th., Copenhagen, from 1975. Fine singer of Falstaff, King Marke, and Gurnemanz.

Cole, Hugo (b London, 1917). Eng. composer and writer; studied RCM with R. O. Morris and Howells and in Paris with Boulanger. Works incl. operas, opera-cantata Jonah, hn. conc., str. qts. Mus. critic of the Guardian.

Cole, Nat King (Coles, Nathaniel Adams) (b Montgomery, Alabama, 1917; d Santa Monica, Calif., 1965). Amer. singer and jazz pianist. Had his own band in Chicago. Formed King Cole Trio 1939--51. After a best-selling record of 1947 he concentrated on singing (to the detriment of his jazz reputation). Among his most popular recordings were 'Nature Boy' and 'Answer me'.

Coleman, Ornette (b Fort Worth, Texas, 1930). Amer. jazz composer and saxophonist. Began to play alto sax. in 1944, tenor sax. in 1946. Influenced by Charlie Parker. Played in bebop, blues, and rhythm bands in Southern States before settling in New Orleans in 1948. In 1950 joined Pee Wee Crayton band in Fort Worth. In Los Angeles studied harmony and theory and by 1958 was regarded as one of jazz's major innovators. Attended Lenox Sch. of Jazz, Mass., 1959, and led quartet in NY 1958--62, then forming trio. Caused controversy 1960 with his recording Free Jazz (Coleman and 7 other musicians) in which improvisation was taken almost to anarchic limits. Semi-retired 1963 to learn tpt. and vn. Reappeared in 1965 and then toured Europe. Style noted for free improvisation based on melodic shapes over a pedal-point rather than on succession of chords. Relied greatly on intuition and at times approached atonality. Gunther Schuller wrote Abstraction, a serial comp., for Coleman and augmented str. qt. Coleman's own mus. includes Lonely Woman and Turnaround. His major piece of symphonic mus. is Skies of America (1972) for jazz qt. and orch. (recorded with LSO with solo alto sax. only). This was followed in 1977 by Dancing in Your Head and in 1979 by Of Human Feelings which explored 'funk-jazz', a development dating from about 1970 features of which incl. a repetitive bass line, a hint of Latin rhythms, and complex rhythmic relationships.

Coleridge-Taylor, Avril (Gwendolen) (b South Norwood, 1903). Eng. cond. and composer, daughter of S. Coleridge-Taylor. Studied GSM and TCL. Active in many fields of conducting, some but not all connected with her father's works. Worked in S. Africa 1952--5. Comps. incl. pf. conc., orch. works, chamber mus., and songs.

Coleridge-Taylor, Samuel (b London, 1875; d Croydon, 1912). Eng. composer, son of Sierra Leone physician and Eng. mother. Entered RCM as vn. student 1890 but studied comp. with Stanford 1892--7. His cl. quintet, Op. 10, was played in 1897 in Berlin by Joachim's qt. and his Balladin A minor at 1898 Gloucester Fest. (thanks to Elgar's encouragement). In Nov. 1898 his cantata Hiawatha's Wedding Feast was perf. at RCM. This was first of 3 works based on Longfellow's poem. The Death of Minnehaha followed in 1899 and Hiawatha's Departure in 1900. Success of these works led to many demands for fest. comps. Later works were Meg Blane (Sheffield 1902), The Atonement (Hereford 1903), Kubla Khan (London 1906), and A Tale of Old Japan (London 1911), but none achieved the success of The Song of Hiawatha Trilogy. Also wrote sym., Symphonic Variations on an African Air (1906), vn. conc. (1912), chamber mus., pf. solos, and songs.

Colgrass, Michael (b Chicago, 1932). Amer. composer and percussionist. Educated Univ. of Illinois. In 1956 worked in NY as free-lance percussionist, being specially concerned with th. work. Works incl. Percussion Music (1953), Chant for ch. and vibraphone (1954), Seventeen for full orch. (1960), Wind Quintet (1962), Virgil's Dream for 4 actor-singers, 4 mime-musicians (Brighton Fest. 1967), The Earth's a Baked Apple for ch. and orch. (Boston 1969), Nightingale Inc., opera (1971), Auras, hp. and orch. (1976--7), and Theatre of the Universe, solo vv., ch., and orch. (1976--7).

Colista, Lelio (b Rome, 1629; d Rome, 1680). It. composer remembered for his influence on Purcell, who quotes from his works in his introduction to Playford's Introduction to the Skill of Music (1694).

Coll', colla, colle (It.). See Col.

Colla, Giuseppe (b Parma, 1731; d Parma, 1806). It. composer and choirmaster. Comp. several operas, incl. Tolomeo (Milan 1773), in which his wife Lucrezia Agujari ('La Bastardella') was a great success.

Collage (Fr.). A putting-together of independent styles in juxtaposition either simultaneously or successively. The separate styles usually consist of contrasting rhythm, melody, or harmony. For a true collage the juxtaposition must be of coherent sections which are the product of separate mus. elements, e.g. the many examples in the mus. of Charles Ives, where dissonances are not resolved but treated as a normal situation. The term is borrowed from the visual arts, and literally means 'glueing together'.

Coll'arco (It.). With the bow; i.e. after a passage marked pizzicato. (Sometimes shortened to c.a.).

Colla parte (It.). With the part, colla voce (It.), with the voice. An indication to an accompanist carefully to take his tempos and rhythm from the soloist.

Colla punta dell' arco (It.). With the point of the bow.

Collegium Aureum. Ger. ensemble founded 1964 by Franz Josef Maier to record baroque and early classical mus. Has toured Russia and Japan. Pioneered recordings using original and authentic instrs., incl. one of Beethoven's Eroica Symphony.

Collegium Musicum (Lat. 'musical guild'). In 16th cent. term applied to groups of enthusiasts concerned with perf. of mus. From these grew concert-giving societies performing under noble patronage or in the informal surroundings of a coffee-house. J. S. Bach wrote many works for perf. at a collegium musicum.

Col legno (It.). With the wood. Striking the str. with the stick of the bow, instead of playing on them with the hair.

Colles, Henry Cope (b Bridgnorth, 1879; d London, 1943). Eng. mus. critic. Studied RCM and Oxford Univ. Mus. critic for The Times 1905--43 (chief critic from 1911), ed. of 3rd and 4th edns. of Grove's Dictionary of Music, and author of several books incl. history of RCM (1933) of which he was member of staff.

Collier, Marie (b Ballarat, 1927; d London, 1971). Australian sop. Début Melbourne 1954 as Santuzza; CG 1956. Possessed dramatic acting powers and richly expressive v. Sang Tosca, Cressida (in Walton's Troilus and Cressida), and was notable exponent of Emilia Marty in Janáček's The Makropoulos Affair. Created Hecuba in Tippett's King Priam (1962). NY Met. début 1967 in Levy's Mourning Becomes Electra.

Collingwood, Lawrance (Arthur) (b London, 1887; d Killin, Perthshire, 1982). Eng. cond. and composer. Studied GSM, then went to St Petersburg as ass. to Albert Coates. Cond. opera in London (Old Vic and SW; mus. dir. latter 1940--7). Comps. incl. opera Macbeth (SW 1934) and Death of Tintagiles (after Maeterlinck, concert version SW 1950), also pf.

conc., pf. qt., pf. sonatas. For nearly 50 years made gramophone recordings, 'producing' many of them. Cond. Elgar's last recording session, 1934. C.B.E. 1948.

Collins, Anthony (b Hastings, 1893; d Los Angeles, 1963). Eng. va. player and then cond. and composer. Studied RCM after 1914--18 war, then prin. va. LSO and CG orch. Left orch. playing 1936 to become cond. Founded London Mozart Orch. Worked in USA 1936--45. Comp. operas, 2 vn. concs., syms. for str., film mus. Orch. Schubert's Grand Duo.

Colofonia (It.). See Colophony.

Colonel Bogey. Military march comp. by 'Kenneth Alford' in 1914. Popularity attributable not only to splendid tune, but to improvised words and to its use (whistled) in the film The Bridge on the River Kwai (1957).

Colonna, Giovanni Paolo (b Bologna, 1637; d Bologna, 1695). It. composer. Studied with Carissimi and Benevoli. Held org. posts in Rome and, from 1674, Bologna. Wrote opera Amilcare (1693) and a quantity of church mus.

Colonne, Edouard (Judas) (b Bordeaux, 1838; d Paris, 1910). Fr. cond. and violinist. Studied Paris Cons. Leader of Paris Opéra Orch. 1858--67. In 1873 founded series of orch. concerts, eventually to be known as the Concerts Colonne, at which he championed young Fr. composers and the mus. of Berlioz. Toured as cond. in Eng., Russ., and USA. Concerts continued after his death organized by the Société des Concerts Colonne.

Colophony (Fr. colophane; It. colofonia; Ger. Kolophon). Rosin for bow of str. instr., so called after Colophon, Asia Minor, whence best rosin comes.

Colorato, colorata, or figurato, figurata (It.). Treated in the manner of Coloratura. See also Musica figurata.

Coloratura. Word derived from the Ger. Koloratur. The elaborate and agile ornamentation of a melody, either extemporized or written, with runs, cadenzas, trills, roulades, and the like. Hence a coloratura soprano is one whose v. is flexible enough to cope with these demands.

Colour (Tone-colour). It is impossible for mus. to convey colours, but it is customary to speak of 'colouring' or 'tone-colour' where variations of timbre or tone are prod. by different intensities of the overtones of sounds. 'Shade' is perhaps a more accurate term, since the differences are often those of 'darker' or 'lighter' sound. But in his tone-poem Prometheus: The Poem of Fire, Op. 60, Skryabin introduced a colour kbd. to project colours on to a screen, intended to convey the mood of the mus. The colour-organ was used for this purpose.

Colour Symphony. Orch. work by Bliss, f.p. Gloucester Fest. 1922. The movements are entitled Purple, Red, Blue, and Green, the colours being interpreted through their heraldic assocs.

Colpo (It.). Stroke, e.g. Colpo d'arco, a stroke of the bow.

Combattimento di Tancredi e Clorinda, Il (The combat of Tancred and Clorinda). Dramatic cantata by Monteverdi to text by Tasso (verses 52--68 of Canto XII of Gerusalemme liberata). Prod. Venice (Palazzo di Girolamo Mocenigo) 1624. Pub. 1638 in Madrigali guerrieri e amorosi. Monteverdi's description of f.p. shows that this could be claimed as early example of 'music theatre'. A narrator comments upon the action, which is acted or danced by Tancred and Clorinda. A feature of the score is the earliest-known use of the str.

tremolo, or stile concitato, to express excitement, and the str. pizzicato (but see pizzicato). Scoring is for 4 viols with contrabass and hpd.

Combination Pedals. See Composition pedals.

Combined Counterpoint. See Counterpoint.

Come (It.). As, like, as if; come prima, as at first; come stà, as it stands; come sopra, as above.

Comédie-ballet. Fr. musico-dramatic entertainment devised by Molière and Lully in late 17th cent. Their first collab. was in Le mariage forcé (1664), their last Le bourgeois gentilhomme (1670). Mus. and dance were regarded as complementary to the main plot; the sub-plots were carried on in the intermèdes.

Comedy on the Bridge (Komedie na moste^). Opera for radio in 1 act by Martin Anu to his own lib. based on V. K. Klicpera. Prod. Prague Radio 1937, London (stage) 1965.

Comes. See Canon.

Come ye Sons of Art. Ode by Purcell for the birthday of Queen Mary, wife of William III, in 1694 for sop., counterten., bass, ch., and orch. Contains aria 'Sound the trumpet'.

Comic Opera. An imprecise term, though by it most people today would understand an opera with a comic element. Opéra bouffe or opera buffa means comic opera but has a specific meaning, as has opéra comique.

Comissiona, Sergiu (b Bucharest, 1928). Romanian-born cond. (Amer. citizen). Studied Mus. Acad., Romania, and cond. with Silvestri. Cond. Romanian State Ens. 1948--55. Cond. Romanian State Opera 1955--9; Haifa S.O. and Israeli Chamber Orch. 1958--66; Göteborg S.O. 1966--72; Ulster Orch. 1967--9; Baltimore S.O. 1969--76; Pittsburgh S.O. 1976--8; American S.O. 1978--82; Houston S.O. from 1984. London débüt (LSO) 1960, CG débüt (ballet) 1962, CG opera débüt 1974 (Rossini's Il barbiere di Siviglia), NY 1977 (La fanciulla del West).

Comma. A minute interval such as that resulting when a rising succession of untempered 5ths (see Temperament) and a similar succession of octaves arrive at what is ostensibly the same note, but is not really quite such.

Commedia per musica (It.). Comedy for Music. Term used in It. in 18th cent. for comic opera. Note that Strauss and Hofmannsthal called their 18th-cent. comedy of manners, Der Rosenkavalier, a 'comedy for music'.

Common Chord. A triad of which the 5th is perfect. In Major Common Chord the 3rd is major and in Minor Common Chord it is minor.

Common Time. Another name for  $\frac{4}{4}$  time. The C sometimes used instead of the figures  $\frac{4}{4}$  does not stand for 'common': it dates from the period when triple time (called 'perfect') was indicated by a full circle and quadruple time (called 'imperfect') by a broken circle.

Community Singing. Any occasion when a number of people sing together is 'community singing', but the term today usually means a crowd's singing at a meeting or at a sporting occasion (notably the F.A. Cup Final at Wembley or a rugger int. at Cardiff Arms Park).

Comodo (It.). Leisurely, convenient, i.e. without any suspicion of strain, e.g. tempo comodo, at a comfortable, moderate speed. So the adverb, comodamente.

Compact discs. See Gramophone (Phonograph) Recordings.

Compass. The range of a v. or instr. from the highest to the lowest note obtainable; or the extreme limit of the notes obtainable. The usual classification of vv. according to compass takes account of 6 ranges, with their distinctive qualities, the average vv. in these ranges extending an octave to a 10th below and above the following notes: [ol26] Bass_ Baritone _Tenor Contralto _Mezzo- _ Soprano _ [xfContralto[rf _Soprano (male alto a note or two less) [ol26]

Compère, Loyset (b Hainaut, c.1440; d St Quentin, 1518). Flemish composer, possibly a pupil of Ockeghem; later canon and chancellor of the cath. of St Quentin and an important composer of church mus.

Competitions, Musical. The urge to compete is basic to human nature and musicians are no exception. Reports of mus. contests go back to ancient times but the modern form developed in the late 18th cent. in Great Britain. Brass band contests began early in the 19th cent. but even more widespread were the choral competitions and those between individual instrumentalists. From 1904 these have been organized by what is now the Brit. Federation of Mus. Fest., apart from the Welsh eisteddfodau. Similar competitions, mainly involving amateurs, are firmly est. in many other countries. Other forms of mus. competition on a high professional (and commercial) levelhave developed, incl. competitions for composers, cond., and for instrumentalists (notably the Moscow Tchaikovsky pf. competition, the Leeds pf. competition, the Carl Flesch award for violinists, the Mitropoulos prize for cond., the Queen Elisabeth of Belgium competition, the BBC's 'Young Musician of the Year', and numerous others). Undoubtedly the most famous mus. competitions are those involving Tannhäuser and Wolfram in the Hall of Song at the Wartburg Castle in Wagner's Tannhäuser (Act II) and the song contest on the banks of the River Pegnitz at Nuremberg in Act III Sc. 2 of Wagner's Die Meistersinger von Nürnberg--both events being based on reality. In lighter vein there is the annual Eurovision song contest, promoted by European TV organizations, to discover the best 'pop song' of the yearaccording to the votes of an int. jury.

Complete Cadence. See Cadence.

Composer's Counterpoint. See Counterpoint.

Composers' Guild of Great Britain. Brit. organization founded 1944 and affiliated to Soc. of Authors. Exists to protect the interests of composers. First pres. Vaughan Williams. Publishes journal Composer since 1958. In 1967 founded British Music Information Centre.

Composition Pedals (combination pedals). Organ pedals to facilitate rapid changing of tone-colour effects by means of adjustment pistons which bring instantly into action selected groups of stops instead of their having to be operated individually by hand.

Compound Binary Form. Same as Sonata Form.

Compound Intervals. Those greater than an octave, e.g. C to the D a 9th above it, which may be spoken of as a major 9th or as a compound major 2nd. See Interval.

Compound Time. Each beat in a measure consists of a dotted note or its equivalent (in contrast to simple time where each beat consists of a complete note). Can be duple, triple, or quadruple, each related to corresponding simple time. Thus 3/4 (simple triple) has 3 quarter-note (crotchet) beats to a measure; 9/8 (compound triple) has 3 dotted quarter-note (crotchet) beats. So called because a measure is made up of a mixture (or compound) of 2, 3, or 4 main beats, each beat having 3 subdivisions. See also Simple Time and Time Signature.

Compter (Fr.). To count. Comptent, count (plural), indicates in an orch. score that the instr. in question are silent for the moment and are merely 'counting their bars' until re-entry.

Compton, John (Haywood) (b Newton Burgoland, Leics., 1876: d Ealing, 1957). Eng. organ-builder. Worked for organ firms in Sheffield and Nottingham 1898--1911. In 1912 established his own co. in Nottingham. Built electric-action organs with much use of extension, the best being for Davis Th., Croydon, Southampton Guildhall, Downside Abbey, and St Bride's, Fleet St. Also built cinema orgs. Pipe-organ section of firm taken over by Rushworth and Dreaper 1964; elec. section went to J. and J. Makin Organs 1970.

Computers in Music. Elec. computers have so far been used in two ways by composers: (a) to aid pre-compositional calculations and (b) to produce elec. sound. They have also been used to analyse works, to study comp. styles, and to prod. systems of notation. Among the first composers to use a computer was the Amer. Lejaren Hiller, who used the Illiac computer to 'compose' a piece of mus. by feeding into it a programme comprising Fux's rules for 16th-cent. modal counterpoint and others relating to 20th-cent. serialism. The result was the Illiac Suite for String Quartet (1957). Excluded from the programme were all notes that broke the rules, so the computer chose at random from the remaining possibilities. In later Hiller works, such as Computer Cantata (1963), notes and intervals were not chosen at random but according to weighted probabilities, e.g. a note was chosen according to the implications of the previously chosen note. Another composer, Xenakis, used the computer for sound effects rather than for comp. processes. In his Metastaseis for orch. (1953--4) the computer calculates glissandi at different speeds. A computer works musically by producing 'waveforms'. Recent developments involving the 'digital analogue converter' mean that waveforms can be created which perfectly simulate instr. sounds. The present tendency is to use computers in assoc. with synthesizers as a memory bank, capable of producing any required sounds, memorizing the composer's sequence of events, and playing the finished work whenever required. This information is fed to the computer by a teletype kbd. or special manual controller.

Comte Ory, Le (Count Ory). Opera buffa in 2 acts by Rossini to lib. by Scribe and Lestre-Poirson. Prod. Paris 1828, London 1829, NY 1831. One of Rossini's 2 Fr. operas. It uses much mus. comp. in 1825 for a stage cantata, Il viaggio a Reims. Revived Florence 1952 and Glyndebourne 1954.

Comus. Masque by John Milton prod. at Ludlow Castle 1634 with mus. by Henry Lawes, who himself took the part of the Attendant Spirit. New mus. was provided for an adapted version of the poem by Thomas Arne 1738. In 1942, for a ballet in which some of Milton's verse was spoken, Lambert arr. mus. by Purcell. Another ballet, with mus. by Handel and Lawes arr. E. Irving, was prod. 1946. Hugh Wood's Scenes from Comus for sop., ten., and orch. was comp. andf.p. London 1965.

Concentus. See Accentus.

Concert. A perf. of mus. in public by a fairly substantial no. of performers (but not a stage performance or as part of a religious service). A perf. by 1 or 2 performers is usually called a recital. A pre-requisite of concerts, except on certain special occasions, is that people should pay to attend them, and this seems to have begun in England in the middle of the 17th cent. Historians point to the Whitefriars concerts arr. by John Banister in 1672 as the 'first' in Eng., but perhaps that is only because we have a printed record of them. Thomas Britton also financed concerts in Clerkenwell 1678--1714. More important were the Bach-Abel concerts which began in Spring Gardens, London, in 1764. With the opening of the Hanover Square Rooms in 1775 the way was open for such major events as Haydn's concerts on his 2 visits to London. Thereafter concerts became an accepted way of life. The Phil. Soc. was founded 1813, and in several provincial cities concert socs. were formed. Other developments incl. the Promenade Concerts, so called because people could stand or walk about at them, which originated in the 18th-cent. pleasure gardens, but found their most abiding form in 1895 when Henry Wood began his famous series at Queen's Hall and which, under BBC sponsorship, are still held from mid-July to mid-September in the Royal Albert Hall, London. Public concerts for an audience of subscribers began in Frankfurt, Ger., in 1712 and in Hamburg in 1721. What were to become the Leipzig Gewandhaus concerts were founded by 16 businessmen meeting in an inn in 1743 (much as Manchester's concerts began in the 1770s when a group of flautists met regularly in a tavern, hence the 'Gentlemen's Concerts'). The Concert Spirituel was founded in Paris, 1725, but 'progressive' works were given at the Concert des Amateurs, cond. Gossec, which in 1780 became the Concert de la Loge Olympique (because the venue was also a Masonic Lodge). In 1786 this organization commissioned 6 syms.—the 'Paris' syms.—from Haydn. In Vienna there was so much mus. in private houses or in the ths. that no regular concerts were given until 1782 (in the open air: Mozart played at them).

Concertant(e) (Fr.). In concerto form; a term preferred to sonata or suite by Stravinsky to describe the nature of his Duo Concertant for vn. and pf. (1932).

Concertante (It.). (1) In the nature of a conc., thus a Sinfonia Concertante is a work for solo instr(s). and orch. in a form nearer to that of sym. than conc. (2) The concertante instr. in the old concerto grosso were those which played the solos, as distinct from the ripieno instr., which played in the *tutti*s. Many 20th-cent. composers have used the term to indicate that while a solo instr(s). is/are used, the work is not formally organized like a conc.

Concertata, Aria. See Aria.

Concertato (It.). Concerted. Another name for the concertino or concertante group in baroque mus. which contained the solo instrs. or vv. to contrast with the ripieno.

Concert Band. An Amer. band, comprising woodwind, brass, and perc., similar to the Brit. military band. Schoenberg's Theme and Variations Op. 43a (1943) is for concert band, so is Hindemith's Sym. in Bb (1951).

Concerted. A perf. of mus. by 2 or more instrumentalists on reasonably equal terms. In opera an ens. is sometimes called a 'concerted number'.

Concert Flute. (1) Org. stop, sometimes on principle of Harmonic Flute: usually on Solo Manual; generally 4' pitch. (2) See Flute.

Concertgebouw Orchestra of Amsterdam. Dutch sym. orch. which plays in the Concertgebouw (Dutch, 'concert building') built Amsterdam, 1888, though the Concertgebouw Soc. was founded 5 years earlier. The first cond. was Willem Kes, but the orch. became internationally famous under his successor Mengelberg, cond. 1895 to 1945. Conds. since then have incl. Eduard van Beinum 1945--59, Bernard Haitink and Eugen Jochum jointly 1961--4, Haitink since 1964.

Concertina. Small instr. with bellows similar to accordion but with hexagonal ends and studs (no kbd.). The bellows are opened and closed by the hands, the pressure creates causing metallic reeds to vibrate when selected by operation of the studs by the player's fingers. Made in SATB sizes, each with range of approx. an octave. Said to have been invented by Charles Wheatstone, 1829. First to play it at a public concert was Giulio Regondi (1822--72), who lived in Eng. from 1831 and toured Europe as concertina player 1846. He wrote 2 concs. and shorter pieces for it.

Concertino. (1, in older usage) The solo instr. group in the Concerto Grosso (see also Concertante; Concerto). (2, in more modern usage) A shorter and lighter conc. for solo instr. and orch., e.g. Weber's cl. concertino, Op. 26.

Concertino Pastorale. Work for str. orch. in 3 movements by John Ireland, comp. 1939 for Boyd Neel Orch. Movements entitled Eclogue, Threnody, and Toccata.

Concertmaster (Amer.; Ger. Konzertmeister). The leader of an orch.

Concerto (It.). Concert, concerted performance. A work in which a solo instr(s). is contrasted and blended with the orch. Earliest publication using name 'concerto' is Concerti di Andrea et di Gio. Gabrieli (Venice, 1587). Viadana's Cento Concerti ecclesiastici, comp. in the 1590s, developed into church concs. (concerti da chiesa) and there were also in the 17th cent. vocal concerti da camera (chamber concs.) which were adapted as purely instr. works by Torelli. Monteverdi's Book 7 of madrigals is called Concerto. From Torelli came the concerto grosso as comp. by Corelli and Handel. But the conc. for an individual player as opposed to a concertino group was developed by J. S. Bach in his hpd. concs., but note that his Italian Concerto is written for a single performer (though the effect of contrast is supplied by the effective use of the 2 manuals). Handel's organ concs. were also an important development, he being among the first to provide a cadenza in which the soloist could display his skill by extemporization. Mozart est. the style of the modern instr. conc., composing nearly 50 for various instr. combinations. Concs. are usually in 3 movements, but there are many exceptions. A significant change since the 19th cent. has been for the composer to write out the cadenzas and sometimes (e.g. Elgar's Vn. Conc.) to acc. them with the orch. Thus the conc. has grown according to the increasing virtuosity of soloists. See also Concerto for Orchestra.

Concert of Ancient Music, also known as 'Ancient Concert', or 'King's Concert'. London series under royal and aristocratic management, 1776--1849, with attempts at revival in 1867 and 1870. No mus. less than 20 years old in programmes. (Not to be confused with Academy of Ancient Music.)

Concerto for Orchestra. A comp. like a conc. but not for one particular soloist, though individual members or sections of the orch. may have important solo (concertante) roles. The form is a 20th-cent. development. Famous examples are by Bartók, Tippett, Kodály, Gerhard, Lutosławski, Petrassi, and others.

Concerto Grosso (It.). Great concerto. Early form of concerto at its zenith in the 17th and 18th cents., though the term has been used by 20th-cent. composers, e.g. Bloch, Schoenberg, and Vaughan Williams, for works based on earlier models. The works were antiphonal, i.e. a small body of str. (concertino, concertato, or concertante) was heard in alternation, contrast and combination with a larger group (ripieno). These were in several movements, roughly similar to the 18th-cent. ov. or suite. The most celebrated early concerti grossi are those by Corelli (1712) (Concerti grossi con duei violini e violoncello di concertino obbligati) and those by Handel (1740). J.S. Bach's Brandenburg Concertos Nos. 2, 4, and 5 are traditional concerti grossi.

Concert Overture. An independent 1-movement orch. work to open a concert, but not the ov. to an opera. Many concert ovs. are in sonata-form, others are practically symphonic-poems, e.g. one of the first of the genre, Mendelssohn's The Hebrides, and among later examples, Elgar's Cockaigne and In the South.

Concert Pitch. (1) The pitch internationally agreed in 1960 by which the note a' has 440 vibrations per second, but see A. (2) One speaks of someone being at 'concert pitch', meaning keyed-up and alert, on top form.

Concert Spirituel (Fr. 'Sacred concert'). Series of concerts founded in Paris in 1725 by A. D. Philidor, the oboist, to perform sacred works and instrumental mus. Later secular works with Fr. texts were permitted. Twenty-four concerts a year were given during periods, e.g. Lent, when other perfs. were forbidden. Ended in 1790.

Concertstück. See Konzertstück.

Concierto de Aranjuez (Aranjuez Concerto). Conc. for guitar and orch. by Rodrigo, comp. 1939, f.p. Barcelona 1940. Arr. for harp and orch. by composer.

Concord (Consonance). Chord which seems satisfactory in itself, or an interval that can be so described, or a note which is part of such a chord or interval. The opposite is discord (dissonance). What constitutes a concord is not strictly laid down and must often depend on individual assessment. However, concordant intervals comprise all perfect intervals and all major and minor 3rds and 6ths.

Concordant Intervals. See Interval.

Concord Sonata. Work for pf., with solos for va. and fl., by Ives, full title Sonata No. 2 (Concord Mass., 1840--1860). Comp. 1911--15. F.p. New Orleans 1920. Movements are entitled 1. Emerson, 2. Hawthorne, 3. The Alcotts, 4. Thoreau, in honour of the Concord group of writers whom Ives admired. Early example of use of clusters.

Concrete Music. See Musique Concrète.

Conducting. The art (or method) of controlling an orch. or operatic perf. by means of gestures, this control involving the beating of time, ensuring of correct entries, and the 'shaping' of individual phrasing. (For a discussion of the history of the use of the baton see under that entry.) The advance of the cond. as one of the most important and idolized of musicians dates from early in the 19th cent. and is parallel with (and perhaps a consequence of) the development of the expressive, Romantic elements in mus. Fran;Alcois Habeneck, conductor at Paris Opéra 1824--47, also founded in 1828 the Société des Concerts du Conservatoire at which he introduced Beethoven's syms. to Paris and cond. Berlioz's works, but he never used a full score, conducting from a copy of the first vn. part (and presumably from a memory of the full score). Berlioz himself was one of the first to conduct from a full score, and Spohr, one of the best of the early 'modern' cond.s., probably used a pf. reduction since he is credited with the invention of 'cue' letters and nos. in scores as aids to rehearsal. Mendelssohn was an excellent cond., not only of his own mus. Perhaps the first virtuoso cond. as the term is now understood was Wagner. From him stems the great tradition of 'interpretation', whereby a cond. is not merely responsible for the technical excellence of the perf. but also for projecting his personal attitude to the composer's intentions. He was followed by Bülow, Anton Seidl, Hermann Levi, Hans Richter, Franz Wüllner, Felix Mottl, and others. After Wagner came a trio of composer-cond.s., Mahler, R. Strauss, and Weingartner, who dominated European mus. until the coming of Furtwängler, Walter, Klemperer, Kleiber, Krauss, and many besides, the most illustrious being Toscanini. The first English cond.s. to win wide acceptance were Frederic Cowen, Henry Wood, and Thomas Beecham. With the development of recording, conducting ceased to be an ephemeral calling---the interpretations were preserved and can be studied and compared. There is no explanation, beyond the obvious one of psychological personality, for the way in which a cond. can, often with a minimum of rehearsal, impose his own style on an orch. he may not have encountered before, often completely changing the quality of sound or tone-colour even when the orch. is used to regular perf. under another permanent cond. Nor is there an explanation why some (not all) cond.s. differ vastly in their artistic approach to the recording-studio and the public hall. There are many examples of long assoc. between a cond. and an orch., e.g. Amsterdam Concertgebouw (Mengelberg), Suisse Romande (Ansermet), Boston S.O. (Koussevitzky), Philadelphia (Ormandy), Chicago (Stock), Hallé (Barbirolli), Cleveland (Szell), NBC (Toscanini), Berlin Phil. (Furtwängler and Karajan).

Conductus. Metrical Latin song, sacred or secular, originating in France in 12th cent. Superseded in 13th cent. by motet. Usually for 2 or 3 vv.

Confessions of a Justified Sinner. Opera in 3 acts by Thomas Wilson to lib. by John Currie, after novel by James Hogg (1824). Prod. York (Scot. Opera) 1976, cond. Norman Del Mar.

Conjunct Motion. See Motion.

Conlon, James (b NY, 1950). Amer. cond. Studied Juilliard Sch., NY. While student, cond. Boris Godunov at Spoleto Fest., Italy. Début NY Met. 1976--7 season; CG début 1979 (Don Carlos). Cond. Rotterdam P.O. from 1983.

Connolly, Justin (Riveagh) (b London, 1933). Eng. composer. Studied RCM with Fricker and Boult. Prof. of theory and comp. RCM since 1966. Taught at Yale Univ. 1963--6. Comps. incl. The Marriage of Heaven and Hell (Blake) for soloists, ch., and orch.; Antiphonies for 36 players; Cinquepaces (brass quintet); Poems of Wallace Stevens I for sop. and 7 players (1967), II for sop., cl., and pf. (1970); Rebus for orch. (1970); Anima, va. and orch. (1974); Diaphony, org. and orch. (1977); various chamber works undertitles Triad and Tesserae; Ceilidh, for 4 vn. (1976); Regeneration, ch. and brass (1977); Sestina B, hpd., fl., ob., cl., vn., and vc. (1972, rev. 1978); Sentences (Traherne), ch., brass, org. (1979); Chimaera, dancer, alto, bar., ch., pf., perc., and vc. (1979, rev. 1981); Obbligati V, vn., va., vc., str. (1981); Tesserae F, solo bass cl. (1981); Fourfold from the Garden Forking Path, 2 pf. (1983); Annead, Night Thoughts, pf. (1983); Brahms's Variations on a Theme of R. Schumann, Op. 23, arr. for 9 wind instr. (1983).

Conradi, August (b Berlin, 1821; d Berlin, 1873). Ger. composer, cond., and organist. Friend of Liszt at Weimar where he helped him in preparation of his early orch. scores. Kapellmeister at Berlin (twice), Stettin, Düsseldorf, and Cologne. Comp. 5 syms., str. qts., vaudevilles, and 8 operas (incl. Rübezahl, 1846).

Consecration of the House, The (Die Weihe des Hauses). Title of Ger. play by C. Meisl perf. at the opening of the Josephstadt Th., Vienna, 1822. Beethoven comp. an ov. in C major, Op. 124, and an item of incidental mus. Since the play was an adaptation of Kotzebue's play Die Ruinen von Athen for which he had comp. incidental mus. in 1811, Beethoven rearr. his mus. for that for Die Weihe des Hauses, but wrote a new ov.

Consecutive. Applied to harmonic intervals of the same size which succeed one another in the same parts or vv. Academic condemnation was reserved for consecutive fifths and consecutive octaves. In both intervals, the component notes are in the closest relationship to each other so that if they are used consecutively, they may both sound as one. Many 20th-cent. composers use consecutive 5ths to splendid effect. Hidden fifths are consecutive 5ths believed to be implied, i.e. the progression in similar motion of two parts to a perfect 5th (or octave) from such an interval in the same 2 parts in the previous chord, so that it may be imagined there is also an intermediate 5th (or octave).

Conservatory (Fr. Conservatoire, Ger. Konservatorium). School of mus. training and instruction. Name derived from It. conservatorio, a sch. in Naples, Venice, and elsewhere where children were 'conserved' and educated in mus. and other matters.

Consolations. 6 pieces (nocturnes) for solo pf. by Liszt, comp. 1849--50. The best-known is No. 3.

Console. All that part of the machinery of an org. which is in front of and on each side of the player and by which he operates, i.e. the manuals, pedal board, mus. stand, stop handles, swell pedals, composition pedals, pistons, and levers, etc.

Con sordino (It.). With mute.

Consort. An old spelling of 'concert', meaning a concerted perf. by any body of performers. A Whole Consort was one in which all the instr. were of one family; a Broken Consort one in which there was a mixture.

Constant, Marius (b Bucharest, 1925). Romanian-born composer and cond. living in Fr. Educated Bucharest Cons. and Paris Cons. Studied comp. with Messiaen, Boulanger, and Honegger. Pres. and mus. dir. Ars Nova 1963--71, a Paris orch. for perf. of modern mus. Mus. dir., Fr. Radio, 1953, 1963--7. Comps. incl. 24 Preludes for orch. (1958); Turner, 3 Essays for orch. (1961); Chants de Maldoror (1962) for dancer-cond., narrator, 23 improvisers, 10 vc.; Paradise Lost (ballet by Roland Petit) (1967); Chaconne et Marche Militaire for orch. (1968); 14 Stations for perc. (1970); Equal for 5 percussionists (1970); Strings, 12 str. and elec. guitar (1972); Faciebat anno 1972, orch. (1972); Piano personnage, ens. (1973); For Clarinet (1974); Le jeu de Ste Agnes, stage (1974).

Construction in Metal. 3 works by Cage for perc. instr., No. 1 for sextet (1939), Nos. 2 and 3 (1940 and 1941) for qt.

Consul, The. Opera in 3 acts by Menotti to his own lib. Prod. Philadelphia 1950, London 1951. Deals with plight of refugees in modern totalitarian state. The consul, who never appears, represents bureaucratic red tape.

Conte (Fr.). Tale. Sometimes used as title for picturesque piece of instr. mus.

Contes d'Hoffmann, Les (Offenbach). See Tales of Hoffmann, The.

Conti, Francesco Bartolomeo (b Florence, 1681; d Vienna, 1732). It. composer and theorist. Appointed to court of Vienna 1701. Comp. oratorios, serenades, over 50 cantatas, and 30 operas incl. one on Don Quixote (Vienna 1719).

Continuo. See Basso continuo.

Contra- (Kontra-, Contre-). Respectively It., Ger., and Fr. prefixes to names of instr. signifying lower in pitch (by about an octave). Thus contrebasse is Fr. for db., contrebasson Fr. for double-bn. In mus. It. these are contrabasso and contrafagotto, though in correct modern It. they should be contrabbasso and controfagotto. The Eng. contrabass is another name for a bass viol. To use it as the trans. of contrabasso is not strictly correct since the correct counterpart of the prefix is 'counter-'. But no one would know what you were talking about if you said 'counterbassoon', since the Eng. term is 'double-bassoon' and the Amer. 'contrabassoon'.

Contradanza. See Country Dance.

Contraltist. A castrato with a v. of cont. range.

Contralto (It.). The lowest of the ranges of female v., with a normal range g--e". Originally term meant a male singer, falsetto or castrato, being derived from 'contr' alto', abbrev. of contratenor altus.

Contrapunctus. Made-up Latin for counterpoint and used by J. S. Bach instead of 'fugue' as a heading for the movements of his Die Kunst der Fuge.

Contrapuntal. The adjective of Counterpoint.

Contrary Motion. See Motion.

Contrasts. Work for vn., cl., and pf. in 2 movements by Bartók, comp. 1938 for jazz clarinettist Benny Goodman who, with Szigeti and Endre Petri, gave f.p. NY 9 Jan. 1939. The violinist uses 2 instr., the 2nd being tuned G#,-D,-A,-Eb (scordatura) for 30 bars.

Contredanse. See Country Dance.

Converse, Frederick Shepherd (b Newton, Mass., 1871; d Westwood, Mass., 1940). Amer. composer. Studied comp. with Rheinberger in Munich, a Sym. in D minor being played at his graduation. His 1-act opera The Pipe of Desire (Boston 1906) was first Amer. opera to be staged at NY Met. (1910). Wrote several more operas, 6 syms., orch. pieces incl. The Mystic Trumpeter (1904), and Flivver Ten Million (1926), a fantasy to celebrate the manufacture of the 10 millionth Ford car, vn. conc. (1902), choral works, chambermus., and pf. works.

Cook, (Alfred) Melville (b Gloucester, 1912). Eng. organist. Pupil of Sumsion; ass. organist, Gloucester Cath. 1932; organist, Leeds Parish Church 1937--56, Hereford Cath. 1956--66; cond. Winnipeg Phil. Choir 1966--7. On mus. staff McMaster Univ., Hamilton, Ont., from 1973.

Cook, Brian Rayner (b London, 1945). Eng. bar. Studied RCM. Recital début, London 1970. Specializes in oratorio, songs, etc.

Cooke, Arnold (Atkinson) (b Gomersal, Yorks., 1906). Eng. composer. Studied Cambridge Univ. 1925--9 and with Hindemith at Berlin Hoch- schule für Musik 1929--32. Prof. of harmony and comp. RCM 1933--8 and at TCL from 1947. Comps. incl.:

operas: Mary Barton (1949--54); The Invisible Duke (1 act), (1975--6).

ballet: Jabez and the Devil (1959--60).

orch: 6 syms. (1946--7, 1963, 1967--8, 1973--4, 1978--9, 1983--4), ob. conc. (1954), 2 cl. concs. (1955, 1981--2), vn. conc. (1958), vc. conc. (1974).

chamber music: 4 str. qts.; 2 vc. sonatas (1941, 1979--80), ob. qt. (1948), str. trio (1950), vn. sonata No. 1 (1938), No. 2 (1951), ob. sonata (1957), cl. sonata (1959), hn. quintet (also exists as hn. trio) (1956), Concertante Quartet, 4 cl. (1976).

voices: 5 Part-Songs (1959), Song on May Morning (1966), The Sea Mew, song-cycle for bar., fl., ob., str. qt. (1980).

organ: Sonata No. 1 (1971), No. 2 (1980).

Cooke, Deryck (Victor) (b Leicester, 1919; d Croydon, 1976). Eng. critic, broadcaster, and musicologist. Studied music Cambridge Univ. under Hadley and Orr, 1938--40, 1946--7. On BBC staff 1947--59 and after 1965. Wrote important book, The Language of Music. Made perf. version from chaotic MS. score of Mahler's 10th Sym. (f.p. 1964, rev. 1972). Authority on Bruckner, Delius, and Wagner (esp. The Ring, first part of his projected study of which was posthumously pubd. in 1979, as I Saw the World End).

Cooke, Henry (b c.1616; d Hampton Court, 1672). Eng. bass singer and choirmaster. Choirboy in Chapel Royal; later joined the royalist forces and became captain; at Restoration returned to Chapel Royal as Master of the Children, among whom were Pelham Humfrey, John Blow, and Henry Purcell. Was favourably known not only as their teacher but as composer for stage and church, as actor and as singer.

Coolidge, Elizabeth Sprague (b Chicago, 1864; d Cambridge, Mass., 1953). Amer. pianist, composer, and patron of mus. Founder of chamber mus. fests. (Pitsfield, Mass.; then Washington D.C.). Coolidge Foundation (1925) was founded to sponsor the fests. and to commission works from leading 20th-cent. composers (e.g. Stravinsky, Bartók, Pizzetti, Prokofiev, Dallapiccola, Crumb). Gave generous private sponsorship to Schoenberg and Frank Bridge.

Cooper, Emil (b Kherson, Russia, 1877; d NY, 1960). Russ.-born cond. Studied Odessa, Vienna (Hellmesberger), Moscow (Taneyev). Début Odessa 1896, Kiev 1900. Cond. f.p. of Rimsky-Korsakov's The Golden Cockerel, Moscow 1909, and its f.p. in London 1914. Cond. first Russ. perfs. of Wagner's Ring and Meistersinger. Cond. for Diaghilev ballet, Paris 1909. Cond. Leningrad P.O. 1921--2. Left Russia 1922. Cond. at Chicago Opera 1929--32, and at NY Met. 1944--50, where he introduced Britten's Peter Grimes.

Cooper, Gerald (Melbourne) (b London, 1892; d London, 1947). Eng. musicologist and ten., who promoted concerts of old and modern mus. in London 1922--30 and in later years. Ed. popular edn. of extracts from Purcell. Hon. Sec., Royal Phil. Soc. 1929--32, and sometime chairman of Brit. section of I.S.C.M.

Cooper, Imogen (b London, 1949). Eng. pianist, daughter of Martin Cooper. Studied with Kathleen Long until 1961, then at Paris Cons. as pupil of Jacques Ferrier and Yvonne Lefébure. Won a Premier Prix 1967, then studied with Brendel. Won Mozart Prize 1969. Many solo recitals and concs. with leading orchs. Amer. début Los Angeles, 1984.

Cooper, John. See Coprario, Giovanni.

Cooper, Joseph (b Bristol, 1912). Eng. pianist. Studied with Petri. Lecture-recitalist, also chairman of popular TV mus. quiz. Assisted Vaughan Williams in adapting pf. conc. to double pf. conc., 1946.

Cooper, Martin (Du Pré) (b Winchester, 1910). Eng. critic. Studied in Vienna with Egon Wellesz. Mus. critic of Daily Telegraph 1950--76 (chief critic from 1954). Mus. critic London Mercury 1935--9, Daily Herald 1946--50. Ed., Musical Times 1952--5. Author of books on Gluck, Bizet, French music, and Beethoven (The Last Decade). CBE 1972.

Coperti (It.). Covered. Term used of drums muted by being covered with a cloth.

Copla. (1) Sp. popular poem and song in short stanzas (see Seguidilla), sometimes extemporized. (2) A solo movement in a Villancico.

Copland, Aaron (b Brooklyn, NY, 1900). Amer. composer, pianist, and cond., of Russ. parentage (name was originally Kaplan). First Amer. composer whose mus. was recognized outside USA as distinctively nat. Studied mus. theory in 1917 with Rubin Goldmark but in 1921 went to Paris as Nadia Boulanger's first full-time Amer. student. On return to USA, wrote Sym. for Organ and Orch. (1923--4) for Mlle Boulanger's Amer. début as organist. F.p. in 1925 gained him notoriety as apostle of dissonance, the cond. (Damrosch) remarking: 'If he can write like that at 23, in 5 years he'll be ready to commit murder'. Led to a Boston commission (Music for the Theater, for orch., 1925) from Koussevitzky, who also cond. f.p. of pf. conc., 1927. In both works jazz elements were introduced to purge what Copland felt was the 'too European' flavour of his mus. Abandoned jazz in 1930, adopting a more austere style in the Pf. Variations (1930) and Short Symphony (1932--3). At the same time, concerned with widening gap between public and contemporary composers, wrote some works in a more accessible, popular style. Visited Mexico several times in the 1930s and in 1936 prod. his highly successful El salón México, orch. fantasy on popular Mexican tunes. Other works in this style incl. ballets Billy the Kid (1938), Rodeo (1942), and Appalachian

Spring (1944). In later years Copland has prod. little mus., preferring to conduct. Copland has always worked hard on the promotional side of Amer. mus. as lecturer and teacher (head of the comp. faculty at Berkshire Mus. Center 1940--65). He has toured the world as cond. and ambassador for his country's mus.; co-founded (with Sessions) a series of NY concerts of new Amer. works 1928--31, founded a publishing press, and was active with the League of Composers. In 1937 he founded the Amer. Composers' Alliance. He received the Congressional Medal of Honour 1977, Presidential Medal of Freedom 1964, Gold Medal of Amer. Acad. 1956, and Pulitzer Prize for Mus. 1944. He has written several books. Prin. comps.:

stage: Ballets: Billy the Kid (1938); Rodeo (1942); Appalachian Spring (1944). Opera: The Tender Land (1952--4, rev. 1955).

orch: Sym. for Organ (1924) (version without organ is Sym. No. 1 1928); Music for the Theater (1925); Pf. Conc. (1926); Symphonic Ode (1928--9, rev. 1955); Short Symphony (Sym. No. 2) (1932--3); Statements (1932--5); Suite: Billy the Kid (1938); Elsalón México (1933--6); Quiet City (1939); Suite from film mus. Our Town (1940); A Lincoln Portrait for speaker and orch. (1942); Fanfare for the Common Man (1942); Music for the Movies (1942); Suite, Rodeo (1943); Suite, Appalachian Spring (1945); Sym. No. 3 (1944--6); cl. conc. (1947--8); Orchestral Variations (1957, orch. version of Pf. Variations); Connotations (1962); Music for a Great City (1964); 3 Latin-American Sketches (1972); Inscape (1967).

choral: The House on the Hill (1925); In the Beginning, mez. and unacc. ch. (1947); Canticle of Freedom (1955, rev. 1965).

chamber music: As it fell upon a day, for sop., fl., and cl. (1923); 2 pieces for str. qt. (1923 and 1928, also for str. orch.); Vitebsk (Study on a Jewish Theme), pf. trio (1928); Vn. sonata (1943); pf. qt. (1950); Nonet for str. (1960); Duo for fl. and pf. (1971); Threnody (in memoriam Stravinsky), fl. qt. (1971).

piano: The Cat and the Mouse (1920); Piano Variations (1930, orch. version 1957); Sonata (1939--41); Fantasy (1952--7). Also pf. suites from Billy the Kid and Our Town. Also songs, incl. 12 Poems of Emily Dickinson (1950) and Old American Songs (1950--2), and film mus. incl. Of Mice and Men (1939), Our Town (1940), The Red Pony (1948) and The Heiress (1949) (Hollywood 'Oscar').

Coppel (Ger.). Coupler (organ).

Coppélia, ou La Fille aux yeux d'émail (Coppelia, or The Girl with enamel eyes). Ballet in 3 acts with mus. by Delibes to lib. by Nuitter and Saint-Léon, choreog. Saint-Léon, prod. Paris 1870. Based on story by E. T. A. Hoffmann (Der Sandmann). Many other choreographic versions.

Coppola, Piero (b Milan, 1888; d Lausanne, 1971). It. cond. and composer. Studied Milan Cons. Int. career as conductor overshadowed his comps., somewhat like Casella's bolder style. They incl. 2 operas, sym., and chamber mus.

Coprario, Giovanni (John Cooper) (b c.1575; d London, 1626). Eng. composer and viol player. Visited It. c.1600, changing name to Giovanni Coprario (or Coperario) and retaining this on return. Comp. str. fantasias, masques, anthems, and suites. Taught mus. to Charles I and to the Lawes brothers. His Funeral Teares (1606) and Songs of Mourning (1613), 7 songs written at death of James I's eldest son, Henry, are among earliest Eng. song-cycles. Some time before 1617 he wrote his Rules How to Compose. Was in service of Cecil family.

Coprifuoco, coprifoco (It.). Curfew. Occasional title for instr. comp., sometimes with bell effect.

Coq d'Or, Le (Rimsky-Korsakov). See Golden Cockerel, The.

Cor (Fr.). Properly horn but the term forms a part of the name of several instr. which are not hns., e.g. cor anglais.

Cor anglais (Fr.). English horn. Neither Eng., nor a hn., but an alto ob. pitched a5th below oboe. A transposing instr., being written a 5th higher than it sounds. Compass from e upwards for about 2;FD octaves. The reed is inserted in a metal tube which is bent back. Invented by Ferlandis of Bergamo in 1760. Not much used before 19th-cent. Romantic composers, but there are several famous solos for it, e.g. Wagner's Tristan und Isolde, Act III; in slow movement of Franck's Sym., and in Sibelius's The Swan of Tuonela. Also organ reed stop of 8' pitch but sometimes 16'.

Corant, coranto. See Courante.

Corda, Corde (It.). String, strings. (1, pf. mus.) Una corda, 1 string, i.e. use the 'soft' pedal which causes the hammers (on apf.) to strike only 1 str. per note instead of 3. Cancelled by term tre corde (3 str.) or tutte le corde (all the str.). (2, Vn. mus., etc.) Corda vuota, empty string, i.e. open string.

Corde (Fr.). String.

Corde à jour, Corde à vide (Fr.). Open string.

Cor de chasse (Fr.). Hunting horn. 17th-cent brass instr. developed from combination of tightly-coiled helical hn. and crescent-shaped hn.

Cor de nuit (Fr.). Night-horn, i.e. watchman's horn. Org. flue stop; end-plugged; of 4' length and 8' pitch; of very characteristic tone quality.

Corder, Frederick (b London, 1852; d London, 1932). Eng. composer and teacher. Studied RAM and in Cologne with Hiller. Founded Soc. of Brit. Composers (1905--18) to promote Brit. mus. Prof. of comp. RAM for many years. Opera Nordisa prod. London 1887. Trans. into Eng. libs. of Wagner's Ring, Tristan, Lohengrin, Die Meistersinger and Parsifal (helped by his wife).

Cor des Alpes. See Alphorn.

Cor d'harmonie (Fr.). Horn, with or without valves.

Corelli, Arcangelo (b Fusignano, nr. Milan, 1653; d Rome, 1713). It. violinist and composer. Spent much of his youth in Fr. and Ger. as virtuoso violinist, returning to Rome 1682: from 1684 was under patronage of Cardinal Pamphili, and from 1690 under that of Cardinal Ottoboni. Lived in cardinal's palace and died a rich man with a fine art coll. His importance as a composer lies in his sonatas da camera and concerti grossi from which the solo sonata and the orch. concs. of Handel and Bach evolved. They are beautiful in themselves, notably the Christmas Concerto. His works are grouped under 6 opus nos. 1. 12 Sonatas a tre; 2. 12 Sonatas da camera a tre; 3. 12 Sonatas a tre; 4. 12 Sonatas da camera a tre; 5. 12 Sonatas for vn. or vn. and cembalo (also arr. as concertigrossi by Geminiani). 6. 12 Concerti grossi.

Corelli, Franco (b Ancona, 1921). It. ten. Studied Milan, Florence, and Spoleto. Début Spoleto 1951 as Don José in Carmen, Milan 1953 (with Callas), CG 1957, NY Met. 1961. V. of heroic quality in roles such as Manrico (Trovatore) and Calaf (Turandot).

Corelli, Variations on a Theme of. Work for solo pf. by Rakhmaninov, Op. 42, comp. and f.p. 1931 (Montreal). Theme is 'La folia'.

Corena, Fernando (b Geneva, 1916; d Lugano, 1984). Swiss-It. bass. Studied Milan. Début Milan 1937. Opera début Trieste 1947 in Boris Godunov. NY Met. 1953, CG 1960, Vienna 1963.

Corfini, Jacopo (b Padua, 1540; d Lucca, 1591). It. composer and organist (Lucca Cath. from 1557). Wrote madrigals, motets, concerti da chiesa, etc.

Corigliano, John (b NY, 1938). Amer. composer. Studied with Luening and Creston. Ass. dir. mus. C.B.S. TV 1961--72. Teacher at Lehman Coll., NY, from 1972. Works incl. vn. sonata (1963), Elegy for orch. (1966), cl. conc. (1977), incidental mus., and The Naked Carmen (arr. of Bizet's Carmen for rock and pop groups and Moog synthesizer).

Coriolan (Coriolanus). Ov., Op. 62, by Beethoven comp. in 1807 for revival in Vienna of H. von Collin's play Coriolan (not Shakespeare's).

Cori spezzati (It. 'Divided choirs'). Singers placed in different parts of a building; also the mus. written for them.

Cor mixte. See Corno Alto and Corno Basso.

Cornago, Johannes (fl. c.1455--85). Sp. composer of masses, motets, and villancicos. Active at court of Naples, where most of his works were composed. His courtly love-songs are especially fine. Known to have returned to Spain.

Cornamuse. Obsolete instr. extant during 16th cent. Term frequently means bagpipe (Fr. cornemuse) but It. cornamusa sometimes refers to a crumhorn and sometimes to a different instr., like a soft crumhorn.

Cornelius, Peter (b Mainz, 1824; d Mainz, 1874). Ger. composer and writer. Studied Berlin 1845--52. His delightful comic opera Der Barbier von Bagdad was produced by Liszt at Weimar, 1858, but controversy caused by Cornelius's advocacy of the Liszt-Wagner 'New Music' led to its withdrawal and to Liszt's resignation as court cond. Became prof. of harmony, Munich Cons., and spent some time with Wagner. Wrote 2 other operas, Der Cid (Weimar 1865) and Gunlöd (unfinished, completed by Bausznern, prod. 1891). Wrote many beautiful vocal works and songs incl. the Christmas hymn known in Eng. as 'Three Kings from Persian Lands afar' but orig. Die Könige from the Weihnachtslieder (1856).

Cornelius, Peter (b Labjerggaard, 1865; d Snekkersten, 1934). Danish ten. Studied Copenhagen and Berlin. Début as bar., Copenhagen 1892; as ten., Copenhagen 1899. Sang at Bayreuth 1906 and at CG 1907--14. Was Siegfried in the Ring perfs. cond. Richter at CG 1908 and 1909.

Cornemuse (Fr.). Type of bagpipe.

Cornet or Cornet à pistons (Fr.). An instr. of brass (or other metal), of partly cylindrical and partly conical bore, with a cup-shaped mouthpiece. Like both tpt. and hn. it operates on the harmonic series filling in the gaps by the use of 3 valves which, singly or in combination, lengthen the tube so giving new fundamentals of 1 semitone to 6 lower, and consequently as many new harmonic series. Its tone is of a quality between that of the hn. and that of the tpt. Owing to the width of its bore it has great flexibility. Double and triple tonguing are possible. Like the tpt. as found in most Brit. orchs. it is constructed so that its primary key can be either Bb or A, as desired: this removes some of the difficulties of playing in the extreme flat and sharp keys, as in the one case the player is eased of 2 flats and in the other 3 sharps. There is also a cornet in Eb, almost exclusively for wind-band use. In all these 3 keys the cornet is a transposing instr., its mus. being written respectively a tone or minor 3rd higher, or a minor 3rd lower. The cornet's first orch. appearance seems to have been in Rossini's opera William Tell, in 1829, and cornets are used by Berlioz in several works, incl. the Symphonie Fantastique, by Bizet, and by Tchaikovsky in Francesca da Rimini. By the 1890s it had almost displaced the tpt. in the orch., but is now seldom found in the orch. or in dance bands, and is now chiefly used in brass and military bands where a sop. cornet in Eb is also used. But some 20th-cent. composers specify its use where they want its particular tone-quality, e.g. Vaughan Williams in London Symphony, Lambert in Rio Grande, and Arnold in Beckus the Dandipratt.

Cornet, Peeter (b Brussels, c.1575; d Brussels, 1633). Flemish composer and court organist at Brussels, 1603--1626. Wrote org. pieces in the Venetian style; also influenced by the Fr. and Eng. schools, and by Sweelinck and Scheidt.

Cornet Stop. Org. stop of Mixture type: usually of 4 or 5 ranks. Mounted Cornet is one placed high on its own sound-board so as to be well heard.

Cornett. Renaissance wind instr., spelt usually with double 't' to avoid confusion with the band cornet. Name means 'little horn'. Heyday approx. 1500--1600. Hybrid form, combining brass cup-mouthpiece technique with woodwind finger technique, and was admired for its versatility of tone: as loud as a tpt., agile as a vn., and flexible as a v. 3 varieties, curved, straight, and mute, all in different sizes. Mute prod. an exquisitely soft tone. Curved was most popular form and was used as a virtuoso instr., particularly by Monteverdi in his Vespers and Orfeo. All cornetts were in G with a range of 2 octaves. Cornettino developed for very high parts, pitched in C or D, and there were alto cornetts in F and the large ten. cornett in C. The cornett was displaced by baroque tpt. and baroque ob. See also serpent and ophicleide.

Cornish, William. See Cornyshe, William.

Corno (It.). Properly horn, but the term forms a part of the name of several instr. that are not hns. (e.g. corno inglese, cor anglais).

Corno alto and corno basso (It.). High horn and low horn. (1) Old names for hn. players who specialized in the high and low registers respectively. (In early 19th-cent. Fr. there was a middle category, cor mixte.) (2) In modern scores the terms are used to distinguish, e.g. the horn in Bb which transposes down one tone, and that which transposes down a 9th.

Corno a macchina (It.). Valve horn.

Corno a mano (It.). Hand horn. The natural Fr. hn.

Corno a pistoni (It.). Valve hn.

Corno basso. See Corno alto.

Corno cromatico (It.). Chromatic hn., i.e. Valve hn.

Corno da caccia. Hunting hn.

Corno di bassetto (It.). (1) The basset horn. (2) Pseudonym of Bernard Shaw for his mus. criticisms in The Star 1889--90; he used it again in articles he contrib. to the same paper in 1896 and 1897. (3) Org. stop much like cl. stop.

Corno dolce. Soft org. stop generally of fl. (not hn.) type; 8' length and pitch (occasionally 16').

Corno inglese (It.). Cor anglais.

Cornopean. Organ stop like Trumpet but softer.

Corno ventile (It.). Valve hn.

Cornyshe (Cornish), William (b E. Greenwich, c.1465; d Hylden, Kent, 1523). Eng. composer and actor. Member of Chapel Royal 1496. Master of children, Chapel Royal, 1509. Organized mus. at masques, pageants, and banquets for Henry VIII and supervised mus. at Field of Cloth of Gold 1520. Wrote part-songs, notable for inventiveness and jovial humour, and church mus.

Coro (It.). Choir, chorus. Gran coro, in org. mus., means 'full org'.

Cor-oboe. Org. flue stop of 8' length and pitch, and somewhat reedy quality.

Coronation Concerto. Nickname of Mozart's pf. conc. No. 26 in D, K537, perf. Frankfurt, 1790, on occasion of coronation of Leopold II but comp. 1788 and previously perf. by Mozart in 1789.

Coronation Mass. Mozart's Mass in C, K317, comp. 1779. So nicknamed, apparently, from some assoc. with the annual crowning of a statue of the Virgin, nr. Salzburg.

Coronation Ode. Choral work, Op. 44, for 4 soloists, ch., and orch. by Elgar to words by A. C. Benson. Commissioned for CG gala perf. for Coronation of Edward VII, June 1902 (cancelled because of King's illness). F.p. Sheffield Fest. Oct. 1902. Finale is 'Land of Hope and Glory', to melody from trio of Pomp and Circumstance March No. 1.

Coronation of Poppea, The (Monteverdi). See Incoronazione di Poppea, L'.

Corps de Ballet (Fr.). The ballet troupe (excluding principals) of any particular th.

Corps de réchange (Fr.). Crook of a brass instr.

Corps glorieux, Les (The Glorious Hosts). Work for org. by Messiaen, comp. 1939, in 7 movements: 1. Subtilité des corps glorieux. 2. Les Eaux de la grace. 3. L'Ange aux parfums. 4. Combat de la mort et de la vie. 5. Force et agilité des corps glorieux. 6. Joie et clarté des corps glorieux. 7. Mystère de la Sainte Trinité.

Corranach (also Coronach). (1) Highland Scot. and Irish funeral dirge. (2) Person performing such a dirge.

Corregidor, Der (The Mayor). Opera in 4 acts by Hugo Wolf to lib. by Rosa Mayreder based on story by Alarcón, El sombrero de tres picos (The Three-Cornered Hat) 1874, on which Falla's ballet was also to be based. Prod. Mannheim 1896, London 1934. Eng. trans. by Gerald Larner, Manchester 1966.

Corrente. See Courante.

Corrette, Michel (b Rouen, 1709; d Paris, 1795). Fr. composer. Organist at Jesuit College, Paris, 1750--9. Comps. incl. conc. for hpd., fl., hurdy-gurdy, and org., sonatas for bn., vc., and vn., much church mus., and works for org. solo.

Corsaire, Le (The Corsair). Concert-ov., Op. 21, by Berlioz, based on Byron's poem. First drafted in 1831, then rev. Nice 1844 under title The Tower at Nice. Perf. thus in Jan. 1845 and again rev. 1855. At one point called Le Corsaire rouge, Fr. title of Fenimore Cooper's The Red Rover.

Corsaro, Il (The Corsair). Opera in 3 acts by Verdi to lib. by Piave based on Byron's poem. Prod. Trieste 1848. Revived London 1966.

Corsi, Jacopo (b Florence, 1560; d Florence, 1602). It. nobleman in whose house in Florence the Camerata met, as also in Bardi's. Comp. 2 songs (the only surviving part) in Peri's Dafne, perf. in Corsi's house, in 1598. In 1600 was responsible for prod. of Peri's Euridice.

Cor simple (Fr.). Natural hn.

Corta, corte, corti. See Corto.

Corteccia, Francesco di Bernardo (b Florence, 1502; d Florence, 1571). It. org. and composer. Choirmaster at ducal court in Florence 1540--71. Wrote madrigals, etc. Joint composer with Striggio of wedding mus. for Francesco de' Medici and Joanna of Austria, 1565.

Cortèges (Funeral processions). Fantasy ov. for orch. by Rawsthorne, f.p. London 1945.

Corto, corta, corti, corte (It.). Short.

Cortot, Alfred (b Nyon, Switz., 1877; d Lausanne, 1962). Swiss-born pianist and cond. long resident in Fr. Studied Paris Cons. Débutas pianist Paris 1896. Keen Wagnerian, went to Bayreuth and became ass.cond. to Richter and Mottl 1898--1901. Cond. first Paris perf. of Götterdämmerung 1902. Became cond. of orch. concerts of Société Nationale 1904. From 1905 played in celebrated pf. trio with Thibaud and Casals. Onstaff Paris Cons. 1907--17, succeeding Pugno as prof. of pf. In 1919 founded École Normale de Musique. One of 3 cons. of Orchestre Symphonique de Paris, founded 1928. Ed. pf. works of Chopin, Schumann, and Liszt and wrote several books. Arrested 1944 on charges of collab. with Nazi occupation forces but released.

Cosaque (Fr.). Cossack dance in simple duple time with continual accelerando.

Così fan tutte, ossia la scuola degli amanti (Women are all the same, or The School for Lovers). Opera in 2 acts by Mozart (K588) to lib. by da Ponte. Prod. Vienna 1790, London 1811, NY 1922. History of this opera is of special interest. Today it is regarded by many critics as Mozart's greatest and was a success at its first appearance, being repeated 10 times in 1790 and perf. at Prague, Dresden, Leipzig, and Frankfurt before Mozart died. After about 1830 it became a rarity for about 60 years, when it was re-est. through the advocacy of R. Strauss, Mahler, and, later, Beecham. This neglect may have been because the plot was considered (by Beethoven among others) to be immoral, but a mus. reason may have been that the chief sop. role of Fiordiligi was long regarded as unsingable: it was written for Adriana del Bene who was a brilliant high coloratura but also commanded a very low register. The opera requires carefully rehearsed ens. work.

Cosma, Edgar (b Bucharest, 1925). Romanian cond. and composer. Cond. Romanian film mus. orch. 1950--8; Ulster Orch. 1969--74. Comps. incl. str. qt., pf. trio, pf. sonata.

Cossotto, Fiorenza (b Crescentino di Vercelli, 1935). It. mez. Studied Turin Cons. Début La Scala, Milan, 1957 in f.p. of Poulenc's Les Dialogues des Carmélites. Sang Leonora in La favorite, Milan 1961. Début CG 1959 in Medea (with Callas), NY Met. 1968 as Amneris in Aida. Also recitalist, and distinguished exponent of Verdi Requiem.

Cossutta, Carlo (b Trieste, 1932). It. ten. Studied Buenos Aires. Début Buenos Aires 1956 (in La traviata). CG début 1964. NY Met. from 1973, Milan etc. Noted Otello, Manrico, and Turiddu.

Costa, Mary (b Knoxville, Tenn., 1930). Amer. sop. Studied Southern Calif. and made TV commercials. Deputized for Schwarzkopf, Hollywood Bowl 1958. Sang at Glyndebourne, San Francisco, and Cincinnati Opera Houses. Début NY Met. as Violetta in La traviata 1964.

Costa, (Sir) Michael (Andrew Agnus) (orig. Michele Andrea Agniello) (b Naples, 1808; d Hove, 1884). It.-born cond. and composer, naturalized Brit. Studied Naples Cons. Wrote 4 operas for Naples 1826–9. Went to London 1829 to conduct Zingarelli cantata and settled there, taking leading part in many mus. activities. Maestro al piano King's Theatre 1830, cond. and mus. dir. 1833–46. Cond. Phil. Soc. 1846–54, Birmingham Fest. 1849–82, Handel Fest. 1857–80, Royal It. Opera, CG 1847–69 and 1871–9. Knighted 1869. Comp. 3 syms., cantatas, operas incl. Don Carlos (London 1844), and oratorios Eli (Birmingham 1855) and Naaman (Birmingham 1864). Opinions differ on Costa's merits as a cond., but he was certainly a superb orch. trainer.

Costeley, Guillaume (b Fontanges, 1531; d Évreux, 1606). Fr. composer of Chansons, repubd. 1896. Pres. of soc. in honour of St. Cecilia, formed c.1571, which est. a mus. contest at Évreux. Experimented with microtonal comp. First comp. to call a work an 'air'.

Cosyn, Benjamin (b c.1570; d ?London, after 1652). Eng. organist and composer. Org., Dulwich Coll. 1622–4 and Charterhouse 1626–43. Compiled Virginal Book of 90 pieces, incl. 32 of his own and others by Bull, Gibbons, Tallis, and Byrd. Influenced by Bull.

Côtelettes. See Chopsticks.

Cotillon (Fr. 'Under-petticoat'). Elaborate ballroom dance popular in 19th cent. as final dance of the evening. It was a type of country dance, perf. by any no., all imitating the leading couple, who chose their figures out of a large number available. The mus. was simply that of various waltzes, mazurkas, etc. In earlier centuries was akin to quadrille.

Cotrubas, Ileana (b Galati, Romania, 1939). Romanian sop. Studied Bucharest and Vienna Acad. of Mus. Début Bucharest Opera 1964 (Yniold in Debussy's Pelléas et Mélisande), then operatic appearances in Vienna, Salzburg, Berlin, and Frankfurt. Glyndebourne 1969 (Mélisande) and 1970 (La Calisto). CG 1971 (Tatyana). Chicago from 1973, Milan 1974. Noted Mozart singer.

Coulisse (Fr.). Groove, Sliding-piece, etc. (1) Slide of tb. and slide tpt. (2, followed by the words à accorder) Tuning slide of a wind inst.

Counterpoint. The ability, unique to mus., to say 2 things at once comprehensibly. The term derives from the expression punctus contra punctum, i.e. 'point against point' or 'note against note'. A single 'part' or 'voice' added to another is called 'a counterpoint' to that other, but the more common use of the word is that of the combination of simultaneous parts orvv., each of significance in itself and the whole resulting in a coherent texture. In this sense Counterpoint is the same as Polyphony. The art of counterpoint developed gradually from the 9th cent. onwards and reached its highest point at the end of the 16th cent. and beginning of the 17th cent. When, at a later date, attempts were made to formulate rules for students of the art they were based on the practice of that period of culmination. The chief theorist responsible for the formulation of those rules was Fux whose Gradus ad Parnassum of 1725 is a book which still shows its influence in modern textbooks of Strict counterpoint (or Student's Counterpoint), a form of training intended to be preparatory to the practice of Free Counterpoint (or Composer's Counterpoint). In Strict Counterpoint the processes are studied under 5 heads, the result of an analysis which dissects the practice of the art into 5 Species. Following the practice of early composers a Cantus firmus (fixed song) is employed, i.e. a shortmelody, set by the master, against which another melody is to be written by the student---or, it may be, several such melodies. It is usually set out with one note to a measure (bar). The Species are as follows: [el2][cp7,7]I. The added v. proceeds at the same pace as the cantus firmus, i.e. with 1 note to a measure. II. The added v. proceeds at twice (or 3 times) the pace of the cantus firmus, i.e. with 2 or 3 notes to a measure. III. The added v. proceeds at 4 (or 6) times the pace of the cantus firmus, i.e. with 4 notes to a measure. IV. The added v. proceeds (as in Species II) at the rate of 2 notes to 1, i.e. 2 to a measure; but the second note is tied over to the first note of the following measure, i.e. Syncopationis introduced. V. (Sometimes called Florid Counterpoint.) The added v. employs a mixture of the processes of the other 4 species and also introduces shorter notes (quavers). [el2][cp8,8]^The use of Strict Counterpoint as a method of study has tended to decline, its 'rules' being felt to be too rigid. Combined Counterpoint (strict or free) is that in which the added vv. are different species. Invertible Counterpoint is such as permits of vv. changing places (the higher becoming the lower, and vice versa). Double Counterpoint is Invertible Counterpoint as concerns 2 vv. Triple Counterpoint is that in which 3 vv. are concerned, which are capable of changing places with one another, so making 6 positions of the v. parts possible. Quadruple and Quintuple Counterpoint are similarly explained, the first allowing of 24 positions and the second of 120. Imitation is common in contrapuntal comp.---one v. entering with a phrase which is then more or less exactly copied by another v. When the Imitation is strict it becomes Canon. In the 20th cent. there have been no new contrapuntal procedures but composers have made much freer and more daring use of traditional forms. In particular they have concentrated on what is known as Linear Counterpoint, i.e. on the individual strands of the texture and on thematic and rhythmic relationships rather than on harmonic implications. Linear harmony is the opposite of vertical harmony, i.e. confluences. With the blurring or virtual elimination of the boundaries between consonance and dissonance a much wider range of confluences is open to the composer.

Countersubject. In Fugue, in addition to the subject, there is often a countersubject appearing in the exposition and probably later also. This is a melodic acc. to the answer and subject and is generally in double counterpoint. The v. which has just given out the subject or answer then proceeds to the countersubject while the next v. gives out the answer or subject, and so on.

Countertenor. High male v. not to be confused with male alto, falsetto, or castrato and with a strong, almost instr. purity of tone. Was popular in Handel's and Purcell's lifetimes and has been revived in 20th cent. largely thanks to artistry of Alfred Deller. Several modern composers, incl. Britten in his opera Midsummer Night's Dream, have written parts for counterten. With the search for authenticity in perf. of early mus., it has reclaimed many roles in baroque works long since assigned to conts. or tens.

Count of Luxemburg, The (Der Graf von Luxemburg). Operetta in 3 acts by Lehár (1909) to libretto by A. M. Wilner and R. Bodanzky. F.p. Vienna 1909.

Country Dance (Eng.), Contredanse (Fr.), Contradanza (It.), Kontretanz (Ger.). This type of dance is of Brit. origin. Its various foreign names have come about from a plausible false etymology ('counter-dance'---one in which the performers stand opposite to one another---as distinguished from a rounddance). Both Mozart and Beethoven wrote Kontretänze. No. 7 of Beethoven's 12 Kontretänze contains the theme used also in the finale of the Eroica Sym. and other works. The term is generic and covers a whole series of figure dances deriving from the amusements of the Eng. village green. Such dances became popular at the court of Queen Elizabeth I, and during the Commonwealth were systematically described by Playford in his English Dancing Master. In early years of the 19th cent. the waltz and quadrille drove the country dance out of the English ballroom (with the exception of the popular example known as Sir Roger de Coverley); the folk-dance movement of the 20th cent., however, brought it into considerable use again. Scotland has throughout retained a number of its country dances.

Country Gardens. Eng. country dance-tune to which The Vicar of Bray is nowadays sung, but perhaps best known in Grainger's arr. for pf. (1908--18) and 2 pf. (1918) orch. by L. Artok.

Coupd'archet (Fr.). Bow-stroke or bowing.

Coup de glotte (Fr.). Blow of the glottis. In v. prod., a method, thought by many to be harmful, of attacking a note by closing the false vocal cords (2 membranes above the true vocal cords) and quickly opening them to release the tone. If the release is too abrupt, a cough will be the result.

Coupé (Fr.). In ballet, a step like the Chassé but the displaced foot goes into the air.

Couperin, Fran;Alcois (b Paris, 1668; d Paris, 1733). Fr. composer, harpsichordist, and organist, the most distinguished of his family and thus known as 'Couperin leGrand'. Taught by his father Charles and by Thomelin. Became organist of St Gervais, Paris, in 1685, holding post until his death. In 1693 succeeded Thomelin as organist of Royal chapel, with the title 'organiste du Roi' (Louis XIV). In 1717 became 'ordinaire de la musique de la chambre du Roi', acknowledgement of his special position in the court. On almost every Sunday Couperin and colleagues gave chamber concerts for the king, for which he comp. what he called 'Concerts'. These are in the form of suites and may have been intended for the hpd., of which he was a virtuoso, but were probably perf. on vn., viol, ob., bn., and hpd. (clavecin). Couperin was greatly influenced by Corelli and introduced into Fr. the Italian's trio-sonata form, himself publishing in 1726 Les Nations, a set of 4 Suites (Ordres) for 2 vn. and hpd. Also comp. 'grand trio sonata' sub-titled Le Parnasse, ou l'Apothéose de Corelli. In 1716 pubd. famous book L'Art de toucher le clavecin, containing instructions for fingering, methods of touch, and execution of *agrément*s (ornamentation) in performing his hpd. pieces. This had strong influence on Bach. His 4 pubd. vols. of hpd. works contain over 230 pieces which proclaim him a supreme master of the kbd. Most have picturesque or descriptive titles and are like miniature tone-poems. This perhaps is a clue to their appeal to Richard Strauss, who orchestrated several Couperin pieces. Prin. works:

chambermusic: Quatre Concerts Royaux (1722); Les Goûts-Réunis ou Nouveaux Concerts (10 Concerts incl. the 'Corelli' Grand Trio, 1724); Les Nations (4 Ordres for 2 str. and hpd. 1726); Concert instrumental ('in memory of the immortal Lully', 1725).

harpsichord: Pièces de Clavecin, Book 1 (5 Ordres, 1713), Book 2 (7 Ordres, 1717), Book 3 (7 Ordres, 1722), Book 4 (8 Ordres, 1730).

organ: 42 Pièces d'orgue consistantes en deux Messes (1690). Also songs and religious works.

Couperin, Louis (b Chaumes, c.1626; d Paris, 1661). Fr. composer and organist, first of his family to be organist at St Gervais (from c.1650). Also played vn. and comp. instr. works, incl. 132 pieces for hpd. Uncle of F. Couperin. The Couperin family were professional musicians in Paris from late in the 16th cent. to the middle of the 19th. Members were organists at St Gervais for over 170 years. Fran;alcois (le grand) and Louis were the most illustrious of the clan, but others deserving mention were: Margaret-Louise Couperin (b Paris, 1676 or 1679; d Versailles, 1728), singer and harpsichordist, who is known to have sung mus. by her cousin Fran;alcois; Armand-Louis Couperin (b Paris, 1727; d Paris, 1789), composer, organist, and harpsichordist. Org. at St Gervais. Well known for his gifts in improvisation and for some pleasant hpd. pieces. Killed in Paris street when knocked down by a horse; Gervais-Fran;alcois Couperin (b Paris, 1759; d Paris, 1826), son of Armand-

Louis, composer and organist. By 1790 was org. of several Paris churches, incl. St Gervais. Played for Napoleon, but comp. a work called Louis XVIII ou le retour du bonheur en France.

Couple. To arrange, by means of a mechanism called a coupler, that the pedalorg. can have 1 or more of the manuals connected with it so that the effect of its stops is reinforced. 2 manuals can be connected in the same way (e.g. the Swell may be joined with the Great). There are `super-octave' and `sub-octave' couplers which duplicate the notes played, an octave higher or lower (on the same stop). Couplers are 4', 8', and 16'.

Couplet. (1) Episode in the early Fr. rondo (e.g. by Couperin). (2) Same as Duplet, i.e. 2 in the time of 3. [cp8,14]^<sup>(3)</sup> The 2-note slur __---the 2nd note of which should be slightly curtailed __. [cp8,8][ol14]^<sup>(4)</sup> Stanza of a poem, the mus. being repeated for each stanza.

Coupure (Fr.). Cut. Portion omitted, e.g. in orch. score.

Courante (Fr.), corrente (It.), coranto, corant. Running. Fr. dance, at height of popularity in 17th cent., which spread to It. The mus. based on it falls into 2 classifications. (a) It. variety, in a rapid tempo and in simple triple time. (b) Fr. variety, similar to the above, but with a mixture of simple triple and compound duple rhythms, the latter pertaining especially to the end of each of the 2 sections. Occasionally in Bach's kbd. examples the conflicting rhythms are found together, one in each hand. In classical suite the courante followed the allemande (see Pavan and Galliard). Occasionally it was, in turn, followed by `Doubles', i.e. variations on itself.

Course. Term used of str. instrs., particularly lute family, guitar, etc., meaning a group of str. tuned in unison or in the octave and plucked simultaneously so as to give extra loudness. In 16th cent., lutes had double-courses on lower str. The single str. g" is called a course, thus lutes had 11 str. in 6 courses. Bass-course is single or double str. running alongside fingerboard without crossing the frets and does not vary in pitch.

Courtois, Jean (fl. 16th cent.). Fr. composer. Choirmaster to Archbishop of Cambrai 1539. Wrote masses, motets, and secular songs.

Cousu, Antoine de (b Amiens, c.1600; d St Quentin, 1658). Fr. singer and church musician. His book La Musique universelle (1658) inveighs against hidden 5ths and octaves (see Consecutive).

Covent Garden. Generally used name for London theatre of which full title is Royal Opera House, Covent Garden (since 1892). So called because site in Bow Street was orig. church property, a convent garden. First th. built there 1732 by John Gay and used mainly for plays, though 3 of Handel's operas were given there for the first time. Destroyed by fire 1808. 2nd theatre opened 1809, still mixing plays and opera, but became Royal Italian Opera 1847, retaining title until 1892. Destroyed by fire 1856. 3rd, and present building opened 1858. During 1939--45 was used as dance hall but re-opened 1946 with resident opera and ballet cos. which were re-named Royal Ballet in 1957 and Royal Opera 1969. Between 1924 and 1939 prin. opera cond. at CG were Bruno Walter and Beecham. From 1946 to 1951 Karl Rankl was mus. dir., being succeeded by Rafael Kubelik 1955--8, Georg Solti 1961--71, Colin Davis 1971--86, Bernard Haitink from 1988. Gen. Administrator 1944--70 was Sir David Webster, succeeded by Sir John Tooley. Famous manager-impresarios of the past incl. Frederick Gye 1849--77, and Sir Augustus Harris 1888--96.

Coward, (Sir) Henry (b Liverpool, 1849; d Sheffield, 1944). Eng. choral cond. Largely self-taught but became Oxford Univ. Mus.B. 1889, Mus.D. 1894. Founded Sheffield Musical Union 1876. Est. of Sheffield Fest. 1895 enabled him to set new standards of choral singing in works of Handel, Bach, and Elgar. Cond. choirs at Leeds, Glasgow, Preston, and Newcastle upon Tyne. Toured N. Amer. 1908 and 1911, also Australia and S. Africa. Advocate of tonic sol-fa system. Knighted 1926.

Coward, (Sir) Noël (b Teddington, 1899; d Blue Harbour, Jamaica, 1973). Eng. actor, playwright, and composer. No formal mus. training. Author and composer of several successful mus. shows and plays with mus., e.g. Bitter-Sweet (1929), Private Lives (1930), Conversation Piece (1934), Operette (1938), and several revues inwhich his songs such as 'Mad Dogs and Englishmen' were perf. (most effectively in his own light bar.). Knighted 1970.

Cowbell. As perc. instr., this is the ordinary Central European cowbell with the clapper removed. It is fixed to a drum and struck with the stick of a snare drum. Used by R. Strauss in Eine Alpensinfonie, by Mahler in his 6thSym., and by Elgar in The Starlight Express.

Cowell, Henry (Dixon) (b Menlo Park, Calif., 1897; d Shady, NY, 1965). Amer. composer and pianist, one of those remarkable pioneering figures who belong naturally to the avant-garde. Began to play vn. at age 3 and to compose at 11. In 1912 devised pf. technique known as clusters (tone-clusters) in which adjacent notes are played simultaneously with the forearm or flat of the hand. Had 100 comps. to his credit when he began formal training in 1914 at Univ. of Calif. with Charles Seeger, who encouraged him to codify the unorthodox rules he was making for himself. This resulted in his book New Musical Resources (1919). In the 1920s his recitals attracted notoriety among the public not only because of clusters but because he pioneered other unusual uses of the piano such as plucking the strings or muting them with cardboard or metal. Made 5 tours of Europe between 1923 and 1933, earning friendship of Bartók, Berg, and Schnabel, and studied in Berlin with Schoenberg. In 1922 17 of his cluster pieces were pubd. Cowell also invented new methods of notation to indicate his intentions and was co-inventor with Theremin in 1931 of early elec. instrument called the rhythmicon, which could reproduce exactly the complicated rhythmic combinations in his work. Cowell was also one of the first composers---in the 1930s---to bring an element of indeterminacy into his works, suggesting that parts of them could be assembled by the performers in any order and repeated at will, with some measures to be improvised. Deeply interested in mus. of other cultures, introducing Eastern instr. in combination with conventional Western ones, e.g. Indian jalatarang and tabla. Studied Persian folk mus. and in his Ongaku reproduced Japanese quarter-notes and third-notes. At the other extreme, explored early Amer. mus. culture in a series of works called Hymn-and-Fuguing-Tunes. It is not surprising that such an original man should have been friend, companion, and biographer of Charles Ives or that he should have devoted so much time and energy to lecturing, teaching, writing, and generally promoting new Amer. mus. Most of his teaching was done as dir. of mus. at the New School for Social Research, NY 1928--63, and at Columbia Univ. 1949--65. Among his pupils were Gershwin and Cage. His list of comps. is very long. Among them are:

orch: 21 Syms., incl. No. 3 (Gaelic, 1942), No. 11 (Seven Rituals of Music, 1953), No. 13 (Madras, 1957--8), No. 16 (Icelandic, 1963); Synchrony (1931); American Melting Pot (1939); Shoonthree (1941); Hymn-and-Fuguing Tunes Nos. 2, 3, 5, 10, and 16; 2 Concs. for Koto and orch. (2nd, 1964); Ongaku (1957); Variations for Orch. (1956), conc. for perc.
opera: O'Higgins of Chile (1949). Also chamber mus. (5 str. qts.), songs, pf. solos, band works, choral, and org. pieces.

Cowen, (Sir) Frederic (Hymen) (b Kingston, Jamaica, 1852; d London, 1935). Eng. composer and cond. Comp. operetta at age 8, becoming pupil of Goss and Benedict in same year. Pf. recitalist at 11. Studied Leipzig Cons. with Reinecke and Moscheles, and, in 1867, at Stern Cons., Berlin, where he concentrated on cond. Cond. Phil. Soc., London, 1888--92 and 1900--07, Hallé Orch. 1896--99, Liverpool P.O. 1895--1913, Scottish Orch. 1900--10, Handel Triennial Fests. 1902--23 and several other choral socs. Comp. several operas, 6 syms., and other orch. works incl. The Butterfly's Ball (1901), 3 oratorios, 9 cantatas, and various other works. Today best remembered by his setting of Longfellow's 'Onaway, awake beloved' (Hiawatha). Knighted 1911.

Cowhorn. Ancient signalling instrument for calling cattle which by 10th cent. had 2 or 3 fingerholes so that simple melodies could be played. Used by Britten in Spring Symphony (1949).

Cowie, Edward (b Birmingham, 1943). Eng. composer and painter. Began to compose at age of 11. Chorister, Gloucester Cath. 1955--7. Studied at Morley Coll. with Fricker, 1961, privately with A. Goehr 1964--8, and at Southampton Univ. 1970--1, Leeds Univ. 1971--3. Worked in Poland 1971, being encouraged by Lutoslawski. Lect., Lancaster Univ. 1973. Visited USA 1977. Guest prof. of mus., Kassel Univ. 1979, prof. of creative arts, Univ. of Wollongong, N.S.W., 1983, composer-in-residence RLPO 1983--6. Deeply interested in ornithology. Has painted oils and watercolours; his Choral Sym. (1981--2) was inspired by paintings by Turner. Also fascinated by Australian criminal Ned Kelly, making him the basis of several works, incl. an as yet unfinished opera. Prin. works:

operas: Commedia, Op. 12 (1976--8); Kelly, Op. 23 (begun 1980).

music theatre: Kate Kelly's Roadshow, Op. 27, mez. and ens. (1982).

orch: Leviathan, sym.-poem, Op. 4 (1975); L'Or de la trompette d'été, Op. 9, 18 str. (1977); Concerto for Orchestra, Op. 19 (1979--80); Leonardo, Op. 20, chamber orch. (1980--1); Sym. No. 1 (The American), Op. 21 (1980--1), No. 2 (The Australian), Op. 28 (begun 1982).

concertos: Conc. for bass cl. and tape, Op. 1b (1969); Clarinet Conc. No. 2, Op. 5 (1975); Pf. Conc., Op. 8 (1976--7); hp. conc., Op. 26 (1981--2).

brass: Somnus ei inductus, Op. 2b, 4 tb. (1973); Cathedral Music (sonata for symphonic brass), Op. 10 (1977).

voice(s) & instr: Endymion Nocturnes, Op. 2. ten., str. qt. (1973, version for ten., hn., str. 1981); Shinko-Kinshu, Op. 3, high v., ens. (1968, rev. 1972); Leighton Moss, Op. 4b, ch. and chamber orch. (1974--5); Gesangbuch, Op. 6, 24 vv., 12 instr. (1973--6); A Charm of Finches, sop., 3 fl. (1978); Columbine, Op. 13, sop., chamber orch. (1979); Brighella's World, Op. 14, bar., pf. (1979); Kelly Choruses, Op. 23b, vv., hp. (1981); Choral Symphony (Symphonies of Rain, Sea, and Speed), Op. 24, bar., ch., orch. (1981--2).

unacc. voice(s): Dungeness Choruses, Op. 1 (1970); Gesangbuch, Op. 6b (unacc. version, 1976); Madrigals, 12vv. (1980--1); Missa brevis (Mass for Peace), Op. 29b (1983); Ancient Voices, 4 vv. (1983).

chamber music: Str. Qts.: No. 1 (1973), No. 2, Op. 11 (1977), No. 3, Op. 31 No. 1 (1983), No. 4 (Australia II), Op. 31 No. 2 (1983); Kelly Passacaglia, str. qt. (1980); Harlequin, Op. 15, hp. (1980); Commedia Lazzis, Op. 17, guitar (1980); Kelly-Nolan-Kelly, Op. 22, cl. in A (1980).

piano(s): Piano Variations, Op. 7 (1976); The Falls of Clyde, Op. 16, 2 pf. (1980); Kelly Variations, Op. 22b (1980).

Cox and Box. Operetta in 1 act by Sullivan to lib. by F. C. Burnand after farce Box and Cox by Maddison Morton. Prod. London 1867, NY 1875.

Cox, David Harold (b Southsea, Hants, 1945). Eng. composer and teacher. Studied Birmingham Univ. 1964--70 with Joubert, Crosse, and Dickinson. On mus. staff, Sheffield Univ. from 1970. Works incl. opera Disappearing Act (1968), Orpheus in the Underworld, female v. and pf. (1976), hn. trio (1978), ob. sonata (1975), cl. trio (1972), 2-pf. sonata (1974), pf. sonata (1970), Variations on a Theme by Mozart, solo cl. (1978), The Presage, unacc. ch. and elec. tape (1977).

Cox, David (Vassall) (b Broadstairs, 1916). Eng. composer, pianist, and critic. Studied RCM under Howells. Mus. organizer, BBC External Services 1956--76. Comps. incl. many choral and vocal works, opera The Children in the Forest. Author of book on Debussy.

Cox, Frederic (Robert) (b London, 1905; d Altrincham, 1985). Eng. singing teacher, singer, and composer. Studied Oxford Univ. Studied singing in Paris 1924--30, Milan from 1931. London début as ten. and composer 1938. Served in Home Office 1939--45 (O.B.E.). Worked in London 1946--9 with Joseph Hislop. Prof. of singing, RMCM, 1949--53, Prin. 1953--70 (Prin. Emeritus 1970). Head of Vocal Dept., TCL 1970--5. Chairman, London Orchestras Concert Board, 1970--5. Singing teacher at RNCM, Manchester, 1975--84. One of most distinguished singing teachers of his time. Pupils incl. John Hutchinson, Joseph Ward, Ryland Davies, Anne Howells, Elizabeth Harwood, Sandra Browne, Ann Murray, and many more. During his 17 years as Prin., operaprod. at RMCM achieved a standard which attracted int. attention and admiration.

Cox, Jean (b Gadsden, Alabama, 1932). Amer. tenor. Studied New England Cons. of Mus. and in Rome. Début New Eng. Opera Th. as Lensky in Eugene Onegin 1953. Sang in Kiel 1953--4 and Brunswick 1955--9, then Mannheim Opera. Début Bayreuth 1956, returning 1967--9 and as Siegfried 1970--5.

Cox, John (b Bristol, 1935). Eng. opera producer. Studied Oxford Univ. Opera début as producer, SW L'Enfant et les sortilèges (Ravel). Dir., Music Th. Ens. 1967--70. Dir. of Prod., Glyndebourne, 1971--81. Gen. admin. Scottish Opera from 1982. Notable Strauss and Mozart prods. Has worked in world's leading opera houses.

Cracovienne. See Krakowiak.

Cradle will Rock, The. Opera-musical in 1 act by Blitzstein (1936) to his own lib. on conflict between steel magnate and trade union. Prod. NY 1937.

Craft, Robert (Lawson) (b Kingston, NY, 1923). Amer. cond., musicologist, and author. Studied Juilliard Sch. and Berkshire Music Center, also cond. pupil of Monteux. Skilled interpreter of mus. of Webern, Schoenberg, Berg, and especially of Stravinsky with whom he was on terms of intimate friendship, collaborating with him in recordings and in 6 vols. of conversations and memoirs. Advised Stravinsky to compose in serial technique. Has also written Stravinsky: Chronicle of a Friendship (1972). Conducted Amer. première of Berg's Lulu (3-act version), Santa Fe 1979, having cond. the 2-act version there in 1963.

Craig, Charles (b London, 1920). Eng. ten. Studied with Beecham. Concert début with Beecham 1952. Opera début 1953 with Carl Rosa; CG 1959 (Pinkerton); prin. tenor SW 1956--9. Has sung at all leading opera houses. Noted for his interpretation of title-role in Verdi's Otello and of Siegmund in Die Walküre.

Cramer, Johann Baptist (b Mannheim, 1771; d London, 1858). Ger.-born pianist, composer, and teacher, descendant of distinguished mus. family, most of whom worked in Eng. Came to London when 1 year old and became pupil of Clementi, making début as pianist in his early teens. Toured Europe 1788--91. High reputation in London as pf. teacher; pubd. first book of Studies (eventually composing 84) in 1804. These Studies are still in use, having survived his 105 sonatas and 9 concs. In 1824, with 2 partners, founded publishing firm of J. B. Cramer and Co., remaining until 1842. (After Cramer's death this firm added manufacture of pfs. to its activities.) Founder-member and dir., Phil. Soc. 1813, and one of orig. partners of Chappell & Co., who issued his Studies from 1812.

Cranmer, Philip (b Birmingham, 1918). Eng. teacher and composer. Studied RCM. BBC staff accompanist, Birmingham 1948--50, Birmingham Univ. 1950--4; Prof. of Mus., Queen's Univ., Belfast, 1954--70, Manchester Univ. 1970--5. Secretary, Associated Board, Royal Schs. of Mus. from 1974.

Crash Cymbal. See Chinese Crash Cymbal.

Crawford, Robert (Caldwell) (b Edinburgh, 1925). Scot. composer and critic. Studied with Hans Gál, Edinburgh and at GSM with Frankel. Won Fest. of Brit. Arts Council prize 1951 with str. qt. Other works incl. pf. sonatas, variations for str. orch., sinfonietta, incidental mus. for BBC.

Crawford(Seeger), Ruth (b East Liverpool, Ohio, 1901; d Chevy Chase, Md., 1953). Amer. composer. At Amer.Cons., Chicago, 1920--9 as student and teacher. Studied comp. NY 1929 with Charles Seeger, whom she married. Transcr. several thousand Amer. folk-songs from recordings in Library of Congress and wrote pf. acc. for over 300. Comps. incl. Str. Qt. (1931), Vn. Sonata (1927), 9 pf. preludes (1924--8), and other works.

Craxton, Harold (b London, 1885; d London, 1971). Eng. pianist and teacher. Studied with Tobias Matthay. Taught at Matthay's Pf. Sch. 1914--40 and at RAM 1919--61. Noted accompanist. Ed. Beethoven sonatas (with Tovey) and Chopin for Associated Board of RSM. O.B.E. 1960.

Craxton, Janet (b London, 1929; d London, 1981). Eng. oboist. Daughter of Harold Craxton. Studied RAM 1945--8 and Paris Cons. 1948--9. Prin. ob. Hallé Orch. 1949--52, London Mozart Players 1952--4, BBC S.O. 1954--63, London Sinfonietta from 1969. Prin. oboe, Royal Opera Orch., 1980--1. Also frequent soloist and recitalist. Prof. of ob. RAM.

Crazy Jane. Work for sop., cl., vc., and pf. by Richard Rodney Bennett, comp. 1968--9, f.p. (TV) 1970.

Creation, The (Die Schöpfung). Oratorio for sop., ten., bass, ch., and orch. by Haydn, comp. at suggestion of Salomon to text by unknown Eng. author trans. into Ger. by Baron Gottfried van Swieten who also provided a re-trans. into Eng. (later modified). F.p. Vienna 1798, London 1800, Boston, Mass. (complete) 1819. Contains famous sop. aria 'With verdure clad' and ch. 'The heavens are telling the glory of God'.

Création du monde, La (The Creation of the World). Ballet in 1 act, mus. Milhaud, lib. Cendrars, choreog. Börlin. Prod. Paris 1923. Later choreog. de Valois, MacMillan, and others.

Creation Mass (Schöpfungsmesse). Name for Haydn's Mass No. 11 in Bb, comp. 1801, because there is a quotation from The Creation in the Qui tollis.

Creatures of Prometheus, The (Beethoven). See Prometheus, Die Geschöpfe des.

Crecquillon, Thomas (b c.1490; d ?Béthune, 1551). Fr.-Flemish composer. Choirmaster to Emperor Charles V. Wrote over 200 chansons, over 100 motets, 12 masses, and other church mus. Regarded as one of leading composers of post-Josquin Després generation.

Crécelle (Fr.). Rattle.

Credo (I believe). Section of the Proper of the Mass frequently set by composers. Operatically speaking, the 'Credo' refers to Iago's aria in Act II of Verdi's Otello in which he states his belief in a cruel god.

Creighton, Robert. See Creyghton, Robert.

Crembalum. Jew's harp.

Cremona. (1) Org. stop much like Clarinet. (2) It. town where lived several famous makers of str. instr., e.g. Stradivarius, Guarnerius, and Amati.

Creole Music. Indigenous mus. of Lat. Amer. Has distinctive rhythms, and melodies often acc. by a short bass phrase much repeated with slight changes. The castanets are used.

Crescendo (It., abbreviation cresc.). Growing. Directive used by composers to indicate that a passage should gradually increase in loudness. Sometimes the direction is crescendo poco a poco, meaning to increase the loudness by degrees (little by little) or subito crescendo (suddenly increasing in loudness). One also speaks of 'a crescendo', meaning a striking example of this feature such as is found frequently in the mus. of Rossini. According to Dr Burney, the device was first used in Terradellas's opera Bellerofonte (London 1747): it was much exploited in the orch. mus. of J. Stamitz and his colleagues at the Mannheim court as the celebrated 'Mannheim crescendo'. (Some writers betray their lack of mus. knowledge by using the phrase 'rising to a crescendo', which is obvious nonsense.) The opposite is diminuendo. See Hairpins.

Crescendo Pedal. An org. device which gradually brings into action all the stops.

Crescent. Turkish instr. comprising small bells hung from an inverted crescent. Also known as 'Jingling Johnny'.

Crescentini, Girolamo (b Urbania, 1762; d Naples, 1846). It. mez. castrato. Studied in Bologna. Sang in Sarti opera in Padua 1782. Visited London 1784, being coolly received, and spent next 10 years in major European opera houses, his repertory being chiefly opera by Zingarelli, Mayr, Cimarosa, and Gazzaniga. Lived in Paris 1806--12 as singing teacher to Napoleon's family. Retired 1812 and returned to It., teaching at Naples Cons. Also a composer.

Crespin, Régine (b Marseilles, 1927). Fr. sop. Studied Paris Cons. Début Mulhouse 1950 as Elsa in Lohengrin, Paris 1951 in same role. Bayreuth 1958 as Kundry in Parsifal, Glyndebourne 1959 as Marschallin in Rosenkavalier (same role CG 1960, NYMet. 1962). Mez. roles since 1977.

Cresswell, Lyell (b Wellington, N.Z., 1944). N.Z. composer. Studied Victoria Univ. of Wellington, and Toronto Univ. Settled in Brit. 1972. Taught at Aberdeen Univ. 1973--4, Glasgow Univ. 1976--7. Mus. organizer, Chapter Arts Centre, Cardiff, 1978--80. Works incl. vn. conc.; conc. for 2 orchs.; Translations, sop., ch., orch., and tape; 4 Sentimental Songs, sop., pf., bamboo chimes, bag of wooden clothes pegs; Wagner is a Fink, brass band; Music for Skinheads, 3 percussionists; 3 str. qts.; Salon, orch; O! for Orchestra, orch.; Taking a Line for a Walk, elec. tape; vc. conc.

Creston, Paul (orig. Giuseppe Guttovaggio) (b NY, 1906). Amer. composer and organist of It. origin. Self-taught in harmony and comp. Organist St Malachy's, NY, 1934--67. Prof. of mus., Cent. Washington State Coll., 1968--75. Comps. incl.:

orch: 5 syms. (1941--56); Walt Whitman (1952); Pavane Variations (1966); Concertos: sax. (1941), harp (Poem) (1945), tb. (Fantasy) (1947), pf. (No. 1 1949, No. 2 1962), 2 pf. (No. 1 1951, No. 2 1968), vn. (No. 1 1956, No. 2 1960), accordion (1958); Jubilee, band, (1971). Also choral works, chamber mus., songs, pf. pieces.

Creyghton (Creighton), Robert (b c.1636; d Wells, 1734). Canon and precentor of Wells Cath. from 1674. Wrote anthems and settings of church services. Prof. of Greek, Cambridge Univ., 1666--72.

Creyghtonian Seventh. Mannerism of Creyghton, i.e. preceding final perfect cadence by subdominant chord with added 7th (e.g. in key C, F-A-C-E).

Cricket and Music. Although cricket is a quasi-religion for many inhabitants of the British Commonwealth, it has had relatively few adherents among the great Eng. composers. Elgar preferred horse-racing, Vaughan Williams took no interest in it, and Britten played it well at school but forsook it for lawn tennis. The keenest cricketer-composer was probably Bax, though Delius watched Yorkshire on several occasions. Among conductors, Beecham played for Rossall School 1st XI and Barbirolli was a keen spectator at Lord's and Old Trafford. A former captain of England, A. L. Lewis, was leader of the Nat. Youth Orch. of Wales. Peter Warlock in 1929 composed a song The Cricketers of Hambledon. Cricket features in many school, music-hall, and revue songs, and the Ranjitsinhji Waltz by C. T. West (1897) celebrated one of the most graceful batsmen ever to play for Eng. and Sussex. The most prolific batsman of the 1928--48 era, the Australian D. G. (Sir Donald) Bradman, was celebrated in 1930 in a song Our Don Bradman. He was a good pianist and also composed the mus. for a song Every Day is a Rainbow Day For Me (only too true from his opponents' standpoint) by Jack Lumsdaine (1930). Probably the best-known cricket song is Egbert Moore's West Indian calypso, Cricket, Lovely Cricket, which marked the first West Indies victory in a Test Match in Eng., at Lord's in 1950. The most famous alliance between cricket and music was in the person of the critic and essayist Neville Cardus, but he omitted to write the words and mus. of a cricket song. David Rayvern Allen's A Song for Cricket (London 1981) is a documentary record of all musical 'cricketana'.

Cries of London. Orig. the calls of street salesmen (hawkers) in selling their wares; over 150 have been collected. Some Eng. composers, e.g. Gibbons and Weelkes, incorporated these mus. cries into their works. The 20th-cent. composer Berio has written a work called Cries of London and Vaughan Williams incorporates a reminiscence of the lavender-seller's cry into his London Symphony.

Cristofori, Bartolomeo di Francesco (b Padua, 1655; d Florence, 1731). It. hpd.-maker who, in Florence, 1700, constructed a gravicembalo col piano e forte (hpd. with softness and loudness). This was a forerunner of the modern pf.: he substituted the blows of a series of hammers for the hpd. plucking of the str. By 1720 he improved it by graduating the force of the fall of the hammers and by putting a damper above instead of under the str. The compass was over 4 octaves. Only 3 Cristofori pfs. survive, so far as is known (in NY, Leipzig, and Rome).

Critic, The, or An OperaRehearsal. Opera in 2 acts by Stanford, his Op. 144, to lib. by L. C. James based on Sheridan's comedy (1779). Prod. London 1916.

Criticism, Musical. The profession of writing about the aesthetics, history, and evolution of mus. and of reviewing mus. comps. and perfs. in newspapers, periodicals, books, and on the radio and TV. No one can say exactly when criticism began, but in the sense understood today it developed parallel with the spread of the printed word. By its nature, criticism is controversial and often resented, but there are several examples of a critic's, or group of critics', championship of a composer or a branch of comp. which has had beneficial results (e.g. the revival of interest in Mahler since c.1950). The first periodical devoted to mus. was Mattheson's Critica musica, founded in Hamburg 1722. In Fr. the first was Journal de musique fran;Alcaise et italienne in 1764, though the pamphlets written during the Querelle des Bouffons 1752--4 perhaps count as criticism. In Eng. the New Musical and Universal Magazine was founded in 1774. The last vol. of Burney's History of Music, 1789, abounds in candid criticism of composers and performers of his day. The first professional critic was probably J. F. Rochlitz (1769--1842), ed. of the Allgemeine Musikalische Zeitung in Leipzig, and champion of Bach. Journalism in Ger. daily papers began with F. Rellstate, who wrote for the Berlin Vossische Zeitung 1803--13, but the first newspaper to appoint a professionally-trained musician as critic was The Times of London, through the influence of one of its managers, Thomas Alsager, a musical enthusiast. Eng. criticism in the 19th cent. was dominated by J. W. Davison of The Times (1846--79) and H. F. Chorley, of the Athenaeum (weekly) from 1833 to 1868. One of the first men to write about mus. and musicians not as an expert but as a fine journalist was Heinrich Heine in the 19th-cent. Allgemeine Zeitung of Augsburg. There have been many examples of composers who wrote criticism, notably Robert Schumann in the Neue Zeitschrift für Musik (in which he advanced the causes of Chopin, Berlioz, and Brahms), Berlioz in the Journal des Débats from 1835 to 1863 (although the outstanding critic of the day in Fr. was F. J. Fétis, who founded the Revue musicale), Wolf (in the Wiener Salon-Blatt), Weber, Wagner, and Debussy (under the pseudonym Monsieur Croche). In Vienna, where critical polemics reach a high voltage, the most illustrious and historically significant critic was Eduard Hanslick, the 'Bismarck of music criticism' (Verdi), known for his extreme partisanship in the divergence of views on Wagner and Brahms. This resulted in his being immortalized by his opponent Wagner as Beckmesser in Die Meistersinger (Wagner originally called the character Hanslick). Nevertheless Hanslick is still highly readable. In the USA several critics have achieved a reputation beyond the local sphere of their activities, notably Philip Hale of Boston, and (from NY), Lawrence Gilman, H. E. Krehbiel, Olin Downes, and Richard Aldrich. Outstanding among Brit. mus. critics of the past have been Bernard Shaw (the most entertaining of all), Ernest Newman, a Wagner authority, Neville Cardus, and H. C. Colles. Giovanni (b Chioggia, c.1558; d Venice, 1609). It. composer and priest, pupil of Zarlino. Choirmaster St Mark's, Venice, from 1603. Wrote madrigals, also motets and other church mus.

Croche (Fr.). Hook. The 8th-note or quaver (not the crotchet).

Croche, Monsieur. Pseudonym under which Debussy wrote some of his mus. criticisms, himself making a selection in 1917 called Monsieur Croche anti-dilettante (pubd. 1921).

Croft, William (b Nether Ettington, Warwicks., 1678; d Bath, 1727). Eng. composer and organist. By 1700 had collab. with Blow and others in Ayres for the Harpsichord or Spinet. Organist, St Anne, Soho, 1700--12, Chapel Royal, 1707, and master of the children and composer to Chapel Royal from 1708. Organist, Westminster Abbey from 1708. Comp. many fine anthems and a Burial Service, also hpd. works, cantatas, vn. sonatas, and songs. Also wrote hymn-tune 'St Anne' to which is sung 'O God, our Help in Ages Past'.

Croiza (Conelly), [fy65,3]Claire[fy75,1] (b Paris, 1882; d Paris, 1946). Fr. mez. Opera début Nancy 1905. Sang for many years at Th. de la Monnaie, Brussels, where her repertory incl. Charlotte in Massenet's Werther, Klytemnestra in Strauss's Elektra, Pénélope in Fauré's opera, and Carmen, Erda, and Dido (Berlioz's Les Troyens). Taught at École Normale, Paris, from 1922 and at Paris Cons. from 1934, her pupils incl. Souzay and Micheau. Greatly admired by Fr. composers for her sensitive artistry. Sang Angel in Elgar's Dream of Gerontius at f. Paris p. 1906.

Croma (It.). 8th-note or quaver.

Cromatico, cromatica, cromatici, cromatice (It.). Chromatic. The Corno cromatico is the Valve Hn.

Cromorne. (1) On Fr. org. a delicate type of cl. stop. (2) Fr. name for the crumhorn (not encountered until 17th cent.).

Crook. Detachable accessory section of tubing applied to the mouthpiece of brass instr. such as hns. and tpts. to lengthen the instr.'s tube and thus to give it a different basic key. (Players generally carried 10 or 12 crooks.) Natural tpts. or hns., without valves or slides, could play only the notes of the harmonic series, the crook enabling the player to transpose the fundamental note. Thus for a hn.-player, with all parts written in C, to play in D, he would fit a D crook. The introduction of valves from c.1850 almost eliminated the need for crooks. The term is applied also to the bent metal tube connecting the body of the bn. with the reed, and to comparable detachable bent tubes at mouthpieces of cls. and saxs.

Crooks, Richard (b Trenton, NJ, 1900; d Portola Valley, Calif., 1972). Amer. ten. NY début 1922. Concert-hall reputation before turning to opera in which he made début as Cavaradossi in Tosca in Hamburg, 1927; Philadelphia 1930; NY Met. 1933–43 (début there as Des Grieux in Manon). Also popular singer of Irish ballads in manner of McCormack.

Croon. To sing softly to a baby, but the wider usage since 1930s means to sing softly, and often sentimentally, with a dance band. Practitioners are known as 'crooners', the most eminent being Bing Crosby.

Crosby, Bing (Harry Lillis) (b Tacoma, 1904; d Madrid, 1977). Amer. singer and actor. One of Rhythm Boys who sang with Paul Whiteman Orch. 1926–30 and appeared in film The King of Jazz (1930). Successful radio career as solo singer from 1931. Made many other films, incl. Holiday Inn (1942) in which he sang 'White Christmas' and those in which he had a comedy partnership with Bob Hope and Dorothy Lamour. For his part as priest in Going My Way (1944) he won a Motion Picture Academy Award. Influenced by Al Jolson and developed a very personal intimate style of crooning.

Cross-accent. Variation of expected accentuation of notes by shifting beat to a point ahead of or behind its normal point in a rhythmic pattern. If this is maintained for some time it becomes syncopation.

Cross-Fingering. On woodwind instr., fingering the ascending or descending scale in a manner contrary to the normal order of lifting or lowering successive fingers.

Cross, Joan (b London, 1900). Eng. sop. and opera producer. Studied St Paul's Girls' Sch., London, and TCL (as violinist). Joined Lilian Baylis's Old Vic opera ch. 1924, graduating to leading roles. Prin. sop., SW Opera 1931–46. Début CG 1931 and sang there 1947–54. Founder member English Opera Group 1946–54. Est. Nat. Sch. of Opera, being dir. 1948–64. Has prod. operas at SW, CG, Oslo, Amsterdam, and Toronto. Dir., Phoenix Opera Co. Joint translator (with E. Crozier) of Smetana's The Bartered Bride. Created five roles in Britten operas: Ellen Orford in Peter Grimes (1945), Female Chorus in The Rape of Lucretia (1946), Lady Billows in Albert Herring (1947), Elizabeth I in Gloriana (1953), and Mrs Grose in The Turn of the Screw (1954). With Anne Wood, founded Opera School 1948 which in 1955 became Nat. Sch. of Opera. C.B.E. 1951.

Cross-rhythm. Regular shift of some beats in a metric pattern to points ahead of or behind their normal positions, e.g. division of 9/8 into 2;pl2;pl2;pl3 quavers.

Crosse, Gordon (b Bury, 1937). Eng. composer. Studied Oxford Univ. 1958–63 with B. Rose and Wellesz, and at Accademia di S. Cecilia, Rome, with Petrassi 1962. Tutor, extra-mural dept., Birmingham Univ. 1964–6 and in mus. dept. 1966–9. Fellow in Mus., Essex Univ., 1969–76. Works incl.:

operas: Purgatory (1969); The Grace of Todd (1969); The Story of Vasco (1974).

music drama: Wheel of the World (1972); World Within, speaker, sop., chamber ens. (1977).

orch: Elegy (1959); Concerto da camera (Vn. Conc. No. 1) (1962); Sym. I (1964); Ceremony, vc. and orch. (1966); vc. conc. (1979); Vn. Conc. No. 2 (1969); Some Marches on a Ground (1970); Ariadne, ob. and 12 players (1972); Epiphany Variations (1975–6); Play Ground (1977); Wildboy, concertante for cl. and 8 players (1977); Thel, fl., 2 str. septets, 2 hns. (1978); Studies for Str. Qt., set 2 (1977); Sym. No. 1 for chamber orch. (1976) choral: Changes, sop., bar., ch., and orch. (1965); The Covenant of the Rainbow, ch. and org. (1968); Harvest Songs, ch. and orch. (1980); Dreamcanon I, ch., 2 pf., perc. (1981).

rev. of Sinfonia Concertante, 1965); Dreamsongs, small orch. (1979); Elegy and Scherzo alla marcia (adapted from str. qt.) (1981).

vocal: For the Unfallen, ten., hn., str. (1968); Memories of Morning, Night, mez. and orch. (1971); The New World, 6 poems by Ted Hughes for v. and pf. (1978).

chamber music: Str. qt. (1980); Wave Songs, vc., pf. (1983).

for children: Meet My Folks! (poems by Ted Hughes) for speaker, children's ch. and instr. (1964); Potter Thompson (A. Garner), mus. drama for solo vv., children's ch., and orch. (1974); Holly from the Bongs (A. Garner), Nativity opera (1974).

Crossley, Ada (b Tarraville, Gippsland, Australia, 1874; d London, 1929). Australian cont. Pupil in London of Santley; in Paris of Mathilde Marchesi. Melbourne début 1892; London 1895. Reputation chiefly in oratorio.

Crossley, Paul (Christopher Richard) (b Dewsbury, 1944). Eng. pianist. Studied Oxford Univ. Pupil of Fanny Waterman in Leeds, later of Yvonne Loriod in Paris. Début Tours 1968. Specialist in Romantics (Liszt, Brahms, etc.) and in sonatas of Tippett whose 3rd sonata (Bath Fest. 1973) was comp. for him.

Crossley-Holland, Peter (Charles) (b London, 1916). Eng. musicologist, composer, and writer on mus. Studied RCM (comp. with Ireland). BBC mus. staff 1948--63. Special study of Welsh folk mus. and authority on oriental mus. Comps. incl. cantata The Sacred Dance. Prof. of mus., U.C.L.A. from 1972.

Crottales (Fr.). Perc. instr. Ancient Gr. crotalum was rattle or clapper similar to castanets, consisting of wooden or metal shells struck together. The modern version, employed by Ravel and others, consists of small cymbals of thick metal tuned to a definite pitch.

Crotchet ( ; Ya) (Fr. Noire; Ger. Viertelnote; It. semiminima). The 'Quarter-Note', i.e. a quarter the time-value of the whole-note or semibreve.

Crotch, William (b Norwich, 1775; d Taunton, 1847). Eng. organist, teacher, and composer. Child prodigy, giving org. recitals in London when 4, a pupil-ass. organist of King's and Trinity Colleges, Cambridge, at 11, wrote oratorio at 14; organist Christ Church Cath., Oxford, at 15, took B.Mus. at 19, became Oxford prof. of mus. at 22 (1797) and D.Mus. 1799. First Prin., RAM, 1822--32. Comp. prolifically in many genres. His ch. Lo, star-led chiefs from the oratorio Palestine (1812) is still heard as an anthem.

Crown Imperial. March by Walton comp. for coronation of George VI in 1937. Score is headed by line from poem 'In Honour of the City' by Dunbar (1465--1520) 'In beautie beryng the crone imperiall'. F.p. Westminster Abbey, 12 May 1937, cond. Boult. Also arr. for military band, pf., and organ. See also Orb and Sceptre.

Crown of India, The. Masque, Op. 66, by Elgar, for cont. and bass soloists, ch., and orch. to words by H. Hamilton. Written to celebrate Delhi Durbar 1911 and f.p. London 1912. Also orch. suite, 1912.

Crozier, Eric (John) (b London, 1914). Eng. writer and opera producer. BBC TV producer 1936--9. Closely assoc. with Britten, being co-founder of EOG 1946. Librettist of Britten's Albert Herring, Let's Make an Opera, and (with E. M. Forster) Billy Budd, and of Berkeley's Ruth. Co-trans. (with Joan Cross) of Smetana's The Bartered Bride (1943). Prod. f.p. of Peter Grimes in London 1945 and in Tanglewood 1946, and of Rape of Lucretia, Glyndebourne 1946.

Crucifixion, The. Oratorio for ten. andbass soloists, ch., org., and orch. by Stainer, comp. 1887 to text written by J. S. Simpson, with selections from the Bible. Congregation may join in 5 hymns (omitted in some perfs.).

Crucifixus. See Mass.

Cruft, Adrian (Francis) (b Mitcham, 1921). Eng. composer, cond., and teacher. Studied RCM with Jacob and Rubbra. Played db. in London orchs. 1947--69. Prof., RCM, from 1962. Chairman, Composers' Guild 1966. Comps. incl. Partita for orch., Divertimento for str., Prospero's Island, cantata Alma Redemptoris Mater, other choral works, and songs.

Cruft, Eugene (John) (b London, 1887; d London, 1976). Eng. db. player. Studied RCM. In Beecham Orch. 1909, prin.db. BBC S.O. 1929--49, CG Orch. 1949--52, Bath Fest. Orch. 1959--65. Prof. of db. RCM 1946--57. Organized coronation orchs. 1937 and 1953. Assoc. with many chamber orchs. O.B.E.

Cruft, John (Herbert) (b London, 1914). Eng. oboist and administrator. Trained RCM. Mus. dir., Arts Council 1965--78. Oboist LPO 1937--9, Orchestre de la Suisse Romande 1939--40, LSO 1946--9, prof. of ob. RCM 1947--9, Secretary, LSO 1949--59, dir. of mus., Brit. Council 1959--61, of drama and mus. 1961--5.

Crüger, Johannes (b Gross-Breesen, Prussia, 1598; d Berlin, 1662). Ger. composer and cantor. Cantor and org., St Nicholas, Berlin, from 1622 till death. Wrote text-book on thoroughbass. Comp. masses, motets, concs., and hymn-tunes. In vol. of hymn-tunes pubd. 1644 occur the famous chorales Nun danket alle Gott, Schmücke dich, o liebe Seele, and Jesu, meine Freude, all used later by Bach.

Crumb, George (Henry) (b Charleston, West Virginia, 1929). Amer. composer. Studied Berkshire Mus. Center and Berlin 1955--6. Has held various teaching posts. His mus. is highly individual. Early influence was Webern, and has developed interest in new sonorities combined with a comp. technique which is sometimes fragmented and sometimes aleatory. This is not employed for freakish effect and his presentation of his ideas remains comprehensible, as in his 1972 fantasy-pieces for amplified pf. called Makrokosmos which employ many unusual pf. methods with poetic results. His other works incl.:

orch: Variazioni (1959); Echoes of time and the River (1967, also as mus. th. 1970); Star-Child (1977).

instrumental: Night music I, sop., pf., celesta, perc. (1963), Night Music II, vn. and pf. (1964); 3 Madrigals, Book I sop., vibraphone, bass, Book II fls., picc., perc. (1965), Book III sop., harp, perc., Book IV sop., fl., harp, bass, perc. (1969); Eleven Echoes of Autumn, vn., fl., cl., pf. (1965); Night of the Four Moons (1969); Black Angels, 'electric' str. qt. (1970); Ancient Voices of children, sop. and instr. ens. (1970); Str. Qt. (1954); Dream Sequence, vn., vc., pf., perc. (1976); 4 Nocturnes, vn., pf. (1977--8); Vc. Sonata (1955); 5 Pieces for pf. (1962). Several of Crumb's works are settings of the poems of Lorca.

Crumhorn (Old Eng. crump; Fr. cromorne; Ger. Krummhorn). Earliest and most common of Renaissance reed-cap instr., the name meaning 'curved horn'. Characteristic shape is like a fish-hook. Name first occurred in 1489 describing an org.-stop in Dresden, and this implied that the instr. had been in use for some time. Survived in Fr. until the middle of the 17th cent. Standard consort of crumhorns was alto (in G), 2 tens., and bass. Sop. crumhorn (stortina) was a rarity but occurs in music by Corteccia. Crumhorns had 7 finger-holes with 3 extension keys for low notes. With revival of interest in early music, crumhorns have been manufactured since the 1950s.

Crusell, Bernhard Henrik (b Uusikaupunki, Finland, 1775; d Stockholm, 1838). Finnish composer, cond., teacher, and virtuoso player of cl. for which he wrote 3 concs. and 3 qts. Was clarinettist in military band at age of 12. Studied comp. with Vogler, Berton, and Gossec. Also comp. opera and translated Fr., Ger., and It. operas for the Swed. stage.

Cruz, Agostinho da (b Braga, c.1590; d Coimbra, c.1633). Portuguese composer, organist, and viol player. Wrote instr. pieces and viol method (1629).

Cruz, Ivo (b Corumba, Brazil, 1901). Portuguese composer and cond. Studied Munich 1925-30. Founder of several mus. bodies in Lisbon incl. Lisbon P.O. 1936. Dir. Nat. Cons., Lisbon, 1938--71. Comps. incl. Lusitanian Themes for orch. (1928); Portuguese Conc. No. 1 for pf. and orch. (1945), No. 2 (1946); Sinfonia de Amadis for orch. (1952); Sinfonia de Queluz for orch. (1964); chamber mus., and songs.

Crwth. Welsh medieval instr., the most developed form of bowed lyre, with 6 str., a central fingerboard, and the bridge acting as a sound-post.

Crystal Palace. Glass building designed by J. Paxton to house Great Exhibition of 1851 in Hyde Park, London. Later removed to S. London suburb of Sydenham and became home of Crystal Palace concerts cond. Manns, 1855--1901, notable for adventurous nature of programmes, also of triennial Handel Fests. from 1857. Destroyed by fire 1936.

Csárdás. Hungarian dance, often misspelt Czardas, in 2 parts; slow introductory lassú followed by excited main section in duple time, friss. The mus. has a wild, gipsy flavour. Liszt was one of first composers to use the csárdás as the basis for comps. The form of the csárdás is also used vocally, a famous example being sung by Rosalinde at Orlofsky's party in Act II of Die Fledermaus.

Csárdásfürstin, Die (Princess Csárdás; usually known in Eng. as The Gipsy Princess). Operetta in 3 acts by Kálmán to lib. by L. Stein and B. Jenbach, comp. 1915, prod. Vienna 1921.

Cuckoo. Simple 2-note wind instr., imitating call of the bird, used in Toy Syms.

Cuckoo, The (Le Coucou). Hpd. piece by Daquin, comp. 1735.

Cuckston, Alan (b Horsforth, 1940). Eng. performer on early kbd. instr. Studied Cambridge Univ. Pupil of Thurston Dart. Dir. of mus., Leeds Polytechnic. Continuo player with leading chamber orchs.

Cudmore, Richard (b Chichester, 1787; d Manchester, 1840). Eng. instrumentalist. Violinist at It. Opera, London, then settled in Manchester as leader of Gentlemen's Concerts until 1840. In Liverpool played concs. for vn., pf., and vc. in one concert. Comp. concs. for vn. and pf.

Cudworth, Charles (b Cambridge, 1908; d Cambridge, 1977). Eng. musicologist, teacher, and critic. Librarian, Pendlebury Library of Mus., 1946--58. Authority on baroque and pre-classical mus.

Cue. (1) Last few notes of another instr. part which immediately precede entrance or re-entrance after a lengthy rest of the instr. (or v.) on whose mus. the cue is written (2) When instrumentation is condensed, orch. parts of eliminated instrs. are 'cued' in with the parts of suitable alternative instrs. (3) Cue nos.: the system of letters and/or nos. in a score which enable cond. to rehearse certain sections by indicating exact place in the score, e.g. '3 bars before letter D'.

Cuénod, Hugues (Adhemar) (b Coiseaux, 1902). Swiss ten. Studied Basle and Vienna. Taught at Geneva Cons. then began concert career, later entering opera. Débuts, Milan 1951, CG and Glyndebourne 1954. Specialist in roles such as Astrologer in Golden Cockerel and Sellem (which he created) in The Rake's Progress. Sang in Mozart's Le Nozze di Figaro in Glyndebourne's 50th anniversary season, 1984.

Cui, César (Kyui, Tsezar Antonovich) (b Vilna, 1835; d Petrograd, 1918). Russ. composer. Son of Fr. army officer. Studied mus. with Moniuszko but studied military engineering at univ., becoming Lieut.-Gen. of engineers and authority on fortifications. On meeting Balakirev shared his nationalist mus. ideals and with him joined group known as 'the Five' or the 'Mighty Handful' (the others were Borodin, Mussorgsky, and Rimsky-Korsakov). Although a prolific composer, his biggest contribution to the cause of the Five was through his excellent and witty writings. Comp. ov. for Dargomyzhsky's The Stone Guest and made a version of Mussorgsky's incomplete Sorochintsy Fair (prod. St Petersburg, 1917). Prin. comps.: 15 operas, 2 scherzos for orch., 3 str. qts., vn. sonata, choral mus., many songs, and pf. pieces.

Cuivre (Fr.). Copper, brass. Les Cuivres are the brass instr. of the orch.

Cuivr  (Fr.). Brassy, i.e. (in hn. mus., etc.) the tones are to be forced, with a harsh, ringing timbre.

Culshaw, John (Royds) (b Southport, 1924; d London, 1980). Eng. writer, and administrator. Worked for Decca Records 1946--54, Capitol Records, USA, 1954--5, Decca 1955--67, being assoc. with stereophonic developments. Prod. first complete recording of Wagner's Ring (with Solti conducting), 1958--64. Head of Mus. BBC TV 1967--75. Author of book on Rakhmaninov. O.B.E. 1966.

Cummings, Henry (b Dublin, 1906). Irish bar., teacher, and adjudicator. Studied RAM and with John Coates and Plunket Greene. Career in oratorio and on stage. Prof. of v. RAM.

Cummings, Keith (b Perth, W. Australia, 1906). Australian va. player. Studied RMCM. Member Hall  Orch. 1933--6, LSO 1937--41, Blech Qt. 1941, and soloist and chamber-mus. player in many other organizations. Prof. of va. TCL.

Cummings, William Hayman (b Sidbury, 1831; d London, 1915). Eng. organist, ten., and musicologist. Org. Waltham Abbey 1847. Sang at Birmingham Fest. 1864 and became noted for perf. in Bach Passions. Prof. of singing RAM 1879--96, Prin., GSM 1896--1910. Ed. 3 vols. of Purcell Soc. of which he was a founder. Wrote biography of Purcell. Comp. cantata The Fairy Ring. While at Waltham, adapted theme from Mendelssohn's Festgesang to hymn 'Hark! the herald angels sing'.

Cum sancto Spiritu. See Mass.

Cundell, Edric (b London, 1893; d London, 1961). Eng. cond., composer, and teacher. Began career as hn.-player, CG. Teaching staff TCL from 1919 and travelled widely as adjudicator. Prin. GSM 1938--59. Cond. opera at SW, Robert Mayer concerts for children, etc. Comp. symphonic poems, pf. conc., chamber mus. C.B.E. 1949.

Cunningham, George (Dorrington) (b London, 1878; d Birmingham, 1948). Eng. organist. Trained RAM. Organist of Alexandra Palace, London (1901), Birmingham Town Hall (1924--48); cond. City of Birmingham Choir; also held church positions. Pres. RCO 1938.

Cunning Little Vixen, The (P;akrihody lis^;ky Bystrous^;ky). Opera in 3 acts by Jan c^;ek to lib. by himself based on novelette by Rudolf Te^;snohl dek (1882--1928) orig. written as captions for drawings by Stanislav Lolek. Comp. 1921--3. Prod. Brno 1924, London 1961; NY 1964. (Title sometimes trans. as 'The Sly Little Vixen', but 'Cunning' seems to be generally accepted. A better title would be Adventures of the Vixen Sharp-Ears.)

Cupid and Death. Masque by James Shirley prod. 1653 with mus. by, probably, Christopher Gibbons; rev. 1659 with mus. by C. Gibbons and Matthew Locke.

Cupo (It.). Dark, sombre.

Curlew River. Parable for church perf., Op. 71, by Britten to text by W. Plomer after a Japanese Noh play Sumidagawa, by Juro Motomasa (1395--1431). Prod. Aldeburgh Fest. (Orford Church) 1964, Katonah, NY, 1966.

Curlew Sign. Pause mark invented by Britten for his church parable Curlew River (1964) where there is no cond. This sign, when placed over a note or rest, indicates that the singer or instrumentalist must listen and wait until the other performers have reached the next barline or meeting-point. Thus the note or rest may be longer or shorter than its written value.

Curlew, The. Song-cycle by Warlock, on 4 poems by Yeats, for ten., fl., cor anglais, and str. qt., comp. 1920--1, f.p. London 1921, rev. 1922.

Curtain Music or Curtain Tune. See Act Tune.

Curtal (Curtall). Renaissance wind instr., ancestor of the bn., developed in mid-16th cent. Had double reeds, single U-tube, and conical bore. Name comes from Lat. curtus, short and, like bombard, was borrowed from artillery, the curtal being a variety of short-barrelled cannon. Bass curtal was known in Eng. as double curtal and had 2 keys (little finger and thumb). There were also the great bass curtal (an octave below the bass), and sop., alto, and ten. sizes.

Curtin, Phyllis (b Clarksburg, West Virginia, 1922). Amer. sop. Studied NY and Boston. Début with New England Opera Th. 1946. Joined NY City Opera 1953. Début Vienna 1960, NY Met. 1961 (as Fiordiligi in Così fan tutte). Sang Walton's Cressida in NY 1955-6. Sang role of Cathy in Floyd's Wuthering Heights NY 1959.

Curtis, Alan (Stanley) (b Mason, Mich., 1934). Amer. musicologist, harpsichordist, and cond. Studied Michigan Univ. and Univ. of Illinois, also in Amsterdam 1957--9, with Gustav Leonhardt. On staff Univ. of Calif., Berkeley, from 1960, becoming prof. in 1970. Authority on Sweelinck and on authentic interpretation of mus. of 16th--18th cents. Has cond. own edns. of baroque operas, e.g. Cesti's Il Tito at Innsbruck, 1983.

Curtis Institute, Philadelphia. Sch. of mus. founded and endowed in 1924 by Mrs Mary Louise Bok (later Mrs. Zimbalist) in memory of her father Cyrus H. K. Curtis. Tuition fees abolished 1928. Dir. from 1926 was the pianist Josef Hofmann, who retired 1938, followed by Randall Thompson 1938--40, Efrem Zimbalist 1941--68, Rudolf Serkin 1968--76; John de Lancie from 1977. Long list of distinguished teachers and visiting professors.

Curtis, Natalie (b NY, 1875; d Paris, 1921). Amer. pianist, pupil of Friedheim and Busoni, who became interested in mus. of Amer. Indians and collected 200 songs, pubd. in The Indians' Book (1907). Later explored negro mus., publishing Negro Folk Songs (4 series 1918--19). Wife of artist Paul Burlin.

Curved Line, Various uses of (see below).

Curwen. Eng. family of mus. publishers and educationists. John Curwen (b Heckmondwike, 1816; d Manchester, 1880) was a Congregational minister. Adopted tonic sol-fa system of Sarah Glover and resigned his ministry in 1864 to promote tonic sol-fa movement. Founded pub. firm J. Curwen and Sons in 1863. His son John Spencer Curwen (b London, 1847; d London, 1916) continued the tonic sol-fa work. J. S. Curwen's nephew, John Kenneth Curwen (b London, 1881; d Gerrards Cross, 1935) supervised the pub. firm and added to its catalogue Holst's Planets, Vaughan Williams's Pastoral Symphony and Hugh the Drover, and works by Bantock, Smyth, and Varèse. Published journal The Sackbut (1920--34), at one time edited by Philip Heseltine. In 1971 catalogue was divided between Faber Music and Roberton Publications.

Curzon, (Sir) Clifford (Michael) (b London, 1907; d London, 1982). Eng. pianist. Entered RAM 1919, studying with Charles Reddie. In 1923 was a soloist in Bach triple concerto at Promenade Concert cond. by Wood. In 1928 studied with Schnabel in Berlin, and in 1930 moved to Paris for studies with Landowska and N. Boulanger. In 1931 married Amer. harpsichordist Lucille Wallace. Returned to Eng. 1932. Amer. début 1939. Though often playing Romantics such as Liszt and Tchaikovsky, increasingly concentrated on Schubert, Beethoven, and especially Mozart. Gave f.p. of Rawsthorne's 2nd pf. conc. (1951) and played pf. duets with Britten. C.B.E. 1958. Knighted 1977.

Cushion Dance (Ger. Kissentanz, or Polstertanz). An old dance in which a participant chose apartner by dropping a cushion before him or her, who then knelt on it and bestowed a kiss on the cushion-bearer.

Cusins, (Sir) William (George) (b London, 1833; d Remonchamps, Ardennes, 1893). Eng. cond., organist, and composer. Studied RAM and Brussels. Début 1849 as pianist, then organist of Queen's private chapel, and violinist in CG orch. On staff RAM from 1851. Cond., Phil Soc. 1867--83, continuing to tour widely as pianist. Comp. oratorio, pf. conc., and ovs. Knighted 1892. Master of the Queen's Musick 1870--93.

Cutner, Solomon. See Solomon.

Cutting, Thomas (fl. 17th cent.). Eng. lutenist andcomposer. Worked in Denmark 1607--11. Possibly a member of same family as Francis Cutting (fl. 1583--c.1603), composer of a quantity of lute mus.

Cuzzoni, Francesca (b Parma, c.1698; d Bologna, 1770). It. sop., pupil of Lanzi. Probable début Parma 1716, then sang in Venice and Turin. London début, King's Th. 1723 in Handel's Ottone. Remained in Handel's opera co. (Royal Academy) until 1728, singing a leading role in all his operas. Her rivalry with Faustina Bordoni led to their fighting on the stage in 1727 during Bononcini's Astianatte. Sang in Vienna 1728--9 and then returned to It., where she sang in several of Hasse's operas. In 1739 returned to Ger. and in 1750 to London, where she was arrested for debt. Farewell appearance London 1751. Last years spent in prison and in poverty. Contemporary accounts leave no doubt of her greatness as an artist, especially in Handel.

Cycle. (1) Name for series of items written to be perf. as a group and sometimes linked thematically either musically or by subject, esp. song-cycle (Ger. Liedercyclus). In opera the greatest cycle (4 operas) is Wagner's Der Ring des Nibelungen. (2) A complete vibration in mus. acoustics. (3) Any of systems of equal temperament in which tonal material is obtained by dividing octave into number of equal intervals.

Cyclic Form. Formal structure of a comp. in which one mus. theme is heard, sometimes in a varied form, in more than one movement. Early examples occur in Handel, Vivaldi, Mozart, and Haydn, but it was developed by Beethoven e.g. in his Pathétique Sonata and 5th Sym.

The idée fixe of Berlioz and leitmotiv of Wagner are akin to cyclic form, as are the thematic transformations of Liszt and R. Strauss. But the most emphatic uses of cyclic form occur in the works of Franck and in the Sym. No. 1 of Elgar.

Cylinder or rotary valve. A special type of valve in brass instr., in much use in some European countries but in Brit. and USA applied only to the Fr. hn. The term is sometimes used for any kind of valve, e.g. It. Trombone a Cilindri (valve tb.).

Cymbalon. See Cimbalom.

Cymbals. Perc. instrs. consisting of plate-shaped discs made of brass or other metal with leather handles. Played by being held one in each hand and clashed together; or fixed on a stand enabling the foot to do the clashing; or one can be fixed to the side of a big drum and the other clashed on to it; or they can be rattled at their edges; or one cymbal can be struck with a drumstick (or wire brush) or a roll perf. on it with drumsticks. Antique cymbals, specified in some scores (e.g. Debussy's L'Après-midi d'un faune), are tuned to a definite pitch. Ordinary cymbals have no definite pitch but one may sound higher than another. See Choke cymbals, Chinese crash cymbals, and Sizzle cymbals.

Cymbel. Org. stop; a brilliant type of Mixture.

Cymbelstern. See Zimbelstern.

Czárdás. See Csárdás.

Czar und Zimmermann (Lortzing). See Zar und Zimmermann.

Czech Philharmonic Orchestra. Founded as independent body in 1901 having previously been orch. of Prague Nat. Opera. Achieved worldwide reputation through tours and recordings during conductorship of Václav Talich 1919--41. Among his successors have been Rafael Kubelík 1941--8, Karel Ancerl 1950--68, and Václav Neumann from 1968.

Czech Quartet. Cz. string quartet formed in 1891 by pupils of Hanus^; Wihan at Prague Cons. First concert 1892. Visited Russ. 1895 and Brit. 1896. Last tour Holland 1931. Disbanded 1933. Orig. members were Karel Hoffmann (1872--1936), Josef Suk (1874--1935), Oskar Nedbal (1874--1930), and Otto Berger (1873--97). Nedbal was replaced 1906 by Jiří Herold (1875--1934) and Berger in 1894 by Wihan (1855--1920). Wihan was replaced 1914 by Ladislav Zelenka (1881--1957). Gave 1,000th concert in 1902. Specialized in Smetana, Dvořák, and Beethoven, but played many modern qts. incl. those by Reger, Pfitzner, Schoenberg, Ravel, etc.

Czernohorsky (Ak. Černohorský), Bohuslav (b Nymburg, 1684; d Graz, 1742). Cz. composer and choirmaster. Taught Gluck and Tartini. Worked in Padua and Prague. Comp. preludes, toccatas, and fugues for org., Regina coeli for sop., and other church mus., but the bulk of his work was lost in a fire at a Prague convent, 1754.

Czerny, Karl (b Vienna, 1791; d Vienna, 1857). Austrian pianist, teacher, and composer. Pf. pupil 1800--3 and friend of Beethoven, who admired him. Also influenced by Hummel and Clementi. Was popular teacher at age 15. Pupils incl. 10-year-old Liszt. Indefatigable composer and arranger, works numbering more than 1,000 and incl. examples of every form from operas to pf. solos, but best known for his instructive studies. Arr. operas, oratorios, and syms. for pf(s). (incl. arrs. of Rossini's Semiramide and William Tell ovs. for 8 pf., 4 hands each). Contrib. to Hexameron.

Czerny-Stefańska, Halina (b Kraków, 1922). Polish pianist. Studied Warsaw. Joint winner Chopin Int. Competition 1949. Int. tours.

Czerwenka, Oskar (b Linz, Austria, 1924). Austrian bass. Opera début Graz 1947; joined Vienna Opera 1951. NY Met. 1960. Has sung at Salzburg (1953) and Glyndebourne (1959). Repertory of over 70 parts.

Cziffra, György (b Budapest, 1921). Fr. pianist of Hung. birth. First public perf. at 5 in circus. Studied Budapest 1930 with Dohnányi and had successful career in Hung. and Europe 1933--41. Prisoner of war and again imprisoned for political beliefs 1950--3. Won Liszt Prize 1955. Escaped from Hung. during 1956 uprising, settling in Fr. Virtuoso interpreter of 19th cent. repertory.

Czimbal, Czimbalom, Czimbalon. See Cimbalom.

Czyz, Henryk (b Grudziadz, Poland, 1923). Polish cond. and composer. Studied Poznaan and Toruń. Cond. début 1948, Polish Nat. Radio Orch. Cond. f.p. of Penderecki's St Luke Passion, 1966. Prin. cond. Düsseldorf Opera. 1971--4. Comp. syms., operas, and film mus. [ts1][bm2][fy65][cc27,3,8,8][dt5,0p6g,21p6][ol38] [fy65,3]Curved Line, Various uses of. [fy75,1]The Tie or Bind[qc[bt[nt^The 2 notes become 1 (see Tie or Bind). The Slur, or Legato (or Bowing Mark)[qc_All the notes affected by the curve are to be played smoothly. In str. mus. they are to be played in a single bow movement. [etThe Phrase Mark[qcSee Phrase.[qc[dt10,17][bt[ntThe Syllable Mark[qc_The mark is to make clearer the fitting of the notes to the syllables. [et[dt7,20][bt [ntThe Portamento Mark[qc_Instead of jumping cleanly the singer is to slide from the one note to the other, taking all intervening pitches en route. The same effect is possible on bowed instr., but here a wavy line is sometimes the indication.

D

D. The name of the 2nd degree of natural scale of C. Thus D<sub>b</sub>, D<sub>bb</sub>, D<sub>nat.</sub>, D#, D##, D major, D minor. In D indicates either 'in the key of D major' or, of transposing instr., that the written note C sounds D.

D. Abbreviated prefix to nos. in the O.E. Deutsch thematic catalogue of Schubert's works, and now generally used to identify them; e.g. the Str. Quintet in C major (D956).

d. Tonic Sol-fa symbol for first degree (tonic) of scale, pronounced doh.

Da (It.). Of, from.

Da capo (It., abbreviates to D.C.). From the head. A term meaning 'Repeat from the beginning until you come to the word Fine (end), or the pause mark (;Yr'). Sometimes the expressions da capo al segno (From the beginning to the sign) or da capo al fine (From the beginning to the word Fine) are encountered; these are occasionally followed by e poi la coda, meaning that having arrived at the place indicated, the coda should immediately follow. A da capo aria is one in which the first part is repeated.

Daddi, Joao Guilherme (b Oporto, 1814: d 1887). Portuguese pianist and composer of light operas.

Daffner, Hugo (b Munich, 1882; d Dachau, 1936). Ger. composer and critic. Comp. pupil of Thuille and Reger. His 3 operas incl. Macbeth. Wrote 2 syms., 2 str. qts., and sonatas for pf., vn., and vc. Mus. critic Allgemeine Zeitung, Königsberg, 1907--10. Author of books incl. one on Mozart pf. concs.

Dafne. Opera in prol. and 6 scenes by Peri to lib. by Ottavio Rinuccini. Comp. 1594--8. Generally supposed to be the earliest opera, but the mus. is lost. Prod. in Corsi's house, Florence, 1598. (See Camerata.) The same lib. was also set by Corsi himself (2 fragments survive), Gagliano (1607), and Schütz (lost, 1627). Operas on the same theme were comp. by A. Scarlatti (1700), Astorga (1709), Mulé (1928), and R. Strauss (1936--7, see under Daphne).

Dalayrac, Nicolas-Marie (b Muret, Haute Garonne, 1753; d Paris, 1809). Fr. composer. Trained as lawyer. Wrote nearly 60 opéras comiques, among them Nina (1786), Azémia (1786), Les deux petits Savoyards (1789), and Camille (1791). Also wrote str. qts., vn. duos, and songs.

d'Albert. See Albert, Eugen d'.

Dalberto, Michel (b Paris, 1955). Fr. pianist. Studied Paris Cons. 1968--75 (with Perlemuter, Trouard, and Hubeau). Winner, 1st Mozart comp., Salzburg 1975; winner Leeds pf. comp. 1978. Recitalist and concert soloist.

Dalby, (John)[fy65,3] Martin (b Aberdeen, 1942). Scottish composer. Violist in Nat. Youth Orch. Studied RCM., then 2 years in Italy. On BBC mus. staff in London 1965--71, Glasgow Univ. 1971--2. Head of Mus. BBC Scotland from 1972. Compositions incl.:

orch: Waltz Overture (1965), Sym. (1970), Concerto Martin Pescatore, strings (1971), The Tower of Victory (1973), va. conc. (1974), El Ruisenor (1979), Chamber Sym. (1982), Nozze di Primavera (1984).

chamber [nm& [sminstr: Ob.sonatina (1969), Commedia, cl., vn., vc., pf. (1969), Whisper Music (1971), Cancionero para una Mariposa, 9 instr. (1971), str. quintet (1972), Yet Still She is the Moon, brass septet (1973), Unicorn, vn. and pf. (1975), Aleph, 8 instr. (1975), Almost a Madrigal, wind and perc. (1977), Man Walking, octet for wind and str. (1980).

vocal [nm& [smchoral: The Fiddler, sop. or ten. and vn. (1967), Cantica, sop. or ten., cl., va., pf. (1969), The Keeper of the Pass, sop. and instr. (1971), Orpheus, ch., narrator, and 11 instr. (1972), Cantigas del Cancionero, 5 solo vv. (1972), El Remenso del Pitido, 12 solo vv. (1974), Ad Flumina Babyloniae, motet (1975), Call for the Hazel Tree, ch. and elec. (1979), Antoinette Alone, mez., pf. (1980).

Dalcroze. See Jaques-Dalcroze, Émile.

Dale, Benjamin (James) (b London, 1885; d London, 1943). Eng.composer. Studied RAM, of which he was later Warden, 1937. Comps. incl. pf. sonata (1902), cantatas, and several works for va.

Dalibor. Opera in 3 acts by Smetana to E. Spindler's Cz. trans. of Ger. text by Joseph Wenzig. Comp. 1865--7, rev. 1870. Prod. Prague 1868, Chicago 1924, Edinburgh 1964, London 1976.

Dallam. Eng. family of org.-builders. Thomas Dallam (fl. early 17th cent.) built org. at Worcester Cath., 1613; his son Robert (1602--65) built orgs. of York Minster and Durham Cath.

Dallapiccola, Luigi (b Pisino d'Istria, 1904; d Florence, 1975). It. composer and pianist. At the time of his birth, Pisino was in the Austro-Hungarian empire, being transferred to It. in 1918 (now in Yugoslavia). Because Dallapiccola's father was suspected in 1917 of It. nationalism, the family was forcibly moved to Graz where Dallapiccola learned to admire opera and where he conceived the passionate love of liberty which inspires several of his works. In 1922 he entered the Cons. Cherubini, Florence, studying comp. under Frazzi. In 1924 a perf. of Schoenberg's Pierrot Lunaire made a deep impression on him, inaddition to his existing passion for Debussy, Monteverdi, and Gesualdo. In the late 1920s he taught, gave pf. recitals, and in 1934 joined the pf. staff of the Cons. Cherubini. Travelling abroad he met Berg, Malipiero, and Casella. He fell out of favour with the authorities because of his opposition to Fascism, but after 1945 he spent a considerable time in the USA. Known as the principal (and probably the first) It. composer to adopt 12-note methods, Dallapiccola also remained a lyrical, thoroughly It. composer. But he did not adopt dodecaphony until he was nearly 40. His early works, such as the first pair of Cori di Michelangelo Buonarroti il Giovane (1933), reflect his interest in the Italian madrigalists. The later pairs (1934--6) combine the influence of Busoni with his own typically sensuous warmth. The culmination of this period of his work was the Canti di prigionia (1938--41). In 1942 he adopted serialism, but never the purely academic variety. His natural It. aptitude for elaborate polyphony led him, in such works as Piccola musica notturna (1954), to use the all-interval row. His opera Il prigioniero (1944--8) exemplifies his unorthodoxy in using several different note-rows and ignoring other standard serial procedures. From about 1956 his music showed a Webernian intricacy in its textures and angularity, yet was never wholly devoid of the lyricism and colour of his earlier phases. Prin. comps.:

operas: Volo di notte (Night Flight) 1 act, lib. by composer after Saint-Exupéry (comp. 1937--9, prod. 1940); Il prigioniero (The Prisoner) (1944--8); Job (1950); Ulisse (prol. and 2 acts, lib. by composer after Homer, comp. 1959--68, prod. 1968).

ballet: Marsia (comp. 1942--3, prod. Venice 1948).

chorus and orch: 6 Cori di Michelangelo Buonarroti il Giovane in 3 pairs: 1 (1933), for unacc. mixed ch., 2 (1934--5), for women's vv. and 17 instr., 3 (1935--6), for ch. and orch.; 3 Canti di prigionia (Songs of Imprisonment) (1938--41); Requiescant (1957--8); Canti di Liberazione (1951--55).

solo voice and orch: Partita for orch. (sop. solo in finale) (1930--2); 3 Laudi for high v. and 13 instr. (1936--7); Liriche Greche (Greek Lyrics): I, Five Sappho Fragments, for v. and 15 instr. (1942), II, Two Anacreonte Lyrics, for v., Eb cl., cl. in A, va., pf. (1944--5), III, 6 Songs of Alcaeus, for v. and 11 instr. (1943); An Mathilde, for sop. and orch. (1955); Concerto per la notte di Natale dell'anno 1956, for chamber orch. with sop. (1957); 4 liriche di Antonio Machado for sop. and chamber orch. (orig. version for sop. and pf., 1948) (1964); Commiatto, for sop. and chamber orch. (1972).

orch: Piccolo Concertoper Muriel Couvreux, for pf. and chamber orch. (1939--41); Variations (1954) (adapted from Quaderno musicale di Annalibera for pf., 1952); Tartiniana, divertimento for vn. and chamber orch. (1951); Piccola musica notturna (1954) (also arr. for chamber ens., 1961); Dialoghi for vc. and orch. (1960).

instr.: Ciacona, Intermezzo, e Adagio, vc. (1945).

songs: Rencesval for bar. (1946); 4 Liriche di Antonio Machado for sop. (1948).

Dal Monte, Toti (Antonietta Meneghel) (b Mogliano Veneto, 1893; d Treviso, 1975). It. sop. Début Milan 1916, then continued studies with Pini-Corsi. Sang Gilda in Rigoletto cond. Toscanini, Milan 1921. Regular operatic appearances in It., also Chicago 1924--8, NY Met. 1924--5, CG 1926. Became teacher.

Dal segno (It.). From the sign, i.e. return to the sign ;yx, and repeat thence to the word Fine (end), or to a double bar with a pause sign (;Yr) above it.

Daman. See Damon, William.

Damase, Jean-Michel (b Bordeaux, 1928). Fr. composer and pianist. Studied Paris (Grand Prix de Rome). Wrote 7 ballets, incl. La Croqueuse de diamants (The Diamond Cruncher) 1950, pf. concs., vn. conc., harp concertino, vc. sonata, wind quintet, etc.

Dame blanche, La (The White Lady). Opera in 3 acts by Boieldieu, to lib. by Scribe, based on Scott's The Monastery (1820) and Guy Mannering (1815). Prod. Paris 1825, London 1826, NY 1827.

Damnation de Faust, La (The Damnation of Faust). Dramatic cantata (légende dramatique) in 4 parts for sop., ten., and bass soloists, ch. and orch., Op. 24, by Berlioz, sometimes perf. in operatic form. Text by Berlioz and A. Gandonnière after G. de Nerval's Fr. version of Goethe. F.p. Paris, Opéra-Comique, 6 Dec. 1846. F. p. in England, Manchester, 5 Feb. 1880 cond. Hallé. Comp. was completed 1846, incorporating earlier Huit Scènes de Faust (1828). See also Rákóczi March.

Damon (Daman), William (b Liège, c.1540; d London, 1591). Walloon composer, employed in Eng. at Queen Elizabeth's court; comp. anthems, lute mus. etc., and pubd. notable coll. of metrical psalm tunes (1579).

Damp. To check the vibrations of an instr. (e.g. kettledrum) by touching it in some way. See also Piano.

Dampers. See Piano.

Dämpfer (Ger.). Mute. Mit Dämpfern, with mutes.

Dämpfung. Muting, or (pf.) soft-pedalling.

Damrosch, Frank (Heino) (b Breslau, 1859; d NY, 1937). Ger.-born Amer. cond. Went to USA with father, Leopold, in 1871. Chorusmaster NY Met. 1885--91. Cond. and founder of several NY choral socs. Founded Institute of Musical Art, 1905, remaining dir. until it was merged with Juilliard Sch., 1926.

Damrosch, Leopold (b Posen, 1832; d NY, 1885). Ger. cond., composer, and violinist. Doctor of medicine, Berlin, 1854, but turned to mus. Violinist in Weimar court orch. under Liszt 1855--9, cond. Breslau P.O. 1859--60. Went to NY 1871 and played increasingly important role in US mus. life. Co-founder and first cond. NY Oratorio Soc. (1873) and NY Sym. Soc. (1878). Organized and cond. Ger. opera season at NY Met. 1884--5 which incl. f. complete US p. of Die Walküre.

Damrosch, Walter (Johannes) (b Breslau, 1862; d NY, 1950). Ger.-born Amer. cond. and composer, younger son of Leopold Damrosch. Pupil of Bülow. Succeeded father, 1885, as cond. NY Oratorio Soc. and ass. cond. Ger. opera, NY Met. Cond. first concert perf. in USA of Parsifal, 1896. Formed opera co. 1895 which until its disbandment in 1900 toured USA performing mainly Wagner's operas, with singers who incl. Sucher, Gadski, Klafsky, Melba, Alvary, and Bispham. Returned to Met. 1900--3. In 1903 reorganized NY Sym. Soc. as permanent orch., remaining cond. until merger with NY P.O. in 1928. Introduced many 20th-cent. works to USA and cond. f.ps. in USA of Bruckner's 3rd and Mahler's 4th syms. Comp. 4 operas, incl. The Scarlet Letter (1896) and Cyrano de Bergerac (1913), choral works incl. The Canterbury Pilgrims, and Dunkirk, for bar., male ch., and orch. (1943).

Danby, John (b London, c.1757; d London, 1798). Eng. organist of Sp. Embassy chapel, London; comp. many fine glees, e.g. Awake, Aeolian Lyre. Won 8 prizes from Catch Club.

Danby, Nicholas (Charles) (b London, 1935). Eng. org. Studied RCM. Org. prof. GSM and RCM. Organist Jesuit Church, Farm Street, London, since 1967.

Dance. In every age and among every race dancing has existed either as recreation or as a religious manifestation or as both. In Europe all countries have their traditional ('folk') dances. Those of England are numerous, falling into three classes--for men alone the Sword Dance and the Morris Dances and for men and women together the Country Dances. There has always been a tendency for some peasant dances to pass into wider use, their steps and music then becoming sophisticated. Some typical examples are Allemande, Bergomask, Bourrée, Branle, Canaries, Chaconne and Passacaglia, Courante, Dump, Gavotte, Hay, Jig, Minuet, Passamezzo, Passepied, Pavan and Galliard, Rigaudon, Sarabande, Volta. The rhythms and styles of some of the above, from the 16th cent. onwards, supplied conventional models for instrumental compositions (see Suite). The Dances later popular in social circles (some of them of rustic origin) were the Minuet and the Eng. Country Dance (17th cent.); Cotillon and Écossaise (18th cent.); Waltz, Quadrille, Polka, Schottische, Mazurka, Barn Dance (19th cent.); and some of these also were taken as models by instrumental composers. In the 20th cent. the dance has become synonymous with ballet, but the pattern of previous centuries has continued and modern dances such as the foxtrot, quickstep, and rumba have influenced composers. Dance Companies such as those of Merce Cunningham and Martha Graham in the USA have been of significant importance. Dance has also been harnessed to the electronic experiments of the avant-garde. See Ballet.

Dance before the Golden Calf. Climax (mainly orch.) of Act 2 of Schoenberg's opera Moses und Aron.

Dance of Death. See (1) Danse macabre; (2) Totentanz.

Dance of the Blessed Spirits. A slow dance episode in Act 2 of Gluck's Orfeo ed Euridice, characterized by a beautiful fl. solo.

Dance of the Comedians. Dance episode in Act 3 of Smetana's The Bartered Bride featuring the clowns and tumblers of the travelling circus.

Dance of the Hours. Episode, frequently played as separate orch. piece, in Act 3 of Ponchielli's La gioconda. It is an entertainment staged by one of the characters for his guests and symbolizes the conflict between darkness and light.

Dance of the Seven Veils. Popular title for Salome's dance before Herod in Strauss's Salome. For orch. alone, and often perf. as concert item.

Dance of the Sylphs. Orch. episode, often played separately, in Berlioz's La Damnation de Faust where it forms part of Faust's dream on the banks of the Elbe.

Dance of the Tumblers. Episode in Act 3 of Rimsky-Korsakov's The Snow Maiden in which acrobats dance for the Tsar Berendey.

Dance Rhapsody. Name given by Delius to 2 orch. works. No. 1, comp. 1908, was f.p. at Hereford Fest. 8 Sept. 1909, cond. composer. No. 2, comp. 1916, was f.p. London, 23 Oct. 1923, cond. Wood. Also title of orch. work by Bridge (1908).

Dances of Galánta. Orch. suite by Kodály comp. 1933 for 80th anniv. of Budapest Phil. Soc. Based on gipsy tunes collected in Hung. market town of Galánta.

Dance Suite (Táncszvit). Orch. work by Bartók comp. 1923 to celebrate 50th anniv. of merging of Buda and Pest. F.p. Budapest 19 Nov. 1923, cond. Dohnányi. Also pf. version.

Dancla, Jean Baptiste Charles (b Bagnères-de-Bigorre, 1817; d Tunis, 1907). Fr. violinist, composer, and teacher. Prin. violinist, Société des Concerts du Conservatoire, Paris, 1841--63. Prof., Paris Cons. 1860--92. Wrote 4 syms., 6 vn. concs., 14 str. qts., and 3 books. Brother Arnaud (1819--62) was cellist.

Danco, Suzanne (b Brussels, 1911). Belg. sop. Studied Brussels Cons. Début Genoa 1941 as Fiordiligi. Sang Ellen Orford in Britten's Peter Grimes at first Milan perf. 1947 and Marie in Wozzeck at Naples 1949. Edinburgh Fest. 1948. CG 1951. Also exponent of Fr. songs and Ger. Lieder.

Dandelot, Georges (b Paris, 1895; d St Georges de Didon, 1975). Fr. composer. Studied Paris Cons. with Widor, Dukas, and Roussel. Teacher, École Normale de Musique, Paris, from 1919 and prof. at Paris Cons. 1942. Works incl. operas, ballets, oratorio Pax (1937), sym. (1941), pf. conc. (1934), concerto romantique for vn. and orch. (1944).

Dandrieu, Jean-François (b ?Paris, c.1682; d Paris, 1738). Fr. composer. Infant prodigy. Held several organists' posts. Members of royal chapel from 1721. Wrote many hpd. pieces in style of Couperin, one of which was famous battle piece, Les caractères de la guerre.

Danican. See Philidor.

Daniel. See Danyell, John.

Daniel, Ernö (b Budapest, 1918). Hung.-Amer. pianist and cond. Studied Liszt Acad., Budapest, later with Dohnányi (comp.) and Monteux and Szell (cond.). Eur. reputation as pianist in works of Liszt, Bartók, and Dohnányi. Went to USA 1949 (citizen 1954), cond. Santa Barbara S.O. 1960--7. Also teacher and writer.

Daniel-Lesur. See Lesur, Daniel.

Daniel, The Play of. See Play of Daniel, The.

Danks, Harry (b Dudley, 1912). Eng. violist, pupil of Tertis. Prin. va. BBC S.O. 1946--78. Specialist on 16th- and 17th-cent. viols and viola d'amore.

Dankworth, John (Philip William) (b London, 1927). Eng. jazz musician and composer. Studied RAM 1944--6. Formed jazz orch. 1953. Comp. much film mus. and works combining jazz and symphonic musicians, e.g. Improvisations, with Seiber 1959, str. qt. 1971, pf. conc. 1972. Frequent appearances as accompanist to wife, Cleo Laine. C.B.E. 1974.

Dannreuther, Edward (George) (b Strasbourg, 1844; d Hastings, 1905). Alsatian pianist and writer. At age 5 went to Cincinnati where mus. education began. Leipzig Cons. 1859--63 under Moscheles. Début as pianist in London 1863, then settled there. Ardent Wagner enthusiast; founded WagnerSoc. 1872, was host to Wagner on his visit to London 1877 to conduct several concerts. Wrote several books on Wagner and his theories. Promoted chamber concerts in his home 1874--93. Gave f. Eng. ps. of pf. concs. by Grieg, Liszt (A major), and Tchaikovsky (No. 1).

Danon, Oskar (b Sarajevo, 1913). Yugoslav cond. and composer. Studied Prague Cons. Cond. Sarajevo Opera and P.O. 1938--41. Dir. Belgrade Opera and P.O. 1945--59. Chicago 1962; Edinburgh Fest. 1962. Comp. choral works, ballet, symphonic scherzo, etc.

Danse macabre (Dance of Death). Symphonic poem by Saint-Saëns, Op. 40, comp. 1874 (pf. transcr. by Liszt 1877). Based on poem by Henri Cazalis in which Death the Fiddler summons skeletons from their graves at midnight to dance. Orig. conceived as a song, in which form it exists. See also Totentanz.

Dante Sonata. Pf. comp. by Liszt, No. 7 of the seconde année of the Années de pèlerinage, its full title being Fantaisie, quasi Sonate: 'D'Après une lecture de Dante'. First played by Liszt 1839, rev. 1849. Version by Lambert for pf. and orch. 1940 as basis for ballet Dante Sonata.

Dante Symphony. Orch. work by Liszt (Symphony to Dante's Divina Commedia) comp. 1855--6 and f.p. 1857. In 2 movements, ending with Magnificat sung by women's ch. (of which there are 2 versions).

Dantons Tod (Danton's Death). Opera in 2parts by Einem. Op. 6, to lib. by Blacher and composer, after Büchner's drama (1835). Comp. 1944--6. Prod. Salzburg 1947.

Danyel(l) (Daniel), John (b Wellow, Som., 1564; d c.1626). Eng. lutenist and member of Queen Elizabeth's Chapel Royal. B.Mus., Oxford, 1603. His fancies and galliards for lute show advanced use of chromaticism for his time. His 20 songs for lute, viol, and v. were pubd. 1606.

Danza (It.). Dance.

Danza espa;a;nola (Sp.). Spanish dance (in some parts of S. America applied to a particular type, generally in simple duple rhythm).

Danzi, Franz (*b*Schwetzingen, 1763; d Karlsruhe, 1826). Ger. composer (pupil of Vogler) and cellist. Kapellmeister, Stuttgart 1807--12, Karlsruhe from 1812. Friend and patron of Weber, puttingseveral of his operas into production. One of first opera conductors to conduct from rostrum rather than from keyboard. Comp. 11 operas, incl. one on subject of Turandot, vc. concs., hn. conc., and several works for wind quintet.

Daphne. Opera (bucolic tragedy) in 1act by R. Strauss to lib. by Gregor. Comp. 1936--7. Prod. Dresden 1938, Santa Fe 1964.

Daphnis et Chloé. Ballet (choreographic sym.) by Ravel in 3 scenes, choreog. Fokine, comp. 1909--12 to commission from Diaghilev, prod. Paris 1912, London 1914. 2 concert suites arr. Ravel, No. 1, 1911, No. 2, 1913. Score incl. part for wordless ch.

Da Ponte, Lorenzo (Emanuela Conegliano) (b Ceneda, nr. Venice, 1749; d NY, 1838). It. poet and librettist for many composers but especially for Mozart's Le nozze di Figaro, Don Giovanni, and Così fan tutte. In Vienna was poet to the court opera but left in 1791. Worked in London 1792--1804 teaching It. and acting as poet to It. Opera. Went to NY 1805, working as tobacco dealer and grocer. Worked with Manuel García 1825 to institute It. opera season in USA and with Montressor on similar venture 1832--3. Teacher of It., Columbia Univ. 1826--37. Wrote entertaining memoirs (1823--7).

Daquin (d'Aquin), Louis Claude (b Paris, 1694; d Paris, 1772). Fr. organist and composer. Child prodigy. Organist, Fr. Chapel Royal, 1739. Comp. many hpd. works, best-known being Le Coucou (The Cuckoo) (1735), and solo works for org., also church mus.

D'Arányi, Jelly. See Arányi, Jelly d'.

Dargason. Eng. folk-tune, used from the 16th cent. onwards for a country dance. Also used for the folk-song It was a maid of my country. Holst, in his Suite No. 2 for military band (1911), combines the Dargason with Greensleeves in the finale, later transposing the movt. for strings in his St Paul's Suite (1912--3).

Dargomyzhsky, Alexander (b Tula, 1813; d St Petersburg, 1869). Russ. composer and pianist. Studied mus. as youthbut was civil servant until 1843, though he studied comp. seriously after meeting Glinka in 1834. His first opera Esmeralda (based on Hugo) was completed 1840 but not prod. until 1847, when it failed. Rusalka (based on Pushkin) was prod. with success in 1856. He wrote several orch. works, incl. Baba Yaga, and in 1864--5 visited Fr., Eng., and Belgium. Inspired by the nationalistideals of 'the Five', he began another Pushkin opera, The Stone Guest, on the Don Juan legend, making use of declamatory 'mezzo-recitative'. This was left unscored and unfinished. Cui completed 2 scenes and the opera was scored by Rimsky-Korsakov and prod. St Petersburg 1872. Also wrote nearly 100 songs.

Darke, Harold (Edwin) (b London, 1888; d Cambridge, 1976). Eng. organist, cond., and composer. Pupil at RCM of Parratt and Stanford. Organist of St Michael's, Cornhill, 1916--66, with wartime break as organist King's Coll., Cambridge, 1941--5. Organ prof. RCM 1919--69. D.Mus., Oxford. C.B.E. 1966. Founded St Michael's Singers to perform Bach cantatas, Byrd's Great Service and works by Parry, Vaughan Williams, etc. Comp. cantatas (Ring Out, Ye Crystal Spheres, An Hymn of Heavenly Beauty, etc.), org. works, songs, pf. pieces, and notable setting of carol In the Bleak Midwinter.

Darlow, Denys (b London, 1921). Eng. org., cond., and composer. Pupil of Darke. Founder, 1951, and cond. Tilford Bach Fest. Comp. choral mus., song-cycle, anthems, and songs.

Darmstadt. City in W. Ger. with musical tradition dating from 17th cent. Operatic activity was especially vital under Grand Duke Ludwig I (1790--1830), when the court conductor was Vogler. Later Rinck was organist for 41 years. Among 20th cent. operaconds. at Darmstadt have been Weingartner, Balling, Böhm, E. Kleiber, and Szell. But the most significant development has been the city's association with avant-garde contemporary mus. The International Summer Courses for New Music were instituted in 1946 by Wolfgang Steinecke, who directed them until his death in 1961. The courses were held annually up to 1970, and now every two years. They cover composition and interpretation and incl. f.ps. of works. Lecturers have incl. K;akrenek, Fortner, Hába, Adorno, Leibowitz, Messiaen, Varèse, Kolisch, Berio, Babbitt, Cage, Henze, Kontarsky, Ligeti, Maderna, Nono, Pousseur, Stockhausen, and Xenakis.

Darnton, (Philip) Christian (b Leeds, 1905; d Hove, 1981). Eng. composer. Pupil of Corder, Dale, and H. Craxton, later of Charles Wood and Rootham at Cambridge 1923--6. Entered RCM 1927. Works incl. 3 syms., cantata Jet Pilot, pf. conc., opera Fantasy Fair, va. conc., film and th. mus.

Dart, (Robert) Thurston (b Kingston-upon-Thames, 1921; d London, 1971). Eng. organist, harpsichordist, and musicologist. Studied RCM 1938--9, London Univ. (B.A. in mathematics), and Cambridge. Prof. of mus. Cambridge Univ. 1962--4, London Univ. from 1964. Undertook research into early mus., publishing many articles on subject and conducting fine recordings. Influential teacher.

Dartington Summer School. Annual combination of coaching, festival, and holiday lasting four weeks each August at Dartington Hall, arts and education college near Totnes, Devon. Began in 1948 at Bryanston Sch., Dorset, moving to Dartington 1953. Dir. from 1948 to 1979 was William Glock, from 1979 to 1984 Peter Maxwell Davies. Leading composers and performers instruct and lecture students, who vary from the professional to the enthusiastic amateur.

Das (Ger.). The.

Daser, Ludwig (b Munich, c.1525; d Stuttgart, 1589). Ger. composer. Kapellmeister at Munich 1552--63 when replaced by Lassus. Kapellmeister, Stuttgart 1572--89. Wrote Passion à 4 (1578), motets, masses, hymns, etc.

Daughter of the Regiment, The (Donizetti). See Fille du régiment, La.

David. Opera in 5 acts and 12 scenes by Milhaud to lib. by Lunel, commissioned by Koussevitzky Foundation to mark 3,000th anniv. of Jerusalem. Comp. 1952. Prod. Jerusalem, concert version, 1954, Milan, stage, 1955, Hollywood Bowl 1956.

David, Félicien (César) (b Cadenet, 1810; d St Germain-en-Laye, 1876). Fr. composer. Chorister in Aix Cath. and at 18 2nd cond. of th. there. Studied Paris Cons. 1830. In 1831 joined Saint-Simonist movement and travelled in Middle East, where he collected oriental melodies which later influenced his mus. Paris success with symphonic ode Le Désert, 1844, which in its exotic oriental tone-colours influenced Bizet, Gounod, and Delibes. His operas incl. La Perle du Brésil (1851), Lalla Roukh (1862), and Le Saphir (1865). Also wrote oratorios, chamber mus., 4 syms., pf. pieces, and songs.

David, Ferdinand (b Hamburg, 1810; d nr. Klosters, Switz., 1873). Ger. violinist and composer. Pupil of Spohr. Début at 15 with Leipzig Gewandhaus Orch. Leader of nobleman's private str. qt. in Estonia 1829--35. Appointed leader, Leipzig Gewandhaus Orch. 1836, prof. of vn. Leipzig Cons. 1843. Visited Eng. 1839 and 1841. Advised Mendelssohn on technicalities for his Vn. Conc. and was soloist at f.p. 1845. Taught Joachim and Wilhelmj.

Dávid, Gyula (b Budapest, 1913; d Budapest, 1977). Hung. composer. Studied with Kodály, and became professional cond. Taught at Budapest Acad. of Mus. Comps. incl. 4 syms. (1947, 1957, 1960, 1970), va. conc. (1950), Sinfonietta (1961), 4 wind quintets, str. qt., and incidental mus.

David, Johann Nepomuk (b Eferding, 1895; d Stuttgart, 1977). Austrian composer, organist and teacher. Studied Vienna 1920--3. Held many academic posts incl. dir. of Mozarteum, Salzburg, 1945--8, and prof. of comp., Stuttgart Hochschule für Musik 1948--63. Ed. works by J.S. Bach and Mozart. Own works influenced by Baroque composers until he turned to serialism in 1953. Many choral works and org. pieces, sonata for 3 vc., conc. for vn., vc., and orch., 8 syms., org. conc., 2 vn. concs., and 3 concs. for str.

Davidde Penitente (David the Penitent). Cantata (K469) by Mozart for 3 soloists, ch., and orch. Comp. 1785 with material from unfinished Mass in C minor (K427) (1782--3).

Davidoff, Karl (b Goldingen, 1838; d Moscow, 1889). Russ. cellist and composer. Prin. cellist Leipzig Gewandhaus Orch. 1859--62, St Petersburg Opera orch. from 1862. Prof. of vc. St Petersburg Cons. from 1863, becoming dir. 1876--87. Comps. incl. 4 vc. concs.

Davidovsky, Mario (b Medanos, Buenos Aires, 1934). Argentinian composer who settled in NY, 1960. Associate dir. elec. mus. centre, Princeton, and Columbia Univ. 1964. Held later teaching posts in NY. Comps. incl. orch. works, chamber mus., and elec. works. His Synchronism No. 6 (from Nos. 1 to 8) for pf. and elec. sound won Pulitzer Prize 1971.

Davidsbündler (Ger.). Adherents of the League of David. The Davidsbund was an imaginary soc. of artists invented by Robert Schumann to fight the philistines of art in the pages of his magazine Neue Zeitschrift für Musik. Some members represented Schumann's friends under fanciful names, e.g. Wieck (Master Raro), Mendelssohn (Felix Meritis), Stephen Heller (Jeanquirit), Clara Schumann (Chiara, Chiarina, Zilia), and Schumann himself (Florestan and Eusebius, representing the two sides of his nature, fiery and gentle). Other names were taken from the writings of Jean Paul Richter. The Davidsbündlertänze (Dances of the Adherents of the League of David) are 18 'characteristic pieces' for pf. by Schumann, Op. 6, comp. 1837, rev. 1850.

Davie, Cedric Thorpe (b London, 1913; d Dalry, Kirkcudbrightshire, 1983). Scottish composer, organist, and pianist. Studied RAM, RCM with R.O. Morris and Vaughan Williams, and abroad with Kilpinen and E. Petri. Joined staff, Royal Scottish Acad. of Music, then Master of Mus., St Andrews Univ., 1945--73, Prof. of Mus., 1973--8. Comp. opera Gammer Gurton's Needle, sym., Fantasy on Scottish Tunes, str. qt., vc. sonatina, incidental mus. for The Thrie Estaites, films, and TV. O.B.E. 1955.

Davies, Ben (Benjamin Grey) (b Pontardawe, 1858; d Bath, 1943). Welsh ten. Studied RAM 1878--80. Début Birmingham 1881 in The Bohemian Girl. Sang with Carl Rosa and other opera cos. but after 1894 was chiefly to be heard in concerts and oratorio, particularly Handel Fests. at which he last sang in 1926.

Davies, Dennis Russell (b Toledo, Ohio, 1944). Amer. conductor. Début as pianist Toledo 1961, then studied Juilliard Sch. Cond. début 1968 in NY. Cond. Berio's Opera in Santa Fe 1970. Mus. dir. St Paul Chamber Orch. 1973. Cond. Der fliegende Holländer Bayreuth 1978. Mus. dir. Württemberg State Opera, Stuttgart, 1978. Has cond. f.ps. of works by Cage, Carter, Feldman, Berio, etc., with NY chamber orch. Ensemble.

Davies, Fanny (b Guernsey, 1861; d London, 1934). Eng. pianist. Studied Leipzig Cons. 1882 and Frankfurt Cons. 1883--5 with Clara Schumann. Début London 1885, thereafter assoc. in chamber mus. with musicians such as Joachim, Casals, and Piatti. Had repertory of 30 concs. High Ger. reputation as interpreter of Brahms and Schumann. First to play Debussy preludes in Eng. Elgar's Concert Allegro was written for her.

Davies, David Ffrang;alcon. See Ffrang;alcon-Davies, David.

Davies, Hugh (Seymour) (b Exmouth, 1943). Eng. composer. Studied Oxford Univ. with Rubbra. Ass. to Stockhausen 1964--6 and member of his elec. mus. studio. In 1967 became dir., elec. mus. workshop, London Univ. Comps. are mainly elec., e.g. Quintet (1967--8) for 5 performers, 5 microphones, sine/square wave generator, 4-channel switching unit, potentiometers, 6 loudspeakers.

Davies, (Albert) Meredith (b Birkenhead, 1922). Eng. cond. and organist. Studied RCM and Acad. of St Cecilia, Rome. Cond. Bach Choir 1947, organist and master of choristers St Albans Cath. 1947--9, organist, Hereford Cath. 1949--56, assoc. cond. CBSO 1957--60, mus. dir. EOG 1962--4, cond. Vancouver S.O. 1964--71, BBC Training Orch. 1969--72. Shared, with composer, conducting of f.p. of Britten's War Requiem (Coventry, 1962). Guest cond. leading Brit. orchs., also at CG, SW, Aldeburgh, and other fests. Prin., TCL from 1979. C.B.E. 1982.

Davies, Peter Maxwell. See Maxwell Davies, Peter.

Davies, Ryland (b Cwm, Ebbw Vale, 1943). Welsh ten. Studied RMCM under F.R. Cox. Ricordi opera prize; Glyndebourne Christie Scholarship 1965. Début WNO 1964 as Almaviva, Glyndebourne 1965 (Major Domo in Der Rosenkavalier), Scottish Opera 1966, CGsince 1969, Salzburg 1970, San Francisco 1970, NY Met. 1975.

Davies, Tudor (b Cymmer, S. Wales, 1892; d Penault, Mon., 1958). Welsh ten. Trained RCM. CG début as Rodolfo in La Bohème with BNOC 1921. First professional singer of title-role in Vaughan Williams's Hugh the Drover. Prin. ten. Old Vic and SW, 1931--41, Carl Rosa 1941--6. Also sang at Paris Opéra and in USA.

Davies, (Sir) (Henry) Walford (b Oswestry, 1869; d Wrington, 1941). Welsh composer and organist. Org. pupil of Parratt. Studied RCM with Parry and Stanford. Taught counterpoint RCM 1895--1903. Organist, Temple Church, London, 1898--1918. Cond. Bach Choir 1903--7. Mus. dir. RAF 1917 (comp. its march). Prof. of mus. Univ. of Wales 1919--26. Organist St George's Chapel, Windsor, 1927. Master of the King's Musick 1934--41. One of first popular broadcasters on mus. Apart from RAF march, best-known comp. is Solemn Melody for org. and str. (1908). Knighted 1922. Comps. incl. cantatas The Temple (1902) and Everyman (1904), Sym. (1911), chamber mus., church mus., and songs.

Davis, Andrew (b Ashridge, 1944). Eng. cond., organist, and harpsichordist. Educated King's Coll., Cambridge (org. scholar) and Acad. of StCecilia, Rome. Studied cond. with Franco Ferrara. Assoc. cond. BBC Scottish S.O. 1970--2, assoc. cond. New Philharmonia Orch. 1974, prin. cond. and mus. dir. Toronto S.O. from 1975, prin. guest cond. Royal Liverpool P.O. 1974--6. Has cond. opera at Glyndebourne incl. Strauss's Intermezzo, Capriccio, and Die schweigsame Frau.

Davis,(Sir) Colin (Rex) (b Weybridge, 1927). Eng. cond. Studied RCM (cl.). Early cond. engagements with Chelsea Opera Group. Assoc. cond. BBC Scottish S.O. 1957--9; CG début with Royal Ballet 1960, with opera co. 1965 (Le Nozze di Figaro). Cond. SW Opera 1958--65 (mus. dir. from 1961); cond. BBC S.O. 1967--71; chief cond. and mus. dir. Royal Opera, CG, 1971--86. Début Glyndebourne 1960 (Die Zauberflöte). Guest cond. Minneapolis S.O. 1960 and other Amer. orchs., particularly Boston S.O. Début NY Met. 1967 (Peter Grimes). Cond. Bavarian Radio S.O. from 1981. Notable exponent of Berlioz, Mozart, Stravinsky, Tippett, and Sibelius. Cond. f.p. of Tippett's The Knot Garden (CG 1970). First Briton to cond. at Bayreuth Fest. (1977, Tannhäuser). C.B.E. 1965. Knighted 1980. Hamburg Shakes- peare Prize 1984.

Davis, Miles (Dewey) (b Alton, Ill., 1926). Amer. jazz trumpeter and flügel horn player. Began playing at 13. Went to NY, playing with Charlie Parker and Billy Eckstine. After success at Newport Jazz Fest. 1955 formed own quintet which lasted until 1957. In 1960s and 1970s led series of small groups. Noted for restraint and lyricism of his playing and for his consistently progressive approach.

Davison, James William (b London, 1813; d Margate, 1885). Eng. mus. critic on The Times 1846--79. Friend of Mendelssohn and antipathetic to Wagner. Husband of pianist Arabella Goddard.

Davy, John (b Upton-Hellions, Exeter, 1763; d London, 1824). Eng. composer and violinist. Articled to William Jackson, org. of Exeter Cath.; then went to London where became prominent as composer of light th.mus. Some of his songs, e.g. The Bay of Biscay, have survived. Violinist at CG.

Davy, Richard (b c.1467; d c.1507). Eng. composer of motets, part-songs, and fine setting of St Matthew Passion--probably written and perf. after his appointment in 1491 as choirmaster of Magdalen College, Oxford.

Dawson, Peter (b Adelaide, 1882; d Sydney, N.S.W., 1961). Australian bass-bar. Studied in London 1902 with Santley. Début CG 1909 but became better known for singing of popular ballads, e.g. Kipling's The Road to Mandalay and Boots, which he comp. under pseudonym J. P. McCall. These overshadowed his excellent ability in operatic arias and Lieder, always sung in Eng. and preserved by recordings. Began recording 1904; sold 13 million records.

Dazu (Ger.). Thereto, i.e. (in org. playing) the stops mentioned are now to be added to the others.

D.C. Abbreviation for Da Capo.

Dead March in Saul. Popular name for the funeral march from Handel's oratorio Saul (1739) which is used on state occasions such as the funeral of a sovereign. See also Funeral Marches.

Dean Paul, Lady. See Poldowski.

Dean, Stafford (Roderick) (b Kingswood, Surrey, 1937). Eng. bass. Studied RCM. Opera début, SW 1964. Prin. bass SW Opera Co. 1964--70. CG début 1969. Many appearances at Glyndebourne, Munich, WNO, Scottish Opera etc.

Dean, Winton (Basil) (b Birkenhead, 1916). Eng. mus. scholar and writer. Educated King's Coll., Cambridge. Authority and author of books on Bizet, Handel, and other composers. His Handel's Dramatic Oratorios and Masques (1959) is a major work of scholarship.

Dearnley, Christopher (Hugh) (b Wolverhampton, 1930). Eng. organist. Studied Oxford Univ. 1948--52 with Rubbra and H. K. Andrews. Ass. org. Salisbury Cath. 1954, org. from 1957. Org., St Paul's Cath. from 1968. Authority on church mus. of late 17th and early 18th cents.

Deas, (James) Stewart (b Edinburgh, 1903). Scottish teacher, writer, cond., and organist. Studied Edinburgh Univ. and with Tovey; in Berlin, 1926--8, and in Basle with Weingartner. Cond. Edinburgh Opera Co. 1931--3. Dir. of mus., S. African Coll. of Mus. and prof. of mus. Capetown Univ. 1936--8. Prof. of mus., Sheffield Univ. 1948--69. Founded Sheffield Bach Soc. 1950. Mus. critic at various times for Glasgow Evening Times, The Scotsman and Country Life. Wrote book In Defence of Hanslick.

Death and the Maiden. (Der Tod und das Mädchen). Song (D531) comp. by Schubert in Feb. 1817, a setting of poem by Matthias Claudius (1740--1815). The theme of the pf. introduction to the song was used again by Schubert in 1824 in his Str. Qt. No.14 in D minor (D810) where it is the theme for the 2nd movement set of variations.

Death and Transfiguration (Strauss). See Tod und Verklärung.

Death in Venice. Opera in 2 acts by Britten, Op. 88, to lib. by Myfanwy Piper based on Thomas Mann's novella, Der Tod in Venedig (1912). F.p. Aldeburgh 16 June 1973, CG 18 Oct. 1973. NY Met. 1974. Orch. suite arr. S. Bedford, Aldeburgh 1984.

Debain, Alexandre Fran;alcois (b Paris, 1809; d Paris, 1877). Fr. manufacturer of kbd. instr. Est. factory 1834. Invented harmonium (c.1842), antiphonal (1846), and harmonicorde (1851).

De Bériot. See Bériot, Charles August de.

Deborah. Oratorio by Handel to lib. by S. Humphreys, after Judges V. Mus. taken partly from earlier works. F.p. London 1733.

DeBurgos, Rafael Frühbeck. See Frühbeck de Burgos, Rafael.

Debussy, Achille-Claude (b St Germain-en-Laye, 1862; d Paris, 1918). Fr. composer and critic. As a child he had little formal education but his mus. tendencies were channelled into pf. lessons, those with Verlaine's mother-in-law, Mme Mauté de Fleurville, leading to his entry into the Paris Cons. in 1872. His reputation there was that of an erratic pianist and a recalcitrant in matters of harmony and theory. In 1880 and 1881 he went for summer employment to Russia as pianist to Tchaikovsky's patron, Mme von Meck. Failing to win the Prix de Rome in 1883, he succeeded in 1884 with the cantata L'Enfant prodigue. He spent 2 years at the Villa Medici, Rome, where he met Liszt, Verdi, and Boito, and heard Lohengrin. He went to the Bayreuth fests. of 1888 and 1889, but an even greater mus. influence was that of hearing the Javanese gamelan at the 1889 Paris Exposition. Other influences of these years were his friendship with the painters of what became known as the 'Impressionist' movement and, even more important, with writers and poets such as Mallarmé and the 'symbolists'. But after 1889 he could not share the symbolists' idolatry of Wagner, recognising his greatness but also the fact that he represented a 'dead end' for other composers. He cultivated a distinctively Fr. mus. outlook, eventually styling himself 'musicien français'. Other significant events in his life were his study in 1889 of the score of Boris Godunov and his acquaintance from 1891 with Erik Satie. In 1893 Debussy began work on an opera based on Maeterlinck's play Pelléas et Mélisande, a task that was to occupy him for nearly 10 years. In 1893 his str. qt. was perf., and in 1894 his orch. Prélude à l'après-midi d'un Faune caused a scandal because of its alleged 'formlessness'. He followed this with his 3 Nocturnes, orig. planned for solo vn. and orch., perf. 1900 and 1901. They are ded. to Rosalie (Lily) Texier, whom he married in 1899 but deserted 5 years later for Mme Emma Bardac, a singer and wife of a banker. They married in 1905, the year in which the symphonic sketches La Mer were f.p. Pelléas had been successfully prod. at the Opéra-Comique in 1902, to the fury of Maeterlinck who publicly wished it 'emphatic failure'. Debussy's remaining orch. works were the set of 3 Images comp. between 1905 and 1912, and the ballet Jeux for Diaghilev (1913). In 1910 he developed cancer and was a semi-invalid when war broke out in 1914. He wrote some mus. inspired by patriotic sentiments and completed 3 sonatas before his death. Debussy was among the greatest and most important of 20th-cent. composers both by reason of his own achievement and by the paths he opened for others to explore, hence the homage to him paid by later composers such as Boulez, Messiaen, Webern, Bartók, Stravinsky, and many others. His use of block chords, of harmony with a modal flavour and based on the whole-tone scale, the delicate colours of his orchestration, his technique of 'layering' sounds, the declamatory yet wholly lyrical style of his vocal writing, especially in Pelléas, all proclaim him an innovator of the first degree who revolutionized comp. for the pf. and for the orch. In general Debussy's effects are understated, his aim being for a 'sonorous halo' of sound. But the label of 'impressionist', while accurate, has tended to obscure the strong sense of form which underlies all his works.

Prin. comps.:

stage: Pelléas et Mélisande (opera, 1893--5, 1901--2); Jeux (ballet, 1912--13); Khamma (ballet, 1911--12, orch. Koechlin, 1912--13); La boîte à joujoux (children's ballet, 1913, orch. Caplet); incidental mus. to King Lear (1904); incidental mus. for Le Martyre de Saint Sébastien by D'Annunzio (1911); La Chute de la Maison Usher (1908--17, unfin. opera).

orch.: Printemps (1887); Prélude à L'Après-midi d'un faune (1892--4); 3 Nocturnes (1897--9); La Mer (1903--5); 3 Images (1905--12); Fantaisie for pf. and orch. (1889); Rhapsodie for sax. and orch. (1901--8); Danse sacrée et danse profane for harp and str. (1904); Berceuse héroïque (1914, also for pf.).

piano: 2 Arabesques (1888--91); Suite bergamasque (1890, rev. 1905); Pour le Piano (1896--1901); Estampes (1903); L'Ile joyeuse (1904); Images I (1905), Images II (1907); Children's Corner (1906--08); 12 Préludes, Book I (1910), Book II (1912--13); 12 Études (Books I and II, 1915).

piano duet: Petite Suite (1886--9); Marche écossaise (1891) (orch. version by Debussy); 6 Épigraphes antiques (1914).

two pianos: Lindaraja (1901); En blanc et noir (1915).

chamber music: Str. Qt. (1893); Première rapsodie for cl. and pf. (1901--8); Syrinx for fl. (1913); Vc. sonata (1915); Sonata for fl., va., and harp (1915); vn. sonata (1916--17).

songs: Mandoline (1880--3); Cinq poèmes de Baudelaire (1887--9); Ariettes oubliées (1888); Fêtes galantes I (1882, rev. 1891--2) and II (1904); Proses lyriques (1892--3); Chansons de Bilitis (1897--8); Trois ballades de Villon (1910) (also with orch. acc.); Trois ballades de Mallarmé (1913).

choral: L'Enfant prodigue, cantata for sop., ten., bar., ch., orch. (1884, rev. 1906--8); La Damoiselle élue (The Blessed Damozel) cantata for sop., women's ch., and orch. (1887--8, re-orch. 1902); 3 Chansons de Charles d'Orléans for unacc. SATB (1898--1908).

arrangements: Orch. of 2 of Satie's Gymnopédies 1896; pf. transcrs. of Wagner, Schumann, Gluck, Raff, Saint-Saëns, and Tchaikovsky.

Début (Fr.). Beginning. First public appearance.

Decani (Lat.). Of the dean, i.e. that side of the choir of a cath., etc., on which the Dean sits, now normally the south side. In church mus., passages marked decani must be taken by the singers on that side. See also cantoris.

Deceptive cadence. Same as Interrupted cadence, i.e. chord of the dominant followed by that of submediant.

Decibel. Logarithmic unit which expresses difference between different intensities of sound-levels or differently-powered electric signals.

Décidé (Fr.), deciso (It.). Decided. With decision (i.e. firmly, not flabbily). So the It. superlative, decisissimo.

Decimette. A comp. for 10 performers.

Decoration Day. 2nd movement of Ives's New England Holidays for orch., sometimes played separately. Comp. 1912.

Decrescendo; decresciuto (It.). Decreasing, decreased, i.e. getting gradually softer.

Decsényi, János (b Budapest, 1927). Hung. composer. Studied Budapest Cons. and Acad. On staff Hung. radio from 1951. Works incl. ballets, cantatas, and chamber mus.

Dedler, Rochus (b Oberammergau, 1779; d Vienna, 1882). Ger. composer of the Passion Play mus. used at Oberammergau.

Deering (Dering), Richard (b Kent, c. 1580; d London, 1630). Eng. composer and organist. Studied in It. Pubd. some of oldest known comps. with basso continuo (Antwerp 1597). Org., Eng. nuns' convent in Brussels 1617. Org. at court of Charles I 1625. Comps. incl. anthems, motets, mus. for viols, and choral pieces based on London street cries.

De Fabritiis, Oliviero (Carlo) (b Rome, 1902; d Rome, 1982). It. conductor and composer. Studied Rome Cons. Début Rome 1920. Worked in Salerno and Rome, then was art. secretary Rome Opera House 1932--43. In 1938 began summer perfs. at Baths of Caracalla. Cond. many opera perfs. in which Gigli sang. Brit. début Edinburgh Fest. 1963 (San Carlo co. in Adriana Lecouvreur). CG début 1965 (Simon Boccanegra). Comp. songs and other vocal mus.

Défauw, Désiré (b Ghent, 1885; d Gary, Ind., 1960). Amer. (Belg.-born) violinist and cond. London début 1910. Formed Allied Str. Qt. (which incl. L. Tertis) 1914--18. Prof. at Antwerp Cons. Cond. Défauwconcerts and Brussels Cons. orch. (1926--40). Est. Orchestre nationale de Belgique 1937. Went to USA 1939. Cond., Chicago S.O. 1943--7. Returned to Belgium 1949 but then went back to USA as cond. Gary S.O. 1950--8.

De Fesch, William (b Alkmaar, 1687; d London, ?1757). Flemish composer, organist, cellist, and violinist. Choirmaster, Antwerp, 1725--31. Settled in London 1733. Wrote oratorios, masses, concs., and songs.

De Gaetani, Jan (b Massillon, Ohio, 1933). Amer. mez. Studied Juilliard Sch., making NY début 1958. Specialist in contemporary mus. Gave f.ps. of Crumb's Ancient Voices of Children (1970) and Maxwell Davies's Stone Litany (1973). Teacher at Eastman Sch., Rochester.

Degeyter. See Internationale.

Degree. A note's classification regarding its position in the scale. When a note is 3 degrees from another, the interval separating them is a 4th. The notes of the major scale are called the 1st, 2nd, etc. degrees of the scale, returning to the first degree. Alternative names for the 7 degrees are tonic, supertonic, mediant, subdominant, dominant, submediant, and leading-note.

De Greef, Arthur. See Greef, Arthur de.

Degrees and Diplomas in Music. (1)

british university degrees. The degrees in music given by Brit. and Irish universities are Bachelor ('B.Mus.' or 'Mus.B.') Master of Music (M.Mus.), and Doctor ('D.Mus.' or 'Mus.D'). Universities which confer a M.Mus. degree are Birmingham, Bristol, Cambridge, Durham, East Anglia, Edinburgh, London, Newcastle upon Tyne, and Surrey. In several universities it is possible to obtain by research in musical subjects the degree of Litt.M., Litt.B., Litt.D., Ed.M., and Ph.D. (or M.Litt., B.Litt., D.Litt., M.Ed., and D.Phil.)---Bachelor and Doctor of Letters, and Doctor of Philosophy. At Reading, music may be studied with physics for B.Sc. By an old custom dating from the 13th cent., the Archbishop of Canterbury (by virtue of his former office of Legate of the Pope) has the power to grant degrees, and he sometimes exercises this power by conferring the doctorate of music. These degrees are known as 'Canterbury Degrees' (D.Mus. Cantuar.) or (from the Archbishop's London palace, from which they are issued) 'Lambeth Degrees'. Various universities in the Commonwealth confer musical degrees, their requirements being not so much standardized as those of British universities. At some Brit. universities music can now be taken as one of the subjects for a degree in Arts. Through the Council for National Academic Awards, some polytechnics and colleges of technology award a B.A. degree for music. (2) diplomas. The diploma-conferring bodies in the list now to be given are recognized as genuine public bodies. Their diplomas are usually graded as follows: (a) Associateship, (b) Licentiate ship (not always present), (c) Fellowship. This is not quite invariable, however; for instance, the Royal Academy of Music confers Licentiate ship upon external or internal candidates. Fellowship is reserved by some institutions as a purely honorary distinction.

royal academy of music (founded 1822). F.R.A.M. (limited to 150 distinguished past students); Hon. R.A.M. (honorary members); A.R.A.M.; L.R.A.M. (open to non-students and with the differentiation, 'teacher' or 'performer');

special diploma of the Teachers' Training Course.

royal college of music (founded 1883, succeeding the National Training Coll. of Music, founded 1873). F.R.C.M. (honorary, limited to 50); Hon. R.C.M. (distinguished non-students); Hon. A.R.C.M. (distinguished past students); A.R.C.M. by examination, open to non-students and with the differentiation, 'teacher' or 'performer'); M.Mus. R.C.M. ('Master of Music'---severe and varied tests; open to non-students); Teachers' Training Course certificate awarded to selected students from certain colleges for a 1-year course.

associated board The R.A.M. and R.C.M. combine, under the title 'Royal Schools of Music, London' with also Royal Northern College and Royal Scottish Academy), to confer in the Commonwealth the diploma, formerly known as 'L.A.B.' (Licentiate of the Associated Board), now entitled 'L.R.S.M., London'. This is the Overseas equivalent of L.R.A.M. and A.R.C.M.

royal college of organists (founded 1864), A.R.C.O.; F.R.C.O., with an additional (optional) diploma entitling the candidate to add the letters Ch.M. (i.e. 'Choirmaster'). In 1936 the Archbishop of Canterbury instituted a Diploma in Church Music to the examination for which he admits only F.R.C.O.s holding the Ch.M. diploma, who on passing his examination become A.D.C.M.s.

trinity college of music (founded 1872 and a teaching school of music in Univ. of London). A.T.C.L.; L.T.C.L.; F.T.C.L. (these in executive subjects---as Teacher or Performer); A.Mus.T.C.L.; L.Mus.T.C.L. (these in theoretical subjects). G.T.C.L.; Hon. F.T.C.L. Hon. T.C.L. (F.T.C.L. awarded also for orig. composition.)

guildhall school of music and drama (founded 1880). A.G.S.M. (internal students); L.G.S.M. (internal and external students); F.G.S.M. (honorary---limited to 100); G.G.S.M. (internal students); Hon. G.S.M. (honorary---limited to 100).

royal manchester college of music (founded 1893). A.R.M.C.M. (after a 3 years' course and examination) and F.R.M.C.M. (honorary only) also Hon.R.M.C.M. This college was amalgamated in 1972 into Royal Northern College of Music.

royal northern college of music, manchester (founded 1972, being amalgamation of R.M.C.M. and Northern School of Music). G.Mus.R.N.C.M.; G.R.N.C.M.; P.P.R.N.C.M. (Professional Performance Course).

birmingham school of music (founded 1887). A.B.S.M.; A.B.S.M. (T.T.D.), Teacher's Training Diploma; L.B.S.M.; G.B.S.M. (after Graduate Course); F.B.S.M. (honorary).

royal scottish academy of music (founded 1929). Dip. R.S.A.M. and (in musical education) Dip.Mus.Ed. R.S.A.M. (both after a full course in the Academy and examination).

london college of music. (Founded 1887). Diplomas include A.L.C.M., L.L.C.M., F.L.C.M., G.L.C.M. A.Mus.L.C.M., L.Mus.L.C.M.

royal military school of music (Kneller Hall). Graduation is indicated by the letters p.s.m., meaning 'passed school of music'. [smbandsman's college of music[nm. This examining body was instituted in 1931 with unpaid officials and described as 'The National Institutions of the Brass Band Movement'. It awards, after examination, 3 diplomas, B.B.C.M. ('Bandmaster'), A.B.C.M., and L.B.C.M.

overseas schools of music. Some of the universities in different parts of the Commonwealth, having schools of music attached, grant a diploma. The Royal Canadian College of Organists grants diplomas of A.R.C.C.O. and F.R.C.C.O. ^(3)

american degrees. The number of universities, colleges, schools of music, etc., conferring music degrees is well over 700, of which over half are at bachelor level only. The oldest undergraduate degrees are B.A. and B.Mus. Many musiccourses are for 4 years, most of them involving practical work such as conducting. Degrees in theory, musicology, and performance in some universitiesare Master of Music (M.M.) and Master of Music Education (M.M.E.). There are also D.M.A. (Doctor of Musical Arts) and M.M.A. (4)

american diplomas. The U.S.A., fortunately, does not possess the bewildering variety of diploma-conferring institutions of Britain, nor are alphabetical distinctions ofany kind so much valued. The Amer. Guild of Organists (1896) confers diplomas of Associateship and Fellowship---A.A.G.O. and F.A.G.O.: when the examination as choirmaster is passed the letters Ch.M. may be added.

Degrigny, Nicolas. See Grigny, Nicolas de.

Dehors (Fr.). (1) Outside, as in en dehors, from the outside. (2) Prominent. Applied musically to a melody which the composer intends to be particularly prominent.

Deidamia. Opera in 3 acts by Handel (his last), to lib. by Rolli. Comp. 1740, prod. London 1741. Revived London 1955 and subsequently in Ger.

Deirdre of the Sorrows. (1) Opera by Karl Rankl, based on Synge's play, which won Fest. of Britain prize, 1951, but was not prod. (2) Lyric drama in 1 act by John J. Becker (1945).

Dekany, Béla (b Budapest, 1928). Hung.-born violinist. Studied Franz Liszt Acad. of Mus., Budapest, and Vienna Acad. of Mus. Début Budapest 1947. Formed Dekany Qt. in Holland 1960. Leader, BBC S.O. from 1969.

De Koven, Henry Louis Reginald (b Middletown, Conn., 1859; d Chicago, 1920). Amer. composer and cond. Family moved to Eng. in 1872 and he studied at Oxford, Stuttgart, Vienna, and Paris (with Delibes). Returned to USA where he became successful composer of light operas, mus. critic, and founder and cond. of Washington P.O. (1902--5). Wrote 2 operas, The Canterbury Pilgrims (NY Met. 1917) and Rip Van Winkle (Chicago and NY 1920). Operettas incl. Don Quixote (1889) and Robin Hood (1890). Comp. over 400 songs, pf. sonata, and ballets.

Delage, (Charles) Maurice (b Paris, 1879; d Paris, 1961). Fr. composer, pupil of Ravel. Student of Indian mus. and wrote Quatre poèmes hindous for v. and orch. Orch. version of Debussy's Chansons de Bilitis 1926.

Delalande, Michel Richard. See Lalande, Michelde.

Delannoy, Marcel Fran;alcois Georges (b La Ferté-Alain, 1898; d Nantes, 1962). Fr. composer. Trained as architect, self-taught in mus. but helped and advised by Honegger. Comp. operas, ballet, ballet-cantatas, 2 syms., str. qt., pf. conc.

de Lara, Isidore. See Lara, Isidore de.

Delibes, (Clément Philibert) Léo (b St Germain-du-Val, nr. Le Mans, 1836; d Paris, 1891). Fr. composer and organist. Studied at Paris Cons. 1848--52. Became accompanist at Théâtre Lyrique, 1853. First operetta, Deux Sous de Charbon, 1855, led to series of popular short works in this genre. 2nd chorusmaster at Opéra 1865. Wrote ballets Coppélia (1870) and Sylvia (1876), and 3 works for the Opéra Comique, Le Roi l'a dit (1873), Jean de Nivelle (1880), and Lakmé (1883). A 4-act opera, Kassya, was left unfinished, completed by Massenet, and staged 1893. Wrote incidental mus. for Le Roi s'amuse (1882) and 15 songs, best-known being Les Filles de Cadiz. Org., St Jean-St Fran;alcois, 1862--71. Prof. of comp., Paris Cons. 1881. Name frequently misspelt 'Délibes'.

Delicato (It.). Delicate. So delicatamente delicately; delicatissimo, as delicately as possible; delicatezza, delicacy.

Délié (Fr.). Untied. (1) The notes separated from each other, i.e. staccato. (2) Unconstrained in style. (3) Supple (fingers).

Delirio (It.). Frenzy. So delirante, frenzied.

Delius, Fritz later [fy65,3]Frederick (Theodor Albert) (b Bradford, Yorks., 1862; d Grez-sur-Loing, Fr., 1934). Eng. composer, 4th of 14 children of a Ger. couple who had settled in Eng. to engage in the wool trade. The father, Julius Delius, was a mus. lover, helping to organize Hallé concerts in Bradford and entertaining musicians like Joachim and Piatti in his home, but implacably opposed to mus. as a career for his son, despite Fritz's talent and aptitude. The youth tried to accede to his father's wishes by entering business, but he had no gift for textile commerce and in 1884 went to Florida to manage an orange-plantation at Solano Grove. The oranges were neglected while Delius studied mus. with Thomas F. Ward, a Jacksonville organist. A year later he himself set up as a vn. teacher first in Jacksonville, then at Danville, Virginia, eventually taking an organist's post in NY. The Negro melodies he heard in Florida deeply influenced him, as can be heard in Appalachia. By now his father was prepared to allow him to enter the Leipzig Cons. (1888). Academic tuition held no attractions, however, and Delius went to live in the Paris of the 90s where his circle incl. Gauguin, Ravel, Munch, and Strindberg. Already, on a holiday in Norway in 1887, he had become a close friend of Grieg and deeply attached to Scandinavian life and literature. His Florida suite was perf. privately in Leipzig, 1888. While in Paris he comp. an opera, The Magic Fountain (1894--5, f.p. BBC studio broadcast 1977), songs, the first Vn. Sonata, the tone-poem Over the Hills and Far Away (begun c.1893), and another opera, Koanga (1896--7). In 1899 a concert of his works was given in London which encouraged him to complete his orch. nocturne Paris: the Song of a Great City. This was perf. at Elberfeld, 1901, cond. by Hans Haym and a year later in Berlin under Busoni. Haym also cond. f.p. of the Pf.

Conc., in Elberfeld 1904, with Julius Buths as soloist. Haym, together with Fritz Cassirer, was Delius's earliest champion, being followed some years later in England by Wood and, in particular, Beecham. Until about 1904 Delius pubd. his works under the name Fritz Delius. From 1897, Delius lived at Grez-sur-Loing, near Fontainebleau with the artist Jelka Rosen, whom he married in 1903. From 1900 to 1902 he worked on 2 operas, A Village Romeo and Juliet, and Margot-la-Rouge, and revised Appalachia (begun c.1896). His reputation in Ger. was greater at this time than in his native land but the balance was corrected from 1907 with f.ps. in England of a series of works: 1907: Pf. Conc. (London, soloist, Szanto, cond. Wood); 1908: Paris (Liverpool, cond. Beecham), Life's Dance (first version) (London, cond. Arbós), Brigg Fair (Liverpool, cond. Bantock), Sea Drift (Sheffield, cond. Wood); 1909: A Mass of Life (London, cond. Beecham), In a Summer Garden (first version) (London, cond. Delius), Dance Rhapsody No. 1 (Hereford, cond. Delius). In 1908--10 he comp. his last opera Fennimore and Gerda, prod. Frankfurt 1919. During the 1914--18 war he left Grez for Eng. for a time, composing Dance Rhapsody No. 2, vn. sonata, vc. sonata, conc. for vn. and vc., str. qt., vn. conc., Eventyr, and a Requiem (text by H. Simon) `dedicated to the memory of all young artists fallen in the war'. This last work was perf. in 1922 and was so savagely criticized for its `atheism' that it remained unperf. again for over 40 years. Shortly after the war he wrote a vc.conc. and the incidental mus. to Flecker's play Hassan (1923). In 1922 Delius developed the first signs of progressive paralysis, said to have resulted from syphilis contracted in Paris in 1890s, although medical research has cast doubt on this theory. Four years later he became blind and helpless. From 1928 he was enabled to continue composing through the assistance of a young Yorkshire musician, Eric Fenby, who offered his services as amanuensis. Among the works comp. in this period were A Song of Summer, the 3rd vn. sonata, Songs of Farewell, Fantastic Dance, and an Idyll based on material from Margot-la-Rouge. In 1929 Delius was made a C.H. and went to London to attend a fest. of 6 concerts of his mus. organized by Beecham. He died 5 years later, being buried at Grez, but in May 1935 was reinterred at Limpsfield, Surrey. Delius's mus. is chromatic in harmony and belongs in form and spirit to the post-Wagnerian world of Chausson, Debussy, Strauss, and Mahler. He is par excellence the composer-poet of regret for time past, of the transience of human love, but there is also a vigorous ecstatic elation in sections of A Mass of Life and the Song of the High Hills. Though he despised the classical procedures, his sonatas and concs. succeed because of the way in which he adapted his rhapsodic manner to suit his own version of sonata form. The exquisite orch. scoring of such short works as On hearing the first cuckoo in spring and the intermezzo, Walk to the Paradise Garden, from A Village Romeo and Juliet, have ensured him a regular place in the Eng. repertory, and his songs and unacc. choral works are also very fine. Prin. works:

operas: Irmelin (1890--2); The Magic Fountain (1894--5, rev. 1898); Koanga (1896--7, rev. 1898); A Village Romeo and Juliet (1900--1); Margot-la-Rouge (1901--2); Fennimore and Gerda (1908--10).

orch: Florida Suite (1886--7, rev. 1889); Sleigh Ride; Marche Caprice (1888; Sleigh Ride orch. 1889, Marche Caprice rev. 1890); Summer Evening (1890); Paa Vidderne (On the Mountains), sym.-poem (1890--1, rev. 1892); Over the Hills and Far Away (?1893--7); La Calinda (from Koanga, 1896--7, arr. Fenby 1938); Life's Dance (1899, rev. 1901 and 1912); Paris: the Song of a Great City (1899); Appalachia (with ch. and bar.) (1896; 1902--3); Intermezzo: Walk to the Paradise Garden (1906, addition to A Village Romeo and Juliet); Brigg Fair: an English Rhapsody (1907); In a Summer Garden (1908, rev. 1913); Dance Rhapsody No. 1 (1908), No. 2 (1916); 2 Mood Pictures for small orch.: On hearing the first cuckoo in spring (1911--13), Summer Night on the River (1911); North Country Sketches (1913--14); Air and Dance, str. (1915); Eventyr (1917); 2 Aquarelles (arr. for str. by Fenby, 1938, from 2 unacc. ch. 1917); A Song before Sunrise (1918); A Song of Summer (1930); Fantastic Dance (1931); Prelude to Irmelin (1931).

voices and orch.: Maud (Tennyson), song cycle for v. and orch. (1891), Appalachia (1896; 1902--3), Zarathustra's Night Song, bar., male ch., orch. (1898), Sea Drift for bar., ch., and orch. (1903--4), A Mass of Life for SATB soloists, double ch., and orch. (1904--5), Cynara for bar. and orch. (1907, rev. 1928--9), Songs of Sunset for mez., bar., ch., and orch. (1906--8), Song of the High Hills for ch. and orch. (1911), Arabesk for bar., ch., and orch. (1911), Requiem for sop., bar., ch., and orch. (1914--16), A Late Lark (Henley) for v. and orch. (1921--5), Songs of Farewell for double ch. and orch. (1930), Idyll: Once I passed through a populous city for sop., bar., and orch. (1930--2).

incidental music: Folkeraadet (Parliament), play by G. Heiberg (1897); Hassan, play by James Elroy Flecker (1920--3).

melodrama: Paa Vidderne, speaker and orch. (poem by Ibsen, 1859--60, set to Ger. trans., Auf dem Hochgebirge, by L. Passarge). Comp. 1888.

voice(s) and piano: 5 Songs from the Norwegian (1888), 7 Songs from the Norwegian (1889--90, No. 3 with Eng. words, 1930, known as Twilight Fancies), 3 English Songs (Shelley) (1891), 2 Songs (Verlaine) (1895), 7 Danish Songs (1897), 5 Songs (4 to poems by Nietzsche) (1898), 2 Songs (1900), Summer Landscape (1902), The nightingale has a lyre of gold (Henley) (1910), I-Brasil (1913), On Craig Dhu (1907), Midsummer Song (1908), Wanderer's Song (1908), To be sung of a summer night on the water (unacc.) (1917, arr. for str. by Fenby as 2 Aquarelles, 1938), The Splendour Falls (unacc.) (1923).

concertos: Pf. (first version in 3 movements 1897, rev. 1898; rev. in 1 movement 1906--7), Vn. and vc. (1915, f.p. 1920, arr. for vn. and va. by Tertis 1934--5), Vn. (1916, f.p. 1919 Sammons, Boult), Vc. (1921, f.p. 1923 Frankfurt), Caprice and Elegy for vc. and chamber orch. (1930, also for vc. and pf. or va. and pf. 1931), Suite (incl. Pastorale) for vn. and orch. (1888), Légende for vn. and orch. (1895).

chamber music: Str. Qt. (1916, scherzo added 1919, incorp. themes from abandoned 1888 str. qt. 3rd movement, Late Swallows, arr. for str. by Fenby 1963, other 3 movements 1977 with title Sonata for Strings); Vn. Sonata (1892, unpubd.), No. 1 (1905--14, f.p. 1915), No. 2 (f.p. 1924, arr. for va. by Tertis), No. 3 (1930, arr. for va. by Tertis); Vc. Sonata (1916).

piano: Zum Carnival (1886), 3 Preludes (1923), 5 Pieces (1923).

Della Casa, Lisa (b Burgdorf, nr. Berne, 1919). Swiss sop. Studied singing at 15 in Zürich with Margarete Haeser. Début Solothurn-Biel 1941 as Butterfly, Salzburg 1947 (becoming member of Vienna State Opera), Glyndebourne 1951. Noted in Vienna, London, and NY for Mozart and especially for R. Strauss (Arabella, Der Rosenkavalier, and the Four Last Songs).

Deller, Alfred (George) (b Margate, 1912; d Bologna, 1979). Eng. counterten. Trained in parish church choir, but self-trained when he found he was true counterten. Lay clerk Canterbury Cath. 1940--7; joined St Paul's Cath. Choir 1947. Soloist at Morley College concerts cond. Tippett. Formed Deller Consort 1950 for authentic perf. of baroque mus. Deller's artistry almost solely responsible for revival of counterten. v. and its use in Purcell, Handel, Monteverdi, etc. Created role of Oberon in Britten's Midsummer Night's Dream, 1960. O.B.E. 1970. Son Mark Deller (b St. Leonards, 1938) is also counterten.

Dello Joio, Norman (b NY, 1913). Amer. composer, pianist, and organist. Son of NY organist and choirmaster, was influenced from childhood by Gregorian chant and It. opera. Studied Inst. of Mus. Art 1936 and Juilliard Sch. 1939--41. Pupil of Wagenaar and Hindemith (1940--1). Organist, St Ann's Church, NY, 1934--40. Mus. dir. Loring Dance Players 1941--3. Prof. of comp., Mannes Coll. 1956--72, prof. of mus., Boston Univ. from 1972. His mus. is noted for melodic content rather than for adventurous technique, and he displays a natural gift for opera and ballet (several works for Martha Graham). Prin. works incl.:

operas: The Ruby (1953), The Trial at Rouen (1955, rev. 1958 as The Triumph of St Joan), Blood Moon (1961).

orchestral: Sinfonietta (1940), To a Lone Sentry (1943), Concert Music (1945), Serenade (1948), New York Profiles (1949), Air Power (1957), Five Images (1967), Homage to Haydn (1969), Satiric Dances, band (1975), Colonial Variations (1976).

ballets: On Stage! (1946), Diversion of Angels (1948), The Triumph of St Joan (1951, rev. as Seraphic Dialogue, 1955), Time of Snow (1968).

concertos: Fl. and str. (1939), 2 pf. (1941), harmonica (1944), harp (1945), concertante for cl. (1949), Fantasy and Variations for pf. (1961), Lyric Fantasies, va. and str. (1973), Notes from Tom Paine, pf. and band (1975).

choral: Mystic Trumpeter (1943), Psalm of David (1950), Song of Affirmation (1952), Prayers of Cardinal Newman (1960), Songs of Walt Whitman (1966), Mass (1968), Evocations (1970), Mass (1976).

chambermusic: Vc. Sonata (1937), Vn. Sonata (1938), Trio (1944); also 3 pf. sonatas (1943, 1944, 1948), songs, and incidental mus. for TV.

Del Mar, Norman (René) (b Hampstead, 1919). Eng. cond. and hn.-player. Studied RCM. Hn.-player in Beecham's RPO, becoming ass. cond. 1947--8. Founded Chelsea S.O. 1944, giving perfs. of works then little known in Eng., e.g. Busoni's pf. conc. and Mahler's 2nd Sym. Prin. cond. EOG 1948--56. Cond. Yorkshire S.O. 1954--5. Cond. BBC Scottish S.O. 1960--5. Prof. GSM 1952--60. Guest cond. of leading orchs. Cond. f.p. of Britten's Let's Make an Opera, 1949. Author of 3-vol. survey of mus. of R. Strauss. C.B.E. 1975. His son Jonathan (b London, 1951) is also a cond.

Del Monaco, Mario (b Florence, 1915; d Mestre, Venice, 1982). It. ten. Sang in opera at Mondalfo at age of 13. Mainly self-taught. Début Pesaro 1939, Milan 1941 (Pinkerton), CG 1946 (with San Carlo co.), NY Met. 1950--8. Verdi's Otello among his prin. roles.

De Los Angeles, Victoria (Victoria Gomez Cima) (b Barcelona, 1923). Sp. sop. Studied Barcelona Cons. Début while student in Monteverdi's Orfeo. Sang Countess in Figaro, Barcelona 1945. Winner Geneva int. fest. 1947. Eng. début, BBC 1949 in Falla's La Vida breve. CG 1950, NY 1950. Notable interpreter of Mimi, Butterfly, Carmen, Dido, etc., also of Mozart and Wagner roles.

Delsarte, Francois Alexandre Nicolas Chéri (b Solesmes, 1811; d Paris, 1871). Fr. ten. and singing teacher. Created system known as 'Delsarte method' by which singers were taught to match the emotion of the text with their facial expression (a method prone to unfortunate distortion).

Del Tredici, David (b Cloverdale, Calif., 1937). Amer. composer and pianist. Studied at Berkeley and NY. Turned to comp. 1958, encouraged by Milhaud. Studied with Sessions. Works incl: Night Conjure-Verse, 2 Joyce poems for sop., mez. or counteren., wind, and str. qt. (1965); Syzgy, 2 Joyce poems for sop., hn., and chamber orch. (1966); The Last Gospel, amplified sop., rock group, ch., and orch. (1967); Pot-Pourri, amplified sop., rock group, ch., and orch. (1968); The Lobster Quadrille, extract from In Wonderland for folk group and orch. (1969, rev. 1974); Vintage Alice, text from L. Carroll, amplified sop., folk group, and chamber orch. (1972); Adventures Underground (Carroll), amplified sop., folk group, and orch. (1973); In Wonderland (Carroll) Part I, A Scene with Lobsters, amplified sop., folk group, and orch. (1969--74), Part II, amplified sop. and orch. (1975); Final Alice (Carroll), amplified sop., folk group, and orch. (1976); Annotated Alice, amplified sop., folk group, and orch. (1976); Child Alice, orch., in 4 parts: In memory of a summer day, Happy Voices, All in the golden afternoon, and Quaint Events (1977--81, f.p. Aspen 1984).

De Luca, Giuseppe (b Rome, 1876; d NY, 1950). It. bar. Studied Rome. Début Piacenza 1897. La Scala, Milan, 1903--10, creating role of Sharpless in Madama Butterfly. CG début 1907. NY Met. 1915--35 and 1939--40. First Gianni Schicchi 1918. Became teacher at Juilliard Sch. NY, and gave last NY recital in Nov. 1947.

De Lucia, Fernando (b Naples, 1860; d Naples, 1925). It. tenor. Studied Naples, making opera début there 1885 in Faust. Became exponent of verismo heroes (Turiddù, Canio, etc.).

Sang in f.p. of Mascagni's L'amico Fritz (Rome, 1891). London début 1887 (Drury Lane), CG 1892. Retired 1917, but sang at Caruso's funeral, 1921. Made over 400 recordings.

Démâcher (Fr., from manche, neck). (1) To move the left hand along the neck of a str. instr. (2) To move the left hand closer to the bridge of a str. instr.

Demantius, Christoph (b Reichenberg, 1567; d Freiberg, 1643). Ger.-Bohemian composer of church mus. (incl. St John Passion for 6 vv., 1631), and quodlibets, dances, villanelles, etc. Works influenced by Italian methods.

Demessieux, Jeanne Marie-Madeleine (b Montpellier, 1921; d Paris, 1968). Fr. organist and composer. Trained Montpellier Cons. and Paris Cons., then spent 5 years studying with Marcel Dupré. First recital Paris 1946, London 1947, and Edinburgh 1948, Amer. début 1953. Won praise for remarkable powers of improvisation. Organist of Saint-Esprit, Paris, from age 12. Prof., Liège Cons., 1952. Org., Madeleine, from 1962.

Demetrio e Polibio. Opera in 2 acts by Rossini to lib. by Vincenza Mombelli. His first opera, written in 1806 when he was 14. Orch. for str. only. Prod. Bologna 1812, Manchester (RMCM) 1969.

Demi-cadence. Same as Imperfect Cadence (Half Close), i.e. chord of the tonic or other chord followed by that of dominant.

Demi-jeu (Fr.). Half-play, i.e. at half power (in org. and harmonium mus., etc.).

Demi-pause (Fr.). Half-rest, minim rest. [cm Demisemiquaver ([xf; Yd[rf].[fy75,1] The Thirty-second note, i.e. ;F1;E3;E2 the time-value of the whole-note or semibreve. See Note Values.

Demi-ton (Fr.). Semitone.

Demi-voix (Fr.). Half voice, i.e. half the vocal power (It. mezza voce).

Demus, Jörg (b St Pölten, 1928). Austrian pianist. Studied Vienna, 1940--5, and with Michelangeli, Kempff, and Giesecking. Début Vienna 1943. Foreign tours after 1947. Won Busoni Prize, Bolzano, 1956. Has collection of historical kbd. instrs.

Demuth, Norman (b S. Croydon, 1898; d Chichester, 1968). Eng. composer, cond., author, and teacher. Studied RCM. On staff of RAM from 1929. Wrote 5 operas, 4 syms., 2 pf. concs., vn. conc., va. conc., alto sax. conc., ballet Planetomania. Wrote books on Ravel, Roussel, Dukas, Franck, and Gounod.

Denhof Opera Company. Short-lived but significant body formed in 1910 by Ernst Denhof, Ger.-born resident of Edinburgh, to give provincial perfs. of Wagner's Ring in Eng. Ballingcond. f.ps. in Edinburgh, 1910, followed in 1911 by tours to Leeds, Manchester, and Glasgow, and to these cities again in 1912 plus Hull and Liverpool. Repertory by now incl. Elektra (in Eng.) and Meistersinger, with Pelléas and Rosenkavalier added in 1913, in which year co. ran into financial trouble in Manchester, being rescued and absorbed by Beecham's co. (Scotland did not hear a complete Ring cycle again until 1971.)

Denison, John (Law) (b Reigate, Surrey, 1911). Eng. hn. player and concert administrator. Trained RCM. Hn. player in BBC S.O., LPO, and CBSO 1934--9; ass. mus. dir., Brit. Council 1946--8; mus. dir., Arts Council from 1948; gen man. Royal Festival Hall, 1965--70; dir., South Bank Concert Halls 1971--6. C.B.E. 1960.

Denisov, Edison (b Tomsk, 1929). Russ. composer. Trained as mathematician but persuaded by Shostakovich to study mus. at Moscow Cons. 1951--6. Taught at Moscow Cons. from 1960. Worked at Experimental Studio of Elec. Mus., Moscow, 1968--70. Student of Russ. folk-mus. Comps. incl. conc. for fl., ob., pf., and perc.; Crescendo e Diminuendo for hpd.; Tears (Plachi) for sop., pf., 3 percussionists; Ode for cl., pf., perc.; Romantic Music for ob., harp, str. trio; str. trio; wind quintet; Peinture for orch., 2 syms., vc. conc., pf. conc., cl. sonata, and vc. sonata.

Denner, Johann Christoph (b Leipzig, 1655; d Nuremberg, 1707). Ger. instr.-maker. In attempting to improve the Fr. chalumeau he invented the clarinet c.1690. Subject of opera by Weigmann Der Klarinettenmacher (1913).

Dent, Edward (Joseph) (b Ribston, Yorks., 1876; d London, 1957). Eng. scholar, teacher, and author. Educated Eton and Cambridge. Prof. of mus., Cambridge Univ. 1926--41. Active in many Eng. operatic ventures and esp. as translator of libs. (notably for Mozart operas); his prods. of Mozart operas in his own trans. at Cambridge from 1911 contributed largely to their re-evaluation in Eng. In 1919 he helped found Brit. Mus. Soc. (disbanded 1933) and in 1922 organized a fest. of contemporary chamber mus. in Vienna from which developed the International Society for Contemporary Music. Dent became first pres., 1923-37. Ed. The Beggar's Opera, 1944. Contrib. to many encyclopaedias and dictionaries, critic, and author of books Alessandro Scarlatti (1905), Mozart's Operas (1913), and Ferruccio Busoni (1933).

Denza, Luigi (b Castellammare di Stabia, Naples, 1846; d London, 1922). It. composer, pupil of Mercadante at Naples Cons. Wrote opera and 600 popular songs, best-known being Funiculì, Funiculà, 1880, comp. for opening of Naples funicular railway. Settled in London 1879. Prof. of singing, RAM, 1898--1922.

Denzler, Robert (b Zürich, 1892; d Zürich, 1972). Swiss cond. and composer. Studied Zürich (with Andreae) and Cologne Cons. Ass. cond. Bayreuth 1911--12. Chief cond. Zürich Opera 1915--27 and 1934--47 and Berlin State Opera 1927--32. Cond. f.ps. of 2-act version of Berg's Lulu (1937) and Hindemith's Mathis der Maler (1938).

Déploration (Fr.). A poem of mourning, and therefore its musical setting. Term generally confined to Renaissance comps. written in memory of a composer, e.g. Andrieu's for Machaut, Ockeghem's for Binchois, and Josquin Després's for Ockeghem.

De profundis (Out of the depth). Psalm 129 in the Vulgate (following the Septuagint) and 130 in the Eng. Authorized and Revised versions (following the Hebrew). It is one of the 7 Penitential Psalms (see Psalm) and, attached to its traditional plainsong, has a place in the Office of the Dead of the R.C. Church. It has been set by composers many times.

Der (Ger.). (1) The (masc. sing.) (2) Of the (fem. sing.).

De Reszke, Édouard (b Warsaw, 1853; d Garnek, 1917). Polish bass, brother of Jean de Reszke. Studied Warsaw and It. Joined Paris Opéra, making début as the King in first Paris Aida cond. Verdi. London CG 1880, Chicago 1891. Stalwart of NY Met. 1891--1903. Notable in Wagner, first in It. then in Ger. (King Marke, Sachs, Hagen). Retired 1903. Orig. name Edward Mieczyslaw.

De Reszke, Jean (b Warsaw, 1850; d Nice, 1925). Polish ten., brother of Édouard de Reszke. Studied Warsaw and It. Début (as bar.), Turin and London 1874 (singing Alfonso in La Favorite). His brother persuaded him he was really a ten. and after further study from 1876 he sang Robert le Diable in Madrid 1879. After 5 fallow years he had a great success in Massenet's Hérodiade (Paris, 1884) and Le Cid (1885). Sang Faust at 500th Paris perf. in 1887 (with Édouard as Mephistopheles). CG début 1888, returning nearly every year until 1900. NY Met. 1891–1901. Late in career sang Wagner roles of Lohengrin, Walther, Tristan, and Siegfried. Retired 1902, and taught in Paris and Nice. Regarded as one of greatest operatic tenors. Orig. name Jan Mieczyslaw.

De Reszke, Joséphine (b Warsaw, 1855; d Warsaw, 1891). Polish soprano, sister of above. Début Venice 1874. Paris Opéra 1875–84. Début CG 1881 as Aida. Retired 1885 on marriage.

Dering, Richard. See Deering, Richard.

D'Erlanger, Baron Frédéric (b Paris, 1868; d London, 1943). English (naturalized) composer (of German and American parents). Studied in Paris. Wrote several operas, incl. Inez Mendo (CG 1897) and Tess (based on Hardy's novel, Naples 1906, CG 1909 with Destinn), Requiem (1931), vn. conc., and chamber music. Banker by profession and financial supporter of CG between the wars.

Dermota, Anton (b Kropa, 1910). Yugoslav tenor. Studied at Laibach and Vienna. Début Vienna 1936, appearing mainly there and at Salzburg for the rest of his career, notably in Mozart roles. Sang Florestan in Fidelio at reopening of Vienna State Opera, 1955.

Dernesch, Helga (b Vienna, 1939). Austrian soprano. Studied Vienna Conservatory. Member of Berne Opera 1961–3, Wiesbaden 1963–6, Cologne 1966–9. Bayreuth Fest. 1965–9, Salzburg Easter Fest. 1969–73. Scottish Opera début 1968 (Gutrune), later singing Leonore in Fidelio and the Marschallin. CG 1970 (Sieghlinde), Chicago 1971 (Fidelio), Vienna 1972 (Fidelio). Outstanding in Strauss and Wagner. Mezzo-soprano roles from 1979.

Des (Ger. singular; Fr. plural). Of the. Also (Ger.), the note D<sub>b</sub>.

De Sabata, Victor (b Trieste, 1892; d S. Margherita, 1967). Italian conductor and composer. Studied Milan Conservatory. Cond. Monte Carlo Opera where he cond. f.p. of Ravel's L'Enfant et les Sortilèges (1925). Cond. La Scala, Milan, 1930–57, latterly as art. dir. Cond. Bayreuth (Tristan) 1939. Took Scala Co. to CG 1950. Frequent guest cond. of concerts and opera throughout world. Wrote 2 operas, 3 symphonic poems, and other works.

De Saram, Rohan (b Sheffield, 1939). Sri Lankan cellist. Studied in Florence with Cassado and later with Casals in Puerto Rico. After European recitals made American début in NY, 1960. Settled in Eng. 1972, joining teaching staff of TCL. Wide repertory from Haydn to Xenakis, specializing in contemp. works. Cellist of Arditti String Quartet.

Descant. Like 'Faburden' a puzzling term because at different periods used with different significances, chief of which are as follows: (1) A term, usually spelt Discant, for a form of the 12th cent. part-writing known as organum. (2) A part extemporized by a singer to a non-extemporized part sung by another singer. (3) The art of composing or singing part-music. (4) The soprano part in choral music. (5) In modern hymn singing, a freely written or improvised soprano part added to a hymn tune while the tune itself is sung by the rest of the choir or by the congregation.

Descant Viol. The treble viol. See Viol.

Deses (Ger.). The note D<sub>bb</sub>.

Desiderio (It.). Desire. Hence con desiderio, longingly.

Desmond, Astra (b Torquay, 1893; d Faversham, 1973). Eng. mez. Educated Westfield College, London (B.A.), and studied singing under Blanche Marchesi. First London recital 1915. Sang title-role in Boughton's Alkestis 1922. Became notable exponent of Eng. mus., esp. Elgar and Vaughan Williams, but also sang in 12 languages and wrote books on songs of Grieg, Dvořák, Sibelius, and Schumann. Prof. of singing, RAM 1947–63. C.B.E. 1949.

Désormière, Roger (b Vichy, 1898; d Paris, 1963). Fr. cond. and composer. Studied Paris Cons. Cond. Diaghilev Ballet 1925–30. Opéra-Comique 1937, becoming mus. dir. 1944–6. Cond. Pelléas at CG 1949. Retired 1950.

Desprès (Desprez, des Pres), [fy65,3] Josquin [fy75,1] (b ?Picardy, c.1440; d Condé-sur-l'Escaut, Hainaut, 1521). Fr.-Flemish composer. Possibly a pupil of Ockeghem. From c.1459 to 1504 was in It., first as singer in Milan Cath. and employee of Sforza family. Went to Rome in 1484 in service of Cardinal Ascanio Sforza and as member of papal chapel. Became choirmaster at Ferrara, 1503. Returned to Low Countries 1504, after outbreak of plague, where he became provost of church at Condé. Regarded as most gifted and influential composer of his time. He was no radical innovator but successfully developed existing and unexplored techniques. Was particularly successful in giving dramatic emphasis to the texts he set by means of word-rhythms and imitation. Although his early masses used a cantus firmus, later ones employed parody techniques and were sometimes based on a motto theme or a series of canons. Similarly in motets he abandoned a plainchant cantus firmus in favour of imitative devices. Some of his chansons were on erotic and frivolous texts and he was one of the first to appropriate tunes from court and theatre for his serious works. His work was so popular that many forgeries were published. He wrote 18 masses (the best-known being Ave Maris Stella, L'homme armé, and Pange lingua), nearly 100 motets, and over 70 secular works.

Dessau, Paul (b Hamburg, 1894; d E. Berlin, 1979). Ger. composer and cond. Studied Klindworth-Scharwenka Cons., Berlin, 1910–12. Opera coach, Hamburg, 1913–14. Cond. Cologne Opera 1918–23, Berlin State Opera 1926. Lived in Paris 1933–9, USA 1939–45, then returned to Ger. Close assoc. of Brecht, having written incidental mus. to the plays Mutter Courage (1946), Der gute Mensch von Sezuan (1947), Mann ist Mann (1951), etc. Other works incl. 5 str. qts.; Deutsches miserere, choral work to text by Brecht; operas Die Verurteilung des Lukullus (The Trial of Lucullus, lib. by Brecht, 1949), Puntila (lib. after Brecht, 1957–9), Lancelot (1969), Einstein (1971–3); In memoriam Bertolt Brecht, for orch. (1957), Requiem für Lumumba, sop., bar., speaker, ch., and ens. (1963), 2 syms. (1926, 1934, rev. 1962), 3 Orchestermusik (1955, 1967, 1973), and many songs.

Destinn, Emmy (Ema Kittl) (b Prague, 1878; d Budejovice, 1930). Cz. sop. Trained as violinist but her vocal prowess was noticed and she studied with Marie Loewe-Destinn, whose name she adopted. Début Berlin 1898 (Santuzza) remaining at Court Opera until 1908. Sang at CG 1904–14, 1919, and NY Met. 1908–16, 1919–21. Senta in first Bayreuth Fliegende Holländer, 1901; Diemut in Strauss's Feuersnot 1901 and first Berlin Salomé 1906. First Butterfly at CG 1905 (with Caruso) and Tatyana in Eugene Onegin 1906. Created role of Minnie in Puccini's La fanciulla del West 1910. In 1914–18 war adopted name Ema Destinnová; was interned on her Bohem. estate for duration. Returned to Met. and CG 1919 as Aida. Retired from stage 1921 but sang in London at concert cond. by Wood in 1928.

Destouches, André-Cardinal (b Paris, 1672; d Paris, 1749). Fr. composer. Studied with Campra. Superintendent, Paris Opéra, 1713, dir. 1728–30. Best-known work is 3-act opera Issé, heroic pastorale prod. Fontainebleau 1697. It was one of his operas that sparked off the 'Querelle des Bouffons'.

Détaché (Fr.). Detached, i.e. Staccato. (1) Grand Détaché, Staccato with a full bow for each note. (2) Petit détaché, Staccato with the point of the bow for each note. (3) Détaché sec, same as Martelé (hammered).

Detached Console. Placed at a distance from the org. so that the player can hear the full effect as his listeners hear it. In electric orgs. such a console may be movable.

Detroit Symphony Orchestra. Founded 1914 with Weston Gales as cond. 1914--18, followed by Ossip Gabrilowitsch 1918--35. Victor Kolar and guest cons. succeeded the latter, but after difficult times the orch. disbanded 1949. Reorganized 1952, with Paul Paray as cond. 1952--63, Sixten Ehrling 1963--73, Aldo Ceccato 1973--7, Antal Dorati 1977--81; Gary Bertini 1981--3; Günther Herbig from 1984. First European tour 1979.

Dettingen Te Deum and Anthem. Comp. by Handel, to celebrate Brit. defeat of Fr. at Dettingen, nr. Frankfurt, 1743. First sung at Chapel Royal, St James's, Nov. 1743. Anthem's text begins 'The King shall rejoice'.

Deuteromelia (Gr.). 'Second honey.' 2nd coll. of Eng. rounds and catches pubd. 1609 by T. Ravenscroft. See Pammelia.

Deutsch, Otto Erich (b Vienna, 1883; d Vienna, 1967). Austro-Eng. mus. scholar and art critic. Studied in Vienna and Graz. Wrote book on Schubert 1905 and biog. 1913--14. Worked at Vienna Univ. art-history library 1909--12. Mus. lib. to A. van Hoboken 1926--35. Went to Eng. 1939, settling in Cambridge. Naturalized 1947, returned to Vienna 1952. Ed., Brit. Union Catalogue of Old Mus. 1946--50. Author of books on Handel (1955), Haydn, Schumann, and Beethoven, but his masterpieces are his books on Schubert. These incl. an edn. of all documents, pictures, and relevant material (1914, Eng. edn. 1946) and a thematic catalogue (1951, rev. by others 1978) which gave all Schubert's works D nos. Also wrote documentary biography of Mozart (1961, Eng. edn. 1963).

Deutsche Motette (German Motet). Motet by R. Strauss, Op. 62, for sop., alto, ten., and bass soloists and 16-part unacc. mixed ch., to words by Rückert, comp. 1913, rev. 1943.

Deutscher Tanz, Deutsche Tänze (Ger.). German dance(s). Peasant dance from Ger. and Switzerland, like slow waltz. Adopted particularly by Mozart and Schubert.

Deutsches Requiem, Ein (A German Requiem). Choral work, Op. 45, by Brahms for sop. and bar. soloists, ch., and orch. Comp. 1861--68, though what is now 2nd movement was comp. in 1857. So called because text is not that of the R.C. Liturgy but consists of passages selected by Brahms from Luther's trans. of the Bible. 7 movements. First 3 movements perf. Vienna, Dec. 1867. 2nd perf. Bremen Cath. 10 Apr. 1868, with 3 movements added. A month later he inserted new 5th movement, 1hr habt nun Traurigkeit, for sop., in memory of his mother, d Feb. 1865. First complete perf. Leipzig 18 Feb. 1869, cond. Reinecke.

Deutschland über Alles. (Ger. 'Germany beyond everything' or 'Germany before everything'), known also as the Deutschlandlied ('Germany Song'). A poem of aspiration for the unity of the Ger. peoples written in the period which preceded the 1848 revolutionary disturbances, by August Heinrich Hoffmann (generally called Hoffmann von Fallersleben, 1798--1874). Sung to the tune Haydn wrote (or adapted, for there is a similar tune in Telemann) as Austrian national anthem, the Emperor's Hymn. Nat. anthem of German Fed. Republic from 1922 until 1945. Reinstated 1950 with 3rd verse ('Einigkeit und Recht und Freiheit', 'Unity and Right and Freedom') replacing the 1st with its controversial reference to 'über Alles'.

Deux (Fr.). Two. À deux, for 2 vv. or instr., or (sometimes) short for 'À deux temps'. In orch. mus., however, this expression has 2 opposite meanings: (a) 2 separate instr. parts are now merged in 1 line of mus.; (b) 1 instr. part is now divided, the players becoming 2 bodies.

Deux Journées, Les (The Two Days). Opera in 3 acts by Cherubini to lib. by J.-N. Bouilly. Generally known in Britain as The Water Carrier, and in Ger. as Der Wasserträger. Prod. Paris 1800, London 1801, New Orleans 1811.

Deux Pigeons, Les (The Two Pigeons). Ballet in 3 acts by Messager, lib. by H. Régnier and Mérante, choreog. Mérante. Prod. Paris 1886. Newversion choreog. Ashton, London 1961.

Deux temps (Fr.). Two beats (1) In  $\frac{2}{2}$  time. (2) Valse à deux temps has the following varied meanings; (a) In normal Waltz ( $\frac{3}{4}$ ) time with 2 dance steps to a measure, on the first and 3rd beats; (b) In  $\frac{6}{4}$  or  $\frac{6}{8}$  time, with steps on the first and 4th 'beats'; (c) Having 2 values of beat, as in Gounod's Faust where 2 waltzes are combined, one of them in  $\frac{3}{4}$  time and the other in  $\frac{3}{2}$ , 2 measures of the  $\frac{3}{4}$  being heard against 1 measure of the  $\frac{3}{2}$  and thus rhythmically conflicting.

Development (also called Free Fantasia, or Working-out. Fr. Développement; Ger. Durchführung, i.e. 'Through-leading'; It. Svolgimento, i.e. 'Unfolding'). The treatment of the detailed phrases and motifs of a previously heard theme ('subject') in such a way as to make new passages, often of a modulatory nature. The second section of sonata form, coming between exposition and recapitulation, is the development. With the expansion of the symphony, the development section became increasingly complex and important. Beethoven departs from convention in his 3rd Symphony by introducing new thematic material in this section. There is also a development in fugue.

Devienne, Fran<sup>ç</sup>ois (b Joinville, 1759; d Charenton, 1803). Fr. woodwind player and composer. Prof., Paris Cons. Played bn., ob., and fl., composing many works for fl. and writing a method for it (1794). Also comp. 11 operas and much chamber mus.

Devil and Daniel Webster, The. (1) Opera in 1 act by Douglas Moore to lib. by Stephen Vincent Benet based on his own story. Prod. NY 1939. (2) Film score by Herrmann from which he prod. 5-movement suite. F.p. Philadelphia.

Devilin Music. See Tritone.

Devils of Loudun, The (Diabły z Loudun). Opera in 3 acts by Penderecki to his own lib. based on John Whiting's play (1961) from A. Huxley's novel (1952), in Ger. trans. by Erich Fried. Prod. Hamburg 1969, Santa Fe 1969, London (ENO) 1973.

'Devil's Trill' Sonata (Trillo del Diavolo or Sonata del Diavolo). Nickname of Vn. Sonata in G minor by Tartini, comp c.1714, which has a long trill in the last of its 4 movements. The legend is that Tartini dreamed he had made a deal with the Devil to whom he gave his vn. The Devil played a solo so beautiful that Tartini awoke and tried to play what he had heard. He failed but comp. the 'Devil's Trill'. The sonata was found by Baillot (1771--1842) and first pub. in L'Art du violon (1798, 1801) by Cartier. Legend is subject of ballet Le Violon du diable with mus. by Pugni, Paris 1849.

DevilTake Her, The. Comic opera in prol. and 1 act by A. Benjamin to lib. by A. Collard and J.B. Gordon. Prod. London 1931.

Devin du village, Le (The Village Soothsayer). Opera (intermède) in 1 act by Rousseau to his own lib. Prod. Fontainebleau 1752, Paris 1753, London 1766, NY 1790. Lib. of Mozart's Bastien und Bastienne is based on a parody.

De Vito, Gioconda (b Martina Franca, Lecce, 1907). Eng. violinist of It. birth. Studied in Pesaro and Rome. Won international competition Vienna 1932. Prof. of vn., Accademia di S. Cecilia, Rome. Visited London 1947 to make records. Public début 1948 (LPO). Specialistin standard repertory, notably Brahms concerto. Retired 1961.

D'Hardelot. See Hardelot, Guy de.

Diabelli, Antonio (b Mattsee, Salzburg, 1781; d Vienna, 1858). Austrian composer and publisher. Went to Vienna in 1803 as teacher of pf. and guitarand as proof-reader. Entered publishing 1818, founded Diabelli and Co., publishing works by Beethoven, Schubert, and Czerny. Wrote operetta, masses, pf. pieces, and songs. See Diabelli Variations.

Diabelli Variations. Beethoven's Thirty-Three Variations on a Waltz by Diabelli, Op. 120, for pf., comp. 1819--23. The publisher Diabelli commissioned 50 composers to write a variation apiece on his theme and was delighted to receive 33 from Beethoven, immediately recognizing the work as a major masterpiece. Among the other composers who responded to Diabelli's request were Liszt (aged 11), Schubert, Drechsler, Schenk, Czerny, Kalkbrenner, Pixis, Moscheles, Stadler, Sechter, Hoffmann, and Archduke Rudolph.

Diabolus in musica (Lat.). The devil in mus., i.e. the tritone. Term is derived from various prohibitions on using this awkward interval.

Diaghilev, Serge (Dyagilev, Sergey) (Pavlovich) (b Selistchev, Novgorod, 1872; d Venice, 1929). Russ. impresario. Studied law at St Petersburg, 1890--7, but gravitated into journalism and art criticism. Art. adviser to Maryinsky Theatre 1899--1901. In 1907 organized Paris concerts of Russ. mus. and prod. of Boris Godunov with Chaliapin. In 1909 he was invited to present a season of Russ. opera and ballet in Paris, scoring a major triumph with the ballet, for which he engaged the dancer Nijinsky, choreographer Fokine, and the painters Bakst and Benois. From this season the sensational Ballets Russes developed, transforming the balletworld. Diaghilev directed the co. until his death, surviving financial crises and personal quarrels which threatened to tear it apart. Over the years he called on an astonishing range of talents, not only among dancers (Nijinsky, Karsavina, Massine, Sokolova, Dolin, etc.) but choreographers (Fokine, Nijinsky, Massine, Nijinskaya, Balanchine), designers (Bakst, Benois, Matisse, Picasso, Utrillo, Derain) and composers (scores commissioned from Ravel, Stravinsky, Falla, Debussy, Prokofiev, Milhaud, Satie, Strauss, Poulenc, Auric, Lambert, and Berners). See Ballet.

Dialogue. (1) Vocal work, mainly from medieval times to 17th cent., in which echo, alternation, or contrast suggested spoken dialogue. (2) Spoken dialogue is used in some types of opera, e.g. Fr. opéra comique, Ger. Singspiel, Sp. zarzuela, and Eng. ballad opera (and the operas of Gilbert and Sullivan). In Beethoven's Fidelio there is spoken dialogue and melodrama. In some cases spoken dialogue has been replaced by accompanied recitative comp. by someone else (e.g. Guiraud for Bizet's Carmen). There are examples of a brief spoken passage used in opera to great dramatic effect, e.g. in Britten's Peter Grimes.

Dialogues des Carmélites, Les. (The Carmelites' dialogues). Opera in 3 acts by Poulenc to lib. by Georges Bernanos adapted from novel Die letzte am Schafott (The Last on the Scaffold) by G. von le Fort (1931) and film scenario by Bruckenberger and Agostini. Comp. 1953--6. Prod Milan, Paris, and San Francisco 1957, CG 1958. Known in Eng. as The Carmelites.

Diamond, Peter (b Charlottenburg, 1913). Dutch administrator, born an Austrian. Studied law Berlin Univ. Secretary to Schnabel 1934--8. Ass. to dir. Netherland Opera 1946--8, dir. Holland Fest. 1947--65. Dir. Edinburgh Fest. 1966--78. Gen. man. RPO 1978--81. Hon. C.B.E. 1972.

Diamond, David (Leo) (b Rochester, NY, 1915). Amer. composer. Studied Cleveland Institute of Mus., 1927--9, Eastman Sch. of Music 1930--4 (comp. with Bernard Rogers). Sym. in one movement perf. at Eastman Sch. 1931. Studied with Sessions in NY 1935. Went to Paris and studied with Boulanger 1936--7. Juilliard Award 1937, Guggenheim Fellowship 1938, 1941, Amer. Acad. in Rome Award 1942. Lived in Florence 1953--65. Head of comp. dept., Manhattan Sch. of Mus., NY, 1965--7. His mus. owes something to his admiration for Ravel and Stravinsky and is strongly contrapuntal. He adopted serialism in the 1950s. Works incl. 8 syms. (1940--60), Psalm for orch. (1936), Elegy in Memory of Ravel (1938), Rounds for str. (1944), Timon of Athens (1949), The World of Paul Klee (1957), 2-pf. conc., pf. conc., 3 vn. concs. (1936--67), vc. conc., 11 str. qts., pf. qt., pf. quintet, vn. sonata, L'Ame de Debussy (song-cycle), vc. sonata, Choral Symphony: To Music (male soloists, ch., and orch.) (1967), songs, etc.

Diapason (Gr.). Through all. (1) Greek name for the octave. (2) The name of certain org. stops which are the foundation tone of the instr. and are either 'open' or 'stopped' according to whether the ends of the pipes are clear or plugged (plugged stops are lower in pitch by an octave). Open diapason, 8', is the chief manual stop. There are also stopped diapason, horn diapason, and diapason phonon in which the lips of the pipes are leathered to refine the tone. (3) In Fr., diapason normal is a standard indication of pitch: A = 440 vibrations per sec.

Diapente (Gr.). The interval of the perfect 5th.

Diaphone. Org. stop (open diapason) invented by Robert Hope-Jones (1859--1914) which was actuated by vibratory apparatus to increase loudness.

Diaphony. Gr. term for dissonance, applied to form of organum. Some define it as a freer form, admitting other intervals than the perfect ones, others consider it to be a later form, admitting of contrary motion, part-crossing, etc.

Diary of One who Disappeared (Zápisník zmizelého). Song-cycle by Janák^;ek, comp. 1917--19, for ten., cont. (ormez.), 3 women's vv., and pf. Setting of 22 anonymous poems, No. 13 being represented by a pf. solo (intermezzo erotico). All the vv. are heard only in No. 9, women's vv. only in No. 10, ten. and cont. in No. 11, the remainder being for ten. F.p. Brno 1921, f.p. in England, London 1922. Eng. trans. by Bernard Keeffe.

Diatonic. The Diatonic Scales (see Scale) are those of the major and minor keys, and diatonic passages, intervals, chords, and harmonies are those made up of the notes of the key prevailing at the moment. The Modes must also be considered diatonic. See also Chromatic.

Dibdin, Charles (b Southampton, 1745; d London, 1814). Eng. composer, impresario, and singer. Choirboy, Winchester Cath. 1756--9. From 1764 in London wrote words and mus. of many popular 'musicals'. In 1789 began 'table entertainments' at which he sang his own songs. Th. manager 1796--1805. Best-known songs are 'The Bells of Aberdovey' from Liberty Hall (Drury Lane 1785) and the beautiful 'Tom Bowling' from table entertainment The Oddities (Lyceum 1789).

Dichterliebe (Poet's Love). Cycle of 16 songs for v. and pf. by Schumann, Op. 48 (1840), being settings of Heine.

Dichtung (Ger.). Poem. Hence symphonische Dichtung, symphonic poem. R. Strauss used the term Tondichtung, tone-poem.

Dickie, Brian (James) (b Newark, 1941). Eng. opera dir. Art. dir., Wexford Fest. 1967--74. On Glyndebourne staff since 1962, gen. admin. from 1982.

Dickie, Murray (b Bishopton, nr. Glasgow, 1924). Scottish operatic ten. and producer. Studied Vienna, London, and Milan. Début London 1947, CG 1948–52, Vienna State Opera since 1952 (Kammersänger).

Dickinson, Meriel (b Lytham St Annes, 1940). Eng. mez. Studied RMCM and Vienna Acad. Member BBC Ch. 1963–4, solo recitalist and oratorio.

Dickinson, Peter (b Lytham St Annes, 1934). Eng. composer and pianist. Studied Cambridge Univ., Juilliard Sch. NY. Extra-mural staff tutor in mus. Birmingham Univ., 1966–70. Prof. of mus., Keele Univ., 1974. Works include:

theatre: Vitalitas, ballet (1959; orch. of Variations for pf. 1957); The Judas Tree, 5 speaking parts, 2 tens., ch., and orch. (1965).

orch: Monologue, str. (1959); 5 Divisions (1969); Transformations, Homage to Satie (1970); org. conc. (1971); conc. for str., perc., and electronic org. (1971); pf. conc. (1978–84).

vocal: 4 Auden Songs, sop. or ten. and pf. (1956); Dylan Thomas Song Cycle, bar. and pf. (1959); 4 Poems of Alan Porter, counterten. and hpd. (1968); Extravaganzas, v. and pf. (1969); e. e. cummings Song Cycle, mez. and pf. (1965 rev. 1970); Winter Afternoons (Emily Dickinson), cantata for 6 solo vv. and db. (1971); Surrealist Landscape, counterten., pf., and tape (1973); Lust, for 6 vv. (1974); Schubert in Blue, mez. and pf. (1977).

choral: Martin of Tours, ten., bar., ch., and pf. duet (1966); The Dry Heart, 5 Alan Porter poems for unacc. ch. (1967); Outcry, contralto, ch., orch. (1969); Late Afternoon in November, 16 solo vv. (1975).

church: 2 Motets (1963); Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis, vv. and org. (1963); Mass (1965); Mass of the Apocalypse, 16 solo women's vv., 4 perc. players (1984).

chamber music: Juilliard Dances (1959); vn. sonata (1961); Fanfares and Elegies, 3 tpts., 3 tbs., org. (1967); Translations, recorder, va. da gamba, hpd. (1971); Hymns, Blues, and Improvisations, str. qt., pf., and tape (1973); Str. Qt. No. 1 (1958, rev. 1974), No. 2, with tape or pf. (1975).

piano: Variations (1957); 5 Forgeries, pf. duet (1963); 5 Divisions (1963); Paraphrase II (1967).

organ: Dirge (1963); Carillon (1964); Paraphrase I (1967).

Dickson, Joan (b Edinburgh, 1921). Scot. cellist. Studied RCM, then Paris with Fournier, Rome with Mainardi. London début 1953. Prof. RCM from 1968. Member Edinburgh Str. Qt. 1953–8. Soloist with leading orchs.

Diction. Properly, verbal phrasing, or skill in the choice of words, but used in context of singing to denote clear and correct enunciation.

Didjeridu. Australian aborigines' wind instr., straight (over 3 ft. in length), end-blown, and capable of producing a variety of sounds, such as trills, croaks, gurgles, and imitations of birds and animals. The player can breath through the nose without interrupting the sound he is making.

Dido and Aeneas. Opera in prol. and 3 acts by Purcell to lib. by Nahum Tate, after Book 4 of Virgil's Aeneid. F.p. Josias Priest's sch. for young gentlewomen, Chelsea, in 1689 or 1690. Staged in London c.1700 and c.1704 and not again until RCM 1895 (Lyceum Th.). F.p. in NY 1923 (at Hotel Plaza). Several versions survive, the score held by St Michael's College, Tenbury, being accepted as standard. Another important version was found at Tatton Hall, Cheshire. Dido's Lament, When I am laid in earth, occurs in Act 3.

Dido's Lament. Aria for Dido at end of Act 3 of Purcell's Dido and Aeneas, beginning with words 'When I am laid in earth'. Orch. arr. is played annually at Remembrance Dayservice at Cenotaph, London.

Die (Ger.). The.

Diepenbrock, Alfons (b Amsterdam, 1862; d Amsterdam, 1921). Dutch composer, mainly self-taught. Influential teacher. Wrote chiefly church mus. (2 settings of Te Deum, a Stabat mater, etc.) and incidental mus. to plays. Befriended and admired by Mahler.

Dieren, Bernard van (b Rotterdam, 1887; d London, 1936). Dutch composer, long resident in Eng. Trained as scientist, but began to write mus. criticism and in 1909 settled in London as correspondent for several European periodicals. Mainly self-taught as composer but studied in Ger., 1912. His works became the subject of a cult among leading Brit. intellectuals of the 1920s, e.g. Sitwells, Gerald Cooper, Heseltine, Gray, and others. Successive efforts to persuade his contemporary public and later generations of his genius have made little ground, the mus. being less novel than is suggested. Works incl. The Tailor (comic opera) (1917), Symphony on Chinese Themes (with vv.) (1914), Serenade, 6 str. qts., solo vn. sonata, songs. Wrote book on Epstein (1920) and vol. of criticism, Down Among the Dead Men (1935).

Dièse (Fr.). Sharp.

Dies Irae (Day of Wrath). A section of the Requiem Mass. The poem is probably by Thomas of Celano (d c.1250). The plainsong tune has frequently been introduced into instr. mus., as in Berlioz's Symphonie fantastique, Saint-Saëns's Danse macabre, Rakhmaninov's Paganini Rhapsody, etc. Settings of the Requiem by Verdi, Berlioz, and others contain vivid depictions of the Dies Irae.

Diesis (It.). (1) Sharp. (2) In acoustical theory the minute interval between the sum of 3 major 3rds (in perfect tuning) and an octave.

Dies Natalis (Lat. 'Birthday'). Cantata, Op. 8, by Finzi, for sop. or ten. and str., composed between 1926 and 1939, f.p. 1940. It is in 5 movements, the 1st instrumental, the 2nd a setting of a prose passage from Centuries of Meditations by T. Traherne (1638--74), and the last 3 being settings of Traherne poems.

Dieupart, Charles (Françalcois) (b 1670; d London, c.1740). Fr. violinist, harpsichordist, and composer. Taught in London and played for It. opera at Drury Lane. Pubd. Six Suites de Clavecin (1701). The gigue from first suite may have been model of Bach's prelude in his first English Suite.

Differential Tone (or Resultant Tone). In acoustics: (1) When two loud notes are played, another, lower, note may sometimes be heard which corresponds to the difference in vibration between the original 2 notes. (2) When a note higher than the original 2 may be heard which corresponds to the sum of their vibrations.

Digital. Any one of the keys comprising the kbd. of a pf. or similar instr. For digital recording, see Gramophone Recordings.

Digitorium. A small portable apparatus for the use of kbd. players wishing to strengthen their fingers. It usually had no more than 5 keys and these had strong springs so that considerable force was required to depress them. Invented by Myer Marks about the middle of the 19th cent.

Dilkes, Neville (b Derby, 1930). Eng. cond. Studied privately. Founded Midland (now Eng.) Sinfonia 1961. Mus. dir. Corby Grammar Sch. 1955--65, cond. Kettering S.O. 1958--63, Opera da camera 1961--7.

Dillon, James (b Glasgow, 1950). Scottish composer. As a boy, played in pipe band. Studied medieval, Renaissance, and non-Western mus. Awarded Kranichsteiner prize, Darmstadt 1982. His mus. was featured at Bath and La Rochelle fests., 1984. Works incl.: Babble, 40 vv. (1974--6); Dillug Kefitsah, pf. (1976); Cumha, 12 str. (1976--8); Incaaín, 16 vv. (1977); Ariadne's Thread, va. (1978); Crossing Over, cl. (1978); Ti-re-Ti-ke-Dha, solo drum (1979); .|. Once Upon a Time, 10 instr. (1980); Spleen, pf. (1980); Whodo you Love, v. and 8 instr. (1980--1); Evening Rain, solo v. (1981); Parjanya-Vata, vc. (1981); Come Live with Me, mez. and 4 instr. (1981); A Roaring Flame, v. and contrabass (1981--2); Time Lag Zer;up, v. and va. (1982); East 11th St. NY 10003, perc. (6 players) (1982); str. qt. (1983); Zone (.... de azul), 8 instr. (1983); Le Rivage, wind quintet (1984); Sgothan, fl. (1984).

Diluendo (It.). Dissolving, i.e. dying away.

Dilungando (It.). Lengthening.

Diminished Intervals. Perfect or minor intervals which are reduced chromatically by a semitone are diminished intervals. For practical purposes this term is useful only when applied to the diminished 5th (semitone less than perfect 5th) and diminished 7th (semitone less than minor 7th).

Diminished Triad. A triad of which the 5th is diminished.

Diminuendo (It.). Diminishing, i.e. gradually getting quieter.

Diminution. Shortening of the time-values of the notes of melodic parts. Opposite of Augmentation. In Canon by Diminution the imitating vv. are in shorter notes than the one they are imitating.

Dimitrij. Opera in 3 acts by Dvořák to lib. by Marie Červinková-Riegrová based on writings by Mikovec and on Schiller's Demetrius. Comp. 1881--2, prod. Prague 1882. Rev. version prod. Prague 1885; further rev. 1894--5. Brit. f.p. Nottingham 1979.

Di Molto (It.). Of much, i.e. Very. Augments the word to which it is applied, e.g. allegro di molto, very fast.

D'India, Sigismondo. See India, Sigismondo d'.

D'Indy, (Paul Marie Théodore) Vincent (b Paris, 1851; d Paris, 1931). Fr. composer and teacher. Though musically trained in boyhood his family wanted him to enter law. In 1872 he sent a pf. qt. to Franck, who agreed to teach him. As a member of Franck's class at the Paris Cons. he imbibed not only Franck's teaching, but also his lofty and idealistic attitude to art. To supplement his studies, d'Indy in 1872 became 2nd perc. player in the Colonne Orch., and from 1875--9 was ch.-master of the Concerts Colonne. Public début as composer 1874. In 1876 he attended the first Bayreuth Fest., having been introduced to Wagner's mus. by Duparc in 1869, and became fervent enthusiast of The Ring. Keenly interested in education, d'Indy in 1894 accepted invitation from Bordes to join him and Guilmant in founding the Schola Cantorum for the study of church mus. In 1900 this became a general mus. sch. at which d'Indy taught comp. until his death, becoming sole dir. in 1911. His teaching methods are described in his 3-vol. Cours de Composition, written in assoc. with A. Sérieyx. His pupils incl. Satie, Auric, Roussel, Turina, and Roland-Manuel. D'Indy was also active in assisting Lamoureux to introduce Wagner's works to Paris, was a champion of Debussy, and revived the mus. of Monteverdi, Rameau, Gluck, and Bach. He wrote several books(incl. biography of Franck), toured as cond. abroad, ed. old mus. (incl. several Monteverdi operas), and pubd. colls. of folk-songs. His comps. are characterized by rich orchestration, a vein of folk-like melody, and often employ Franck's 'cyclic method'. Chief among them are:

operas: Le Chant de la cloche (1879--83), Fervaal (1889--95), L'Étranger (1898--1901), La Légende de Saint-Christophe (1908--15), Le Rêve de Cynias (1922--3).

orch: La Forêt enchantée (1878), Wallenstein, trilogy (1874--82), Symphonie sur un chant montagnard fran;alcais(Symphonie [nmCévenole]) (1886), Istar (1896), 2nd Sym. (1902--3), Jour d' été à la montagne (1905), Le Poème des rivages (1920--1).

chamber music: 3 str. qts., vc. sonata, vn. sonata, pf. quintet, str. sextet.

piano: Promenades, Schumanniana, Menuet sur le nom de Haydn, Conte de fées.

choral: Sainte Marie-Magdaleine, cantata (1885), Sur la Mer (1888), Deus Israël(1896).

Dinner Engagement, A. 1-act comic opera by Lennox Berkeley to lib. by Paul Dehn. Prod. Aldeburgh 1954.

Dinorah, ou le pardon de Ploërmel. 3-act opera by Meyerbeer to lib. by Barbier and Carré. Prod. Paris and London 1859, New Orleans 1861. Contains the coloratura sop. 'Shadow Song'.

Dioclesian (The Prophetess or the History of Dioclesian). Semi-opera by Purcell (1690). Dialogue by T. Betterton, adapted from Beaumont and Massinger.Diplomas. See Degrees and Diplomas.

Dippel, (Johann) Andreas (b Kassel, 1866; d Hollywood, Calif., 1932). Ger. ten. and impresario. Member of opera cos. in Bremen 1887--92 and Vienna 1893--8. Début CG 1897, NY Met. 1890. At NY Met. 1890--1908, becoming joint man. with Gatti-Casazza 1908--10. Man., Chicago Opera, 1910--13. Sang over 150 roles and was famous for ability to replace indisposed colleague at very short notice.

Direct. The sign _ at the end of a page or line (in older mus.) to give warning of the next note.

Dirge (Lat. naenia). Burial or memorial song, often with character of funeral march. Shakespeare's Dirge for Fidele (Cymbeline) has been set by several composers incl. Vaughan Williams (1922) and Finzi (1942). The 15th cent. Lyke-wake Dirge was set by Stravinsky (Cantata 1952), Britten (Serenade 1943), and Whittaker (1924).

Dirge for Two Veterans. (1) Setting of text from Whitman's Drum Taps (1865) by Holst for male vv., brass, and perc. Comp. 1914. (2) Setting of same text for ch. and orch. by Vaughan Williams, comp. 1911 and incorporated into his cantata Dona nobis pacem (1936) as 4th movement.

Dirigent, dirigieren (Ger.). 'Conductor', 'to conduct'.

Dis (Ger.). The note D#.

Disc (Amer. Disk). Gramophone record.

Discant. Same as Descant.

Discography. A list of gramophone recordings,either of those of the mus. of a particular composer, or those made by an individual artist, orch., or instr. combination. When an artist has recorded for several cos. and in several countries, these can require considerable and valuable research. A discography is becoming a standard feature of many books on music.

Discord. A chord which is restless, jarring to the ear, requiring to be resolved in a particular way if its presence is to be justified by the ear (or the note or interval responsible for producing this effect).

Disis (Ger.). The note D##.

Disjunct Motion. A note which moves to another note or an adjacent note by a leap. See Motion.

Dissonance. See Discord.

Dissonanzen Quartett (Les Dissonances). Ger. and Fr. nicknames for Mozart's Str. Qt. No. 19 in C major, K465, comp. 1785. The introduction contains remarkable use of dissonance.

Di Stefano, Giuseppe (b Molta Santa Anastasia, nr. Catania, 1921). It. tenor. Studied in Milan. Début 1946 Reggio Emilia as Des Grieux in Massenet's Manon. La Scala début 1947, NY Met. 1948 (Duke in Rigoletto). Brit. début Edinburgh Fest. 1957, CG 1961 (Cavaradossi). Sang often with Callas, making recordings with her, and partnering her on her 1973--4 concert tour.

Distler, Hugo (b Nuremberg, 1908; d Berlin, 1942). Ger. composer and organist whose work was stigmatized by the Nazi régime as 'degenerate art'. Studied Leipzig. Organist of Jakobikirche, Lübeck, 1931--7. Teacher at Stuttgart Musikhochschule, 1937--40. Berlin Hochschule für Musik from 1940. Comp. org. works and choral mus., also hpd. conc. (1935) and str.qt. (1939--40). Committed suicide.

Distratto, Il (The Distraught Man). Nickname for Haydn's sym. in C major, No. 60 in Breitkopf edn. of syms. 6 movements are derived from Haydn's incidental mus. (1774) for J. F. Regnard's play Le Distrait (Ger. Der Zerstreute), revived at Esterház that year.

Dital Harp. Obsolete instr. invented in 1798 by Edward Light, a teacher of guitar: it was at first called Harp Guitar. By 'dital' is meant a finger-key (actually played by the thumb): each dital raised the pitch of a string by a semitone. Another name was Harp Lute, the appearance of the instr. suggesting the body of a lute continued upwards by that of a small harp.

Dithyramb (from Gr. dithyrambos). In ancient Greece an intoxicated song in honour of the god Dionysus; in modern usage applied to a comp. of wild, passionate character.

Dittersdorf, Karl Ditters von (orig. Karl Ditters) (b Vienna, 1739; d Neuhof, 1799). Austrian composer and violinist. As boy, in private orch. of nobleman who paid for his education. Kapellmeister to various princes, esp. to Prince-Bishop of Breslau 1770--95. Ennobled 1773. Prolific composer, works incl. 40 operas (incl. The Marriage of Figaro (c.1789) and The Merry Wives of Windsor (1796)), c.120 syms. (incl. 12 syms. after Ovid's Metamorphoses), 35 concs., 12 str. quintets, 14 str. trios, 17 vn. sonatas, 30 pf. sonatas, and quantities of church mus.

Div. Abbreviation for Divisi.

Diversions. Occasional synonym for variations.

Divertimenti by Mozart. Mozart's comps. to which he gave the title Divertimento are: Eb (K113), D major (K131), D major (str. qt., K136), Bb (str. qt., K137), F major (str. qt.

K138), Eb (K166), Bb (K186), C major (K187), C major (K188), D major (K205), F major (K213), Bb (K240), F major (K247), D major (K251), Eb (K252), F major (K253), Bb (pf. trio, K254), Bb (K270), Bb (K287), F major (K288), Eb (K289), D major (K334), Eb (str. trio, K563), Eb (K Anh.226), Bb (K Anh.227).

Divertimento (It.). Amusement. (1) An 18th-cent. suite of movements of light, recreational mus., sometimes for open-air perf., for a small no. of players. Mozart wrote 25, calling them Divertimenti or sometimes serenades or cassations. In the 20th cent. composers use the term to denote a not-too-serious work. (2) Fantasia on airs from operas, etc.

Divertissement (Fr.). Amusement. The same as divertimento, with the additional meaning of an entertainment of dances and songs inserted in an 18th-cent. stage spectacle or sometimes in a ballet or opera (as in Gounod's Faust or Delibes's Coppélia). The term is also applied to a suite of dances unconnected by a story. Ibert's Divertissement is an orch. work derived from mus. for the film The Italian Straw Hat.

Dives and Lazarus, 5 Variants of. Work by Vaughan Williams for str. and harp(s) comp. 1939 for NY World Fair. F.p. NY 1939. Dives and Lazarus is Eng. folk-song.

Divina Commedia, Symphony to (Liszt). See Dante Symphony.

Divine Office. The Canonical Hours of the RC Church (Matins, Lauds, Prime, Terce, Sext, None, Vespers, and Compline: these are daily said by all the clergy and in cath. and monastic churches are daily said or sung). Also Matins and Evensong in the Church of England.

Divine Poem, The (Bozhestvennaya poema). Title of Skryabin's Sym. No. 3 in C minor, Op. 43, comp. 1902--4, f.p. Paris 1905, NY 1907, London 1913. Illustrates his theosophical ideas; the 3 movements are entitled Struggles, Delights, and Divine Play.

Divisi (It.). Divided, often abbreviated to 'div.'. Term used, for instance, where orch. str. parts are written in double (or more) notes, and the players, instead of individually attempting to play all the notes of each chord, are to divide themselves into 2 (or more) groups to perform them.

Divisions. (1, 17th and 18th cent.) The splitting up of the notes of a tune into shorter notes, i.e. a form of variation; this was especially common in viol playing and was extemporized. (2) Long vocal runs, as in Bach, Handel, and other 18th-cent. composers. Obsolete term.

Division Viol. Small bass viol for the playing of popular sets of (often extemporized) variations.

Dixieland. Style of instr. jazz-playing from c.1912, also called 'New Orleans' or 'classic' style. Had elements of ragtime and blues with own distinctive improvisation. Dixieland bands were divided into 2 sections, one providing rhythm and harmony, the other melody and extemporization. The melody section consisted of tpt. or cornet, cl., and tb. (and, later, sax.); the rhythm section of pf. and/or banjo, trap drums, and sousaphone, tuba, or plucked db. Outstanding Dixieland performers were Louis Armstrong, Kid Ory, King Oliver, Sidney Bechet, Jelly Roll Morton, and Earl Hines.

Dixon, (Charles) Dean (b NY, 1915; d Zug, Switz., 1976). Amer. cond., one of the first blacks to achieve fame as a symphonic cond. Trained Juilliard Sch. and Columbia Univ. Début NY Town Hall 1937, NY P.O. 1942, and then other leading orchs. Founded Amer. Youth Orch. 1944. In 1949 cond. in Scandinavia. Cond. Israel P.O. 1950--1. Mus. dir. Gothenburg S.O. 1953--60, Hesse Radio S.O. 1961--74, Sydney S.O. 1964--7. British début 1963 with BBC S.O. Series of concerts with leading Amer. orchs. after 1970.

Djamileh. 1-act opera by Bizet to lib. by L. Gallet based on Alfred de Musset's poem Namouna (1832). Prod. Paris 1872, Manchester 1892, London 1893.

Do. The name for Ut or C in the Romance languages, introduced by G. M. Bononcini, 1673. See Doh.

Dobbs, Mattiwilda (b Atlanta, 1925). Amer. coloratura sop. Studied pf. for 10 years, then turned to singing at 17 and studied with Lotte Leonard in NY 1946--50. Studied with Bernac in Paris 1950--2, winning Geneva Fest. first prize 1951 and appearing in concerts in Scandinavia, Fr., etc. Opera début as Stravinsky's Nightingale, Holland Fest. 1952. First black singer to appear at La Scala, Milan, 1953. Outstanding Zerbinetta in Strauss's Ariadne auf Naxos, Glyndebourne 1953. CG début 1954. Member of NY Met. co. from 1957.

Dobrowen, Issay (Alexandrovich) (b Nizhny Novgorod, 1891; d Oslo, 1953). Russ.-born cond., pianist, and composer. Studied in Moscow with Taneyev and Vienna with Godowsky. Début as cond. Moscow 1919 (Bolshoy 1921). Worked at Dresden with Fritz Busch, cond. first Ger. perf. of Boris Godunov (Dresden, 1922). Worked in Vienna, Sofia, and Budapest, frequent visitor to USA. Cond. Göteborg S.O. 1939, Stockholm Royal Opera from 1941. Comps. incl. concs. for pf. and vn. Became Norweg. citizen in 1930s.

Dobrowolski, Andrzej (b Lemberg, now Lwów, 1921). Polish composer and teacher. Studied Kraków Sch. of Mus. 1945--51 (org., singing, cl., theory with Lobaczewski, and comp. with Malawski). Worked for Polish radio experimental studio. From 1954 teacher at Warsaw Acad. Works incl. sym. vars. (1949), sym. (1955), bn. conc. (1953), wind trio (1955), Music for Orch. I (1969), II (1971), III (1972--3), IV (1974), V (1979); Music for Magnetic Tape No. 1 (1963) (reproduced on p. 223), songs, and musique concrète.

Docteur Miracle, Le (Doctor Miracle). Operetta in 1 act by Bizet to lib. by Battu and Halévy. Prod. Paris 1857, London 1957, also 1-act operetta by Lecocq, prod. Paris 1857, the day before Bizet's, both works being entries in competition sponsored by Offenbach and being adjudged joint winners. F. Eng. stage p. of Lecocq, London 1984.

Doctor of Music. Highest mus. degree in Brit., Commonwealth, and USA. According to individual univ. style, abbreviated to D.Mus., Mus.D., or Mus. Doc.

Dodecaphonic (Gr.). 12 sounds. Adjective describing the system of comp. with 12 notes (dodecaphony). In the dodecaphonic scale the 12 notes are considered to be of equal status and are so treated. See Atonal and Note-row.

Dodge, Charles (b Ames, Iowa, 1942). Amer. composer. Studied Univ. of Iowa 1960--4, Columbia Univ. 1964--70. Specialist in elec. and computer-programmed mus. Works incl. Changes (computer-synthesized sounds on tape), Earth's Magnetic Field (elec. on tape), and Humming (computer-synthesized vocal and elec. sounds on tape).

Dodgson, Stephen (b London, 1924). Eng. composer. Studied under R.O. Morris and others. Works incl. sym., pf.qt., guitar concs., songs, and pf. pieces. Sym. for wind (1974); Epigrams from a Garden, cont. and cls. (1977). Frequent broadcaster.

Dods, Marcus (b Edinburgh, 1918; d Henley-on-Thames, 1984). Scot. cond. Cond. at SW 1951--8. Frequent cond. of ballet, TV opera, West End musicals, film mus., etc.

Doglia (It.). Sorrow. So doglioso, sorrowful; dogliosamente, sorrowfully.

Doh. In Tonic sol-fa the spoken name for the tonic (first degree) of the scale. Doh sharpened becomes de.

Dohnányi, Christoph von (b Berlin, 1929). Ger. conductor. Grandson of Ernö Dohnányi. Studied Munich 1948--51. Ass. cond. to Solti, Frankfurt Opera 1952. Gen. mus. dir. Lübeck 1957--63, Kassel 1963--6, Frankfurt 1968--77, Hamburg 1977--84. Chief cond. W. Ger. Radio S.O. 1964--70, Cleveland Orch. from 1984. Brit. début 1965 (LPO), CG 1974 (Salome). Cond. f.ps. of Henze's Der junge Lord (Berlin 1965) and Die Bassariden (Salzburg 1966).

Dohnányi, Ernö (Ernst von) (b Pozsony, now Bratislava, 1877; d NY, 1960). Hung. composer, pianist, and cond. Studied pf. and harmony with Karoly Forstner (cath. organist) 1885--94; entered Budapest Acad. 1894. Also studied with d'Albert. Concert pianist of int. repute 1897--1908. London début 1898 (Richter concert). Prof of pf., Berlin Hochschule, 1908. Dir. Budapest Cons. 1919. Dir. Hungarian radio 1931, Hochschule 1934. Cond. Budapest P.O. 1919--44. Settled in USA 1949 at Florida State Univ., Tallahassee, as prof. of pf. and comp. His mus. has nationalist flavour but much less than that of Bartók and Kodály. Prin. works:

operas: Tante Simona (Dresden 1913), The Tower of Voivod (Budapest 1922), The Tenor (Budapest 1929).

orch: Sym. in D minor (1900--01), in E (1943--4, rev. 1953--6), pf. conc. No. 1 (1897--8), No. 2 (1946--7), vn. conc. No. 1 (1914--15), no. 2 (1949--50), Suite in F# minor (1908--9), Variations on a Nursery Song for pf. and orch. (1913).

chamber music: 3 str. qts., 2 pf. quintets, vc. sonata, vn. sonata, sextet (1935).

piano: 4 Klavierstücke, 4 Rhapsodies, Variations, Passacaglia, and Ruralia Hungarica (1923, orch. 1924).

Doktor Faust. Opera in 2 prols., interlude, and 3 scenes by Busoni to his own lib., comp. 1916--24, the final scene being completed by Jarnach. Prod. Dresden(Busch) 1925, London (concert) 1937, NY (concert) 1964.

Doktor, Paul (Karl) (b Vienna, 1919). Austrian-born violist. Studied va. with father, Karl Doktor (violist in Busch Qt. for over 30 years). Vienna State Acad. of Mus. until 1938. Prin. violist Lucerne S.O. 1940--7. Won Geneva Int. Fest. 1942. Went to USA 1947. Lecturer, violist in resident qt., Univ. of Michigan 1948--51; prof. of va., Mannes College of Mus., NY 1952. Summer faculty Colorado College from 1957. On staff Juilliard Sch. from 1971. Soloist with leading orchs., ed. of va. mus.

Dolcan (Org. stop). Same as Dolce.

Dolce (It.). Sweet (with the implication of 'soft' also). Hence dolcissimo, very sweet; dolcemente, sweetly; dolcezza, sweetness.

Dolce ordolcan (org. stop). Soft open metal diapason; pipes are of inverted conical shape; 8' length and pitch.

Dolente (It.). Doleful, sorrowful. So the adverb dolentemente and the superlative dolentissimo.

Doles, Johann Friedrich (b Steinbach, 1715; d Leipzig, 1797). Ger. composer and court musician. Pupil of Bach at Leipzig from 1739. Cantor, Thomas-schule, Leipzig, 1756--89 and mus. dir. of 2 prin. Leipzig churches. Comp. church mus., hpd. sonatas, and songs in light operatic style.

Dollarprinzessin, Die (The Dollar Princess). Operetta in 3 acts by Fall, to lib. by A.M. Willner and F. Grünbaum based on comedy by Gatti-Trotha. Prod. Vienna 1907, London and NY 1909.

Dolly. Pf. suite by Fauré, Op. 56, comp. 1894--7, for 4 hands. 6 movements are: Berceuse, Mi-a-ou, Le Jardin de Dolly, Kitty-valse, Tendresse, and Le Pas espagnol. Orch. version by Rabaud, 1906.

Dolmetsch, Arnold (b Le Mans, 1858; d Haslemere, 1940). Swiss musician and maker of old instr. Studied vn. in Brussels with Vieuxtemps, later going to RCM, London. Taught vn. Dulwich Coll. 1885--9. Restored old instrs., made his first lute 1893, clavichord 1894, harpsichord 1896. Worked on early kbd. instr. at Chickering's pf. factory, Boston, Mass., 1902--9; in charge Gaveau's hpd. dept., Paris, 1911--4. Settled in Eng. at Haslemere, Surrey, 1917, establishing workshop for manufacture and repair of clavichords, hpds., viols, lutes, recorders, etc., and founding (1925) annual fest. at which old mus. was perf. by himself and his family on authentic instr.

Dolmetsch, Carl (Frederick) (b Fontenay-s-Bois, 1911). Eng. recorder-player, son of Arnold Dolmetsch. Studied with his father and at 15 was a virtuoso, touring the world. Also makes recorders and plays vn. and lute. Ed. of recorder mus. Dir., Haslemere Fest. since 1940. C.B.E. 1954.

Dolore (It.). Sorrow, dolour, pain. Hence doloroso, dolorous, painful, and the adverb, dolorosamente.

Dolzflöte (Ger.). Same as It. Flautodolce, i.e. a soft-toned org. stop of fl. tone.

Domanínska (Kobáškova, Vyc<sup>h</sup>;ichlová), [fy65,3]Libus<sup>h</sup>;e[fy75,1] (b Brno, 1924). Cz. soprano. Studied at Brno Cons. Début Brno Opera, becominga principal in the co. Outstanding exponent of Janák<sup>h</sup>;ek heroines. JoinedPrague Nat. Th. 1955, visiting Edinburgh Fest., Holland Fest., and Helsinki. Sang at Vienna Opera 1958--68.

Domestic Symphony (Strauss). See Symphonia domestica.

Domgraf-Fassbänder, Willi (b Aachen, 1897; d Nuremberg, 1978). Ger. bar., father of Brigitte Fassbaender. Studied Aachen, making operatic début there 1922 as the Count in Mozart's Figaro. Prin. lyric bar., Berlin State Opera 1928--45. Sang Mozart's Figaro at opening night of Glyndebourne Opera, 1934. Chief producer, Nuremberg Opera, 1953--62. On retirement became dir. of opera studies, Nuremberg Cons.

Dominant. (1) 5th degree of major orminor scale, thus if the key is B (major or minor) the dominant is F#. Chords built on this note are dominant chords, the most important being the dominant seventh which is a chord consisting of the common chord of the dominant with the minor 7th from its root added, e.g. in key C it is G--B--D--F. Like all intervals of a 7th, the dominant 7th is a discord. It normally resolves on the Tonic or Submediant chord, the note constituting the 7th falling a semitone, allowing the 3rd (i.e. the leading note of the scale) to rise to the tonic. More rarely the 7th can remain as a note common to the following chord, usually the 1st or 2nd inversion of the subdominant. The three inversions of the Dominant Seventh chord are, of course, in common use. (2) See Modes.

Dominant Cadence. Same as Imperfect Cadence, or Half Close.

Domingo, Placido (b Madrid, 1941). Sp. tenor. Lived in Mexico from 1950, studying pf., cond. with Markevich and singing at Mexico Nat. Cons. Début as baritone 1957 in zarzuela. Opera début as ten. 1960 (Alfredo in La traviata). Member of Israeli Nat. Opera 1962--5. Amer. début 1966 (NY City Opera, in Ginastera's Don Rodrigo). NY Met. début 1968 (Adriana Lecouvreur), Scala, Milan 1969 (as Ernani), CG 1971 (Cavaradossi). Sang his first Otello Hamburg 1975. Outstanding exponent of lyrical and heroicroles of It. opera, but also a fine Walther in Die Meistersinger. Has also cond. opera, incl. Die Fledermaus at CG, 1983.

Dominguez, Oralia (b S. Luis Potosi, Mexico, 1928). Mexican mez. Studied Mexico Nat. Cons. Operatic début, Nat. Opera of Mexico. Has sung since 1953 at world's leading opera houses, also concerts and recitals. CG début 1955 as Sosostris in f.p. of Tippett's The Midsummer Marriage. Has sung Mrs Quickly in Falstaff at CG and Glyndebourne (1967--8).

Dominicus Mass, or Pater Dominicus Mass. Mozart's Mass in C, K66 (1769). Written for the first celebration of mass by a young priest who had taken that name.

Domnich, Heinrich (b Würzburg, 1767; d Paris, 1844). Ger. virtuoso hn.-player. Prof. of hn. Paris Cons. 1795--1817. Comp. concs. and romances for hn. Wrote first definitive tutor for the hn. (Paris, 1807).

Domp(e). See Dump.

Domra. Russ. instr., like balalaika, played by plucking. Has convex back like mandolin.

Dona nobis pacem (Give us peace). (1) Part of the Mass. (2) Cantata by Vaughan Williams to text selected from the Bible, Whitman, and a parliamentary speech by John Bright. Comp. 1936, except for movt. Dirge for Two Veterans (1911). F.p. Huddersfield 1936, London 1936 (broadcast), 1938 (public).

Donath, Helen (Helen Erwin) (b Corpus Christi, Texas, 1940). Amer. sop. Pupil of Paola Novickova. Member of Cologne Opera under Sawallisch 1962--3. Sang in Hanover 1963--4, Salzburg Fest. 1967, San Francisco Opera, Vienna Opera. Frequent recitalist in Lieder and concert-hall choral works. Husband is Klaus Donath, mus. dir. Darmstadt Opera.

Donato, Anthony (b Prague, Nebraska, 1909). Amer. composer and violinist. Studied Eastman Sch. of Mus. Has held several teaching posts. Comps. incl. 2 syms., 3 str. qts., 2 vn. sonatas, hn. sonata.

Donato (Donati), Baldassare (b Venice, c.1530; d Venice, 1603). It. composer and church musician. Maestro di cappella, St Mark's, Venice, from 1590, having been singer there since 1550. Wrote madrigals and motets.

Donatoni, Franco (b Verona, 1927). It. composer. Studied Verdi Cons., Milan, 1946--8, Martini Cons., Bologna, 1948--51, Accademia S. Cecilia, Rome, 1952--3 (with Pizzetti). Teacher since 1953 in various It. cons. Comps. incl. 4 str. qts., concertino for perc., str., and brass, Sinfonia for str., 3 Improvisations for pf., Doubles for hpd., Doubles II for orch., Souvenir for 15 instr.

Donaueschingen. Town in W. Germany with a mus. tradition going back to 17th cent. but notable especially for foundation in 1921 of first fest. devoted exclusively to contemporary mus. Fest. programmes 1921--6 planned mainly by Hindemith and Joseph Haas and incl. works by Kárenek and Hába. In 1926 fest. was moved to Baden-Baden, with emphasis on chamber opera, and in 1930 to Berlin, where competition from New Mus. fest. proved too great. In 1950 fest. was revived in collab. with S.W. Ger. Radio, Baden-Baden, using radio orch. under Rosbaud and, from 1964, Ernest Bour. Among composers brought to the fore at post-1950 fests. are Boulez, Stockhausen, Xenakis, Nono, Ligeti, Berio, Fortner, Penderecki, and Henze. F.ps. there incl. Hindemith's Kammermusik No. 1 (1922), Webern's 6 Songs, Op. 14 (1924), Schoenberg's Serenade, Op. 24 (1924), Boulez's Poésie pour pouvoir (1958), Messiaen's Chronochromie (1960), and Stockhausen's Mantra (1970).

Don Carlos. 5-act opera by Verdi, to French lib. by Méry and du Locle after Schiller's play, comp. 1866, prod. Paris 1867, London CG 1867, NY 1877. This orig. version was heavily cut in Paris; the f.p. of the uncut score was in a BBC studio production in 1973, cond. by John Matheson. There was a stage perf., omitting only the ballet La Périgrina, in Boston, Mass., 1975. In 1882-3 Verdi reduced it to 4 acts by omitting Act I (the 'Fontainebleau scene'), and in 1886 he restored orig. Act I to the 4-act rev. It. version is properly known as Don Carlo. In recent years both 5- and 4-act versions have been perf. and tendency has grown to sing it in Fr. rather than in It. trans.

Done, William (b Worcester, 1815; d Worcester, 1895). Eng. organist and cond. Organist Worcester Cath., 1844--95, also cond. at 3 Choirs Fests. in that period.

Don Giovanni (Il dissoluto punito, ossia Il Don Giovanni; The Rake punished, or Don Giovanni). Dramma giocoso in 2 acts by Mozart (K527) to lib. by da Ponte based on the Don Juan legend as told in Bertati's play (1775). Comp. 1787. Prod Prague 1787, Vienna 1788 (with extra material), London 1817, NY 1826. See also Don Juan.

Donington, Robert (b Leeds, 1907). Eng. author, composer, musicologist, and authority on old instr. Studied with A. Dolmetsch, R. O. Morris, and Wellesz. Expert player of viola da gamba; worked with Dolmetsch at Haslemere. Played in Eng. Consort of Viols 1935--9, London Consort 1950--60, Donington Consort 1956--61. Prof. of mus. at several Amer. univs. 1961--71. Comp. 12-note works. Several books on early mus. but most famous books are his Wagner's 'Ring' and its Symbols (1963), a detailed exposition of the psychological basis of Der Ring des Nibelungen; and two major books on performance practice in early mus., The Interpretation of Early Music (London, 1963) and Performer's Guide to Baroque Music (London, 1973). O.B.E. 1979.

Donizetti, Gaetano (b Bergamo, 1797; d Bergamo, 1848). It. composer, principally of operas. Pupil of Mayr at Bergamo and of Padre Mattei at Bologna. Because of parental opposition to mus. career, he joined the Austrian army, composing in his off-duty spells. His opera Enrico di Borgogna was prod. Venice, 1818, and his 4th opera, Zoraida di Granata was so successful in Rome in 1822 that he obtained his release from the army. In the next 8 years he wrote nearly 30 operas which were perf. throughout It. His first int. success was with Anna Bolena (1830), and this was followed by the comedy L'Elisir d'Amore (1832), and by his masterpiece Luciadi Lammermoor (1835). For Paris, 1840, he comp. the light-hearted La Fille du Régiment and the large-scale La Favorite. His last success was also in Paris, with Don Pasquale in 1843. Donizetti was prof. of counterpoint at Naples Cons. 1835--7, becoming dir. in 1837. He became paralysed and mentally unbalanced as a result of syphilis in 1844. Donizetti's ability to write at great speed has prejudiced attitudes to the quality of his work; so has the fact that he wrote specifically for a generation of great singers such as Grisi, Mario, Lablache, and Tamburini. However, though he catered for their ability and agility, the tendency to underrate the melodic and dramatic content of his operas has only recently been corrected by a more discriminating willingness to recognise Donizetti's brilliance as a rival in comic opera to Rossini; and to acknowledge the debt, in the form of recognizable borrowings, owed to him by Verdi, who clearly appreciated his dramatic mastery. Recently several of Donizetti's lesser-known operas have been revived and found to have unsuspected merit. He also wrote church mus., 12 str. qts., and some orch. works. A list of his operas follows: Enrico di Borgogna, Una follia (1818); Il falegname di Livonia, Le nozze in villa (1819); Zoraida di Granata, La zingara, La lettera anonima, Chiara e Serafina (1822); Il fortunato inganno, Alfredo il Grande (1823); L'ajo nell'imbarazzo, Emilia di Liverpool (1824); Alahor in Granata, Elvida, Gabriella di Vergy (1826); Olivo e Pasquale, Il borgomastro di Saardam, Le convenienze ed inconvenienze teatrali, Otto mesi in due ore (1827); Alina, regina di Golconda, Gianni di Calais, Il Giovedi Grasso, L'esule di Roma (1828); Il Paria, Elisabetta, or Il castello di Kenilworth (1829); Il diluvio universale, I pazzi per progetto, Imelda de' Lambertazzi, Anna Bolena (1830); Gianni di Parigi, La

Romanziera, Francesca di Foix (1831); Fausta, Ugo, conte di Parigi, L'elisir d'amore, Sancia di Castiglia (1832); Il furioso, Parisina, Torquato Tasso, Lucrezia Borgia (1833); Rosmonda d'Inghilterra, Maria Stuarda, Gemma di Vergy (1834); Marino Faliero, Luciadi Lammermoor (1835); Belisario, Il campanello di notte, L'assedio di Calais, Betly (1836); Roberto Devereux, Pia de' Tolomei (1837); Poliuto, Maria di Rudenz (1838); Le Duc d'Albe (1839); La Fille du régiment, La Favorite (1840); Adelia, o La Figlia dell'arciere, Rita, ou le mari battu, Maria Padilla (1841); Linda di Chamounix, Caterina Cornaro (1842); Maria di Rohan, Don Pasquale, Dom Sébastien, roi de Portugal (1843).

Don Juan. (1) The legend of the libertine Don Juan has been the basis of many plays since that of Tirso di Molina in 1630, and of many operas, Mozart's Don Giovanni being the best-known. Other composers who have treated the subject incl. Melani, Gazzaniga, Fabrizi, Federici, Dibdin, Pacini, Dargomyzhsky, Delibes, Alfano, and Goossens. (2) Tone poem, Op. 20, by Richard Strauss, based on poem by Lenau, comp. 1888, f.p. Weimar 1889. (3) Ballet-pantomime in 3 acts, music by Gluck, lib. by Calzabigi, based on Molière. Prod. Vienna 1761.

Donna Diana. Opera in 3 acts by Reznicek; lib. by composer based on Moreto's comedy El Lindo Don Diego (1654). Prod. Prague 1894. Rev. 1908 and 1933.

Donohoe, Peter (b Manchester, 1953). Eng. pianist. Studied at Chetham's Sch. of Mus., RCM, and RNCM. Studied with Deryck Wyndham 1966--76 and then with Yvonne Loriod in Paris. Recital début, Manchester. Joint silver medal, Moscow Tchaikovsky Comp. 1982.

Don Pasquale. 3-act opera buffa by Donizetti to lib. by Ruffini and composer based on Anelli's Ser Marc' Antonio (1810) and ultimately derived from Ben Jonson's Epicene. Prod. Paris and London 1843, New Orleans 1845.

Don Quichotte (Don Quixote). Opera in 5 acts by Massenet to lib. by Henri Cain after Le Lorrain's play based on Cervantes's novel. Comp. 1908--9. Prod. Monte Carlo 1910, London 1912, NY 1914.

Don Quichotte à Dulcinée. 3 songs for v. and pf. by Ravel to poems by Paul Morand. Comp. 1932--3 (his last work). Also version for v. and orch. Written for a film starring Chaliapin.

Don Quixote. (1) Cervantes's novel, pubd. in 2 parts (1605, 1615), has been the inspiration of many mus. works. Operas on the subject have been comp. by Förtsch, Conti, Boismortier, Paisiello, Piccinni, Salieri, Hubac<sup>ek</sup>, García, Mendelssohn, Mercadante, Donizetti, Macfarren, Clay, Jaques-Dalcroze, Heuberger, and Falla. Incidental mus. to a play by D'Urfey was written by Purcell, 1694--5. (2) Tone-poem, Op. 35, by R. Strauss, comp. 1896--7, f.p. Cologne 1898. Introduction, theme and 10 variations, and finale, with solo parts for vc. and va. Sub-titled Fantastische Variationen über ein Thema ritterlichen Charakters (Fantastic Variations on a theme of knightly character). (3) Ballets on the subject are also numerous, including Petipa's of 1869 with mus. by Minkus. More recent ballet mus. has been composed by Petrassi (1947), Ibert (1950), and Gerhard (1950, SW, choreog. N. de Valois).

Donska, Maria (b Lódz, 1912). Polish pianist. Studied in Berlin with Schnabel, later at RCM, London. Prof. of pf., RCM.

Dopo (It.). After.

Doppel (Ger.). Double.

Doppel B or Doppel-be (Ger.). Double flat.

Doppelchor (Ger.). Double chorus.

Doppelfagott (Ger.). Double Bassoon.

Doppelflöte (Ger.). Double flute. Wooden org. stop; sometimes end-plugged pipes: generally 8' pitch (name comes from pipes having 2 mouths, one on each side, producing a loud and pure fl. tone).

Doppelfuge (Ger.). Double fugue.

Doppelkreuz (Ger.). Double sharp.

Doppelschlag (Ger.). Double stroke, i.e. the turn (ornament).

Doppeltaktnote (Ger.). Double-measure-note, or two-barnote. The Breve, or Double Whole-note.

Doppelt so schnell (Ger.). Twice as fast.

Doppio (It.). Double. So Doppio diesis, Doppio bemolle, double sharp, double flat; Doppio movimento, double speed(i.e. twice the preceding speed).

Doppione. Rare medieval double-bore reed-cap wind instr., though experts have discovered that it was later blown directly. Had parallel conical bores, each with a basic set of 7 finger-holes.

Doppler, (Albert)[fy65,3] Franz[fy75,1] (b Lemberg,1821; d Baden, nr. Vienna, 1883). Austrian flautist, cond., and composer. First fl., Pest Opera orch. 1847--58, Vienna Opera orch. from 1858. Prof. of fl., Vienna Cons. from 1865. Cond. ballet at Vienna Opera. Comp. 7 operas, ballets, fl. concs., etc.

Doppler, Karl (b Lemberg, 1825; d Stuttgart, 1900). Austrian flautist, composer, and cond., brother of above. Cond. at Pest Opera and at Vienna Opera 1862--5. Court cond., Stuttgart, 1865--98. Comp. operas, ballets, and fl. mus.

Dorabella. The 10th (Intermezzo) of Elgar's Enigma Variations. Mus. portrait of Dora Penny (Mrs Richard Powell), nickname being reference to Così fan tutte. Mrs Powell's book Edward Elgar: Memories of a Variation (London 1937) gives interesting domestic glimpses of the composer.

Dorati, Antal (b Budapest, 1906). Hung.-born cond. and composer (Amer. citizen since 1947). Studied Budapest Acad. and Univ., and Vienna Univ. Early career as opera cond. in Budapest (début 1924), Dresden, and Munster, then 2nd cond. Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo 1935--7, cond. orig. Ballet Russe 1938--41, and Ballet Th. 1941--5. Prin. cond. Dallas S.O. 1945--9, Minneapolis S.O. 1949--60, BBC S.O. 1962--6, Stockholm P.O. 1966, National Sym. of Washington D.C. 1970--6, RPO 1975--8, Detroit S.O. 1977--81. Comp. sym., vc. conc., cantata, ballet, and str. qt. Arr. ballet mus. Cond. recording with Philharmonia Hungarica of complete Haydn syms. and several Haydn operas. Hon. K.B.E. 1983.

Dorfmann, Ania (b Odessa, 1899). Russ. pianist. Studied in Paris. European tours 1920--6; later career mainly in USA. Teacher at Juilliard Sch. from 1966.

Dorfmusikanten Sextett (Mozart). See Musical Offering.

Dorian Mode. The Mode represented by the white keys of the pf. beginning at D. See Modes.

Dorian (Doric) Toccata and Fugue. Name given to a Toccata and Fugue in D minor by Bach because orig. copy omitted key-signature and thus suggested Dorian Mode.

Dorward, David (Campbell) (b Dundee, 1933). Scot. composer. Studied St Andrews Univ., RAM. Joined mus. staff, BBC Scotland, 1962. Works include 1-act opera Tonight, Mrs Morrison, sym., vc. conc., vn. conc., str. qts., songs, etc.

Dot, Dotted Note. Mark in notation. (1) Placed above a note indicates staccato. (2) Placed after a note lengthens it by half. But in music up to and including Bach and Handel the addition intended was merely approximately half, something being left to the decision of the performer, e.g. a dotted quaver and a semiquaver in one part, played against a triplet of quavers in another part, might accommodate itself to that latter rhythm, [ol46] being rendered thus [ol45]. Also in a very slow movement ___ might be [ol7] rendered ___. It was, indeed, to meet this latter case that the double dot (the second dot adding half the value of the first one) was in 1769 introduced by Mozart's father, Leopold Mozart.

Doublé (Fr.). The turn (ornament).

Double. (1) (Fr.). A variation, especially one with elaborate ornamentation. Similar to Eng. 'division'. (2) Indicates a lower octave, e.g. double bassoon plays an octave below bassoon. (3) Singers who perform two roles in one work and instrumentalists who play more than one instr. in a comp. e.g. fl. doubles piccolo.

Double Action. The mechanism of a harp invented by Érard, so called to distinguish it from earlier models on which pitches could be raised only by a semitone.

Double Appoggiatura. See Acciaccatura.

Double Bar. The double perpendicular linemarking the end of a comp. or of some section thereof. (It may or may not coincide with a single bar line and if it does not do so has no rhythmic function.) Usually reinforced when they mark the end of the work. With dots on either side of the lines they indicate that the previous or subsequent section is to be repeated.

Double Bass (or Contrabass). Largest and lowest-pitched of bowed string instruments, derived from the Violone. Formerly had 3 strings but now generally has 4, usually tuned at the interval of a 4th. Compass from E just over an octave below bass stave upwards for nearly 3 octaves. Some instruments have 5 strings, extra string sounding B below bottom E. Generally an orchestral instrument, but occasionally used in chamber music and very occasionally as solo concerto instrument. Used in jazz and dance bands, mostly pizzicato.

Double-Bass Clarinet. Also known as pedal cl., or contrabass cl., in BBb. Mainly used by military bands. Part written 9th higher than sounds.

Double Bassoon (Contrabassoon; Fr. 'Contrebasson'; Ger. 'Kontrafagott'). Wind instr. octave deeper than bassoon and notated octave higher than it sounds, though Wagner and Debussy sometimes wrote for it at pitch. Some baroque examples were made but standard modern design is Heckel's (1876). Conical bore tube is 18' long, with 5 parallel sections connected by 4 U-bends. Crook fits into metal tube. Brahms scored for it in his 1st Sym. In Strauss's Salomé there is a long solo for the instr. when Jokanaan descends into his cell.

Double-Bass Saxhorn. In Bb or C. Almost identical with Bb bass tuba, but with range complete at bottom. Sometimes treated as transposing instr.

Double-Bass (Contrabass) Trombone. Pitched an octave below ten. tb.

Double-Bass (Contrabass) Tuba. One of the tuba family, pitched an octave below ten. tuba. Has wide conical bore and cup-shaped mouthpiece. Wagner used one to strengthen the bass of his 8-part harmony by doubling it an octave lower.

Double-Bass Viol. Also known as Violone or Consort Viol. Sounded an octave below bass viol. See Viol.

Double-bémol (Fr.). Double flat.

Double C. Sometimes used to indicate the note C, 2 lines below the bass stave.

Double Choir (or Chorus). Ch. arranged in 2 equal and complete bodies with a view not merely to singing in 8 parts but also to responsive effects, etc. Much used by Venetian composers of 16th and 17th cents.

Double Concerto. A conc. with 2 prin. instr., either of the same kind, as in double pf. conc., or different, as in Brahms's conc. for vn. and vc. Also used to denote use of 2 orchs. (generally str.), e.g. Tippett's Conc. for double str. orch.

Double Counterpoint. Invertible counterpoint concerning 2 vv. (permitting vv. to change places, the higher becoming lower and vice versa).

Double-croche (Fr.). Double-hook, i.e. semiquaver or 16th-note.

Double-Curtal. 16th-cent. instr., being a larger or different size of the curtal or dulcian, ancestor of the bn. In Eng. it meant the bass curtal.

Double-dièse (Fr.). Double sharp.

Double Dot. See Dot.

Double English Horn. Org. stop of Hope-Jones invention: 16' chorus reed.

Double Flat. The sign bb when placed before a note, indicates that its pitch is lowered a whole-step or tone. The resultant note has a simpler enharmonic name, e.g. on the pf., Abb is Gnat. See Inflection of notes.

Double Fugue. A fugue with 2 subjects. There are 2 types: (1) in which the subjects appear from the start, and (2) in which the first subject is treated for a time, the other then appearing and being similarly treated, after which the 2 are combined.

Double-handed. Term applied to band of players that is convertible from wind to str. or to full orch; or to an instrumentalist who can play 2 different instr.

DoubleHarp. Early form of harp which had only 2 rows of str., diatonically tuned. Intermediate semitones could be obtained only by shortening the length of a str. with the thumb while plucking it with a finger. Not the same as Double Action Harp.

Double Horn. Valve horn pitched in both F and Bb alto.

Double Octaves. In pf.-playing, octaves played simultaneously in both hands.

Double Open Diapason. Diapason org. stop of 16' pitch.

DoubleOrgan. (1, obsolete). Either one with a full kbd., descending to 8' C or 12' G, or one with 2 manuals. (2, modern, sometimes used in USA). Org. with separate 'sanctuary' division.

Double Pedal. Harmonic pedal in which 2 notes are held, generally tonic and dominant.

Double Reed. Wind instr. such as ob., cor anglais, Heckelphone, bn., and double bn., whose mouthpiece consists of 2 pieces of cane between which air is blown so that the 2 reeds vibrate against each other.

Double-sharp. The sign x which, placed before a note, raises it by a whole-step or tone. As with Double-flat, the resultant note can be more simply named, e.g. F x is Gnat. on the pf. See Inflection of Notes.

Double Stopping. Term used of str. instr., to indicate stopping and playing on 2 str. simultaneously to produce a 2-part effect. Also used, loosely, when one or both of the str. are 'open'.

Double Suspension. Harmonic term, when 2 notes of a chord are held over as a momentary discordant part of the following combination. Resolved by moving to notes which form real part of 2nd chord.

Double Tonguing. Fast method of articulation while playing wind instr. such as fl. and piccolo. Obtained by alternation of the sounds T and K or D and G when the mouth is applied to the embouchure. See Tonguing.

Double Virginals. A virginal of which the kbd. descended to C below bass stave.

Double Whole-Note. Amer. term for the Breve.

Doubling. Term meaning (1) Duplication of a melody by several performers, e.g. 'the solo soprano's part is doubled by the oboe'. (2) Duplication of instr. by one player, the commonest orch. example being the doubling of piccolo by one of the flautists, i.e. the 2nd flautist plays piccolo instead of fl. when required.

Dou;alcaine. Medieval reed instr. about which information is very scanty, but it is thought to have been of ten. pitch and soft in tone.

Douglas, Nigel (b Lenham, Kent, 1934). Eng. ten. Studied Oxford and Vienna Mus. Acad. Prin. ten. Zürich Opera House from 1964; Vienna Volksoper 1964--8, Scottish Opera 1968--71, WNO 1971. Expert on Viennese operetta. Frequent broadcaster of mus. talks.

Douglas, (Richard) Roy (b Tunbridge Wells, 1907). Eng. composer, arranger, and mus. ed. Orch. of Chopin for ballet Les Sylphides used by many cos. Worked closely with Vaughan Williams 1944--58, and wrote book about their assoc. Working with RVW (1972). Comp. and arr. of mus. for brass band.

Doux, Douce (Fr.). Sweet. Doucement, sweetly.

Dowland, John (b London, ?1563; d London, 1626). Eng. composer, singer, and lutenist. From 1580 to 1584 was in service of Brit. Ambassador to Paris where he became R.C. Mus. B. Oxon 1588. Lutenist at courts at Brunswick, Hesse, Venice, Florence, and Nuremberg, 1595. Lutenist to King of Denmark 1598--1606. Returned to London 1606; musician to James I 1612. Though noted in his day as a virtuoso lutenist and singer, he is now recognized as a great composer, whose songs melodically and harmonically advanced the 'art song'. His printed songs numbered 87 of which 84 appeared in 4 vols. (3 Books of Songs or Ayres, 1597, 1600, 1603, and A Pilgrims Solace, 1612), and 3 in his son Robert's Musical Banquet, 1614. Among his finest songs are Awake, Sweet Love; Come again Sweet Love; Fine Knacks for Ladies; Flow my Tears; Flow not so fast, ye Fountains; In Darkness let me Dwell; Sweet, stay awhile; Weep ye no more, sad Fountains; Welcome black night. Among his other comps. are the Lachrimae of 1604, which contains 21 instr. items incl. the celebrated Semper Dowland semper dolens, and many pieces for solo lute. These include Walsingham, Loth to Depart, My Lady Hunsdons Puffe, Queen Elizabeths Galliard, and Dowlands Adew.

Down-Beat. Downward movement of cond's. stick or hand, in particular when indicating first beat of the bar. See also Up-beat.

Down by the Greenwood Side. Dramatic pastoral by Birtwistleto lib. by Michael Nyman for sop., mime and speech, and chamber ens. Comp. 1969.

Downes, Edward (b Birmingham, 1924). Eng. cond. and hn.-player. Studied Birmingham Univ. and RCM, later with H. Scherchen. Ass. cond. Carl Rosa Opera 1950-1; staff cond. CG 1951-69. First Eng. cond. after 1945 to conduct full Ring cycle (1967); mus. dir. and chief cond. Australian Opera 1972-6. Trans. Russ. libs., e.g. Khovanshchina and Katerina Izmaylova. Guest cond. leading sym. orchs. Prin. cond., BBC Philharmonic from 1980. Cond. f.p. of Maxwell Davies's Taverner, 1972, and first opera perf. in Sydney Opera House, (War and Peace, 28 Sept. 1973).

Downes, Ralph (William) (b Derby, 1904). Eng. organist. Studied RCM. Lecturer Princeton Univ., NJ, 1928-35; organist London Oratory from 1936; designed many important orgs. incl. for Royal Festival Hall. Prof. RCM from 1954. C.B.E. 1969.

Doxologia, Doxology (from the Gr. Doxa, 'Glory', and Logos 'Discourse'). Any liturgical formula of praise, as the Gloria patri ('Glory be to the Father', etc., i.e. the 'Lesser Doxology', or 'Doxologia parva', used at the end of the Psalms), or the Gloria in excelsis Deo ('Glory to God in the highest'---the 'Greater Doxology', or 'Doxologia magna'). The 'Greater Doxology' is a part of the Roman Mass (sung to differing plainsong according to the feast); properly it should be left to the priest until the words 'Et in terra pax', when the choir should enter, but composers such as Bach, Mozart, and Beethoven have ignored this. In its Eng. wording the 'Greater Doxology' is a part of the Anglican Communion Service.

D'Oyly Carte, Richard (b London, 1844; d London, 1901). English impresario and producer of light operas, who brought together the librettist Gilbert and the composer Sullivan for Trial by Jury, 1875. Partnership so successful he built theatre, the Savoy, which opened 1881 with Patience. His attempt to launch English grand opera with Sullivan's Ivanhoe, 1891, failed. His widow Helen (d 1913) continued management of 'Savoy operas', followed by son Rupert (1876-1948) and granddaughter Bridget. The Gilbert and Sullivan operas were generally presented in Britain professionally by the D'Oyly Carte Opera Co. until 1982 (they were known more widely as 'D'Oyly Carte operas' than as 'Savoy operas') but the D'Oyly Carte's exclusive ownership of them ended with expiry of Sullivan's copyright in 1950 and other opera companies have produced them, e.g. Sadler's Wells.

Draghi, Antonio (b Rimini, c.1635; d Vienna, 1700). Austrian composer and administrator of It. birth. Worked in Venice, went to Vienna 1658. Kapellmeister to Viennese court from 1682. Comp. operas, oratorios and cantatas, numerous serenades, etc.

Draghi, Giovanni Battista (b c.1640; d London, 1708). It. harpsichordist and composer who settled in Eng. and became organist to Charles II's queen, Catherine of Braganza, and mus.-

teacher of the future Queen Anne. Wrote incid. mus. and songs for plays by Shadwell, Tate, Apra Behn, etc.

Dragonetti, Domenico (b Venice, 1763; d London, 1846). It. virtuoso on db. Largely self-taught. In orch. of St Mark's Venice, at age 18. Went to London 1794, playing in opera orch. and giving nationwide recitals with cellist Lind;Dh ley. Twice visited Vienna, where he knew Haydn and Beethoven. Played db. in f.p. of Beethoven's 9th Sym. Comp. solos for db. At 82 in 1845 led db. section in Bonn Beethoven Fest.

Dragoni, Giovanni Andrea (b Meldola, c.1540; d Rome, 1598). It. composer and pupil of Palestrina. Choirmaster at St John Lateran 1576--98. Comp. madrigals and motets.

Dramatic. (1) Applied to sop., ten., etc., a singer with a powerful vocal style suitable for forceful operatic roles. (2) Applied strictly to mus., this adjective signifies mus. written for the stage, but the much more general meaning is mus. of strongly theatrical spirit and effect, e.g. Tchaikovsky's 4th Sym., Berlioz's Symphonie Fantastique, Strauss's Don Juan, Beethoven's Appassionata Sonata, etc.

Dramaturg. Official at Ger. opera houses who adapts libs., edits programmes, works as press officer, and sometimes produces.

Drame Lyrique (Fr.). Lyric drama, i.e. serious opera. Debussy thus described his Pelléas et Mélisande.

Dramma Giocoso (It.). Comic drama. 18th-cent. It. term for comic operas containing tragic features. Used by Mozart to describe Don Giovanni and by Haydn for several of his operas.

Dramma per musica (It.). Drama through music. 17th- and 18th-cent. It. term for serious opera.

Drängend (Ger.). Urging forward, hurrying.

Drawstop. The part of an organ which operates a row of pipes. See Stop.

Drdla, Frantis^ek (Franz) (b ;akZd[fy8,1]Fár nad Sázavou, Moravia, 1869; d Gastein, 1944). Cz. composer and violinist. Member of Vienna court opera orch. Comp. 2 operettas, pf. pieces, and songs, but best known for pieces for vn. and pf. such as Serenade and Souvenir.

Dream of Gerontius, The. Setting by Elgar, Op. 38, for mez., ten., bass, ch., semi-ch., and orch. of Cardinal J. H. Newman's poem (1866). Comp. 1900 (some sketches 1896). F.p. Birmingham 1900, cond. Richter. F.London p. 1903. Although frequently described and classified as an oratorio, this is not a term Elgar approved in this connection and does not appear on the score.

Dreigroschenoper, Die (The Threepenny Opera). Opera in prol. and 8 scenes by Weill, text being a modern interpretation of Gay's The Beggar's Opera based on a trans. by Elisabeth Hauptmann with lyrics (some from Kipling and Villon) by Bertolt Brecht. Prod. Berlin 1928, NY 1933, London 1956. Eng. trans. and adaptation by Blitzsteinprod. Brandeis, Mass., 1952, and NY 1954.

Drei Pintos, Die (The Three Pintos). Comic opera in 3 acts left unfinished by Weber and completed by Mahler. Weber began work in 1820 on lib. by Theodor Hell (Karl Winkler) based on story Der Brautkampf by C. Seidel. Work on mus. for Preciosa and the commissioned operas Euryanthe and Oberon prevented Weber composing for Die drei Pintos beyond 1821. On his death in 1826, he left sketches for 7 out of 17 numbers, a total of 1,700 bars of which only 18 were scored. In 1826 these were taken to Meyerbeer, who kept them until 1852 but did nothing with them. In 1887 Weber's grandson invited Mahler, then 2nd cond. at Leipzig Opera, to complete the work, which he undertook by using Weber's sketches and extending the opera to 21 numbers in length by inserting other pieces by Weber and sections comp. by himself based on Weber's themes. The result is a remarkable example of posthumous collaboration. Prod. Leipzig 1888, cond. Mahler; London 1962.

Dresden. City in E. Germany (Saxony) with long mus. tradition. Its archives mention an organist in 1370 and from about 1420 three wind players were instructed to play on 29 major church fests. At the court mus. first achieved prominence c.1540. In the 18th cent. artistic life at court was on a grand scale and among the court composers and Kapellmeisters of that era were Zelenka, Lotti, Hasse, and J. S. Bach (who held the title 1736--50 but was active only in Leipzig at this period). By the end of the cent. Dresden's reputation for It. opera was high. A German Opera was founded in 1817 with Weber as cond. Weber's ideals were continued 17 years after his death by Wagner, whose own Rienzi was produced in Dresden in 1842, followed by Der fliegende Holländer 1843 and Tannhäuser 1845. The Royal Saxon Opera House, designed by Gottfried Semper, was opened 1841. This was burned down 1869 and his second building was opened 1878. Dresden's most illustrious operatic period dates from the appointment as cond. in 1882 of Ernst von Schuch. He championed Wagner's later operas and those of Richard Strauss whose Feuersnot (1901), Salomé (1905), Elektra (1909), and Der Rosenkavalier (1911) had their f.ps. under Schuch. After Schuch the opera was cond. by Fritz Reiner (1914--21), but it was Fritz Busch (1922--33) who revived its glories and continued the Straussassoc. with f.ps. of Intermezzo (1924) and Die ägyptische Helena (1928). He also cond. new operas by Hindemith (Cardillac, 1926) and Busoni (Doktor Faust, 1925). Driven out by the Nazis, Busch was succeeded by Karl Böhm, although Clemens Krauss cond. the f.p. of Strauss's Arabella in 1933. Under Böhm (1934--42), Strauss's Die schweigsame Frau (1935) and Daphne (1938) were first performed, also Sutermeister's Romeo und Julia (1940). Böhm was succeeded by Karl Elmendorff (1943--4). The opera house was bombed in 1945 and rebuilt 1948. Cond. from 1945 to 1950 was Joseph Keilberth. His successors were Rudolf Kempe (1950--3), Franz Konwitschny (1953--5), Lovro von Matac*^i;aac* (1956--8), Otmar Suitner (1960--4), Kurt Sanderling (1964--7), Martin Turnovsky (1967--8), Siegfried Kurz (1971--5), and Herbert Blomstedt from 1975. Operas given f.ps. in Dresden since 1945 incl. Blacher's Die Flut (1947), and U. Zimmermann's Levins Mühle (1973). The opera dir. from 1973 was Harry Kupfer. Orch. mus. in Dresden has been provided by two orchs., the venerable Staatskapelle (which plays for the opera) and the Philharmonic. The Staatskapelle dates its origins to the 16th cent. and has had various guises. One of them, from 1923, was as the Saxon State Orch. cond. by Busch and later by Böhm. The Philharmonic was founded in 1871, though under another name. Its cond. incl. Strauss, Bülow, Nikisch, Mottl, and Edwin Lindner. Its greatest period, which incl. fests. of modern mus., was under Paul van Kempen (1934--42). After 1945 cond. incl. Heinz Bongartz (1947--64), H. Förster (1964--7), Kurt Masur (1967--72), Günther Herbig (1972--7), and Herbert Kegel from 1977. Other composers beside Wagner to have lived in Dresden were Schumann (1844--50), who cond. the Liedertafel and founded a choir, and Rachmaninov (1906--9).

Dresden Amen. Setting of Amen comp. by J. G. Naumann (1741--1801) in Threefold Amen of Royal Chapel of Dresden. Quoted by Mendelssohn in his Reformation Sym. (1830--2) and by Wagner in Parsifal (1878--82).

Drew, David (b London, 1930). Eng. mus. critic and publisher. Mus. critic New Statesman, 1959--67, ed. Tempo 1971. Specialist in Messiaen, Weill, Stravinsky, Gerhard, and other 20th cent. figures. On staff Boosey and Hawkes from 1975.

Drigo, Riccardo (b Padua, 1846; d Padua, 1930). It. composer and cond. Cond., St Petersburg court opera from 1878, chief. cond. Maryinsky Th. 1886--1917. Wrote operas and ballets, latter incl. Les Millions d'Arlequin (1900), from which the Serenade is well-known. Valse bluettewas a popular salon piece.

Drone. Pipe or pipes sounding continuous note of fixed pitch as a permanent bass, e.g. of bagpipes. Hence drone bass applied to orch. mus.

Droit, droite (Fr.). Right, e.g. main droite, right hand. But droit as a noun means right in another sense, e.g. Droits d'exécution. Performing Rights.

Drouet, Louis Francois Philippe (b Amsterdam, 1792; d Berne, 1873). Fr. flautist. Played in public at age 7. Taught King of Holland 1807--10; solo flautist to Napoleon 1811. Founded fl. factory in London 1818--19. Court mus. dir. Coburg 1836--54. Wrote many works for fl., incl. 10 concs.

Druckman, Jacob (b Philadelphia, 1928). Amer. composer. Studied Juilliard Sch. 1949--54, 1955--6, with Wagenaar and Mennin, also in Paris and at Columbia-Princeton Elec. Mus. Center (1965--6). Dir. Yale Univ. Sch. of Mus. elec. studio 1971--2. Pulitzer Prize 1972 for Windows, f.p. Chicago S.O. cond. Maderna. Works incl. conc. for str. (1951), ballet mus., 2 str. qts., Valentine, db. solo (1969), The Sound of Time for sop. and orch. (1965), and Animus I, II, III, and IV (1966, 1968, 1969, 1977), for instr. and tape, Lamia, sop. and orch. (1974), Chiaroscuro, orch. (1976), Other Voices, brass quintet (1976), va. conc. (1978), Aureole, orch. (1979), Prism, 3 pieces for orch. after Charpentier, Cavalli, and Cherubini (1980).

Drum. Percussion instrument of several kinds consisting of hollow wood or metal cylinder over which a skin is stretched (the drumhead). Sound is obtained by striking the skin with a stick. Among the leading types of drum are: (1)

kettledrum (It. timpano; plur. timpani. The spelling 'tympani' is incorrect). Tuned to a definite pitch. A bowl of metal with, stretched over its open end, a membrane of which the tension can be increased or decreased by turning screws (in Machine Drums) or by some mechanical method. The playing is by means of 2 drumsticks, with heads of material which varies according to the tone-quality desired. Up to and including Beethoven the orch. player had 2 kettledrums normally tuned to the tonic and dominant (Doh and Soh) of the key in use; nowadays he has usually 3, and sometimes more. Both repeated notes and rolls are played. Forms of 'muffling' (= muting, see Mute) are possible, such as placing a cloth over the drumhead. Most composers up to and including Mozart notated for the kettledrums as one of the 'transposing instruments', the part being written in key C (i.e. the notes shown being C and G) and the actual pitch of the 2 notes being indicated at the outset by some such indication as timpani in D, A (according to the key of the piece). The current method is to show the actual notes to be played with all sharps and flats indicated. The use of pedals for mechanical tuning is widespread and enables glissando effects. In mounted military bands the kettledrum is used, one being slung on each side of the horse. Introduction of the kettledrum into the orch. is generally attributed to Lully in his opera Thésée (1675). (2)

side drum[nm or [s]msnare drum. Of indefinite pitch. A small cylindrical drum with parchment at each end, one end having strings (snares) across it, to add a rattling effect and so increase the brilliance of the tone, the other end being left clear for the use of 2 drumsticks. It can be muted by placing a handkerchief or a wooden wedge between the snares and the parchment. (3)

tenor drum. Larger than the side drum and without snares. It is rarely used in the sym. orch. (4)

bass drum. Indefinite and low pitch. Large and shallow, used in the sym. orch., military band, and dance band (in which the drumstick is often worked by a pedal). Played with skinheads perpendicular. (5)

trap drum. Drum equipment used in dance bands and theatre pit, comprising bass drum with cymbal attached, both being played with foot pedal. Drummer thus has both hands free to play snare drum.

Drum Mass (Haydn). See Paukenmesse.

Drum Roll Symphony (Haydn). See Paukenwirbel.

D.S. Abbreviation for Dal segno.

DSCH. Personal motto, derived from letters of his name, by Dmitri Shostakovich, notated as D-Eb-C-B. Occurs in several of his works, incl. 8thstr. qt., 10th and 15th Syms., and 1st Vn. Conc.

Dub. Old Eng. for tabor.

Dubensky, Arkady (b Vyatka, Russia, 1890; d Tenafly, NJ, 1966). Russ.-born violinist and composer. Studied Moscow Cons. Leader, Moscow Imperial Opera Orch. for 9 years. Went to NY 1921, joining NY S.O. until merger with NY P.O. of which he became member until 1953. Comp. for unusual combinations, e.g. Fugue for 18 vn., Fugue for 4 bn., Suite for 9 fl., Ov. for 18 toy tpt., Fantasy on Negro Themes for tuba and orch., tb. conc., concerto grosso for 3 tb., tuba, and orch. Also wrote operas, str. qts., and works for conventional orch. forces.

Dubois, (Fran<sup>ç</sup>ois Clément)[fy65,3] Théodore (b Rosnay, 1837; d Paris, 1924). Fr. composer, organist, and teacher. Studied Paris Cons. under A. Thomas. Followed Saint-Saëns as organist of Madeleine 1877--1906. Prof. of harmony, Paris Cons. 1871--90, dir. 1896--1905. Resigned after protests over exclusion by jury incl. Dubois, of Ravel from entering for Prix de Rome for 4th time. Wrote operas, ballet, oratorios, cantatas, orch. works, incl. 3 syms., 2 pf. concs., and vn. conc.

Ducasse. See Roger-Ducasse, Jean J. A.

Duc d'Albe, Le (The Duke of Alba). (1) 4-act opera by Donizetti, to lib. by Scribe, written for Paris 1839 but not prod. Score recovered at Bergamo 1875, completed by Salvi, and prod. as Il duca d'Alba, Rome 1882. Scribe altered lib. and re-sold it to Verdi in 1853 as Les Vêpres siciliennes, Verdi only discovering 30 years later that it had been used by Donizetti. (2) Opera, Il Duca d'Alba, by Pacini to lib. by Piave, 1842.

Dudelkastensack, or Dudelsack (Ger.). Bagpipe.

Due (It.). Two. (1) A due, either (a) div. between 2 instr. or vv., or (b) 2 instr. or vv. to join in playing the same line. (2) Due corde. Two strings, i.e. in vn. mus., etc., divide the passage over 2 str.

Due Foscari, I (The Two Foscari). 3-act opera by Verdi to lib. by Piave, based on Byron's drama (1821). Comp. 1843--4. Prod. Rome 1844, London and Boston, Mass., 1847.

Duenna, The, or The Double Elopement. (1) 3-act opera comp. and compiled by Thomas Linley senior and junior to text by Sheridan. Prod. London 1775, NY 1786. (2) 4-act opera by Prokofiev, to his own lib. based on Sheridan with verses by Mira Mendelson, and sometimes known as Betrothal in a Nunnery. Comp. 1940--1, prod. Leningrad 1946, London, 1980. (3) 3-act opera by Gerhard to his own lib. after Sheridan. Comp. 1945--7, rev. 1950. BBC broadcast 1949. Prod. (concert) Wiesbaden 1951.

Duet (Fr. duo; Ger. Duett; It. duo or duetto). Any combination of 2 performers (with or without acc.), or a comp. for such, as in pf. duet.

Dufay, Guillaume (b c.1400; d Cambrai, 1474). Fr. composer. Choirboy at Cambrai Cath. Went to It. in his twenties and fled from Bologna to Rome in 1428, staying until 1433. Sang in the papal chapel. Met Binchois in 1434. Returned to Cambrai 1439. His connection with the Burgundian court is now thought to have been unlikely. Was most acclaimed comp. of 15th cent. Nearly 200 of his works have survived incl. 8 complete Masses and 84 songs. Use of a secular cantus firmus such as 'L'homme armé' in a Mass possibly originated with him. Was basically a conservative comp., but his warm harmonies and expressive tunes anticipate the Renaissance. Undoubtedly his melodic clarity stemmed from his It. years. Composed the earliest Requiem Mass, now lost.

Dukas, Paul (b Paris, 1865; d Paris, 1935). Fr. composer. Studied Paris Cons. 1882--9, 2nd Prix de Rome 1888. Early works influenced by Wagner. Scored major success in 1897 with orch. scherzo L'Apprenti Sorcier. Perhaps his finest work is his opera Ariane et Barbe-Bleu, (Paris, 1907) based like Debussy's Pelléas on a Maeterlinck play and finding, like Debussy, symbolic and emotional depths in the text which are luminously translated into mus. Also wrote ballet La Péri (1912), and pf. sonata (1901) said to be the first by a major Fr. composer. Prof. of orch., Paris Cons. 1910--13, ofcomp., 1928--35. Wrote much criticism. Pubd. very little mus. after 1920 and destroyed his unpubd. works before he died. Aided Saint-Saëns in completion of Guiraud's opera Frédégonde, orchestrating first 3 acts. Ed. several Rameau operas. Prin. works:

opera: Ariane et Barbe-Bleu (1899--1906).

ballet: La Péri (1911--12).

orch: Ov. Polyeucte (1892); Sym. in C (1896); L'Apprenti Sorcier (1897); La Péri, suite.

piano: Sonata in Eb minor (1899--1901), Variations, Interlude et Final (sur un thème de Rameau) (1903), Prélude élégiaque (1908), La Plainte au loin du faune (1920).

chamber music[nm: Villanelle (hn. and pf.). [smsong: Sonnet de Ronsard (1924).

Duke Bluebeard's Castle (A kékszakállú herceg vára). Opera in 1 act, Op. 11, by Bartók, comp. 1911, to lib. by Béla Balázs, for sop. and bar. Rev. 1912 and 1918. First perf. Budapest 1918, NY 1952, London 1957.

Duke, Vernon. See Dukelsky, Vladimir.

Dukelsky, Vladimir (b Parfianovka, 1903; d Santa Monica, Calif., 1969). Russ.-born composer (Amer. citizen). Studied comp. with Glière at Kiev Cons. Ballet Zéphyr et Flore prod. Diaghilev, 1925. Wrote several other ballets, operas, 3 syms., oratorio, pf. conc., vn. conc., vc. conc., pf. sonata, hpd. sonata. Under name Vernon Duke wrote mus. for musical comedies, films, etc. Best-known song April in Paris.

Dulcet. Org. stop: a Dulciana of 4' length and pitch.

Dulcian. Alternative name for the curtale.

Dulciana. Soft org. stop usually in Brit. of diapason class, and in USA of str.-toned class.

Dulciana Mixture. Org. Mixture stop of soft tone, generally on Swell or Echo manual.

Dulcimer. Old instr. A shallow closed box over which are stretched wires to be struck with 2 wooden hammers held in the player's hands. Still in use in E. Europe for traditional mus. (known in Hung. as cimbalom). In USA is wrongly applied to plucked zither-like folk-instr.

Dulcitone. Kbd. instr. similar to celesta, but with steel tuning forks instead of steel plates. In Fr. known as typophone. Used by d'Indy in Chant de la Cloche.

Dumbarton Oaks Concerto. Name given to Stravinsky's Conc. in Eb for chamber orch. (15 instr.) because it received its f.p. in May 1938 (cond. by N. Boulanger) at Dumbarton Oaks, the estate in Washington D.C. of Mr & Mrs R. W. Bliss who commissioned this 'little concerto in the style of the Brandenburg Concertos'.

Dumka (plural Dumky). A type of Slavonic folk-ballad, Ukrainian in orig., in which elegiac and fast tempi alternate. Term was used by Dvořák for movements in his str. sextet and pf. quintet. His Dumky Trio is the nickname for his pf. trio, Op. 90, comprising 6 dumka movements. His Pf. Sonata, Op. 35 (1876) is also known as the Dumka.

Dump, Dumpe. Title given to some Eng. kbd. pieces of the 16th and early 17th cents., often in variation form and possibly elegiac in intention ('down in the dumps', for example, means 'in a depressed mood'). My Ladye Careys Dompe is a typical (though anonymous) example.

Dunayevsky, Isaak (b Likhvitsa, 1900; d Moscow, 1955). Russ. composer of popular mus. Pupil of J. Akhron. First Soviet composer to adopt jazzidom. Wrote many songs, also operettas, ballets, orch. works, and str. qt.

Dunhill, Thomas (Frederick) (b London, 1877; d Scunthorpe, 1946). Eng. composer and writer. Studied RCM with Stanford. Ass. mus. master, Eton College, 1899–1908. Comps. incl. sym., operetta Tantivy Towers (lib. by A. P. Herbert, prod. London 1931), Elegiac Variations for orch., vn. sonata, pf. qt., 2 pf. trios, many songs incl. The Cloth of Heaven (Yeats). Wrote several books, subjects incl. Mozart's str. qts., Elgar, and chamber mus.

Duni, Egidio Romualdo (b Matera, 1708; d Paris, 1775). It. composer. Wrote over 12 It. operas, then settled in Fr., composing 20 Fr. operas in the opéra comique style. These incl. La Fille mal gardée (1758), Les Deux Chasseurs (1763), and La Clochette (1766).

Dunstable (Dunstable), John (b c.1390; d London, 1453). Eng. composer, astrologer, and mathematician. Leading Eng. composer of first half of 15th cent. Enjoyed European reputation, attested by discovery of his works in early It. and Fr. colls. Was member of households of John, Duke of Bedford and Humphrey, Duke of Gloucester, the latter a noted patron of the arts. Travelled to Europe and was given land holdings in Normandy. Influenced Dufay and Binchois. Probably first to write instr. acc. for church mus. Wrote masses, isorhythmic motets, etc. Buried in St Stephen's, Walbrook, London.

Duo (It.). Two. (1) Duet, usually but not exclusively instr. (2) 2 performers, or a work written for them. In USA a duo-pianist is member of a 2-pf. duo.

Duodrama. A work for 2 actors to speak to orch. acc. Mozart admired the form.

Duparc, Elisabeth ('Francesina') (d ?1778). Fr. soprano trained in It. Opera engagement London 1736. Sang in Handel's Faramondo and Serse in 1738 and thenceforward was almost exclusively a Handel singer, being his leading sop. from 1738 to 1745. Sang in Messiah, April 1745.

Duparc, (Marie Eugène) Henri (Fouques) (b Paris, 1848; d Mont-de-Marsan, 1933). Fr. composer. Intended for law but studied pf. and comp. with Franck. Extremely self-critical, destroying most of his early works. His 16 songs, orig. in idiom and foretelling impressionism, are models of sensitivity to the poetic text combined with melodic inspiration and a harmonic style based on Wagner. They were comp. between 1868 and 1884. After 1885 he wrote nothing owing to an incurable nervous disease. His output is as follows:

songs: (with pf. acc., but ;sd = orch. version provided by Duparc): ;sd*Chansontriste* (1868 or 9); Soupir (1869); Romance de Mignon (1869); Sérénade (1869); Le galop (1869); ;sd*Au pays où se fait la guerre* (?1869--70, orig. title Absence); ;sd*L'Invitation au voyage* (1870); ;sd*La vague et la cloche* (1871, comp. for orch., with pf. acc. supplied later first by d'Indy then by Duparc); Elégie (1874); Extase (1874, ?rev. 1884); ;sd*Le Manoir de Rosemonde* (1879 or 82); Sérénade Florentine (?1880--1); ;sd*Phidylé* (1882); Lamento (1883 or 5); ;sd*Testament* (1883 or 5); ;sd*La Vie antérieure* (1884).

vocal: La fruite, sop., ten., pf. (1871); Benedicat vobis Dominus, motet, STB (1882).

orch: Poème Nocturne (1874, orig. in 3 movts., but only No. 1, Aux Étoiles, survives); Lénore, sym.-poem (1875).

piano: 5 Feuilles volantes (?1867--9).

Duplet. Pair of notes of equal time-value, written where number of beats cannot be divided by 2. See Irregular rhythmic groupings.

Duple Time. Where the primary division is into 2 e.g. ;D2;E4 as distinct from triple time (primary division into 3) or quadruple (division into 4). See Time Signature.

Duplex-Coupler Piano. Pf. invented 1921 by Moór. Has 2 manuals, the upper tuned an octave higher. These are placed so that the hand can easily move from one to the other or play on both together. Thus, scales in 10ths are played as scales in 3rds as on a normal pf. The manuals can be instantly coupled, so that scales in octaves can be played as scales in single notes.

Duplex Instruments (Brass). These exist in 2 types: (a) Those planned to produce 2 qualities of tone by the provision of 2 bells of different bore, and (b) Those planned to play in either of 2 different keys (i.e. from either of 2 different fundamental notes) without change of quality of tone (e.g. the double hn. in F and Bb) by the provision of double lengths of valve tubing.

Duplex Scaling. System by which those portions of pf. str. which are normally dumb, lying beyond each end of the vibrating portion, are leftfree and tuned so as to correspond with some of the harmonics of the main note of the str. See Aliquot scaling.

Dupont, Gabriel (bCaen, 1878; d Le Vésinet, nr. Paris, 1914). Fr. composer. Pupil of Widor at Paris Cons. Won Sonzogno Prize in Italy with 2-act opera La Cabréra. Wrote other operas, chief among them Antar (1912--13, prod. Paris 1921). Ill-health affected career. Also wrote symphonic poems, str. qt., and group of 14 pf. pieces, Les heures dolentes.

Duport, Jean Louis (b Paris, 1749; d Paris, 1819). Fr. cellist and composer. Pupil of his brother Jean Pierre Duport. Court cellist in Berlin 1792--1806, court musician to ex-King of Spain at Marseilles, 1807--12. Prof. of vc., Paris Cons. 1812--15. Wrote 6 vc. concs. and many solo pieces, also still-important method, Essai sur le doigter du violoncelle et la conduite de l'Archet.

Duport, Jean Pierre (b Paris, 1741; d Berlin, 1818). Fr. cellist. Member of court orch., Berlin, 1773--1811, dir. of court concerts 1787--1806. Beethoven's 2 vc. sonatas Op. 5 may have been written for him and f.p. in Berlin by Beethoven and Duport, 1796.

Dupré, Desmond (John) (b London, 1916; d nr. Tonbridge, 1974). Eng. lutenist, guitarist, and viol player. Studied RCM. Lute-song duo with Alfred Deller from 1950, touring widely.

Many solo recitals. Member of Morley Consort, Jaye Consort of Viols, Musica Reservata, etc.

Du Pré, Jacqueline (b Oxford, 1945). Eng. cellist. Studied GSM with William Pleeth, also with Tortelier in Paris, and Rostropovich in Moscow. Suggia award, Queen's Prize. Public début at age 7. Début recital Wigmore Hall 1961. Festival Hall début 1962 in Elgar's conc., with which she became closely identified, playing it also on first NY appearance, 1965, and recording it with Barbirolli and with her husband, Daniel Barenboim, whom she married 1967. Perf. in chamber mus. trio with Barenboim and P. Zukerman. Career halted 1972 by illness. O.B.E. 1976.

Dupré, Marcel (b Rouen, 1886; d Meudon, nr. Paris, 1971). Fr. organist and composer. Studied Paris Cons., being pupil of Guilmant and Widor. Organist, St Vivien, Rouen, at age 12. Ass. organist to Widor at St Sulpice, Paris, from 1906; succeeded him 1934. London début 1920, NY 1921. Noteworthy improviser. Prof. of org., Paris Cons. 1926--54. Ed. org. works of Bach, Handel, Schumann, Liszt, Franck, etc. Comp. sym., vn. sonata, cantatas, and many org. works incl. 2 org. syms., org. conc., and poèmes symphoniques.

Dur (Ger.). 'Major' (key), e.g. Dur Ton, Dur Tonart, major key; A dur, A major.

Duramente (It.). With hardness, harshness, sternness.

Durand. Fr. mus. publishers (Durand, Schoenewerk, & Cie) founded 1869 in Paris by mus. critic Auguste Durand (1830--1909). Became Durand et Fils 1891. Complete editions of Rameau begun 1894 (ed. Saint-Saëns). Pubd. editions of Chopin by Debussy and of Schumann by Fauré. Composers in firm's list incl. Debussy, Ravel, Saint-Saëns, Milhaud, Poulenc, d'Indy, Messiaen, Ibert, and others.

Durante, Francesco (b Frattamaggiore, 1684; d Naples, 1755). It. composer and teacher. Comp. church mus., hpd. concs. and sonatas, concs. for str., songs, etc. Pupils incl. Jommelli, Paisiello, Pergolesi, and Piccinni.

Durch (Ger. 'Through'). Durchaus 'Through- out.' Durchkomponiert or durchkomponiert ('through-composed'). Applied to songs of which the music is different for each stanza of the poem, i.e. the opposite of strophic; but use of the term has been widened to mean a composition which has been 'fully worked out', 'thoroughly composed', as opposed to something that seems episodic or patchy. Durchdringen ('through-forcing') 'Penetrating', 'shrill'. Durchführung ('through-leading') 'Development'. Durchweg (1) 'Throughout', 'altogether'. (2) 'Generally', 'nearly always'.

Durey, Louis (b Paris, 1888; d St Tropez, 1979). Fr. composer. Studied privately. In 1917 joined Milhaud, Honegger, and others under leadership of Satie as 'les nouveaux jeunes', becoming Les Six in 1920. Abandoned them in 1921. Works incl. chamber mus. and songs. After 1945 became Progressist, one of group of Fr. composers who wrote mus. of deliberate 'mass appeal' in accordance with Communist doctrines on art.

Durkó, Zsolt (b Szeged, 1934). Hung. composer. Studied Budapest Acad. with Farkas up to 1960, then attended Petrassi's master-classes in Rome 1961--3. Broke away from influence of Kodály, all his work being atonal. Works incl. Altamira, ch. and orch. (1967--8), Burial Prayer, oratorio, ten., bar., ch., and orch. (1967--72), Moses, opera (1977), Organismi, vn., orch. (1964), Fioriture (1965--6), Turner Illustrations, orch. (1976), Chamber Music, 2 pf., 11 str. (1973), Str. qt. No. 1 (1966), No. 2 (1969, rev. 1970), Dwarfs and Giants, pf. (1974), Impromptus in F, fl. and ens. (1984).

Duruflé, Maurice (b Louviers, 1902). Fr. composer and organist. Comp. pupil of Dukas, org. pupil of Gigout at Paris Cons. Organist, St Étienne-du-Mont, Paris, from 1930. Ass. to M. Dupré at Paris Cons. from 1942, prof. of harmony 1943--69. Works incl. Requiem, Op. 9, 3 Dances for Orch., Messe-cum jubilo, motets, and org. works.

Dus^;ek, Frantis^;ek (b Chote^;bo;akr, 1731; d Prague, 1799). Bohem. pianist and composer, pupil of Wagenseil. Prominent teacher in Prague. Close friend of Mozart. Comp. syms., chamber mus.

Dus^;ek (Dussek), Jan Ladislav (b akCáslav, 1760; d St Germain-en-Laye, 1812). Bohem. pianist and composer. Began career as virtuoso pianist in Malines, 1779, then had comp. lessons from C.P. E. Bach in Hamburg 1782. Visited Ger., Russia, Fr., and It. as pianist; settled in London 1789--99, appearing with Haydn. Served various royal patrons after 1803, the last being Talleyrand (Prince of Benevento). Prolific composer, works incl. 28 pf. sonatas, 15 pf. concs., conc. for 2 pf., pf. trios, ballad-opera, mass, 38 vn. sonatas, 16 fl. sonatas, etc. (much of it worth exploring).

Dus^;ek, Josepha (née Hambacher) (b Prague, 1754; d Prague, 1824). Bohem. sop., composer, and pianist, wife of Frantis^;ek Dus^;ek. Friend of Mozart who wrote concert aria Bella mia Fiamma (K528, 1787), for her. First singer of Beethoven's Ah, perfido! Op. 65, 1796, also probably written for her.

Dushkin, Samuel (b Suwalki, Poland, 1891; d NY, 1976). Amer. violinist of Polish birth, pupil of Auer and Kreisler. European début 1918. Gave f.p. 1924 of orch. version of Ravel's Tzigane. Stravinsky wrote vn. conc. for him, 1931, f.p. Berlin that year, also Duo Concertant, of which he and Stravinsky gave f.p. Berlin 1932.

Dutilleux, Henri (b Angers, 1916). Fr. composer. Studied piano and theory at Douai Cons. while schoolboy. Paris Cons. 1933--8 (comp. with Busser). Won Prix de Rome 1938. Joined French Radio 1943, becoming dir. of mus. productions 1945--63. Prof. of comp., École Normale de Musique 1961, Paris Cons. 1970. Regarded as natural successor to Ravel and Roussel. Works incl. ballet Le Loup (1953), 2 syms. (1950 and 1958--9), Métaboles (1964), Tout un monde lontain, vc. and orch. (1968--70), pf. sonata (1947), ob. sonata (1947), Thus the Night, str. qt. (1975--6), and songs.

Dutoit, Charles (b Lausanne, 1936). Swiss violist and cond. Studied vn., va., comp., and cond. in Switz., It., and USA. Began career as violist in orch. but also guest cond. of Suisse Romande Orch. Chief cond. Berne S.O. 1967--77, Montreal S.O. from 1978. Eng. début 1966, especially assoc. with RPO. Visits to N. and S. America and Japan.

Duval, Denise (b Paris, 1921). Fr. sop. Début Paris 1947 as Butterfly. Created Blanche in Poulenc's Dialogues des Carmélites (1957). First Brit. performer of Poulenc's La Voix humaine, Edinburgh Fest. 1960. Sang Mélisande, Glyndebourne 1962. Retired 1965.

Dux. The v. in a canon which first enters with the melody to be imitated. Also called Antecedent. See also Comes.

Dux, Claire (b Witkowicz, 1885; d Chicago, 1967). Polish sop. Opera début Cologne 1906 as Pamina. Berlin Opera 1911--18. CG début 1913 as first Eng. Sophie in Rosenkavalier. Chicago Opera 1921--3. Retired on marriage.

Dvo;akrák, Antonín (b Nelahozeves, Bohemia, 1841; d Prague, 1904). Cz. (Bohem.) composer. Son of a village butcher, Dvo;akrák as a child helped in the shop and also showed talent as a violinist. At 14 he was sent to relatives in Zlonice to learn Ger.; while there he was taught va., org., pf., and counterpoint by A. Liehmann. From 1857 to 1859 he attended the Org. Sch., Prague, leaving to become va. player in a band and later in the orch. of Prague Nat. Th., 1866--73, playing under Smetana. At this time he comp. several works which he later destroyed or withdrew, the most significant being a song-cycle Cypress Trees from which he drew themes in later years (for the Vc. Conc., for example). The cycle was a tale of disappointed love, the result of Dvo;akrák's disappointment that a girl he adored married someone else. (He later married her sister.) Like most young composers of the time, his natural tendencies were complicated by the inescapable influence of Wagner. His first opera, Alfred (1870) was Wagnerian in tone. 3 years later he had his first major success with a cantata, Hymnus, which enabled him to give up his orch. playing. In 1874 his Sym. in Eb won him an Austrian nat. prize, Brahms being on the jury. 2 years later the Moravian duets won him the same prize, and Brahms recommended them to the publisher Simrock. The nationalist element in such works as the Slavonic Rhapsodies -- the results of Smetana's beneficial influence -- earned Dvo;akrák increasing recognition and requests for new works e.g. from Joachim for a vn. conc. and from Hans Richter for a sym. Both Richter and Bülow championed his mus. in their concerts. In 1884 he paid the first of 9 visits to England and cond. his Stabat Mater which had scored a tremendous success the previous year under Barnby. His popularity in Britain was immediate and sustained both as comp. and cond., and he was financially successful enough to be able to buy an estate in S. Bohemia. Several of his works were written for or first perf. in Eng., e.g. the Sym. in D minor (No. 7), comp. for the Phil. Soc. (1885), the cantata The Spectre's Bride (Birmingham, 1885), the oratorio St Ludmila (Leeds, 1886), the Sym. in G major (No. 8) (Phil. Soc. 1888), and the Requiem (Birmingham, 1891). Cambridge made him Hon. D.Mus. in 1891 and in the same year he was appointed prof. of comp. at Prague Cons. The Cons. granted him leave to accept the invitation of Mrs Jeanette Thurber, founder in 1885 of the Nat. Cons. of Mus., NY, to become dir. of the cons. He remained in Amer. for 3 years, a fruitful period in which he wrote some of his finest works, incl. the 'New World' Sym., the Vc. Conc., the Biblical Songs, the str. qt. Op. 96, and the pf. quintet. His art seems to have been intensified by a combination of the influence of Negromelodies and of a deep homesickness. He returned to his teaching post in Prague in 1895, becoming dir. of Prague Cons. in 1901. His pupils incl. his son-in-law Suk, and Novák. In his last years he devoted his creative energies to symphonic poems and to operas. Dvo;akrák's mus. is a particularly happy result of the major influences on his art: Wagner, Brahms, and folk mus. His innate gift for melody was Schubertian and his felicitous orchestration, often reflecting natural and pastoral elements, is of an art that conceals art. But a tendency to regard him as blithely naïve would be both unjust and misleading, for his mastery of form and his contrapuntal and harmonic skill are the manifestations of a powerful mus. intellect. The nationalist feeling in his mus. is beautifully integrated into classical structures and his use of Cz. dances and songs, such as the furiant, polka, skoc^;ná (reel), dumka, and sousedská (slow waltz), is in no way bizarre. His syms., the vc. conc., and perhaps above all his chamber mus. show the best side of his work; the operas, apart from Rusalka, are only just beginning to travel outside Czechoslovakia; and the choral works which won him such a following in late Victorian Eng. are due for rehabilitation. For many years it was customary to credit him only with the 5 syms. pubd. in his lifetime, but the 4 early examples have now been accepted into the canon and the whole series is numbered chronologically. Prin. works:

operas: Alfred (unpubd.) (1870); King and Collier (Král a uhli; akr) (1871, totally recomposed 1874, rev. 1887), Op. 14; The Pig-headed Peasants (Tvrdé palice) (1874), Op. 17; Vanda, (1875, rev. 1879, 1883) Op. 25; The Peasant a Rogue (;akSelma sedlák) (1877), Op. 35; Dimitrij (1881--2, several revs.), Op. 64; The Jacobin (1887--8, rev. 1897), Op. 84; Kate and the Devil (;akCert a Kác^;a) (1898--9), Op. 112; Rusalka, (1900) Op. 114; Armida (1902--3), Op. 115.

symphonies: No. 1 in C minor (The Bells of Zlonice) (1865) (no Op. no., recovered 1923, pubd. (1961)); No. 2 in Bb (1865) (no Op. no.); No. 3 in Eb (1873), (no Op. no. but orig. Op. 10); No. 4 in D minor (1874, (no Op. no. but orig. Op. 13, pubd. (1912))); No. 5 in F major (1875, rev. 1887), Op. 76 (orig. Op. 24 and formerly No. 3); No. 6 in D major (1880), Op. 60 (formerly No. 1); No. 7 in D minor, (1884--5) Op. 70 (formerly No. 2); No. 8 in G major, (1889) Op. 88 (formerly No. 4); No. 9 in E minor (From the New World) (1893), Op. 95 (formerly No. 5).

orch: Symphonic poems: The Water sprite (Vodník), Op. 107 (1896), The Noonday Witch (Polednice), Op. 108 (1896), The Golden Spinning Wheel (Zlatý Kolovrat), Op. 109 (1896), The Wood Dove (Holoubek), Op. 110 (1896); Heroic Song, Op. 111 (1897); Ovs.: My Home, Op. 62a (1882), Hussite (Husitská), Op. 67 (1883), Cycle, Nature, Life and Love comprising Amid Nature, Op. 91, Carneval, Op. 92, and Othello, Op. 93 (1891--2); Serenade in E major for str., Op. 22 (1875), Suite in D (Czech), Op. 39 (1879), Serenade in D minor for wind, vc., and bass, Op. 44 (1878), 3 Slavonic Rhapsodies in D, G minor, and Ab, Op. 45 (1878), 8 Slavonic Dances, 1st series, Op. 46 (1878), 8 (2nd series) Op. 72 (1886), Legends, Op. 59 (1881), Scherzo capriccioso, Op. 66 (1883), Symphonic variations, Op. 78 (1877, orig. Op. 40).

soloist and orch: Vc. conc. in A major (1865, with pf. acc. only). Orch. Raphael 1928, Burghauser 1975, vc. part ed. Sádló), Romance for vn., Op. 11 (1873--7, arr. of andante con moto of str. qt. in F minor, Op. 9, of 1873), pf. conc. in G minor, Op. 33 (1876), Mazurka for vn., Op. 49 (1879), Vn. conc. in A minor, Op. 53 (1879--80), Rondo for vc., Op. 94 (1893), Forest Calm, for vc. (1891), Vc. conc. in B minor, Op. 104 (1894--5).

chamber music: String quartets: F minor, Op. 9 (1873), A minor, Op. 12 (1873), A minor, Op. 16 (1874), D minor, Op. 34 (1877), Eb, Op. 51 (1878--79), C major, Op. 61 (1881), E major, Op. 80 (1876, orig. Op. 27), F major (the 'American'), Op. 96 (1893), Ab, Op. 105 (1895), G major, Op. 106 (1895). Also several without Opus no. incl. Cypresses (Cyp;akrís^e), (1887); String quintets: G major, Op. 77, with db. (1875, orig. Op. 18), Eb, Op. 97 (1893); String sextet: A major, Op. 48 (1878); Piano Trios: Bb, Op. 21 (1875), G minor, Op. 26 (1876), F minor, Op. 65 (1883), E minor (Dumka) Op. 90 (1890--1); Piano Quartets: D major, Op. 23 (1875), Eb, Op. 87 (1889); Piano Quintet: A major, Op. 81 (1887); Bagatelles (Malic^;kosti) for 2 vn., vc., and harmonium (or pf.), Op. 47 (1878); Terzetto for 2 vn. and va., Op. 74 (1887); Violin Sonata: F major, Op. 57 (1880); vn. sonatina in G, Op. 100 (1893).

choral: Stabat Mater, Op. 58 (1876--7, orig. Op. 28), The Spectre's Bride, Op. 69 (1884), St Ludmila, Op. 71 (1885--6), Mass in D, Op. 86 (1887, rev. 1892), Requiem, Op. 89 (1890), The American Flag, Op. 102 (1892), Te Deum, Op. 103 (1892), Hymn of the Czech Peasants (Hymna českého rolnictva), Op. 28 (1885), with 4-hand acc., Hymnus, Op. 30 (1872, orig. Op. 4), Amid Nature (Vp;akrírode^;) 5 ch., Op. 63 (1882).

songs: Cycle, Cypress Trees, 18 songs to words by Pflager (1865), unpubd. in orig. form but pubd. as 4 Songs, Op. 2, 8 Love Songs, Op. 83 (1888) and Cypress Trees for str. qt; 5 Evening Songs, Op. 31 (1876), 3 Modern Greek Songs, Op. 50 (1878), 7 Gipsy Songs, Op. 55 (1880; No. 4 is Songs my Mother taught me), 4 Songs, Op. 82 (1887--8), 10 Biblical Songs, Op. 99 (1894, Nos. 1 and 5 are orch.).

piano: Silhouettes, Op. 8 (1879), Dumka and Furiant, Op. 12 (1884), Dumka, Op. 35 (1876), Theme and Variations, Op. 36 (1876), Scottish Dances, Op. 41 (1877), 4 Pieces, Op. 52 (1880), 8 Waltzes, Op. 54 (1879--80; Nos. 1 and 4 arr. for str. qt.), 6 Mazurkas, Op. 56 (1880), Poetic Tone Pictures (Poetické nálady), Op. 85 (1889), Suite in A, Op. 98 (1894, arr. for orch.), 8 Humoresques, Op. 101 (1894; No. 7 is the famous one), Éclogues (1880), Album Leaves (1881).

piano duets: 16 Slavonic Dances, Opp. 46 and 72 (2 sets of 8; also for orch.), Legends, Op. 59 (1881, also for orch.), From the Bohemian Forest (Ze ;akSumavy), Op. 68 (1884).

Dvo;akrákova, Ludmila (b Kolín, 1923). Cz. soprano. Studied at Prague Cons. 1942--9. Opera début Ostrava 1949 (as Ká;akta Kabanová). Bratislava Opera 1952--4, Prague 1954--60, Berlin State Opera from 1960 (début as Oktavian). First sang Brünnhilde in Berlin 1962, Isolde in Karlsruhe 1964. Vienna début 1965, NY Met. 1966 (Fidelio). Sang Brünnhilde in Ring cycles CG 1966--71. Bayreuth début 1965 (Gutrune), later singing Brünnhilde and Kundry there.

Dwarf, The (Zemlinsky). See Zwerg, Der.

Dykes, John Bacchus (b Hull, 1823; d Ticehurst, Sussex, 1876). Eng. church composer, precentor of Durham Cath., and Vicar. His popular hymn tunes incl. Nearer My God to Thee, Eternal Father, strong to save, Our blest Redeemer, Holy, holy, holy, Jesu, Lover of my Soul, and Lead, Kindly Light.

Dykes Bower, John. See Bower, John Dykes.

Dynamics. The gradations of vol. in mus., e.g. forte, piano, crescendo, etc.

Dyson, (Sir) George (b Halifax, Yorks., 1883; d Winchester, 1964). Eng. composer, teacher, and organist. Studied RCM. Spent 1904--8 in It. and Ger. on Mendelssohn Scholarship. From 1908--37 was mus. master at a succession of Eng. schs. incl. Rugby and Winchester. Dir., RCM, 1937--52. Comps. incl. Sym. in G (1937), cantatas In Honour of the City (1928), The Canterbury Pilgrims (1931), St Paul's Voyage to Melita (1933), and Quo Vadis (1939); vn. conc. (1942). Knighted 1941, K.C.V.O. 1953.

Dzerzhinsky, Ivan (b Tambov, 1909; d Leningrad, 1978). Russ. composer whose operas were upheld as models when Shostakovich was in disgrace with Soviet authorities for his Lady Macbeth of the Mtsensk District. They incl. Quiet Flows the Don (1935), Virgin Soil Upturned (1937), Blood of the People (1941), Grigory Melekhov (1967). Also 3 pf. concs., symphonic poem, songs, etc.

E

E. Note of the scale: 3rd degree of natural scale of C. Thus, Eb, Ebb, Enat., E#, E##. Keys of E major and E minor, Eb major and Eb minor. Eb is also indication of transposing instr. (e.g. the Eb cl.) on which written note C sounds as Eb.

E (It.). And.

Eadie, Noël (b Paisley, 1901; d London, 1950). Scottish sop. Début London, CG 1926, BNOC 1928. Chicago Opera 1931--2, Glyndebourne 1935--6, SW, and other cos.

Eames, Emma (b Shanghai, 1865; d NY, 1952). Amer. sop. Studied in Boston, Mass., later in Paris with M. Marchesi. Paris Opéra 1889--91, making début as Juliette in Gounod's Roméo et Juliette. Début CG and NY Met. 1891. Member of Met. co. until 1909. Last stage appearances Boston 1911, thereafter recitals. Sang Mrs. Ford in Amer. première of Verdi's Falstaff, 1895.

Ear, Playing by. The ability to play an instr. intuitively, without instruction, or to improvise without a score.

Early Music. Term by which is generally understood mus. comp. from earliest times up to and incl. mus. of Renaissance period. With growth of interest in mus. of this period and especially the use of authentic instrs. in perf., various 'early mus.' consorts and ens. were formed. The periodical Early Music has been pubd. quarterly in London since 1973.

Early Music Consort. Group of musicians founded by David Munrow in 1967 to perform Renaissance and other early mus. on orig. instrs. such as rebec, sackbut, shawm, curtall, etc. Many recordings.

Easdale, Brian (b Manchester, 1909). Eng. composer. Studied RCM. Comps. incl. operas Rapunzel (1927), The Corn King (1935), and The Sleeping Children (1951); also pf. conc. (1938), song-cycles, and th. mus.

East (Easte, Est, Este), Michael (b c.1580; d Lichfield, 1648). Eng. composer and organist. Organist, Lichfield Cath. Wrote madrigals, anthems, and mus. for viols. His 5-part madrigal Hence Stars is in The Triumphs of Oriana. Also wrote madrigal called O metaphysical tobacco (1606).

East (Easte, Est, Este), Thomas (b c.1550; d London, 1608). London mus. publisher. Issued Byrd's psalms, sonnets, and songs (1588), works by other madrigalists, and 4-part settings of psalms (1592).

Eastman School of Music. Dept. of Univ. of Rochester, NY. Founded 1919 through munificence of George Eastman (1854--1932), inventor of Kodak photographic process, and opened in 1921. Dir. 1924--64 was Howard Hanson.

Easton, Florence (b South Bank, Yorks, 1882; d NY, 1955). Eng. sop. Studied RAM 1900--1 and in Paris. Opera débüt Moody-Manners Co., Newcastle upon Tyne, 1903. Joined Savage Co., 1904--5, 1906--7. Member Berlin Royal Opera 1907--13. Hamburg Opera 1912--16, Chicago 1915--17, NY Met. 1917--29 and 1935--6. CG 1927 and 1932; SW 1934. Repertory of 150 very varied roles in 4 languages and could learn a new score in 12 hours. Retired 1936. Resplendent Brünnhilde with Melchior in Siegfried, CG 1932.

Eastwood, Thomas (Hugh) (b Hawley, 1922). Eng. composer. Studied in Turkey, then in Berlin with Blacher and E. Stein. Worked for Brit. Council in Ankara and Berlin 1947--54. On council of S.P.N.M. 1959--70. Works incl. 2 operas (one of them Christopher Sly), cantatas, chamber mus., songs, and incidental mus. for plays incl. John Osborne's Look Back in Anger (1956). Made new realization of Love in a Village for BBC (1964).

Eathorne, Wendy (b Four Lanes, Cornwall, 1939). Eng. sop. Studied RAM. Specialist in oratorio and Lieder, also opera.

Eben, Petr (b Zákupy, Cz., 1929). Cz. composer and pianist. Studied Prague Acad. of Mus. 1948--54. Comps. incl. oratorio Apologia Sokratus (1964), pf. conc. (1961), song cycles, chamber mus., Mutationes, org. (1980), and motets.

Eberl, Anton (b Vienna, 1765; d Vienna, 1807). Austrian composer and pianist. Kapellmeister, St Petersburg, 1796--1802. Friend of Mozart, with whose widow he made a concert-tour of Ger. Wrote 5 operas, syms., pf. concs., pf. works, chamber mus., etc.

Eberlin, Johann (Ernst) (b Jettingen, 1702; d Salzburg, 1762). Ger. composer, mainly of church mus. Court organist to Archbishop of Salzburg from 1754. Wrote org. toccatas and fugues, 21 oratorios, masses, motets, etc.

Ebert, Carl (b Berlin, 1887; d Santa Monica, Calif., 1980). Ger.-born operatic producer and impresario. Actor in Frankfurt and Berlin 1915--27. Dir., Darmstadt State Th. 1927--31, Berlin State Opera 1931--3. Producer, Glyndebourne Fest. from 1st season in 1934 to 1939, and 1947--59. Organized Turkish Nat. Opera 1937--47, dir., opera dept. Univ. of S. Calif. 1948--54. Returned to Berlin State Opera 1954--61; NY Met. 1959--62. Set new standards of ens. and detailed rehearsal in Verdi and Mozart. C.B.E. 1960.

Ebert, Peter (b Frankfurt, 1918). Ger. opera producer, son of Carl Ebert. Has worked at Glyndebourne, Rome, Venice, Wexford, Los Angeles, and Copenhagen. Chief producer Hanover State Opera and Deutsche Oper am Rhein 1954--64; dir. of prods. Scottish Opera 1965--75; gen. administrator Scottish Opera 1977--80.

Ebony Concerto. For cl. and orch. by Stravinsky. Comp. 1945 for jazz musician Woody Herman who was soloist with his band at f.p. in NY 1946. Jazz slang for cl. is 'ebony stick'.

Eccard, Johannes (b Mühlhausen, 1553; d Berlin, 1611). Ger. composer, pupil at Munich of Lassus. Held several court posts, finally becoming Kapellmeister to Kurfürst of Brandenburg, Berlin, 1608. Wrote many motets and chorales.

Eccles, John (b London, c.1668; d Hampton Wick, 1735). Eng. composer. Prolific writer of th. mus., incl. Congreve's The Way of the World and masque The Judgement of Paris. Collab. with Purcell on Don Quixote (1694--5). Master of King's Band 1700. Pubd. 100 songs in 1710.

Eccles (Eagles), Solomon (b London, 1618; d London, 1682). Eng. composer and performer on virginals and viol. On becoming Quaker c.1660 publicly burned his mus. and instrs., later accompanying George Fox to W. Indies.

Ecclesiastical Modes. See Modes.

Échappé. See Changing Note. Échelle (Fr.). Ladder, i.e. Scale (Gamme is the more usual word for the mus. scale). Échelette (Fr.). Little ladder, i.e. Xylophone.

Echo Cornet. Organ stop of gentle tone (see Cornet Stop).

Echo Gamba. A soft type of organ stop.

Echoklavier (Ger.). Echo-keyboard. Choir Organ (not Echo Organ).

Echo Organ. An org. manual with very soft stops to give an echo effect.

Eckhardt-Gramatté, Sophie-Carmen (Sonia) (b Moscow, 1899; d Stuttgart, 1974). Russ.-born composer, violinist, and pianist. Studied Paris Cons. with d'Indy, also vn. with Thibaud and Huberman, comp. in Berlin with Max Trapp. Career as solo violinist and pianist from age 11, but later concentrated on comp. Works incl. 3 pf. concs., vn. conc., conc. for orch., triple conc. (tpt., cl., bn.), bn. conc., 2 syms., 3 str. qts., 6 pf. sonatas, and other chamber works. Settled in Canada 1953.

Éclat (Fragment). Work for chamber orch. (15 instr.) by Boulez, comp. 1965. F.p. Los Angeles 1965, London 1966. Expanded and rev. 1970 as Éclat/Multiples, f.p. London 1970, but regarded as 'work in progress'.

Eclecticism. Term frequently used to describe a composer's conscious use of styles alien to his nature, or from abegone era. Also used pejoratively when applied to mus. in which the composer, thought to be lacking originality, has freely drawn on other models.

Eclogue. Short pastoral poem (sometimes used as title of a piece of mus.).

Écossaise. A type of contredanse (see Country Dance) in duplet time. The orig. of the name is a mystery, since there appears to be nothing Scottish about the character of the mus. It is not the same as the Schottische.

Ed (It.). 'And' (version of E as used before a vowel). Thus the title of Bellini's opera may be given as I Capuleti e (ed) i Montecchi.

Edelmann, Otto (b Brunn am Gebirge, 1917). Austrian bass. Studied Vienna Acad. Début Gera 1937. Joined Vienna Opera 1947, also regular visitor to NY Met. and San Francisco. Bayreuth début 1951 as Sachs. Notable Ochs in Der Rosenkavalier.

Eden and Tamir. Israeli piano duo formed 1952 by Bracha Eden (b Jerusalem, 1928) and Alexander Tamir (b Vilnius, 1931). Both studied at Rubin Acad., Jerusalem until 1952 and at Aspen in 1955 with Vronsky and Babin. Début Israel 1954, NY 1955, London 1957. Have revived many two-piano works by Clementi, Dussek, and Hummel. Gave f. Amer. p. of Lutoslawski's Paganini Variations and f. public.p. of pf. duet version of Stravinsky's Rite of Spring.

Edgar. 4-act opera by Puccini to lib. by F. Fontana after A. de Musset's verse-drama La Coupe et ses lèvres (1832). Comp. 1884--8. Prod. Milan 1889; NY 1956. Rev. 3-act version f.p. Ferrara 1892. Further rev. 1901, 1905.

Edinburgh Festival. 3-week annual int. fest. of the arts held in Scottish capital Aug.--Sept., with strong emphasis on opera, concerts, and recitals. Founded 1947 with Rudolf Bing as dir.; he was succeeded by Ian Hunter 1949--55, Robert Ponsonby 1955--60, Earl of Harewood 1961--5, Peter Diamond 1966--78, John Drummond 1979--83; Frank Dunlop from 1984. Many distinguished visiting cos. have supplied opera, incl. Glyndebourne, Stuttgart, Stockholm, Hamburg, Prague, Belgrade, Scala, Florence, Deutsche Oper, Bavarian State, and Scottish. Visiting orchs. and soloists incl. virtually all the most celebrated. Several works have had f.ps. at fest. A feature is the very lively 'fringe', events outside the official programme, some of which have 'stolen the show'.

E Dur (Ger.). The key of E major.

Edwards, Richard (b Somerset, 1524; d London, 1566). Eng. composer, poet, and scholar. Master of the Children of the Chapel Royal from 1561. Best known for his madrigal In going to my naked bed. His Damon and Pythias (1564) has been described as early 'mus. drama'.

Edwards, Ross (b Sydney, N.S.W., 1943). Australian composer. Studied at N.S.W. Cons. and Univs. of Sydney and Adelaide. Studied comp. with Meale, Sculthorpe, Maxwell Davies, and Veress. Went to London 1969. Returned to Australia 1972. Taught in mus. dept., Univ. of Sydney. Lect., N.S.W. Cons. from 1976. Comps. incl.: 5 Carols, women's or boys' vv. (1967); Mountain Village in a Clearing Mist, orch. (1973); 5 Little Piano Pieces (1976); Shadow D-Zone, fl., cl., perc., pf., vn., vc. (1977); The Tower of Remoteness, cl., pf. (1978); Laikan I, 6 players (1979), II, 6 players (1981); Ab estasis foribus, unacc. ch. (1980); Maninya, alto v. and vc. (1981); Kumari, pf. (1981).

E.F.D.S.S. English Folk Dance and Song Society.

Egdon Heath. Orch. work, Op. 47, by Holst, comp. 1927 and inspired by the Dorset landscape described as 'Egdon Heath' in Thomas Hardy's The Return of the Native (1878). Sub-titled 'Homage to Thomas Hardy'. Commissioned by NY S.O. which gave f.p. 1928. F.p. in England, Cheltenham 1928, cond. Holst, and London 10 days later (all these perfs. were in Feb.).

Egge, Klaus (b Gransherad, Norway, 1906; d Oslo, 1979). Norweg. composer and critic. Studied Oslo Cons. and privately with Valen, later attending Berlin Hochschule für Musik. Later works use a form of serial technique. Comps. incl. 5 syms., 2 pf. concs., vn. conc., vc. conc., ballet Fanitullen, choral works, and chamber mus.

Eggen, Arne (b Trondheim, 1881; d Baerum, 1955). Norweg. composer and organist. Cond. Drammen orch. Works incl. org. pieces and vn. sonatas but best-known for his songs.

Egk, Werner (b Auchsesheim, Bavaria, 1901; d Inning, Bavaria, 1983). Ger. composer and cond. Mainly self-taught. Cond. for Bavarian radio 1930--3 and at Berlin State Opera 1937--41. Dir., Berlin Hochschule für Musik 1950--3. Very active on behalf of performing rights, etc. Controversial figure, his opera Peer Gynt being banned by Nazis because of its satire on régime, but he wrote mus. for Berlin Olympic Games 1936. Colouristic and rhythmical features of his work derive from admiration for Stravinsky. Works incl.:

operas: Columbus (1933 radio, 1942 stage), Die Zaubergeige (1935, rev. 1954), Peer Gynt (1938), Circe (1945, rev. 1966 as 17 Tage und 4 Minuten), Irische Legende (after Yeats, 1955, rev. 1970), Der Revisor (after Gogol's The Government Inspector, 1957), Die Verlobung in San Domingo (1963).

ballet: Joan von Zarissa (1940), Abraxas (1947--8), Ein Sommertag (1950), Die chinesische Nachtigall (1953), Casanova in London (1969).

orch: Geigenmusik, vn. and orch. (1936), Olympische Festmusik (1936), Französische Suite (after Rameau, 1949), Variations on a Caribbean Theme (1959), Orchestra Sonata No./2 (1969), Spiegelzeit (1979).

voice and orch: Variations on an Old Viennese Song for coloratura sop. (for singing-lesson scene in Il barbiere di Siviglia) (1938), La Tentation de Saint Antoine for mez., str. qt. (1947, rev. for mez., str. qt., and str. 1952), Chanson et Romance for coloratura sop. (1953).

choral: Furchtlosigkeit und Wohlwollen, oratorio (1931, rev. 1959), Mein Vaterland (1937).

Egmont. Ov. and 9 items of incidental mus., Op. 84, by Beethoven to Goethe's historical drama about the Flemish aristocrat Egmont who defied Philip of Spain and was beheaded in 1567. Comp. 1809--10.

Eguale (It.). Equal. So equalità, egualezza, equality; egualmente, equally. Voci eguali, equal voices.

Egyptian Helen, The (Strauss). See ägyptische Helena, Die.

Ehrling, Sixten (b Malmö, 1918). Swed. cond. and pianist. Studied Stockholm Cons., and in Paris, Dresden, and London. Prin. cond. Stockholm Royal Opera 1953--70, Detroit S.O. 1963--73. Cond. of Ring at NY Met.

Eichner, Ernst (b Arolsen, 1740; d Potsdam, 1777). Ger. composer and bassoonist. Worked in Paris and London 1770--3, then in Potsdam court orch. Noted composer of Mannheim sch., writing 31 syms., also concs. and chamber mus.

Eighteen-Twelve (1812). Concert-ov., Op. 49, by Tchaikovsky, comp. 1880, commemorating Napoleon's retreat from Moscow in 1812 and incorporating La Marseillaise and the Tsarist nat. anthem. Orig. idea was for perf. in a Moscow square with large orch., military band, cath. bells, and cannonfire. Sometimes still perf. with cannon (esp. at Royal Albert Hall popular Tchaikovsky evenings).

Eight-foot. Term in org. mus. for sound of normal pitch, the lowest pipe of normal pitch being theoretically 8' in length.

Eighth Note. The quaver in Amer. terminology.

Eight Songs for a Mad King (Maxwell Davies). See Songs for a Mad King, 8.

Eimert, Herbert (b Bad Kreuznach, 1897; d Cologne, 1972). Ger. composer and theorist. Studied Cologne High School for Mus. 1919--24 and at Cologne Univ. until 1930, graduating in musicology. Worked for Cologne Radio 1927--33. Mus. critic Kölnische Zeitung 1936--45. Founder-dir., elec. mus. studio, Cologne, 1951--62. Co-ed. Die Reihe 1955--62. Prof. and dir. elec. mus. studio, Cologne Hochschule für Musik 1965--71. Assoc. with Stockhausen and Ger. avant-garde in propounding theories of elecs. Works incl. 2 str. qts. (1925, 1944), Tanzmusik, sax., fl., mechanical instr. (1926), Glockenspiel, tape (1953), and other works on tape. Author of textbooks on atonality, 12-note technique, and elec. music.

Eine kleine Nachtmusik (Mozart). See Kleine Nachtmusik, Eine.

Einem, Gottfried von (b Berne, 1918). Austrian composer. Studied comp. with Blacher 1941--3. Ch. coach Berlin State Opera 1938--43; one of Salzburg Fest. administrators 1948--66; lecturer Vienna Konzerthaus Gesellschaft 1946--66; teacher of comp., Vienna Acad. 1963--72. Essentially a tonal composer, Einem has had considerable success in the opera house where his melodic gifts and command of colour have been well deployed. Works incl.:

operas: Dantons Tod (1944--6), Der Prozess (1950--2), Der Zerrissene (1961--4), Der Besuch der Alten Dame (The Visit of the Old Lady, 1970), Kabale und Liebe (1970--5), Jesu Hochzeit (1978--9).

ballets: Prinzessin Turandot (1942--3), Rondo vom goldenen Kalb (1950), Glück, Tod und Traum (1953), Medusa (1957).

orch: Capriccio (1943), Concerto for Orch. (1943), Meditations (1954), pf. conc. (1955), Symphonische Szenen (1956), Ballade (1957), Dance-Rondo (1959), Philadelphia Symphony (1960), Nachtstück (1960), vn. conc. (1966--7), Hexameron (1969), Bruckner Dialog (1971), Wiener-Symphonie (1976), Ludi Leopoldini (1980).

choral: Hymnus an Goethe, for cont., ch., and orch. (1949), Von der Liebe, high v. and orch. (1961), Kammergesänge (1965), Rosa mystica, bar., orch. (1972), and songs.

chamber: Vn. sonata (1949), 2 pf. sonatinas (1947), 3 str. qts. (1975, 1977, 1980), solo vn. sonata (1975), wind quintet (1976).

Ein' feste Burg (A Safe Stronghold). Luther's setting of Ps. 46 in his own trans.; tune adapted by him from a plainsong melody. Quoted by several composers, e.g. in Meyerbeer's Les Huguenots, Mendelssohn's Reformation Sym., and Wagner's Kaisermarsch.

Einstein, Alfred (b Munich, 1880; d El Cerrito, Calif., 1952). Ger. scholar and writer (from 1945 Amer. citizen). Ed. Zeitschrift für Musikwissenschaft 1918--33; mus. critic Berliner Tageblatt 1927--33. Ed., 9th--11th edns. Riemann's Musiklexikon (1919, 1922, 1929). Lived in London and It. 1933--9; settled in USA 1939. Prof. of mus., Smith Coll., Northampton, Mass., 1939, later teaching at other Amer. univs. Rev. Köchel's Mozart catalogue 1937. Books incl. History of Music (1917, and many later edns.), Gluck (1936), Mozart, his character, his work (1945), The Italian Madrigal (1949), Schubert (1951). Not to be confused with his cousin the physicist Albert Einstein.

Einstimmig (Ger.). One-voiced, i.e. for one part.

Eis (Ger.). The note E#.

Eisenberg, Maurice (b Königsberg, 1902; d NY, 1972). Ger.-Amer. cellist and teacher. Studied Peabody Cons., Baltimore, then in Berlin with Becker and in Spain with Casals. Début with Philadelphia Orch. 1916, later becoming its prin. cellist. Member of Menuhin Trio. Prof. of vc., École Normale, Paris, 1929--39, Juilliard Sch. from 1964.

Eisis (Ger.). The (theoretical) note E##.

Eisler, Hanns (b Leipzig, 1898; d Berlin, 1962). Ger. composer. Studied Vienna Cons., being pupil of Schoenberg 1919--23. His Marxist beliefs led him from 1927 to a more 'popular' style, and he wrote political marching-songs, chs., and th. mus. in collab. with Brecht. Exiled in 1933, he worked in Paris, London, Copenhagen, and USA, settling in Hollywood 1938 where he taught at the Univ. of S. Calif. and worked on films with Chaplin. He wrote (in Eng.) the book Composing for the Films (1947). McCarthy drive against Communists in 1947 led to a deportation order, but he left peacefully in 1948, to live in Vienna and Berlin. In 1952 he settled in E. Ger. organizing workers'choirs and writing popular songs (incl. the DDR anthem). Nevertheless many of his comps. were in advanced 12-note technique. Works incl. 600 songs, mus. for 40 plays and over 40 films. The following have words by Brecht: Die Massnahme (1930), Deutsche Sinfonie (1935--9), Lenin-Requiem (1937), Die Teppichweber von Kujan-Bulak (1957), Solidaritätslied (1930), Kinderlieder (1951), Die Mutter (Gorky and Brecht, 1931), Die Rundköpfe und die Spitzköpfe (1934--6), Galileo Galilei (1946), Die Gesichte der Simone Machard (1946), Schweyk im zweiten Weltkrieg (1957). Also Kleine Sinfonie (1932), 5 Orchestral Pieces (1938), Chamber Symphony (1940), Str. Qt. (1937), Nonet (1939), Theme and Variations for pf. (1940), Septet (variations on Amer. nursery songs) (1941), Pf. Quintet (1944), Septet No. 2 (1947), Pf. Sonatas (1924 and 1943), Ernste Gesänge (bar. and orch.) (1962).

Eisteddfod (Welsh, 'Session', from eistedd, 'to sit'. Plural Eisteddfodau). The nat. Welsh gathering of bards, dating in its present form from 1817, though it is said to date back, in one form or another, as far as the 7th cent., with a suspension throughout the entire 18th cent. and a few years before and after it. It now takes place annually (in Aug.) in various Welsh towns. Degrees of Ofydd (Ovate), Bardd (Bard), and Pencerdd (Chief Musician) are conferred on candidates who pass various tests and there is a strong choral and competitive side to the gathering. Many local Eisteddfodau exist in the form of competitive fests. An int. Eisteddfod, at which choirs and dancers from all over the world compete, has been held annually in Llangollen since 1947.

Eitner, Robert (b Breslau, 1832; d Templin, Berlin, 1905). Ger. musicologist and composer. Prin. achievement, begun 1882, was his Biographisch-bibliographisches Quellen-Lexikon der Musiker und Musikgelehrten (10 vols., 1900--4).

Ek, Gunnar (b ;anAsarum, 1900; d Lund, 1981). Swed. composer and cellist. Studied Stockholm Cons. Cellist in Stockholm Orch. 1928--37. Composer of syms., Swedish Fantasy for orch., pf. conc., and Doomsday Cantata.

Elder, Mark (Philip) (b Hexham, 1947). Eng. conductor and bassoonist. Studied Bryanston (prin. bn. in Nat. Youth Orch.) and Cambridge Univ. Ass. to R. Leppard at Glyndebourne 1970 and chorusmaster 1970--2. Début with RLPO, 1971. Australian Opera 1972--4 (début in Sydney in Nabucco). ENO 1974, becoming ass. cond.; prin. cond. from 1979. CG début 1976 (Rigoletto). Cond. f.p. of Blake's Toussaint, London, 1977. Cond. Die Meistersinger at Bayreuth, 1981. Impressive cond. of Strauss; guest cond. of leading orchs.

Electric Action. Means of permitting air to enter an org. pipe by electrical device, after key has been depressed.

Electric Guitar. Guitar, used in pop groups or jazz bands, connected by wire to electrical apparatus which amplifies or modifies the sound. Used in Tippett's The Knot Garden, Stockhausen's Gruppen, and Boulez's Domaines.

Electric Musical Instruments. Instrs. in which the use of elec. devices such as valves and photo-cells determines or affects the actual sound of the note prod. Before the full-scale development of electronic music several electric instr. were pioneered. Chief among these were the Sphaerophon, the Theremin, the Trautonium, the Ondes Martenot, the Hellertion, the Electronde, and the Rhythmicon.

Electric Organ. Organs of various makes (most notably by the Hammond Instr. Co. of Chicago) which work on an electro-magnetic principle. Their tone is prod. not from pipes but by means of rotating discs with electro-magnetic pick-ups. They are popular as domestic instr.

Electrochord. Trade name of elec. instr. resembling a pf., in which the str. are set vibrating by hammers. There is no soundboard, vibrations being picked up electrically and amplified through a loudspeaker. Variations of tone-quality and vol. can be controlled.

Electrofonic Violin. Semi-elec. instr. developed in 1938 by Marshall Moss, leader of the Nat. S.O., Washington, and William Bartley, an engineer. The vn., which has no soundboard, is played in the usual way, the mechanically-prod. vibrations being picked up by electro-magnets or a microphone and amplified through a loudspeaker. Similar instr., and a vc., was developed by Vierling, and there is a 5-string electric vc. by Karapetov.

Electronde. Elec. instr. developed by Martin Taubman in 1933. On similar lines to theremin, but by pressing a switch at the same time as moving his hand over the antenna, the player can obtain a staccato effect. It also enables playing of rapid passages.

Electronic Music. Mus. prod. by elec. means, the resulting sounds being recorded on tape. At first the term applied strictly to sounds synthesized electronically, to differentiate from musique concrète, which was assembled from normal mus. and everyday sounds. But by now it covers both groups. Attempts to produce elec. sounds began in the USA and Canada in the 1890s. Early in the 20th cent., experiments were made in Ger. by Fischinger; and in USSR in the 1930s elec. mus. was prod. by the use of photo-electric techniques rather than by oscillator. In fact, the development of elec. mus. has proceeded step by step with the invention of equipment: telephone, loudspeaker, microphone, tape, film sound-track, oscillator, gramophone recording, etc. For composers, an important milestone was reached with experiments at Bonn Univ. in 1949–50 followed by a public perf. at Darmstadt in 1951. The first elec. mus. studio was est. 1951 by W. Ger. Radio, Cologne, dir. by Herbert Eimert. Other studios were set up in Milan, Tokyo, London, Warsaw, Brussels, Munich, Eindhoven, Paris, and at Columbia Univ., NY. In the 1950s the comp. of elec. works was a slow and laborious business, chiefly because of the comparatively primitive equipment in the early studios. A comp. consisting of hundreds of predetermined and separately recorded sounds which would last a few minutes could take weeks to assemble on the final tape. The equipment in the early studios generally comprised: (a) Sine-Tone Generators. Sine-tones are pure sounds which have no harmonics and are on a single frequency of even dynamic level. To build a complex tone at least 8 generators were needed. (b) White Sound Generator. White sound comprises all audible frequencies sounding together. (c) Square Wave Generator. Square waves are richly harmonic and produce contrasts to sine-tones. (d) Filters. Devices which, as their name implies, can 'filter' sound, or extract a single sine-tone from the white sound. Filters are classified according to their frequency-response characteristics, i.e. low-pass, high-pass, band-pass, and band-stop. For example, the band-pass filter passes only the sound-waves within a specified band of frequencies grouped round a centre frequency. (e) Ring modulator. Used to combine several sound signals so that the sound output comprises the sums and differences of all the input-frequency components. (f) Variable speed tape recorders. Varying speeds of playing the tape are used to speed up or slow down specific effects. (g) Dynamic suppressor. A device which allows signals to be cut out below a selected level of dynamics, thus introducing a 'chance' element. Among the most celebrated elec. pieces composed in the 1950s were Eimert's Fünf Stücke, Stockhausen's Gesang der Jünglinge (which incl. a boy's v., fragmented and superimposed upon itself, thereby creating a bridge with musique concrète), K;akrenek's Spiritus Intelligentiae Sanctus, Berio's Mutazioni, and Maderna's Notturno. But it should be remembered that in 1939–42 John Cage's first 3 Imaginary Landscapes incl. the use of records played at different speeds, audio oscillators, and an amplified wire coil.[In1] Elec. mus. was revolutionized in the 1960s by the invention of voltage-controlled sound synthesizers, especially the model developed in 1964–5 by the American Robert A. Moog. This instr. dispensed with the drudgery of tape-splicing and cutting. It not only presented composers with a complete spectrum of new sounds, but could be made to play itself in a remarkable variety of sounds which could be recurrent or otherwise, as required. By the fitting of a control device known as a sequencer, the synthesizer can be used by a composer to memorize a long and complicated mus. compilation and play it 'live' without recording or tape-editing. Because of the synthesizer's astonishing imitative qualities, its use has been commercialized and vulgarized, but its potentiality as a serious instr. is still being explored and awaits a Wagner to exploit it to the full. Its main working principle, greatly oversimplified, is that the oscillators used as sound sources are also used to 'control' each other. Some synthesizers have a kbd., often with its own tuned oscillator, or set to act as a voltage control. The sequencer is a small variety of the other [ol0] revolutionary device also introduced in the 1960s, digital computer synthesis. Control by digital computer means that the equipment the composer uses is supplied with a 'memory'. For example, a work comp., or 'programmed', for voltage-controlled equipment by means of punched paper tape has an intrinsic major problem in that the system has no way of storing information until it is needed; everything must be supplied in detail each time it is required. The computer memorizes all this information. The disadvantages of a computer are those inherent in 'programming', and it remains to be seen whether a supreme work of art will evolve by this system. The advantages of elec. mus. for th., radio, and film incidental mus. are obvious, and so far it is in these fields that the best results have been achieved. Notation of elec. mus. obviously bears no relation to conventional mus. notation, and since the principal feature of an elec. work is that it is predetermined and mechanically produced, notation as a guide to performers is unnecessary. But 'live' elec. mus. is a developing art-form, and graphic directions in pitch (frequency) etc. are provided in 'realization' scores which provide all the technical data necessary to reproduce the piece. 'Representational' scores, for the score reader, are slightly less fearsome. An illustration of a typical elec. score or graph will perhaps give the reader a better idea of what is involved. Among composers who have prod. elec. works are: Cage, Berio, Stockhausen, Wuorinen, Blacher, Boulez, Babbitt, Pousseur, Badings, Varèse, Davidovsky, Ligeti, Takemitsu, Penderecki, Xenakis, and many others. Interested readers who wish for fuller and more technical information than can be provided here are referred to Reginald Smith Brindle's The New Music (London, 1975), to which this entry acknowledges its indebtedness. See also Computers in music.

Electophone. Term for mus. instr. which produce sound by electronic means, either by oscillation or by electromagnetic or electrostatic methods. Does not cover instr. in which tone is conventionally produced and then electronically modified (e.g. electric guitar, piano, double bass). Classification added to four devised by C. Sachs and E. M. von Hornbostel and pubd. in Zeitschrift für Ethnologie, 1914, i.e. aerophones, chordophones, idiophones, and membranophones.

Elegia, elegiaco (It.). Elegy, elegiac.

Elegy, Élégie (Fr.). A song of lament for the dead or for some melancholy event, or an instr. comp. with that suggestion, such as Elgar's Elegy for Strings and Fauré's Élégie.

Elegy for Young Lovers. Opera in 3 acts by Henze to lib. (in Eng.) by Auden and Kallman. Comp. 1959--61. Prod. Schwetzingen 1961, Glyndebourne 1961.

Elektra. Opera in 1 act by R. Strauss to lib. by Hofmannsthal based on Sophocles' Electra. Comp. 1906--8. Prod. Dresden 1909, NY and London 1910.

Elevatio (Lat.), Elevation (Eng.). Mus. (choral or organ) perf. during the Elevation of the Host in the R.C. Church.

Elgar, (Sir) Edward (William) (b Broadheath, Worcester, 1857; d Worcester, 1934). Eng. composer and cond. He was the son of a mus.-shop proprietor in Worcester who was also an organist, pf.-tuner, and teacher. He showed an early aptitude for mus., learning the org., vn., and other instr. He hoped, on leaving school at 15, to go to Leipzig Cons. but his father could not afford to send him, so after a brief spell in a solicitor's office, he helped his father in the shop and became his ass. organist at St George's R.C. Church, Worcester. Soon he was playing the vn. in several local orchs. or chamber groups and became cond. of several. With his brothers and friends he formed a wind quintet, for which he comp. several works. His first comps. had been written during childhood, incl. mus. for a play written and prod. by the Elgar children, The Wand of Youth, which he adapted as 2 orch. suites in 1907--8. In 1877 he went to London for vn. lessons from Pollitzer but abandoned them when he realized he would not become a virtuoso. He played in the 2nd vns. in the 3 Choirs Fest. orch. at Worcester in 1878. The following year he became bandmaster at the county lunatic asylum at Powick where members of the staff played weekly for dances. Elgar made several arrs. of operatic arias for concerts there and also comp. a series of quadrilles. In 1882 he joined the 1st vns. in a Birmingham orch. cond. by W. Stockley, who incl. Elgar's Sérénade mauresque in a concert in 1883. For the next 6 years, until his marriage in 1889, Elgar was in demand locally in many mus. capacities but he was unknown outside the Midlands apart from a perf. of his Sevillana at a Crystal Palace concert in May 1884. After his marriage to a general's daughter, Elgar gave up his work in Malvern and Worcester and went to London, but met with no success there. He returned to Malvern a year later to resume his teaching and other activities. In the meantime, however, the 1890 3 Choirs Fest. at Worcester had commissioned a work from him, the concert-ov. Froissart. In 1893 he comp. a secular cantata, The Black Knight, which was the first of a series of choral works taken up by the great Midlands choral socs. Its successors were King Olaf (1896), The Light of Life (1896), and Scenes from the Bavarian Highlands (1896). For Queen Victoria's Diamond Jubilee in 1897 Elgar comp. an Imperial March which Manns cond. at the Crystal Palace and which the Queen requested should be incl. in the State Concert marking the Jubilee. Its success led to a commission from the Leeds Fest., the result being the large-scale cantata Caractacus (1898). At this time, Elgar was still earning his living as a vn. teacher; his first large-scale London success came in 1899 when Richtercond. the f.p. of the Variations on an Original Theme (Enigma), one of Elgar's greatest and best-known works. A few months later Clara Butt sang the Sea Pictures at the Norwich Fest. Commissioned to write a big choral work for the 1900 Birmingham Fest., Elgar, a Catholic, chose to set Newman's poem The Dream of Gerontius. The f.p. was a failure, but the worth of the mus. was recognized and 2 Düsseldorf perfs. followed, after the 2nd of which Richard Strauss hailed Elgar as the foremost Eng. composer of the day. From that day there developed an Elgar-vogue on the Continent, and several cond. such as Weingartner, Strauss, Steinbach, and Busoni incl. his works in their programmes. The neglect of the previous 25 years in Eng. was forgotten (though not by Elgar) overnight as he became the most talked-about composer of the day. From 1901 until 1914 were the years of greatest acclaim for Elgar in his lifetime, and he responded with a succession of splendid works incl. the Cockaigne ov., the oratorios The Apostles and The Kingdom, 2 syms., a vn. conc. (for Kreisler), the Introduction and Allegro for str., the choral ode The Music Makers, and the symphonic study Falstaff. The 1st Sym. (1908) in particular had an astonishing initial success, being perf. 100 times in just over a year in cities as far apart as Manchester, Vienna, St Petersburg, Rome, and Budapest. However, the work which had made him a household name was No. 1 of a set of Pomp and Circumstance Marches, f.p. 1901. The splendid tune of the trio section caught the ear of King Edward VII who suggested that it should be set to words. When in 1902 it emerged in the Coronation Ode as Land of Hope and Glory it soon became clear that Elgar had comp. an alternative nat. anthem. Elgar was knighted in 1904 at age 47, and in 1911 became a member of the O.M. He visited the USA to cond. his own works and spent several periods in It. From 1905 to 1908 he was Peyton Prof. of Mus., Birmingham Univ. He was appointed cond. of the LSO for 1911--12 and in 1912 moved from Hereford to a large house in Hampstead. During the 1914--18 war Elgar wrote several patriotic works, including the recitation with orch. Carillon, the symphonic prelude Polonia, and the Binyon settings The Spirit of England. He also wrote incidental mus. for a children's play, The Starlight Express, and a ballet The Sanguine Fan. In 1918--19 he wrote 3 chamber works, a vn. sonata, str. qt., and pf. quintet, and a vc. conc. These were to be his last major works. In 1920 his wife died and for the last 14 years of his life he wrote hardly anything that was not concocted from earlier sketches. In this last period he prod. incidental mus. for 2 plays, Arthur and Beau Brummel, a 5th Pomp and Circumstance march, the Nursery Suite, and the Severn Suite. He was at work on a Ben Jonson opera, The Spanish Lady, and a 3rd sym. at the time of his death. In 1923 he returned to live in Worcestershire and often appeared throughout the country as cond. of his own works. He became Master of the King's Musick in 1924 and was created a baronet in 1931. He was the first great composer to realize the possibilities of the gramophone and from 1914 to 1933 made many recordings of his own mus. which are important historical documents, the most celebrated being that of the vn. conc. made in 1932 with the 16-year-old Menuhin. Elgar's greatness as a composer lies in his ability to combine nobility and spirituality of utterance with a popular style. Side by side with his large-scale works are dozens of lighter pieces distinguished by melodic charm and fine craftsmanship. Learning entirely by the practical experiences of his youth, he became one of the supreme masters of the orch., but his command of choral effects in his masterpiece The Dream of Gerontius is no less wonderful. His harmonic language derives from Schumann and Brahms coloured by the Wagnerian chromaticism endemic to his generation, the whole being lightened by a gracefulness akin to Bizet and Saint-Saëns. Like his personality, his mus. veers from extrovert warmth and geniality to a deep introspective melancholy. His prin. works are:

1

orch: Froissart, Op. 19 (1890), Serenade for str. in E minor, Op. 20 (1892); Sursum Corda, Op. 11 (1894); Imperial March, Op. 32 (1897); Enigma Variations, Op. 36 (1898--9); Pomp and Circumstance Marches, Op. 39, No.|1 in D major, No.|2 in A minor (1901), No.|3 in C minor (1904), No.|4 in G major (1907), No.|5 in C major (1930); Cockaigne, Op.|40 (1901); In the South (Alassio), Op.|50 (1904); Introduction and Allegro for str., Op.|47 (1905); The Wand of Youth Suites Nos. 1 and 2, Opp. 1a and 1b (1907 and 1908); Sym. No.|1 in Ab major, Op.|55 (1907--8); Elegy for str., Op.|58 (1909); Vn. Conc. in B minor, Op.|61 (1909--10); Romance for bn., Op.|62 (1910); Sym. No.|2 in Eb major, Op.|63 (1903--11); Coronation March, Op.|65 (1911); Suite, Crown of India, Op.|66 (1912); Falstaff, Op.|68 (1902--13); Sospiri for str., harp, and organ, Op.|70 (1914); Polonia, Op.|76 (1915); Vc. Conc. in E minor, Op.|85 (1918--19); Empire March (1924); Severn Suite, Op.|87, for brass band (1930), for orch. (1932); Nursery Suite (1931).

voices and orch: The Black Knight, cantata, Op.|25 (1889--93); Scenes from the Bavarian Highlands, Op.|27 (1896); The Light of Life (Lux Christi), oratorio, Op.|29 (1896); Scenes from the Saga of King Olaf, cantata, Op.|30 (1894--6); The Banner of St George, ballad, Op.|33 (1896--7); Caractacus, cantata, Op.|35 (1898); The Dream of Gerontius, Op.|38 (1899--1900); Sea Pictures, song-cycle for mez. and orch., Op.|37 (1897--9); Coronation Ode, Op.|44 (1902); The Apostles, oratorio, Op.|49 (1901--3); The Kingdom, oratorio, Op.|51 (1901--6); 3 Songs with orch., Op.|59 (1909--10); The Music Makers, choral ode, Op.|69 (1902--12); The Spirit of England, Op.|80 (1915--17).

part-songs and church music: Ave, verum corpus, Op.|2, No.|1 (1887); Ecce sacerdos magnus, ch. and organ (1888); My love dwelt in a northern land (1889); Spanish Serenade, Op.|23 (1891, with orch. 1892); Te Deum and Benedictus, Op.|34 (1897); The Sword Song, from Caractacus (1898); To her beneath whose steadfast star (1899); Weary Wind of the West (1902); 5 Part-Songs from the Greek Anthology, Op.|45 (1902); Evening Scene (1905); 4 Part-Songs, Op.|53 (1907); The Reveille, Op.|54 (1907); Angelus, Op.|56 (1909); Go, Song of Mine, Op.|57 (1909); O hearken thou, offertory, Op.|64 (Coronation 1911); Great is the Lord (Psalm 48), Op.|67 (1912); Give Unto the Lord (Psalm 29), Op.|74 (1914); 2 Choral Songs, Op.|71 (1914); Death on the Hills, Op.|72 (1914); 2 Choral Songs, Op.|73 (1914); The Wanderer and Zut, zut, zut (1923).

chamber music: Promenades for wind quintet (1878); Harmony Music for wind quintet (1879); Allegretto on GEDGE, vn. and pf. (1885); Salut d'Amour, Op.|12, for pf. solo, for vn. and pf., for orch., and in many other arrs. (1888--9); Liebesahnung, vn. and pf. (1889); La Capricieuse, Op.|17, vn. and pf. (1891); Very Easy Melodious Exercises in the 1st Position, Op.|22, for vn. (1892); Études caractéristiques, Op.|24, for vn. (1882--92); Chanson de Nuit, Chanson de Matin, Op.|15, Nos. 1 and 2, for vn. and pf. (later orch.) (No. 1 pubd. 1897, No.

2 pubd. 1899); Vn. Sonata in E minor, Op.|82 (1918); Str. Qt. in E minor, Op.|83 (1918); Pf. Quintet, Op.|84 (1918--19).

piano solos: Rosemary (Douce Pensée) (1882, orch. 1914); May Song (1901, orch. 1928); Concert Allegro, Op.|46 (1901); Dream Children, Op.|43 (1902); Skizze (1903); In Smyrna (1905); Echo's Dance (from Sanguine Fan) (1917); Sonatina (1889, rev. 1930); Adieu (1932); Serenade (1932).

theatre (incl. recitations): Incidental mus., funeral march, and song for Grania and Diarmid (Yeats and Moore), Op.|42 (1901); The Crown of India, masque, Op.|66 (1902--12); Carillon, Op.|75, reciter and orch. (1914); incidental mus. for The Starlight Express (Blackwood and Pearn), Op.|78 (1915); Une voix dans le désert, Op.|77, reciter and orch. (1915); The Sanguine Fan, ballet, Op.|81 (1917); Le drapeau belge, Op.|79, reciter and orch. (1917); incidental mus. to Arthur (Binyon) (1923); incidental mus. to Beau Brummel (Matthews) (1928).

organ: 11 Vesper Voluntaries, Op.|14 (1889--90); Sonata in G major, Op.|28 (1895); Sonata No.|2, Op.|87a (arr. by Atkins of Severn Suite) (1932--3).

solo songs: Through the long days (1885); The Wind at Dawn (1888); Queen Mary's Song (1889); Like to the Damask Rose (1893); Shepherd's Song (1893); Rondel (1894); After (1895); Love Alone Will Stay (incorporated into Sea Pictures as In Haven) (1897); Pipes of Pan (1900); In the Dawn; Speak, Music (1902); Land of Hope and Glory (1902); Pleading (1908); The Torch; The River (1909--10); The Fringes of the Fleet (1917); and many more.

short pieces for small orch: Cantique, Op.|3 (1912 orch. of 1897 organ solo Adagio solenne); Rosemary (1914 orch. of 1882 pf. solo); Sevillana, Op.|7 (1884); Salut d'Amour, Op.|12 (1888); 3 Bavarian Dances, Op.|27 (Nos. 1, 3, and 6 of From the Bavarian Highlands) (orch. 1897); Minuet, Op.|21 (1899 orch. of 1897 pf. solo); Chanson de Nuit; Chanson de Matin, Op.|15, Nos. 1 and 2 (1901 orch.); Sérénade lyrique (1899); Dream Children, Op.|43 (1902); Carissima (1913); Minuet (Beau Brummel) (1928); Mina (sketched for pf. 1932, orch. 1933).

transcriptions for orch: J.S. Bach: Fugue in C minor (Elgar Op.|86) f.p. London 1921; Fantasy in C minor, f.p. Gloucester 1922; Handel: Overture in D minor, f.p. Worcester 1923; Chopin: Funeral March from Pf. Sonata in Bb minor, 1933.

uncompleted: Sym. No. 3, Op. 88 (begun c.1932); The Spanish Lady, opera, Op. 89 (begun c.1932); Pf. Conc., Op. 90 (sketches date from 1909).

Elias, Brian (b Bombay, India, 1948). Eng. composer. Studied RCM with Bernard Stevens and H. Searle, and privately with Lutyens. Works incl. La Chevelure, sop. and chamber ens. (1967); ELM, sop., ten., pf. (1969); 5 Pieces for Right Hand, pf. (1969); Piece, vc. (1970); Peroration, solo sop. (1973); Proverbs of Hell, unacc. ch. (1975); Tzigane, vn. (1978); Somnia, ten. and orch. (1979); At the Edge of Time, ten. and pf. (1982); vn. conc. (1984); L'Eylah (1984).

Elijah (Elias). Oratorio, Op.|70, by Mendelssohn to text selected from the Bible by Julius Schrubring. For sop., cont., ten., bass, and treble soloists, boys' ch., ch., and orch. Comp. 1846, f.p. Birmingham 1846, Hamburg 1847, NY 1851.

Elinson, Iso (b Mogilev, 1907; d London, 1964). Russ.-born pianist, became Brit. subject. Studied Petrograd Cons. Pupil of Blumenfeld. Recitalist esp. in Chopin, Schubert, Beethoven, and soloist with orch. Prof. of pf. RMCM 1944--64.

Elisabetta, Regina d'Inghilterra (Elizabeth, Queen of England). Opera in 2 acts by Rossini to lib. by Giovanni Schmidt, after C. Federici's play (1814) based on Sophia Lee's novel The Recess (1783--5). Prod. Naples 1815, London 1818. First opera in which Rossini provided orch. acc. for all the recitatives. Ov. is same as for Aureliano in Palmira and Il Barbiere di Siviglia. Much of the mus. in the opera is taken from earlier operas, incl. Sigismondo (1814). First opera Rossini comp. for Isabella Colbran, whom he later married.

Elisir d'amore, L' (The Elixir of Love). Comic opera in 2 acts by Donizetti to lib. by Romani after Scribe's lib. Le Philtre for Auber (1831). Prod. Milan 1832, London 1836, NY 1838.

Elizalde, Federico (b Manila, 1907; d Manila, 1979). Sp. composer, cond., and pianist. Studied under Bloch and Halffter. From 1926 to 1929 was in Eng. where he influenced development of jazz, particularly by his arrangements for a band at the Savoy Hotel 1927--9. Cond., Manila S.O., 1930. President, Manila Broadcasting Co., 1948. Comps. incl. opera Paul Gauguin, pf. conc., vn. conc., Music for 15 soloists, etc.

Ella, John (b Leicester, 1802; d London, 1888). Eng. writer, violinist, and impresario. Pupil of Fétis. Dir. of mus. society at London home of Lord Saltoun, 1826--46. Founded and dir. chamber mus. concerts known as the Musical Union 1845--80, writing series of analytical notes. Critic of Morning Post 1828--42, Athenaeum 1831--4, and other journals.

Ellington, Duke (Edward Kennedy) (b Washington, D.C. 1899; d NY, 1974). Amer. composer, pianist, and jazz-band leader. One of the most influential figures in the history of jazz. From 1927 to 1932 his band established its fame at the Cotton Club, NY. Later it toured Europe (1933 and 1939), attracting and influencing several composers; though re-formed several times, some of its members remained with Ellington for over 30 years. Among his most celebrated players were Johnny Hodges (sax.), Barney Bigard (cl.), Cootie Williams (tpt.), Lawrence Brown (tb.), and Harry Carney (bar. sax.). Wrote about 6,000 comps., among best-known being Mood Indigo, Solitude, Caravan, Sophisticated Lady, Black and Tan Fantasy, Creole Love Call, and Black, Brown, and Beige.

Ellis, David (b Liverpool, 1933). Eng. composer and administrator. Studied RMCM 1953--7. Comps. awarded Royal Philharmonic prize, RCM patrons' award, and Morley College opera prize. Joined staff of BBC, Manchester, 1964 with responsibility for BBC Northern S.O. (now BBC Philharmonic) programmes. Head of Mus., BBC North, from 1978. Prin. works:

opera: Crito, Op. 21 (1963).

orch: Sym. No. 1, Op. 38 (1973); Sinfonietta, Op.|13 (1953); L, Op.|41 (1977); vn. conc., Op.|22 (1958); pf. conc., Op.|27 (1962); Dance Rhapsody, Op.|28 (1963); Elegy, Op.|30 (1966); Fanfares and Cadenzas, Op.|31 (1968).

chamber orch: February Music, Op.|43, vc. and chamber orch. (1977); Divisions, Op.|39 (1974); In Nomine (1963); Sequentia III (Tenebrae), Op.|32 (1970); Circles (1979); Capriccio 'The Bear' (1981).

string orch: Dewpoint, Op. 10, sop. and cl. (1955); Divisions on a Theme of Purcell, Op.|16 (1956); Concert Music, Op. 24 (1960); Solus, Op.|37 (1973).

choral: Crux fidelis (Sequentia I), Op.|26, ten., ch., and orch. (1962); Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis, ch. and org. (1964); Sequentia in tempore Natali Sacri, Op.|29, ch. and ens. (1964); Psalm 115, ch., brass, and org., Op.|33 (1970); Carols for an Island Christmas, Op.|34, ch. and ens. (1971); An Image of Truth, Op.|35, bass, ch., and orch. (1974); Sequentia IV (Visions), Op.|36, ten., bar., ch., org., and perc. (1972); Sequentia V (Genesis), Op.|40, ch. and orch. (or org.) (1975).

chamber music: String Trio, Op.|9 (1954); wind quintet, Op.|17 (1956); Sonata for db., Op.|42 (1977).

piano: Sonatina, Op. 2 (1953); Sonata, Op.|12 (1956).

Ellis, Osian (b Ffynnongroew, 1928). Welsh harpist and singer. Studied RAM. Member of Melos Ens. Former prin. harpist LSO. Many recitals, tours, and recordings. Britten wrote Harp Suite in C, Op.|83, for him. C.B.E. 1971.

Elman, Mischa (b Talnoye, Russia, 1891; d NY, 1967). Russ.-Amer. violinist (Amer. citizen from 1923). Child prodigy. Studied under Auer at St Petersburg Cons. Professional début Berlin 1904, London 1905. First played in NY 1908, thereafter maintaining brilliant int. reputation.

Elmendorff, Karl (b Düsseldorf, 1891; d in the Taunus, 1962). Ger. cond. Studied Cologne. Held cond. posts in Munich, Düsseldorf, and Berlin. Bayreuth Fest. 1927--42. Cond. Dresden State Opera, 1942--5, Wiesbaden 1948--56.

Eloy, Jean-Claude (b Mont-Saint-Aignan, nr. Rouen, 1938). Fr. composer. Studied Paris Cons. 1950--61 with Milhaud and Martenot, and with Boulez in Basle 1961--2. Visited USA 1964 and 1967--9. Worked at elec.mus. studio, Cologne, 1972. Works incl. Stèle pour Omar Khayyám for sop., harp, pf., and perc. (1960), Étude III (Sym. No.1) (1962), Equivalences for 18 instr. (1963), Poly-chronies I and II for wind and perc. (1964), Macles 1/II, 6 groups of instr. (1967), Faisceaux-Diffractions for 28 instr. (1970), Kamakala, for 3 ens. and 3 ch. (1971), Shanti, 6 solo vv., instrs., elec. (1972--3, rev. as Vers l'étendue, orch. 1974), Kshara-akshara, sop., ch., 3 orch. groups (1974).

El Salón México. Orch. work by Copland based on popular Mexican themes. Comp. 1933--6, f.p. Mexico S.O. 1937. Also arr. by composer for solo pf.

Elsner, Joseph Xaver (b Grottkau, 1769; d Warsaw, 1854). Silesian composer, largely self-taught. Kapellmeister, Lemberg, 1792--9. Cond. in Warsaw from 1799, in charge of opera until 1824 and becoming dir. of Cons. 1821--30. Taught Chopin. Comp. 20 operas, 8 syms., ballet, concs., etc.

Elwell, Herbert (b Minneapolis, 1898; d Cleveland, 1974). Amer. composer and critic. Studied with Bloch in NY and Boulanger in Paris. Mus. critic, Cleveland Plain Dealer 1932--65. Head of comp., Cleveland Institute of Mus. 1928--45. Teacher of comp. Oberlin Cons. from 1945. Works incl. ballet The Happy Hypocrite (1925), 2 str. qts., Lincoln: Requiem aeternam (1947), Introduction and Allegro for orch. (1942), etc.

Elwes, Gervase (Cary) (b Northampton, 1866; d Boston, Mass., 1921). Eng. ten. Studied mus. Vienna, Munich, Paris, and London, but did not become professional musician until 1903, having begun diplomatic career. Soon in demand for Lieder recitals and as notable exponent of Evangelist in Bach's St Matthew Passion and of Gerontius in Elgar's choral masterpiece. Gave recitals in Ger., partnered by the pianist Fanny Davies. First singer of Vaughan Williams's On Wenlock Edge (1909). Sang ten. songs in f.p. in England of Mahler's Das Lied von der Erde (1914). Fund est. in his memory is now the Musician's Benevolent Fund.

Embellishments. See Ornaments.

Embouchure. (1) In brass and some woodwind playing, the mode of application of the lips, or their relation to the mouthpiece. (2) (Fr.). The mouthpiece of a brass instr.

Emerald Isle, The. Posthumous comic opera in 2 acts by Sullivan, begun 1900 and completed by Edward German. Lib. by Basil Hood. Prod. Savoy Th. 1901.

Emicon. Elec. instr. invented in USA, 1931, producing notes from the air in a graded chromatic scale. Kbd. controls accurate tuning.

Emmanuel, (Marie Fran;alcois) Maurice (b Bar-sur-Aube, 1862; d Paris, 1938). Fr. composer and scholar. Studied Paris Cons. under Delibes and Bourgault-Ducoudray. Prof. of mus. history Paris Cons. 1909--36. Authority on Gr. mus., about which he wrote extensively. Comp. 2 operas, 2 syms., str. qt., and suite on popular Gr. airs for vn. and pf.

E moll (Ger.). The key of E minor.

'Emperor' Concerto. Nickname by which Beethoven's Pf. Conc. No. 5 in Eb major, Op. 73, is known in Eng. and USA. Not known when or by whom this title was conferred, but it is not inapt.

'Emperor' Quartet (Kaiserquartett). Nickname for Haydn's Str. Qt. in C major, Op. 76 No. 3, because the slow movement is a set of variations on the tune he wrote for the Emperor's Hymn.

Emperor's Hymn (Gott erhalte Franz den Kaiser, i.e. God preserve the Emperor Francis). Tune found in many hymn-books under the name Austria. The nat. hymn of Austria from the time of comp. of the tune by Haydn in 1797 to the creation of the Republic in 1918. Thereafter the tune was officially retained, but other words adopted, Sei gesegnet ohne Ende (Thine be never-ending blessings) by Ottokar Kernstock. The orig. words were by Lorenz Leopold Haschka (1749--1827). Haydn, whose instructions were to compose something approaching in merit the Eng. nat. anthem, took a folk melody of his childhood, which probably suggested itself to him as fitting metrically and rhythmically the opening lines, and altered and extended its later part. For the application of the tune in Ger. see Deutschland über Alles.

Emperor Waltz (Strauss). See Kaiser-Walzer.

Empfindung (Ger.). Feeling, sentiment; hence Empfindungsvoll, feelingly.

Enchaînez (Fr.). Chain together, join up (i.e. next movement to be played without break).

Enchanted Lake, The (Volshebnoye ozero). Symphonic poem by Lyadov, comp. 1909.

Encina (Enzina), Juan del (b Salamanca, 1468; d Léon, c. 1530). Sp. composer and poet. Served 2nd Duke of Alba, 1492--8, then worked in Rome. Archdeacon of Málaga 1509--17, prior of Léon from 1519. Wrote several eclogues (pastoral plays) and a large no. of songs for 3 or 4 vv. His Cancionero, 1495, was an anthology of plays and poems.

Encore (Fr.). Again. In Eng. has been adopted as the word of demand for the repetition of a perf. (properly, perhaps, of the same piece, but often used of a return to the platform to give additional perf., either of the same or another piece). Also used as verb (to encore). Although a Fr. word, encore entered the Eng. language as a corruption of It. ancora (with the same meaning), which, from the early 18th cent. onwards, was used by audiences at the It. Opera in London (together with the words altra volta, another time). The Fr. use bis (Lat., twice; verb bisser).

End-Plugged. Term for org. flue pipes with a stopper at the top which lowers their pitch by an octave.

Energia (It.). Energy. Energico, energetic.

Enescu, George (Enesco, Georges) (b Liveni-Virnav, Romania, 1881; d Paris, 1955). Romanian composer, violinist, and cond. First public recital as violinist at age 7. Studied Vienna Cons. under Hellmesberger and R. Fuchs, then at Paris Cons. under Massenet and Fauré. Concert of his works in Paris 1897. Frequent appearances as cond. (until 1951), and as sonata recitalist with Cortot. His vn. pupils incl. Menuhin, Grumiaux, and Gitlis. His comps. use Romanian folk idioms and are also influenced by late romanticism. They incl.: Oedipe (4-act opera, 1921--31); Sym. No. 1 (1905), No. 2 (1912--14), No. 3, with ch. and pf. solo (1916--21), No. 4 (1934), No. 5, ten., ch., and orch. (1941); Symphonie concertante for vc. and orch. (1901); 2 Romanian Rhapsodies (1901); 3 vn. sonatas (1897, 1899, 1926);

2 vc. sonatas (1898, 1935); 2 pf. sonatas (1924, 1933--5); 2 pf. quintets (1895, 1940); 2 str. qts. (1916--20, 1950--3); 2 pf. qts. (1909, 1943--4); Chamber symphony for 12 instr. (1954); and songs.

Enfance du Christ, L' (The Childhood of Christ). Oratorio, Op. 25, by Berlioz for soloists, ch., and orch., comp. 1850--4. F.p. Paris 1854, Manchester 1880. Text by composer.

Enfant et les Sortilèges, L' (The Child and the Spells). Fantaisie lyrique in 2 parts by Ravel, to lib. by Colette. Comp. 1920--5. Prod. Monte Carlo 1925, San Francisco 1930, Oxford 1958.

Enfant prodigue, L' (The Prodigal Son). (1) Cantata by Debussy, comp. 1884, for sop., ten., and bar. soloists, ch., and orch. It won Debussy the Prix de Rome. F.p. Paris 1884 with acc. for 2 pf. Orch. rev. 1906 and 1908. (2) Opera by Auber, 1850. See under Prodigal Son for Prokofiev ballet and Britten church parable.

En-Gedi (In the wilderness). F. X. Huber's lib. for Beethoven's oratorio Christus am Ölberge (1803) was replaced in Eng. by new text by H. Hudson, changing story to that of 'David in the Wilderness' in view of 'objectionable nature' of orig. words.

Engel, Karl (b Theiedewiese, 1818; d Kensington, 1882). Ger. pianist and writer. Studied under Hummel. Settled London, c. 1845, where he formed valuable library and coll. of ancient instr. Among his writings are Introduction to the Study of National Music (1866) and Researches into the Early History of the Violin Family (1883).

Engelstimme (Ger.). Angel-voice. The Vox Angelica stop on the organ.

Englisches Horn (Ger.). English horn, i.e. Cor anglais.

English Chamber Orchestra. Orig. name was Goldsbrough Orch., founded 1948 by Arnold Goldsbrough and Lawrence Leonard to perf. baroque mus. Present name adopted 1960 when repertory was expanded to cover mus. of all periods written for 'Mozart-sized' ens. Assoc. with Aldeburgh Fest. since 1961, playing in premières of Britten's Midsummer Night's Dream, Owen Wingrave, church parables, and Cello Sym. Has also given f.ps. of works by Maw, Birtwistle, Tavener, Richard Rodney Bennett, etc. No prin. cond., but has worked closely with Britten, Leppard, Barenboim, Davis, Zukerman, and others. Many recordings. Worldwide tours, incl. Japan, the Americas, Europe, Israel, etc.

English Fingering. The (obsolete) 'Eng.' system of marking printed pf. mus. with the composer's or ed.'s suggested fingering, whereby a cross represented the thumb and the figures 1 to 4 the fingers (as opposed to 'continental' system using 1 for thumb and 2 to 5 for fingers).

English Folk Dance and Song Society. Amalgamation in 1932 of Folk Song Society (founded 1898) and Eng. Folk Dance Soc. (1911), with general aim of preserving songs and dances of Brit. people. H.Q. in Cecil Sharp House, London, where library and archives are housed. Holds annual fest. in London, but regional branches are also active.

English Horn. See Cor anglais.

English Hymnal, The. Coll. of Eng. hymns and tunes pubd. 1906 (rev. 1933) ed. by Percy Dearmer with Vaughan Williams as mus. ed. Incl. several hymn tunes by Vaughan Williams and others by his Eng. contemporaries, several being adaptations of folk-songs.

English Lyrics. Title given to 12 sets of songs (74 in all) for v. and pf. by Parry, all settings of Eng. poetry. 1st set (4 songs) 1881--5, 2nd (5) 1881--5, 3rd (6) 1895, 4th (6) 1897, 5th (7)

1902, 6th (6) 1902, 7th (6) 1907, 8th (6) 1907, 9th (7) 1909, 10th (6) 1909, 11th (8) pubd. 1920, 12th (7) pubd. 1920. The last 2 sets were selected and ed. by Dr Emily Daymond.

English Madrigal School. First complete edn. of Eng. madrigals, 1588--1624, transcr., scored, and ed. by Dr E. H. Fellowes and pubd. in 36 vols., 1913--24.

English Music Theatre. Title from 1976 of former English Opera Group, founded by Britten, Eric Crozier, and John Piper in 1946 to perf. chamber operas old and new. Closely connected with Britten's operas, but also gave f.ps. of Walton's The Bear and Birtwistle's Punch and Judy. Has toured abroad widely, incl. USSR (1964). From 1961 administered and financed by CG. Re-formed 1976 under joint dir. of Colin Graham and Steuart Bedford with aim of longer season and to embrace opera, operetta, musicals, and less conventional works, all generalized as 'music theatre'. Ceased to exist 1980.

English National Opera. See Sadler's Wells.

English Opera Group. See English Music Theatre.

English Singers, The. Title of group of 6 singers specializing in Eng. madrigals and folk-song arrs. who gave 1st concert in 1920. Visited Prague 1922 and later toured in Berlin, Vienna, Holland, and the USA. Orig. members were Flora Mann, Winifred Whelen, Lillian Berger, Steuart Wilson, Clive Carey, and Cuthbert Kelly. In 1924 Nellie Carson, Norman Stone, and Norman Notley replaced Whelen, Wilson, and Carey, and there were further changes before final disbandment.

English Suite, An. Suite in G in 7 movements for str. orch. by Parry. The 5th (Pastoral) movement dates from 1890, some from 1914 and other parts from 1916. Left unfinished and put in final form by Dr Emily Daymond. Pubd. 1921, f.p., in public 1922.

English Suites. Set of 6 kbd. suites by Bach, pubd. posthumously. Title seems to have arisen from the existence of MS. copy (in the possession of Bach's youngest son, Johann Christian) describing the work as fait pour les Anglais ('made for the English'). See also French Suites; German Suites.

Englund, (Sven) [fy65,3]Einar[fy75,1] (b Ljugarn, Gotland, Sweden, 1916). Finn. composer, cond., and writer. Studied Sibelius Acad., Helsinki, 1933--41 (comp. with Palmgren, pf. with Paavola) and Tanglewood, 1949 (with Copland). Cond., pianist, and reviewer for Finn. radio and TV from 1950; mus. critic, Helsinki Hufvudstadsbladet from 1957. Taught comp. at Sibelius Acad. from 1958. Works incl. 3 syms. (1946, 1948, 1970), vc.conc. (1954), pf. sonatina (1968), film mus., etc.

Enharmonic Intervals. Those intervals which differ from each other in name but not in any other way (so far as modern kbd. instr. are concerned). For example: C to G# (augmented 5th) and C to Ab (minor 6th). Hence enharmonic change, the change of a note in a part, e.g. from D# to Eb.

Enigma Variations (Variations on an Original Theme (Enigma)). Elgar's Op.136 for full orch. F.p. London, 19 June 1899; finale rev. for 3rd perf. Sept. 1899. The 'Enigma' is the theme itself, probably representing Elgar, but he said 'through and over the whole set another and larger theme ``goes'', but is not played'. Identity of this 2nd theme, if it exists, has never been established despite many ingenious guesses. The work is ded. 'to my friends pictured within', each variation being a mus. sketch. Initials or pseudonyms disguise the individuals but their identities are: 1. C.A.E. (Lady Elgar); 2. H.D.S.-P. (Hew Steuart-Powell); 3. R.B.T. (R.B. Townshend); 4. W.M.B. (W. Meath Baker); 5. R.P.A. (Richard P. Arnold); 6. Ysobel (Isabel Fitton); 7. Troyte (A. Troyte Griffith); 8. W.N. (Winifred Norbury); 9. Nimrod (A. J. Jaeger); 10. Dorabella (Dora Penny); 11. G.R.S. (G. R. Sinclair, but more accurately his bulldog Dan); 12. B.G.N. (Basil G. Nevinson); 13. ;DC;DC;DC (Lady Mary Lygon); 14. E.D.U. (Elgar). Also 1-act ballet by Ashton, f.p. CG 1968 (uses orig. ending to finale). Arr. for brass band by Eric Ball, 1984.

Enlevez (Fr.). Take up, i.e. remove (e.g. pedal or mute).

En Saga (A Saga). Symphonic poem by Sibelius, Op.|9, 1892, rev. 1901.

Ensalada (Sp.). Salad. Comical Sp. 16th-cent. choral pieces, using combination of texts in various languages.

Ensemble (Fr.). Together. (1) Any combination of performers, but especially a small group playing individual parts. (2) The quality in perf. implying the greater or lesser exhibition of the co-operative spirit, e.g. unanimity of attack, balance of tone, etc., thus giving rise to such expressions as 'good ens.', 'poor ens.', etc. A morceau d'ensemble (e.g. in an operatic context) is a piece in which several performers combine.

Entführung aus dem Serail, Die. (The Abduction from the Seraglio). Opera (Singspiel) in 3 acts by Mozart (K384) to Ger. lib. by Gottlob Stephanie adapted from C. F. Bretzner's lib. for André's Belmont und Constanze (1781). Comp. 1781--2. Prod. Vienna 1782, London 1827, NY 1860. In 19th cent. was sung in It. in Eng., hence spurious title Il seraglio.

Entr'acte (Fr.). Between the acts. Strictly the interval between the acts of a play or opera, but in mus. parlance refers to the piece of orch. mus. played at such times, e.g. Schubert's entr'actes for Rosamunde.

Entrada (Sp.). Same as Entrée.

Entrée (Fr.). Entrance. (1) A 17th- and 18th-cent. term for an instr. piece before a ballet. (2) An act in an opéra-ballet of which every act is self-contained (corruption of entremets, 'side-dish', old title for a kind of masque). (3) The opening moment of anypart of a work.

Entremont, Philippe (b Rheims, 1934). Fr. pianist and cond. Studied with Marguerite Long and at Paris Cons. Winner Belgian State Competition, Brussels, 1951. Specialist in Fr. mus. but wide repertory. Mus. dir. Vienna Chamber Orch. from 1976, cond. New Orleans P.O. from 1980.

Envelope. Term in elec. mus. for those characteristics of amplitude which determine the growth and decay of a signal.

Éolides, Les (The Breezes). César Franck's first symphonic poem, comp. 1876, based on poem by Lecomte de Lisle describing flight of the breezes, daughters of Aeolus, over the southern lands. F.p. Paris 1877.

Epicedium. Dirge or lament, e.g. Purcell's The Queen's Epicedium, 1695.

Epilogue. A concluding piece: in opera, for example, sometimes addressed directly to the audience, as in Stravinsky's The Rake's Progress. Term has been used as description of movements in their syms. by Vaughan Williams and Bax.

Episode. In comps. designed on one of the regular patterns, a section containing thematic material of secondary importance is sometimes called an episode. It can also contain new material. In Rondo form, the contrasting sections between returns of the main material are sometimes called episodes. In Fugue form, an episode follows the exposition and is a passage of connective material, usually a development of a theme from the exposition, leading to another entry or series of entries of the subject. One function of the fugal episode is to effect modulation to various related keys so that later entries may take advantage of this variety.

Epitaffio per García Lorca (Epitaph for García Lorca). Work by Nono, comp. 1951--3, in 3 parts: 1. España en la corazón, sop., bar., small ch., and instr. 2. Y su sangre ya viene cantando, fl. and small orch. 3. Memento, female speaker, speaking choir, ch., and orch.

Epithalamium (Lat., Eng. epithalamion). A marriage song or wedding hymn. Vaughan Williams's cantata Epithalamion (1957) has words selected from Spenser's poem of that name.

Éponge, Baguette d' (Fr.). Sponge-headed drum-stick.

Epstein, Julius (b Agram, 1832; d Vienna, 1926). Croatian pianist, prof. at Vienna Cons. 1867--1901. Taught Mahler and recognized his genius even as a boy.

Equale, equali (Old It.). (1) Equal. (2) 18th-cent. term for a funeral qt. of instr. of the same kind, usually tbs.; or mus. for such, e.g. Beethoven's 3 Equali (1812) in D minor, D major, and B major), 2 of which, with vocal parts added by Seyfried, were perf. at Beethoven's funeral.

Equal Temperament. See Temperament.

Equal Voices (It. Voci eguali; Lat. Voces aequales; Ger. Gleiche Stimmen). A choral comp. is said to be for 'equal vv.' when it is for vv. of the same kind, generally for 2 sop. or 3 sop. (sch. mus. and mus. for women's choirs). In such mus., in fairness to the vv. of the performers, the parts are usually so arr. that sometimes one v. and sometimes another is at the top. Occasionally the term is less correctly used as implying 'for children's vv.' (unmixed with adults) or 'for women's vv.' (unmixed with men's), or vice versa.

Érard, Sébastien (b Strasbourg, 1752; d La Muette, 1831). Fr. founder of firm of pf. and harp manufacturers. Went to Paris 1768, built first Fr. pf. 1777. Est. firm with his brother in Paris 1779. Opened London branch 1786 working there until 1796, in which year he made his first grand pf. Patented improvements to pf. and harp. Succeeded by nephew Pierre Érard (1796--1855). London branch closed 1890. Amalgamated with Gaveau, 1960.

Erb, Donald James (b Youngstown, Ohio, 1927). Amer. composer. Studied Kent State Univ., Ohio, Cleveland Institute of Mus., and in Paris with Boulanger. Teacher at Cleveland Institute. Comps. incl. several works involving tape and synthesizers, but many works employ more conventional means.

Erb, Karl (b Ravensburg, 1877; d Ravensburg, 1958). Ger. ten. Début with Stuttgart Opera 1907, Munich opera 1913--25. Created title-role in Pfitzner's Palestrina 1917. CG 1927. Retired from stage 1930. Noted exponent of Evangelist in Bach's St Matthew Passion.

Erbach, Christian (b Algesheim, c.1570; d Augsburg, 1635). Ger. composer of motets and songs. Organist, Augsburg, from 1602.

Erbse, Heimo (b Rudolstadt, 1924). Ger. composer. Studied Weimar 1945--7 and Berlin 1950--2 (comp. with Blacher). From 1947 to 1950 was opera producer and coach. Comps. incl. 2 syms., operas Julietta and Der Herr in Grau, wind qt., pf. sonata, ballet Ruth, fl. sonata, and choral and orch. works.

Erede, Alberto (b Genoa, 1909). It. cond. Studied in Genoa, Milan, and Basle, then with Weingartner 1929--31 and in Dresden with Fritz Busch. Début Rome 1930. Cond. at Glyndebourne 1938--9, NY 1939. Cond., New London Opera Co. 1946, NY Met. 1951--5, Deutsche Oper am Rhein 1956--62. Guest cond. CG and Scottish Opera.

Erickson, Robert (b Marquette, Mich., 1917). Amer. composer. Lessons in comp. 1936 from K;akrenek. Teacher at SanFrancisco Cons. 1957--66 and at Univ. of Calif., San Diego, from 1966. Began as 12-note composer but changed course in 1957 with his Str. Qt. No.|2 where he showed new interest in qualities of sound. This interest in sonorities and combinations of tempi led him to introduce improvisation into his Chamber Concerto (1960) and pf. conc. (1963). He began to use tape in 1964, employing musique concrète processes. Works comp. in this idiom incl. Ricercar for 3 db. (1967), Pacific Sirens (1968) for 10--14 instr. on tape, High Flyer for amplified fl. (1969), etc.

Erkel, Ferenc (b Gyula, 1810; d Budapest, 1893). Hung. composer. Cond. Budapest Nat. Th. from 1838. Founder and cond. Budapest Phil. and professor, Hung. Nat. Acad. of Mus. One of first Hung. 'nationalists', striving to est. nat. opera. His first opera, Bátori Mária (1840), was followed by Hunyádi László (1844) and by Bánk Bán (1844--52, prod. 1861) which is traditionally perf. on nat. holiday. Other operas are Dozsa (1866), György Brankovics (1874), and King István (1874--84).

Erlanger, Camille (pseudonym Frédéric Regnal)(b Paris, 1863; d Paris, 1919). Fr. composer. Studied Paris Cons. with Delibes. Works incl. Requiem for double ch. and several operas (Le Juif polonais, 1900; Le Fils de l'étoile, 1904; Bacchus triomphant, 1909; Le Barbier de Deauville, 1917).

Erlebach, Philipp Heinrich (b Esens, Friesland, 1657; d Rudolstadt, 1714). Ger. composer who was for 33 years Kapellmeister in Rudolstadt. Among surviving works are 6 sonatas for vn., bass viol, and cont. (1694), 2 vols. of songs (1697, 1710), and sacred mus.

Erleichterung (Ger.). An 'easing', i.e. a simplified version.

Erlih, Devy (b Paris, 1928). Fr. violinist. Studied Paris Cons. Début 1944 with Pasdeloup Orch. Frequent tours as conc. soloist.

Erlkönig (The Erl-King). Ballad by Goethe, the Erl-King being a King of all the spirits who appears to a child and entices him to death. Poem comes from Goethe's ballad-opera Die Fischerin (1782) and 1st mus. setting was an 8-bar melody written by Corona Schröter, actress who played the fisherwoman at the f.p. It was then set by Reichardt, Klein, and Zelter, but the best-known settings (for v. and pf.) are those by Schubert (D328), 1815, and Loewe, 1818. Sketches of an abandoned Beethoven setting exist. Special importance of Schubert's setting is the difficult and vivid acc., which revolutionized the art of acc. for composers and pianists.

Ernani. 4-act opera by Verdi to lib. by Piave based on Hugo's novel Hernani (1830). Comp. 1843. Prod. Venice 1844, London 1845, NY 1847.

Erniedrigen (Ger.). To lower (pitch).

Ernst, Heinrich Wilhelm (b Brünn (Brno), 1814; d Nice, 1865). Moravian violinist and composer. Studied Vienna Cons. and modelled his style on that of Paganini. Lived in Paris 1832--8, toured Europe 1838--44. Frequent visitor to London after 1843, settling there in 1855. Comp. vn. concs. and other pieces for his instr. Viola soloist in Berlioz's Harold en Italie, with comp. conducting, on several occasions.

Ernste Gesänge, Vier (Four Serious Songs) (Brahms). See Vier Ernste Gesänge.

`Eroica' Symphony (Sinfonia Eroica). Sym. No.|3 in Eb major, Op.|55, by Beethoven, comp. 1803--4, f.p. 1804, f.pub.p. 1805. Orig. called Bonaparte, thistitle being erased by Beethoven on hearing that Napoleon had proclaimed himself emperor. On publication it bore the title Sinfonia Eroica, composta per festeggiare il Sovvenire di un grand Uomo (Heroic Symphony, composed to celebrate the memory of a great man). Finale is set of variations on theme taken from Beethoven's ballet Die Geschöpfe des Prometheus (1801).

Eroica Variations. Title given (not by Beethoven) to his Pf. Variations in Eb major, Op.|35, comp. 1802, based on theme from his ballet Die Geschöpfe des Prometheus, 1801, also used in Eroica Sym. Sometimes known as Prometheus Variations. Theme is used again for No.|7 of 12 Kontretänze for orch., WoO|14, pubd. 1803.

Erotikon (Gr.). Love-song.

Erst, erste (Ger.). First.

Ersterbend (Ger.). Dying away.

Erste Walpurgisnacht, Die (The First Walpurgis Night). Mus. by Mendelssohn, Op.|60 (comp. 1831, rev. 1842) to Goethe's ballad, for soloists, ch., and orch. Walpurgis Night is spring fest. when witches ride to the Brocken in Harz Mountains.

Erwartung (Expectation, Suspense). Monodrama in 1 act by Schoenberg, Op.|17, to lib. by Marie Pappenheim, for sop. and orch. Comp. 1909. Prod. Prague 1924 (cond. Zemlinsky), London and Washington D.C.1960 (but Schoenberg cond. a BBC concert perf. in London 1931).

Erweitert (Ger.). Widened, broadened (i.e. slower and with steadiness).

Erzähler (Ger., `narrator'). (1) The Evangelist in settings of the Passion. (2) Soft organ-stop of 8'length and pitch, invented by Skinner of Boston, Mass., giving octave above the fundamental.

Es (Ger.). The note Eb.

Escales (Ports of call). Orch. suite by Ibert, comp. 1922. The 3 ports are said to be Palermo, Tunis, and Valencia.

Eschenbach, Christoph (b Breslau, 1940). Ger. pianist and cond. Studied Musikhochschule, Cologne and Hamburg. World-wide tours as conc. soloist and recitalist. London début 1966. Gave f.p. of Henze's 2nd pf. conc. (Bielefeld, 1968). Début as cond. 1973. Cond. Tonhalle Orch., Zürich, from 1982.CG début 1984 (Così fan tutte).

Escher, Rudolf George (b Amsterdam, 1912; d DeKoos, 1980). Dutch composer. Studied Rotterdam 1934--7 (comp. with Pijper). In 1960--1 worked in Delft studio for elec. mus. and similar studio at Utrecht State Univ. Writer on Ravel and Debussy. Comps. incl. Le Tombeau de Ravel (1952), 2 syms., Summer Rites at Noon for 2 orchs. facing each other (1962--9), Owen's Strange Meeting, bar. and pf. (1952).

Esclarmonde. Opera (opéra romanesque) in 4 acts and prol. by Massenet to lib. by Alfred Blau and Louis de Gramont based on medieval romance Parthenopoeus. Comp. for Amer. sop. Sibyl Sanderson, who first sang title-role. Prod. Paris 1889, New Orleans 1893, CG 1983.

Escobar, Luis Antonio (b Villapinzón, Colombia, 1925). Colombian composer and diplomat. Studied Nat. Univ. of Colombia 1944--7, Peabody Cons., Baltimore, with N. Nabokov 1947--50, and in Salzburg and Berlin 1951--3 with Blacher. Teacher of comp. etc. at Cons. of Colombia Nat. Univ. 1954--7. Founded Colombia Phil. 1966. Dir., cultural div., Ministry of Nat. Education 1960--3, 2nd Secretary, Colombian Embassy, Bonn, 1967--70. Works incl. 5 pf. sonatinas, sym., pf. conc., ballet Avirama, Cánticas de cantas colombianas for ch. and orch., Juramento a Bolívar (symphonic poem), 2 str. qts., etc.

Escobar, Pedro de (b Oporto, c.1465; d ?Evora, after 1535). Portuguese composer of sacred and secular mus. Maestro di cappella, Seville 1507--14. Renowned contrapuntist.

Eses (Ger.). The note Ebb.

Eshpay, Andrey (Yakovlevich) (b Kozmodemyansk, 1925). Russ. composer and pianist. Studied Moscow Cons. 1948--56 (pf. with Sofranitsky, comp. with Myaskovsky and Khachaturian). Taught comp. Moscow Cons. 1963--70. Works incl. 3 syms., Concerto for Orch., pf. conc., vn. conc., 2 vn. sonatas, film mus., etc.

Eskdale, George (b Tynemouth, 1897; d London, 1960). Eng. trumpeter. Trained Kneller Hall. Then in chief London orchs. (LSO from 1932) and on staff RAM from 1938.

Es moll(Ger.). The key of Eb minor.

Espagne (Fr.). Spain. Espagnol, espagnole (Fr.), Espagn(u)olo, espagn(u)ola (It.). Spanish. Used in titles of works such as Rapsodie espagnole (Ravel), Symphonie espagnole (Lalo).

Espa;atna (Spain). Orch. rhapsody by Chabrier, f.p. 1883, in which Sp. tunes and rhythms are quoted. He visited Sp. 1882--3.

Espansiva, Sinfonia (Expansive Symphony). Title of Nielsen's 3rd sym., Op.|27, comp. 1910--11, f.p. Copenhagen 1912. F. Brit. p., London 1962.

Esplá, Oscar (b Alicante, 1886; d Madrid, 1976). Sp. composer, mainly self-taught, being trained as engineer. Won competition in Vienna 1911, then devoted himself to comp. Mus. influenced by (but does not directly quote) Sp. folk-tunes, using 'Levantine' scale of his own devising. Dir., Madrid Cons. 1936--9, Esplá Cons., Alicante, from 1958. Comp. operas, ballet, symphonic poems, choral works, chamber mus.

Esposito, Michele (b Castellammare, Naples, 1855; d Florence, 1929). It. composer and pianist. Studied Naples Cons., then lived in Paris 1878--82. In 1882 became prof. of pf., Royal Irish Acad. of Mus., Dublin. Founded and cond. Dublin Orch. Soc. 1899. Hon.D.Mus., Dublin, 1917. Works incl. operetta The Postbag (1902), cantata Deirdre (1897), Irish Symphony (1902), str. qt., vc. sonata, etc. Mentor of Hamilton Harty.

Espressione (It.). Expression. Espressivo. Expressively.

Esquisse (Fr.). Sketch.

Esquivel, Barahona Juan de (b Ciudad Rodrigo, c.1563; d Ciudad Rodrigo, after 1613). Sp. composer and church musician. Choirmaster, Ciudad Rodrigo Cath. 1608--13. Ranked by some as equal of Victoria.

Esraj. Indian mus. instr. played with a bow and having 4 melodic str. and 10 to 15 sympathetic understr. Tone like a vn. but with more resonance. Fingerboard has 20 movable frets.

Essential Note. An actual note of a chord, as distinct from a passing note, suspension, appoggiatura, etc. These latter are `Unessential Notes'.

Esser, Karl Michael von (b Aix-la-Chapelle, *c.*1736; d c.1783). Ger. composer, violist, and player of viola d'amore. Wrote 12 syms., viola d'amore conc., vn. duets.

Essex, Kenneth (b Hinckley, Leics., 1920). Eng. violist. Studied RAM. Prin. violist with several chamber orchs. Extra va. in quintets with Amadeus and other str. qts.

Esswood, Paul (Lawrence Vincent) (b West Bridgford, 1942). Eng. counterten. Studied RCM. Layvicar, Westminster Abbey choir 1964--71. Début 1965 (Messiah). Opera début 1968 (Berkeley, Calif.). Founder of Pro Cantione Antiqua singers.

Estampes (Engravings). 3 pieces for pf. by Debussy comp. 1903. Movements are Pagodes (Pagodas), Soirée dans Grenade (Evening in Granada) and Jardins sous la pluie (Gardens in the rain). F.p. as complete set Paris 1904. No.|1 orch. Caplet, No.|2 orch. Büsser.

Estampie (Fr.), Estampida (Proven;alcal). Type of troubadour tune for dancing, sometimes with words, in form of a rondeau.

Esterháza. A castle on the S. side of the Neusiedlersee in Austria (now Hungary) which was opened in 1766 as a seat of the Esterházy family. It stood in marshy country and was very isolated, but it contained an opera house and a marionette th. Scene of f.ps. of many works by Josef Haydn, who was engaged in 1761 by Prince Paul Anton Esterházy (1711--62) and became Kapellmeister in 1766 under his successor Prince Nicolaus (1714--90).

Esther. Oratorio by Handel to text by S. Humphreys after Racine. F.p. as masque Haman and Mordecai, 1720, at Cannons but expanded into concert oratorio 1732. 1st Eng. oratorio.

Extinguendo (It.). Extinguishing, i.e. dying away.

Extinto (It.). Extinct. As soft as possible.

Estrada, Carlos (b Montevideo, 1909; d Montevideo, 1970). Uruguayan composer and cond. Studied in Montevideo and at Paris Cons. (comp. with Roger-Ducasse and Büsser, cond. with Wolff and Paray). Founded Montevideo S.O. 1959. Taught harmony Montevideo Univ. 1950--6. Works incl. oratorio Daniel (1942), 2 syms. (1951, 1967), mus. drama L'Annonce faite à Marie (1943), and many shorter pieces.

Estrillo (Sp.). A choral movement at the beginning or end of a Villancico.

Estro armonico,L' (Harmonious Inspiration). Title of Vivaldi's Op.|3, 12 concs. for various instrs., pubd. Amsterdam 1711, 6 of which were transcr. by J. S. Bach. Comprised conc. in D for 4 vn. (RV549), in G minor for 2 vn. and vc. (RV578), in G for vn. (Bach BWV978, RV310), in E minor for 4 vn. (RV550), in A for 2 vn. (RV519), in A minor for vn. (RV356), in F for 4 vn. and vc. (RV567), in A minor for 2 vn. (Bach BWV593, RV522), in D for vn. (Bach BWV972, RV230), in B minor for 4 vn. and vc. (Bach BWV1065, RV580), in D minor for 2 vn. and vc. (Bach BWV596, RV565), in E for vn. (Bach BWV976, RV265).

Eternal Father, Strong to Save. Hymn, words by William Whiting (1825--78), written in 1860 and pubd. in Anglican Hymn Book (1868) in orig. version beginning `O thou who bidd'st the ocean deep'. Revs. appeared in Hymns Ancient and Modern 1861 and appendix to Psalsms and Hymns 1869. Known as `the Navy's hymn'. Tune by J. B. Dykes.

Et Exspecto Resurrectionem Mortuorum (And I look forward to the resurrection of the dead). Orch. work by Messiaen for woodwind, brass, metal perc. Comp. 1964. Commissioned by French Govt. and ded. to memory of dead of two World Wars. F.p. Sainte-Chapelle, Paris, 1965, cond. Baudo, later in Chartres Cath. in presence of Gen. de Gaulle.

Et incarnatus est. See Mass.

Et in Spiritum Sanctum. See Mass.

Et in unum Dominum. See Mass.

Etler, Alvin (b Battle Creek, Iowa, 1913; d Northampton, Mass., 1973). Amer. composer and oboist. Studied Cleveland Institute of Mus. 1931--6 and Yale Univ. Sch. of Mus. 1942--4 (with Hindemith). Oboist, Indianapolis S.O. 1938--40. Held various teaching posts. From 1968 chairman, Hampshire Coll. elec. workshop. Works incl. sym., 2 str. qts., 2 wind quintets, conc. for orch., conc. for vn. and wind quintet, conc. for wind quintet and orch., brass quintet, conc. for str. qt. and orch., etc.

Étoile du Nord, L' (The North Star). 3-act opera by Meyerbeer lib. by Scribe. Prod. Paris 1854, London 1855, New Orleans 1855. Incorporated 6 items from Meyerbeer's opera Ein Feldlager in Schlesien (1844, rev. as Vielka, 1847).

Eton College Manuscript (Eton Choir Book). A book of choral mus. at Eton College, dating from between 1490 and 1504.

Étouffer (Fr., imperative étouffez; past participle étouffé). To stifle, i.e. to damp, e.g. with vn. mute, pf. pedal, etc. Étouffoir, damper (pf. pedal).

Et resurrexit. See Mass.

Étude (Fr.). Study. Comp. intended as a basis for the improvement of the performer's technique. In pf. mus. the term is especially applied to a short piece restricted to the exploitation of one kind of passage. Masterpieces of this kind suitable for public perf. as well as private practice were written by Chopin and Debussy.

Études d'exécution transcendante (Fr., 'Transcendental Studies'). 12 pieces for solo pf. by Liszt, comp. 1851 and based on his 24 Grandes Études of 1837 and Mazeppa of 1840. The titles are 1, Preludio, 2, in A minor, 3, Paysage, 4, Mazeppa, 5, Feux follets, 6, Vision, 7, Eroica, 8, Wilde Jagd, 9, Ricordanza, 10, in F minor, 11, Harmonies du soir, 12, Chasse-neige.

Études d'exécution transcendante d'après Paganini (Transcendental Studies after Paganini). Transcr. for pf. by Liszt, 1838, of 6 of Paganini's vn. caprices, incl. La Campanella. Rev. and re-issued 1851 as Grandes Études de Paganini.

Études symphoniques (Symphonic Studies). Schumann's Op. 13 for pf. solo with orig. title Etuden im Orchester-Charakter von Florestan und Eusebius, comp. 1834--7, rev. 1852, first pubd. 1837, ded. to Sterndale Bennett. The first version contained 12 studies; in 1852, Schumann omitted Nos. 2 and 9 and rewrote finale. Wieck's 1862 edn. restored Nos. 2 and 9. 5 further variations, orig. suppressed, have since been discovered and are included in some perfs.

Etwas (Ger.). Some, something, somewhat.

Eugene Onegin (Evgeny Onyegin). 3-act opera by Tchaikovsky to lib. by composer and K. S. Shilovsky based on Pushkin's poem (1831). Comp. 1877--8. Prod. Moscow 1879, London 1892, NY Met. 1920 (but concert perf. NY 1908).

Eulenburg, Ernst (b Berlin, 1847; d Leipzig, 1926). Ger. mus. publisher. Studied Leipzig Cons. Founded firm in Leipzig 1874, taking over in 1892 the series of miniature scores, Kleine Partitur-Ausgabe, pubd. by Albert Payne, and later Donajowski's edition.

Eulenburg, Kurt (b Berlin, 1879; d London, 1982). Son of E. Eulenburg. Succeeded as head of firm 1926, enlarging no. of miniature scores and publishing scholarly edns. by Blume, Einstein, and others. Went to Switzerland 1939. Opened new London co. 1939, with branch in Zürich. Settled in London 1945. Edn. acquired by Schott 1957, but retained identity. On Eulenburg's retirement in 1969, Roger Fiske was ed. 1969--76, succeeded by Philip Cranmer.

Eulenspiegel, Till (Strauss). See Till Eulenspiegel.

Euphonium. (1) Member of the tuba family of brass instrs., being a tenor tuba in Bb. Mainly used in brass and military bands, many solos for euphonium having been written. (2) Instr. invented by Chladni in 1790, made of glass plates and rods and with a pleasant but soft tone.

Eurhythmics. Method invented by Jaques-Dalcroze for expressing rhythmical aspect of mus. through gymnastic exercises.

Euryanthe. 3-act opera by Weber to lib. by Helmina von Chézy after 13th-cent. Fr. romance. Comp. 1822--3. Prod. Vienna 1823, London 1833, NY Met. 1887. Because of weaknesses of lib. various attempts have been made to renovate Euryanthe, but it is best perf. as Weber left it, flaws and all.

Evans, David (Emlyn) (b Newcastle Emlyn, Wales, 1843; d London, 1913). Welsh composer. Pubd. 2-vol. coll. of 500 Welsh airs (1896), dictionary of Welsh musicians (1887), and comp. anthems, cantatas, and part-songs.

Evans, Edwin (b London, 1871; d London, 1945). Eng. critic. Educated Lille and Luxembourg. Musically self-educated except for lessons from his father (also a writer on mus. and translator of Wagner's Opera and Drama). Took up financial journalism, but turned to mus. 1901 and became expert on Russ. composers. Champion of Debussy and young Eng. composers. Critic, Pall Mall Gazette 1914--23. Worked with Ballets Russes. Critic, Daily Mail from 1933. Wrote biography of Tchaikovsky, many essays, transls. of Louise and Pelléas et Mélisande. Succeeded Dent as president of ISCM, 1938.

Evans, (Sir) Geraint (Llewellyn) (b Pontypridd, 1922). Welsh bar. and opera producer. Studied GSM and in Hamburg and Geneva. Début CG 1948, becoming one of leading int. bars., his best roles incl. Falstaff, Figaro, Papageno, Wozzeck, Beckmesser, and Leporello. Glyndebourne 1950--61. Début San Francisco 1959, Milan 1960, Vienna 1961, Salzburg 1962. C.B.E. 1959. Knighted 1971. Last opera perf. CG 4 June 1984 (Dulcamara in L'Elisir d'Amore).

Evans, Nancy (b Liverpool, 1915). Eng. mez. Studied with Maggie Teyte and John Tobin. Début Liverpool 1933, London 1934. Alternated with Kathleen Ferrier as Lucretia in first prod. of Britten's The Rape of Lucretia, Glyndebourne 1946. Created role of Nancy in Britten's Albert Herring 1947. Also notable concert career.

Evans, Peter (Angus) (b West Hartlepool, 1929). Eng. teacher and musicologist. D.Mus., Univ. of Durham. Mus. master, Bishop Wordsworth's Sch., Salisbury, 1951--2; lecturer, Durham Univ. 1953--61; prof. of mus., Southampton Univ. since 1961. Cond., Southampton Phil. Soc. Author of The Music of Benjamin Britten (1979).

Evening Hymn. Song by Purcell to words by Fuller, 1688, beginning 'Now that the sun hath veiled his light'. Arr. for v. and str. by Vaughan Williams 1912.

Evenings in the Orchestra (Les Soirées de l'orchestre). Entertaining and instructive coll. of criticisms and essays by Berlioz, pubd. in Paris in 1853 and in Eng. trans. by Jacques Barzun, 1956.

Eventail de Jeanne, L' (Jeanne's Fan). Ballet in 10 nos. choreog. Y. Franck and A. Bourgat, commissioned in 1927 for her Paris ballet school by Jeanne Dubost, who gave the 10 leaves of her fante 10 composers, asking each to compose a no. Those participating were Ravel, Ferroud, Ibert, Roland-Manuel, Delannoy, Roussel, Milhaud, Poulenc, Schmitt, and Auric. Ravel's 1-minute Fanfare is marked Wagneramente.

Eventyr (Once Upon a Time). Ballad for orch. by Delius after Asbjörnsen's fairy tales. Comp. 1917, f.p. 1919 cond. Wood.

Everyman. (1) Oratorio by Walford Davies based on medieval mystery play, Leeds 1904. (2) Incidental mus. for small orch. by Sibelius, 1916, for prod. of Hofmannsthal's version of Everyman (Jedermann). (3) 6 monologues for bar. or cont. and pf. or orch. from Hofmannsthal's Jedermann by Frank Martin, 1943.

Evirato (It.). Unmanned. 18th-cent. type of male singer whose boy-sop. v. had been preserved by castration. Same as Castrato.

Evovae or Euouae. This 'word' consists of the vowels of 'seculorum, Amen', being the last words of the Gloria Patri (see Doxologia), and is used as a name for the cadential endings of the Gregorian Psalm tones. These letters are often placed under the notes of the plainsong as an abbreviation of the words they represent.

Ewing, Maria (b Detroit, 1950). Amer. mez. Studied Cleveland Inst. of Mus., 1968--70, with Eleanor Steber and Jennie Tourel. Opera début 1973, Ravinia Fest. NY Met. début 1976 (Cherubino), La Scala, Milan, 1976 (Mélisande), Glyndebourne 1978 (Dorabella).

Excursions of Mr Brouc^;ek, The (Výlety pana Brouc^;ka). Opera in 2 parts by Janáć^;ek. Lib. of Part 1, Mr Brouc^;ek's Excursion to the Moon, adapted from satirical novel (1887) by S. ;akCech (1846--1908) by V. Dyk, K. Mas^;ek, Z. Janke, F. Gellner, J. Mahen, and F. S. Procházka; Part 2, Mr Brouc^;ek's Excursion to the XVth Century, adapted from S. ;akCech's satirical novel (1888) by Procházka. Comp. 1908--17. It is now believed that Janáć^;ek himself wrote large part of lib. of Part 1. F.p. Prague 1920; f.Brit.p. Edinburgh, 1970; London 1978.

Execution of Stepan Razin, The (Kazn' Stepana Razina). Cantata by Shostakovich, Op.|119, to text by Yevtushenko, for bass, ch., and orch. Comp. 1964, f.p. Moscow 1964.

Exercise. (1) An instr. passage purely for technical practice and with little or no artistic interest. (2) In the 18th cent., a kbd. suite such as D. Scarlatti's early sonatas, pubd. as Esercizii. (3) Comp. submitted by candidatesfor certain univ. mus. degrees.

Expert, Henri (b Bordeaux, 1863; d Tourettes-sur-Loup, 1952). Fr. musicologist. Studied Paris and with Franck. Joint founder, 1903, Société d'Études Musicales. Specialist in mus. of Fr. Renaissance period, publishing 23 vols. and 5 subsidiary sections.

Exposition. (1) In sonata form, the first section of a comp. in which the prin. themes are expounded before they are developed. (2) In fugue the first statement of the subject by all the 'voices' in turn.

Expression. That part of a composer's mus. such as subtle nuances of dynamics which he has no full means of committing to paper and must leave to the artistic perception and insight of the executant. All he can do is to indicate speed and the kind of mood to be expressed by means of conventional mus. terms written on the score. A large part of the cond.'s art is the imparting of expressive qualities to the perf.

Expressionism. Term borrowed from painting, generally assoc. with work of the early 20th-cent. Ger. artists of the Munich 'Blaue Reiter' group led by Kandinsky. Prin. characteristics were avoidance of representational forms and interest in psychological impulses. These were musically reflected in works of Schoenberg, Webern, and Berg. But, like impressionism, the term is vague.

Expression Stop. A stop in a harmonium or other reed org. When drawn, the passage of the air is made to short-circuit the reservoir through which it otherwise passes, and this gives the feet great control over degrees of force and accent.

Exsultate, Jubilate (Rejoice, be glad). Motet by Mozart (K165) for sop., orch., and org., comp. 1773. 3rd movt. is famous setting of 'Alleluia'. Orig. comp. for castrato Venanzio Rauzzini.

Extemporization. See Improvisation.

Extension Organ. Same as unit org., i.e. built on the principle of saving space and money by making a comparatively small no. of pipes produce something of the effect of a larger number by 'borrowing'. The pipes of an 8' stop may, for example, be made to do duty also for a 4' by a connexion which draws on them an octave higher throughout (as in cinema orgs.).

Extravaganza (from It. 'stravaganza'). A mus. work which intentionally caricatures conventional procedures, such as Mozart's Ein musikalische Spass (A Musical Joke), and especially a 19th-cent. Eng. form of stage entertainment with mus.

Eybler, Joseph Edler von (b Schwechat, 1765; d Vienna, 1846). Austrian composer. Pupil of Albrechtsberger. Vice-Kapellmeister, Viennese Imperial court, from 1804 until he succeeded Salieri in 1824 as Kapellmeister. Comp. opera, oratorio, masses, requiem, syms., pf. solos, and other works. Friend of Mozart, whom he nursed in last illness. Asked by Mozart's widow to complete the Requiem but did not finish the task.

Eysler, Edmund (b Vienna, 1874; d Vienna, 1949). Austrian composer of operettas, incl. Bruder Straubinger (1902), Künstlerblut (1906), Das Zirkuskind (1911).

Ezcadantza. Basque fest. dance for 2 performers with acc. of pipe and tabor, and sometimes of v.

F

F. Note of the scale, 4th degree of natural scale of C. Thus Fb, Fbb, Fnat., F#, F##. Keys of F major and F minor, F# major, F# minor. 'In F' is also an indication of transposing instr. on which written note C sounds as F (e.g. hn., F tpt.). The F clef is the bass clef.

F. Prefix given to numbers in the catalogue of Vivaldi's works by Antonio Fanna.
Superseded by that of Ryom.

f. Abbreviation of forte (It., 'loud', 'strong'), hence degrees of increasing loudness, ff (fortissimo) and fff (sometimes more).

Fa. The 4th degree of the major scale, according to the system of vocal syllables derived from Guido d' Arezzo, and so used (spelt Fah) in Tonic Sol-fa (also in that system the 6th degree of the minor scale; see Tonic Sol-fa). In many countries, however, the name has become attached to the note F, in whatever key this may occur.

Faber, Heinrich (b Lichtenfels; d Ölsnitz, 1552). Ger. mus. theorist, graduate of and prof. of mus. at Wittenberg Univ. Author of Lat. compendium of mus. (1548) later trans. into Ger. by Vulpius (Halle, 1608).

Faber Music. Mus. publishing branch of book publishers Faber & Faber; est. 1964, becoming separate co. 1966. Catalogue incl. mus. by Britten, Holst, Arnold, G. Benjamin, R. Smalley etc.

Fabritius, Albinus (b Görlitz; d ?Bruck an der Mur, 1635). Ger. composer of motets, secular songs, and dances.

Faburden (Eng.), Fauxbourdon (Fr.), Falsobordone (It.). Literally, false bass, or drone. This term has had a surprisingly large number of different applications at different periods. (1)^In very early use, the acc. in parallel 3rds and 6ths of a plainsong melody. (2)^In 15th cent., any added part to such a plainsong melody, both parts moving at the same rate. Apparently used especially of such passages interpolated among unison singing of the plainsong, e.g. in the psalms. (3)^About the same period, also used of the same kind of liturgical singing as that mentioned under (2), but without plainsong in any of the vv. (This is sometimes spoken of as 'free' Faburden as distinct from the previous type, spoken of as 'strict'.) (4)^A sort of chanting in which the whole of a phrase was declaimed on one chord, except that the cadence was harmonized as such. (The same mus. was used for every verse of a psalm, etc., as is done today with the Anglican Chant.) (5)^Sometimes applied to a sort of monotoning. (6)^A drone bass, such as that of a bagpipe. (7)^In 16th- and 17th-cent. Eng. usage, sometimes applied to the ten. part of a metrical psalm tune, etc., which part then usually carried the melody. (8)^A refrain to the verses of a song. (9)^Nowadays (as with Descant) the word is used in Brit. for a freely-written sop. part added to a hymn tune while the tune itself is sung by the ten. vv. of the ch. or by the congregation, or (more commonly in recent years) for a 4-part harmonization with the tune in the ten.---this last a revival of the old English practice. When this word is used in old mus. treatises or in the modern mus. historical works any of the above senses may be intended.

Fa;Alcade. 'Entertainment' by Walton, being acc. for small chamber ens. (6 players) to poems by Edith Sitwell declaimed in notated rhythm by a speaker or speakers. Comp. 1921, f.p. (private) 1922, (public) 1923. This version has been several times rev. with many substitutions of items. Final pubd. version (1951) contains 21 items. 8 unpubd. nos. perf. under title Fa;Alcade Revived, London 1977, 3 of these were rejected before publication and 3 others (nos. 4, 6, 7) substituted by composer; rev. and re-worked version perf. 1979 as Fa;Alcade II. Prin. revs. of Fa;Alcade I 1926, 1928, 1942. Also arr. by composer for larger orch. (without poems) as 2 Suites (No. 1, of 5 items, f.p. London 1926; No. 2, of 6 items, f.p. NY and London 1938). Also arr. as ballet, with choreog. by Gunter Hess, f.p. Hagen, Westphalia, 1929; with choreog. by Frederick Ashton f.p. London 1931 (7 items), extra item 1935, 2 further addns. 1940; Ashton ballet of work with reciter and chamber ens. f.p. Snape, Suffolk, and London 1972. Many arrs. by others of items from Fa;Alcade for a variety of combinations.

Faccio, Franco (b Verona, 1840; d Monza, 1891). It. cond. and composer. Studied Milan Cons. 1856–61. Served in Garibaldi's army 1866. Prof. of harmony, Milan Cons. 1868. Chief cond. Scala, Milan, from 1871. Cond. f. It. p. of Verdi's Aida (1872) and f.p. of Otello (1887). Cond. 1st Wagner opera in It. (Lohengrin, 1873) and 1st London Otello (1889). Comp. operas I profughi Fiamminghi (Milan 1863), Amleto (lib. by Boito, Genoa 1865), cantata Le Sorelle d'Italia (text by Boito, 1861), 3 syms., str. qt., and songs.

Fach (Ger.). Fold, as in Zweifach, twofold, Dreifach, threefold, etc. Most commonly used to indicate a division of, e.g., the 1st vns. of an orch., but there is an org. application indicating the no. of ranks in a mixture stop; and in an operatic context it denotes the proper range of parts in Ger. operas.

Fachiri, Adila (née d'Arányi) (b Budapest, 1886; d Florence, 1962). Hung.-born violinist, sister of Jelly d'Arányi. Studied under Hubay, Budapest Cons., and in Berlin 1905–7 with Joachim (her great-uncle). Foreign tours with her sister. Eng. début Haslemere 1909. Settled and married in Eng., continuing to appear as orch. soloist and in chamber mus.

Facile (Fr.). Easy. Facilement (Fr.), Facilmente (It.). Easily, i.e. fluently and without an effect of striving.

Facilità (It. 'facility'). (1) Ease, fluency. (2)^Simplification, as of a virtuoso solo passage brought within the range of less skilled performers.

Fackeltanz (Ger.). 'Torch dance', more often a torchlight procession to mus. Spontini, Meyerbeer, and others have comp. these dances, which were usually part of a wedding or similar celebration.

Fado. A type of popular Portuguese song and dance with guitar acc., apparently dating from c.1850.

Fa fictum. A term used in connexion with the Hexachords--the note B flattened (in the Soft Hexachord).

Fagan, Gideon (b Somerset West, S. Africa, 1904; d Cape Town, 1980). S. African cond. and composer. Studied S.A. Coll. of Mus. and RCM. Cond. BBC Northern Orch. 1939–42, Johannesburg Orch. 1949–52. Mus. dir. S. African Broadcasting Corp. 1963–6, lecturer Univ. of Cape Town 1967–73. Cond. several London musicals. Comps. incl. Afrikaans Folktune Suite.

F.A.G.O. Fellow of the American Guild of Organists.

Fagott (Ger.), fagotto (It.), fagote (Sp.). (1) The bassoon. The name derives from fagotto (It., 'bundle of sticks'), possibly applied jokingly to the phagotum, a kind of bagpipe invented by Canon Afranio of Ferrara in 1521. In the 16th cent. the word fagotto covered a range of instr., such as the curtal or dulcian which are forerunners of the modern bn. (2)^Organ stop, same as bn.

Fah. See Fa.

Fair at Sorochinsk, The (Mussorgsky). See Sorochintsy Fair.

Fairfax, Bryan (Lancelot Beresford) (b Sydney, 1930). Australian cond. and violinist. Studied N.S.W. Cons., Sydney, then in London with Rostal. Violinist Hallé Orch. 1954–6. Studied cond. Vienna Acad. 1956–7 (with Swarowsky). Founded Polyphonia Orch. 1961 for perf. of new or rarely heard mus. Cond. f.p. of Brian's Gothic Symphony, 1961, concert perf. of Britten's Gloriana, London 1963 (on night of composer's 50th birthday), and f.Brit.pub.p. of Nielsen's Sinfonia espansiva (1962).

Fair Maid of Perth, The (Bizet). See Jolie Fille de Perth, La.

Fairy Queen, The. Semi-opera, but really a succession of masques, by Purcell in prol. and 5 acts, to lib. (by E. Settle?) based on Shakespeare's A Midsummer Night's Dream (which is not quoted). Prod. London 1692, London 1911 (Morley Coll., cond. Holst), Cambridge(stage) 1920, San Francisco 1932. Score was lost by 1700 but found in library of RAM, 1901. 1st work staged at CG after World War II.

Fairy's Kiss, The (Stravinsky). See Baiser de la fée,/Le.

Falkner, (Sir) (Donald) Keith (b Sawston, Cambs., 1900). Eng. bar. and administrator. Trained at New Coll., Oxford, and RCM, also in Berlin, Paris, and Vienna. Sang in opera (BNOC) but best known as oratorio soloist. On retirement became teacher. Brit. Council mus. officer for It. 1946--50; teacher at Cornell Univ. 1950--60; dir., RCM, 1960--74. Knighted 1967.

Fall, Leo (b Olomouc, 1873; d Vienna, 1925). Austrian composer. Studied Vienna Cons. Th. cond., Berlin, Hamburg, and Cologne. Comp. 2 operas, but greatest success with operettas, e.g. Der Rebell (1905), Der Fidele Bauer (1907), Die Dollarprinzessin (1907), Brüderlein fein (1909), The Eternal Waltz (London 1911), Die Rose von Stamboul (1916) and Madame Pompadour (1922).

Falla, Manuel de (Manuel María de Falla y Matheu) (b Cádiz, 1876; d Alta Gracia de Córdoba, Argentina, 1946). Sp. composer and pianist. He was taught the pf. by his mother and harmony by 2 local musicians. In Madrid he continued pf. studies with José Tragó, but his ambition was to be a composer and he wrote 2 zarzuelas, the first of which was prod. in 1902. Falla then studied comp. in Madrid for 3 years with Pedrell, who imparted the doctrine that a nation's mus. should be based on folk-song. However, it was to the spirit rather than to the letter of Sp. folk-mus. which Falla turned. In 1905 he won the Madrid Acad. of Fine Arts prize for the best lyrical drama by a Sp. composer with his 2-act opera La Vida Breve (but it was not perf.). In the same year he won the Ortiz y Cusso prize for Sp. pianists. For 2 years he taught the pf. in Madrid and in 1907 went to Paris, where he became the friend of and was greatly influenced by Dukas, Ravel, and Debussy. Ricardo Viñes played the 4 Spanish Pieces for pf. in Paris in 1908, and Falla himself introduced them to London at his débüt there in 1911. La Vida Breve was produced in Nice and Paris in 1913 and in Madrid in 1914. The ballet-pantomime El Amor brujo followed in 1915. In 1916 he completed his most ambitious and successful concert work (begun in Paris 1909), the Noches en los Jardines de España; Atna (Nights in the Gardens of Spain) for pf. and orch. Falla's fame was est., however, in 1919 by Diaghilev's prod. in London of the ballet El Sombrero de Tres Picos (Tricorne, or The Three-Cornered Hat). In 1919 Falla also completed his major work for solo pf., Fantasia Bética, dedicated to Arthur Rubinstein. Bética was the Roman name (Baetica) for Andalusia. After World War I, Falla's style was less colourfully but no less inherently Sp.---it is truer to say that the popular Andalusian folk element was succeeded by a re-creation of the severer style of the early Sp. polyphonic masters. From this period come the chamber opera (based on an incident in Don Quixote) El Retablo de Maese Pedro (Master Peter's Puppet Show), f.p. 1923, and the hpd. conc. (1926) ded. to Wanda Landowska. In 1926 he began work on an enormous 'scenic cantata' Atlántida which was left unfinished and was completed by Halffter. In 1939, after cond. 4 concerts in Buenos Aires, he settled in Argentina. Prin. comps.:

operas: [fy75,1] La Vida Breve (1904--5), Fuego Fatuo (based on Chopin) (1918--19), El Retablo de Maese Pedro (1919--22).

ballets: El Amor Brujo (1915), El Sombrero de Tres Picos (1917--19, being rev. version of El Corregidor y la Molinera, 1917).

orch: Noches en los Jardines de Espa;a;atna (1909--16) for pf. and orch., Suites Nos. 1 and 2 from El Sombrero de Tres Picos.

piano: Cuatro Piezas Espa;a;atnolas (4 Spanish Pieces), (1907--8); Fantasia Bética (1919); Homenajes (Homages) 1. Fanfare on the name of Arbós, 1933, orch. 1938; 2. A Claude Debussy (elegia de la guitarra), also for guitar as Homenaje a Debussy, 1920, orch. 1939; 3. Rapel de la Fanfare, 1941; 4. A Paul Dukas (Spes Vitae) 1935, orch. 1939; 5. Pedrelliana, 1938. Ritual Fire Dance, Dance of Fear, Pantomime, Récit du Pêcheur, arr. by Falla from ballet El Amor Brujo; Suite from 7 Spanish Popular Songs, arr. by Falla; Dance of Miller's Wife and Miller's Dance, from El Sombrero de Tres Picos, arr. Falla.

chamber music: Psyche formez., fl., harp, vn., va., vc. (1924); conc. for hpd. (or pf.), fl., ob., cl., vn., and vc. (1923--6).

choral and vocal: Atlántida, scenic cantata, unfinished (completed by Halffter); 3 Melódies, v. and pf. (1909); Siete Canciones Populares Espa;a;atnolas (7 Spanish Popular Songs) for v. and pf. (1914--5); Soneto a Córdoba, v. and harp (1927); Balada de Mallorca (after Chopin), mixed ch. (1933).

arrs. by others: La Vida Breve: 2 Spanish Dances, pf. solo and pf. duet, arr. Samazeuilh; 1st Spanish Dance, vn. and pf., arr. Kreisler; 2 Spanish Dances, orch. Chapelier; 7 Spanish Popular Songs, orch. by Halffter; Suite for vn. and pf. arr. P. Kochanski; for vc. and pf., arr. M. Maréchal.

Fallows, David (Nicholas) (b Buxton, 1945). Eng. musicologist. Studied Cambridge Univ. 1964--7, King's Coll., London, 1967--8, Univ. of Calif. at Berkeley, 1970--3. Has held academic posts at Studio derfrühen Musik, Munich, 1968--70, Univ. of Wisconsin-Madison 1973--4, and Manchester Univ. from 1976. Wrote on many medieval subjects and on tempo and expression marks in The New Grove Dictionary of Music & Musicians (1980). Many articles on his special subjects. Writes mus. criticism for the Guardian. Author of Dufay (1982).

False Accent. When the accent is removed from 1st beat of a bar to 2nd or 4th.

False Close. See Cadence.

False Relation. In harmony, the appearance of a note with the same letter-name in different parts (or 'voices') of contiguous or the same chords, in one case inflected (# or b) and in the other uninflected (e.g. Fnat. and F#). Amer. term is 'cross-relation'.

Falsetto (It.). Singing method used by males, particularly tenors, to achieve a note or notes higher than comes within the normal range of their voice. Often used for comic effect, e.g. Falstaff imitating the Merry Wives in Verdi's opera.

Falsobordone (It.). Same as Eng. Faburden.

Falstaff. (1) Comic opera in 3 acts by Verdi (his last) to lib. by Boito after Shakespeare's The Merry Wives of Windsor and King Henry IV, Parts 1 and 2. Comp. 1889--92. Prod. Milan 1893, CG 1894, NY Met. 1895. Operas on same subject incl. those by Dittersdorf (1796), Salieri (1798), Balfe (1838), Nicolai (Die lustigen Weiber von Windsor, 1849), and Vaughan Williams (Sir John in Love, 1924--8). (2) ^Symphonic study in C minor, with 2 interludes, Op. 68, for orch. by Elgar. Comp. 1902--13. F.p. Leeds Oct. 1913, f. London p. Nov. 1913.

Fanciulla del West, La (The Girl of the Golden West). 3-act opera by Puccini to lib. by Civinini and Zangarini based on Belasco's play The Girl of the Golden West (1905). Comp. 1908--10. F.p. NY Met. 1910; CG and Rome 1911.

Fancy. Eng. 16th- and 17th-cent. equivalent of Fantasia.Fandango. A lively Sp. dance believed to be of S. Amer. origin. It is in simple triple or compound duple time, and of ever-increasing speed, with sudden stops during which the performers (a single couple) remain motionless, and with intervals during which they sing. Acc. is normally by guitar or castanets. There is a fandango in Mozart's Figaro.

Fanfare. (1, Eng.) Flourish of tpts., or other instrs. in imitation of them, as a means of proclamation, such as a military signal. (2, Fr.). Brass band (as distinct from Harmonie, a band of mixed brass and woodwind).

Fanfare for the Common Man. Orch. work by Copland, comp. 1942 as one of series of wartime fanfares commissioned by Eugene Goossens, who cond. f.p. with Cincinnati S.O., March 1943.

Fanny Robin. Opera in 1 act by Harper to his own lib. derived from Hardy's Wessex Poems (1898) and Far From the Madding Crowd (1874). Comp. 1974, prod. Edinburgh (Scottish Opera) 1975.

Fanshawe, David (b Devon, 1942). Eng. composer. Studied with John Lambert, then at RCM. Has devoted much time to research into African folk mus. and into that of Iraq and Tonga. Works incl. Escapade I and II for pf., Fantasy on Dover Castle, orch., Requiem for the Children of Aberfan orch., African Sanctus (orig. version 1972, rev. 1977), and Salaams, tone-poem (1978).

Fantasia (It.), Fantaisie (Fr.), Fantasie (Ger.). Fantasy or Fancy. Generally a comp. in which form is of secondary importance, although the 16th-cent. It. fantasia was an instr. comp. in strict imitation of a vocal motet. In Eng. in the 16th and 17th cents. the term 'fancy' was used for comps. for both kbd. and str. instr., notably consorts of viols. Such comps. were usually contrapuntal and in several sections often with a common theme, thus being an early form of variations. In the 20th cent. the chamber mus. patron Cobbett revived the form, preferring the spelling Phantasy. Sweelinck and Bach used the term fantasia for their organ comps. in which the character of the mus. suggested an improvisational character or the play of free fancy. In the 19th cent. the term was applied by Schumann, Chopin, and others to short mood pieces, e.g. Schumann's Fantasiestücke. Other meanings of the word are: (1) a comp. comprising a string of tunes, e.g. from an opera, as in Liszt's pf. fantasies on operatic arias. (2)^Development section in sonata-form, i.e. free fantasia. (3)^Title of film first shown in 1940, made by Walt Disney, in which cartoons (some merely abstract patterns) were set to famous pieces of music played by the Philadelphia Orch. conducted by Stokowski. The items were: J. S. Bach's Toccata and Fugue in D minor (transcr. Stokowski); Tchaikovsky's Nutcracker Suite; Ponchielli's Dance of the Hours; Beethoven's Pastoral Symphony; Dukas's L'Apprenti sorcier; Stravinsky's The Rite of Spring; Mussorgsky's Night on the Bare Mountain; and Schubert's Ave Maria. See Film Music.

Fantasia Bética. Work for pf. by Falla, completed 1919 and ded. to Arthur Rubinstein who commissioned it and gave f.p. in NY 1920. Baetica was Roman name for Andalusia.

Fantasia Concertante on a Theme of Corelli. Work for str. by Tippett, comp. 1953 for Edinburgh Fest. on tercentenary of Corelli's birth. Str. div. into concerto (2 solo vn. and vc.), conc. grosso (half remaining body), conc. terzo (other half). Theme taken from Corelli's Conc. Grosso Op. 6 No. 2, and work quotes Bach's Fugue on themes of Corelli.

Fantasia Contrappuntistica. Work for solo pf. comp. by Busoni in 3 versions between 1910 and 1912. Sub-titled Preludio al Corale 'Gloria al Signori nei Cieli' e fuga a quattro soggetti obbligati sopra un frammento di Bach. Arr. for 2 pf., 1921. Adapted for org. by work's dedicatee Wilhelm Middelschulte. Based on Bach's Contrapunctus XVIII from The Art of Fugue, in desire to complete Bach's unfinished fugue. Busoni created 4th subject (Bach having comp. only 3), and added 5th.

Fantasias on an In Nomine by John Taverner. 2 works for orch. by Maxwell Davies, comp. as studies for his opera Taverner. 1st, comp. 1962; 2nd, comp. 1964 (f.p. London 1965, cond. John Pritchard).

Fantasia on a theme by Thomas Tallis. Comp. by Vaughan Williams for double str. orch. and str. qt., f.p. Gloucester 1910, London 1913 (rev.). Tallis's theme is No. 3 ('Why fumeth in fight') of 9 psalm tunes comp. 1567 for Archbishop Parker's Psalter.

Fantasia on a theme of Handel. Comp. for pf. and orch. by Tippett, comp. 1939--41, f.p. London 1942 by Phyllis Sellick, cond. Walter Goehr.

Fantasia on British Sea Songs. Compilation of trad. and other songs made by Henry J. Wood for concert on 21 Oct. 1905 to celebrate centenary of Nelson's victory at Trafalgar and which became (and remains) traditional finale to Last Night of London Promenade Concerts, with the audience joining in (singing, clapping, and foot-stamping). In 9 sections: 1, Naval Bugle calls. 2, The anchor's weighed (solo tpt., solo tb.). 3, The saucy Arethusa (solo euphonium). 4, Tom Bowling (Dibdin) (solo vc.). 5, Hornpipe, Jack's the lad (solo vn., solo fl., solo piccolo). 6, Farewell and adieu, ye Spanish ladies (4 tbs.). 7, Home, sweet home (Bishop) (solo cl., solo ob.). 8, See, the conquering hero comes (Handel) (solo hns.). 9, Rule, Britannia! (Arne) (org. and full orch.). For some years the Fantasia was cut, but the practice recently has been to give it in full. Bringing a solo cont. into Rule, Britannia! was Sargent's departure from Wood's score.

Fantasia on Christmas Carols. Comp. by Vaughan Williams for bar., ch., and orch. Founded on traditional carols: 1. The truth sent from above. 2. Come all you worthy gentlemen. 3. On Christmas night. 4. There is a fountain; with fragments of others. F.p. Hereford 1912, London 1913.

Fantasia on 'Greensleeves'. Arr. by Ralph Greaves for strns. and harp (or pf.) with optional fl.(s) of interlude from Vaughan Williams's opera Sir John in Love, middle section being based on folk-song Lovely Joan. Several other arrs., none by Vaughan Williams, exist.

Fantasiestücke (Fantasy Pieces). 8 pieces for solo pf., Op. 12, by Schumann, 1837--8, with descriptive titles. 3 further Fantasiestücke described only by key-signatures were pubd. as Op. 111 (1851).

Fantaisies Symphoniques. Sub-title of 6th Sym. by Martin; anu, f.p. Boston 1955.

Farandole (Fr.). Lively Provençal dance in ;D6;E8 time in which, to the acc. of galoubet and tambourin, the participants danced through the streets holding each other by the hands or by a handkerchief. The farandole in Bizet's incidental mus. to L'Arlésienne is based on an authentic Provençal dance-tune but is not in ;D6;E8.

Farewell, Manchester. Jacobite song played while the Young Pretender's army left Manchester in 1745, tune being a hpd. piece, Felton's Gavotte, comp. c.1740 by Rev. William Felton, of Hereford.

Farewell Symphony. See Abschiedssymphonie.

Farina, Carlo (b Mantua, c.1600; d c.1640). It. violinist and composer. One of earliest writers of virtuoso vn. mus. (pubd. 1626--8). Worked at Dresden court 1625-32.

Farinelli (Carlo Broschi) (b Andria, 1705; d Bologna, 1782). It. castrato singer. Studied with Porpora. Début Naples, 1720. In 1727 was defeated in public exhibition of vocal skill by Bernacchi, who then taught him. Sang in Vienna and in London, where he joined Porpora's opera co. which was in competition with Handel's. Sang in Madrid, 1737, where Philip V offered him 50,000 francs a year to stay, which he did for 25 years, singing each night to the king. Was instrumental in est. It. opera in Madrid. Left Spain on Charles III's accession in 1759, living in Bologna in some splendour, collecting pictures and playing hpd. and va. d'amore.

Farkas, Ferenc (b Nagykanizsa, 1905). Hung. composer. Studied Budapest Acad. of Mus. 1922--8 (with Weiner and Siklós) and S. Cecilia Acad., Rome, 1929--31, with Respighi. Worked as composer and cond., filmstudios in Vienna and Copenhagen 1933--6. Prof. of comp., Kolozsvár Cons., 1941--3, dir. 1943--4. Dir. Székesfehérvár Cons., 1946--8. Prof. of comp., Budapest Acad. 1949--75. Comps. incl. 2 operas, ballet, choral works, concs. (incl. one for baryton or va. da gamba), chamber mus., and songs.

Farkas, Ödön (b Jászmonostor, 1852; d Kolozsvár, 1912). Hung. composer. Studied Pest Mus. Acad. Wrote 7 operas, sym., 5 str. qts., songs, and choral mus., all of strong Hung. character.

Farmer, John (fl. late 16th cent.). Eng. madrigal composer. Organist, Christ Church, Dublin. Lived in London from 1599. Contrib. to The Triumphs of Oriana.

Farnaby, Giles (b Truro, 1563; d London, 1640). Eng. composer of madrigals, mus. for virginals, canzonets, psalm-tunes, etc. Over 50 of his virginals pieces are included in Fitzwilliam Virginal Book; among the best-known are His dreame, A Toye, and Loth to depart. In 1592 contributed to East's book of psalms; his canzonets for 4 vv. were pubd. 1598.

Farncombe, Charles (b London, 1919). Eng. cond. Studied Royal Sch. of Church Mus. (Canterbury) and RAM. Founder, Handel Opera Soc., 1955, and dir. since then. Chief cond. Royal Court Th., Drottningholm, from 1970. C.B.E. 1977.

Farnon, Robert (Joseph) (b Toronto, 1917). Canadian composer and cond. Trumpeter in CBC orch. 1936--42; cond. Canadian Army orch., 1943--6. Settled in Brit. Comp. and arr. much mus. for films, radio, TV, etc.

Farrant, Richard (b c.1530; d London, 1580). Eng. composer and organist of St George's Chapel, Windsor; member of Chapel Royal. Composer of anthems and songs.

Farrar, Ernest (Bristow) (b Lewisham, 1885; d in action nr. Le Cateau, Cambrai, 1918). Eng. composer and organist. Studied at Durham Univ. from 1904, also at RCM 1905--9, comp. with Stanford, org. with Parratt. Friend of Frank Bridge. Org., Eng. church, Dresden, 1909, then St Hilda's, South Shields, 1910--12 and Christ Church, Harrogate, 1912--16. While at Harrogate gave lessons from 1914 to Finzi. Enlisted in army 1915; commissioned in Devonshire Regiment 1918. Killed at Battle of Epéhy Ronssoy, Somme Valley, 18 Sept. 1918. Comp. prize in his memory founded at RCM (later twice won by Britten), but now amalgamated with Sullivan Prize. Bridge's pf. sonata (1921--4) is dedicated to his memory. Works (dates given are either of publication or f.p.) incl.:

orch: Rhapsody No. 1 The Open Road, after Whitman (1909), No. 2 Lavengro, after Borrow (1913); sym.-poem The Forsaken Merman, after Arnold (1914); Variations on an Old British Sea Song, pf., orch. (1915); English Pastoral Impressions, suite (1915); 3 Spiritual Studies, str. (1925); Heroic Elegy 'For Soldiers', orch. (1918).

choral: 3 Partsongs, mixed ch. (1907); 2 Partsongs, male vv. (1909); The Blessed Damozel, low v., ch., orch. (1907); Margaritae Sorori, unacc. ch. (1916); Out of Doors, Whitman suite for ch. and orch. (c.1911); A Song of St Francis, unison, pf. (1919); Summer (C. Rossetti), women's vv. and pf. or sop. and orch. (1918).

chamber music: Vn. Sonata (lost); Celtic Suite, vn., pf. (1910); Celtic Impressions, str. qt. (?).

piano: Valse caprice (1913); Miniature Suite (1913); Shadow Dance (1922); 3 Pieces (1915--27, pubd.); 3 Pieces (1916); 2 North Country Sketches (1920).

organ: Fantasy Prelude (1908); 3 Chorale Preludes (1920); A Wedding Piece (1925); Elegy (1925); 6 Pieces (1926).

songs: 3 Songs (1906); Vagabond Songs, bar., orch. (1911); Brittany (1914); O Mistress Mine (1921); 2 Elizabethan Love Songs (1921).

Farrar, Geraldine (b Melrose, Mass., 1882; d Ridgefield, Conn., 1967). Amer. sop. Studied in Boston, Mass., and then in Berlin with Graziani. Début, Berlin Court Opera, 1901, as Marguérite in Faust. Became pupil of Lilli Lehmann. Sang at Monte Carlo 1904--6. Sang Mimi and Gilda to Caruso's Rodolfo and Duke on several occasions. Début at NY Met. 1906; sang Butterfly at its first Met. perf. Member of Met. co. until 1922, singing nearly 500 times. Created roles of Amica (Mascagni) at Monte Carlo 1905, Goose-Girl in Königskinder (Humperdinck) in NY 1910, and Suor Angelica (Puccini) in NY 1918. Also appeared in many films.

Farruca. An Andalusian dance of gipsy origin. Falla, in his ballet The Three-Cornered Hat, uses the farruca for the Miller's Dance.

Fasano, Renato (b Naples, 1902; d Rome, 1979). It. cond., pianist, and composer. Founder and cond., 1947, of Collegium Musicum Italicum which in 1952 became I Virtuosi di Roma, chamber ens. specializing in old mus. Dir., Rome Cons., 1960--72.

Fasch, Carl (Friedrich Christian) (b Zerbst, 1736; d Berlin, 1800). Ger. composer, son of J. F. Fasch. Studied vn. and clavier. Accompanist to Frederick the Great from 1756, dir. court opera 1774--6. In 1790 held choral rehearsals which led to foundation of Berlin Singakademie. Beethoven twice visited Fasch in 1796, improvising for his pupils. Works inc. oratorio, mass, and other church mus.

Fasch, Johann (Friedrich) (b Buttstädt, 1688; d Zerbst, 1758). Ger. composer. Studied Thomasschule, Leipzig, 1701--7. Founded Leipzig Collegium Musicum which later became the Gewandhaus concerts. Court Kapellmeister, Zerbst, from 1722. Comp. 4 operas, concs., sonatas, trios, church mus., etc.

Faschingsschwank aus Wien (Viennese Carnival Pranks). Pf. comp. (Fantasiebilder) by Schumann, Op.26, comp. 1839. In 5 movements.

Fassbaender, Brigitte (b Berlin, 1939). Ger. mez., daughter of Willi Domgraf-Fassbänder. Studied with her father and at Nuremberg Cons. Début Munich 1961, London CG 1971 (Oktavian), San Francisco 1970, Salzburg 1973, NY Met. 1974 (Oktavian). Member of Bavarian State Opera since 1961. Specializes in travesti roles.

Fassung (Ger.). Drafting. Neue Fassung, new version.

Fate (Janák^;ek). See Osud.

Fauré, Gabriel (Urbain) (b Pamiers, 1845; d Paris, 1924). Fr. composer and organist. From 1854 to 1866 studied at École Niedermeyer, Paris, under Niedermeyer and Saint-Saëns. Organist, St Sulpice, Paris, 1870, St Honoré; choirmaster from 1877 at the Madeleine, organist 1896--1905. Prof. of comp., Paris Cons. 1896, dir. 1905--20. Pupils incl. Ravel, N. Boulanger, Enescu, Schmitt, Koechlin, and Roger-Ducasse. Faure's music was slow to gain recognition outside Fr., but he is now acknowledged as one of the greatest of Fr. composers, a master of the song-cycle, a poet of the kbd., and a profound composer of chamber mus. His delicate and elegant but by no means harmonically unadventurous style has an unsuspected strength and emotional appeal. His opera Pénélope is regarded by many as a masterpiece. His best-known work is the Requiem, comp. between 1877 and 1890, but it did not achieve general popularity until after World War II despite the earlier advocacy of Nadia Boulanger. Prin. works:

operas: Prométhée, Op. 82 (1900); Pénélope (1913); Masques et Bergamasques (divertissement) (1919).

incidental music: Caligula (Dumas), Op. 52 (5 movements, 1888); Shylock (Haraucourt after Shakespeare), Op. 57 (6 movements), (1889); Pelléas et Mélisande (Maeterlinck), Op. 80 (1898); Le Voile du bonheur (Clémenceau), Op. 88 (1901).

orch: Ballade, pf. and orch., Op. 19 (1881); Pavane (with optional ch.) Op. 50 (1887); Suite, Shylock, Op. 57 (1889); Suite, Pelléas et Mélisande, Op. 80 (4 items) (1901); Fantaisie in G major, pf. and orch., Op. 111 (1919); Suite, Masques et Bergamasques, Op. 112 (4items) (1919); Suite Dolly, Op. 56 (orch. Rabaud, 1906).

choral: Cantique de Racine, Op. 11 (1876); La Naissance de Vénus, Op. 29 (1882); O Salutaris: Maria, Mater Gratiae, Op. 47, Nos. 1 and 2 (1887); Requiem, Op. 48, for sop. and bar. soloists, ch., org., and orch. (1877, 1887--90, orch. 1900); Ecce fidelis servus, Op. 54, motet (1890); Tantum ergo, Op. 55 (1890); Salve Regina; Ave Maria, Op. 67, Nos. 1 and 2 (1895).

songs and song[nm-[smcycles (v. and pf.): Sylvie, Après un rêve, Hymne, Barcarolle, Op. 7, Nos. 1--4, (No. 2 orch. Busser 1925) (c.1865); Nell, Le Voyageur, Automne, Op. 18, Nos. 1--3 (No. 3 orch. Busser 1925) (1880); Les Berceaux, Notre Amour, Le Secret, Op. 23, Nos. 1--3 (No. 2 orch. Busser 1925) (1882); 2 Mélodies, Op. 27 (1883); Aurore, Fleur jetée, Les pays des rêves, Les Roses d' Ispahan, Op. 39, Nos. 1--4 (1884); Les Présents, Clair de Lune, Op. 46, Nos. 1--2 (1887); Larmes, Au cimetière, Spleen, La Rose, Op. 51, Nos. 1--4 (1889); 5 Mélodies (Verlaine), Op. 58 (1891) (sometimes known as 5 Chansons de Venise); La Bonne Chanson (Verlaine cycle), Op.61, Nos. 1--9 (1892--3); Prison, Soir, Op. 83, Nos. 1--2 (c.1895); Le Parfum impérissable, Arpège, Op. 76, Nos. 1--2 (No. 1 orch. Busser 1924) (1897); 3 Mélodies, Op. 85 (1902); Le Plus Doux Chemin, Le Ramier, Op. 87, Nos. 1--2 (1904); Le Don silencieux, Op. 92 (1906); Chanson, Op. 94 (1907); Vocalise (1907); La Chanson d'Eve (Lerberghe cycle), Op. 95, Nos. 1--10 (1906--10); Le Jardin clos (Lerberghe cycle), Op. 106, Nos. 1--8 (1914--15); Mirages (Brimont cycle), Op. 113, Nos. 1--4 (1919); C'est la Paix! Op. 114 (1919); L'Horizon chimérique (Mirmont cycle), Op. 118, Nos. 1--4 (1921).

chamber music: Sonata for pf. and vn., No. 1 in A, Op. 13 (1876), No. 2 in E minor, Op. 108 (1916); Pf. Qt. No. 1 in C minor, Op. 15 (1879), No. 2 in G minor, Op. 45 (1886); Pf. Quintet No. 1 in D minor, Op. 89 (1903--6), No. 2 in C minor, Op. 115 (1919--21); Sonata No. 1 in D minor for pf. and vc., Op. 109 (1917), No. 2 in G minor, Op. 117 (1921); Pf. Trio in D minor, Op. 120 (1922--3); Str. Qt. in E minor, Op. 121 (1923--4); Berceuse for pf. and vn., Op. 16 (1879) (also for vn. or vc. and orch.); Élegie for pf. and vc., Op. 24 (1883) (also with orch.); Romance for vn. and pf., Op. 28 (1882); Romance in A for vc. and pf., Op. 69 (1894); Andante for pf. and vn., Op. 75 (1894); Papillon for vc. and pf., Op. 77 (1897) (also for str. quintet or vn. and pf.); Sicilienne for vc. and pf., Op. 78 (1893); Fantaisie for fl., and pf., Op. 79 (1898) (orch. Aubert 1958); Sérénade for vc. and pf., Op. 98 (1908).

piano: 3 Romances sans paroles, Op. 17 (1863); Impromptus: No. 1 In Eb, Op. 25 (1882), No. 2 in F minor, Op. 31 (1883), No. 3 in Ab, Op. 34 (1883), No. 4 in Db, Op. 91 (1905), No. 5 in F# minor, Op.102(1909), No. 6, Op. 86 bis (see Harp); Nocturnes: 3 Nocturnes, Op. 33, No. 1 in Eb minor, No. 2 in B major, No. 3 in Ab (1883); No. 4in Eb, Op. 36 (1884), No. 5 in Bb, Op. 37 (1884), No. 6 in Db, Op. 63 (1894), No. 7 in C# minor, Op. 74 (1897), No. 8 in Db (8th of Pièces brèves, Op. 84 (1898--1902)), No. 9 in B minor, Op. 97 (1908), No. 10 in E minor, Op. 99 (1908), No. 11 in F# minor, Op. 104, No. 1 (1913), No. 12 in E minor, Op. 107 (1915), No. 13 in B minor, Op. 119 (1921); Barcarolles: No. 1 in A minor, Op. 26 (1882), No. 2 in G major, Op. 41 (1885), No. 3 in Gb, Op. 42 (1885), No. 4 in Ab, Op. 44 (1886), No. 5 in F# minor, Op. 66 (1894), No. 6 in Eb, Op. 70 (1895), No. 7 in D minor, Op. 90 (1905), No. 8 in Db, Op. 96 (1908), No. 9 in A minor, Op. 101 (1910), No. 10 in A minor, Op. 104, No. 2 (1913), No. 11 in G minor and No. 12 in Eb, Op. 105, Nos. 1 and 2 (1914--15), No. 13 in C major, Op. 116 (1921); Valses-[cj3,4,20]Caprices: No. 1 in A, Op. 30 (1883), No. 2 in Db, [nb] Op. 38 (1884), No. 3 in Gb, Op. 59 (1891), No. 4 in Ab, Op. 62 (1894); Mazurka in Bb, Op. 32 (1883); Thème et variations, Op. 73 (1896) (orch. Inghelbrecht 1955); 8 Pièces brèves, Op. 84 (1898--1902); 9 Préludes, Op. 103 (1910).

piano duet (4 hands): Dolly, Op. 56 (1894--7) (orch. Rabaud 1906); Souvenirs de Bayreuth (with Messager) (pubd. 1930).

harp: Impromptu, Op. 86 (1904) (rearr. for pf. as Impromptu No. 6, Op. 86 bis (1913)); Une Châtelaine en sa tour, Op. 110 (1918) (arr. Durand for pf.).

Faust. (1) Opera in 5 acts by Gounod to lib. by Barbier and Carré based on Goethe's poem (1808, 1832). Prod. Paris 1859, London 1863, Philadelphia 1863, NY Met. 1883 (inaugural opera). (2)^Singspiel in 2 acts by Spohr to lib. by J. K. Bernard not based on Goethe, comp. 1813, prod. Prague 1816; rev. 1852 as 3-act opera, prod. London 1852 and 1984.

Faust. Doktor (Busoni). See Doktor Faust.

Faust, Le Damnation de (Berlioz). See Damnation de Faust, Le.

Faust Overture, A (Eine Faust Ouvertüre). Concert ov. by Wagner, orig. intended as 1st movement of a Faust Sym., comp. 1840, f.p. Dresden 1844. Rev. 1855.

Faust, Scenes from Goethe's. Ov. and 6 other movements for soloists, ch., and orch. by Schumann, comp. 1844--53.

Faust Symphony, A (Eine Faust-Symphonie). Sym. by Liszt in 3 character studies (in drei Charakterbildern) based on Goethe's poem, with ad lib male-v. choral ending. Comp. 1854--7, f.p. 1857, rev. 1880. 3 movements entitled Faust, Gretchen, and Mephistopheles.

Faust, 2 Episodes from Lenau's. 2 orch. works by Liszt, comp. before 1861, inspired by poem about Faust by Lenau. Titles are The Night Ride and Dance in the Village Inn, the latter being the Mephisto Waltz No. 1, later transcr. for pf. solo and pf. duet.

Fauxbourdon (Fr.). Literally 'false bass'. Way of singing improvised polyphony in 15th cent. mus., particularly that by Burgundian composers. Plainsong melody in treble is acc. by two lower parts, one in parallel sixths, the other a fourth below melody. Similar to but not identical with Eng. faburden and derivation one from another is disputed.

Favart, Charles-Simon (b Paris, 1710; d Belleville, 1792). Fr. librettist and impresario. Stage-manager at Opéra Comique (which was called Salle Favart after him) and from 1758 to 1762 its dir. Wrote over 150 opera libs. for composers incl. Grétry, Gluck, and Philidor.

Favola d'Orfeo, La (The Legend (Fable) of Orpheus). (1) Favola in musica in prol. and 5 acts by Monteverdi to lib. by Striggio. Prod. Mantua 1607. Rev. in concert version arr. d'Indy, Paris 1904, London 1924; staged Paris 1911 and Oxford 1925. Also ed. by Malipiero, Orff, Westrup, Hindemith, Stevens, Leppard, and others. (2)^1-act opera by Casella, 1932.

Favola in (or per) Musica (It., 'fable for music'). 17th-cent. term for opera lib. of mythological or legendary character.

Favorite, La (The Favourite). 4-act opera by Donizetti to lib. by Royer, Vaëz, and Scribe. Prod. Paris 1840, New Orleans and London 1843. Also perf. under titles Dalila, Leonora di Guzman, and Riccardo e Matilda, as well as La Favorita (It.). It is a rev. of L'Ange de Nisida, in 3 acts by same librettists, comp. 1839 and unperformed.

Fayrfax, Robert (b Deeping Gate, Lincs., 1464; d St Albans, 1521). Eng. composer and organist. Member of Chapel Royal; attended Field of the Cloth of Gold, 1520. Comp. masses, motets, other church mus., and songs.

F.B.S.M. Fellow of the Birmingham Sch. of Mus.

Fedora. 3-act opera by Giordano to lib. by Colautti after Sardou's play (1882). Prod. Milan 1898, London and NY Met. 1906.

Feeن, Die (The Fairies). 3-act opera by Wagner (his 1st) to lib. by composer after Gozzi's comedy La donna serpente (1762). Comp. 1833--4. Prod. Munich 1888, Birmingham 1969.

Feierlich (Ger. 'solemn', 'festive'). Expression mark used by Bruckner in his syms. and by Wagner for Siegfried's funeral march in Götterdämmerung. Term is assoc. with public celebrations, 'solemn' for religious occasions, 'festive' for secular.

Feldman, Morton (b NY, 1926). Amer. composer. Studied comp. with Rieger and Stefan Wolpe. Later was influenced by the theories and ideas of Cage, Earle Brown, Christian Wolff, and David Tudor. Has used indeterminacy and graphic notation in his mus. since Projections (1950--1). Another major influence was the painting of Jackson Pollock and W. de Kooning, and Feldman has said that he tried, in sound, to emulate the world of their art. Low dynamic levels and occasional use of oscillators are also features of his work. Prin. comps.:

opera: Neither (S. Beckett) (1977).

orch: Marginal Intersection (1951); Intersection I (1951); 11 Instruments (1953); Atlantis (1958); Out of Last Pieces (1958); Structures (1960--2); In Search of an Orchestration (1969); On Time and the Instrumental Factor (1969); The Viola in My Life IV (1971); Cello and Orchestra (1972); String Quartet and Orchestra (1973); Piano and Orchestra (1975); Orchestra (1976); Oboe and Orchestra (1976); Flute and Orchestra (1977--8); Violin and Orchestra (1979); The Turfan Fragments (1980); vn. conc. (1984).

chorus and orch: Chorus and Instruments I (1963), II (1967); Chorus and Orchestra I (1972), II (1972); Elemental Procedures (1976).

instr. ens: Projections II (1951), V (1951); Durations V (1961); 2 Pieces for 6 Instruments (1964); Ixion (1965); False Relationships and the Extended Ending (1968); Between Categories (1969); Madame Press Died Last Week at Ninety (1970); The Viola in My Life I and II (1972); Routine Investigations (1976); Why Patterns (1978).

instr. ens. and voice[nm([sms)]: For Franz Kline (1962); Vertical Thoughts V (1965); Journey to the End of Night (after Céline) (1963); The O'Hara Songs (1963); I met Heine in the Rue Fürstemberg (1971); The Róthko Chapel (1971--2); Voice and Instruments I (1972), II (1974); Voices and Instruments I (1972), II (1972).

chamber music: Projection I--V (1950--1); Structures, str. qt. (1951); 3 Pieces, str. qt. (1956); 2 Instruments (1958); Durations I--IV (1960--2); De Kooning (1963); Vertical Thoughts I--IV (1963); The Viola in My Life III (1970); 3 Clarinets, Cello and Piano (1971); Voice, Violin and Piano (1976); Spring of Chosroes (1978); String Quartet (1979), No. 2 (1983); Trio (1980); For John Cage (1982).

piano[nm([sms): Illusions (1950); 2 Intermissions (1950); Intersection II and III (1951, 1953); Intermission, 5 pfs. (1952); Extensions III (1952), IV, 3 pfs. (1960); Piano Pieces (1952-77); 2 Pieces, 2 pf. (1954); Piano Three Hands (1957); Piece, 4 pf. (1957); Piano Four Hands (1958); Last Pieces (1963); Vertical Thoughts I, 2 pf. (1963); 2 Pieces, 3 pf. (1966); Pianos and Voices I, 5 pf. (1971), II, 5 sop., 5 pf. (1972); Piano (1977); Triadic Memories (1981).

solo instr[nm([sms): Intersection IV, vc. (1964); The King of Denmark, perc. (1964); Principal Sound, org. (1980).

unaccc. voice[nm([sms): Christian Wolff in Cambridge (1963); Only, 1 v. (1977); 3 Voices, 3 sops. or v. and tape (1982).

Feldpartita or Feldpartia (Ger., 'field suite'). Suite for perf. in the openair by a military band. Haydn wrote 6 Feldpartien.

Feldpfeife (Ger., 'field pipe'). Renaissance version of the fife, or military fl., used in the Swiss infantry's fife-and-drum corps. Shrill sound due tonarrow bore.

Fellowes, E(dmund) H(orace) (b London, 1870; d Windsor, 1951). Eng. musicologist and ed. Minor canon of St George's Chapel, Windsor, from 1900, and choirmaster 1924-7. Ed. complete works in 36 vols. of the English Madrigal School (pubd. 1913-24, rev. 1956 by Dart as The English Madrigalists), the English School of Lutenist Song-Writers (32 vols., 1920-32, partly rev. 1959-66 by Dart as The English Lute-Songs), and the complete works of [fy45,1]*[fy75,1] Byrd (20 vols., 1937-50, rev. 1962 by Dart, Brett, and Elliott). Also wrote books on the Eng. madrigalists, Byrd, and Gibbons. C.H. 1944.

Felsenstein, Walter (b Vienna, 1901; d East Berlin, 1975). Austrian opera producer and actor. Studied in Graz and at Vienna Burgtheater. Opera producer at Cologne (1932-4), Frankfurt (1934-6), Zürich (1938-40), and Schiller Th., Berlin (1940-4). Producer and Intendant, Berlin Komische Oper from 1947, setting new standards in imaginative and totally integrated prod. techniques, particularly in Janáček's The Cunning Little Vixen, Mozart's Don Giovanni, Bizet's Carmen, Offenbach's Les Contes d' Hoffmann, and Verdi's La traviata.

Felton, William (b Drayton, 1715; d Hereford, 1769). Eng. composer, organist, harpsichordist, and Anglican clergyman (vicar-choral, Hereford Cath.). His popular hpd. gavotte was adapted for the song 'Farewell Manchester'.

Feminine. Term used in such phrases as feminine cadence and feminine ending to denote relative weakness, e.g. the final chord is reached on a 'weak' beat of the bar. Second subjects in sonata-form are sometimes described as 'feminine', meaning gentler than the first subject. This is a hangover from the age when women were regarded as the weaker sex.

Fenby, Eric (William) (b Scarborough, 1906). Eng. organist, composer, and teacher. His unique claim to fame is that, at the age of 22 and totally unknown, he volunteered to go to Grez-sur-Loing to act as amanuensis to the blind and paralysed Delius. Several of Delius's late works were dictated to Fenby, a laborious and sometimes acrimonious process recorded in Fenby's book Delius as I knew him. Also arr. some of Delius's mus., and since the composer's death in 1934 has been active in writing about it, and in working for the Delius Trust. Comps. incl. a sym. and the ov. Rossini on Ilkla Moor. Prof. RAM from 1964. Mus. dir. North Riding Training Coll. 1948-62. Art. dir. Delius centenary fest. 1962. O.B.E. 1962.

Fenice, Teatro La. Prin. and extremely beautiful Venetian opera house. Opened 1792, destroyed by fire 1836, rebuilt 1837, restored 1854 and 1938. Among operas f.p. there are Rossini's L'Italiana in Algeri and Semiramide, Bellini's I Capuleti e i Montecchi, Verdi's

Ernani, Rigoletto, La traviata, and Simone Boccanegra, Stravinsky's The Rake's Progress, Britten's The Turn of the Screw, and Prokofiev's The Fiery Angel.

Fennimore and Gerda. Opera by Delius to his own lib., being '2 episodes in the life of Niels Lyhne in 11 pictures after the novel by J.P. Jacobsen'. Comp. 1908--10. Prod. Frankfurt 1919; London 1968, St Louis 1981. Intermezzo often perf. as concert item is derived from material in last scene.

Ferdinand III, Emperor of Austria (b Graz, 1608; d Vienna, 1657). Reigned from 1637. Est. It. opera in Vienna. Comp. Drama musicum (1649), Mass, motets, and other church mus. Monteverdi's 8th book of Madrigals (1638) is dedicated to him.

Ferencsik, János (b Budapest, 1907; d Budapest, 1984). Hung. cond. Studied Budapest Cons. Coach at Hung. State Opera 1927, cond. 1930. Mus. assistant at Bayreuth Fest. 1930--1. Cond. Vienna State Opera 1948--50, thereafter chief cond. Hung. State Opera and State Orch. London début 1957 (LPO), Amer. 1962.

Ferguson, Howard (b Belfast, 1908). N. Irish composer, pianist, and teacher. Studied pf. with Harold Samuel, 1922, and at RCM (comp. with R.O. Morris). Prof. at RAM 1948--63. Comps. incl. pf. conc., pf. sonata, Partita for orch., 2 vn. sonatas, octet for wind and str., Amore Langueo (soloist, ch., and orch.). Exercises in score-reading (with R. O. Morris).

Ferial. The word comes from the Lat. feria, 'feast day', but has by etymological perversity come to mean an ordinary day, as distinguished from a feast. Hence the application of 'Ferial Use' to liturgy and mus.

Fermata (It.), Fermate (Ger.). A pause ;yr. (Sometimes the use is a special one---the pause mark in a conc. which indicates the point at which the cadenza begins.)

Fermer (Fr., 'to close'; past participle fermé). Used in org. mus. as indication to (1) close the swell box, or (2) put a particular stop out of action.

Fermo (It.). 'Fixed', in style of perf., as in canto fermo.

Ferne Klang, Der (The Distant Sound). 3-act opera by Schreker to his own lib. Prod. Frankfurt 1912, BBC studio 1957.

Ferneyhough, Brian (b Coventry, 1943). Eng. composer. Studied Birmingham Sch. of Mus. 1961--3, and at RAM 1966--7 with L. Berkeley. Played in and comp. for brass bands. Studied in Holland with Ton de Leeuw 1968--9. Emigrated to Switzerland 1969, studying at Basle Cons. with Klaus Huber. Based in W. Ger. since 1973. Mus. of extreme complexity; elec. devices employed in some works. Works incl.: Sonatina for 3 cl. and bn. or bass cl. (1963); Prometheus for wind sextet (1965, rev. 1967); Sonata for 2 pf. (1966); 3 Pieces for pf.; Sonatas for str. qt. (1967); Epicycle for 20 str. (1968); Missa brevis for 12 vv. (1969); Cassandra's Dream Song, for solo fl. (1971); Sieben Sterne for org. (1969--70); Firecycle Beta for orch. (1969--71); Transit for 6 vv. and chamber orch. (1972--4, rev. 1975); Time and Motion Study III for 16 vv. with perc. and elecs. (1974); Time and Motion Study II for vc., tape, and elecs. (1973--6); Unity Capsule for solo fl. (1975--6); Time and Motion Study I for bass cl. (1971--7); Funérailles for str. sextet, db., and harp (1969--77); La Terre est un homme for orch. (1977--8); 2nd str. qt. (1979--80); Lemma-Icon-Epigram, pf. (1981); Superscriptio, piccolo (1981); Carceri d'Invenzione I, chamber orch. (1982).

Fernflöte (Ger., 'distant flute'). Soft metal org. stop of 8' length and pitch.

Fernwerk (Ger. 'distant work'). Echo Manual of org.

Ferrabosco, Alfonso (b Bologna, 1543; d Bologna, 1588). It. composer, son of Domenico Ferrabosco who was maestro di cappella at Basilica Vaticana, Rome, from 1546. Settled in Eng. c.1560, entering service of Elizabeth I. In It. 1569--71. Left Eng. 1578 to enter service of Duke of Savoy. Comp. madrigals, motets, and lute pieces. In contest with Byrd, each set plainsong Miserere in 40 different ways.

Ferrabosco, Alfonso (b Greenwich, c.1575; d Greenwich, 1628). Son of above. Violinist in service of James I. Comp. mus. for several of Jonson's masques. Was made 'Composer of King's Music' to Charles I. Skilled player of lyra viol, for which he wrote fantasies. His 3 sons, Alfonso, Henry, and John, were also musicians in royal service, John becoming organist of Ely Cath.

Ferrari, Luc (b Paris, 1929). Fr. composer. Studied Versailles Cons. 1946--8, École Normale de Musique, Paris, 1948--50 (under Honegger). Joined Groupe de Musique Concrète at Fr. Radio, 1958, and on its dissolution that year re-formed it, with Schaeffer, as Groupe de Recherche Musicale of which he was a dir. until 1966. Prof. at Rheinische Musikschule, Cologne, 1964--6. Comps. mainly on tape.

Ferras, Christian (b Le Touquet, 1933; d Paris, 1982). Fr. violinist. Studied at Nice with Bistesi, and with Calvet at Paris Cons. Paris début as conc. soloist 1946. Appeared as conc. soloist and recitalist in all leading mus. centres. Gave f. Eng. p. of Fricker's Rapsodia Concertante, Cheltenham 1954.

Ferrier, Kathleen (Mary) (b Higher Walton, Lancs., 1912; d London, 1953). Eng. cont. Began mus. career as pianist and accompanist in N. of Eng. competitive fests. Worked as telephone switchboard operator. Entered singing competition, Carlisle 1937, winning Rose Bowl. Studied singing with Thomas Duerdon, Dr J. E. Hutchinson, and Roy Henderson. Londondébut in Messiah, Westminster Abbey 1943, after which she rose rapidly to a leading position among Brit. singers in Elgar's Gerontius, Bach's St Matthew Passion, and other works. Opera début as Lucretia in Britten's The Rape of Lucretia, Glyndebourne 1946. Sang Gluck's Orfeo, Glyndebourne 1947. Became noted exponent of Mahler's Das Lied von der Erde under batons of Walter and Barbirolli, and frequently appeared in recitals with Britten and Pears. The beauty of her v., combined with a warm and humorous personality, endeared her to audiences, and her early death from cancer was profoundly and widely mourned. Last appearance was at CG 1953 in Orfeo, cond. Barbirolli. C.B.E. 1953. Royal Phil. Soc. Gold Medal, 1953.

Fes (Ger.). The note F<sub>b</sub>. Feses, F<sub>bb</sub>.

Fesca, Friedrich (Ernst) (b Magdeburg, 1789; d Karlsruhe, 1826). Ger. violinist and composer. Konzertmeister at Karlsruhe from 1815. Wrote 2 operas, 3 syms., 16 str. qts., and church mus. His son, Alexander Ernst (b Karlsruhe, 1820; d Brunswick, 1849) comp. 4 operas and some chamber mus.

Festa, Costanzo (b c.1490; d Rome, 1545). It. composer. Choirmaster at Vatican. Comp. masses, motets, and otherchurch mus., his Te Deum still being sung at election of new Pope. Also wrote madrigals, one known in Eng. as Down in a Flowery Vale.

Festal. Applied in the distinction of ecclesiastical feast days from ordinary, or Ferial days.

Feste Romane (Roman Festivals). Orch. work by Respighi comp. 1928 and f.p. NY 1929 cond. Toscanini. In 4 sections entitled Circus Maximus, The Jubilee, The October Festival, and Epiphany.

Festgesang (Festive Hymn). Work for 2 male ch. and brass by Mendelssohn to words by Prof. Prölss of Freiberg, comp. for fest. at Leipzig 1840 in honour of invention of printing by Gutenberg and f.p. in open market-place. (Lobgesang was comp. for same occasion.) 2nd no. of Festgesang was adapted by W. H. Cummings to words of hymn 'Hark, the herald angels sing'.

Festin de l'araignée, Le (The Spider's Banquet). Ballet-pantomime with mus. by Roussel to scenario by G. de Voisins and choreog. by Staats. Prod. Paris 1913. Orch. suite (1912).

Festing, Michael (Christian) (b London, c.1680; d London, 1752). Eng. violinist and composer. Pupil of Geminiani. First public appearance 1724. Played in King's Th. orch. 1727; dir. of the It. Opera from 1737. Mus. dir., Ranelagh Gardens 1742--52. Comp. concs., cantatas, and vn. solos.

Festivals (from Lat. festivalis, 'festival'). The Eng. derivative 'festival' has come to be applied to gatherings in which one or several of the arts is celebrated. Its first mus. use was possibly the Fest. of the Sons of the Clergy which, from 1698, used an orch. as part of what was really only an elaborate church service. The oldest Eng. fest. in the truer sense is the 3 Choirs Fest., alternating annually between the cath. cities of Gloucester, Hereford, and Worcester. In the 19thcent. the emphasis was on choral mus., and the Handel Fest., the Birmingham, Leeds, Sheffield, and Norwich Fests. flourished. Abroad, the Haydn Fests. in Austria and the 1845 Beethoven Fest. in Bonn were outstanding events. Other famous continental fests. are those at Bayreuth (devoted exclusively to Wagner) and Salzburg (based on Mozart, but with wider scope). Since the end of the 1939--45 war, fests. have developed alongside the growth of tourism. Almost any attractive town (and several unattractive ones) has considered establishing a fest. as a means of attracting visitors. Among the best and longest est. are those at Edinburgh, Cheltenham, Bath, Harrogate, Aldeburgh, York, Haslemere, Holland, Aix-en-Provence, Spoleto, Berkshire (Boston, Mass.), Hollywood Bowl, Ravinia Park (Chicago), etc. Some fests. have a theme (one particular composer or one type of mus.); others are just a random coll. of artistic events.

Festivo (Festive). No. 3 of Sibelius's 1st set of Scènes historiques for orch., Op. 25, comp. 1899, rev. 1911.

Festspiel (Ger., 'Festival-play'). A term applied to certain mus. stage works, or works in which mus. has some part. Wagner extended the term in the title to his Ring tetralogy, which he called a Bühnenfestspiel (Stage-festival-play) and still further in the title of Parsifal, described as a Bühnenweihfestspiel (Stage-consecration festival-play).

Fêtes galantes. Two sets of songs for v. and pf. by Debussy to poems by Verlaine. The first version, comp. 1882, comprised Pantomime, En sourdine, Mandoline, Clair de Lune, and Fantoches, but three of the songs were revised in 1891--2 and were pubd. in 1903 as Set I (En sourdine, Fantoches and Clair de Lune). Set II, comp. 1904, comprises Les ingénus, Le faune, and Colloque sentimental. No. 2 of Set II orch. Roland-Manuel 1923, No. 3 orch. Beydts 1929. Mandoline and Pantomime were issued separately.

Fétis, Fran;alcois (Joseph) (b Mons, 1784; d Brussels, 1871). Belgian critic, historian, composer, and organist. Studied Paris Cons. Org., Douai 1813--18. Prof. of comp., Paris Cons., 1821, librarian 1826--30. Founded and ed. Revue musicale 1827--33. Dir., Brussels Cons. from 1833. Reputation est. by Biographie universelle des musiciens (8 vols., 1835--44, 2nd edn. 1860--5; suppl. by Pougin, 2 vols., 1878--80). Also author of vols. of history, theoretical works, and biographies of Paganini and Stradivari. Comp. 7 operas, 2 syms., 3 pf. quintets, sonatas, church mus., etc.

Feuermann, Emanuel (b Kolomyja, Lwów, 1902; d NY, 1942). Austrian cellist. Public début at age 11. Teacher of vc. at Cologne Cons. 1917--23, at Berlin Hochschule 1929--33. Settled in USA 1938 becoming Amer. cit. Frequent soloist with leading orchs.

Feuersnot (Fire-famine). 1-act opera by R. Strauss to lib. (Singgedicht) by E.von Wolzogen based on Flemish legend. Comp. 1900--1. Prod. Dresden 1901, London 1910, Philadelphia 1927.

Feux d'artifice (Fireworks). Title of pf. prelude by Debussy, last of the 2nd book of 12 (1912--13).

Févin, Antoine de (b?Arras, c.1473; d Blois, c.1512). Fr. composer. High contemporary reputation as composer of church mus., incl. several masses.

Février, Henry (b Paris, 1875; d Paris, 1957). Fr. composer, pupil of Massenet and Pugno at Paris Cons. Comp. several operas incl. Monna Vanna (1909) and Gismonda (1918).

ff. Abbreviation for fortissimo, very loud. Composers occasionally use fff and even more.

Ffrang;alcon-Davies, David (Thomas) (b Bethesda, 1855; d London, 1918). Welsh bar. Originally a clergyman, he took up singing, trained at GSM, and made stage début in opera in London, 1890. Toured USA and Canada 1896--8. High reputation in oratorio. Teacher, RAM 1903--7. Illness cut short career 1907. His daughter Gwen (b 1891) began her career as a sop., singing in Boughton's Immortal Hour, and later became a leading actress.

Fg. Abbreviation for Fagott (Ger.), bassoon.

F.G.S.M. Fellow of Guildhall Sch. of Mus. and Drama.

Fiala, Joseph (b Lochovice, 1754; d Donaueschingen, 1816). Cz. composer, oboist, and cellist. Studied in Prague. Oboist in court band at Oettingen-Wallerstein, 1774--7, during which time he pubd. 6 str. qts. Went to Munich 1777, meeting Mozart, of whom he became close friend. Played in Archbishop of Salzburg's orch. 1778--85, and in Vienna 1785--90. Kapellmeister at Donaueschingen from 1792. Works incl. 12 str. qts., syms., pieces for wind band, duos, and sonatas.

Fiat (It., 'breath'). Wind instr. are stromenti a fiato.

Fibich, Zdene^k (Antonín Václav) (b Vs^ebo;akrice, 1850; d Prague, 1900). Cz. composer. Studied with his mother and in Vienna, Prague, and Leipzig (1865--7) under Moscheles and E. F. Richter. Taught piano in Paris 1868--9. Returning to Prague, worked as theatre cond., but lived mainly from compositions. Was first Romantic Cz. composer, in this respect standing apart from Dvo;akrák, Smetana, and Janák^ek. Among his most remarkable achievements are his concert and stage melodramas, the most ambitious ever written, especially the trilogy Hippodamia (1888--91), and his 376 Moods, Impressions and Reminiscences for solo piano (1892--9), a 'diary' of his love for his piano pupil, the writer Ane;akzka Schulzová (1868--1905). His operas include Bukovin (1870--1), Blaník (1874--7), Neve^sta mesinská (The Bride of Messina) (1882--3), Bou;akre (The Tempest, after Shakespeare) (1893--4), Hedy (1894--5), ;akSárka (1896--7), and Pád Arkuna (The Fall of Arkona) (1898--9). Wrote much incidental music, 3 syms., several sym.-poems, chamber mus., and over 200 songs. His sym.-poem At Twilight (V podvec^er) (1893) contains the celebrated Poem.

Ficher, Jacobo (b Odessa, 1896; d Buenos Aires, 1978). Russ. composer and violinist. Studied St Petersburg/Petrograd Cons. 1912--17. In 1923 settled in Argentina, founding contemporary mus. group, conducting, and after 1956 teaching comp. at Nat. Cons., Buenos Aires. Comp. incl. 2 Chekhov chamber operas, The Bear (1952) and Proposal of Marriage (1956), 3 pf. concs., 8 syms., sax. qt., fl. conc., 7 pf. sonatas, wind quintet, 4 str. qts., etc.

Fiddle. Colloquial term for any kind of bowed instr., especially the vn., or in reference to its use as a 'folk' instr. (as in Mahler's 4th Sym. where a solo vn., specially tuned, is instructed to play wie ein Fiedel ('like a fiddle', in folk style). Also name for the medieval ancestor of the vn.

Fiddle Fugue. Nickname for org. fugue in D minor by Bach (because it was arr. from an earlier version for solo vn., 1720).

Fidelio, oder Die eheliche Liebe (Fidelio, or Married Love). Opera in 2 acts by Beethoven, Op. 72, to lib. by Josef Sonnleithner based on Bouilly's Léonore, ou L'Amour conjugal. F.p. in orig. 3-act version, Vienna 1805. Reduced to 2 acts by Stefan von Breuning 1806, prod. Vienna 1806. Further rev., and lib. rev. by G. F. Treitschke, 1814, prod. Vienna 1814, London 1832, NY 1839. Orig. 1805 version, under title Leonore, reconstructed in edn. by E. Prieger, 1905. Of the 4 ovs., Fidelio (comp. for 1814 revival but not ready for f.p.) is now used in the th. Leonora No. 2 is thought to have been comp. 1804--5, No. 3 in 1806, and No. 1 in 1807 for a projected Prague perf. It is now customary to perform No. 3 as an entr'acte before final scene. Bouilly's lib. was also the basis of Gaveaux's Léonore (Paris 1798), Paér's Leonora (Dresden 1804), and Mayr's L'Amor coniugale (Padua 1805).

Fiedler, Arthur (b Boston, Mass., 1894; d Boston, 1979). Amer. cond. Studied with his father, member of Boston S.O., then in Berlin with the violinist Willy Hess. Joined Boston S.O. as violinist 1915, later violist. Formed Boston Sinfonietta, conducting it in Boston and on tour. In 1930 became cond. of Boston 'Pops' concerts, spreading their fame through recordings.

Fiedler, (August) [fy65,3] Max (b Zittau, 1859; d Stockholm, 1939). Ger. cond., trained Leipzig Cons. 1877--80. Taught at Hamburg Cons. from 1882, becoming dir. 1903--8. Cond., Hamburg Phil. from 1904; Boston S.O. 1908--12; mus. dir. in Essen 1916--34. Comp. sym., ov., and pf. quintet.

Field, John (b Dublin, 1782; d Moscow, 1837). Irish pianist and composer. Pupil in Dublin of Giordani, making début aged 9. In London became pupil of Clementi, whose pfs. he exhibited and who took him to Fr., Ger., and Russia, where he settled in St Petersburg in 1803, becoming teacher and touring Europe as virtuoso pianist. His importance as a composer for the pf. has only latterly been recognized. He invented the style and name Nocturne for short pieces, composing 19. Wrote 7 pf. concs., 4 sonatas, and other works. Schumann and Liszt admired his work, and Chopin developed the Nocturne form.

Field-Hyde, Margaret (b Cambridge, 1905). Eng. sop. and violinist. Studied singing with her father, a pupil of García, and in Frankfurt and Paris. Début 1928 in Cambridge revival of Purcell's King Arthur. Specialist in Purcell and Bach, but also in works by Lutyens and other contemporaries. Founded Golden Age Singers 1950, touring Europe and USA with them.

Fiery Angel, The (Ognenny Angel; sometimes known as The Flaming Angel). Opera in 5 acts by Prokofiev to his lib. based on novel by V. Bryusov (1908). Comp. 1919--23, rev. 1926--7. F.p. Paris (concert) 1954, staged Venice 1955, London and NY 1965. Prokofiev's 3rd Sym. uses themes from the opera.

Fiesco, Giulio (b Ferrara, c.1519; d Modena, c.1586). It. madrigal composer and lutenist.

Fife. Ancient side-blown instr. like a high-pitched fl., frequently used in military bands. Modern drum and fife bands incl. low-pitched fls.

Fifteenth. A high-pitched Diapason org. stop sounding 2 octaves above the note played; 2' length and pitch on manuals, 4' on pedals.

Fifth. Interval consisting of 3 whole-tones and a semitone, so-called because no. of notes from one extreme of the interval to the other in the diatonic scale is 5. A perfect 5th is the distance from, for example, C to G. From C up to Gb is a diminished fifth, and from C up to G# is an augmented fifth. See Consecutive Fifth.

'Fifths' Quartet (Quintenquartett). Name for Haydn's Str. Qt. in D minor, Op. 76, No. 2(1797--8) because it begins with melodic leaps of a 5th.

Figural, figured (Eng.); figuré (Fr.); figurato (It.); figural, figuriert (Ger.). Florid. (1) A 'figured chorale', is one in which the melody is acc. by quicker notes in the other parts. (2)^In solo vocal mus. the word implies Coloratura.

Figuralmusik. See Musica figurata.

Figurato, figurata (It.). Same as colorato, colorata, i.e. treated in the manner of Coloratura.

Figure. (1) In mus. structure, this word usually carries the same meaning as Motif. A 'figure of accompaniment' refers to the mus. cell from which a certain type of song acc. may be evolved. (2)^In dancing the word implies a set of movements by the dancers as a body, forming a distinct division of the whole. This element is prominent in a Figure Dance, as opposed to a Step Dance, in which it is largely absent.

Figured Bass. See Basso continuo.

Filare la voce, filar il tuono (It.), filer la voix (le son) (Fr.). To draw out the voice (tone). The messe di voce; or sometimes understood to mean the holding of a long note without any dynamic fluctuation.

Fille aux cheveux de lin, La (The girl with the flaxen hair). Pf. piece by Debussy, No. 8 of his Préludes, Book I. Comp. Jan. 1910, f.p. London 1910. Based on poem by Leconte de Lisle.

Fille de Madame Angot, La (Mme Angot's Daughter). 3-act operetta by Lecocq to lib. by Clairville, Siraudin, and Koning, after Maillot's vaudeville Madame Angot (1796). Prod. Brussels 1872, London 1873, NY 1873.

Fille du Régiment, La (The Daughter of the Regiment). 2-act opera by Donizetti to lib. by V.|de Saint-Georges and Bayard. Prod. Paris 1840, London 1843, New Orleans 1847.

Fille mal gardée, La (The Unchaperoned Girl). 2-act ballet to lib. by Dauberval orig. to medley of Fr. songs and airs. Prod. Bordeaux 1789. For 1828 revival in Paris, Hérold provided new score, using some of orig. tunes, extracts from Rossini and Donizetti operas, and his own mus. Mus. for 1864 Berlin version comp. by Hertel. For 1960 London revival to Ashton choreog., John Lanchbery prepared new score based mainly on Hérold but with Hertel's 'Clog Dance'.

Film Music. Mus. written to acc. action in documentary and feature films. In the days of silent films a pianist or small orch. in the cinema pit provided a mus. commentary on the action, usually by a selection of appropriate popular operatic and orch. items. But the first piece of 'original' film mus. was written by Saint-Saëns (Op. 128) for H. Lavedan's film

L'Assassinat du Duc de Guise, 1908. An ambitious development for its day was the silent film made in 1924 of Strauss's Der Rosenkavalier. For this, mus. from the opera was adapted for th. orch., with some additional items for extra scenes. With the advent of the 'talkie' and the development of the sound-track, the opportunities for the use of illustrative mus. were gradually seized and exploited by composers. In Hollywood, the capital of the cinema industry, mus. for many films was written by Erich Korngold and later by Miklós Rózsa. Distinguished film music was written by Bernard Herrmann for Welles's Citizen Kane and for a series of Hitchcock films, notably Psycho. Fr. composers such as Auric wrote for films, and in Britain practically all the leading composers---Britten, Walton, Vaughan Williams, Rawsthorne, Bax, Ireland, Alwyn, Arnold, Richard Rodney Bennett, and many others---have written film mus. Some of the greatest film mus. was written by Prokofiev for Eisenstein's Alexander Nevsky, and Shostakovich and Khachaturian have also written effective film scores. Walton's Henry V and Vaughan Williams's Scott of the Antarctic are highly regarded. Mention should also be made of the scores by Michel Legrand, John Barry, and Burt Bacharach, while Addinsell's clever pastiche of a romantic pf. conc., the 'Warsaw' Conc. from Dangerous Moonlight, perhaps made a wider audience aware of the potency of film music. There have been examples of brilliant use in a film of mus. which was not written specially for it, e.g. Rakhmaninov's C minor pf. conc. in Brief Encounter; Mozart's C major pf. conc. No. 21, K467 (2nd movement) in Elvira Madigan, and the Adagietto from Mahler's 5th sym. in Death in Venice. And there is Schoenberg's Accompaniment to a Film Scene, Op. 34 (1930), comp. for no particular film or scene.

Filter. Elec. device permitting selective transmission of specified frequencies of the input signal by attenuating, or filtering out, unwanted frequencies.

Filtz, (Johann) Anton (b Eichstätt, 1733; d Mannheim, 1760). Ger.-Bohemian composer and cellist. Pupil of Stamitz. Prin. cellist in famous Mannheim orch. Wrote over 40 syms., concs. for vc. and fl., chamber mus., etc.

Fin (Fr.). End.

Fin (It.). Same as Fino.

Final. (1) (Eng.). The note on which the modal scale ends (see Modes), as on the keynote of the major or minor scale. (2) (Fr.). Finale.

Finale (It.). End. The last movement of a work in several movements, i.e. sym., conc., suite, sonata, etc. Also the ens. ending an act of an opera.

Finck, Herman (b London, 1872; d London, 1939). Eng. composer and cond. Studied GSM. At 16 was pianist and violinist at Palace Th., London, becoming cond. there 1900. Mus. dir. Drury Lane 1922--31. Comp. comic operas, such as Katinka, and th. mus. Best known for his short piece In the Shadows (1910).

Finck, Hermann (b Pirna, 1527; d Wittenberg, 1558). Ger. organist and composer of motets, etc. Wrote treatise Practica Musica (1556).

Fine, Irving (b Boston, Mass., 1914; d Natick, Mass., 1962). Amer. composer and critic. Studied Harvard Univ. 1933--9 and in Paris with Boulanger. Ass.prof. of mus., Harvard, 1939--50. Chairman, sch. of creative arts, Brandeis Univ., from 1950. Mus. tended towards neo-classicism; in his last years he was attracted by 12-note technique. Works incl. Sym. (1962), Music for Modern Dance (1941), 3 Choruses from Alice in Wonderland (1942), Mutability, 6 songs for mez. and pf. (1952), The Hour Glass for ch. and orch. (1949), vn. sonata, str. qt., etc.

Fine, Vivian (b Chicago, 1913). Amer. composer. Studied pf. at Chicago Mus. Coll. 1919--22 and at Amer. Cons., Chicago, 1925--31, later studying comp. with Sessions 1934--42 and orchestration with George Szell, 1943. Has held several teaching posts, and from 1931 championed modern pf. mus. Her works incl. pf. conc., str. qt., vn. sonata, Alcestis (ballet for Martha Graham), and A Guide to the Life Expectancy of a Rose for sop., ten., and chamber ens.

Fingal's Cave (The Hebrides) (Die Hebriden (Fingals Höhle)). Ov. in B minor, Op. 26, by Mendelssohn, who is said to have invented the prin. theme while on a visit to the Hebrides and the island of Staffain 1829. (In fact he jotted down the theme in a letter written before he went to Staffa. The orig. version was called The Lonely Island.) Comp. 1830, rev. 1832. After rev. the work was f.p., as The Isles of Fingal, London, CG 1832. It is in effect a descriptive tone-poem.

Finger Board. In a str. instr., the long strip of hard wood over which the str. are stretched.

Finger, Gottfried (b Olomouc, c.1660; d Mannheim, 1730). Moravian composer who settled in England at royal court 1687--1704 when he became musician to Queen of Prussia. Kapellmeister, court of Gotha, from 1717. Wrote operas, th. mus., concs., sonatas, etc.

Fingering (of kbd. instr.). Since the end of the 18th cent., this has been standardized on something like modern principles. Before this period there was a good deal of passing of the 3 middle fingers over one another and comparatively little use of the thumb and little finger; this was partly due to the fall of the keys being much shallower than with modern instr. The pf. killed finger-crossing, since it demanded an actual blow (properly a blow by pressure---one sufficient to throw the hammer at the strings, yet so exactly controlled as to throw it with either the greater force required by a fortissimo or the lesser required by a pianissimo). Clementi firmly est. the modern principles of fingering: his use of the thumb was the same as ours, except that he did not use it on the black keys, as is sometimes done today. These modern principles incl. the division of a scale into 2 groups of 3 and 4 notes respectively, with the thumb as the pivot between them, the playing of arpeggio passages on the basis of the octave, some adaptation of fingering to the hand of the individual player, the planning of the fingering of a passage by working backwards from the point at which it is ultimately to arrive, and the division of such a passage into 'physical groups' as units, each of these being considered as a chord. Organ fingering follows much the same principles as pf. fingering but, as the nature of the instr. generally calls for a perfect legato, more substitution of finger is required, a key often being depressed by one finger and then held by another, so freeing the first for use on another key. See also English fingering.

Finite Canon. A canon which is not repeated, the converse of 'perpetual' or 'infinite' canon.

Finlandia. Short work for orch., Op. 26, by Sibelius. Comp. 1899 as final tableau of nationalist pageant to raise money for a press pension fund in Helsinki. Rev. 1900 and f.p. Helsinki, July 1900. Its patriotic fervour, though no folk-song material was used, led to its adoption as a symbol of Finnish nat. aspirations. F.p. in Eng. 1905 (Liverpool, cond. Bantock).

Finney, Ross Lee (b Wells, Minn., 1906). Amer. composer and teacher. Studied mus. at Univ. of Minnesota, with Boulanger in Paris 1927--8, with Berg in Vienna 1931--2, and with Roger Sessions intermittently 1929--48. Taught at Smith Coll., 1929--47. Prof. of mus., Univ. of Michigan from 1949, where he est. elec. mus. studio. Since 1950 he has combined in his mus. tonalism with 12-note and serial techniques. Works incl. 4 syms., 8 str. qts., vn. sonatas, vc. sonatas, pf. qt., pf. quintets, str. quintets, 2 pf. concs., vn. conc., and choral pieces.

Finnila, Birgit (b Falkenberg, Swed., 1931). Swed. mez. Studied with Roy Henderson, RCM. Exponent of Wagner, Mahler, Brahms, etc. Prof. début Göteborg 1963.

Finnissy, Michael (b London, 1946). Studied at RCM with Bernard Stevens and Humphrey Searle and later with R. Vlad in Rome. Formed mus. dept. at London Sch. of Contemporary Dance, teaching there 1969--74. Works incl.:

music theatre: Circle, Chorus, and Formal Act, bar., women's ch., perc., ch., 6 sword-dancers, 4 mimes, small ens. (1973); Mysteries: 1. The Parting of Darkness from Light, 2 ten., 2 bar., bass. 2. The Earthly Paradise, mez., ten., bass, 2 actors, ens. 3. The Great Flood, ten., 4 actors, 4 actresses, 2 instr., 3 perc. 4. The Prophecy of Daniel, sop., bar., actor, ch., hp., perc. 5. The Parliament of Heaven, 3 sop., mez., ten., 2 actors, 3 ch., children's ch., ens. 6. The Annunciation. 7. The Betrayal and Crucifixion of Jesus of Nazareth. 8. The Deliverance of Souls, 2 sop., mez., 2 ten., 2 bar., bass, 4 ch., children's ch., orch. (1972--9); Bouffe, for a person alone on stage (1975); Mr Punch, speaker, 5 instr., perc. (1976--7); Vaudeville, mez., bar., 2 mimes, 6 instr., perc. (1983).

orch: Song II and IV (1963--9); Song X (1968--75); Offshore (1975--6); Pathways of Sun and Stars (1976); Sea and Sky (1979--80).

voice(s) and instr: Le dormeur du val, mez. and 8 instr. (1963--8); From the Revelations of St John the Divine, sop., fl., str. sextet (1965--70); Horrorzone, sop., fl., hn., pf. duet (1966--71); Song III, sop., 4 instr. (1963--9); Folk-Song Set, sop. and 9 instr. (1969--70, rev. 1975--6); Song XI, sop., cl. (1968--75); Jeanne d'Arc, sop., ten., vc., small orch. (1967--71); Babylon, mez. and ens. (1971); World, 2 sop., cont., ten., bar., bass, orch. (1968--74); Tsuru-Kame, sop., 3 chorus sop., instr., and dancers (1971--3); Commedia dell'incomprendibile Potere che alcune Donne hanno sugli Uomini, sop., counterten., vc., cembalo (1973--5); Orfeo, vv. and instr. (1974--5); Medea, vv. and instr. (1973--6); Mine Eye awake, sop., pf. (1977); Gor;amo, ten. and 6 instr. (1978); Sir Tristran, sop., cl., pf., vn., va., vc. (1978); ..|.. fairest noonday ..|.., ten., pf. (1979); Talawva, mez., instr. (1979); Pf. Conc. No. 5, pf., mez., and ens. (1980); Green Bushes, cont., pf. (1980); Duru-duru, mez., fl., pf., 1 perc. (1981); Warara, ten., fl., cl., 2 perc. (1982); Anninnia, sop., pf. (1982); Whitman, vv., instr. (1980--3); Botany Bay, mez., fl., cl. or ob. (1983); Soda Fountain, sop., mez., cont., ten., 2 pairs of cymbals (1983); Ngano, mez., ten., ch., fl., 2 perc. (1983--4).

unacc. voices: Cipriano, 10 vv. (1974); Tom Fool's Wooing, 14 vv. (1975--8); Kelir, 6 vv.

(1981); Australian Sea Shanties I (1983).

instr. ens: Afar, 7 instr. (1966--7); As when upon a tranced summer night, 3 vc., pf., 2 perc. (1966--8); Song VI, fl., ob., vc., cembalo (1963--8); Piece to honour Igor Stravinsky, fl., va., hp. (1971); Transformations of the Vampire, cl., vn., va., 3 perc. (1968--71); n, 1--4 instr. (1969); Evening, 6 instr. and perc. (1974); Pf. Conc. No. 1 (1975), No. 2 (1975--6), No. 3 (1978), No. 7 (1981); Lost Lands, 5 instr. (1977); Long Distance, pf. and 14 instr. (1977--8); Alongside, 13 instr. and perc. (1979); Kagami-Jishi, fl., hp. (1979); Lord Melbourne, sop., cl., pf. (1980); Nobody's Jig, str. qt. (1980--1); Jise:ati, vc. and 5 instr. (1981); Keroiylu, ob., bn., pf. (1981); Aijal, fl., ob. orcl., 1 perc. (1982); Banumbirr, fl., cl., vn., vc., pf. (1982); Tya, 11 instr. and perc. (1982); Mississippi Hornpipes, vn., pf. (1982); Ouraa, 10 instr. and perc. (1982--3); Australian Sea Shanties II, recorder consort (1983); Câtana, 8 instr. and perc. (1984).

solo voice: Song I, sop. (1963--9); Songs XIV, XV, sop. (1968--75); Song XVI, sop. (1976); Ohi! ohi! ohi!, mez. (1978); Mountainfall, mez. (1978); Moon's goin' down, solo instr. (or v.) (1980).

piano: Song V (1963--9); Songs VII--IX (1963--8); Autumnall (1968--71); Snowdrift (1972); Wild Flowers, 2 pf. (1974); Ives (1974); Verdi Transcriptions (1974); English Country Tunes (1977); all. fall. down. (1977); Kemp's Morris, pianist wearing morris bells (1978); Piano Studies (1976--8); Fast Dances, Slow Dances (1978--9); Grainger (1979); Pf. Conc. No. 4 (1978--80); Boogie-Woogie (1980); Nancarrow (1980); Pf. Conc. No. 6 (1980--1); Liz (1980--1); Free Setting (1981); Reels (1980--1); White Rain, pf. or clavichord (1981); Rushes (1981); Hikkai (1982--3); Australian Sea Shanties III (1983); Tango (1984).

solo instr: Piece to honour Igor Stravinsky, fl. (1967); Song XII, bass cl. (1968--75); Song XIII, vn. (1968--75); Alice I, db., II, vc., III, vc. and 1 perc. (1970--5); Ru Tchou, perc. (1975); Song XVII, guitar (1976); Song XVIII, db. (1976); All the trees they are so high, vn. (1977); Doves Figary, vc. (1976--7); Runnin' Wild, ob. (or sax.) (1978); Sikangnuqa, fl. (1979); Pavasiya, ob. (1979); Hinomi, perc. (1979); Stomp, pf. accordeon (1981); Andimironnai, vc. (1981); Yalli, vc. (1981); Terekemme, cembalo (1981); Marrngu, cl. (1982); Nasiye, guitar (1982); Dilok, ob. and 1 perc. (1982); Gerhana, perc. (1982); Cirit, cl. (1982); Uzundara, cl. (1983); Sepevi, db. (1982--3); Ulpirra, bass fl. (1982--3); The Eureka Flag, picc. (1983).

Fino (It.). As far as, e.g. Fino al segno, As far as the sign (;yx).

Finta giardiniera, La (The Feigned Gardener's Girl). Opera buffa in 3 acts (K196) by Mozart to lib. attrib. Petrosellini, written for Anfossi (1774), and altered by Coltellini. Prod. Munich 1775, NY 1927, London 1930.

Finta semplice, La (The Feigned Simpleton). Opera buffa in 3 acts (K51) by Mozart to lib. by Coltellini, after lib. by Goldoni first set by Perillo (1764). Prod. Salzburg 1769, London (Paumgartner ed.) 1956, Boston, Mass., 1961.

Finzi, Gerald (Raphael) (b London, 1901; d Oxford, 1956). Eng. composer. Studied mus. with Ernest Farrar at Harrogate, 1914--16, and with Bairstow at York, 1917--22. Studied counterpoint with R. O. Morris in London, 1925, and taught comp. at RAM 1930--33. After marriage in 1933, he retired to isolated life in countryside, building his own house at Ashmansworth, nr. Newbury. Formed Newbury String Players, 1939. Worked in Ministry of War Transport, 1941--5. For the Newbury players he revived and ed. many 18th cent. works by Eng. composers such as Boyce, Stanley, and Mudge. Also worked to obtain publication of mus. by Ivor Gurney, whom he never met. Was collector of rare books and grower of rare apples. His works, some of them spread over many years and constantly revised, can be broadly linked to the Eng. tradition of Elgar and Vaughan Williams, but the influence on him of these composers can be overstressed. His settings of Eng. poetry, particularly of Thomas Hardy, have a distinctive individuality, with musical imagery to match the verbal. Nor would it be just to describe him as a miniaturist, for such works as For St Cecilia, the Intimations of Immortality, and the cello concerto show an ability to handle larger forms. Through Parry, he reached back to J. S. Bach in the vocal style of his masterpiece, the cantata Dies Natalis; and the same fluent imaginative vision gives an unfading emotional power to his Shakespeare song-cycle Let us Garlands Bring and to his touching Christmas work In terra pax. Prin. works:

orch: Introit, vn. and orch. (1925, rev. 1935, 1942); New Year Music (1926, rev. c.1946); Eclogue, pf. and str. (1920s, rev. 1940s); Romance, str. (1928); The Fall of the Leaf (1929, rev. 1939--41, orch. completed by H. Ferguson); cl. conc., str. (1948--9); Grand Fantasia and Toccata, pf. and orch. (Fantasia 1928, rev. 1953, Toccata 1953); vc. conc. (1951--5).
choral: Lo, the full final sacrifice, with org. (1946, orch. 1947); Intimations of Immortality, ten., ch., and orch. (1936--8, 1949--50); For St Cecilia, ten., ch., and orch. (1947); Magnificat, with org. (1952, orch. 1956); In terra pax, sop., bar., ch., str., hp., cymbals (1954, full orch. 1956).

solo voice and orch. or ensemble: By Footpath and Stile, bar., str. qt. (1921--2); Dies Natalis, sop. (or ten.) and str. (1926, 1938--9); Farewell to Arms, ten. and str. or small orch. (1925--44); 2 Milton Sonnets, ten. (or sop.) and small orch. (c.1928).

unacc. voices: 3 Short Elegies, SATB (1926); 7 Part-songs, SATB (1934--7); White-flowering days (in A Garland for the Queen), SATB (1953).

voice[nm]

s)[sm and piano: A Young Man's Exhortation, 10 songs (Hardy), ten. and pf. (1926--33); Earth and Air and Rain, 10 songs (Hardy), bar. and pf. (1928--36); Before and After Summer, 10 songs (Hardy), bar. and pf. (1938--49); Let Us Garlands Bring, 5 songs (Shakespeare), bar. and pf. (also with orch.) (1929--42); Let us now praise famous men, male vv. and pf. (1952); Till Earth Outwears, 7 songs (Hardy), sop. or ten. and pf. (1927--55); I said to Love, 6 songs (Hardy), bar. and pf. (1928--56).

Fiocco, Giuseppe-Hector ([nmb Brussels, 1703; d Brussels, 1741). Belgian-born It. composer and harpsichordist. Choirmaster, Antwerp Cath. 1731--7; dir. of mus. Ste-Gudule, Brussels, from 1737. Comp. organ mus. and works for hpd.

Fioritura (It.). Flowering (pl. fioriture). In 17th and 18th cents., the vocal decoration of the melody of an operatic aria, etc., usually extemporized during perf. by the singer. Also a common practice in vn. and kbd. playing.

Fipple. The block of wood which canalizes the air (i.e. plugs the mouthpiece) in woodwind instr. of the recorder family, known therefore as 'fipple flutes'.

Firebird, The (Zhar-Ptitsa, Fr. L'Oiseau de Feu). Ballet (conte dansé) in 1 act and 3 scenes by Stravinsky, comp. 1909--10 and orig. choreog. by Fokine, with later versions by Bolm, Balanchine, Lifar, Cranko, and Béjart. Prod. Paris 1910 (Diaghilev Ballet Russe). Based on Russ. fairy-tales. Mus. had 19 sections. Suite, 1911, with orch. as for ballet, had 5 movements; rev. and re-orch. (also 5 movements), 1919; further rev. with orch. as 1919 but with 10 movements, 1945.

Fires of London, The. Instr. ens. founded 1970 by Peter Maxwell Davies after reorganization of Pierrot Players. Has given f.ps. of most major works by Maxwell Davies since that date.

Fireworks. Fantasy, Op. 4, for large orch. by Stravinsky. Comp. 1908, f.p. St Petersburg 1909.

Fireworks Music (Music for the Royal Fireworks). Suite of 8 movements by Handel for wind band, comp. for and played at fireworks display in Green Park, London, to mark Peace of Aix-la-Chapelle, 1749. Later Handel added str. parts. Arr. for modern orch. by Harty and by Mackerras.

Firkus^ny, Rudolf (b Napajedlá, Moravia, 1912). Amer. pianist of Cz. birth. Studied pf. and comp. (with Janá^ek) at Brno Cons., later at Prague Cons. with Karel and Suk. Début Prague 1922, London 1933, NY 1938. Worldwide tours. Settled in USA. Taught at Berkshire Mus. Center, Juilliard Sch. of Mus. Comp. pf. conc., str. qt., pf. pieces, songs.

First. In orch. parlance this term implies leadership of a section (e.g. 1st cl., or prin. cl.) in addition to, often, a part higher in pitch. The 1st vn. is leader of the orch., but the 1st vns. are a section div. from the 2nd vns. In choral terms a higher-pitched part.

First Inversion. That in which the 3rd of a chord becomes the bass, e.g. common chord C--E--G becomes E--G--C or E--C--G.

First Post. Brit. Army bugle-call sounded at 9.30 p.m. which calls all men back to barracks. See also Last Post.

First Subject. (1) The 1st melody, motif, or theme in a sonata-form movement, in the tonic key. (2)^1st of the 2 themes of a double fugue.

First Walpurgis Night (Mendelssohn). See Erste Walpurgisnacht.

Fis (Ger.). The note F#. Fisis, F##.

Fischer, Annie (b Budapest, 1914). Hung. pianist. Studied at Franz Liszt Cons. and with Székely and Dohnányi. Début Budapest 1922. Winner, Int. Liszt Competition, Budapest, 1933. Worldwide tours as conc. pianist and recitalist.

Fischer, Edwin (b Basle, 1886; d Zürich, 1960). Swiss pianist and cond. Studied under Huber and Krause. Teacher at Stern Cons., Berlin, 1905--14. Cond. posts in Lübeck 1926--8 and Munich 1928--32. Formed chamber orch., directing it from the kbd. in concs. Specialist in, and writer about, mus. of Bach. whose kbd. works he ed. Comp. of pf. works.

Fischer, Ivan (b Budapest, 1951). Hung. conductor. Studied at Bartók Cons., Budapest, and Vienna Acad. (with Swarowsky). Had cond. engagements in Milan, Florence, Budapest, Vienna before winning Rupert Foundation comp. in Eng. 1976. Joint mus. dir. Northern Sinfonia 1979--82. Opera début Zürich 1977 (Don Giovanni). Brit. opera début, Kent Opera 1982 (Agrippina), Royal Opera 1983 (Manchester, La Clemenza di Tito). Mus. dir. Kent Opera from 1984.

Fischer, Johann (b nr. Schlackenwerth, Bohemia, c. 1665; d Rastatt, 1746). Ger. composer. Kapellmeister to Markgraf of Baden. Wrote klavier suites, and 20 preludes and fugues for org. in different keys.

Fischer, Johann (Christian) (b Freiburg in Breisgau, 1733; d London, 1800). Ger. oboist. Played in Court orch. at Dresden from 1764. Went to London, 1768, becoming member of Queen's band and playing at Bach-Abel concerts. Married Gainsborough's daughter 1780. Returned to Continent on disappointment at not being made Master of King's Band 1786. Returned to London 1790. Mozart wrote variations on his Minuet (1773).

Fischer-Dieskau, Dietrich (b Berlin, 1925). Ger. bar. and cond. Studied Berlin Hochschule für Musik. Teachers incl. Georg Walter and, after 1945, Hermann Weissenborn. Stage début Berlin State Opera, 1948, as Posa in Don Carlos. Rapidly became one of world's leading singers, outstanding in Lieder and in wide range of operatic roles from the Count in Figaro to Falstaff, Wozzeck, Don Giovanni, Sachs, and Mittenhofer in Henze's Elegy for Young Lovers. Eng. début 1951 with Beecham in Delius's Mass of Life. NY début 1955. CG début 1965, as Mandryka in Strauss's Arabella. Bayreuth 1954--6, and has sung at most leading fests. Vienna State Opera from 1957. 1st singer of bar. role in Britten's War Requiem, Coventry 1962. Took up cond. 1973. Author of books on Schubert and relationship between Nietzsche and Wagner.

Fis^;er, Lubos^; (b Prague, 1935). Cz. composer. Studied Prague Cons. 1952--6 and Prague Acad. of Mus. Arts 1956--60. Comps. incl. pf. sonatas, chamber conc., 15 Prints after Dürer's Apocalypse (orch.), Requiem.

Fisher, Sylvia (Gwendoline Victoria) (b Melbourne, 1910). Australian sop. Studied Melbourne Cons. Début Melbourne 1932. Début CG 1948 as Leonore in Fidelio, becoming co.'s leading sop. until 1958 in roles such as Isolde, the Kostelníčka in Jenůfa, Sieglinde, and the Marschallin. Chicago Opera 1959. Sang with EOG 1963--71 in Britten operas and with SW Co. (later ENO), notably with latter as Elizabeth I in Britten's Gloriana.

Fiske, Roger (Elwyn) (b Surbiton, 1910). Eng. musicologist and critic. Studied Oxford and RCM. On BBC mus. staff 1939--59. Gen. ed. Eulenburg miniature scores 1969--76. Author of several books, and reviewer for many periodicals.

Fistoulari, Anatole (b Kiev, 1907). Russ.-born cond., Brit. citizen since 1940s. Cond.ballet in Paris 1933 and toured with Ballets Russes de Monte Carlo. Settled in Eng. 1940; prin. cond. LPO 1943--4. Toured USSR with LPO 1956. Guest cond. of world's leading orchs.

Fitelberg, Grzegorz (b Dynaburg, Latvia, 1879; d Katowice, 1953). Polish cond., violinist, and composer. With Szymanowski and others, founded 'Young Poland' group of composers in Berlin 1905. Cond. Warsaw P.O. 1907, Vienna Opera 1911--14, Petrograd and Moscow 1914--20. Returned to Warsaw P.O. 1923--34. Permanent cond. Polish Radio S.O. 1934--9 and from 1947. Comp. 2 syms., vn. conc., symphonic poem, vn. sonata, etc.

Fitelberg, Jerzy (b Warsaw, 1903; d NY, 1951). Polish composer, son of above. Studied in Berlin, emigrating to Paris 1933 and then to USA 1940. Wrote 5 str. qts. (Coolidge Prize 1936 for No. 4), sym., 2 vn. concs., vc. conc., 2 pf. concs., wind quintet, vn. sonata, and other chamber works.

Fitzwilliam Virginal Book. Remarkable MS. coll. of early 17th-cent. Eng. mus. for kbd. by (mostly) Eng. composers, comprising 297 pieces. Coll. orig. made by Francis Tregian in 17th cent. Bears present title because it became property of the mus. antiquarian Richard, Viscount Fitzwilliam (1745--1816) who bequeathed it, together with the annual interest on £100,000, to Cambridge Univ. where it is preserved in Fitzwilliam Library. Pubd. 1894--9 in edn. by Fuller Maitland and Barclay Squire.

Five, The. Name given to group of 5 Russ. composers, Balakirev, Borodin, Cui, Mussorgsky, and Rimsky-Korsakov, who est. a 'national' sch. of comp. in 19th cent. In Russia they were known as moguchaya kuchka, 'the mighty handful', a term invented by the critic Stasov in 1867.

Five Tudor Portraits. Choral suite in 5 movements by Vaughan Williams for mez., bar., ch., and orch. Comp. 1935. Texts are from the poetry of John Skelton (1460--1529) incl. 'The Tunning of Elinor Rumming' and the 'Lament for Philip Sparrow'. F.p. Norwich 1936, London 1937.

Fixed-Doh. System of sight-singing in which the note C, in every key in which it occurs, is called doh, D called ray, etc. See Movable-doh.

Fjeldstad, ;Uoivin (b Oslo, 1903). Norweg. cond., composer, and vn. teacher. Début as violinist 1921, as cond. 1931. Chief cond. Norwegian State Opera 1958--60, Oslo P.O. 1962--9.

Flageolet. (1) Late 16th-cent. instr. of end-blown fl. type, with 4 finger-holes and 2 thumb-holes, 'invented' by Sieur de Juvigny of Paris, c.1581. The name has also been applied to earlier instr. of the end-blown fipple type of pipe. Handel wrote for the true flageolet in Rinaldo. (2)^Soft organ stop of 2' length and pitch. (3)^Flageolet notes is a term applied to harmonics on a str. instr., produced by light stopping of the str. at natural points of vibration, and so called because the resultant high thin sound issaid to resemble that of the flageolet.

Flagstad, Kirsten (Malfrid) (b Hamar, Norway, 1895; d Oslo, 1962). Norweg. sop., one of the greatest of Wagnerian singers. Studied singing in Christiania, making début there in 1913 at Nat. Th. in Tiefland. Sang wide range of roles in opera and operetta in Scandinavia up to 1932 but was virtually unknown elsewhere until glowing reports of her Isolde in Oslo led to her engagement in small roles at 1933 Bayreuth Fest. Sang Gutrun and Sieglinde at Bayreuth 1934. Début|NY Met. as Sieglinde 1935, later singing Brünnhilde and Kundry. CG début as Isolde 1936. Her int. standing as leading exponent of Wagner's great female roleswas thereafter unchallenged until her retirement from the stage in 1953.Gave f.p. of Strauss's Vier letzte Lieder, London 1950 (Furtwängler cond.). Sang Purcell's Dido at Mermaid Theatre, London, 1951. Dir., Norweg. State Opera 1958--60. Fine exponent of Grieg songs.

Flam. Rhythmic 2-note figure in side-drum playing, 'open' or 'closed' according to whether the 1st or 2nd note is on the accented beat.

Flamenco. Very rhythmical Sp. dance style, particularly Andalusian. See Cante flamenco. The 'flamenco' style of guitar-playing, rhythmical and improvisatory, is the opposite of the 'classical'.

Flanagan, William (b Detroit, 1923; d NY, 1969). Amer. composer and critic. Studied at Eastman Sch. of Mus., later with Copland and Diamond. Promoted recitals of Amer. song with Ned Rorem. Wrote incidental mus. for 4 plays by Albee. Wrote th. and mus. criticism for NY Herald Tribune, etc. Works incl. opera Bartleby (prod. NY 1961), Notations for orch., song-cycles incl. The Weeping Pleiades (Housman), and choral mus.

Flat (b). The sign which, placed before a note, lowers its pitch by a semitone. In Britain, the verb 'to flatten' (past participle 'flattened') is in use; in USA, 'to flat' ('flatted'). (2) 'Flat' singing or playing is that which departs from correct intonation on the downward side.

Flat Twenty-first. Rank in an organ Mixture stop, sounding 2 octaves and a minor 7th above normal (i.e. interval of minor 21st or compound minor 7th).

Flautando, flautato (It., 'fluting', 'fluted'). The prod. of fl.-like notes from the vn., etc., either by bowing near the finger-board with the point of the bow, or by the use of Harmonics.

Flautina. A Gemshorn org. stop of 2' length and pitch.

Flautist. A fl.-player. Flutist is an older term; 'flautist' is derived from the It. flauto and, in Britain, has been retained as a hangover from the 18th-cent. domination of It. mus. and musicians.

Flauto (It., 'flute', plural flauti). In printed scores since Haydn's time flauto implies the side-blown fl. (flauto traverso). The small version of this is the flauto piccolo, usually called piccolo. In earlier periods flauto sometimes meant the recorder. J.S. Bach wrote flauto piccolo to indicate a small recorder; if he wanted the side-blown flute he wrote flauto traverso. For history of fl., see under flute.

Flauto dolce. Org. stop; much the same as dolce but more fl.-like.

Flauto Traverso (It., 'transverse flute'). (1) The side-blown fl., as opposed to the end-blown variety. (2)^Org. stop of 4' length and pitch.

Flea, Song of the. See Song of the Flea.

Flebile; flebilmente (It.). Mournful; mournfully.

Flecha, Mateo (the younger) (b Prades, c.1530; d Lérida, 1604). Sp. composer of church and secular choral mus. Worked at imperial court in Prague and Vienna. His uncle, Mateo Flecha the elder (1481--1553), was also court musician to the imperial family.

Fledermaus, Die (The Bat). Operetta in 3 acts by J. Strauss II to lib. by Haffner and Genée after Le Réveillon (1872) by Meilhac and Halévy, this being based on Das Gefängnis (The Prison, 1851) by R. Benedix. Comp. 1874. Prod. Vienna and NY 1874, London 1876. Eng. versions under titles The Gay Rosalinda and The Merry Countess. Filmed (1955) as Oh, Rosalinda!

Fleisher, Leon (b San Francisco, 1928). Amer. pianist and cond. Début at age 7. Studied with Schnabel 1938–9. Appeared in San Francisco 1943, NY 1944, with Monteux conducting. 1st prize Brussels Queen Elisabeth competition 1952. Career as pianist halted by illness 1964 but resumed 1982, though in the meantime he had played works for left hand. Début as cond., NY 1970.

Flesch, Carl (b Moson, Hung., 1873; d Lucerne, 1944). Hung. violinist, pupil of Marsick. Prof. of vn., Bucharest Cons. 1897–1902, Amsterdam Cons. 1903–8. Taught in Berlin from 1908. Chief vn. prof. Curtis Institute, Philadelphia, 1924–8. Ed. of vn. mus. Author of famous method and of several books on vn.-playing. Prize awarded in his memory since 1945.

Flessibile, flessibilità (It.). Flexible, flexibility.

Fleury, André (b Neuilly-sur-Seine, 1903). Fr. org. and composer. Pupil of M. Dupré and Vierne. Organist, St Augustin, Paris, 1930–49. Prof. of org. École Normale de Musique, Paris, from 1943; prof. Dijon Cons. and org. Dijon Cath. 1949–71. Org. St. Eustache, Paris, from 1971. Wrote syms. for org. and other works.

Fleury, Louis Fran;Alcois (b Lyons, 1878; d Paris, 1926). Fr. flautist, for whom several composers wrote works, including Debussy (Syrinx). Frequent visitor to Eng.

Flexatone. Novelty instr., patented 1922, producing a weird tremolo. A flexible metal sheet is suspended in wire frame with handle. On each side of the metal sheet is a wooden knob on a spring of steel. Performer shakes the instr. so that knobs hit sides of metal. Pitch may be altered by varying pressure on metal sheet. Used by Schoenberg in his Variations, Op. 31, Von Heute auf Morgen, and Moses und Aron, by Khatchaturian (pf. conc.), and by Henze and Penderecki, among others.

Flicorno. It. variety of saxhorn and flügelhorn used in military bands. There are 3 sizes: flicornobasso (Bassflicorno), flicorno basso grave, and flicorno contrabasso.

Fliegende Holländer, Der (The Flying Dutchman). Opera in 3 acts by Wagner, comp. 1841, to his own lib. based on the legend. Prod. Dresden 1843, London 1870, Philadelphia 1876. Orig. intended to be in 1 act, it has in recent years been so perf. (e.g. by ENO and Opera North).

Fliessend (Ger.). Flowing. So fliessender, more flowing.

Flight of the Bumble Bee, The. Orch. interlude in opera The Legend of Tsar Saltan (1900) by Rimsky-Korsakov in which a prince becomes a bee and stings his villainous relatives. Many arrs. (some highly spurious) for variety of solo instr.

Flonzaley Quartet. Str. qt. founded by patron E.J. de Coppet of NY, in 1902, and named after his residence near Lausanne. Orig. membership A. Betti, A. Pochon, U. Ara and I. d'Archambeau. Toured Europe 1904. 1st NY concert 1905. L. Bailly replaced Ara, 1917, and was replaced by F. d'Archambeau, 1924. I. d'Archambeau replaced by N. Moldavan 1924. Disbanded 1928 (London) after giving 3,000 concerts, mostly in USA.

Flood, The. Mus. play for 3 speakers, ten., and 2 basses, ch., and orch. by Stravinsky to lib. chosen and arr. by Robert Craft from Genesis, and York and Chester cycles of mystery plays. Comp. 1961–2. F.p. on TV (CBS) 1962, f. stage p. Hamburg 1963. See also Britten's Noye's Fludde.

Flood, (William Henry) Grattan (b Lismore, Ireland, 1859; d Enniscorthy, 1928). Irish organist and writer. Noted collector of Irish folk-tunes; ed. Moore's Irish Melodies and wrote memoir of John Field(Dublin, 1920).

Florid. Descriptive term for melody embellished by ornaments and trills, either improvised or comp.

Florid Counterpoint. The 5th species of strict counterpoint in which the added v. employs mixture of the processes of the other 4 species and also introduces shorter notes (eighth-notes).

Flos Campi (Flower of the Field). Suite by Vaughan Williams for solo va., mixed ch. (wordless), and small orch. F.p. London 1925 (soloist Lionel Tertis). Each of the 6 movements is prefaced by a Latin quotation from The Song of Solomon.

Floss der Medusa, Das (The Raft of the Medusa). 'Popular and military oratorio' (or cantata) by Henze, to lib. by Ernst Schnabel, for narrator, sop., bar., ch., boys' ch., and orch. Based on historical (1816) event, the subject of Géricault's painting, when the Fr. frigate Medusa ran aground, its officers escaping in the boats and leaving the crew to their fate on an improvised raft. Henze's avowedly political and class-conscious work was cause of a famous fracas involving students and police in Hamburg, 1968, which caused cancellation of première. F.p. Vienna 1971, London 1977.

Fluthuis, Marius (Hendrikus) (b Amsterdam, 1914). Dutch composer, musicologist, and critic. Studied pf. with A. Koole, pf. and theory with Hans Brandts Buys (1928--37). Ass. man., Concertgebouw Orch., 1937--42 and 1953--5, art. dir. 1955--74. Mus. critic Amsterdam Het Vrije Volk 1945--53. Prof. of musicology, Utrecht Univ. from 1974. Author of books on Monteverdi, Mozart, Eng. composers, etc. Composer of concs. for fl., vn., hn., pf., and cl., vn. sonata, Hymnus for sop. and orch., cantatas, song cycles, str. qt., etc.

Flotow, Friedrich von (b Teutendorf, 1812; d Darmstadt, 1883). Ger. composer. Studied mus. under Reicha in Paris 1828--30. Lived mostly in Paris and Vienna. Wrote ballets, chamber mus., and 30 operas of which only Martha (1847) and Alessandro Stradella (1844) seem to have outlived him.

Flotter (Fr., 'to float', present participle flottant, 'floating'). An undulating movement of the bow in str. playing.

Flourish. (1) A tpt. call of the fanfare type. (2) In a more general sense any florid instr. passage.

Flower, (Sir) (Walter) Newman (b Fontmell Magna, Dorset, 1879; d Blandford, 1964). Eng. writer and publisher. Author of books on Handel, Sullivan, and Schubert. Collected mus. autographs and portraits. Chairman, Cassell & Co. (publishers). Knighted 1938.

Flowers o' the Forest. Scottish lament, orig. words of which are lost, but many lines were incorporated into an 18th-cent. version by Jane Elliott. A new set of words was written c.1765 by Mrs Cockburn to a different tune but is now generally sung to old tune. The flowers are young men, the Forest a district of Selkirk and Peebles: the poem commemorates their death in battle. The tune, played by pipers, is a regular and moving feature of the Remembrance Day ceremony at the Cenotaph in Whitehall, London.

Floyd, Carlisle (b Latta, S. Carolina, 1926). Amer. composer. Studied at Spartanburg and Syracuse Univ. Private pf. tuition from Firkus^;ny. Works incl. several operas, notably Susannah (1955), Wuthering Heights (1958), The Passion of Jonathan Wade (1962), Of Mice and Men (1970), and Bilby's Doll (1976).

Flue-Pipe. Org. pipe into which the air enters directly, i.e. not striking a reed. See Organ.

Flügel (Ger., 'wing'). The grand pf., formerly the hpd.

Flügelhorn (Ger.). Brass wind instr. with cupshaped mouthpiece and wide conical bore. Bell held forward. Types are (1) Sop. in E♭ (rare). (2) Alto in B♭, same compass as cornet in B♭ but mellower in tone. (3) Ten. in E♭ (sometimes called Altfügelhorn or Althorn) or sometimes in F. (2) is the type used in Brit. brass bands and sometimes in orch. comp., e.g. by Vaughan Williams in his 9th Sym. (1956--8).

Flute (It. Flauto, Fr. Flûte, Ger. Flöte). Wind instr. of ancient origin formerly made of wood but now of silver and other metals. From medieval times 2 methods of producing sound were used: (a) blowing across a round mouth-hole as on the panpipes or transverse (side-blown) fl.; (b) blowing into a whistle mouthpiece (end-blown) as on the recorder or flageolet. The word fl. was used indiscriminately to denote both types during medieval times, but in the baroque period fl. or flauto specifically meant the end-blown recorder. The modern fl. is descended from the Ger. (transverse) fl. Whereas today it is cylindrical in bore, stopped at one end, until the early 19th cent. it was conical. The player's breath sets in vibration the column of air inside the tube. Acoustically the tube acts as an open one; the mouth-hole serves to prevent its acting as stopped and thus sounding an octave lower. The body orig. had one thumb-hole and from 4 to 8 finger-holes. The 1st key was added in 1677, the 2nd in 1726 by Quantz, fl. teacher of Frederick the Great. The great fl. virtuoso of the Bavarian Court Orch., Theobald Boehm, used an 8-key fl., but revolutionized the instr. in 1832 with his 'ring key' system. In 1847 he produced a 15-hole metal instr. with 23 keys and levers. See Alto flute, Bass flute.

Flûte-à-bec (Fr., 'beaked flute'). Recorder or flageolet.

Flûte à cheminée (Fr., 'Chimney flute'). Same as Rohrflöte.

Flute amabile. Org. stop, same as Flûte d'amour.

Flûte à pavillon (Fr., 'tent flute'). Org. stop of 8' or 4' length and pitch; each pipe ends in a sort of bell-tent structure.

Flûte d'amour (Fr., 'love flute'). (1) Flute pitched a third lower than regular fl. (2) Soft org. stop, in Britain, of 8' or 4' length and pitch, and in USA of 2' length and 4' pitch (being end-plugged).

Flûte harmonique (Fr.). (1) Mouth org. (2) An org. stop.

Flute stop (on org.). See Doppelflöte, Fernflöte, Flauto traverso, Flûte d'amour, Grosseflöte, Harmonic Flute, Hohlflöte, Rohrflöte, Spitzflöte, Waldflöte, Zauberflöte.

Flutist. Player of the flute (Amer. usage). See Flautist.

Flutter-Tonguing (Ger. Flatterzunge). Tonguing in the playing of wind instr. is the interruption of the flow of air by a motion of the tongue to produce certain effects. Flutter-tonguing---chiefly on the fl. but possible on the cl. and some brass---consists of a trilling of the letter R while playing a chromatic scale. It was introduced by R. Strauss and Mahler (e.g. in the latter's Das Lied von der Erde).

Flying Dutchman, The (Wagner). See Fliegende Holländer, Der.

Foggin, Myers (b Newcastle upon Tyne, 1908). Eng. pianist, cond., and teacher. Studied RAM. Prof. of pf. RAM 1936--49, cond. People's Palace Ch. and Orch. Soc. 1936--49, dir.

of opera RAM 1948--65, Warden 1949--65; Prin. TCL 1965--79. Chairman, Royal Phil. Soc. from 1968.

Fogliano, Lodovico (b Modena, ? ; d Modena, c. 1539). It. composer and theorist. Wrote Musica theorica (1529) defining rules on uses of 3rds and 5ths.

Fokine, Mikhail (Mikhaylovich) (Michel) (b St Petersburg, 1880; d NY, 1942). Russ. dancer and choreog. Member of Maryinsky Th. Started to teach 1902. Choreog. The Dying Swan for Pavlova 1907. Engaged as chief choreog. 1909 by Diag- hilev who recognized his genius as a reformer of ballet methods. Among his greatest ballets were Les Sylphides, Sheherazade, Firebird, Petrushka, Daphnis et Chloé, and Josephslegende. After break with Diaghilev, worked as freelance, settling in NY 1923.

Foldes, Andor (b Budapest, 1913). Hung.-born pianist and composer. Studied Budapest Acad. with Dohnányi. Won Int. Liszt Prize, Budapest, 1933. Authoritative exponent of mus. of Bartók with whom he worked. Toured Europe until 1939 when he settled in USA, becoming Amer. citizen 1948. Author of books on pf. technique. Some pf. comps.

Foli, Signor (Allan James Foley) (b Cahir, Tipperary, 1835; dSouthport, 1899). Irish-Amer. bass singer. Studied Naples. Début Catania 1862 in Rossini's Otello, London 1865. Sang in over 60 operas in London. Appeared in USA, Russia, and Austria. Sang Daland in f. London p. of Wagner's Der fliegende Holländer (Drury Lane, 1870).

Folía, La (Sp., 'The Folly'; It. La Follia). A type of wild Portuguese dance. One particular melody used for the dance attained wide popular currency in the 16th, 17th, and 18th cents., being first mentioned by Salinas in 1577, and subsequently used by numerous composers as an ostinato basis for variations. The best-known set is by Corelli in his 12th sonatafor vn. and hpd., 1700. Other composers to use the melody incl. Vivaldi, Frescobaldi, Lully, Pergolesi, Geminiani, Bach, Grétry, Cherubini, Liszt, Nielsen, and Rakhmaninov.

Folk Music. Term covering folk-songs and folk dances. Folk-songs are songs of unknown authorship passed orally from generation to generation, sung without acc., and often found in variants (of words and tune) in different parts of a country (or in different countries). Folk-songs were generally found among the country-dwellers, but with the increase of urbanization and industrialization they spread to the towns and factories. In the 19th and early 20th cents. the fear that withthe advance of modern life the old customs were dying out led to a major campaign of song coll., in Eng. by Cecil Sharp, Vaughan Williams, Maud Karpeles, Mrs Leather, Anne Gilchrist, Frank Kidson, and many others; in Hungary by Kodály and Bartók, and similarly in other countries. Many composers have made use of folk-songs in their comps., from Renaissance times to Haydn, Grieg, Dvořák, Tchaikovsky, Bartók, Vaughan Williams, and others. Although folk-songs enshrine the nat. characteristics of their country of origin, they have int. similarities. Most of them are modal. Like every generic term, folk-song is susceptible to many conflicting interpretations, and readers are referred to several important books on the subject. It isalso impossible to predict how folk-song may develop in future centuries. It may well be that the popular songs of the 20th cent. by named composers may become (indeed already have become) the folk-songs of a new age. Folk danceis a type of dance which has developed by itself without aid from choreogs., is connected with traditional life, and is passed from one generation to the next.

Fomin, Evstigney (Ipatovich) (b St Petersburg, 1761; d St Petersburg, 1800). Russ. composer. Studied with Padre Martini in Bologna 1782. Coach at Imperial Th., St Petersburg, 1786. Composed several operas in 'national' style, and also Orpheus and Eurydice (1792) and The Americans (1800).

Fonds d'orgue. `Foundation Tone' and also `Foundation Stops' of an org. Jeux de Fonds means the Foundation Stops (i.e. all the stops except the Mutation and Mixture stops).

Fontaine, Pierre (b ?1390; d c.1450). Fr. composer of chansons. Singer in Papal chapel.

Fontana, Giovanni Battista (b Brescia, ? ; d Padua, c.1630). It. violinist and composer of vn. sonatas. Regarded as a leading figure in the development of the solo sonata.

Fontane di Roma (It., `Fountains of Rome'). Symphonic poem for orch. by Respighi, comp. 1914--16, in 4 sections, each depicting the sensations of the composer in contemplating 4 of the city's most famous fountains, Vale Giulia at dawn, Tritone in mid-morning, Trevi at noon, and Villa Medici at sunset. F.p. Rome 1917, NY 1919, London 1921.

Foot. Unit of length for measuring vibrating air-column, and therefore a measure of pitch. An air-column of 8' vibrates at twice the speed of a 16' column, and thus emits a note an octave higher. Organ stops are classified by the sound which will be emitted if the note representing 8' C is struck. An 8' stop sounds the note itself, 16' the note an octave below, 32' the note 2 octaves below. A 4' stop sounds the note an octave above, 2' 2 octaves above, 1' 3 octaves above.

Foote, Arthur William (b Salem, Mass., 1853; d Boston, 1937). Amer. composer and organist. Recipient of 1st M.A. conferred at Harvard Univ. for work in mus. Organist, First Unitarian Church, Boston, 1878-1910. A founder of Amer. Guild of Organists, president 1909--12. Comps. incl. orch. suites, vc. conc., cantata The Farewell of Hiawatha, chamber mus., vocal works, songs, pf. pieces, and org. mus. Author of books on harmony and fugue.

Forbes, Robert (Jaffrey) (b Stalybridge, 1878; d Manchester, 1958). Eng. pianist, cond., and teacher. Trained at RMCM 1897--1900, joining staff as accompanist 1903. Frequent pf. partner of Brodsky in sonatas. Prin., RMCM 1929--53. Guest cond. Hallé Orch. with which he also appeared as solo pianist. Opera cond. C.B.E. 1948.

Forbes, Sebastian (b Amersham, 1941). Eng. composer and organist. Studied RAM and King's Coll., Cambridge. Producer for BBC 1964--7. Organist, Trinity Coll., Cambridge, 1968. Works incl. sym., str. qts., trio, pf. quintet, opera, songs, choral mus., org. sonata, sonata for 8 instr. (pf., fl., ob., cl., hn., vn., va., vc., 1978). Son of W. Forbes.

Forbes, Watson (b St Andrews, 1909). Scottish va. player. Studied at RAM and in Cz. with Sevc^ik. Prof. of chamber mus. RAM from 1956, of va. from 1958. Member Aeolian Qt. from 1932, Head of BBCMus., Scotland, 1964. Has made many arrs. and transcrs. for va.

Ford, Thomas (b c.1580; d Westminster, 1648). Eng. composer and lutenist. Musician to Prince Henry, 1611; later one of lutes and voices in service of Prince Charles (later King Charles I), with whom he remained until 1642. His 19 anthems were pubd. 1614 and his Musick of Sundrie Kindes (for voices and bassviols) in 1607.

Forelle, Die (Schubert). See Trout, The.

Forgotten Rite, The. Orch. `prelude' by John Ireland, 1913. The unspecified rite is assoc. with the Channel Islands.

Forkel, Johann Nicolaus (b Meeder, 1749; d Göttingen, 1818). Ger. organist and writer. Dir. of mus., Göttingen Univ. from 1778, cond. Akademie concerts 1779--1815. Wrote several theoretical books, but his chef d'oeuvre was 1st biography of J. S. Bach (Leipzig 1802). Composer of cantatas, oratorios, and instr. works.

Form. The structure and design of a composition. Whereas in the 16th and 17th cents. instr. comps. were usually very brief (e.g. a movement in a kbd. suite of Byrd or Purcell), by the 19th cent. they were frequently long (e.g. a sonata or sym. movement of the later Beethoven, Bruckner, and Mahler). This implies an enormous growth in the understanding of the principles of form and in mastery of the application of those principles. In general, however, despite continuous experimentation the mus. forms so far devised can be classified into no more than 6 categories, all of them exploiting the idea of contrast plus variety both in the domain of content (Thematic Material) and in that of Key (combinations of these are, of course, possible, e.g. in Simple Ternary Form each section can be Binary Form, and so on). (1)

simple binary form (e.g. in the movements of Bach's kbd. suites) has no strong contrast of material. The 1st section opens in the Tonic key and then modulates, as it ends, into the key of the Dominant (or in the case of a minor key, sometimes the relative major). The 2nd section then opens in that 2nd key and, before it ends, modulates back to the 1st. There are, then, 2 distinct main cadences, or points of rest, the 1st in the Dominant (or relative major), and the 2nd in the Tonic. This form, although it sometimes attained fairly considerable dimensions in the 18th cent., is unsuitable for very long pieces, since the variety offered to the listener is almost entirely confined to details of treatment and the element of key, the thematic material employed throughout being the same. This form has been little used since c.1750. (2)

ternary form. This is one of the most commonly used forms for short comps. It consists of a first section (more or less complete and self-contained), a 2nd section, contrasting as to mus. material and key (normally in the Dominant or the Tonic Minor or Relative Major), and then the first section repeated. See ABA. (3)

compound binary form[nm (also known as [smsonata form, because often employed in the first or some other movement or movements of a Sonata; and as firstmovement form for the same reason). This derives historically from Simple Binary Form but has developed into something more resembling Ternary Form. Like Simple Binary it falls into 2 sections, of which the 1st modulates to the Dominant and the 2nd takes us back to the Tonic. But the sections have become elaborated as follows: 1st Section. Strain I (First Subject) in Tonic key; followed by Strain II (2nd Subject) in Dominant key. Those 2 strains (or Subjects) are generally contrasted in character. This section is called the Exposition. 2nd Section. Some Development (also called 'Working-out' or 'Free Fantasia') of the material in the previous section, followed by a repetition (Recapitulation) of that section, but this time with both subjects in the Tonic key so that the piece may end in the key with which it opened. Further details may incl. (a) a Bridge Passage, leading (in both sections) from the First Subject to the Second; (b) a closing passage (Coda), at the end of each section. A tendency towards the evolution of Simple Binary Form into Compound Binary Form may be observed in some of Bach's movements, but its first real exploitation is connected with the name and fame of his son, C. P. E. Bach, and its further exploitation and elaboration with the names of Haydn, Mozart, Beethoven, and their contemporaries. This form is still in frequent use, but 20th-cent. composers have modified it in detail. (4)

rondo form. This may be considered an extension of Ternary Form. If the 3 sections of that form are indicated by the formula A, B, A, then the Rondo Form must be indicated by A, B, A, C, A, D, A, or some variant of this. (The sections B, C, D, etc. are often spoken of as Episodes.)

sonata-rondo form, as its name implies, offers a combination of Compound Binary and Rondo Forms. The general plan is as follows: 1st Section. Subject I, Subject II in another key, Subject I repeated. 2nd Section. Development of the previous Subject-material. 3rd Section. Subject I and Subject II again, but the latter this time in the same key as Subject I. Sometimes the Development above mentioned is replaced by new material. And there are other variants. (5)

air with variations. This form, which from the 16th cent. to the present day has been popular with composers of every class from the most trivial to the most serious, consists, as the name implies, of one theme (or 'Subject'), first played in its simplicity and then many times repeated with elaborations, each variation thus taking on its own individuality. There are very many types of comp. to which distinctive names are given, each representing not a 'Form' but rather a style in which one of the above forms is presented; such as the Nocturne, the Gavotte, the Barcarolle, the Konzertstück, and others. With the development of elec. mus. and the use of aleatory techniques in 20th-cent. comps., the use of form is stretched to meet whatever the composer may wish to do. Infiniteflexibility would seem to be the guiding principle in works of this kind. (6) See Fugue.

Formalism. Alleged fault in comp. by Soviet Union composers for which Prokofiev, Shostakovich, andothers were officially criticized, esp. in 1948. The criticism is of toomuch intellectual emphasis on form as opposed to content, with the suggestionalso that the mus. is too 'modern' and discordant.

Forqueray, Antoine (b Paris, c.1672; d Mantes, 1745). Fr. player of viola da gamba, and composer. At age 5, played to Louis XIV, and entered king's service as chamber musician 1689. Retired to Mantes 1728. One of greatest viol virtuosi of his day, rival to Marais. Comp. c.30 viol pieces, pubd. in 5 suites. Hisson, Jean-Baptiste Antoine (b Paris, 1699; d Paris, 1782) was also a viol player of some renown, in service of king and Prince de Conti.

Forrester, Maureen (Katherine Stewart) (b Montreal, 1930). Canadian cont. Studied in Berlin. Début Montreal 1953. Recital tour of Europe 1955. Sang in Mahler's 2nd Sym. at Bruno Walter's invitation, NY 1957, later recording this with him. Noted as Mahler interpreter, also as Angel in Elgar's Dream of Gerontius.

Förster, Josef (Bohuslav) (b De^;tenice, 1859; d Novy Vestec^;, 1951). Cz. composer, organist, and critic. Prof. of piano at Hamburg Cons. from 1901 and critic for several Hamburg papers 1893--1903, during which period he was perceptive champion and friend of Mahler. Prof. of comp. at New Vienna Cons. and critic of Die Zeit 1910--18. Prof. of comp., Prague Cons. 1918--22, dir. 1922--31. Works incl. 5 syms., 6 suites, 2 vn. concs., vc. conc., 4 symphonic poems, 6 operas, chamber mus., and songs.

Forsyth, Cecil (b Greenwich, 1870; d NY, 1941). Eng. violist, cond., composer, and musicologist. Studied RCM under Parry and Stanford. Violist in London orchs. Settled in NY 1914. Comps. incl. operas, va.conc., setting of Keats's Ode to a Nightingale for bar. and orch., masses, part-songs, chamber mus., and songs. Author of several books incl. History of Music (1916, with Stanford) and valuable treatise on orchestration (1914).

Forte (It.). 'Strong', i.e. loud (abbreviation f). So fortissimo, 'very strong' (abbreviation ff, or fff); fortemente, 'strongly'.

Fortepiano (It.). Same as pianoforte, but the term has come to be used to denote the late 18th-cent./early 19th-cent. instr. known to Haydn, Hummel, Beethoven, and Schubert.

For the Fallen. 3rd movement of Elgar's choral work Spirit of England, but perf. 1916 before work as a whole was completed and still often perf. separately. Words by Laurence Binyon.

Fortissimo (It.). Very loud. See Forte.

Fortner, Wolfgang (b Leipzig, 1907). Ger. composer, cond., and teacher. Studied Leipzig Cons. (comp. with H. Grabner). Taught theory and comp. at Church Music Institute, Heidelberg, 1931--54; prof. of comp. N. W. Ger. Mus. Acad., Detmold, 1954--7, and at State Mus. Sch., Freiburg im Breisgau from 1957. Founded Heidelberg Chamber Orch. 1935. Dir. of Musica Viva series in Heidelberg, Freiburg, and Munich. Early music influenced by Hindemith and Stravinsky; he adopted 12-note method in mid-1940s. Comps. incl. operas (among them Bluthochzeit (Blood Wedding), after Lorca) (1957), In Seinem

Garten liebt Don Perlimplin Belisa, chamber opera after Lorca (1962), and Elisabeth Tudor (1972)), sym., 4 str. qts., organ conc., concs. for pf. (1943), vn. (1947), vc. (1951), Fantasy on the Name BACH for 2 pf. and orch. (1950), Movements for pf. and orch. (1953), oratorio Isaaks Opferung (1952), ballet Die Weisse Rose (1950; after Wilde's Birthday of the Infanta), Variations for solo vc. (1975), pf. trio (1978), 4th str. qt. (1979), Immagini, sop. and str. (1979); Variations for chamber orch. (1980); Petrarca-Sonette, for unacc. ch. (1980); Madrigal for 12 vcs. (1980).

'Forty-eight, The' (Bach). See Wohltemperierte Klavier, Das.

Forza del Destino, La (The Force of Destiny). 4-act operaby Verdi to lib. by Piave based on Spanish drama Don Alvaro (1835) by the Duke of Rivas. Comp. 1861--2 for Imperial Th., St Petersburg, where f.p. was given in 1862. Prod. Rome (as Don Alvaro) 1863, NY 1865, London 1867. For 1869 Milan prod. Verdi made extensive revs. and added ov. Lib. rev. by Ghislanzoni.

Foss, Hubert (James) (b Croydon, 1899; d London, 1953). Eng. pianist and ed. Joined staff of OUP 1921 becoming head of mus. dept. on its foundation in 1924. Pubd. mus. of several Eng. composers, notably Walton and Vaughan Williams. Wrote book about Vaughan Williams (1950).

Foss (orig. Fuchs), Lukas (b Berlin, 1922). Ger.-born Amer. composer and cond. Studied in Berlin and Paris before settling in USA, 1937, where he studied at Curtis Institute (comp. with Scalero, cond. with Reiner). Became student of Koussevitzky and Hindemith. Pianist, Boston S. O. 1944--50. Worked in Rome 1950--2. Prof. of comp., Univ. of California, from 1953. Cond. Buffalo P.O. 1963--70. Mus. dir. MilwaukeeS.O. from 1981. Foss's mus. is both traditional and experimental, the latter employing indeterminacy though scores are wholly notated. In his Baroque Variations, on themes by Bach, Handel, and Scarlatti, the method of 'composition by deletion' is used in an effective and sophisticated manner. Works incl.:

operas: The Jumping Frog of Calaveras County (after Mark Twain) (1950); Griffelkin (TV, 1955); Introductions and Goodbyes (1959).

ballet: Gift of the Magi (1945).

orch: Sym. (1945), Pf. Conc. No. 1 (1944), No. 2 (1951), Ob. conc. (1950), Vc. Concert (vc., orch., and tape) (1967), Baroque Variations (1967), Paradigm for perc., guitar and 3 other optional instr. (1968), Time Cycle for sop. and orch. (1960).

choral: The Prairie (1944), Parable of Death (1953), Psalms (1957), Round a Common Centre, v. and ens. (1979).

chamber music: Echoi, for cl., vc., perc., pf. (1961--3), Elytres, for fl., vns., pf., harp, perc. (1964), Cave of the Winds, woodwind quintet with multiphones (1972).

Foster, Lawrence (b Los Angeles, 1941). Amer. cond. of Romanian origin. Studied cond. in Los Angeles, at Bayreuth master classes, and with Walter and Böhm. Début 1960 with Young Musicians' Foundation Début Orch., which he cond. for 4 years. Assoc. cond. Los Angeles P. O. 1966. Eng. début 1967 with ECO, since then being frequent visitor. CG début 1976, revival of Walton's Troilus and Cressida. Cond. Houston S.O. 1971--8. Chief cond. Monte Carlo Opera 1978--81, gen.mus. dir. Duisburg from 1981. Cond. f.p. of Birtwistle's The Triumph of Time (1972).

Foster, Muriel (b Sunderland, 1877; d London, 1937). Eng. mez. Studied RCM. Became closely assoc. with mus. of Elgar, singing Angel in Dream of Gerontius in Düsseldorf and Worcester 1902, at f. London p. 1903, and many other times. Sang in f.ps. of The Apostles (1903) and The Kingdom (1906), gave f.p. of song-cycle Op. 59 (1910), and of The Music Makers (1912). Also notable Bach singer. Illness compelled premature retirement.

Foster, Stephen (Collins) (b Pittsburgh (Lawrenceville), 1826; d NY, 1864). Amer. composer. Mainly self-taught in mus. Wrote over 200 songs, several of which have come to be regarded almost as Amer. folk-songs. Though a Northerner, several of his songs capture the Southern plantation spirit in an authentic and eloquent manner. Among the best-known are: Oh! Susanna (c.1845), Camptown Races (1850), Old Folks at Home (1851), Massa's in de Cold, Cold Ground (1852), My Old Kentucky Home (1853), Jeanie with the light brown hair (1854), Come where my love lies dreaming (1855), Old Black Joe (1860), and Beautiful Dreamer (1864, posth.).

Foulds, John (Herbert) (b Manchester, 1880; d Calcutta, 1939). Eng. composer and cellist. Son of a professional bassoonist. Studied pf. at 4 and started to compose at 7. Became orch. cellist at 14 and until 20 played in theatre bands in Manchester region. Joined Hallé Orch. under Richter in 1900. In 1906 was Eng. composer-delegate to Essen Mus. Fest., where he met Mahler and Strauss, and in 1910 went to Munich for f.p. of Mahler's 8th Sym. Comp. incid. mus. for plays produced by Lewis Casson. Moved in 1912 to London, where he met and eventually married the actress, musician, and writer Maud MacCarthy (1882--1967). Mus. dir., YMCA National Council 1918--23. From 1919 to 1921 he worked on his World Requiem, for soloists, ch., and orch. This ambitious work was perf. in Royal Albert Hall at Armistice Night commemoration ('Festival of Remembrance') in 1923 and for 3 subsequent years. In 1924 wrote incid. mus. for Shaw's Saint Joan. In 1927 Foulds went abroad, returning in 1930. Unable to obtain more than a few perfs., he went to India in 1935 to study folk music. In 1937 he was appointed dir. of mus. for All-India radio in Delhi. Formed radio orch. and Indo-European orch. of traditional Ind. instr. In 1939 was transferred to Calcutta to organize mus. at newly established radio station, but died from cholera after only a few days in new post. Foulds's mus. was perhaps too eclectic to survive but a body of opinion exists which makes high claims for it. Like Ives he was a tireless experimenter and was ahead of his time in Eng. mus. in working in microtonalities. The modal pf. mus., the str. qt. Quartetto Intimo, the Vc. Sonata, and several songs are splendid mus. and deserve to emerge from oblivion. Prin. works:

orch: Epithalamium, Op. 10 (1905); Apotheosis, Op. 18 (1908); Holiday Sketches, Op. 16 (1909); Mirage, Op. 20 (1910); Keltic Suite, Op. 29 (1911); Music-Pictures No. 3, Op. 33 (1912); 3 Mantras, Op. 61b (c.1923); Dynamic Triptych, pf. and orch. (1927--30); April-England (orch. of pf. piece) (1932); Hellas, double str. orch., hp., perc., Op. 45 (1915--32); Chinese Suite, Op. 95 (c.1938).

chorus and orch: The Vision of Dante, Op. 7 (1904--08); World Requiem, Op. 60 (1919--21).

chamber music: Music-Pictures, Op. 30, pf. trio (1912); Aquarelles, Op. 32, str. qt. (1912); Vc. sonata, Op. 6 (1905, rev. 1927); Str. Qts. (at least 9) (1896--1933), Quartetto Intimo, Op. 89 (1933).

piano: Lyrics, Op. 1 (1900); Variazioni ed Improvvisati, Op. 4 (1905); Gandharva-Music, Op. 49 (1915); Essays in the Modes, Op. 78 (1928).

misc: The Tell-Tale Heart, Op. 36, dramatic monologue for reciter and orch. (or pf.) (1912).

songs: Mood Pictures, Op. 51 (1917); Lyra Celtica, cont. and orch. (unfinished).

Foundation. In organ parlance this word is used in 2 different senses. (1) Foundation Tone is that of all the more dignified stops (Diapason, the more solid of the Fl. stops etc.). (2) Foundation Stops are all the stops except the Mutation and Mixture stops.

Fountain of Arethusa, The. No. 1 of Myths (Mity), 3 Poems for vn. and pf. by Szymanowski, Op. 30 (1915).

Fourestier, Louis (b Montpellier, 1892; d Boulogne-Billancourt, 1976). Fr. cond. and composer. Studied Paris Cons. with Leroux and Gédalge. Cond. in Marseilles and Bordeaux, then Opéra-Comique, Paris, 1927--32 and Paris Opéra 1938--45. NY Met. 1946--8. Prof. of cond., Paris Cons. 1945--63. Comp. cantatas, symphonic poem, str. qt., etc.

Four Last Songs. (1) See Vier letzte Lieder (Strauss). (2) For v. and pf. by Vaughan Williams, comp. between 1954 and 1958 to words by Ursula Vaughan Williams. Title given by publisher, songs being intended by composer as part of 2 cycles. Individual titles: Procris, Tired Hands, Eyes, and Heart, and Menelaus. F.p. as cycle 1960.

Fournet, Jean (b Rouen, 1913). Fr. cond. and flautist. Worked for Fr. Radio and was mus. dir., Opéra-Comique, Paris, 1944--57. Cond. Rotterdam P.O. 1968. Prof. of cond., École Normale de Paris, 1944--62.

Fournier, Pierre (b Paris, 1906). Fr. cellist. Studied Paris Cons. Début 1925. Worldwide tours as recitalist and conc. soloist. Chamber mus. partner of Szigeti, Primrose, and Schnabel. Master-class teacher, Paris Cons. 1941--9.

Four Rustics, The (Wolf-Ferrari). See Quattro rusteghi, I.

Four Saints in Three Acts. Opera in 4 acts by Virgil Thomson lib. by Gertrude Stein. Comp. 1928. Prod. Hartford, Conn., and NY 1934.

Four Seasons, The (Le quattro Stagioni). 4 vn. concs. by Vivaldi, No. 1 in E (Spring), RV269, No. 2 in G minor (Summer), RV315, No. 3 in F (Autumn), RV293, No. 4 in F minor (Winter), RV297. They are first 4 of 12 vn. concs. of Op. 8, Il cimento dell' armonia e dell' inventione (The contest between harmony and invention), pubd. Amsterdam 1725. Nos. 9 and 12 also exist as ob. concs. Fl. transcr. of whole work by James Galway.

Four Serious Songs (Brahms). See Vier ernste Gesänge.

Four Temperaments, The (1) Sub-title of Nielsen's Sym. No. 2 in C minor, Op. 16 (De Fire Temperamenter), 1901--2, inspired by a painting of that name, each movement being descriptive of one of the medieval 'temperaments' of human character: choleric, phlegmatic, melancholic, sanguine. (2) Sub-title of Hindemith's Theme and Variations for str. and pf., 1940, each of the 4 variations denoting a temperament, in the order melancholic, sanguine, phlegmatic, choleric. Also ballet (f.p. NY, 1944).

Fourth. Interval in melody or harmony in which there are 4 steps in the major or minor scale from one extreme to the other (incl. the bottom and top notes). Perfect 4th is the distance from C up to F from G to C; a semitone more gives the augmented 4th (e.g. C up to F#).

Fou Ts'ong (b Shanghai, 1934). Chinese pianist. Studied at Warsaw Cons. Début Shanghai 1953. Brit. début 1959. Settled in Eng., but int. tours.

Fox Strangways, Arthur Henry (b Norwich, 1859; d Dinton, Salisbury, 1948). Eng. critic and author. Mus. master Wellington Coll., 1893--1901. Mus. critic, Times 1911--25, Observer 1925--39. Founder and 1st ed. Music and Letters 1920--37. Authority on Indian mus. Joint biographer. (with M. Karpeles) of Cecil Sharp. Trans. (with S. Wilson) of Lieder of Schubert, Brahms, and Wolf.

Fox-trot. Amer. ballroom dance (and the mus. for it) of a kind of march-like ragtime, slow or quick. From c. 1913 it spread to ballrooms all over the world. The Charleston and Black Bottom are varieties of it. In several of his works, Peter Maxwell Davies has made use of the fox-trot for nostalgic and ironic effect.

F.R.A.D. Fellow of the Royal Academy of Dancing (founded 1927; chartered 1936).

Fra Diavolo (Brother Devil). Opéra-comique in 3 acts by Auber to lib. by Scribe. Prod. Paris 1830, London and NY 1831.

Frager, Malcolm (b St Louis, 1935). Amer. pianist. Trained in St Louis, NY, and at Amer. Cons., Fontainebleau (1952). Recital début 1941, conc. début St Louis 1945. NY début 1952. Winner of several int. competitions incl. Queen Elisabeth, Brussels, 1960. Tours of Europe and Russia.

F.R.A.M. Fellow of the Royal Academy of Music.

Franc (Le Franc), Guillaume (b Rouen, c.1505; d Lausanne, 1570). Huguenot composer, precentor successively at the Calvinist caths. of Geneva and Lausanne, and ed. of a book of metrical psalms (1565).

Fran;Alcaise. Old round dance in triple or compound duple time. Very popular in the 1830s.

Fran;Alcaix, Jean (b Le Mans, 1912). Fr. composer and pianist. Studied comp. with Boulanger and pf. with Isidor Philipp. Frequent soloist in his own works, which are marked by wit and elegance. Wrote mus. for Sacha Guitry films. Comps. incl. operas (notably La Main de Gloire, 4 acts, prod. 1950), ballets, sym., sym. for str., pf. concertino, pf. conc., chamber mus. (incl. sax. qt.), pf. pieces, songs, oratorio L'Apocalypse de Saint Jean (1939), conc. for 2 harps and str. (1979), vn. conc. (1970), cl. quintet (1978), Theme and Variations, cl. and str. (1978), 6 Impromptus, fl. and bn. (1978), Ballet, Les Demoiselles de la nuit (1948), Vn. conc. No. 2 (1979), bn. conc. (1980), and L'Horloge de Flore, ob. and orch. (1959).

Francesca da Rimini. The story of the adulterous lovers Paolo and Francesca in Canto V of Dante's Inferno has been the basis of several comps.: (1) Symphonic fantasy by Tchaikovsky, Op. 32, 1876, based on picture by Doré. (2) Opera in 4 acts by Zandonai to lib. by T. Ricordi after play by d'Annunzio (1902), prod. Turin and London 1914, NY Met. 1916. (3) Opera in prol., 2 scenes, and epilogue by Rakhmaninov to lib. by M. Tchaikovsky, prod. Moscow 1906. (4) Symphonic poem by H. Hadley f.p. Boston 1905. Also operas on the subject by Goetz, Pierné, Thomas, Nápravník, and several other composers.

Francescatti, (René)Zino (b Marseilles, 1902). Fr. violinist (It.-born father). Début at 5, played Beethoven conc. at 10. Toured Brit. 1926 with Ravel. Settled in USA. Soloist with world's leading orchs.

Francesch, Homero (b Montevideo, 1947). Uruguayan pianist. Début 1963. Studied Munich, 1967, with Maria Hindemith-Landes, and Munich Cons. with Steurer. Henze wrote his Tristan for him. London début 1974.

Francesina. See Duparc, Elisabeth.

Franchetti, Alberto (b Turin, 1860; d Viareggio, 1942). It. composer, pupil of Rheinberger at Munich Cons. His considerable wealth enabled him to stage his 9 operas which incl. Germania (1902, CG 1907), Cristoforo Colombo (1892), La figlia di Jorio (1906), and Notte de Legenda (1915). Wrote sym. and chamber mus.

Franchomme, Auguste (Joseph) (b Lille, 1808; d Paris, 1884). Fr. cellist. Played in Fr. th. orchs. in youth. With Alard and Hallé founded series of Paris chamber concerts. Prof. of vc., Paris Cons. from 1846. Played in duos with Mendelssohn and Chopin. Wrote vc. conc. and other vc. pieces.

Franci, Carlo (b Buenos Aires, 1927). It. cond. and composer. Pupil of Petrassi (comp.) and Previtali (cond.). Cond. Rome Opera and NY Met., also Radio Eireann S.O. 1955--7. Wrote opera and instr. works.

Franck, César (Auguste Jean Guillaume) (b Liège, 1822; d Paris, 1890). Belg.-born composer (Fr. cit. from 1870). He toured Belgium as a pianist at the age of 13. In 1835 he went to Paris, studying harmony with Reicha and was at the Paris Cons. from 1837 to 1842. On leaving the Cons. he concentrated on comp. and settled in Paris in 1844. In 1858 he became organist of the church of Sainte-Clotilde, Paris, where his outstanding ability as an improviser drew listeners from far and wide, incl. Liszt who in 1866 likened his skill to that of Bach. He was prof. of org. at the Cons. from 1872. Throughout these years as teacher and organist, his comps. were ignored by the general public. His pupils, led by d'Indy, organized a concert of his works in Jan. 1887, which, although poorly perf., pleased the uncomplaining composer, who subsequently wrote 3 of his finest works. The Sym. was received with incomprehension in 1889, but there was an enthusiastic response to the Str. Qt. He became Chevalier du Légion d'Honneur in 1885. In his early works Franck was influenced by the opéra-comique composers such as Grétry. His middle years were dominated by works of religious character, his oratorio Les Béatitudes occupying him for 10 years. In his later works he developed 'cyclic form' whereby a theme, modified or varied, recurs in each section of the work. His symphonic poems date from the late 1870s and the Variations Symphoniques for pf. and orch. from 1885. Franck's harmonic idiom, no doubt influenced by Wagner and by the org.-loft, has a pungent individuality which exerted a powerful sway not only over his pupils but over a much later generation, e.g. Messiaen. His work also played a large part in restoring French taste for 'pure music', thereby opening the way for Debussy, Ravel, and others. Prin. comps.:

operas: Le Valet de Ferme, opéra-comique (1851--2), Hulda (1882--5), Ghisèle (1889--90, orch. by Chausson, d'Indy, and others).

orch: Les Éolides (1876), Le Chasseur maudit (1882), Les Djinns (1884, pf. and orch.), Variations Symphoniques (1885, pf. and orch.), Psyché (1887--8, with ch.), Sym. in D minor (1886--8).

choral: Ruth, biblical eclogue for soloists, ch., and orch. (1843--6); La Tour de Babel, oratorio (1865); Les Béatitudes, oratorio (1869--79); Rédemption, for sop., ch., and orch. (1871--2, orch. item and male ch. added 1874); Rebecca (1881); Messe solennelle, for bass and org. (1858); Mass for 3 vv. (STB) with org., harp, vc., and db. (1860); 3 Offertories, for soloist, ch., org., and db.; Panis angelicus, for ten., org., harp, vc., and db. (1872).

chamber music: Pf. Trio (1834); Trois Trios Concertants, pf., vn., and vc. (1841--2); 4th Trio Concertant (1842); Pf. Quintet (1878--9); Sonata for pf. and vn. (1886, also arr. for pf. and vc. and for pf. and fl.); Str. Qt. in D major (1889).

organ: 6 Pièces pour Grand Orgue (1862); 44 Petites Pièces (1863); 3 Pièces pour Grand Orgue (incl. Pièce heroïque) (1878); Andantino (1889); 3 Chorals (1890).

piano: Souvenirs d'Aix-la-Chapelle (1843); Fantasia on 2 Polish Airs (1845); Prélude, Choral, et Fugue, (1884); Prélude, Aria et Final (1886--7). Also songs and works for harmonium incl. L'Organiste, 59 pieces for harmonium (1889--90).

Franck, Melchior (b Zittau, c.1579; d Coburg, 1639). Saxon composer. Kapellmeister to Duke of Coburg from 1603. Wrote songs, instr. works, and church mus.

Francoeur, Fran;Alcois (b Paris, 1698; d Paris, 1787). Fr. composer and violinist. Twice manager of Paris Opéra (1757--67, 1772--5). Court musician. Wrote vn. sonatas, operas, and ballets. Collab. with F. Rebel.

Fran;Alcois, Samson (b Frankfurt, 1924; d Paris, 1970). Fr. pianist. Public début at age 6. Studied Nice Cons., in Italy and Belgrade, and in Paris with Cortot. Winner of several int. prizes. World tours. Fine exponent of Mozart and Debussy.

Frances Juges, Les (The judges of the secret court). Ov., Op. 3 by Berlioz, comp. 1826 to opera in 3 acts (librettoby H. Ferrand). 1st version of opera composed 1826, expanded in 1829, and recast in 1833 as 1-act intermezzo, Le cri de guerre de Brisgaw. Ov. and 6 numbers survive.

Frank, Alan (Clifford) (b London, 1910). Eng. publisher, ed., writer, and clarinettist. Joined OUP staff 1927, music ed. 1948, head of mus. dept. 1954--75.

Frankel, Benjamin (b London, 1906; d London, 1973). Eng. composer and cond. Watchmaker's apprentice. Studied mus. in Ger., returning to London (GSM) 1923. Worked as café musician and as jazz-band violinist, leader, and orchestrator (orch. of Coward's Operette and many C. B. Cochran revues). On staff GSM 1946. Many of his more serious comps. are in 12-note system. Wrote mus. for over 100 films. Prin. works:

orch: Vn. Conc. (1951), Concertante Lirico for str. (1953), Serenata Concertante, pf. trio and orch. (1961), va. conc. (1967), Pezzi Melodici for chamber orch. (1972), Syms., No. 1 (1958), No. 2 (1962), No. 3 (1964), No. 4 (1966), No. 5 (1967), No. 6 (1969), No. 7 (1969), No. 8 (1972).

chamber music: Str.Trio (1944), Solo vn. sonata No. 1 (1944), No. 2 (1962), Str. Qts., No. 1 (1944), No. 2 (1945), No. 3 (1947), No. 4 (1948), No. 5 (1965), 3 Poems for vc. and pf. (1950), pf. qt. (1953), Bagatelles for 11 instr. (1959).

vocal: The Aftermath, ten., tpt., str. (1947), 8 Songs, medium v. and pf. (1959).

opera: Marching Song (1972--3), 3 acts, lib. by Hans Keller after play by John Whiting. Completed in short score only. F.p. BBC broadcast 1983 in ed. by Buxton Orr.

Frankenstein, Alfred (b Chicago, 1906; d San Francisco, 1981). Amer. critic of mus. and art. Educated Chicago Univ., where he was on staff 1932--4. Mus. critic San Francisco Chronicle 1934--65. Found and pubd. (1939) sketches by V. Hartmann which inspired Mussorgsky's Pictures at an Exhibition and ed. illustrated edn. of score (1951).

Frankfurt Group. Group of Eng. composers (Norman O'Neill, Roger Quilter, Cyril Scott, and Balfour Gardiner) who were pupils of Iwan Knorr at Frankfurt Hoch Cons. in late 1890s.

Frankl, Peter (b Budapest, 1935). Hung.-born pianist (Brit. citizen from 1967). Studied Liszt Acad., Budapest. 1st prize in pf. competitions in Paris 1957, Munich 1957, Rio de Janeiro 1959. Frequent conc. soloist. Member of chamber mus. trio with György Pauk (vn.) and Ralph Kirshbaum (vc.).

Franklin, David (b London, 1908; d Evesham, 1973). Eng. bass, discovered as amateur by John Christie 1934. Studied Vienna with Jani Strasser. Début Glyndebourne 1936. Leading bass CG 1947--50. Notable Ochs in Rosenkavalier. Also concert work (Gerontius, etc.). Throat ailment caused retirement 1951. Thereafter worked as effective broadcaster, lecturer, and writer. Librettist of Tate's The Lodger.

Franquin, Merri (b Lan; Alcon, 1848; d Paris, 1934). Fr. trumpeter. Prof. of tpt., Paris Cons. Invented 5-piston tpt. Author of tpt. method.

Franz, Robert (Robert Franz Knauth) (b Halle, 1815; d Halle, 1892). Ger. composer. Studied at Dessau 1835--7. A set of his songs was highly praised by Schumann in 1843 and won the attention of Mendelssohn, Liszt, and others. Appointed org. at Halle, becoming mus. dir. of Halle Univ. Retired 1868 because of severe illness; thereafter ed. works of Bach and Handel, supplying additional accs., and comp. some choral mus. His reputation rests on his 300 Lieder, which some enthusiasts rank alongside those of Schubert and Schumann.

Frauenliebe und -Leben (Woman's Love and Life). Song-cycle for sop. or mez. and pf., Op. 42, by Schumann, being settings of 8 poems by Adalbert von Chamisso. Comp. 1840.

Frau ohne Schatten, Die (The Woman without a Shadow). Opera in 3 acts by R. Strauss to lib. by Hofmannsthal. Comp. 1914--18. Prod. Vienna 1919, San Francisco 1959, London 1967.

F.R.C.C.O. Fellow of the Royal Canadian College of Organists.

F.R.C.M. Fellow of the Royal College of Music.

F.R.C.O. Fellow of the Royal College of Organists.

Freccia, Massimo (b Florence, 1906). It. cond. and composer. Studied Florence Cons. and cond. under F. Schalk in Vienna. Cond., Budapest S.O. 1933. Amer. début 1938. Cond. New Orleans S.O. 1944--51, Baltimore S.O. 1952--9; chief cond. Radio-televisione Italiana (RAI) Orch., Rome, 1959--63. Guest cond. of many other orchs.

Frederick the Great (Friedrich II, King of Prussia) (b Berlin, 1712; d Potsdam, 1786). Ger. sovereign (reigned 1740--86) who was also composer, flautist, and patron of mus. Pupil of Hayne and Quantz. Est. court orch. Berlin 1740, and opera house 1742. Employed C. P. E. Bach as harpsichordist from 1740, and J. S. Bach visited the court at Potsdam, 1747, the Musical Offering being the result (based on theme supplied by Frederick). Other notable musicians in Frederick's service incl. the Graun brothers and Quantz. Comp. syms., opera, marches, arias, etc.

Fredigundis. Opera in 3 acts by F. Schmidt to lib. by B. Warden and I. M. Welleminsky after Felix Dahn. Comp. 1916--21. Prod. Berlin 1922.

Fredman, Myer (b Plymouth, 1932). Eng. cond. On staff Glyndebourne Opera 1959--74; mus. dir. Glyndebourne Touring Opera 1968--74. Guest cond. BBC, LPO, RPO, ECO, and other orchs. Mus. dir. Adelaide Opera from 1975.

Free Canon. Form of canon in which the intervals of the imitating v. remain the same numerically, but not necessarily as to quality (e.g. a major 3rd may become a minor 3rd). Free Counterpoint.[fy75,1] See Counterpoint.

Freed, Isadore (b Brest-Litovsk, 1900; d Rockville Center, NY, 1960). Russ.-born cond. and pianist. Emigrated to USA as child, studied Pennsylvania Univ. and Philadelphia Cons. Pf. pupil, 1924, of Josef Hofmann. Studied comp. with Bloch, 1918--21, and with d'Indy, 1929--30. Cond. Concert Spirituel, Paris, 1930--3. On faculty Hartt Coll. of Mus., Hartford, Conn., 1944--60. Comps. incl. opera, ballet, 2syms., vn. conc., vc. conc., va. rhapsody, 3 str. qts., choral works, and pf. pieces.

Free Fantasia. Same as 'Development' in Compound Binary Form, etc. See also Form (3).

Frei aber Froh (Ger., 'Free but happy'). Brahms's personal motto, the initial letters of which (F-A-F) he used as the basic thematic structure of his 3rd Sym. (1883).

Freischütz, Der (The Freeshooter). 3-act opera by Weber to lib. by Friedrich Kind after a story by Apel and Laun in Gespensterbuch (1811). Comp. 1817--21. Prod. Berlin 1821, London 1824, NY 1825.

Freitas, Frederico de (b Lisbon, 1902). Portuguese composer and cond. Studied Nat. Cons., Lisbon, 1919--24. Founder and cond. Lisbon Choral Soc. 1940--7, cond. Oporto S.O. 1949--53. Comps. incl. opera, sym., vn. sonata, str. qt., ballets, and choral works.

Freitas Branco, Luís de (b Lisbon, 1890; d Lisbon, 1955). Portuguese composer. Studied in Lisbon and in Berlin with Humperdinck. Taught at Lisbon Cons. and held govt. posts from which he was removed between 1939 and 1947 because of his protests over persecution of artists in Ger. and It. Comp. 4 syms., concs. for vn., pf., and vc., chamber mus., choral works. Wrote educational books.

Freitas Branco, Pedro de (b Lisbon, 1896; d Lisbon, 1963). Portuguese cond. and composer, brother of Luis Freitas Branco. Founded Portuguese Opera Co. 1926. Cond. state sym. orch. from 1934. Cond. Venice Biennale 1943. Guest cond. in Fr., Ger., Sp., Eng. (Hallé Orch. etc.).

Frémaux, Louis (b Aire sur Lys, 1921). Fr. cond. Studied Paris Cons. Cond. Nat. Orch. Monte Carlo 1956--65, Rhône-Alpes P.O. 1968--71, prin. cond. and mus. dir. CBSO 1969--78; prin. cond. Sydney S.O. 1979--81.

Fremstad, Olive (Olivia Rundquist) (b Stockholm, 1871; d Irvington, NY, 1951). Swed. sop. (later Amer. citizen). Her family emigrated to USA when she was in her early teens, when she expected to become pianist, having made recital début at age 12. Opera début Boston 1890 in Sullivan's Patience. Went to NY 1890, becoming cont. soloist at St Patrick's Cath. Studied in Berlin 1893 with Lilli Lehmann, who convinced her she was sop. or mez. Soloist 1895 in Schumann's Paradise and the Peri at Cologne Fest., leading to engagement with Cologne Opera, début as Azucena. Bayreuth 1896, London 1902, Munich Opera 1900--3, NY Met. 1903 as Sieglinde, cond. Mottl. Increasingly specialized in Wagner roles e.g. Kundry and Brünnhilde, of which she was one of greatest interpreters, but sang Carmen opposite Caruso 1906 and Salome in the single perf. at NY Met. 1907 (also first Paris Salome, 1907). Sang Isolde at Mahler's Met. début, 1908. Farewell appearance at Met. 1914, but sang opera at Boston and Chicago, and gave final recital, NY 1920.

French Horn. Coiled brass wind instr. (tube over 11' in all) of conical "FB" bore, with funnel-shaped mouth-piece and bell of 11--14" diameter. The hn. was one of the earliest primitive instrs., being used for military purposes and esp. for hunting. The modern hn. was developed in Fr. (hence the name). It has existed in 2 forms: (a) Natural, but with crooks. This is the instr. for which the older classical composers wrote and is said to have been introduced into the orch. by Lully in his comedy-ballet La Princesse d'Elide, Paris 1664. A notational convention existed whereby if notes occurred low enough to demand the use of the bass clef, they were written an octave lower than that pitch demanded. All parts were written as if in the key of C, with sharps and flats inserted as accidentals. Certain notes not in tune with the modern tempered scale were modified by the insertion of a hand in the bell ('stopped notes'). (b) With valves. The Fr. hn. was equipped with rotary valves in about 1827 and this instr. gradually displaced (a). Schumann was among the first to specify its use, and Wagner abandoned (a) in and after Lohengrin (1848). Traditionally the valved hn. is pitched in F, but other pitches exist. Compass is from B' upwards for about 3;FD octaves. The 'double hn.' pitched in both F and Bb alto, is normally used today. The valves act much as the old crooks did but of course more speedily. Notation is without key signature, written a perfect 5th higher than it is intended to sound. There is a modern tendency to use a key signature, which, from the use of the F pitch, necessarily has a flat less or sharp more than the actual key. The hn.'s place in the sym. orch. has grown in importance since the 19th cent., composers such as Mahler and Strauss sometimes specifying 8 hns. Orch. parts assume that the higher notes will be played by the odd-numbered players, the lower by the even. Many hn. concs. have been written (e.g. by Mozart, Strauss, Hindemith), and it is also employed in chamber works (notably Brahms's Hn. Trio). The Fr. hn. is also used in military bands, but not in brass bands where the term is colloquially used to denote the ten. saxhorn.

French Overture. 17th and 18th-cent. form of the piece of orch. mus. played before an opera or oratorio (see Overture). It was orig. developed by Lully, and was in 3 movements, slow, quick, slow.

French Sixth. A type of augmented 6th, containing an augmented 6th, major 3rd, and augmented 4th (taking key C as example: Ab-C-D-F#).

French Suites. Name (possibly unauthorized) given to a set of 6 kbd. suites by Bach, comp. c.1722. See also English Suites, German Suites.

Freni, Mirella (b Modena, 1935). It. sop. Studied with Campogalliani. Début Modena as Micaela in Carmen 1955. Netherlands Opera 1959--60. Glyndebourne (Zerlina) 1960. CG début 1961 (Nannetta), Milan 1963 (Mimi), NY Met. from 1965. Many appearances Vienna and Salzburg in operas cond. Karajan.

Frescobaldi, Girolamo (b Ferrara, 1583; d Rome, 1643). It. composer and organist. Held post at Antwerp, becoming organist at St Peter's, Rome, 1608--28 (30,000 are said to have attended his f.p. there, an indication of his reputation as a virtuoso). Organist at Florentine court 1628--33, returning to St Peter's thereafter. Comp. motets and madrigals, but prin. achievements were his toccatas, fugues, ricercari, and capriccios for org. and hpd. His mus. had strong influence on Ger. mus. through his pupil Froberger.

Frets. Strips of wood or metal (orig. cords) on the fingerboard of certain str. instrs. e.g. guitar, viol, lute (though not vn. family). They indicate the length of str. required to produce a given note---the player presses his finger against a fret to shorten the vibrating length of str.

Fretta (It.). Haste. Hence frettevole, frettoso, frettoloso, frettolosamente, 'hurried'.

Fretwell, Elizabeth (b Melbourne, 1922). Australian sop. Début Australian Nat. Opera 1947 as Senta. Sang with Dublin Grand Opera 1954. Prin. sop. SW Opera from 1955, becoming a famous Violetta. First Brit. Ariadne in Strauss's opera. Notable exponent of Britten roles. O.B.E. 1977.

Freund, Marya (b Breslau, 1876; d Paris, 1966). Fr. (Polish-born) sop. and teacher. Began as vn. student of Sarasate but switched to singing, studying under Stockhausen etc. Début 1909. Became authoritative interpreter of contemporary composers; one of 1st to sing 12-note works. Created part of Wood Dove in Schoenberg's Gurrelieder (1913), was speaker in 1st Fr. and Eng. perfs. of Pierrot Lunaire (but not at f. Berlin p.). Sang in new works by Satie, Bloch, Milhaud, Szymanowski, Poulenc, and others. Teacher in Paris for over 30 years.

Frick, Gottlob (b Abronn, 1906). Ger. bass singer. Studied Stuttgart Cons., joined ch. of Stuttgart Opera 1927. Solo roles from 1934 at Coburg, Dresden 1940--50, Berlin Städtische Opera 1950--3, Munich and Vienna from 1953. Début CG 1951, NY Met. 1962. Noted for Wagner roles. Bayreuth 1957--64. Retired 1971 but continued to make occasional appearances.

Fricker, Peter Racine (b London, 1920). Eng. composer. Studied RCM, later with Seiber. Served RAF 1941--6. Won Clements Prize 1947 with wind quintet, and Koussevitzky award with his Sym. No. 1 (f.p. cond. Barbirolli, Cheltenham 1950). Won Arts Council Fest. of Britain award for young composers, 1951, with vn. conc. Prof. of comp., RCM 1956--64, dir. of mus., Morley Coll., 1953--64, composer-in-residence Univ.

of Calif. (Berkeley) since 1964. One of 1st post-1945 Eng. composers to develop individual style derived from influences of Bartók, Stravinsky, and Schoenberg. Prin. comps.:

orch: Sym. No. 1 (1949), No. 2 (1950--1), No. 3 (1960), No. 4 (1966), No. 5 (1975--6), Prelude, Elegy, and Finale for str. (1949), Dance Scene (1954), Litany, for double str. orch. (1955), 3 Scenes (1966), 7 Counterpoints (1967); Sinfonia in memoriam Benjamin Britten (for 17 wind instr.) (1976--7).

concertos: Vn. (1949--50), cor anglais and str. (or pf.) (1950), 3 pf., str., and timp. (1951), va. (1952), pf. (1952--4), vn. No. 2 (Rapsodia Concertante) (1952--4), Toccata for pf. (1958--9), Laudi Concertati, org. and orch. (1979).

voice and instr: Night Landscape, sop. and str. trio (1947), 3 Sonnets by Cecco Angiolieri, ten. and 7 instr. (1947), Tomb of St Eulalia, elegy for counter-tenor, va. da gamba, hpd. (1955), Cantata, ten. and chamber orch. (1962), O Longs désirs, 5 songs for sop. and orch. (1963), The Day and the Spirits, sop. and harp (1966--7), Some Superior Nonsense, ten. and chamber ens. (1968), The Roofs, coloratura sop. and perc. (1970), Come, sleep, cont., alto fl., bass cl. (1972).

choral: Madrigals (a cappella) (1947), Musick's Empire, ch. and small orch. (1955), The Vision of Judgement, oratorio for sop., ten., ch., and orch. (1957--8), Ave Maris Stella (1967), Magnificat (1968), Whispers at these Curtains, bar., ch., boys' ch., orch. (1984).

chamber music: Wind Quintet (1947), Str. Qt. No. 1 (1947), No. 2 (1952--3), No. 3 (1975), Vn. Sonata (1950), Hn. Sonata (1955), Vc. Sonata (1956), Octet (1957--8), Serenade No. 1 (1959), No. 2 (1959), 4 Dialogues, ob. and pf. (1965), Fantasy, va. and pf. (1966), Paseo, for guitar (1970).

piano: Variations (1957--8), 12 Studies (1961), Episodes I (1967--8), II (1969); Anniversary (1978).

2 pianos: Sonata (1977).

organ: Sonata (1947), Choral (1956), Ricercare (1965), 6 Pieces (1968), Toccata (1968), Praeludium (1970).

Fricsay, Ferenc (b Budapest, 1914; d Ermatingen, Switz., 1963). Hung. cond. Studied with Kodály and Bartók. Cond. at Szeged 1933--9. Prin. cond. Budapest Opera 1939--45. Cond. f.p.s. of Einem's Dantons Tod, Salzburg 1947, and Orff's Antigonae, Salzburg 1949. Cond. Berlin Städtische Opera 1948--52, Munich Opera 1956--8, Deutsche Oper, Berlin, from 1961. Prin. cond. RIAS Orch., Berlin, from 1948. Mus. dir. Bavarian State Opera 1956--8. Brit. début, Edinburgh Fest. 1950. Guest cond. of many orchs. Amer. début Boston S.O. 1953.

Frid, Géza (b Máramaros-Sziget, 1904). Hung.-born pianist and composer (Dutch citizen 1948). Studied Budapest Acad. 1912--24, working with Kodály and Bartók. Settled in Amsterdam 1929. Comps. incl. sym., pf. conc. (with ch.), pf. sonata, str. qts.

Fried, Oskar (b Berlin, 1871; d Moscow, 1941). Ger. cond., hn.-player, and composer. Guest cond. of most leading European orchs., specially active in Berlin. Champion of Delius, Mahler, and others among his contemporaries. His comps. incl. opera Die vernarrte Prinzess, Verklärte Nacht, mez., ten., orch. (1901), and Das trunkene Lied, sop., cont., bass, ch., and orch. (1904).

Friedenstag (Day of Peace). 1-act opera by R. Strauss to lib. by J. Gregor based on Calderón's play La Rendición de Breda (1625). Comp. 1935--6. Prod. Munich 1938. F. Eng. p.BBC broadcast 1971.

Friedheim, Arthur (b St Petersburg, 1859; d NY, 1932). Ger pianist, composer, and teacher. Educated St Petersburg Univ., later cond. th. orchs. in Ger. Studied for 8 years with Liszt, becoming his friend and secretary. Lived and worked in USA 1891--5. Prof. of pf., RMCM 1903--4. Cond. in Munich, 1908--10, returning to USA. Settled in NY 1914 but became prof. of pf., Canadian Acad., Toronto, 1921. Ed. complete works of Chopin, transcr. Liszt works, and comp. operas and pf. concs.

Friedman, Ignaz (b Podgórze, nr. Kraków, 1882; d Sydney, N.S.W., 1948). Polish pianist and composer. Pupil of Leschetizky. Touredin Europe and USA, living in Berlin until 1914, then in Copenhagen and, from 1940, in Australia. Ed. Chopin's works. Comp. chamber mus. and songs.

Friedrich, Götz (b Naumburg, 1930). Ger. opera producer. Studied in Weimar and joined Felsenstein at the Komische Oper, Berlin, 1953. First prod. Così fan tutte 1958, dir. of prods. 1968. Chief prod. Hamburg from 1973. Prod. Tannhäuser at Bayreuth 1972. Prin. prod. CG from 1976 and has staged there The Ring (1974--6), Der Freischütz (1977), Idomeneo (1978), and Lulu (1981). An avowed Marxist, his political leanings are reflected in his prods. Deutsche Oper, Berlin, from 1980. Married to soprano Karan Armstrong (b 1941).

Friend, Rodney (b Huddersfield, 1939). Eng. violinist. Studied RAM and RMCM. Début as conc. soloist London 1962 (Hallé, Barbirolli). Leader, LPO 1964--76. Concertmaster (leader) NY P.O. 1976--9 (1st Englishman to hold this post). Leader, BBC S.O. from 1980.

Friml, Rudolf (b Prague, 1879; d Hollywood, 1972). Cz. composer who settled in USA 1906. Studied Prague Cons. First visited USA 1901 as pianist with Jan Kubelik. Played his pf. conc. with NY S.O. and comp. pf. works and chamber mus. Fame rests on series of popular operettas: The Firefly (1912), Katinka (1915), Rose Marie (1924), and The Vagabond King (1925).

Friskin, James (b Glasgow, 1886; d NY, 1967). Scottish pianist. Studied RCM (pf. with Dannreuther, comp. with Stanford). Settled in USA 1914, devoting most of time to teaching and to recitals of Bach's mus., in which he specialized. Taught at Institute of Mus. Art, NY, and Juilliard Sch. for a total of 50 years.

F.R.M.C.M. Fellow of the Royal Manchester College of Music.

Froberger, Johann Jacob (b Stuttgart, 1616; d Héricourt, 1667). Ger. composer and organist. Organist at court of Vienna 1637, but spent next 4 years in Italy as pupil of Frescobaldi. Visited Belgium, Germany, Holland, France, and England before returning to Vienna as court org. 1653--8. Comp. much for org. and hpd. (toccatas, capriccios, ricercari, etc.).

'Frog' Quartet. (Ger. Froschquartett). Nickname of Haydn's Str. Qt. in D major, Op. 50, No. 6 (1787) because of the 'croaking' theme in the finale.

Froissart. Concert-ov., Op. 19, by Elgar comp. for and f.p. at Worcester Fest. 1890. Title refers to passage in Scott's Old Mortality in which Claverhouse speaks of his enthusiasm for the historical romances and Chronicles of the Fr. writer Jean Froissart (1337--1410). Score is headed by Keats quotation 'When chivalry lifted up her lance on high'.

From Bohemia's Meadows and Forests (Z ; Ak Ceských Luhů a Hajů). The 4th symphonic poem of Smetana's Má Vlast, often played separately.

From My Life (Z mého života; Ger. Aus meinem Leben). Title of Smetana's 2 str. qts. (E minor, 1876, and D minor, 1882--3) though it has become customary to apply it only to No. 1. Autobiographical character of this qt. culminates in sustained high E in finale depicting whistling in composer's ear which in 1874 heralded his deafness.

From Stone to Thorn. Work by Maxwell Davies for mez. and instr. ens. to poem by George Mackay Brown. F.p. Oxford 1971, with Mary Thomas (mez.) cond. composer.

From the Bavarian Highlands (Elgar). See Bavarian Highlands, Scenes from the.

From the Diary of Virginia Woolf. Song-cycle of 8 songs for medium v. and pf. by Argento with text from V. Woolf: 1. The Diary, 2. Anxiety, 3. Fancy, 4. Hardy's Funeral, 5. Rome, 6. War, 7. Parents, 8. Last Entry. Comp. 1974. F.p. Minneapolis, 1975 (Janet Baker and Martin Isepp).

From the House of the Dead. See House of the Dead, From the.

Frosch(Ger., `frog'). The nut of the vn. bow. Am Frosch, `at the nut'.

Frottola (It., plural frottole). A late 15th- and early 16th-cent. popular unacc. It. choral form, a type of simple madrigal similar to the Eng. ayre. The same mus. was sung to each verse and the tune was invariably in the highest part.

F.R.S.C.M. Fellow of the Royal School of Church Music.

Frühbeck de Burgos, Rafael (b Burgos, 1933). Sp. cond. Studied Bilbao Cons. and Madrid Cons. 1950--3, then Acad. of Mus., Munich, until 1958. Prin. cond. Bilbao orch. 1958--62, Madrid Nat. Orch. 1962--77, Düsseldorf S.O. 1966--71, Montreal S.O. 1975--6. Guest cond., prin. European and Amer. orchs., incl. Nat. S.O. of Washington from 1980.

Frumerie, Per (Gunnar Fredrik de) (b Nacka, Stockholm, 1908). Swed. composer and pianist. Studied Stockholm Cons. and in Vienna and Paris. Prof. of pf., Stockholm Cons., from 1962. Works incl. opera, ballet, symphonic variations, 2 pf. concs., vn. conc., pf. pieces, 2 vn.sonatas, 3 str. qts., songs, etc.

Fry, William (Henry) (b Philadelphia, 1813; d Santa Cruz, 1864). Amer. composer, mus. critic, and author. Mainly self-taught. In 1845 wrote Leonora, regarded as first significant Amer. opera. From 1846 spent 6 years in London and Paris as correspondent of NY Tribune, meeting Berlioz and others. On return to NY as mus. critic of Tribune, championed Amer. composers. Wrote another opera, syms., church mus., etc.

F.T.C.L. Fellow of Trinity College of Music, London.

F.T.S.C. Fellow of the Tonic Sol-fa College of Music.

Fuchs, Carl (b Offenbach, 1865; d Manchester, 1951). Ger. cellist. Studied in Frankfurt and St Petersburg (under Davidov). Prin. cellist Hallé Orch., Manchester, 1887--1914. Prof. of vc. RMCM 1893--1914 and 1921--42. Member of Brodsky Qt. 1895--1926. Pubd. a vc. method (3 vols.) 1906.

Fuchs, Johann (Nepomuk) (b Frauenthal, 1832; d Vöslau, 1899). Austrian cond. and composer. Vienna Opera from 1880. Dir., Vienna Cons. from 1893. Wrote opera Zingara (1872). Fuchs, Joseph[fy75,1] (b NY, 1900). Amer. violinist. Studied Institute of Mus. Art, NY. Début 1920. Concertmaster, Cleveland Orch. 1926--40. Career as soloist began 1943. Frequent chamber mus. player, often with sister Lillian (b 1910, va. player and composer for that instr.). Prof. of vn. Juilliard Sch. from 1946. Toured Russ. 1965.

Fuchs, Robert (b Frauenthal, 1847; d Vienna 1927). Austrian composer and teacher, brother of Johann Nepomuk Fuchs. Studied Vienna Cons. and was prof. of harmony and counterpoint there 1875--1912. (Mahler and Wolf were among his pupils.) Wrote 2 operas, 5 syms., 5 serenades, mass, chamber mus., songs.

Fuchsova, Liza (b Brno, 1913; d London, 1977). Cz. pianist. Studied Brno Cons. and Prague Cons. Début with Czech. P.O. Settled in London 1939. Member of Dumka Trio. Excelled in chamber mus. Teacher in later years.

Fuenllana, Miguel de (b Navalcarnero, Madrid, c.1500; d ?Valladolid, c.1579). Blind Sp. composer and vihuela virtuoso. Pubd. Orphénica Lyra (1554), containing orig. works and transcrs. of vocal works, etc. Served at Sp. royal court during 1560s.

Fuga (Lat., It. 'Flight'). Since mid-17th cent. this term has meant It. equivalent of Fugue. From Middle Ages to early 17th cent. denoted strict imitation or an individual point of imitation.

Fuga alla giga (Fugue in Jig-style). A fugue in G by J. S. Bach for org., so called from its rhythmic nature.

Fugara. Org. stop; a rather rougher toned variety of Gamba.

Fugato. A passage in fugal style. See Fugue.

Fughetta. A short Fugue.

Fugue (Fr. 'fugue', Ger. 'Fuge', It. 'fuga'). Type of contrapuntal comp. for particular no. of parts or 'voices' (described thus whether vocal or instr., e.g. fugue in 4 parts, fugue in 3 vv.). The point of fugue is that the vv. enter successively in imitation of each other, the 1st v. entering with a short melody or phrase known as the Subject (different from sonata-form 'subject' in that it is merely melodic and short). When all the vv. have entered, the Exposition is over. Then (normally) there comes an Episode or passage of connective tissue (usually a development of something that has appeared in the exposition) leading to another entry or series of entries of the Subject, and so on until the end of the piece, entries and episodes alternating. Contrasts of key constitute an important element in fugal construction. In the Exposition the Subject first appears, naturally, in the tonic key; the 2nd v. to enter with it does so a 5th higher (or 4th lower), i.e. in the dominant key, the name Answer now being attached to it; the 3rd is a repetition of the Subject (in a higher or lower octave) and so on, Subject and Answer, Tonic and Dominant keys, thus appearing alternately, according to the no. of 'voices' engaged. One function of the Episodes is to effect modulation to various related keys, so that the later entries may have the advantage of this variety, but once the Exposition is over it is not considered necessary that further series of entries shall always alternate as to keys in the Subject-Answer manner. In addition to the Subject there is often a Countersubject appearing in the Exposition and probably later in the Fugue. It is of the nature of a melodic acc. to the Answer and Subject (generally in double counterpoint). The v. which has just given out the Subject or Answer then goes on to the Countersubject whilst the next v. is giving out the Answer or Subject and so on. Sometimes in later entries there is overlapping of the Subject, each v., as it gives out, not waiting for the previous v. to finish it but breaking in, as it were, prematurely. This device, which is called Stretto, tends to increase the emotional tension of the entry in which it occurs. Occasionally, after the Exposition (and possibly before the 1st Episode) there is a Counter-Exposition, much like the 1st Exposition in that the same 2 keys are employed. Appearances of the Subject (in the Exposition or elsewhere) are sometimes separated by something of the nature of the Episode, but shorter, called a Codetta. There exist 2 types of Fugue with 2 subjects (or double fugue), one in which the 2 Subjects appear together from the outset, and another in which the 1st Subject is treated for a certain time, the other then appearing and being likewise treated, after which both are combined. In choral fugues (e.g. in an oratorio movement) there is sometimes a free instr. part, an accompanied fugue. The device of pedal is often employed in fugue, especially near its close. There are cases in which, instead of the Answer being an exact replica of the Subject (Real Answer), it is slightly changed in 1 or 2 of its intervals (Tonal Answer), resulting respectively in a Real Fugue and a Tonal Fugue (an absurdity since the tonal treatment may not extend beyond the exposition). A shortened type of fugue is sometimes called a fughetto. A passage in fugal style, not in itself an actual fugue, is called fugato. [ql^The above descriptions are of the academic fugue form, but the great composers have, naturally, varied it, e.g. Bach in Die Kunst der Fuge. Superb fugues occur in many works, e.g. Beethoven's Grosse fuge for str. qt., Op. 133, in Elgar's Introduction and Allegro for str., and in many choral comps. Fugue-form is also used effectively in opera, e.g. the finale of Act 2 of Wagner's Die Meistersinger von Nürnberg and the finale of Verdi's Falstaff. Fuguing tune. An 18th-cent. type of hymn-tune in which 1 or more vv. fell silent and then came in with an imitation of some preceding v. Popular in USA, particularly those by Billings.

Fujikawa, Mayumi (b Asahikawa, Japan, 1946). Japanese violinist. Studied with her father and at Toho Cons., Tokyo, and later in Belgium. Pupil of Leonid Kogan in Nice 1968--70. Won Vieuxtemps grand prix, Verviers, 1970. London début 1975 (with LSO cond. Previn). Plays in pf. trio with Michael Roll (pf.) and Richard Markson (vc.).

Fuleihan, Anis (b Cyprus, 1900; d Stanford, Calif., 1970). Cyprian-born Amer. composer, cond., pianist, and teacher. Settled in USA 1915, début as pianist NY 1919. Comp. ballets for Bolm and Denishaw cos. in 1920s. Prof. of mus., Indiana Univ. 1947--52, dir., Nat. Cons., Beirut, 1953--60. Cond. Tunis orch. 1963--5. Returned to USA as teacher at Illinois Univ. Comps. incl. opera, 2 syms., 3 Cyprus Serenades, 3 vn.concs., 2 pf. concs., concs. for vc., bn., Theremin, fl., and va., 5 str. qts., fl. sonata, vn. sonata, vc. sonata, va. sonata, 4 pf. sonatas, songs.

Full Anthem. Anglican church anthem sung by full choir throughout, as opposed to verse anthem.

Full Close. Perfect cadence, i.e. chord of the dominant followed by that of the tonic.

Fuller, Donald (b Washington, D.C., 1919). Amer. composer. Pupil of Wagenaar, Milhaud, and Copland. Comps. incl. sym., cl. trio, pf. sonata, 2-pf. sonata, songs.

Fuller Maitland, John (Alexander) (b London, 1856; d Carnforth, 1936). Eng. critic, ed., and harpsichordist. Studied pf. Started career as mus. critic, Pall Mall Gazette, 1882--4, chief critic of Times 1889--1911. One of founders of Folk Song Soc. 1898, having collaborated with L. Broadwood in English County Songs, 1893. Ed. 2nd edn. Grove's Dictionary of Music and Musicians (1904--10). Ed. (with W. Barclay Squire) Fitzwilliam Virginal Book (1894--9). Also wrote books on Schumann, Brahms, Joachim, J. S. Bach, and 19th-cent. Eng. mus.

Füllflöte (Ger.). A 'full-toned' (i.e. loud) fl. stop on the org.

Fülligstimmen (Ger., 'full-toned voices'). Org. stops of loud tone.

Full mixture. Org. Mixture stop of which pipes are of Diapason scale.

Full Orchestra. The orch. of the normal 4 main sections (str., woodwind, brass, perc.) at concert-hall strength. Full Organ. [fy75,1] As an indication in org. music, directs the player to use Great coupled to Swell, with all the louder stops on both manuals.

Füllstimme (Ger., 'filling-voice'). (1) A middle strand in the texture of a choral or instr. comp. which may be considered purely accessory. (2) An additional orch. part (see Ripieno). (3) The Mixture stop of an org.

Full to Mixtures. Org. composers' term meaning use all loud stops except Reeds.

Fulton, (Robert) Norman (b London, 1910; d 1980). Eng. composer. Studied RAM 1928--33. BBC staff 1936--60. Prof. of harmony RAM 1966. Comps. incl. 2 syms., pf. conc., vn. conc., va. sonata, songs. Functional analysis. Form of analysis of a comp., without words, simply by musical extracts showing its structural features and thematic developments, invented for radio by Hans Keller because he believed that writing or talking about music distorts the music (though he has valuably done a lot of both).

Fundamental. A chord in which the lowest note is that from which the chord is derived.

Fundamental Bass is the imaginary bass of a passage, consisting not of its actual bass notes but of the roots of its chords, i.e. the bass of its chords when in root position.

Fundamental Discord. A discordant chord of which the discordant note forms a real part of the chord, i.e. not a mere suspension, anticipation, or retardation. Or the discordant note itself (e.g. dominant 7th, etc.).

Fundamental Note. The primary note of the harmonic series.

Funèbre (Fr.), Funebre (It.). Funeral. Marche funèbre, funeral march.

Funeral March of a Marionette (Convoi funèbre d'une marionnette). Light-hearted piece by Gounod comp. as pf. solo 1872 and orch. 1879.

Funeral Marches. Among the best known of these (all of them in some public use on occasions of mourning) are the following: (1) Handel's Dead March in Saul (from the oratorio of that name); (2) The 2nd movement of Beethoven's 3rd Sym. (Eroica); (3) The 3rd movement of Chopin's 2nd pf. sonata (in B<sub>b</sub> minor, Op. 35); (4) Chopin's Marche funèbre, Op. 72b in C minor. There are also (5) Beethoven's March `sulla morte d'un eroe' (on the death of a hero), which is a movement in his pf. sonata in A<sub>b</sub>, Op. 26; (6) Mendelssohn's Song without Words No. 28, in E minor (the title Funeral March not, however, authentic); (7) Siegfried's Funeral March from Wagner's Götterdämmerung; (8) Grieg's Funeral March for Nordraak (military band, but scored also by Halvorsen for orch.); (9) Berlioz's Funeral March for the Last Scene of 'Hamlet' (Op. 18, No. 3, 1848). Several symphonic movements (e.g. Elgar's 2nd Sym. Larghetto and various examples in the works of Mahler) have the character if not the title of funeral marches.

Fünf (Ger.). Five. Fünfstimmig, '5-voiced', i.e. in 5 parts.

Funiculì, funiculà. Song comp. by Denza, 1880, in honour of the opening of the Naples funicular railway. Quoted by R. Strauss, who was apparently under the impression that it was a genuine folk-song, in Aus Italien, 1886.

Fuoco (It.). Fire, e.g. con fuoco, with a combination of force and speed. (But focoso, fiery.)

Für Elise (For Elise). Bagatelle in A minor for pf. by Beethoven, comp. c.1810. Autograph score is inscribed 'Für Elise am 27 April zur Erinnerung von L. v. Bthvn'. Theory put forward by Max Unger that 'Elise' may have been copyist's misreading of Therese (von Brunswick) with whom Beethoven was in love and among whose papers the score was discovered. Pubd. 1867.

Furia (It.). Fury. So furioso, furibondo, furious; furiosamente, furiously.

Furiant. A rapid Bohemian dance of decided yet frequently-changing rhythm. Dvořák used the title for several movements, but in some of his examples the rhythm remained unchanged.

Furniture, fourniture (in org. terminology). A powerful Mixture Stop.

Furore (It.). (1) Fury. (2) Enthusiasm.

Furtwängler, Wilhelm (b Berlin, 1886; d nr.Baden-Baden, 1954). Ger. cond. and composer. Studied in Munich with Rheinberger and Schillings. Cond. th. orchs. in Zürich, Strasbourg, and Lübeck 1905--15. Mannheim Opera 1915--20. Tonkünstler Orch., Vienna, 1919--24. Leipzig Gewandhaus Orch. 1922--28, Berlin P.O. 1922 (for most of the rest of his life), Vienna P.O. 1924 (prin. cond. 1927--28, 1933--54). Bayreuth Fest. 1931, 1936, 1937, 1943, 1944, 1951 (Beethoven's 9th Sym. only). London début 1924, NY 1925, CG opera début 1935 (Tristan). Regularly cond. Salzburg Fest. and perfs. of Wagner's Ring at the Scala, Milan. In concert-hall gave memorable perfs. of the classics, Bruckner, Tchaikovsky, Strauss, etc., and championed music of Stravinsky and other 20th cent. composers. Cond. f.ps. of Bartók's 1st pf. conc. (Frankfurt 1927), Schoenberg's Variations, Op. 31 (Berlin 1928), Hindemith's sym. Mathis der Maler (Berlin 1934), and Strauss's Vier letzte Lieder (London 1950). Controversy over his position during Nazi régime led to withdrawal of his appointment as cond. NY P.;dhS.O., 1936 and as cond. of Chicago S.O. 1949. Cleared of pro-Nazi activities 1946 and resumed his int. career, visiting London several times. One of the great masters of the art of cond. Comp. 3 syms., pf. conc., and chamber mus.

Futurism. Artistic movement which began in 1909 when Marinetti published his futurist manifesto in a Paris newspaper. Aim was to emphasize dynamic force and motion in industrial soc. Musically this meant all kinds of noise, and special instr. were invented, such as exploders, thunderers, and whistlers. Prominent in the movement were Francesco Pratella (1880--1955), who composed for a standard orch. and Luigi Russolo (1885--1947), a painter, who wanted every kind of sound to be mus. material. 2 of his works, perf. London 1914, were The Awakening of a Great City and A Meeting of Motorcars and Aeroplanes. Movement petered out c.1918, but left its mark.

Fux, Johann Joseph (*b*Hirtenfeld, nr. Graz, 1660; d Vienna, 1741). Austrian composer, organist, and theorist. Organist in Vienna 1696, [cj3,5,25]courtcomposer 1698--1705, choirmaster St Step- [nbhen's Cath. 1705, vice-Kapellmeister 1713, Kapellmeister 1715. His Gradus ad Parnassum (Vienna 1725) formulated rules for counterpoint. Wrote over 400 works, incl. 19 operas, 14 oratorios, c.80 masses, instr. partitas, etc.

G

G. Note of the scale: 5th degree of natural scale of C. Thus Gb, Gbb, Gnat., G#, G##. Keys of G major and G minor. 'In G' signifies either in key of G major or transposing instr. on which written note C sounds as G (e.g. alto flute in G).

G. In Fr. org. mus., grand orgue, i.e. 'Great Org'.

G. Letter prefix to lists of works by Beethoven and Liszt compiled for New Grove Dictionary of Music and Musicians (1980).

Gabrieli, Andrea (b Venice, c.1510; d Venice, 1586). It. organist and composer. Org. St Mark's, Venice 1566--86. Comp. psalms, motets, madrigals, and org. works. Pupils incl. Hassler, Sweelinck, and his nephew Giovanni Gabrieli.

Gabrieli(Gabrielli), Domenico (b Bologna, 1651; d Bologna, 1690). It. cellist and composer of a dozen operas, oratorios, and instr. pieces.

Gabrieli, Giovanni (b Venice, c.1554; d Venice, 1612). It.composer and organist, nephew of A. Gabrieli whose pupil he was. Organist, St Mark's, Venice, from 1585. One of the great Venetian composers of motets with instr. accs. His mus. made use of the special antiphonaleffects of vv. and brass obtainable in St Mark's. Comps. incl. Canzone for various combinations; 2 sets of Sacrae symphoniae (1597 and 1615), the first set containing the celebrated Sonata pian' e forte alla quarta bassa; concertos; and many motets incl. Angelus ad pastores, O magnum mysterium, Exaudi Deus, Hodie Christus natus est, Jubilate Deo, Regina coeli, Sancta et immaculata virginitas, etc. Pupils incl. Schütz and Praetorius.

Gabrieli Quartet. Brit. qt. formed in 1966. Members are Kenneth Sillito (b Newcastle upon Tyne, 1939) and Brendan O'Reilly (b Dublin, 1934) (who in 1969 replaced Claire Simpson), vns., Ian Jewel (b London, 1944), va., and Keith Harvey (b Liverpool, 1938), vc. Début London 1967. Wide repertory, incl. many 20thcent. works.

Gabrilowitsch, Ossip (Salomonovich) (b St Petersburg, 1878; d Detroit, 1936). Russ.-born pianist, composer, and cond. (Amer. citizen). Studied St Petersburg Cons. 1888--94, with Anton Rubinstein (pf.) and Lyadov and Glazunov (comp.), and in Vienna with Leschetizky (pf.) 1894--6. Début Berlin 1896, followed by European tours and Amer. début 1900. Took up cond. c.1905 in Vienna and Paris. Friend of Mahler. Cond. Konzertverein Orch., Munich, 1910--14. Settled NY, 1914, début there as cond. in 1917. Cond., Detroit S.O., 1918--35. Continued annual recital tours of USA as pianist. Comp. pf. pieces, songs, etc.

Gabussi, Giulio Cesare (b Bologna, c.1555; d Milan, 1611). It. composer. Became choirmaster at Forli Cathedral and, in 1583, at Milan. In Warsaw 1601--2, then returned to duties in Milan. Wrote motets and madrigals.

Gabussi, Vincenzo (b Bologna, 1800; d London, 1846). It composer and teacher. Studied in Bologna. Opera I furbi al cimento perf. Modena, 1825. Settled in London 1825, teaching upper-class amateurs. His Ernani (Paris 1834) was a failure. Wrote 100 vocal duets and over 30 solo songs.

Gade,Niels (Vilhelm) (b Copenhagen, 1817; d Copenhagen, 1890). Danish composer, organist, and violinist. Royal stipend enabled him to travel to It. and Ger. Became friend of Mendelssohn in Leipzig; ass. cond. of Gewandhaus concerts 1844--6, cond. 1847--8. Returned to Copenhagen, becoming court Kapellmeister 1861. Visited Eng. 1876 to conduct his cantata The Crusader at Birmingham Fest. His comps., influenced by Mendelssohn and Schumann, are of persuasive charm and skill. They incl. 8 syms., ovs., suites, vn. conc., opera-ballet The Fairy Spell, str. qt., pf. trio, str. quintet, str. octet, str. sextet, pf. pieces, cantatas, and songs.

Gafori, Franchino (b Lodi, 1451; d Milan, 1522). It. priest and mus. theorist. From 1484 at Milan Cath. Wrote Practica musicae (Milan, 1496).

Gagliano. 18th-cent. Neapolitan family of vn. makers. Chief members were Alessandro, active up to c.1730, his sons Gennaro and Niccolò and grandsons Ferdinando and Giuseppe.

Gagliano, Marco da (b Florence, 1582; d Florence, 1643). It. composer, one of the founders of opera. Educated as priest. Maestro di cappella, S. Lorenzo, 1608. His opera Dafne (1607, prod. Mantua 1608) was rated highly by Peri; itspreface anticipated Gluck in advocating dramatic reality as more important than singers' whims. Collab. with Peri on Il medoro (1616, lost). Dafne and last opera, La flora (1628), survive. Alsocomp. madrigals, motets, etc.

Gagnebin, Henri (b Liège, 1886; d Geneva, 1977). Belg.-born composer and organistof Swiss parentage. Studied Schola Cantorum, Paris, 1908--16, with d'Indy (comp.) and Vierne (org.), and in Berlin 1905--6. Organist, Église de la Redemption, Paris, 1910--16, and St-Jean, Lausanne, 1916--25. Teacher at Lausanne Cons. 1918--25; dir., Geneva Cons. 1925--

57, dean of pf. faculty 1957--61. Founder, Geneva int. perf. competition 1938. Comps. incl. 3 syms. (1911, 1921, 1955); oratorios, St Francis of Assisi, Les Vanités du monde, Les Mystères de la foi; 3 str. qts., wind octet, brass quintet, pf. sonata, vc. sonata, fl. trio, str. trio, etc.

Gaîté parisienne (Parisian gaiety). Ballet in 1 act to Rosenthal's arr. of mus. by Offenbach, lib. Comte Etienne de Beaumont, choreog. Massine. Prod. Monte Carlo 1938. Some characters taken from Offenbach's La Vie parisienne.

Gál, Hans (b Brünn; obnow Brno; cb, 1890). Austrian-born composer, pianist, and writer. Educated Vienna Univ. Début as pianist 1910. Lecturer, Vienna Univ. 1919--28. Dir., Mainz municipal coll. of mus. 1929--33. Cond., Vienna Concert orch. and Bach Soc. 1933--8. Settled in Edinburgh 1938, lecturer Edinburgh Univ. 1945--65. Author of books on Brahms, Wagner, Schubert, and Vienna. Comps. incl. 5 operas, 4 syms., Lilliburlero: Improvisations on a Martial Melody for orch. (1946), vn. conc., vc. conc., concertinos for pf. and str. and vn. and str., 2 str. qts., pf. qt., pf. trio, str. trio, choral mus., pf. pieces. O.B.E. 1964.

Galant (Fr., Ger.). Courtly. 18th-cent. term to describe elegant style (Fr. Style galant; Ger. Galanter Stil) favoured by, for example, J. C. Bach, the Stamitzes, and early Mozart.

Galanterien (Ger.), galanteries (Fr.). In the classical suite 3 movements which were not looked upon as essential to the scheme but rather as interpolations of light relief. They usually comprised any of the following: minuet, gavotte, bourrée, passepied, loure, polonaise, air.

Galilei, Vincenzo (b S. Maria a Monte, c.1520; d Florence, 1591). It. composer and lutenist. Associate of members of Camerata from which first opera perfs. developed. Pubd. 2 books of madrigals and 1 of lute pieces. Also mus. theorist: author of Dialogo della musica antica e della moderna (1581). His Il fronimo (1568, rev. 1584) is a valuable treatise on lute-playing. His son Galileo Galilei was the great astronomer.

Galin-Paris-Chevé. Fr. sight-singing system, devised by Pierre Galin (1786--1821), Aimé Paris (1798--1866), Nanine Paris (d 1868), and Émile J. M. Chevé (1804--64), on movable-doh lines and with a practical device for acquiring the sense of time-values of notes. See also Tonic Sol-fa.

Galliard (It. Gagliarda; Fr. Gaillard). Lively dance, from 15th cent. or earlier, in simple triple time. Featured a group of 5 steps, and was therefore sometimes called Cinque passi (It.), Cinque pas (Fr.), and Cinque pace or Sink-a-pace (Eng.). Often paired and contrasted with the slower pavan, this assoc. being the origin of the suite. Vaughan Williams's Job contains a modern galliard.

Galli-Curci, Amelita (b Milan, 1882; d La Jolla, Calif., 1963). It. sop. Studied pf., harmony, and comp. at Milan Cons. but was self-taught as a singer. Début as Gilda in Rigoletto at Trani, 1906. Amer. début, also as Gilda, Chicago 1916. Chicago Opera 1916--24. NY Met. 1921--30. Brilliant agility in coloratura roles such as Gilda, Violetta, and Elvira in I puritani. Retired 1937. Never sang in opera in Brit., but gave recitals.

Galliera, Alceo (b Milan, 1910). It. cond. and composer. Teacher of comp. Milan Cons., 1932. Cond. début, Rome 1941. Guest cond. of many orchs. and of opera at La Scala, Milan. Resident cond., Carlo Felice opera house, Genoa, 1957--60, subsequently resident cond. Orch. Municipale de Strasbourg from 1964. Comps. incl. ballet, orch. mus., chamber works, and songs.

Gallus. See Händl, Jacob.

Gallus, Joannes (fl 16th cent.). Dutch composer and contrapuntist, also known as Jehan le Cocq. Maestro di cappella to Duke of Ferrara, *c.*1534–41. Church mus. survives.

Galop or Galopade. 19th-cent. ballroom round dance in simple duple time, with a change of step, or hop, at the end of every mus. phrase. Koenig's Posthorn Galop f.p. in Eng., 1844. Galops have been included in 20th cent. Soviet ballets.

Galpin, Francis William (b Dorchester, 1858; d Richmond, Surrey, 1945). Eng. clergyman and authority on ancient mus. instrs. Books incl. catalogue of European instrs. in Metropolitan Museum, NY (1902), study of instrs. of American Indians, history of sackbut, etc. In 1946 the Galpin Soc. was formed in London to continue his work.

Galuppi, Baldassare (b Island of Burano, nr. Venice, 1706; d Venice, 1785). It. composer. Pupil of Lotti. From 1728 comp. several operas for It. ths. Visited London 1741, with considerable success. Ass. choirmaster of St Mark's, Venice, 1748, choirmaster 1762. Visited St Petersburg 1766–8. His 112 operas incl. Adriano in Siria (1740), Didone abbandonata (1741), Scipione in Cartagine (1742), Il filosofo di campagna (1752), Il re pastore (1762), and Ifigenia in Tauride (1768). Also wrote oratorios, church mus., hpd. sonatas. Browning's poem A Toccata of Galuppi's refers to an imaginary comp.

Galway, James (b Belfast, 1939). Irish flautist. Studied RCM (with John Francis), GSM (with G. Gilbert), and Paris Cons. (with Crunelle). Private study with Rampal. Flautist, SW Orch. 1960–5. Prin. flautist, LSO and RPO, then Berlin P.O. 1969–75. After 1975 soloist with orchs. and chamber groups.

Gamba (It.). Leg. (1) Abbreviation of viola da gamba. (2) Str.-toned org. stop of 8' (sometimes 4' or 16') length and pitch. Metal pipes often taper towards top and sometimes widen again into an inverted bell (Bell Gamba). The Bearded Gamba is a variety with a small roller before the mouth of each pipe.

Gambler, The (Igrok). Opera in 4 acts, Op. 24, by Prokofiev to lib. by composer based on Dostoyevsky's short story (1866). Comp. 1915–17, rev. 1927–8. Prod. Brussels 1929, NY 1957, Edinburgh 1962. Orch. suite 4 Portraits, Op. 49, f.p. Paris 1932.

Gamblers, The. Unfinished opera by Shostakovich, planned as Op. 63, to lib. by composer based on comedy The Gamblers by Nikolai Gogol (1832) for six male solo vv. and large orch. Begun 1941, abandoned 1942 when not quite eight of 25 scenes were completed. F.p. (concert) Leningrad 1978, cond. Rozhdestvensky. Completed by Krzysztof Meyer, 1981. Scherzo of Va. Sonata (1975) uses mus. from The Gamblers.

Gamelan. Type of orch. found in S.-E. Asia, particularly Indonesia (e.g. Java). Incl. str. and woodwind instrs., but is notable for range of perc. such as gongs, drums, chimes, marimbas, etc. The visit of a Javanese gamelan to the Paris Exposition of 1889 had a marked influence on Debussy.

Game of Cards (Stravinsky). See Jeu de cartes.

Gamme (Fr.). Scale.

Gamut. (1) Properly, the note G at the pitch now indicated by the lowest line of the bass staff. Greek G or 'gamma' was used for its designation, and as the note just mentioned was the 'Ut' ('Doh') of the lowest hexachord, this portmanteau word was adopted as a name for it. (2) By extension, the word came to be used as a comprehensive name for the whole series of hexachords as displayed in writing. (3) By a further extension it came to mean 'scale' in general (Fr. gamme). (4) Also came to mean the whole range of mus. sounds from the lowest to the highest; and to be applied in a metaphorical way to a singer's or actor's range, e.g. 'He covered the whole gamut of tragic expression'.

Ganz (Ger.). Quite, whole, e.g. ganzer Bogen, whole bow; gänzlich, completely.

Ganz, Wilhelm (b Mainz, 1833; d London, 1914). Ger. pianist and cond. Settled in London 1850. Accompanist for Jenny Lind and other singers and violinists. Cond. orch. concerts at which he gave first complete London perfs. of Berlioz's Symphonie fantastique (April 1881) and Liszt's Dante Symphony. Prof. of singing, GSM.

Ganze, Ganze Note (Ger.). Same as Ganzetaknote.

Ganze Pause (Ger.). Whole-note (semibreve) rest.

Ganzetaknote (Ger.). Whole-measure note, or whole-bar note, i.e. the whole-note, or semibreve.

Gapped. Term applied to a scale, indicating inclusion of intervals of more than a tone's distance, e.g. the pentatonic scale.

García, Manuel del Populo Vicente (b Seville, 1775; d Paris, 1832). Sp. ten., composer, and singing teacher. Choirboy, Seville Cath., at age 6. Sang in Paris 1808 and 1819--23, Naples 1811--16, creating role of Almaviva in Rossini's Il barbiere di Siviglia, and London 1817--19. Returned to London 1823, founding singing sch. Est. It. opera co. in NY 1825--6, giving US première of Mozart's Don Giovanni with da Ponte in audience. Took co. to Mexico 1827--8 where bandits robbed him of all his earnings (some £bp6,000). Returned to Paris first as a singer, then teacher. Comp. 97 operas. Pupils incl. his daughters Maria Malibran and Pauline Viardot.

García, Manuel Patricio Rodriguez (b Zafra, Madrid, 1805; d London, 1906). Sp. bass and singing teacher, son of above. Trained in singing by his father, going to USA in 1825 where he sang Figaro in Il barbiere di Siviglia in NY. From 1829 devoted himself to teaching. Prof. of singing, Paris Cons. 1847--50. First to make scientific study of v. production. Invented laryngoscope, 1855. Pubd. Mémoire sur la voix humaine (1840) and Traité complet de l'art du chant (1840, trans. into It., Ger., and Eng.). Settled in London 1848, becoming prof. at RAM until 1895. Pupils incl. Jenny Lind, Stockhausen, Santley, and Mathilde Marchesi.

García, María Felicitá. See Malibran, María Felicitá.

García, Pauline. See Viardot-García, Pauline.

Gardelli, Lamberto (b Venice, 1915). Swed. cond. and composer of It. birth. Studied Pesaro and Rome. Répétiteur, Rome Opera, with Serafin. Opera début as cond. Rome 1944 (La Traviata). Stockholm Opera 1946--55; Budapest Opera 1961--5. Glyndebourne début 1964; NY Met. 1966--8; CG début 1969. Comp. 4 operas. Prin. cond. Munich Radio S.O. from 1983.

Garden, Mary (b Aberdeen, 1874; d Inverurie, 1967). Amer. sop. of Scot. birth. Taken to USA as a child, having first singing lessons in Chicago. Sent by patron to Paris in 1895 where teachers incl. M. Marchesi. Befriended by Amer. sop. Sibyl Sanderson who sent her to Carré, dir. of Opéra-Comique. Studied title-role of Charpentier's Louise and took over from the indisposed Mme Rioton midway through a perf. in April 1900. Created role of Mélisande in Debussy's opera, 1902, at composer's request. Further successes followed in operas by Massenet, Saint-Saëns, Leroux, and Erlanger. CG 1902--3. Joined Manhattan Opera, NY, 1907--10, then Chicago Opera from 1910, becoming dir. 1919--20 and remaining until 1931.

Garden of Fand, The. Symphonic poem by Bax, comp. 1913, f.p. Chicago 1920. Fand is a heroine in Irish legend and her garden was the sea. Used for ballet Picnic at Tintagel by Ashton, NY 1952.

Gardiner, (Henry)Balfour (b London, 1877; d Salisbury, 1950). Eng. composer. Studied at Frankfurt. Mus. master, Winchester Coll. Promoted concerts of contemporary Eng. mus. 1910--20, and was especial champion of Holst. Comp. sym., Shepherd Fennel's Dance for orch. (after Hardy), News from Whydah for ch. and orch., chamber mus., and songs.

Gardiner, John Eliot (b Fontmell Magna, Dorset, 1943). Eng. cond. Studied at Camb. Univ., then at London Univ. with Thurston Dart and with N. Boulanger in Paris. Founded Monteverdi Choir 1964, Monteverdi Orch. 1968. Prof. début 1966. Has made new edns. of Monteverdi's Vespers 1967, and Rameau's Dardanus, Les Fêtes d'Hébé, and Les Boréades. Cond. f. staged p. of Les Boréades, Aix 1982. SW début 1969 (Zauberflöte), CG 1973 (Gluck's Iphigénie en Tauride). Mus dir. Lyons Opera from 1982.

Gardner, John (Linton) (b Manchester, 1917). Eng. composer and pianist. Dir. of mus. Repton School 1939--40. Mus. staff, CG 1946--52; tutor, Morley Coll. 1952--76, dir. of mus. 1965--9; dir. of mus. St Paul's Girls' School 1962--75; prof. of comp., RAM from 1956. Comps. incl. operas The Moon and Sixpence and Tobermory (1-act, 1977); orch: sym. (Cheltenham 1951), Variations on a Waltz by Nielsen (1952), pf. conc. (1957), An English Ballad (1969); chamber mus.: str. qt. (1939), ob. sonata (1953), Sonata da chiesa, 2 tpt. and organ (1976, rev. 1977); choral: Jubilate Deo (1947), Ballad of the White Horse, bar., ch., and orch. (1959), A Latter Day Athenian Speaks (1962), Cantiones sacrae (1952), Mass in C (1965), Cantata for Christmas (1966), Proverbs of Hell (1967), Cantata for Easter (1970), The Entertainment of the Senses, 5 singers and 6 players (words by Auden and Kallman) (1974). Also th. and film scores. C.B.E. 1976.

Garland for the Queen, A. Collection of songs for unacc. mixed ch. by 10 Brit. composers to texts by 10 contemporary Brit. poets written to celebrate coronation of Elizabeth II in 1953 (in emulation of The Triumphs of Oriana in Elizabeth I's reign). Works and composers (with poets' names in parentheses) were: Aubade for Coronation Morning, Bliss (Henry Reed); What is it Like to be Young and Fair?, Bax (C. Bax); Dance, Clarion Air, Tippett (Fry); Silence and Music, Vaughan Williams (Ursula Wood); Spring at this Hour, Berkeley (P. Dehn); The Hills, Ireland (J. Kirkup); Inheritance, Howells (De la Mare); White Flowering Days, Finzi (Blunden); Canzonet, Rawsthorne (MacNeice); and Salutation, Rubbra (Hassall). F.p. London, 1 June 1953.

Gascogne, Mathieu (fl. 16th-cent.). Fr. composer of masses, chansons, motets, etc.

Gaspard de lanuit. Set of 3 pf. pieces by Ravel, comp. 1908: 1. Ondine, 2. Le Gibet, 3. Scarlo. Composite title taken from prose-ballads by A. Bertrand, sub-titled Fantaisies à la manière de Rembrandt et de Callot (1842).

Gasparini, Francesco (b Camaiore, 1668; d Rome, 1727). It. composer, pupil of Corelli and Pasquini. Choirmaster at Venice 1701--13; maestro di cappella St Lorenzo in Lucina, Rome, 1717--25; maestro di cappella St John Lateran, Rome, from 1725 but did not assume post because of illness. Wrote oratorios, cantatas, church mus., and many operas, incl. Amleto (1705) which is not based on Shakespeare's play. Wrote treatise (1708) on hpd. acc.

Gassmann, Florian Leopold (b Brüx, Bohemia, 1729; d Vienna, 1774). Ger.-born composer. Pupil of Martini in Bologna. Court musician in Venice from 1742. Ballet composer, Vienna Opera, from 1762, court Kapellmeister from 1772. Comp. over 20 operas, incl. La contessina (1770), 33 syms., and much chamber mus. Taught Salieri.

Gastoldi, Giovanni Giacomo (b Caravaggio, *c.*1555; d Mantua, 1622). It. composer of madrigals and church mus. Choirmaster, ducal chapel at Mantua from *c.*1581.

Gatti, Guido (Maggiorino) (b Chieti, 1892; d Turin, 1973). It. critic and scholar. Leading mus. figure in Turin until *c.*1940. Founded and ed. review Il pianoforte 1920 (re-titled La rassegna musicale 1928) until its demise 1962. Dir.-Gen Teatro di Torino 1925--31. Sec.-gen. Florence Maggio Musicale from 1933. Instrumental in persuading leading It. composers to write filmmus. Ed. of several periodicals, contributor to many dictionaries.

Gatti-Casazza, Giulio (b Udine, 1868; d Ferrara, 1940). It. impresario. Succeeded father as dir. of municipal th., Ferrara, 1893; dir. of La Scala, Milan, 1898--1908, working with Toscanini and helping to popularize Wagner in It. trans. Dir. NY Met. 1908--35, when he staged over 5,000 perfs. of 177 works. Took Toscanini to NY with him, thus inaugurating the cond.'s Amer. career.

Gatty, Nicholas (Comyn) (b Bradfield, 1874; d London, 1946). Eng. composer. Studied RCM. Mus. critic Pall Mall Gazette 1907--14. Wrote several operas incl. 2 after Shakespeare, The Tempest and Macbeth, also choral works, vn. sonata, str. qt., songs, etc.

Gaul, Alfred (Robert) (b Norwich, 1837; d King's Norton, 1913). Eng. organist, composer, and cond. Cond., Walsall Phil. Soc. from 1887. Comp. oratorios and cantatas, etc., best-known being The Holy City (1882).

Gaultier, Denis (b Marseilles, 1603; d Paris, 1672). Fr. composer of mus. for lute, mostly suites of stylized dances with fanciful titles, such as Le Rhétorique des dieux (*c.*1652), and of other instr. pieces.

Gauntlett, Ambrose (b London, 1890; d London, 1978). Eng. cellist and player of viola da gamba. Trained GSM and RAM. Prin. cellist CG orch., later of BBC S.O. 1935--47.

Gauntlett, Henry John (b Wellington, Salop, 1805; d London, 1876). Eng. organist and composer. Trained as lawyer. Organist, Southwark 1827. Lecturer, London Institute 1837--43. Expert in Gregorian chant. Designed orgs., initiating several reforms. Said to have comp. several thousand hymn tunes, among them Once in Royal David's City (1849).

Gavazzeni, Gianandrea (b Bergamo, 1909). It. cond., composer, and critic. Studied Milan Cons. (comp. with Pizzetti). In 1930s wrote opera, ballet, oratorio, vc. conc., and vn. conc., then devoted more time to writing and cond., eventually giving up composing and discouraging perfs. of his works. Cond., La Scala, Milan, NY Met. 1976; Glyndebourne 1965.

Gaveaux, Pierre (b Béziers, 1760; d Paris, 1825). Fr. composer and ten. From 1792 about 30 of his operas were prod. at Opéra-Comique, incl. Léonore (1798) to a lib. which was prin. source of lib. for Beethoven's Fidelio. Wrote revolutionary hymn Le Réveil du peuple (1795).

Gavotte. Old Fr. dance in common time beginning on 3rd beat of the bar. Originated in Pays de Gap where the inhabitants were known as 'gavots'. Popularized at court of Louis XIV, where Lully comp. several examples. Became optional movement of baroque suite. Some examples by 20th-cent. composers, e.g. Prokofiev in his Classical Symphony and Schoenberg in his Suite for String Orch.

Gay, John (b Barnstaple, 1685; d London, 1732). Eng. poet, playwright, and th. manager. Wrote lib. for Handel's Acis and Galatea, and for The Beggar's Opera (1728) and its sequel Polly (1729). Built first CG th., 1732.

Gayane (Gayeneh). Ballet in 4 acts, mus. by Khachaturian, lib. Derzhavin, choreog. Anisimova. Comp. 1940--2, rev. 1952 and (with new plot) 1957. Prod. Leningrad 1942. Earlier version, Happiness, prod. Erevan 1939. Contains famous 'Sabre Dance'. Also 3 orch. suites.

Gazza ladra, La (The Thievish Magpie). Opera in 2 acts by Rossini to lib. by Gheradini after comedy La Pie voleuse, 1815, by d'Aubigny and Caigniez. Prod. Milan 1817, London 1821, Philadelphia 1827. Though the opera was not revived until 1965 in Florence, the ov., in Rossini's most brilliant style, has remained popular.

Gazzelloni, Severino (b Roccasecca, 1919). It flautist. Studied Rome, where he made début 1945. Prin. fl., It. Radio S.O. Renowned for playing avant-garde works by (inter alia) Maderna, Boulez, Berio, Nono, and Haubenstock-Ramati. Also specialist in baroque mus.

G.B.S.M. Graduate of Birmingham School of Music.

G Clef. See Great Staff.

Gebrauchsmusik (Ger.). Utility music. Term applied in 1920s to works (by Hindemith, Weill, K; Akrenek, and others, influenced by the poet Brecht) which were directed to some social or educational purpose instead of being 'art for art's sake'. Later disowned by Hindemith.

Gebunden (Ger.). Bound. Used musically in the sense of 'tied' or 'slurred'.

Gedackt, Gedeckt (Ger.). Covered. Soft organ stop approaching fl. quality. The name comes from end-plugged pipes of 8', 16', 4' (occasionally 2') pitch.

Gedämpft (Ger.). Damped. When applied to str. and brass instr., it means 'muted'; to drums, 'muffled'; and to pf., 'soft-pedalled'.

Gedda, Nicolai (b Stockholm, 1925). Swed. ten. of Russ. descent. Studied with his father, then at Stockholm Acad. Operatic début Stockholm 1951 in Sutermeister's Rote Stiefel, leading to appearances in Paris and London (CG 1954). Member NY Met. since 1957. Has sung most leading lyrical ten. roles in opera repertory and also specialized in operetta by Lehár, etc. Also frequent singer of Lieder and oratorio (has recorded Elgar's Dream of Gerontius).

Geddes, John Maxwell (b Glasgow, 1941). Scot. composer. Studied RSAM and in Copenhagen with Bentzon (1967). Works incl. sym., Portrait of a City for orch., ob. sonata, Apt for solo va., etc.

Gedeckt. See Gedackt.

Geehl, Henry (Ernest) (b London, 1881; d Beaconsfield, 1961). Eng. composer, cond., and pianist. Teacher at TCL from 1918. Had special interest in composing and arranging for brass band. Orch. Elgar's Severn Suite (1930) for brass band from composer's pf. score.

Gehend (Ger.). Going. Same as andante.

Geige (Ger., plural Geigen). Fiddle. Originally any bowed instr., now the vn.

Geigen (Principal). Organ stop; a slightly str.-toned diapason of 8' (sometimes 4') length and pitch.

Geigenwerk. Obsolete kbd. instr. invented in Nuremberg 1575 by Hans Haiden. A type of hurdy-gurdy with brass and steel str. activated by 5 or 6 parchment-covered wheels set in motion by treadle.

Geiringer, Karl (b Vienna, 1899). Amer. musicologist and writer of Austrian birth. Studied mus. history in Vienna with G. Adler and in Berlin with Kretzschmar. Curator of collections of Vienna Gesellschaft der Musikfreunde 1930--8. Ed. rare works by Haydn, Brahms, Schubert, Schumann, etc. From 1940 resident of USA. Prof. of mus. history and theory, Boston Univ., 1941--62. Prof. of mus. Univ. of California, Santa Barbara, 1962--72. Books incl. biographies of Haydn (1946, rev. 1961, 1982), and Brahms (1934), The Bach Family (1954), Structure of Beethoven's Diabelli Variations (1964), and Johann Sebastian Bach (1966). Geister Trio[fy75,1] (Ghost Trio). Name for Beethoven's Pf. Trio in D major, Op. 70 No. 1, comp. 1808. Mysterious atmosphere of slow movement, which has a theme intended for a projected Macbeth opera, gave rise to nickname.

Gekkin. Japanese str. instr. with circular body like banjo. Has 9 frets and 4 str., tuned in pairs.

Geliot, Michael (b London, 1933). Eng. opera and th. producer. Art. dir. WNO 1969--77. Translator of Mozart's Die Zauberflöte and Le Nozze di Figaro, and Weill's Mahagonny. Opera productions for SW, Scot. Opera, CG, Munich, Cassel, Zürich, Barcelona, etc.

Gellenflöte. (Ger.). Clarinet.

Gellhorn, Peter (b Breslau, 1912). Ger.-born cond., pianist, and composer. Studied Berlin Univ. and Mus. Acad. Settled in Eng. Mus. dir. Toynbee Hall, London, 1935--9; ass. cond. SW Opera 1941--3; cond. Royal Carl Rosa Opera 1945--6; on cond. and mus. staff CG 1947--53; cond. and ch. master Glyndebourne, 1954--61 and from 1974; dir., BBC Chorus 1961--72. Co-founder and mus. dir., Opera Barga, Italy, 1967--9.

Geminiani, Francesco (b Lucca, 1687; d Dublin, 1762). It. violinist and composer. Pupil of Corelli and Scarlatti. In Naples opera orch. 1711--14. Lived in London from 1714, with intervals in Dublin 1733--40 and 1759--62, and Paris 1749--55. His Art of Playing the Violin (London 1751) was first vn.method ever to be pubd. Also wrote Art of Accompaniment (1754) and Art of Playing the Guitar (1760). Comp. 42 concerti grossi, over 40 vn. sonatas, 6 vc. sonatas, ballet La foresta incantata (Paris 1754), etc.

Gemshorn (Ger.). Chamois horn. (1) Obsolete medieval type of fl. with sharply-tapering conical bore, made from animal horn (cow, ox, or goat, rather than chamois). Disappeared from use in mid-16th cent. (2) Light-toned organ stop with conical pipes, usually 4' length and pitch.

Gendron, Maurice (b Nice, 1920). Fr. cellist and cond. Studied Nice and Paris Cons. Début London 1945 (f. Eur. p. of Prokofiev's vc. conc., Op. 58). Played at Aldeburgh Fests. Worldwide tours as conc. soloist and recitalist. Master classes in Fr. and Ger. Ass. cond. Bournemouth Sinfonietta 1971--2.

Genée, Franz (Friedrich Richard) (b Danzig, 1823; d Baden, 1895). Ger. composer and cond. Th. cond. in various cities from 1848; cond. at Theater an der Wien, Vienna, 1868--78. Comp. over a dozen operettas, librettist of others incl. Die Fledermaus.

Generalbass (Ger.). See Basso continuo.

General Pause. Rest or pause for all the executants.

General William Booth Enters into Heaven.(1) Song by Ives to words by Vachel Lindsay, for v. and pf., 1914, also for bass soloist, ch., and chamber orch. Pubd. in collection 19 Songs. (2) For ten., male vv., and chamber orch., 1932, by Philip James.

Genoveva. Opera in 4 acts, Op. 81, by R. Schumann, lib. R. Reinick adapted from plays by Tieck (1799) and Hebbel (1843). Prod. Leipzig 1850, London 1893.

Gentele, Goeran (b Stockholm, 1917; d Sardinia, 1972). Swed. impresario and opera dir. Began career as actor, play producer, and film dir. Staged Menotti's Consul for Stockholm Royal Opera, 1952, joined staff 1953, gen. man. 1963--71 during which period the co. visited Eng., Ger., and Can. Appointed gen. man., NY Met. 1970, but was killed in car crash on eve of first season of prods.

Gentlemen's Concerts. Series of concerts in Manchester begun as gathering of amateur flautists c.1770. Concert hall built 1777. Gave enterprising programmes but declined in 1840s. Revived by appointment of Charles Hallé as cond. 1850, but subsequently overshadowed by foundation of Hallé's own concerts and orch. 1858. Survived until 1920.

Gentle Shepherd, The. Scot. ballad opera in 5 acts to lib. by Allan Ramsay who selected traditional airs as mus. (1728) for what was orig. (1725) a comedy without songs. Prod. Edinburgh 1729, London 1730.

Genzmer, Harald (b Blumenthal, Bremen, 1909). Ger. composer. Studied with Hindemith in Berlin. Breslau Opera 1934--7. Prof. of comp. Hochschule für Musik, Freiburg, 1946--56, Akademie der Tonkunst, Munich, 1957. Made special study of elec. instr. the Trautonium for which he wrote 2 concs. (1939, 1952). Other works incl. Bremen Symphony, Sym. No. 1, Concerto for Orchestra, Music for strings, concs. for pf., vc., fl. (2), and ob., choral works, str. qt., harp septet, 2 fl. sonatas, 2 vn. sonatas, recorder sonata, suite for Trautonium and pf., etc. His Mass in E (1953) is highly regarded.

Gerhard, Roberto (b Valls, Tarragona, 1896; d Cambridge, 1970). Composer and pianist of Swiss parentage who identified himself with Sp. mus. and eventually became Eng. citizen. Studied with Granados (pf.) and Pedrell (comp.) in Barcelona 1915--22, and with Schoenberg in Vienna and Berlin, 1924--8. Returned to Barcelona to teach 1929 but moved to Eng. during Sp. Civil War. Influenced at first by Debussy and Ravel, Gerhard became a Schoenberg pupil on the strength of his 7 Hai-Ku for sop., wind, and pf. (1922). His wind quintet (1928) was basically serial but not 12-note and, despite the influence of Schoenberg, his mus. of this date remained tonal in essence and had a distinctive Sp. melodic and rhythmic flavour. On settling in Cambridge in 1940 he seemed to expand as a composer, this period of his development culminating in the 3-act Sheridan opera The Duenna (1947, rev. 1950) where a Sp. idiom is combined with tonal, bitonal, and serial harmonic styles. For 3 years Gerhard reassessed his attitude to Schoenbergian methods and studied the serial opinions of Hauer and A. Habá. His pf. conc. (1951) was consistently 12-note but was not 'strict' and drew on early Sp. kbd. styles. In a series of splendidly individual works from 1952 onwards, Gerhard adopted Habá's 'athematicism'. Sometimes, as in his 3rd Sym. ('Collages'), he combined orch. sound with elect. tape. All his mus. has imaginative genius and colour, its fundamentally lyrical and original nature never being sacrificed to doctrinaire procedures. Prin. works:

opera: [fy75,1]The Duenna (after Sheridan) (1945--7, rev. 1950) (BBC broadcast 1949, concert perf. Wiesbaden 1951).

ballets: Ariel (1934), Soirées de Barcelone (1936--8), Alegrias (1942), Pandora (1944), Don Quixote (1940--1).

orch: Hommage à Pedrell, sym. (1941); vn. conc. (1942--3); pf. conc., with str. (1951); Sym. No. 1 (1952--3), No. 2 (1957--9, recomp. as Metamorphoses 1967--8), No. 3 ('Collages') (1960), No. 4 ('New York') (1967); hpd. conc. with str. and perc. (1955--6); Concerto for Orchestra (1965); Epithalamion for orch. (1966); Hymnody for 11 players (1963); Leo, chamber sym. for 10 players (1969).

voice[nm]

s) [smand instr: L'Infantament meravellos de Shahrazada, sop. and pf. (1917); 7 Hai-Ku, v. and 5 instr. (1922); The Akond of Swat, v. and perc. (1954); The Plague for speaker, ch., and orch. (after Camus) (1963--4).

chamber music: Pf. Trio (1918); Va. Sonata (1950); Str. Qt. No. 1 (1950--5), No. 2 (1960--2); Nonet for 8 wind instr. and accordion (1956); Libra, fl., cl., vn., guitar, pf., perc. (1968); vc. sonata (1956).

incidental music: Cristóbal Colón (Madariaga, BBC 1943); Don Quixote (Linklater, BBC 1940); Conquistador (MacLeish, BBC 1953); and for several Shakespeare plays.

Gerhardt, Elena (b Leipzig, 1883; d London, 1961). Ger. mez. (orig. sop.). Studied Leipzig Cons. and with A. Nikisch, who later often acted as her accompanist. Début 1903. Rejected opera in favour of the recital platform, becoming outstanding exponent of Ger. Lieder, esp. Wolf, Brahms, Schubert, R. Strauss. Eng. début 1906, Amer. 1912. Settled in London 1934, becoming teacher.

Gericke, Wilhelm (b Schwanberg, 1845; d Vienna, 1925). Austrian cond. and composer (under pseudonym Wenzel Ecker). Studied under Dessooff at Vienna Cons. Th. cond., Linz, from 1865; 2nd cond. Vienna Opera from 1874. Succeeded Brahms as cond. of Gesellschaft Konzerte, Vienna, 1880. Cond. Boston S.O. 1884--9, returning to Vienna but resuming Boston post 1898--1906, when he retired. Comp. operetta, requiem, orch. mus., songs, etc.

German Dance. See Deutscher Tanz.

German, (Sir) Edward (German Edward Jones) (b Whitchurch, Salop, 1862; d London, 1936). Welsh composer. Studied RAM 1880--4; played in th. orchs., soon becoming cond. Mus. dir., Globe Th. from 1888, writing incidental mus. for Shakespeare's plays which made him famous. Greatest success was patriotic operetta Merrie England (1902). Knighted 1928. Prin. works:

light operas: [fy75,1] The Emerald Isle (1901, completion of Sullivan's last work), Merrie England (1902), A Princess of Kensington (1902), Tom Jones (1907), Fallen Fairies (1909).

orch: Syms. No. 1 (1887, rev. 1890) and No. 2 ('Norwich', 1893), Welsh Rhapsody (1904), Theme and 6 Diversions (1919).

theatre music: Richard III (1889), Henry VIII (1892), Romeo and Juliet (1895), Nell Gwyn (1900).

Germani, Fernando (b Rome, 1906). It. org., composer, and scholar. Trained Rome Cons. and Papal Institute of Church Mus. Organist St Peter's, Rome, 1948--59. Head of org. studies, Curtis Institute, Philadelphia, 1936--8. London début 1936. First org., St Peter's, Rome, 1948--59. World-wide recital tours. Ed. of Frescobaldi's org. works (1936) and author of an org. method (1942--52).

German Requiem, A (Brahms). See Deutsches Requiem, Ein.

German Sixth. Type of augmented 6th chord.

German Suites. Unauthorized title for the set of 6 kbd. partitas by J.S. Bach. See also French Suites; English Suites; Klavierübung.

Gershwin, George (b Brooklyn, NY, 1898; d Hollywood, Calif., 1937). Amer. composer and pianist. Son of Russ. Jewishmigrants who went to USA c.1893 (family name Gershovitz). Pf. lessons 1913 from Charles Hambitzer; later studied theory and harmony with Edward Kilenyi for whom he wrote a str. qt. (1919). In 1914 leftschool to work as pianist and 'song plugger' for Remick, a publisher of popular mus. Wrote his first song in 1916 and his first Broadway musical, La La Lucille, in 1919. For the next 14 yearsa Gershwin musical was a feature of NY theatrical life. His first outstanding`hit' was the song Swanee (1919), which became assoc. with Al Jolson. In 1924 he enjoyed success in a new genre, that of applying jazzidioms to concert works, when his Rhapsody in Blue for pf. and orch.had its f.p. From then until the end of his life he produced larger-scale works alongside the songs (many with words by his elder brother Ira (Israel)) he wrote for musicals and, after 1931, films. The Pf. Conc. of 1925 was followed by An American in Paris, a second Rhapsody, the Cuban Overture, and in 1935 by the opera Porgy and Bess which is still the only opera by an Amer. composer to become est. in the repertory. Gershwin's melodic gift was phenomenal. His songs contain the essence of NY in the 1920s and have deservedly become classics of their kind, part of the 20th-cent. folk-song tradition in the sense that they are popular mus. which has been spread by oral tradition (for many must have sung a Gershwin song without having any idea who wrote it). His larger-scale works, melodically remarkable as might be expected, suffer from his haphazard mus. education and lack of grounding in counterpoint, theory, etc. (Rhapsody in Blue was orchestrated by Ferde Grofé, but Gershwin himself scored the later works.) He went for lessons to Rubin Goldmark, Henry Cowell, and Joseph Schillinger, and there can be little doubt that had he lived longer he would have progressed to considerable symphonic achievement. As it is, his mixture of the primitive and the sophisticated gives his mus. an individuality and appeal which show no sign of diminishing. Prin. works:

operas: Blue Monday (1-act; item in George White's Scandals 1922 but withdrawn after 1 perf.; retitled 135th Street and revived Miami 1970); Porgy and Bess (1934--5).

orch: Rhapsody in Blue (pf. and orch.) (1924); Pf. Conc. in F major (1925); An American in Paris (1928); Second Rhapsody (pf. and orch.) (1931); Cuban Overture (1932); 'I Got Rhythm' Variations (pf. and orch.) (1934).

musicals: The Passing Show of 1916, La La Lucille (1919), George White's Scandals (1920-4), Sweet Little Devil (1924), Primrose (1924), Lady Be Good (1924), Song of the Flame (1925), Tell Me More (1925), Tip Toes (1925), Oh, Kay (1926, lyrics by P.G. Wodehouse), Strike up the Band (1927, 1930), Funny Face (1927), Rosalie (1928), Treasure Girl (1928), Show Girl (1929), GirlCrazy (1930), Of Thee I Sing (1931, lyrics by George F. Kaufman), Pardon my English (1933), Let 'em eat Cake (1933).

films: Delicious (1931), Shall We Dance?, A Damsel in Distress (1937), The Goldwyn Follies (1938), The Shocking Miss Pilgrim (1946), Kiss Me, Stupid (1964).

piano: 3 Preludes (1926) (transcr. for vn. and pf. by Heifetz).

songs: Among the best of hundreds of songs are Swanee, The Man I Love, Embraceable You, The Way You Look Tonight, I Got Rhythm, Fascinating Rhythm, 'S Wonderful, Lady Be Good, and Love Walked In. The popular Summertime is from Porgy and Bess.

Gertler, André (b Budapest, 1907). Hung. violinist. Studied Budapest Acad., pupil of Hubay and Kodály. Frequently gave recitals with Bartók as pianist. Settled in Brussels where he founded Gertler Qt., 1931--51. On staff Brussels Cons. 1940--54. Conc. soloist with leading orchs. Prof., Cologne Acad. of mus. 1954--9, Hanover Acad. from 1964. Brother of painter Mark Gertler.

Gervaise, Claude (fl. 16th cent.). Fr. composer and viol player. Edited books of Danceries and composed 46 chansons. Employed as editor by Attaignant.

Ges (Ger.). Gb. Geses, Gbb.

Gesamtkunstwerk (Ger.). Unified work of art. Wagner's term for a dramatic work in which drama, music, poetry, song, and paintings should be united into a new and complete art-form. This theory is expounded in his Das Kunstwerk der Zukunft (The Art-work of the Future, 1849).

Gesang der Jünglinge (Song of the Young Boys). Elec. comp. (on tape) by Stockhausen, 1955--6, comprising spoken and sung boy's v. so altered and multiplied by various devices that it sounds to be many vv., with elec. sounds added.

Gesang der Parzen (Song of the Fates). Ballad, Op. 89, by Brahms for 6-part ch. and orch., comp. 1882. Text by Goethe.

Geschöpfe des Prometheus, Die (Beethoven). See Prometheus, Die Geschöpfe des.

Gesellschaft der Musikfreunde, Wien (Society of Friends of Music, Vienna). Founded 1813, through efforts of Joseph von Sonnleithner, with Beethoven's friend and pupil, Archduke Rudolph, as patron, to perf. oratorios in the Riding School, but later had own home. Also founded cons., library, and museum. A choral soc., Singverein, of over 300 members, was founded 1858, and an Orchesterverein in 1860. Gesellschaft concerts were cond. by members until 1851 when Hellmesberger was appointed. Successors incl. Brahms, Gericke, Richter, Franz Schalk, and Furtwängler. The soc. archives contain priceless manuscripts by Beethoven (Sinfonia Eroica), Haydn, Mozart, Schubert, Schumann, Brahms, Wagner, and Johann Strauss II. Also possesses Beethoven's ear-trumpet.

Gestopft (Ger.). Stopped. (1) 'Stopped' hn. notes are those prod. with the bell of the instr. more or less closed by the hand. (2) An equivalent for gedämpft.

Gesualdo, Don Carlo, Prince of Venosa (b Naples, c.1560; d Gesualdo, Avellino, 1613). It. composer and lutenist. Pubd. 4 books of madrigals from 1594 to 1596 when at court of the Estensi at Ferrara. Returned to Naples 1597. Two further books of madrigals pubd. 1611; these contain harmonic complexity and modernity far in advance of his contemporaries: in the 20th cent., for example, these madrigals inspired and fascinated Stravinsky. Also wrote motets and religious songs. In 1590 murdered his first wife and her lover, an event which is explored in a book on Gesualdo by Cecil Gray and Philip Heseltine (1926).

Geteilt, getheilt (Ger.). Divided, e.g. of vns., corresponding to divisi. Sometimes abbreviated as get.

Gevaert, Fran;Alcois (Auguste) (b Huysse, 1828; d Brussels, 1908). Belgian historian and composer. Wrote operas and operettas. Mus. dir., Paris Opéra 1867--70. Dir., Brussels Cons. 1871--1908, succeeding Fétis. Pubd. treatise on orchestration, 1885.

Gewandhaus (Ger.). Cloth hall. Leipzig's concert hall. Concerts began in Bach's time, being held in a private house, then in an inn. In 1781 they moved to the Gewandhaus, where they were given until 1885, when a new hall was built.

Gewöhnlich (Ger.). Usual. Used in scores to countermand previous indication that the instr. concerned was to play in some unusual way, e.g. the vn. after it has been playing am Griffbrett (near the fingerboard).

Gezogen (Ger.). Drawn. (1) Drawn out, sustained. ^ (2) Same as portamento.

G.G.S.M. Graduate of Guildhall School of Music.

Ghedini, Giorgio (Federico) (b Cuneo, 1892; d Nervi, 1965). It. composer. Studied at Turin Cons. and Bologna Cons. Ass. cond. Teatro Regio, Turin. Prof. of harmony and comp. Turin

Cons. to 1937, Parma Cons. 1938--41, Milan Cons. 1941--51. Ed. works by Monteverdi, A. and G. Gabrieli, Frescobaldi, Schütz, etc. 8 operas incl. Re Hassan (1938), Billy Budd (1949), and L'ipocrita felice ('The Happy Hypocrite', Max Beerbohm, 1956). Also wrote sym., Concerto dell' albatro, Canzoni for orch.; pf. conc., double vc. conc., 2 vn. concs., va. conc.; chamber mus., choral works, and songs.

Gheyn, Matthias van den (b Tirlemont, 1721; d Louvain, 1785). Flemish organist and composer. Carilloneur at Louvain from 1741. Wrote org. works, hpd.sonatas, etc.

Ghiaurov, Nicolai (b Velingrad, Bulgaria, 1929). Bulgarian bass. Played vn., cl., tb., and pf. by ageof 14. Studied Sofia Mus. Acad. from 1948 and at Moscow Cons. Opera début Sofia 1955 (Don Basilio in Rossini's Il barbiere di Siviglia). Member of Bolshoy Opera from 1956. Vienna début 1962. Frequent guest singer at Milan, CG, Salzburg, NY Met., especially in Boris Godunov and as King Philip in Verdi's Don Carlos.

Ghiselin, Jean (d c.1508). Flemish composer of masses, songs, motets, etc. May have been pupil of Ockegem. Connected with court at Ferrara from *c.*1490 to 1505 but was singer at church in Florence 1492--3. In 1503 went to Paris to escort Josquin Després to Ferrara on his appointment as maestro di cappella. Pubd. vol. of masses 1503. In 1504--5 Ghiselin, Obrecht, and Després worked in Ferrara. Returned to Netherlands 1505. Comps. noted for technical skill.

Ghislanzoni, Antonio (b Lecco, 1824; d Caprino-Bergamasco, 1893). It. writer. Trained as bar. Ed. Gazzetta musicale, Milan; author of at least 80 opera libs., incl. that for Verdi's Aida.

Ghost Trio (Beethoven). See Geister Trio.

Giacomelli, Geminiano (b Piacenza, *c.*1692; d Loreto, 1740). It. composer. Wrote 19 operas, incl. Cesar in Egitto (Milan 1735). Choirmaster, court of Parma 1719--27 and 1732--7, Piacenza 1727--32.

Giannini, Vittorio (b Philadelphia, 1903; d NY, 1966). Amer. composer. Studied Milan Cons. and Juilliard Sch. (pupil of R. Goldmark). Wrote 8 operas incl. The Taming of the Shrew, The Scarlet Letter, Beauty and the Beast, and The Servant of Two Masters, also 5 syms., conc. grosso for str.; Stabat Mater, Requiem (Vienna 1937); conc. for pf., 2 pf., org., vn.; str. qt., pf. quintet, pf. sonata, etc.

Gianni Schicchi. 1-act opera by Puccini to lib. by Forzano based on incident in Dante's Inferno. Comp. 1917--18. Prod. NY Met. 1918, Rome 1919, London 1920. The 3rd of Puccini's Trittico, the others being Il tabarro and Suor Angelica.

Gianoncelli, Bernardo (d before 1650). It. composer and lutenist in first half of 17th cent.; one of last It. composers for lute. Little known biographically. In 1650 his widow pubd. Il liuto di Bernardo Gianoncelli in his memory (only survivingcopy in Biblioteca Nazionale Marciana, Venice). Contains several suites, arr. according to key. Best-known piece was Bergamasca, of which a lute arr. by Chilesotti was pubd. 1891. Also orch. version by Respighi. Opening theme of Bergamasca used by BBC Radio 3 to introduce programme 'Homeward Bound'.

'Giant' Fugue. Nickname for Bach's organ fugue in D minor in Part III of the Klavierübung. So-called because of giant-like strides of a pedal figure: [xm52] Giardini, Felice de[fy75,1] (b Turin, 1716; d Moscow, 1796). It. violinist and composer. Chorister, Milan Cath. Played in opera orchs. in Rome and Naples. Toured Ger. and Eng. 1750, settling in latter as leader of orch. at It. Opera, which he managed from 1756--65. Leader of orch. at 3 Choirs Fest.

1770--6. Left Eng. 1784, returning 1790 to start comic opera co. in London. It failed and he took it to Moscow. Wrote operas, 54 vn. sonatas, 12 vn. concs., 18 str. qts., etc.

Gibbons, Christopher (b Westminster, 1615; d Westminster, 1676). Eng. composer and organist, second son of O. Gibbons. Organist Winchester Cath. 1638; Westminster Abbey, Chapel Royal and private organist to Charles II, 1660. Wrote str. fantasies, anthems, masques, etc.

Gibbons, Orlando (b Oxford, 1583; d Canterbury, 1625). Eng. composer, organist, and virginalist. Entered choir of King's Coll., Cambridge, 1596. Organist Chapel Royal from 1604. Mus. B. Cambridge Univ. 1606. Chamber musician to King, 1619, organist Westminster Abbey from 1623. Composer of noble church mus., incl. many anthems (e.g. This is the Record of John), motets and madrigals (e.g. The Silver Swan), 40 kbd. pieces, incl. contribution to Parthenia, 30 fantasies for viols, several pavans and galliards, and 3 In nomines. One of the greatest of the early Eng. composers. His father, William, brothers Edward, Ellis, and Ferdinando, and son Christopher Gibbons were musicians.

Gibbs, (Cecil) Armstrong (b Great Baddow, 1889; d Chelmsford, 1960). Eng. composer. Studied RCM with Charles Wood and Vaughan Williams. On staff RCM 1921--39. Comp. opera, incidental mus., cantatas, church mus., but best known for waltz Dusk and for his many songs, several being settings of Walter De la Mare (such as the popular Five Eyes).

Gibet, Le (The Gallows). Second of 3 pf. pieces by Ravel under title Gaspard de la Nuit, 1908.

Gibson, (Sir) Alexander (Drummond) (b Motherwell, Scotland, 1926). Scot. cond. Studied Glasgow Univ., RCM, Salzburg Mozarteum, and Acad. Chigiana, Siena. Répétiteur and ass. cond., SW Opera 1951--2, ass. cond. BBC Scot. S.O. 1952--4, staff cond. SW Opera 1954--7, mus. dir. 1957--9. Prin. cond. Scot. Nat. Orch. 1959--84. Founder and mus. dir. Scot. Opera from 1962. C.B.E. 1967. Knighted 1977.

Gielen, Michael (Andreas) (b Dresden, 1927). Ger.-Argentinian composer, cond., and pianist. Studied Buenos Aires, where he perf. all Schoenberg's pf. works. Mus. staff, Teatro Colón, Buenos Aires, 1947--51. Joined staff of Vienna State Opera 1951, becoming resident cond. 1954--60. Chief cond. Royal Swed. Opera, Stockholm, 1960--5. Cond. W. Ger. Radio Orch., Cologne, 1965--9. Mus. dir., Nat. Orch. of Belg. 1969--72; mus. dir. Netherlands Opera from 1972. NY début 1971. Mus. dir., Frankfurt, 1977--87. Chief guest cond., BBC S.O. from 1979. Mus. dir., Cincinnati S.O. 1980--6. Cond. Baden-Baden Radio S.O. from 1986. Particularly noted for championship of contemp. music. Comps. incl. chamber cantatas, choral works, and chamber mus.

Giesecking, Walter (Wilhelm) (b Lyons, 1895; d London, 1956). Ger. pianist. Studied Hanover Cons. Début 1912 followed by int. tours. London début 1923. NY 1926. Especially renowned for playing of Debussy and Ravel, but also for Beethoven and Brahms. Comp. pf. pieces and songs.

Giga. See Gigue.

Gigault, Nicolas (b? Paris, c.1627; d Paris, 1707). Fr. organist and composer. Org. at four Paris churches (St Honoré 1646--52, St Nicolas-des-Champs 1652--1707, St Martin-des-Champs from 1673, Hôpital du St Esprit from 1685) and owned large collection of instr., both keyboard and stringed. Regarded as equal of Couperin as executant. His Livre de musique (1683) contains 20 noëls with variations, the earliest known example of this genre.

Gigg, Gigge. Old Eng. spellings of Jig or Gigue.

Gigli, Beniamino (b Recanati, 1890; d Rome, 1957). It. ten. Studied Rome with Rosati. First prize int. contest, Parma, 1914. Début Rovigo 1914, followed by appearances in Berlin, Dresden, Turin, Rome, Madrid, and Monte Carlo where he created role of Ruggero in Puccini's La rondine 1917. Milan début 1918 with Toscanini. NY Met. 1920--32, 1938--9; CG 1930--1, 1938--9, 1946. Still sang superbly on tour of USA 1955. Excelled as Rodolfo (Bohème), Duke of Mantua (Rigoletto), and Cavaradossi (Tosca).

Gigout, Eugène (b Nancy, 1844; d Paris, 1925). Fr. organist and composer. Studied under Saint-Saëns at École Niedermeyer, Paris, becoming prof. there 1863--85 and 1900--5. Organist St Augustin, 1863, touring widely and becoming known for brilliant improvisations. Founded own org. sch. 1885. Prof. of org., Paris Cons., from 1911. Comp. many works for org.

Gigue, Giga (Fr., It.). Jig. (1) A lively rustic Eng., Scot., and Irish dance type (see Jig), usually in compound duple or triple time, with the characteristic rhythm [xf; Ya ; Yb ; Ya[cb-3]; dp[cb0] ; Yb [rfetc. Eng. virginalists were first to use the gigue, which was introduced to the Continent by Froberger, 1657, though the term had appeared in 1648 in a lute piece by Ebner. Pieces in gigue style were absorbed into the suite as the customary closing movements: in Bach's gigues the 2 halves of binary form often opened in something like fugal style, the subject of the first half being often inverted as that of the 2nd half. (Occasionally Bach applied the term 'gigue' loosely to a piece in simple duple or quadruple time.) (2) Medieval name for str. instr.

Gigues (Debussy). See Images.

Gilbert, Anthony (b London, 1934). Eng. composer. Studied Morley Coll., 1958--62 (harmony, etc. with A. Milner, comp. with Walter Goehr). Lecturer in comp. Goldsmiths' Coll., London Univ., 1969--73. Ed. of contemporary mus. Schott's, London, from 1965. Course tutor in comp. RNCM from 1973. Comps. incl. Sinfonia for chamber orch. (1965); Regions for 2 chamber orchs. (1966); 9 or 10 Osannas for cl., hn., vn., vc., pf. (1967); Spell Respell for elec. bassoon cl., pf. (1968); Mother, for chamber ens. and elec. devices (1969); The Scene Machine, 1-act opera, lib. G. McBeth (1970, prod. Cassel 1971, SW 1972); The Incredible Flute Music, fl. and pf. (1968); String quartet with piano pieces (1972); Cantata (1972); Symphony (1973); Canticle I, for brass and cl. (1973), Canticle II for 6 male vv. (1974); Ghost and Dream Dancing (Studies for Orch. I) (1974); Inscapes for sop., reader, 2 reeds, and percussionist (1975); Crow-Cry for orch. (1976--7); Welkin for sch. orch. (1976); The Chakravaka Bird, song-drama for radio (1976--7); Treatment of Silence, solo vn., and tape (1978); Towards Asavari, pf. and small orch. (1978); Long White Moonlight, sop. and db. (1980); Calls Around Chungmori, ens. and audience (1980); Vasanta With Dancing, chamber ens. (1981).

Gilbert, Geoffrey (Winzer) (b Liverpool, 1914). Eng. flautist and teacher. Studied RMCM. Hallé Orch. 1930--3; LPO 1933--9, 1945; BBC S.O. 1948--52; RPO 1957--63; prof. of fl. TCL 1947--65, GSM 1948--69, RMCM 1959--69; cond. in residence Stetson Univ., Florida, 1966--9, prof. of fl. and dir. of instr. studies from 1969. O.B.E. 1977.

Gilbert, Henry (Franklin Belknap) (b Somerville, Mass., 1868; d Cambridge, Mass., 1928). Amer. composer. Studied Boston, comp. pupil of MacDowell. Great interest in folk music and Negro melodies. Works incl. Comedy-Overture on Negro Themes (1905), 3 American Dances (1911), Negro Rhapsody (1913), symphonic prol. Riders to the Sea (1915), ballet Dance in Place Congo (1918).

Gilbert, Kenneth (b Montreal, 1931). Canadian harpsichordist and organist. Studied at Montreal Cons., then in Paris with Duruflé, N. Boulanger, and Leonhardt. Church org. in Montreal 1955--67. London début 1968. Ass. prof., Laval Univ., Quebec, from 1969. Ed. of F. Couperin's Pièces de clavecin.

Gilbert, William Schwenk (b London, 1836; d Harrow Weald, 1911). Eng. poet and playwright, librettist of 14 operettas (the 'Savoy Operas') with Sullivan from 1871 to 1896. Knighted 1907.

Gilels, Emil (b Odessa, 1916). Soviet pianist, pupil of Heinrich Neuhaus. Studied in Odessa, début there 1929. First prize Brussels pf. competition 1938. Début in Paris and London 1954, Philadelphia 1955. Brilliant interpreter of Prokofiev sonatas, and also of classics.

Giles, Nathaniel (b ?Worcester, c.1558; d Windsor, 1634). Eng. composer and organist. Organist of Worcester Cath. 1581--5, then of St George's, Windsor, from 1585, and Chapel Royal from 1597. Comp. church mus.

Gillis, Don (b Cameron, Missouri, 1912; d Columbia, S. Carolina, 1978). Amer. composer. Studied at, and later taught at, Texas Christian Univ. Played tb. in jazz bands. Worked as composer, arranger, and trombonist, Fort Worth Radio, Texas, 1932--5. Programme dir. and producer NCB, NY, 1944--54, working with Toscanini. His comps. are in a popular and traditional style, influenced by jazz, hymns, dances, and Sibelius, Strauss, etc. Composer of 10 syms. and Sym. No. 5; FD ('for fun'), 2 pf. concs., The Crucifixion (oratorio), str. qts., comic operas.

Gilly, Dinh (b Algiers, 1877; d London, 1940). Fr. bar. Studied Paris Cons. Début Paris 1899, Paris Opéra 1902--8, NY Met. 1909--14, CG 1911. Settled in Eng., appearing with Beecham, Carl Rosa, and Brit. Nat. opera cos. Founded singing sch. in London with wife, Edith Furmedge.

Gilman, Lawrence (b Flushing, NY, 1878; d Franconia, New Hampshire, 1939). Amer. critic, author, and journalist. Mus. critic Harper's Weekly 1901--13, NY Herald Tribune 1923--39. Programme-annotator NY Phil. Soc. and Philadelphia Orch. 1921--39. Author of books on MacDowell, Strauss's Salomé, Wagner, and Toscanini.

Gilson, Paul (b Brussels, 1865; d Brussels, 1942). Belg. composer and critic. Studied Brussels Cons. 1887--9 with Gevaert. Mus. critic Le Soir 1906--14, founded La Revue musicale belge 1924. Strong influence on younger school of Belg. composers 1920--40. Inspector gen. of Belg. sch. mus. 1908--30. Comp. operas, cantatas, orch. works, and chamber mus.

Gimel. See Gymel.

Ginastera, Alberto (b Buenos Aires, 1916; d Geneva, 1983). Argentinian composer. Studied at Williams Cons., Buenos Aires, 1928--35, and Nat. Cons. 1936--8. Ballet suite Panambi performed in Buenos Aires 1937. Guggenheim fellowship 1942. Lived in NY 1945--7. Returned to Argentina 1948 to teach and compose (though falling foul of Peron régime). Founded various mus. schs., incl. Centre for Advanced Mus. Studies, Buenos Aires, of which he became dir. 1962--9. Settled in Geneva 1971. His mus. was in a nationalistic idiom up to about 1958 when he adopted more advanced procedures incl. serialism (first apparent in the 1952 pf. sonata), microtones, and aleatory rhythms. His operas have attracted wide attention. Works incl.:

operas: Don Rodrigo, 3 acts (prod. Buenos Aires, 1964), Bomarzo, 2 acts (prod. Washington 1967, London 1976), Beatrix Cenci, 2 acts (prod. Washington 1971).

ballets: Panambi (1934--6), Estancia (1941).

orch: Suite, Panambi (1937), Ollantay (1947), Variaciones concertantes (1953), Pampeana No. 3 (1954), Concerto per corde (1965), Estudios sinfónicos (1967), Glosses sobre temes de Pau Casals (1976--8), Iubilum (1980).

concertos: pf. No. 1 (1961), No. 2 (1972), vn. (1963), harp (1956), vc. No. 1 (1968), No. 2 (1980).

church and orch: Ps. 150 (1938), Turbae ad Passionem Gregorianam, 3 singers, boy's ch., ch., and orch. (1974).

voice and orch: Cantáta para América mágica for sop. and perc. (1960), Sinfonia, 'Don Rodrigo' for sop. and orch. (1964), cantata Bomarzo for narrator, bar., and orch. (1964, distinct from opera of same name), Milena for sop. and orch. (1971), Serenata, vc., bar., and chamber orch. (1973).

chamber music: Duo for fl. and ob. (1945); Str. Qts., No. 1 (1948), No. 2 (1958), No. 3 (1973, with sop.); pf. sonatas, No. 1 (1952), No. 2 (1981), No. 3 (1982); pf. quintet (1963); Pune;Atna No. 2 'Hommage à Paul Sacher', vc. (1976); guitar sonata (1976); vc. sonata (1979); Variations and Toccata sopra 'Aurora Lucis Rutilat', org. (1980).

Gioconda, La (The Joyful Girl). Opera in 4 acts by Ponchielli, lib. 'Tobia Gorrio' (Arrigo Boito), based on Hugo's Angelo, Tyran de Padoue (1835). Prod. Milan 1876, CG and NY Met. 1883. Contains in Act 3 Sc. 2 the ballet 'Dance of the Hours'.

Giocoso (It.). Jocose, merry, playful. So the adverb giocosamente.

Gioia, Gioja (It.). Joy. So gioiante, gioioso; gioiosamente, joyful.

Gioielli della Madonna, I (The Jewels of the Madonna). Opera in 3 acts by Wolf-Ferrari, lib. Golisciani and Zangarini. Prod. Berlin 1911 in version by H. Liebstöckl, Chicago and CG 1912, Genoa 1913, Wexford 1981.

Giordani (Giordano), Giuseppe (b Naples, c.1753; d Fermo, 1798). It. composer popularly called Giordanello. Ch.-master Fermo from 1791. Wrote operas, church mus., instr. works, and, it is believed, the popular song Caro mio ben.

Giordani (Giordano), Tommaso (b Naples, c.1733; d Dublin, 1806). It. composer and cond. Began career as singer. Settled in London 1753, active as opera impresario and composer of over 50 operas. Comp. songs for f.p. of Sheridan's The Critic (1779). Settled in Dublin 1782.

Giordano, Umberto (b Foggia, 1867; d Milan, 1948). It. composer. Studied Naples Cons. First success 1892 in Rome with opera Malavita, an example of the verismo sch. which he continued to exploit. Later successes were Andrea Chenier (1896), Fedora (1898), and Madame Sans-Gêne (1915).

Giorno di regno, Un (King for a Day). Comic opera in 2 acts by Verdi to lib. by Romani orig. written (as Il finto Stanislao) for Gyrowetz in 1818. Comp. 1840. Prod. Milan 1840, NY 1960, London 1961, Wexford 1981.

Giovanna d'Arco (Joan of Arc). Opera in 4 acts by Verdi, lib. Solera based on Schiller's Die Jungfrau von Orleans (1801). Comp. 1844--5. Prod. Milan 1845, NY (concert) and London 1966.

Giovanelli, Ruggiero (b Velletri, Rome, 1560; d Rome, 1625). It. composer. Succeeded Palestrina in 1594 as maestro di cappella, St Peter's, Rome. Member of Sistine Choir, 1599. Wrote madrigals, 12-part Mass, and other church mus.

Giovanni da Cascia (da Firenze) (fl. 14th cent.). It. composer of madrigals, canzonets, etc., at Verona.

Gipps, Ruth (b Bexhill-on-Sea, 1921). Eng. composer, cond., oboist, and pianist. Studied RCM with Vaughan Williams, R. O. Morris, and Gordon Jacob (comp.), Kendall Taylor (pf.), and Leon Goossens (ob.). Oboist in professional orchs. and concert pianist until 1952, ch.-master City of Birmingham Choir, 1948--50; cond. London Repertoire Orch. from 1955; founder and cond. Chanticleer Orch. from 1961. Prof. at RCM from 1967. M.B.E. 1981. Comps. incl. 4 syms; concs. for pf., vn., vn. and va., ob., hn., and double bn; cantata Goblin Market; tone-poem for wind instrs.; Magnificat; and The Cat for 2 soloists, ch., orch.

Gipsy Baron, The (Strauss). See Zigeunerbaron, Der.

Gipsy Princess, The (Kálmán). See Csárdásfürstin, Die.

Gipsy Songs, Seven. For ten. and pf. by Dvořák, Op. 55, to words by Heyduk, comp. 1880. 1. My Song Resounds. 2. My Triangle is Singing. 3. Silent the Woods. 4. Songs my Mother Taught me. 5. Sound the Fiddle. 6. Clean Cotton Clothes. 7. To the Heights of Tatra.

Girl I left behind me, The. The words can be traced back to the end of the 18th cent.; so can the tune, sometimes known as Brighton Camp. It is played in the Brit. Army on occasions of departure.

Girl of the Golden West, The (Puccini). See Fanciulla del West, La.

Gis (Ger.). G#. Gisis, G##.

Giselle, ou Les Wilis (Giselle, or the Wilis). 'Fantastic ballet' in 2 acts, mus. Adam, choreog. Coralli and Perrot, f.p. Paris 1841. Lib. based on legend recounted by Heine. Carlotta Grisi danced first Giselle. F.p. London, Vienna, St Petersburg 1842. Modern prods. are based on Petipa's last St Petersburg prod. of 1884. The Wilis are the ghosts of girls who die before their intended marriages.

Gitano, gitana (Sp.). Gipsy.

Gitlis, Ivry (b Haifa, 1922). Israeli violinist. Gave first public concert at age of 8. Studied École Normale de Paris 1932--5, then with Enescu, Flesch, and Thibaud. Début with Brit. orchs. after Second World War. Won Thibaud Prize 1951. Début with Israel P.O. 1952. Settled in Paris. Noted for playing of contemporary mus.

Gittern. Medieval forerunner of guitar, heyday being 14th cent.

Giù (It.). Down, e.g. arcata in giù, 'down-bowed'.

Giuditta. Opera in 3 acts by Lehár, lib. Knepler and Löhner. Prod. Vienna 1934, with Tauber. Lehár's only opera.

Giuliani, Mauro (b Bisceglie, 1781; d Naples, 1829). It. guitar virtuoso. Self-taught. Lived in Vienna 1806--19, during which time he knew Beethoven. Toured Russ. and Eng. before settling in Naples. Comp. over 200 works for guitar.

Giulini, Carlo Maria (b Barletta, 1914). It. cond. Studied Accademia di Santa Cecilia, Rome. Mus. dir. It. Radio 1946--51. Opera début Bergamo 1950 (La traviata). Scala, Milan, 1951--6. Brit. début 1955 at Edinburgh Fest. when he cond. the Glyndebourne Co. in Verdi's Falstaff. Later cond. many London concerts with Philharmonia Orch. (memorable perfs. of Verdi Requiem) and was guest cond. Hallé Orch. 1968. CG 1958--67 (incl. celebrated Don Carlos 1958) and 1982 (Falstaff). Joint cond. Chicago S.O. (with Solti) 1969--72. Cond. Los Angeles P.O. 1978--84.

Giulio Cesare (Julius Caesar). (1) Opera in 3 acts by Handel, lib. N.F. Haym. Prod. London 1724, Northampton, Mass., 1927. (2) Opera in 3 acts by Malipiero, lib. composer, based on Shakespeare's play. Prod. Genoa 1936. (3) Other operas on this subject by Cavalli, Sartorio, Freschi, Keiser, and others.

Giustamente (It.). With exactitude i.e. unvarying speed and rhythm.

Giustiniana. Type of love song popular in 15th and 16th cents. named after poet Leonardo Giustiniani (c.1385--1446).

Giusto (It.). Just, strict. Allegro giusto means either a strict allegro or a moderate allegro (neither too fast nor too slow). Tempo giusto means either 'strict' time or 'suitable' time.

Glagolitic Mass (M'sa Glagolskaja). Mass for sop., cont., ten., bass, ch., and orch. by Janáć^;ek, comp. 1926, f.p. Brno 1927, Norwich 1930. Text adapted from Ordinary of the Mass by Milos^; Weingant. Movements entitled: Kyrie (Gospodi pomiluj); Gloria (Slava); Credo (Ve^;ruju); Sanctus (Svet); Agnus Dei (Agneč^;e Bo;Akzij). Vernacular version of Ordinary was taken by Janáć^;ek from church magazine. He mistakenly called Old Slavonic language of time of St Cyril and St Methodius (9th cent.) 'glagolitic', which properly refers only to Old Slavonic script and alphabet. Mus. contains important org. part.

Glanville-Hicks, Peggy (b Melbourne, Victoria, 1912). Australian-born composer (Amer. citizen 1948). Comp. lessons at 15 from Fritz Hart. Studied Melba Cons. 1929--31 and RCM (comp. with Vaughan Williams, pf. with A. Benjamin and C. Lambert). Later studied with Wellesz in Vienna and Boulangerin Paris. Lived in NY 1942--59, organizing concerts of modern mus. and working as critic of NY Herald Tribune 1948--58. Went to live in Greece 1959. Her mus. combines serialism with the use of oriental and ancient modes. Comps. incl.:

operas: Caedmon; The Transposed Heads (after T. Mann); Nausicaa (lib. R. Graves and A. Reid; prod. Athens 1961).

ballets: Saul and the Witch of Endor; Tragic Celebration; A Season in Hell; Postman's Knock; The Masque of the Wild Man.

orch: Sinfoniettas Nos. 1 and 2, Spanish Suite, Sinfonia Pacifica, Gymnopédies 1--3, Etruscan Concerto for pf. and chamber orch., Concerto romantico for va. and orch., fl. conc.

chamber music: Sonata for pf. and 5 percussionists, harp sonata, Concertino da camera for fl., cl., bn., pf., str. qt. Letters from Morocco for ten. and chamber orch., Concertino antico for harp and str. qt. Also songs and film mus.

Glasenapp, Carl (Friedrich) (b Riga, 1847; d|Riga, 1915). Ger.-Russ. teacher and writer. Authority on Wagner. Wrote 2-vol. life and works of Wagner 1876--7, rewritten in 6 vols. (1894--1911, Eng. trans. by AshtonEllis); also ed. Bayreuth letters and archives for publication.

Glass Dulcimer. Strips of glass struck with hammers. Occasionally provided with mechanism and kbd.

Glass Armonica (Ger. Glasharmonika). Obsolete mus. instr., also known as 'musical glasses', comprising either (a) drinking glasses filled with water to different heights in order to leave a larger or smaller area of glass free to vibrate, and so to produce different notes; or (b) glass basins, graduated in size, fixed to a spindle revolved by pedal mechanism, the bottoms of the basins running in a trough of water, so as to be kept permanently damp. Sound is produced by rubbing the rims of the glasses with a wet finger. Gluck performed in London on the first type, Mozart on the second, for which he and Beethoven wrote mus. Donizetti wrote a part for glass harmonica in Lucia's Mad Scene in Lucia di Lammermoor, the alternative being fl.; and R. Strauss used it in his opera Die Frau ohne Schatten. George Crumb revived the instr. in last movement of his Black Angels for electric str. qt. Bruno Hoffmann is the 20th cent. virtuoso of the instr.

Glass, Philip (b Baltimore, 1937). Amer. composer. Studied fl. at Peabody Cons. at age of 8. Studied mathematics and philosophy, Univ. of Chicago. At Juilliard Sch. 1958--62, then in Paris with N. Boulanger 1964--6. Working on a film in Paris with Ravi Shankar awakened interest in non-Western mus. Under this influence, devised a style whereby within a strong diatonic framework, his work was based on 5 or 6 notes with no harmonic change but powerful rhythmical steadiness. This produced a mus. similar to that of Steve Reich and Terry Riley although he did not then know their work. The result has been called 'minimalist' music, because there was maximum repetition of a minimum amount of material. In 1968 founded Philip Glass Ensemble, comprising keyboards (incl. elec. org.) and wind instr. His works incl. the operas Einstein on the Beach (Avignon, 1976), Satyagraha (Rotterdam, 1980), The Photographer (Amsterdam, 1982), and Akhnaten (Stuttgart 1984, NY 1984, London 1985), the film score Koyaanisqatsi (1982); and instr. works, Strung Out, amplified vn. (1967), Music in Similar Motion (1969), Music with Changing Parts (1970), Music in 12 Parts (1971--4), Another Look at Harmony (1974).

Glazunov, Alexander (Konstantinovich) (b St Petersburg, 1865; d Paris, 1936). Russ. composer. Pupil of Rimsky-Korsakov 1880--1. Balakirev cond. his first sym. in 1882, the work being hailed as a precocious masterpiece. Glazunov later met Liszt at Weimar and was influenced by his and Wagner's mus. Became dir. of St Petersburg Cons. 1905 after which his comps. became fewer. Left Russia 1928, visited USA 1929, then lived in Paris. Cosmopolitan rather than nationalist in mus. style. Works incl.:

ballets: Raymonda (1896--7), The Seasons (1899).

orch: Syms. No. 1 (1881), No. 2 (1886), No. 3 (1892), No. 4 (1893), No. 5 (1895), No. 6 (1896), No. 7 (1902), No. 8 (1907), No. 9 (unfinished 1909, perf. Moscow 1948); Suite caractéristique (1887), Stenka Razin (1885), The Sea (1890), Carneval ov. (1894), Chopiniana (1895), Scènes de ballet (1895), vn. conc. (1904), pf. conc. No. 1 (1911), No. 2 (1917), Sax. conc. (1934).

chamber music: 7 str. qts., str. quintet. Also pf. pieces and songs.

Glee. A choral comp. in a number of short self-contained sections, each expressing the mood of some particular passage of the poem set, the mus. predominantly harmonic (i.e. in blocks of chords), rather than contrapuntal. Properly it is for solo male vv. (unacc.). It flourished c.1750--c.1830, during which time a remarkable series of able composers, such as Samuel Webbe, made lavish contributions to the repertory, but subsequently gave way gradually to the part-song. It is a purely Eng. form, and was much fostered by the popularity of glee clubs. (In USA this name has been applied to univ. mus. clubs with more general aims.)

Gli, glie (It.). 'The' (plural).

Glière, Reinhold (Moritsovich) (b Kiev, 1875; d Moscow, 1956). Russ. composer and cond. Studied Kiev 1891--4, Moscow Cons. 1894--1900 (comp. with Arensky, Taneyev, and Ippolitov-Ivanov). Later studied in Berlin, 1905--7. Dir. and prof. of comp., Kiev Cons. 1913--20, then taught at Moscow Cons. His ballet The Red Poppy was one of first 'social realism' works of Soviet régime. The conservative-nationalist nature of his idiom was much to the liking of official party arbiters of taste. Works included 3 syms., 4 str. qts., March of the Red Army for wind instrs. (1924), operas Shakh Senem (1923--5) and Rachel (1943), ballets The Red Poppy (1926--7, rev. 1949) and The Bronze Horseman (1948--9), harp conc. (1938), vc. conc. (1945--6), and 123 songs, 175 pf. pieces, and much chamber mus.

Glinka, Mikhail (Ivanovich) (b Novospasskoye, Smolensk, 1804; d Berlin, 1857). Russ. composer, regarded as founder of nat. sch. and the first Russ. composer to be accepted outside Russia. Son of wealthy landowner. During general education in St Petersburg from 1817 had pf. lessons from John Field. Also studied vn. and harmony. Worked in Ministry of Communications 1824--8 but gave recitals as amateur singer. In 1828 began serious study of comp. with Zamboni. Went to Milan 1830 where homesickness led him to contemplate writing a truly nat. opera, then to Vienna and Berlin 1833, studying comp. with Siegfried Dehn. Returned to St Petersburg to compose opera A Life for the Tsar, successfully prod. 1836. Appointed Kapellmeister, Imperial Chapel 1837. His second opera Ruslan and Lyudmila was prod. 1842. In 1844 visited Paris, meeting Berlioz, travelling on to Sp. where the folk-dance rhythms fascinated him. Returned to Russ. 1847, but made several more foreign journeys. Works incl.:

operas: [fy75,1]A Life for the Tsar (Ivan Susanin) (1834--6); Ruslan and Lyudmila (1837--42).

orch: Jota aragonesa; Kamarinskaya; Night in Madrid; Valse fantaisie.

chamber music: Str. qt. (1830); Sextet for pf. and strns. (1832); Trio pathétique, pf., cl., bn. (1832). Also pf. and vocal works.

[Glissando (bastard It. from Fr. glisser, to slide). (1 pf., harp, xylophone, vibraphone, etc.) The drawing of a finger down or up a series of adjacent notes. (2, bowed insts.) Passing all or part of the way from one note to another on the same str., in much the same way as above and with much the same effect---with the difference that the pitches passed through, instead of representing the fixed tones and semitones of a scale, are infinite in number. Tb. can also perform a satisfactory glissando.

Globokar, Vinko (b Anderny, Fr., 1934). Fr.-born Yugoslav trombonist and composer. Studied Ljubljana Cons. 1949--54 (tb. with Karas), Paris Cons. 1955--9 (tb. with Lafosse and Masson), and comp. with Leibowitz, 1959--63, and Berio, 1965. Prof. of tb. at Cologne Musikhochschule from 1968. By remarkable virtuosity extended range of tb. into avant-garde mus., making the instr., as has been said, not only talk but sing, scream, weep, and laugh. Prin. works:

orch: Plan, 5 instr. (1965); Fluide, 12 instr. (1967); Étude pour Folkloria I, 19 soloists (1968), II, full orch. (1968); La Ronde (1970); Ausstrahlungen, soloists and 20 players (1971); Laboratorium, ens. (1973); Material zur Diskussion eines historischen Instr., orch. (1974).

choral: Voie, narrator, ch., and orch. (1965--6); Traumdeutung, 4 ch. and instr. (1967); Concerto grosso, 5 solo instr., 23 orch. players, and ch. (1969--70).

voice & instr: Accord, sop. and 5 instr. (1966); Airs de voyages vers l'intérieur, 8 vv., 2 instr., elec. (1972); Carrousel, 4 vv., 16 instr. (1977).

instr: Discours I--VI, for various instr. (1967--82); Correspondences, 4 instr. (1969); Drama, pf., perc. (1971); Atemstudie, ob. (1972); Notes, pf. (1972); Limites, vn., va., (1973); Voix instrumentalisée, cl. (1973); Toucher, perc. (1973); Dédoublement, cl. (1975).

Glock, (Sir) William (Frederick) (b London, 1908). Eng. critic, administrator, and pianist. Organ scholar Gonville and Caius Coll., Cambridge, 1919--26. Studied pf. with Schnabel in Berlin, 1930--3. Mus. critic Daily Telegraph 1934, Observer 1934--45, New Statesman 1958--9. Dir., summer sch. of mus., Bryanston, 1948--52, Dartington Hall 1953--79. Founder and ed. The Score 1949--61. Controller of mus. BBC 1959--72, achieving catholic expansion of repertory, bringing Boulez to conduct BBC S.O., and extending scope and range of Henry Wood Promenade Concerts. Chairman, British section ISCM 1954--8. Artistic dir., Bath Fest. 1976--84. C.B.E. 1964. Knighted 1970.

Glocke(n) (Ger.). Bell(s). In orch. scores means tubular bells.

Glockenspiel (Ger.). Play of bells. Perc. instr. of tuned metal bars, with compass of 2 to 3 chromatic octaves, emitting brittle bell-like sound when played with kbd. or (more commonly) by small hand-held hammers. Orch. glockenspiel is played in horizontal position; in military bands it is carried vertically, bars being mounted in lyre-shaped frame (hence alternative name bell-lyra). First used 1739 by Handel in Saul (where he called it a carillon) and later by Mozart in Die Zauberflöte (1791). K. Salomon wrote glockenspiel conc., 1948.

Gloria in Excelsis Deo (Lat.). `Glory to God in the highest'. The `Doxologia Magna' (see Doxologia), an amplification of the song of the angels announcing the birth of Christ. It occurs in the Roman Mass and in the Communion Service of the Anglican Church.

Gloriana. Opera in 3 acts, Op. 53, by Britten, lib. W. Plomer after L. Strachey's Elizabeth and Essex. Commissioned by CG for coronation of Elizabeth II, who attended f.p. at CG on 8 June 1953, 6 days after her coronation. Cincinnati (concert) 1956, f. Amer. stage p. San Antonio 1984 (ENO tour).

Glossop, Peter (b Sheffield, 1928). Eng. bar. Opera début SW, 1952, in ch. Member SW Opera, 1952–62, CG 1962–5, thereafter guest singer at leading opera houses. Won int. competition for young singers, Sofia, 1961; Verdi gold medal, Parma, 1964. CG début 1962, Milan 1965, NY Met. 1967, Vienna 1968.

Glotte, Coup de. See Coup de glotte.

Glover, Jane (Alison) (b Helmsley, Yorks., 1949). Eng. cond. and musicologist. Studied Oxford Univ. At Wolfson Coll., Oxford, from 1975. Has ed. and cond. operas by Cavalli and Monteverdi. Art. dir., London Mozart Players from 1984. Chorusmaster, Glyndebourne from 1980. Prof. cond. début Wexford 1975 (Cavalli's Eritrea). Cond. Britten's A Midsummer Night's Dream, Glyndebourne Touring Opera 1981, Mozart's Don Giovanni at Glyndebourne 1982. Mus. dir., Glyndebourne Touring Opera from 1982.

Gluck, Alma (orig. Fiersohn, Reba) (b Bucharest, 1884; d NY, 1938). Amer. soprano of Romanian birth. Studied singing in NY after marriage. Opera début with Met. company in 1909 (Sophie in Werther). Member of Met. company 1909–12. Studied with Sembrich in Berlin and from 1913 appeared mainly as concert singer. Noted for purity of vocal tone. Her second husband was the violinist Efrem Zimbalist (married 1914).

Gluck, Christoph Willibald von (b Erasbach, 1714; d Vienna, 1787). Ger. composer. Went to Prague Univ. in 1732 to study mus. and philosophy, also learning vc. In 1736 travelled to Vienna under protection of Prince Lobkowitz. Joined private orch. of Prince Melzi, with whom he went to Milan 1737. There he studied with Sammartini and wrote his first opera Artaserse, 1741, 7 more following up to 1744. Travelled with Prince Lobkowitz to London 1745, composing 2 operas prod. 1746, meeting Handel, and giving 2 concerts as performer on glass armonica. After 1746 travelled in Austria and Denmark and again visited Prague and Naples. In 1754 Empress Maria Theresa appointed him opera Kapellmeister to court th. in Vienna, a post which required him to compose in the more lively and flexible style of the fashionable Fr. opéras comiques. During 1755–61 he was closely assoc. with Durazzo (court th. Intendant), Quaglio (scene-painter), Angiolini (dancer), and the poet Calzabigi, with whom he evolved his operatic `reforms' in which the singers' claims were subjugated to those of the drama, with recitativo accompagnato ousting the more formal secco recit. His ballet Don Juan (1761) and opera Orfeo (1762) embodied these principles which reached full expression in Alceste (1767), an anticipation of Wagner's music-drama. Gluck set forth his operatic creed in the preface to Alceste. He resigned his Vienna court post in 1770 and in 1773 went to Paris, having been contracted to compose Iphigénie en Aulide for the Opéra. Its prod. in 1774 was followed by a slightly rev. Fr. version of Orfeo and 2 years later of Alceste. Jealousy of Gluck's success in Paris led to an engineered quarrel with the It. composer Piccinni, who was asked to set the same lib. on which Gluck was known to be working. Gluck destroyed his sketches but composed Armide (1777), followed by Iphigénie en Tauride (1778). In 1779 he returned to Vienna and retired, living in a grand manner and dying after defying his doctor by drinking a post-prandial liqueur. The simplicity and sublimity of Gluck's melodies, supported by a vivid dramatic sense, have ensured the survival of a large proportion of his mus. Works incl.:

operas: Artaserse (Milan 1741), La caduta dei giganti and Artemene (London 1746), La Semiramide riconosciuta (Vienna 1748), La contesa dei Numi (Copenhagen 1749), La clemenza di Tito (Naples 1752), Le Cinesi (1754), La danza (Vienna 1755), Il rè pastore (Vienna 1756), Orfeo ed Euridice (Vienna 1762), Telemaco (Vienna 1765), Paride ed Elena (Vienna 1770), Iphigénie en Aulide (Paris 1774), Orphée (Paris 1774), Alceste (Vienna 1767, Paris 1776), Armide (Paris 1777), Iphigénie en Tauride (Paris 1778), Echo et Narcisse (Paris 1779). OPÉRAS COMIQUES: L'Île de Merlin and La Fausse Esclave (Vienna 1758), La Cythère assiégee (Schwetzingen 1759), L'Arbre enchanté (Vienna 1759), La Rencontre imprévue (Vienna 1764).

ballets: Don Juan (Vienna 1761), Semiramide (Vienna 1765).

misc: De Profundis (ch.), 6 sonatas a tre (London 1746), 9 syms. (Vienna 1753).

Glückliche Hand, Die (lit. The Blessed Hand; The Knack). Drama with mus. in 1 act by Schoenberg, Op. 18, lib. composer. Comp. 1910--13. Prod. Vienna 1924, Philadelphia and NY Met. 1930, London 1962 (concert perf.). Contains mimed parts for man and woman. Use of coloured lights also has fundamental importance.

Glyndebourne. House and estate near Lewes, Sussex, in grounds of which the owner, John Christie, built opera house with (as it was thought) eccentric idea of staging ideal perfs. of opera in beautiful setting. Inspiration for enterprise was Christie's wife, the soprano Audrey Mildmay. First Glyndebourne Fest. began on 28 May 1934 with Mozart's Le nozze di Figaro, followed the next evening by Così fan tutte. Fritz Busch was the cond. with Carl Ebert as producer and, later, Rudolf Bing as administrator, a team which set new standards for Brit. opera. In 1939 the th. was enlarged to seat 600 instead of 300; today over 800 can be accommodated. While mus. considerations have always been paramount, Glyndebourne has also always had a special significance because of the beauty of the gardens. The tradition of a long dinner interval, during which visitors can picnic in the grounds or dine in the restaurant, is a big social attraction, so that what began as a risky venture lasting a few days is now a fully booked-up annual season extending from May to early August. After the war Glyndebourne re-opened in 1946 with Britten's Rape of Lucretia. There were no perfs. in 1948 and 1949 but Glyndebourne presented operas at the Edinburgh Fest. from 1947 to 1951. On Busch's death in 1951, Vittorio Gui became chief cond. He was succeeded in 1960 by John Pritchard who first joined the mus. staff in 1947 and retired in 1977, being succeeded by Bernard Haitink. When Ebert retired in 1959, Gunther Rennert became chief producer. He was succeeded by John Cox 1971--83 and by Sir Peter Hall from 1984. Although Glyndebourne's basic diet is the operas of Mozart, it has also staged Don Pasquale and several Rossini operas (under Gui) including successful revivals of Le Comte Ory, La Cenerentola, and L'italiana in Algeri. The first Eng. performance of Verdi's Macbeth was at Glyndebourne 1938. A speciality has been made of Richard Strauss's operas, with Der Rosenkavalier (in a reduced orchestration exclusively made by Strauss for Glyndebourne), Ariadne auf Naxos, Capriccio, Intermezzo, Die schweigsame Frau, and Arabella. The prod. of Idomeneo restored Mozart's opera seria to general circulation. Among adventurous prods. have been Stravinsky's The Rake's Progress, Busoni's Arlecchino, Gluck's Alceste, Henze's Elegy for Young Lovers, Donizetti's Anna Bolena, Cavalli's L'Ormindo and La Calisto, Monteverdi's L'incoronazione di Poppea and Il ritorno d'Ulisse in patria, Maw's Rising of the Moon, Britten's Midsummer Night's Dream, Prokofiev's Love for 3 Oranges, Janáček's The Cunning Little Vixen, and Knussen's Where the Wild Things Are. The policy of engaging the most suitable singers has meant that many of the world's great operatic artists have sung at Glyndebourne, which also has a penchant for discovering a rising star some years before everyone else. Scrupulous attention is also paid to sets and lighting, with the engagement of such artists as Oliver Messel, Osbert Lancaster, John Piper, and David Hockney. In 1968 the Glyndebourne Touring Co. was formed to make an autumn tour (usually to Oxford, Bristol, Norwich, Southampton, and Manchester) with some of the Sussex productions sung by casts specially recruited to give opportunities to the best of young Brit. singers. Just as the RPO or LPO (since 1964) is engaged for Glyndebourne itself, the touring co. uses the Northern Sinfonia and Bournemouth Sinfonietta.

G. Mus. R.N.C.M. Graduate, with honours, of the Royal Northern College of Music, Manchester.

Gnechi, Vittorio (b Milan, 1876; d Milan, 1954). It. composer. Studied Milan Cons. Operas incl. Cassandra (1905) and La rosiera (1910). Latter said to be first opera to use quarter-tones. Accused R. Strauss of plagiarism because of resemblance between themes in Cassandra and Elektra (1908).

G.O. In Fr. org. mus., grand orgue, i.e. 'great org.'

Gobbi, Tito (b Bassano del Grappa, 1913; d Rome, 1984). It. bar. and opera producer. Studied law, then became singer, studying in Rome. Début Gubbio 1935 as Rodolfo in Sonnambula, San Francisco 1948, Salzburg and CG 1950, NY Met. 1956. Outstanding actor as well as singer: notable for interpretations of Wozzeck, Scarpia, Rigoletto, Macbeth, Iago, Falstaff, and Boccanegra. Début as producer, Chicago and CG 1965. Repertory of 100 operas.

Godard, Benjamin (Louis Paul) (b Paris, 1849; d Cannes, 1895). Fr. composer and violinist. Studied Paris Cons. 1863. Cond. Concerts Modernes, Paris 1885--6. Wrote 2 vn. concs., pf. conc., syms., and 8 operas, (from which only the Berceuse for sop. from Jocelyn (1888) seems to have survived). Some of the instr. works are still played.

God bless the Prince of Wales. Song with words written in Welsh by Ceirio Hughes and mus. by Henry Brinley Richards (1817--85). They were pubd. together in 1862. F.p. London 14 Feb. 1863 by Sims Reeves, preparatory to wedding of Prince of Wales on 10 March.

Goddard, Arabella (b St Servan, 1836; d Boulogne, 1922). Fr.-born pianist of Eng. origin. Pupil of Thalberg, Kalkbrenner, and J.W. Davison (mus. critic of The Times) whom she married 1859. London début 1850. Among first to play Beethoven's last sonatas in London. Retired 1880.

Godefroid, Dieudonné (Joseph Guillaume Félix) (b Namur, 1818; d Villers-sur-mer, 1897). Belg. harpist and composer. Trained Paris Cons. 1832--5. Wrote 2 operas, oratorio, and harp pieces. His brother Jules Joseph (b Namur, 1811; d Paris, 1840) was also harpist and composer.

Godfrey, (Sir) Daniel (Dan) (Eyers) (b London, 1868; d Bournemouth, 1939). Eng. cond. (son, grandson, and nephew of military bandmasters). Studied RCM. Conducted military bands 1890, opera in S. Africa 1891--2. Engaged at Bournemouth in 1893 to form municipal orch. to give sym. concerts. These he cond. until 1934, introducing many new works to Brit. audiences and making the concerts a particular forum for the f.ps. of works by Brit. composers. Knighted 1922. See Bournemouth Symphony Orch.

Godowsky, Leopold (b Soshly, nr. Vilna, 1870; d NY, 1938). Polish-born pianist and composer (Amer. citizen 1891). Studied Berlin Hochschule für Musik and with Saint-Saëns 1887--90. Toured USA 1884 and again in 1890, after which he became a pf. teacher in Philadelphia and, in 1894, dir. of pf. sch. at Chicago Cons. Returned to Berlin 1900--9, teaching and touring as recitalist. Dir., Master sch. of pf.-playing, Vienna, 1909. Returned to USA 1912. Career ended by illness 1930. Comps. incl. 53 Studies on Chopin Études, Triakontameron (30 pf. pieces each comp. on a different day), the Java Suite (12 pieces), 3 symphonic metamorphoses for orch., and numerous pf. transcrs.

God Save The Queen (King). The tune of the Brit. 'National Anthem' must long have been the best-known tune in the world, having at one time or another been borrowed by about 20 countries as that of their official nat. song. The popularity of the words and tune in Brit. seems to date from the time of the landing of the Young Pretender, 1745, when they were introduced in London th. and widely taken up, being sung on several successive nights at Drury Lane and Covent Garden theatres in Sept. of that year. The authorship of both words and tune is obscure, but it existed in some form before 18th cent. ^The tune is in rhythm and style a galliard. There is a Geneva tune of this type with some phrases resembling those in God Save The Queen; it was introduced in 1603 at a banquet celebrating the first anniversary of the unsuccessful attempt of the Duke of Savoy to seize the city (the 'Escalade'). An Eng. Christmas carol printed in 1611, Remember, O thou Man, shows similar resemblances. Much stronger resemblances are seen in a kbd. piece by John Bull, (though in the minor), and his name is sometimes attached to the tune. The earliest known source is in a vol. of songs, Harmonia anglica, issued by John Simpson in London in 1744. In the Amer. colonies and the USA the tune has at different times been sung to many different sets of words, e.g. God Save America, God Save George Washington, God Save the Thirteen States, etc. The present words My country, 'tis of Thee, date from 1831 and are the work of the Rev. Samuel Francis Smith. The name usually given to the tune is America. Many composers, incl. Beethoven, Weber, Marschner, Paganini, Brahms, Donizetti, etc., have introduced the tune into their comps. or based works on it.

Gods go a-begging, The. Ballet in 1 act to mus. by Handel arr. Beecham, choreog. Balanchine, prod. Diaghilev's Ballet Russe, London, 1928. Later choreog. by N. de Valois 1936, Lichine 1937. Also orch. suite.

Godunov, Boris (Mussorgsky). See Boris Godunov.

Goehr, Alexander (b Berlin, 1932). Eng. composer, son of Walter Goehr. Studied RMCM 1952--5 (comp. with Richard Hall) where he was contemporary of Maxwell Davies, Birtwistle, and Ogdon, and in Paris (1955--6) with Messiaen and Yvonne Loriod. On mus. staff BBC 1960--8; composer-in-residence New England Cons. 1968--9; assoc. prof. of mus. Yale Univ. 1969--70; prof. of mus. Leeds Univ., 1971--6; prof. of mus. Cambridge Univ. from 1976. Dir., Leeds Fest., 1975. Goehr's mus. employs serialism but rejects elec. devices. He is among leaders of group of Eng. composers influenced by 2nd Viennese Sch. and his mus. can be described as essentially radical-conservative in idiom. Works incl.:

opera: Arden muss sterben (Arden must die) (1966).

orch: Fantasia (1954, rev. 1958), Hecuba's Lament (1959--61), vn. conc. (1961--2), Little Symphony (1963), Little Music for Strings (1963), Pastorals (1965), 3 Pieces from Arden Must Die (1967), Romanza for vc. and orch. (1968), Konzertstück for pf. and orch. (1969), Symphony in 1 Movement (1969--70), Conc. for 11 instrs. (1970), pf. conc. (1971), Chaconne for 19 wind instrs. (1974), Metamorphosis/Dance (1974), Fugue on Psalm IV, str. (1976), Romanza on Psalm IV, str. (1976), Sinfonia (1980), Deux Études (1981).

ballet: La belle dame sans merci (1958).

music theatre: Triptych, 3-part th. piece for actor, 2 mimes, 5 singers, instr. group, 1.

Naboth's Vineyard (1968), 2. Shadowplay (1970), 3. Sonata about Jerusalem (1970).

choral and vocal: The Deluge, cantata after da Vinci for sop., alto, fl., hn., tpt., harp, and str. (1957--8); Sutter's Gold, cantata for bar., ch., and orch. (1959--60); 2 Choruses (Milton and Shakespeare) (1962); 5 Poems and an Epigram of William Blake, ch., tpt. (1964);

Orpheus Songs for sop. (1971); Psalm IV for sop., alto, women's ch., va., and organ (1976); Babylon the Great is fallen, ch. and orch. (1979); Das Gesetz der Quadrille, bar., pf. (1979); Behold the Sun, concert aria for sop., vib., ens. (1981).

chamber music: Pf. sonata (1951--2); Suite for fl., cl., hn., harp, vn., va., vc. (1961); 3 Pieces for pf. (1964); pf. trio (1966), Str. Qt. No. 1 (1956--7), No. 2 (1967), No. 3 (1975--6); Nonomiya for pf. (1969); Paraphrase for cl. (1969); Lyric Pieces for wind septet and db. (1974); Prelude and Fugue, 3 cl., (1978); Lento e Sostenuto, str. qt. (1956--7, rev. 1983, orig. slow movt. of Str. Qt. No. 1).

Goehr, Walter (b Berlin, 1903; d Sheffield, 1960). Ger.-born cond. and composer. Pupil of Schoenberg at Prussian Acad. of Arts, Berlin. Cond. Berlin radio 1925--31, composing for it opera Malpopita. Settled in Eng. 1933. Mus. dir., Columbia Graphophone Co. 1933--9. Cond. BBC Th. Orch. 1945--8. On staff Morley Coll., London. Ed. Monteverdi's Vespers (York 1954) and L'incoronazione di Poppea. Wrote scores for radio, films, and th. Orch. Mussorgsky's Pictures from an Exhibition. Cond. f.ps. of Britten's Serenade (1943), Tippett's A Child of Our Time (1944), Seiber's Ulysses (1949), and A. Goehr's The Deluge (1959); and f.Brit. p. of Mahler's 6th Sym. (BBC 1950).

Goetz, Hermann (b Königsberg, 1840; d Hottingen, Zürich, 1876). Ger. composer. Studied at Stern Cons., Berlin, 1860--2. Org. at Winterthur 1863--7, moving to Zürich where he comp. his successful opera The Taming of the Shrew (prod. 1874). His sym. was also much admired and is convincing evidence of a rare talent prematurely cut short. Works incl.:

operas: Der widerspenstigen Zähmung (The Taming of the Shrew) (1868--72); Francesca da Rimini (1875--6, completed by Ernst Frank).

orch: Sym. in F (1873); Frühlingsouvertüre; pf. conc.; vn. conc.

chamber music: Pf. Trio; Pf. Qt; Pf. Quintet. Also songs and pf. pieces.

Goevaerts, Karel (August) (b Antwerp, 1923). Belg. composer and musicologist. Studied at Antwerp Cons. 1942--7 and with Messiaen and Milhaud at Paris Cons. 1947--50. His sonata for 2 pf.s. (1951) laid foundations of total serialism and isolated note writing. Invited by Stockhausen to work in elec. studios of W. Ger. Radio, Cologne. Abandoned mus. career 1958 to work for Belg. airline Sabena but continued to comp. In 1970 went to work for Inst. of Psychoacoustics and Elec. Mus., Ghent. Comps. incl. mixed media pieces, works for elec. tape, and for medieval ens.

Goff, Thomas (Robert Charles) (b London, 1898; d London, 1975). Eng. builder of clavichords and hpds. Began business in partnership with J. C. Cobb 1933, later opening his own London headquarters. His particular achievement has been to adapt tone and dynamics to modern concert hall requirements. Adopted clavichord design of Herbert Lambert of Bath.

Gold and Silver (Ger. Gold und Silber). Waltz by Lehár comp. for gold and silver ball given by Prince Metternich, Jan. 1902.

Goldberg, Johann (Gottlieb Theophilus) (b Danzig, 1727; d Dresden, 1756). Ger. organist, composer, and klavier player. Said to have been pupil of Bach 1742--3. Chamber musician to Count Brühl 1751--6. Wrote 2 kbd. concs., 6 fl. trios, etc. Bach gave him a copy of his 30 vars. for hpd., but the story that they were commissioned by him is doubtful.

Goldberg, Szymon (b Włumoc; umawek, Pol., 1909). Pol.-born violinist and cond. (Amer. citizen 1953). Studied with Flesch in Berlin. Début Warsaw 1921. Leader, Dresden P. O. 1925--9, Berlin P.O. 1929--34. Member of trio with Hindemith and Feuermann 1930--4. Settled in London and USA. Duo with Lili Kraus 1935--40. Member of fest. pf. qt., Aspen, Colorado, 1951--65. Solo concert violinist from 1955. Cond. Netherlands Chamber Orch. from 1955. Cond. Manchester Camerata 1977--9.

'Goldberg' Variations. 30 variations on an orig. theme for 2-manual hpd., by Bach. Nickname arose from story, now thought to be untrue, that they were commissioned by the Russ. ambassador to Saxony, Count Keyserlingk, for J. G. T. Goldberg to play. Bach gave Goldberg a copy of the work.

Gold Coast Customs. Setting of poem by Edith Sitwell by H. Searle for speakers, men's ch., winds, 2 pf., and perc., comp. 1947--9.

Golden Age, The (Zolotoy vek). Ballet in 3 acts with mus. by Shostakovich, choreog. Kaplan and Vaynonen. Prod. Leningrad 1930. Also orch. suite, Op. 22a.

Golden Cockerel, The (Zolotoy petushok). Opera (his 14th and last) in 3 acts by Rimsky-Korsakov, lib. Belsky after Pushkin's poem (1834). Prod. Moscow 1909, London 1914, NY Met. 1918. Comp. 1906--7, but perf. was banned in the composer's lifetime because of the opera's satire on autocracy. The indefensible habit of referring to it by the Fr. title Le Coq d'or arose from the prod. by Diaghilev in Paris, 1914, when all the roles were enacted by dancers while singers sat at the sides of the stage.

Golden Legend, The. Cantata by Sullivan for soloists, ch., and orch. to text based on Longfellow's poem. Comp. for Leeds Fest. 1886.

'Golden' Sonata. Nickname, but not the composer's, for Purcell's Sonata in F for 2 vns., va da gamba, and org. or hpd., No. 9 of 10 sonatas posthumously pubd. 1697.

Goldmark, Károly (b Keszthely, Hung., 1830; d Vienna, 1915). Hung. composer and violinist, son of a cantor. Studied Vienna Cons. 1847. After playing in th. orchs., settled in Vienna 1850 as composer, teacher, and critic. His tuneful, colourful mus. is remembered today chiefly through his Rustic Wedding sym. Comp. 6 operas incl. Die Königin von Saba (The Queen of Sheba) (1875) and Ein Wintermärchen (A Winter's Tale, after Shakespeare) (1908), Sym. in Eb (properly suite) Die ländliche Hochzeit (Rustic Wedding), ov. Sakuntala, 2 vn. concs., str. qt., vc. sonata, etc.

Goldmark, Rubin (b NY, 1872; d NY, 1936). Amer. composer, nephew of K. Goldmark. Studied NY and Vienna Cons., later with Dvořák at Nat. Cons. of Mus., NY. Dir., Colorado Coll. Cons. 1895--1901. Teacher of pf. and theory in NY 1902--24; dir. of comp. dept., Juilliard Sch. 1924--36. Pupils incl. Copland, Chasins, and Gershwin. Wrote Requiem for orch., Hiawatha, Negro Rhapsody, and several chamber works. Goldschmidt, Berthold (b Hamburg, 1903). Ger.-born composer and cond. (Brit. cit. from 1947). Studied Hamburg Univ. and Berlin Hochschule für Musik (comp. with Schreker) 1922--5. Ass. cond. Berlin State Opera 1926--7. Cond. Darmstadt Opera 1927--9. Cond. in Leningrad 1931. Artistic adviser Berlin State Opera 1931--3. Settled in Eng. 1935. Cond. Glyndebourne co. in Verdi's Macbeth at first Edinburgh Fest. 1947. Guest cond. various Brit. orchs. Aided and advised Deryck Cooke in preparing perf. version of Mahler's 10th sym., and cond. 1st complete perf. London 1964. Comp. 2 operas, of which Beatrice Cenci (1949--50) won a Fest. of Britain prize but was not perf. Sym., Sinfonietta, vn. conc., cl. conc., 2 str. qts., pf. sonata.

Goldschmidt, Otto (b Hamburg, 1829; d London, 1907). Ger.-born pianist, composer, and cond. Pupil of Mendelssohn at Leipzig Cons. In 1851 visited USA as accompanist for Jenny Lind, whom he married 1852. Settled in London 1858, becoming vice-prin. RAM 1866. Founded and cond. London Bach Choir 1875. Comp. oratorio Ruth, pf. conc., songs, part-songs, etc.

Goldstone, Anthony (b Liverpool, 1944). Eng. pianist. Studied Cambridge Univ. and RCM, later with Maria Curcio. Début Manchester 1965, RCMC orch. cond. Barbirolli. Won int. prizes in Munich and Vienna. London début 1968. Member of pf. trio with Ralph Holmes (vn.) and Moray Welsh (vc.).

Golliwogg's Cakewalk. 6th item of Debussy's Children's Corner suite for pf. (1906--8).

Golschmann, Vladimir (b Paris, 1893; d NY, 1972). Fr.-born cond. of Russ. parentage (Amer. citizen 1947). Founded Golschmann concerts, Paris, 1919, for perf. of contemporary mus. Cond. for Diaghilev ballets. NY début 1924. Prin. cond. St Louis S.O. 1931--56, Denver S.O. 1964--70.

Goltermann, Georg (Eduard) (b Hanover, 1824; d Frankfurt, 1898). Ger. cellist, cond., and composer. 2nd cond., Frankfurt state th. 1853, 1st cond. 1874. Comp. sym., vc. conc., and other works for vc.

Goltz, Christel (b Dortmund, 1912). Ger. sop. Studied Munich. Member, Dresden State Opera 1936--50. Début CG 1951, NY Met. 1954. Created title-role in Liebermann's Penelope (Salzburg 1954). Repertory of over 120 parts. Noted for her Salome, Elektra, Marie (Wozzeck), and Tosca.

Gombert, Nicolas (b S. Flanders, c.1495; d after 1560). Flemish composer, believed to have been pupil of Josquin Després. In court service of Charles V until 1540; later worked at Tournai. Comp. motets, masses, and songs.

Gomes, Antonio Carlos (b Campinas, 1836; d Belém, 1896). Brazilian composer. After 2 of his operas had been prod. in Rio, he was given govt. scholarship, 1864, to study in Milan where several of his operas were prod. (and admired by Verdi). Operas incl. Il Guarany (1870), Fosca (1873), Salvator Rosa (1874), Maria Tudor (1879), Lo Schiavo (1889), and Condor (1891). Also wrote cantatas, songs, and pf. pieces. Dir., Belém Cons. in 1896.

Gomez, Jill (b New Amsterdam, Brit. Guiana, 1942). W. Indian-born sop. Studied RAM and GSM. Opera début Cambridge 1967. Glyndebourne Touring Co., 1968. Sang Mélisande in Debussy's opera, Glyndebourne 1969. Created Flora in Tippett's The Knot Garden, CG 1970. ENO début 1984 (Governess). Has sung with English Opera Group, Scottish Opera, WNO, Kent Opera; also concert career, esp. in certain contemporary works (e.g. McCabe's Notturni ed alba).

Gondola Song. (1) A barcarolle type of comp., supposed to recall the singing of Venetian gondoliers at their work. It is generally in ;D6;E8 or other compound time. (2) Name given by Mendelssohn to 3 of his Songs without words (No. 6 in G minor, No. 12 in F# minor, and No. 29 in A minor), and also to another pf. piece, Auf einer Gondel (On a Gondola) in A major, 1837.

Gondoliers, The, or The King of Barataria. Operetta by Sullivan, lib. Gilbert. Prod. London 1889, NY and Capetown 1890.

Gong. Perc. instr., also called tam-tam, of Chinese origin, being a large round sheet of metal turned up at the edge to form a kind of dish. Struck with felt mallet. Of indefinite pitch, but Puccini in Turandot and Vaughan Williams in his 8th Sym. require tuned gongs.

Goodall, (Sir) Reginald (b Lincoln, 1901). Eng. cond. Studied pf. and vn., RCM. Further study Munich and Vienna. Became ass. to Albert Coates with BNOC at CG. Ass. cond. Royal Choral Soc. 1936--9. Cond. at SW Opera from 1944. Cond. f.p. of Britten's Peter Grimes, June 1945. Cond. Glyndebourne 1946. On mus. staff of CG from 1946, but went abroad to assist Furtwängler, Krauss, and Knappertsbusch. Cond. Tannhäuser, SW, 1960. Overdue recognition as a Wagner cond. came in 1968 when he cond. SW Mastersingers. This was followed by hugely successful cycles, in Eng., of The Ring from 1973. Cond. Parsifal CG 1971, Tristan with WNO (recorded) 1979, The Valkyrie (WNO 1984). C.B.E. 1975. Knighted 1985.

Good Friday Music (Karfreitagzauber). The mus. in Wagner's Parsifal Act 3, Sc. 1 as Parsifal is anointed in preparation for his entry into the castle of the Grail. Sometimes perf. as separate concert piece.

Good-Humoured Ladies, The (Les femmes de bonne humeur). Choreog. comedy in 1 act to mus. by D. Scarlatti arr. by V. Tommasini, choreog. Massine. Prod. Rome 1917.

Goodman, Benny (b Chicago, 1909). Amer. clarinettist and jazz musician. Joined band in NY 1928, forming his own in 1934 (called in Chicago a 'swing band', thus giving the term wide currency). Has appeared as soloist with NY P.O. (cond. Barbirolli) in Mozart conc. Bartók's Contrasts and Copland's and Hindemith's concs. were written for him. Recorded Mozart cl. quintet with Budapest Quartet, 1938.

Goose of Cairo, The (Mozart). See Oca del Cairo, L'.

Goossens, Eugene (b Bruges, 1845; d Liverpool, 1906). Belg. cond. Pupil of Fétis at Brussels Cons. Cond. of opera in Belgium, Fr., and It., then in Eng. from 1873. Cond. Carl Rosa Opera 1883--93. Organist St Anne's R.C. Church, Liverpool.

Goossens, Eugene (b Bordeaux, 1867; d London, 1958). Fr.-born cond., son of above. Lived in Eng. from 1873. Worked with father for Carl Rosa, then prin. cond. of various other cos. Prin. cond. Carl Rosa 1899--1915. Cond. for Beecham co. from 1917.

Goossens, (Sir) Eugene (b London, 1893; d Hillingdon, 1962). Eng. cond., violinist, and composer, son of above. Studied Bruges Cons., Liverpool Coll. of Mus., and RCM (comp. with Stanford). Violinist in Queen's Hall Orch. 1911--15. Ass. cond. to Beecham 1916--20. Cond. f. Eng. concert p. of Stravinsky's The Rite of Spring, London 1921. Cond. opera and ballet CG 1921--3. Went to USA, becoming cond. Rochester P.O. 1923--31 and Cincinnati S.O. 1931--47. Cond. Sydney S.O., N.S.W., and dir., N.S.W. Cons. 1947--56. Knighted 1955.

Comps. incl.:

operas: Judith (1 act, lib. Arnold Bennett, CG 1929); Don Juan de Manara (4 acts, lib. by Bennett, CG 1937).

orch: Sinfonietta (1922); ob. conc. (1927); Sym. No. 1 (1940), No. 2 (1942--4).

choral: Silence (1922), Apocalypse, oratorio (1950--4).

chamber music: Phantasy for str. qt. (1915); str. qts. No. 1 (1915), No. 2 (1942); pf. quintet (1919); concertino for str. octet (1930).

Goossens, Leon (b Liverpool, 1896). Eng. oboist, brother of above. Trained RCM. Prin. oboist Queen's Hall Orch. 1913, later at CG. Prin. ob. LPO from its formation, 1932--9. Then free-lance as soloist and chamber mus. player. Prof. of oboe RAM 1924--35, RCM 1924--39. Brilliant virtuoso for whom several composers---e.g. Elgar, Vaughan Williams, Gordon Jacob, and Eugene Goossens---wrote works. C.B.E. 1950.

Goossens, Marie (Henriette) (b London, 1894). Eng. harpist, sister of above. Studied RCM. Début Liverpool 1910. Prin. harpist CG, Diaghilev Ballet seasons, Queen's Hall Orch. 1920--30, LPO 1932--9, LSO 1940--59, London Mozart Players from 1972. Prof. of harp, RCM 1954--67. O.B.E. 1984.

Goossens, Sidonie (b Liscard, Cheshire, 1899). Eng. harpist, sister of above. Studied RCM. Prin. harpist BBC S.O. 1930--80. Prof. of harp, GSM from 1960. M.B.E. 1974. O.B.E. 1981.

Gopak (Hopak). A lively Russ. folk dance in duplet time.

Górecki, Henryk (Mikolaj) (b Czernice, 1933). Polish composer. Studied at Katowice Cons. 1955--60 and in Paris with Messiaen. His mus., initially influenced by Webernian serialism and later by clusters, has never made use of elec. instr. and has developed a highly individual style, going back for inspiration to 14th cent. Polish chants, to Palestrina's polyphony, and to the richness of the Wagnerian orch. Works incl.: Sym. No. 1, str., perc. (1959), No. 2 (Kopernikowska), sop., bar., ch., and orch. (1972), No. 3 (Sorrowful Songs), sop., orch. (1976); Scontri, orch. (1960), Old Polish Music, orch. (1969); conc. for 5 instr. and str. qt. (1957); Genesis: I Elementi, str. trio (1962), II Canti strumentali, 15 instr. (1962), III Monodramma, sop., metal perc., 6 db. (1963); Muzyczka I, 2 tpt., guitar (1967), II, 4 tpt., 4 tb., 2 pf., perc. (1967), III, vas. (1967), IV, cl., tb., vc., pf. (1970); pf. sonata (1956); sonata for 2 vns. (1957); Cantata for org. (1968).

Gorr, Rita (Marguerite Geirnaert) (b Ghent, 1926). Belg. mez. Studied in Ghent and Brussels. Début Antwerp 1949 as Fricka. Strasbourg Opera 1949--52. Won Lausanne int. competition 1952, then joined Paris Opéra. Début Bayreuth 1958 (Fricka), CG 1959, NY Met. 1962 (Amneris).

Goss, (Sir) John (b Fareham, 1800; d Brixton, 1880). Eng. organist and composer. Pupil of Attwood, succeeding him as organist of St Paul's Cath., London, 1838. Comp. anthems, glees, etc. Knighted 1872.

Goss, John (b London, 1894; d Birmingham, 1953). Eng. bar. Particularly active in 1920s as interpreter of songs of Warlock and other Eng. composers. Lived in Vancouver, BC, 1940--50.

Gossec, Fran;alcois (Joseph) (b Vergnies, 1734; d Passy, 1829). Belg. composer. Boy chorister Antwerp Cath. Self-taught in comp. Went to Paris 1751 where he was helped by Rameau for whose patron's private band he comp. first Fr. syms. from 1754. Also comp. str. qts. for Prince de Condé, whose service he entered 1762--9. Dir., Concert Spirituel 1773-7. 2nd cond. at Opéra 1780--2. Organized and dir. École Royale de Chant 1784--95, when it became the Nat. Cons. Prof. of comp. at Paris Cons. 1795--1815. Comp. about 30 syms., 20 operas, church and choral mus. (incl. many pieces in favour of the Revolution), and ballets.

Gothic Symphony. Havergal Brian's 1st Sym., comp. 1919--27, in 4 movements, the last of which is setting of Te Deum for 4 vv., ch., children's ch., 4 brass bands, and very large orch. F.p. London 1961; f.p. with complete forces required, Hanley 1978.

Gotovac, Jakov (b Split, 1895; d Zagreb, 1982). Yugoslav composer and cond. Studied in Split and at Vienna Acad. Cond. Croatian Opera, Zagreb, 1923--57. Comps. for orch., ch., and chamber groups, also folk-influenced opera Ero the Joker (Ero s onogasvijeta, 1935), which he cond. in London 1955.

Götterdämmerung (Twilight of the Gods). Mus. drama in prol. and 3 acts by Wagner to his own lib. The final opera in his tetralogy Der Ring des Nibelungen. Comp. 1869--74. Prod. Bayreuth 1876, London 1882, NY Met. 1888.

Gottschalk, Louis Moreau (b New Orleans, 1829; d Tijuca, Brazil, 1869). Amer. pianist, cond., and composer. Went to Paris 1842, studying with Hallé and Berlioz. His pf. début in 1844 was praised by Chopin. On return to USA toured widely, playing and conducting his own sentimental and naive mus. for unsophisticated audiences who enjoyed his virtuoso panache and his arrs. of nat. airs. Wrote 2 syms., 2 operas, and pf. pieces such as The Dying Poet (1863--4).

Goudimel, Claude (b Besançon; Alcon, c.1514; d Lyons, 1572). Fr. composer. Comp. masses and motets, then became Protestant and wrote hymn-tunes and secular songs. Died in St Bartholomew's Day massacre.

Gould, Glenn (Herbert) (b Toronto, 1932; d Toronto, 1982). Canadian pianist, composer, and writer. Trained Toronto Royal Cons. Début at age of 14; Washington D.C., and NY 1955, European tour 1957, first appearing as soloist with Karajan and Berlin P.O. London 1958. Toured USSR. Exceptionally wide repertory, from 16th-cent. kbd. works to jazz.

Gould, Morton (b Richmond Hill, NY, 1913). Amer. comp., cond., and pianist. Studied Institute of Mus. Art, NY. Member of Radio City Mus. Hall staff. Worked for NBC and CBS broadcasting systems. His mus. contains popular Amer. mus., jazz, and more formal structures. Brilliant orchestrator. Works incl.:

orch: Little Symphony (1939); Syms. No. 1 (1942), No. 2 (Marching Tunes) (1944), No. 3 (1947); pf. conc. (1937); vn. conc. (1938); American Symphonette No. 1 (Swing) (1935), No. 2 (1936), No. 3 (1937), No. 4 (Latin American) (1940); Lincoln Legend (1940); va. conc. (1943); va. concertette (1943); Concerto for Orchestra (1944); Minstrel Show (1946); Conc. for tap dancer and orch. (1952); Jekyll and Hyde Variations (1957); St Lawrence Suite (1958); Prisms (1962); Venice, audiograph for 2 orch. (1966); Columbia (1966); Vivaldi Gallery, for str. qt., div. orch. (1967); Troubadour Music, 4 guitars, orch. (1968); Symphony of Spirituals (1976).

ballets: Interplay (1943); Fall River Legend (1947); Fiesta (1957). Also chamber works, and much mus. for films and TV.

Gounod, Charles Franck (b Paris, 1818; d St-Cloud, 1893). Fr. comp., cond., and organist. Studied Paris Cons. with Halévy, Paërs, and Le Sueur. Won Grand Prix de Rome 1839; impressed by Rome and made special study of Palestrina. Became organist at Paris church and studied for priesthood but eventually decided to devote himself to comp. Wrote several operas from 1851 but had no real success until Faust in 1859, which became and remained one of the most popular of all operas. Later operas were less successful, though Roméo et Juliette survives. Also wrote many choral works and lived in Eng. 1870--5, becoming first cond. of what is now Royal Choral Soc. His oratorios La Rédemption and Mors et vita were comp. for the Birmingham and Norwich Fests. of 1882 and 1885. Gounod's mus. has considerable melodic charm and felicity, with admirable orchestration. He was not really a master of the large and imposing forms, in this way perhaps being a Fr. parallel to Sullivan. Works incl.:

operas: Sapho (1851); La Nonne sanglante (1854); Le Médecin malgré lui (1858); Faust (1859); La Colombe (1860); Philémon et Baucis (1860); La Reine de Saba (1862); Mireille (1864); Roméo et Juliette (1867); Cinq Mars (1877); Polyeucte (1878); Le Tribut de Zamora (1881).

oratorios: La Rédemption (1868--81); Mors et Vita (1885).

cantatas: Marie Stuart (1837); Gallia (1871).

church mus.: Messe a tre (1841); Messe solennelle (1849); Messe à Ste Cécile (1855); Messe à Jeanne d'Arc (1887); three Requiems; Stabat Mater, Te Deum, Magnificat, etc.

orch: Sym. No. 1 in D, No. 2 in Eb; Petite Symphonie in Bb, for 9 wind instrs. (1885).

misc: Funeral March of a Marionette (for pf., 1872, orch. 1879); Méditation sur le prélude de Bach for sop., pf., vn., and organ (1889, known as Gounod's Ave Maria, being 1st prelude of Bach's '48' with counterpoint melody by Gounod, entitled Méditation, to which someone fitted the words of the Ave Maria); many songs.

Government Inspector, The (Der Revisor). Opera in 5 acts by Egk to his own lib. based on play by Gogol (1836). Prod. Schwetzingen 1957.

Gow, Nathaniel (b Inver, Dunkeld, 1763; d Edinburgh, 1831). Scot. composer, trumpeter, and violinist, member of family of musicians. Leader of Edinburgh Assembly orch. from 1791, providing mus. for dancing. Became publisher 1796, issuing 'collections' of dance-mus. Wrote Caller Herrin' as hpd. piece in about 1800, the words being added by Lady Nairne about 1823.

Goyescas (Los majos enamorados) (Sp. 'Goya-like works', or 'Youth in Love'). (1) 2 sets of pf. pieces, 7 in all. by Granados, inspired by paintings of Goya, comp. 1911, f.p. 1914. Titles are 1. Los requiebros (Loving words), 2. Coloquio en la reja (A conversation through the grating), 3. El fandango del candil (Kitchen fandango), 4. Quejas o la maja y el ruisenor (Lament, or The Love-sick Girl and the Nightingale), 5. El amor y la muerte (Love and death), 6. Epílogo: la serenada del espectro (Epilogue: The ghost's serenade), 7. El pelele (The worthless man). (2) Opera in 3 scenes by Granados, amplified and scored from the above pf. pieces, with Sp. lib. by F. Periquet. Prod. NY Met. 1916, London 1951. See also Maja y el ruisenor.

G.P. (1) General Pause, of 1 or 2 bars for all performers. (2) (Fr.). Grand et positif, i.e. great and choir organs to be coupled.

G.P.R. (Fr.). Grand-positif-récit, i.e. great, choir, and swell organs to be coupled.

G.R. (Fr.). Grand récit, i.e. great and swell organs to be coupled.

Grabu, Louis (Grabut, Lewis) (d after 1694). Fr. comp. and violinist. Settled in Eng. after 1665, becoming Master of the Musick to Charles II. Comp. mus. for Dryden's Albion and Albanius (1685) and other plays.

Grace Notes. Ornaments in vocal and instr. mus., indicated in very small notation.

Gradual. (1) The Respond sung in the service of the Mass between the Epistle and Gospel. (2) The book containing the Concentus of the traditional plainsong of the Mass, i.e. it is the choir's (or congregation's) mus. companion to the Missal---in which last the only mus. is the Accentus or priest's parts.

Gradualia. Motets by William Byrd. Book I (1605) contains 32 for 5 vv., 20 for 4, and 11 for 3; Book II (1607) contains 9 for 6 vv., 17 for 5, and 19 for 4.

Gradus ad Parnassum (Steps to Parnassus (the abode of the muses)). (1) Title of treatise on counterpoint by J. J. Fux, 1725. (2) Series of 100 studies by Clementi, pub. 1817 (50 ed. Bülow; complete series ed. Vogrich, 1898). (3) 1st piece in Debussy's Children's Corner is called Dr Gradus ad Parnassum (a parody of a Clementi study).

Graf, Herbert (b Vienna, 1903; d Geneva, 1973). Austrian (later Amer.) opera producer and impresario, son of Max Graf. Studied Vienna Univ. with G. Adler. Stage dir. at opera houses in Münster, Breslau, Frankfurt, and Basle. Went to USA 1934, staged opera in Philadelphia 1934--5, NY Met. 1936--60, head of opera dept. Curtis Institute from 1949. Dir., Zürich Opera, 1960--3, Geneva Opera from 1965. Regular prod. at Salzburg and Verona. CG Parsifal 1959. Author of books on opera.

Graf, Max (b Vienna, 1873; d Vienna, 1958). Austrian critic. Taught at Vienna Acad. of Mus. Lived in NY 1939--45. Author of books on Wagner, etc.

Graffman, Gary (b NY, 1928). Amer. pianist. Studied Curtis Institute and Columbia Univ., later with Horowitz and Serkin. Début Philadelphia 1947, Europe 1956, followed by worldwide tours. Leventritt Award 1949.

Graf von Luxemburg, Der (Lehár). See Count of Luxemburg, The. Graham, Colin (b Hove, 1931). Eng. stage dir. and designer, opera producer. Art dir. Eng. Mus. Th. from 1976; dir. of prods., Eng. Opera Group 1961--75; assoc. dir. of prod. ENO 1967--75, dir. 1978--80., art. dir., Aldeburgh Fest. from 1966. Close assoc. with operas of Britten, notably the premières of the 3 church parables. Opera prods. for Glyndebourne, CG, Scottish Opera, Berlin, NY Met., etc. Librettist of Penny for a Song (R. R. Bennett). Graham, Martha (b Allegheny, 1894). Amer. dancer, choreog., teacher, and ballet co. dir. Began studying at Denishawn 1916, member of Denishawn Dancers till 1923. Founded own co. 1929. Developed own technique and became leading exponent of modern dance in USA, exerting enormous influence and producing many famous pupils. Comps. who wrote ballets for her co. incl. Hindemith, Hunter Johnson, Copland, Chávez, Barber, Menotti, Schuman, Dello Joio, Hovhaness, and Seter.

Grainger, Percy (Aldridge) (b Brighton, Victoria, 1882; d White Plains, NY, 1961). Australian-born composer and pianist (Amer. citizen 1919). Studied in Melbourne, later in Frankfurt 1894--1900, becoming pupil of Busoni in Berlin. Came to notice in London, 1900, and then toured extensively. In London in 1906 he was befriended by Grieg, who greatly admired his playing and invited him to Norway to make a special study of the pf. conc. in A minor, a work of which he remained a notable interpreter. Collected and ed. Eng. folksongs, incl. Brigg Fair, collected at N. Lincs. mus. competition fest. at Brigg, 1905. His arr. of it was admired by Delius, whose orch. rhapsody was based on this tune. Delius and Grainger remained close friends. Grainger's NY début was in 1915, after which the USA became his home. Although best-known as a composer for his lighter works such as Shepherd's Hey, usually based on traditional tunes, his folksong arrs. for ch., e.g. Shallow Brown, are original and impressive and won the admiration of Britten. He was a lifelong experimenter and something of an eccentric, a very lively and stimulating figure. Prin. works:

original[nm]: [smkeyboard]: Over the Hills and Far Away, 2 pf. (1916--18); Colonial Song, pf. (1914); Handel in the Strand, pf. (1930), 2 pf. (1947); Hill Song No. 1, 2 pf. (1921), No. 2, 2 pf. (1907); Mock Morris, pf. (1910), 2 pf. (1910); Suite, In a Nutshell, 2 pf. (1916); The Warriors, 2 pf., 6 hands (1922); Walking Tune, pf. (c.1905).

chamber: Colonial Song, pf. trio (1912); Handel in the Strand, pf. trio (1911--12); Hill Song No. 1, 22 instr. (1921, rev. 1923), No. 2, 22 wind/cymbal (1907, rev. 1911, 1940--6); Mock Morris, str. sextet (1910), vn., pf. (1910); Walking Tune, wind quintet (1900--5).

orch: Colonial Song (1905--12, rev. c.1928); Handel in the Strand, str. (1932); Mock Morris, str. (1910), orch. (1914); Suite, In a Nutshell (1905--16); The Warriors, 3 pf., orch. (1912--16).

large wind ens: Colonial Song, band (1918); Over the Hills and Far Away, band, pf. (1916--9); Hill Song No. 2, band (1901, rev. 1911, 1940--6); Marching Song of Democracy, band (1948).

vocal and choral: Colonial Song, sop., ten., hp., orch. (1905--12, rev. 1914), sop., ten., pf. trio (1912); Danny Deever, male vv., orch./bar., male vv., pf. (1903, 1922--4); Marching Song of Democracy, ch., org., orch. (1901--17); Recessional, ch. (1905, 1929).

folk[nm]

song settings: [smkeyboard]: Country Gardens, pf. (1908--18), 2 pf. (1918) orch. by L. Artok; Green Bushes, 2 pf., 6 hands (1919); Irish Tune from Co. Derry (Londonderry Air), pf. (1911); Lincolnshire Posy, 2 pf. (1937--8); Molly on the Shore, pf. (1918), 2 pf. (1947); My Robin is to the Greenwood Gone, pf. (1912); Shepherd's Hey, pf. (1911), 2 pf. (1947); Spoon River, pf. (1919--22), 2 pf. (1932, rev. 1946).

chamber and instr: Early One Morning (1901, 1939--40); Green Bushes (1905--6, rev. 1921); Irish Tune from Co. Derry, str. and hn. (1913); Molly on the Shore, str. qt. (1907, rev.

c.1911), vn., pf. (1914); My Robin is to the Greenwood Gone, 2 wind, 6 str. (1904, 1912), pf. trio (1912); Shepherd's Hey, 11 or 12 instr. (1908--9); Spoon River, 2pf., harmonium (1929).

orch: Irish Tune from Co. Derry, str. (1913); Molly on the Shore, str. (1907, rev. c.1911), orch. (1914); Shepherd's Hey, orch. (1912--3); Ye Banks and Braes, orch. (1932).

large wind ens: Irish Tune from Co. Derry, band (1917); Lincolnshire Posy, band (1906--37); Molly on the Shore, band (1920); Shepherd's Hey, band (1918); Spoon River, band (1933); Ye Banks and Braes, band (1949).

vocal and choral: Bold William Taylor (1908); Brigg Fair (1906, rev. 1911); Died for Love (1906--7); Early One Morning (1901, 1939--40); I'm Seventeen Come Sunday (1905--12); Irish Tune from Co. Derry (1902, 1920); Shallow Brown (1910, rev. 1923--5); Six Dukes Went A-Fishin' (1905, 1910--12); Sir Eglamore (1904, rev. 1912--3); Pretty Maid Milking Her Cow (1920); Lost Lady Found (1905--10); Men of Harlech (1904); Three Ravens (1902, rev. 1943--9); Willow, Willow (1898--1911); Ye Banks and Braes (1901).

Gramm, Donald (b Milwaukee, 1927; d NY, 1983). Amer. bass-bar. Studied Wisconsin Coll. of Mus. and Cons. 1935--44, Chicago Mus. Coll. 1944--9. Opera début Chicago 1944. NY City Opera 1952, NY Met. 1964, Glyndebourne 1975 (The Rake's Progress). Sang in many European fests. and opera houses. Was Moses in US première of Schoenberg's Moses und Aron, Boston 1966.

Gramophone. Monthly magazine specializing in reviews and news of recordings and technical equipment. Founded by Compton Mackenzie (1883--1972) in April 1923.

Gramophone (Phonograph) Recordings. The idea of recording sound by attaching a needle to a membrane vibrating in sympathy, and by allowing its point to mark a plate travelling at a fixed speed, dates from as early as the beginning of the 19th cent., the object being to add to acoustical knowledge about the differences in the vibrations evoked by sounds of various pitches and timbres. The Amer. Edison, in 1877 constructed such an apparatus, with the intention that it should be used in a 'dictating machine': this he called The Phonograph---the Ideal Amanuensis, and the records, on wax cylinders, he called phonograms. The vv. of many celebrities of the day were crudely preserved in this way (e.g. Gladstone, Irving, Tennyson) and in 1878 Lily Moulton, an amateur singer, sang into Edison's device. Other musicians, incl. Brahms, made recordings in the 1880s. Emile Berliner, a Ger.-born citizen of the USA, had by 1888 obtained patents for important improvements---a circular plate of a shellac mixture instead of a waxed cylinder, and a horizontal motion of the needle instead of a perpendicular one (i.e. a motion making lateral impressions on the sides of a spiral track instead of the previous 'hill and dale' impressions), and his principles were in time developed and universally adopted. The patented title for the instr. which played Berliner's discs was 'gramophone', but the less accurate 'gramophone' was adopted. The flat disc record led to a boom among commercial cos. for preserving the vv. of celebrated singers. The first singer to record commercially and to make a reputation thereby was the Russian sop. Maria Mikhailova. Soon Calvé, Van Rooy, Plan; Alcon, Kirkby-Lunn, Albani, Maurel, and Ben Davies were recorded, but it was the ten. Caruso who 'made' the gramophone record. Instrumentalists, too, were recorded, among them Grieg, Sarasate, Joachim, and Pugno. The historical importance of these discs is obvious, and many of them have been transferred on to modern records and tapes.

^So far the processes used had been purely 'acoustic', the result of the direct action of sound vibrations. The human v. could be fairly satisfactorily and faithfully recorded by this means, but attempts to record orch. mus. were crude and primitive. In 1925 appeared the earliest electrically made records, in which the vibrations had been received by means of a microphone and converted into electrical vibrations, causing, in turn, mechanical vibrations in a steel or fibre needle travelling over the recording disc. It was found that by the use of electric-made records operating at the standard speed of 78 revolutions per minute, very much more faithful reproductions could be secured, and the acoustic-made record in time disappeared from the market. The motive power of the Edison and early Berliner instrs. had been supplied by a handle turned by the operator. This was superseded by a clock-spring device, which in the more expensive instrs. was, in turn, superseded by electric power obtained by plugging to the domestic electric circuit: such instrs. also reproduced the sounds by electric means, reversing the above process of electrical recording. The new apparatus was very commonly combined with one for the reception of radio broadcasting, and called a radiogram. During the 1920s and 1930s recordings of most of the world's great orchs. and chamber groups were made, the perf. of great artists such as Rachmaninov, Kreisler, and Heifetz were preserved, and the composers Elgar and Strauss cond. their own mus. for the gramophone. Whole operas were issued, and the significance of the gramophone as an educative force and as a means of widening the public's repertory became apparent. A great disadvantage of the 78 rpm record was that comps. were dissected into sides lasting less than 5 minutes. An opera could run to 40 or more sides. It was in 1948 that (in the USA) all the problems inherent in trying to combine a narrower groove and slower speed without loss of 'high fidelity' throughout the greater part of the range of audible frequencies were satisfactorily solved. This was when the Columbia co. announced the long-playing (LP) disc. Attempts to introduce LPs had been made in 1904 and 1931, but the 1948 version offered an average of 23 mins. per side at 33 rpm, with the advantages of records made from non-breakable material, with greatly improved recording techniques, and with lightweight pick-ups and sapphire and diamond needles. At first there was some resistance and a 'battle' between 33 and 45 rpm (for short items). In Brit., Decca was the first firm to market LPs (1950), the EMI group not following until 1952. However, the artistic advantage of being able to record a whole opera on 6 or 8 sides, a Mozart sym. on 1 side, and to offer complete recitals by singers and instrumentalists on 1 record revolutionized the industry and listening habits. The standards of recording improved constantly with the advent of the record 'producer' who, like an opera producer, governed the whole recording process. It could be argued that the remarkable growth of the public appetite for the mus. of Mahler is partly due to the fact that LPs enabled his vast syms. to be recorded easily. The rise of the LP was paralleled by the growth of high-fidelity---'Hi-fi'---reproductive equipment---the coupling of amplifier, speakers, pick-up, and needle-cartridge instead of the mass-produced radiogram. The other great single factor in LP recording was the use of magnetic tape instead of wax or acetate for the orig. recording process. Experiments with tape were made, esp. in Ger., in the late 1930s and early 1940s. Tape enables long stretches of mus. to be recorded without a break; it also enables flaws and errors to be corrected by the re-recording of the offending bar or two, so that a final recording may be, and often is, a compilation of the best of several 'takes', skilfully ed. The next 'recording revolution' was in 1958 with the introduction of stereophonic (as opposed to monophonic) sound, whereby the sound of instrs. or singers was as realistically 'placed' as in the hall or opera house. Eventually 'stereo' replaced 'mono' entirely; and demands for still more realistic and spectacular sound led in the 1970s to 'quadraphonic' recordings (which means that the engineers have fed four independent signal channels into the master tape). In 1979 recordings made by the even more accurate digital tape process appeared on the market from Decca. This system of recording on tape differs from the conventional magnetic system in measuring the shape of the changes in air pressure (sounds) so that the sounds received through the microphone are stored in a computer as a series of numbers (digits). No matter how often the numbers are re-converted into sounds they cannot become distorted. Thus the tape recording is more accurate, has less background noise and no speed variations, and can be re-recorded without loss in quality. In some digital systems the shapes are measured 40,000 times a second. In 1983 the compact disc was introduced, bringing exceptional clarity and dynamic range into recording. It is the first sound reproduction system to dispense with contact between disc and stylus or between cassette and tape-recorder heads. Thus any hiss or hum is eliminated, also any damage to the grooves. The compact disc has a coating of acrylic plastic to protect it from scratches or other damage. The rotating disc is played by a small low-powered laser which directs a beam of infra-red light on to it, translates a reflected message as a digital code and converts it into sound. The laser's collection and transference of the recorded message is achieved by a technology derived from computers. During recording, a machine makes a series of sound 'samples' at the rate of 44,000 per second. These are converted into a binary code (noughts and ones). This code is inscribed in the form of billions of microscopic pits on the surface of the disc in a spiral 2;fD miles long (the disc has a diameter of 4.7 inches). The laser reads the code by focusing on the line of dots as the disc rotates. When the laser fixes on one of the pits, its beams scatter. When it hits the reflecting surface between the pits, it shines back to produce a pattern which re-creates the original binary code. The code is converted into electrical impulses and passed through amplifiers to the speakers in the normal way. The process was pioneered independently by Philips and the Sony Corporation of Japan, who joined in 1980 to produce the first players for the European market. Of less commercial success at first was the issue of recordings as tapes instead of discs (mono from 1951, stereo from 1956 in the USA). These did not appeal to the public until the introduction of the automatic cassette in 1965. Soon the sales of cassettes threatened to rival those of discs. Alongside the enormous expansion of recording has developed the 'literary' side of the gramophone, not only expert reviewing, but the specialized compilation of lists of recordings made by individual artists, these being known as discographies. Granados, Enrique (Granados y Campina) (b Lérida, 1867; d at sea, 1916). Sp. comp. and pianist. Studied Barcelona (comp. with Pedrell). In Paris 1887--9 for pf. lessons from de Bériot. Founded Soc. of Classical Concerts, Barcelona, 1900, and his own pf. sch. Academia Granados, 1901. Famous as brilliant pianist especially of his own comps. These pf. pieces are elegant and poetic; so are his songs, many of them in the style of 18th-cent. tonadillas. Best-known of his orch. comps. is the Intermezzo from his opera Goyescas. He and his wife were drowned when the liner Sussex was torpedoed by a Ger. U-boat in the Eng. Channel. Prin. works:

operas: Maria del Carmen (1898), Petrarca, Picarol (1901), Follet (1903), Gaziel (1906), Liliana (1911), Goyescas (1914--15).

orch: Suites: Elisenda (c.1910), Navidad, Suite Arabe, Suite Gallega; La Nit del mor, symphonic poem; Serenata; Tres danzas españolas (orch. de Grignon).

voice and piano: Colección de canciones amatorias; Colección de tonadillas, escritas en estilo antiguo, etc.

piano: 10 Sp. Dances (1892--1900); 6 Pieces on Sp. Popular Songs; Rapsodia Aragonesa; Escénas Románticas; 7 valses poéticos; Bocetos; 6 Studies in Expression; Goyescas (1911).

Gran Cassa (It.). Big box, i.e. bass drum.

Gran coro (It.). Full organ.

Grand ch; jdur (Fr.), sometimes abbreviated to Gd. ch; jdur or Gd. Ch. 'Large Choir', or 'Full Organ'.

Grand Duke, The, or The Statutory Duel. Comic opera by Sullivan, lib. Gilbert, their last and unsuccessful collaboration. Prod. London and Berlin 1896, NY 1937.

Grand Duo. Sub-title given by publisher in 1838 to Schubert's Sonata in C major for pf., 4 hands (1824, D813) comp. at Zseliz. Once thought to be piano version of a 'lost' symphony, but this theory is totally discredited by recent scholarship. Orch. versions by Joachim and Anthony Collins.

Grande Duchesse de Gérolstein, La. Opéra bouffe in 3 acts by Offenbach, lib. Meilhac and Halévy. Prod. Paris, NY, and London 1867. Grande sonate pathétique. [fy75,1] Fr. title given by Beethoven to his pf. sonata in C minor, Op. 13, comp. 1798--9.

Grandezza (It.). Grandeur, dignity. Grandioso (It.). With dignity.

Grandi, Alessandro (b ?1575; d Bergamo, 1630). It. composer of motets, madrigals, and church mus. Choirmaster at Ferrara Cath. in 1615. In 1617 he was vice-maestro di cappella to Monteverdi at St Mark's, Venice; and from 1627 he worked at Bergamo.

Grand jeu (Fr.). Full organ (or harmonium, of which a combination stop is so named).

Grand Macabre, Le (The Great Macabre). Opera in 2 acts by Ligeti, lib. M. Meschke and comp., freely adapted from M. de Ghelderode. Prod. Stockholm 1978, cond. Elgar Howarth who also cond. f. Eng. p. ENO 1982 (trans. by G. Skelton).

Grand' Messe des Morts (High Mass for the Dead). Fr. title of Berlioz's Requiem Mass, Op. 5, for ten., boys' ch., ch., and orch., commissioned 1836 and f.p. Paris, Dec. 1837.

Grand Opera. Imprecise term, generally taken to mean either (a) opera in which every note of the lib. is sung, i.e. no spoken dialogue, or (b) 'serious' opera as distinct from operetta. Grand opéra (Fr.) means an epic or historical work in 4 or 5 acts, using the ch. and incl. a ballet.

Grand orchestre (Fr.). (1) Full orchestra. (2) Large orchestra.

Grand orgue (Fr.). (1) Full organ or Great Organ (see Organ). (2) Pipe Organ---as distinct from Reed Organ, i.e. from American organ or cabinet organ. Grand Prix de Rome.[fy75,1] 1st prize in the Prix de Rome contest of the Fr. Acad. of Fine Arts.

Grand staff, or Grand stave. See Great Staff.[cm[ln1]Grange, Philip (b London, 1956). Eng. composer. Attended Dartington Summer School of Mus. 1975--81, receiving guidance from Maxwell Davies and Hans Keller. Studied at York Univ. 1976--9 (comp. with David Blake and privately with Maxwell Davies, cl. with Alan Hacker). Works incl. 3 Piano Pieces (1976); pf. sonata (1978); Cimmerian Nocturne, chamber ens. (1979); Sextet for wind quintet and pf. (1980); 3 Pieces, cl. and orch. (1981); The Kingdom of Bones, mus. th. (1982--3); Nocturnal Image, vc., pf. (1984).

Grania and Diarmid. Play by W. B. Yeats and George Moore for which Elgar wrote incidental mus. Op. 42, Dublin Gaiety Th., 21 Oct. 1901. Most frequently played item is the Funeral March, f. London p. 1902.

Graphic Scores. Scores by 20th-cent. avant-garde composers which employ drawn visual analogues in order to convey the composer's intentions with regard to the required sounds and textures. Earliest example is thought to have been Feldman's Projections 1950--1. Some graphic scores indicate distinct mus. parameters, as in Feldman, Stockhausen, and Ligeti. Others deliberately omit any notational sign or mus. indication, seeking only to stimulate the performer's creativity. Examples by Bussotti and Earle Brown are often pictorially delightful if musically enigmatic. (See example from Logothetis's Agglomeration on facing page.)

Grappelli, Stephane (b Paris, 1908). Fr. jazz violinist. Had classical training and turned to jazz in late 1920s. Formed Quintet of the Hot Club of France 1934 with the guitarist Django Reinhardt. Lived in Eng. 1940--8. In 1973 formed popular partnership with Menuhin, resulting in recordings, later with Nigel Kennedy.

Graubart, Michael (b Vienna, 1930). Austrian-born comp., cond., teacher, and flautist. Studied Manchester Univ., and privately with Seiber (comp.), Gilbert (fl.), and Lawrence Leonard (cond.). Freelance flautist 1953--7. Cond. amateur orchs. and choirs from 1953. Teacher and cond. at Morley Coll. from 1966, dir. of music from 1969. Ed. of works by Monteverdi, Dufay, and Pergolesi. Comps. incl. va. concertino, Aria for orch., and works incorporating elec. tape.

Graun, Karl (Heinrich) (b Wahrenbrück, Saxony, c.1704; d Berlin, 1759). Ger. ten. and comp. Sang as ten. at Brunswick Opera 1725, but became 2nd Kapellmeister there 1726 and wrote several operas. Entered service of Crown Prince Frederick at Rheinsberg 1735. When Frederick (the Great) became King, Graun was made cond. of Berlin Royal Opera, 1740, for which he wrote 26 It.operas, incl. Rodelinda (1741) and Ezio (1755), and dramatic cantatas. Also wrote Passion-cantata Der Tod Jesu (1755). Instr. works incl. hn. conc.

Graupner, Christoph (b Kirchberg, 1683; d Darmstadt, 1760). Ger. comp. Pupil of Kuhnau. Court cond. at Darmstadt from 1712. Wrote 9 operas, 113 syms., 50 concs., kbd. works, and over 1,000 pieces of church mus.

Grave (It., Fr.). (1, as a term of expression), slow and solemn. (2, as a term of pitch), low. (3, in Fr. org. mus.) octaves graves means sub-octave coupler.

Grave Mixture. Org. mixture stop of 2 ranks (12th and 15th).

Graves, Alfred(Perceval) (b Dublin, 1846; d Harlech, 1931). Irish poet, folksong collector, and sch. inspector. Collab. with Stanford in publication of Irish folksongs, many of which he collected, incl.the Co. Kerry tune for which he wrote the words Father O'Flynn. Provided first two sets of words for tune Londonderry Air. Father of poet Robert Graves.

[ls1][bm2][cc27][ai21][ol0] [cm[ol0] Gravicembalo[fy75,1] (It., probably corruption of clavicembalo). The hpd.

Gray, Alan (b York, 1855; d Cambridge, 1935). Eng. org. and comp. Mus. dir. Wellington Coll. 1883--92. Organist, Trinity Coll., Cambridge, 1892--1912. Pupils incl. Vaughan Williams. Cond. Cambridge Univ. Music Soc. Comps. incl. cantatas Arethusa (1892), The Vision of Belshazzar (1896), Song of Redemption (1898). Also Coronation March, chamber mus., and org. pieces.

Gray, Cecil (b Edinburgh, 1895; d Worthing, 1951). Scot. comp. and critic. Studied Edinburgh Univ. and in Birmingham with Bantock. Settled in London 1915. Joint ed. with Philip Heseltine of periodical The Sackbut. Mus. critic Nation and Athenaeum 1925--30, Daily Telegraph 1928--32, Manchester Guardian 1932. Wrote 3 operas to his own libs.: Deirdre, Temptation of St Anthony, and The Trojan Women. His reputation rests on his books, which incl. A Survey of Contemporary Music (1924), Carlo Gesualdo, Musician and Murderer (with P. Heseltine) (1926), History of Music (1928), Sibelius (1931), Peter Warlock (1934), Predicaments (1936), and Contingencies (1947).

Gray, Linda Esther (b Greenock, 1948). Scottish soprano, pupil of Eva Turner. John Christie award 1973. Opera début as Mimi with Glyndebourne Touring Opera, 1972. Sang Elektra in Mozart's Idomeneo, Glyndebourne 1974, Paris 1976. ENO début 1978 (Micaela in Carmen, then Aida, Tosca, and Isolde). Isolde with WNO, cond. Goodall, 1979. Amer. début Dallas 1981 (Sieg- linde in Die Walküre). Also sings in oratorio, etc.

Gray, Stephen (b Guildford, 1923). Eng. pianist, oboist, and administrator. Founder, Chelsea Opera Group 1950. Gen. manager LPO 1957--9, Philharmonia Orch. 1959--64, Royal Liverpool P.O. from 1964.

Grazia; grazioso; graziosamente (It.). Grace; graceful; gracefully.

Great Organ (Great). Chief division (manual and its controlled equipment) of an org. Full org. is always played from the Great kbd. coupled to other divisions. Great Staff[fy75,1] or Great Stave [ln2](or grand staff or stave). Notational device introduced by mus. pedagogues for the purpose of explaining the clefs--- [ol1] ____and_ ^or [ol1] The two staves in common use are brought near together. It suffices then to place between them one extra line for Middle C ('middle' in a double sense: in the middle of this diagram, as it is in the middle of the piano kbd.). The C clef is placed on this line. The treble (or G) clef now comes 2 lines above and the Bass (or F clef) 2 lines below. The Treble Staff, Bass Staff, Soprano Staff (in some choral use in Ger. still), the Alto Staff (in use in older choral mus., in mus. for the viola, etc.) and the Tenor Staff (in use in the older choral mus., for the tb., etc.) are seen as sections of the `Great Staff', with Middle C as the pivot.

Greaves, Terence (b Hodthorpe, Derbyshire, 1933). Eng. comp., pianist, and teacher. Royal Signals Staff Band 1952--7. On staff Birmingham Sch. of Mus. 1962--73 (dir. of studies 1970--3); dean of development RNCM from 1973.

Grechaninov, Alexander (Tikhonovich) (b Moscow, 1864; d NY, 1956). Russ. composer. Pf. pupil of Safonov, Moscow Cons., and comp. pupil of Rimsky-Korsakov, St Petersburg Cons. Left Russia for Fr. 1925, settled in USA 1939 becoming Amer. citizen 1946. Comps. in traditional idiom showing no sign of modern influences. Master of choral mus. Works incl. operas, cantatas, 5 syms., fl. conc., 4 str. qts., vn. sonata, vc. sonata, cl.sonata, 258 songs, 14 vocal qts., masses, and pf. pieces.

Greef, Arthur de (b Louvain, 1862; d Brussels, 1940). Belg. pianist and composer. Studied with Liszt at Weimar. Prof. at Brussels Cons. from 1885. Toured widely. Especial champion of mus. of hisfriend Grieg. Comp. sym., works for pf. and orch., and songs.

Green. Poem by Verlaine set for v. and pf. by Debussy, 1887--8, as No. 5 of Ariettes oubliées, and by Fauré, 1891, as No. 3 of 5 Mélodies, Op. 58.

Green, Gordon (b Barnsley, 1905; d London, 1981). Eng. pianist and teacher. Studied RMCM and privately with Petri. Prof. of pf., RMCM and RNCM from 1945, RAM from 1962. John Ogdon among pupils. O.B.E. 1981.

Green, Samuel (b 1740; d Isleworth, 1796). Eng.org. builder. Built instrs. in Canterbury, Rochester, and Salisbury Caths., also in many churches.

Greenbaum, Hyam (b Brighton, 1901; d Bedford, 1942). Eng. cond. and violinist. Member of Queen's Hall Orch. and Brosa Qt. Cond. BBC TV Orch. 1936--9, BBC Revue Orch. 1939--42.

Greenberg, Noah (b NY, 1919; d NY, 1966). Amer. cond. and mus. ed., specializing in medieval and Renaissance mus. Founded NY Pro Musica 1952 to perf. early mus. in authentic fashion. In 1958 revived medieval drama The Play of Daniel, touring Europe with it in 1960.

Greene, Harry Plunket (b Old Connaught House, Co. Wicklow, 1865;d London, 1936). Irish bass-bar. Studied Stuttgart, Florence, and London. Sang in London concerts from 1888, opera from 1890, but later confined himself to songs and oratorio. 1st interpreter of songs,some written for him, by Parry, Stanford, and Vaughan Williams. 1st singer of bass parts in Elgar's Dream of Gerontius, 1900. Later became teacher. Wrote biography of Stanford and Interpretation in Song (1924).

Greene, Maurice (b London, 1696; d London, 1755). Eng. comp. and organist. Organist of St Paul's Cath., London, 1718, and Chapel Royal, 1727. Master ofthe King's Musick, 1735. Prof. of mus., Cambridge Univ. from 1730.Began great collection of Eng. cath. mus. which he bequeathed to Boyce, who completed and pubd. it. Comp. anthems (best-known Lord let me know my end), oratorios, org. pieces, opera, and songs.

Greensleeves. Old Eng. tune twice mentioned by Shakespeare in The Merry Wives of Windsor and by other writers of this and later periods. It is first referred to in the Stationers' Co. Register in 1580, when it is called `a new Northern Ditty', but there is evidence that it is of earlier date. There seem to be many ballads to the tune, also some examples of its conversion to sacred use, as, for instance (again in 1580), 'Green Sleeves moralized to the Scripture'. During the Civil War of the 17th cent. 'Greensleeves' was a party tune, the Cavaliers setting many political ballads to it. From this period the tune is sometimes known as The Blacksmith, under which name Pepys alludes to it (23 April 1660). The tune is sung by Mistress Ford in Act 3 of Vaughan Williams's opera Sir John in Love (based on The Merry Wives) to the words printed in A Handfull of Pleasant Delites, 1584. An orch. fantasia from the opera is frequently played. The tune is also used by Holst in his St Paul's Suite for strns. and in his Suite No. 2 for military band.

Gregor, Bohumil (b Prague, 1926). Cz. conductor. Studied Prague Cons. Ass. cond. Brno Opera, 1949--51, mus. dir. Ostrava Opera 1958--62, cond. Prague Nat. Th. 1962--6, Stockholm Opera 1966--9, Hamburg Opera 1969--72. Specialist in operas of Janáček. Brit. début Edinburgh Fest. 1964 (From the House of the Dead), Amer. début, San Francisco 1969 (Jenůfa).

Gregor, Joseph (b Czernowitz, now Chernivtsi, 1888; d nr. Vienna, 1961). Austrian writer and librettist. Studied th. prod. with Max Reinhardt and mus. with Robert Fuchs. On staff Vienna Nat. Library from 1918, founding theatrical archive 1922 and motion-picture archive 1929. Wrote 3 opera libs. for Richard Strauss, Friedenstag, Daphne, and Die Liebe der Danae. Wrote books on Viennese th. history, also on Strauss and Clemens Krauss. Correspondence with Strauss pubd. 1955.

Gregorian Chant. Solo and unison plainsong choral chants assoc. with Pope Gregory I which became the fundamental mus. of the R.C. Church. See Plainsong.

Gregorian Tones. The 8 plainsong melodies prescribed for the psalms in the R.C. Church, one in each of the 8 modes. They have alternative endings (or 'inflexions') so as to connect properly with the various following antiphons. The Tonus Peregrinus is additional to the 8.

Gregson, Edward (b Sunderland, 1945). Eng. comp. Studied RAM 1963--7 with Alan Bush. Lecturer in mus. at Goldsmiths' Coll. Works mainly for brass band, incl. brass quintet, 3 Dance Episodes for brass octet and perc., Essay, The Plantagenets, Concerto Grosso, Prelude and Capriccio, March Prelude, tuba conc., tpt. conc., tb. conc., and Metamorphoses.

Greindl, Josef (b Munich, 1912). Ger. bass. Studied Munich where he made début 1935. Berlin Staatsoper 1942--8, Städtische Oper from 1948, Vienna Staatsoper from 1956. Bayreuth 1943, leading bass from 1951. Guest appearances (esp. in Wagner) in London, USA, It. Prof. of singing, Vienna Hochschule from 1973.

Grelots (Fr.). Little bells (e.g. sleigh bells, sometimes used in the orch.).

Grenadiere, Die beiden (The Two Grenadiers). Song for v. and pf. by R. Schumann, to poem by H. Heine (1797--1856), being No. 1 of Romanzen und Balladen, Vol. II, Op. 49 (1840). Also set by Wagner for v. and pf., 1840.

Gresham Professorship. In the will of Sir Thomas Gresham (c.1519--79), founder of London Royal Exchange, provision was made for 7 professorships in various subjects and for a lecture on mus. John Bull was first mus. prof. (1596--1607). Later incumbents have incl. Sir Frederick Bridge, Sir Walford Davies, and Peter Latham.

Gretchen am Spinnrade (Gretchen at the Spinning-wheel). Song for v. and pf. by Schubert to text from Goethe's Faust, comp. 19 Oct. 1814 (D|118).

Grétry, André Ernest Modeste (b Liège, 1741; d Montmorency, Paris, 1813). Belg. composer. Comp. mass for 4 vv. 1759, thereby winning patronage enabling study in Rome 1761--5. His intermezzo La Vendemmiatrice was successfully prod. 1765. Visited Geneva, where he met Voltaire, and returned to Paris 1767. In Paris his opéras comiques, from Le Tableau parlant, 1769, quickly found favour. During the next 35 years he wrote some 50 operas, of which the best were Zémire et Azor (1771), L'Amant jaloux (1778), L'Épreuve villageoise (1784), La Caravane du Caire (1783) and Panurge dans l'île des lanternes (1785). His finest work is said to be his most serious opera, Richard Coeur de Lion (1784). Also comp. requiem, motets, str. qts., 6 pf. sonatas, fl. conc., and songs. His melodic gift was immense, but his lack of mastery of harmony and counterpoint was a permanent defect. Wrote several treatises. Standard edn. of his works in 42 vols. financed by Belg. Govt. from 1883.

Grieg, Edvard (Hagerup) (b Bergen, 1843; d Bergen, 1907). Norweg. composer, cond., and pianist. (Great-grandfather was Scotsman named Greig.) Early tuition from mother, who was gifted pianist. On advice of violinist Ole Bull, went to study at Leipzig Cons., working so hard that his health was permanently impaired. Settled in Copenhagen, being encouraged (but not taught) by Gade. In 1865--6 visited Rome where he comp. his concert ov. In Autumn which later won Stockholm Acad. of Mus. prize. Married his cousin, the sop. Nina Hagerup in 1867, she being the inspiration and interpreter of many of his songs. Settling in Christiania (Oslo), became teacher and cond. His comps. earned admiration of Liszt, whom he met in Rome 1870 where Liszt played Grieg's pf. conc. from MS. at sight. In 1874 Grieg received life annuity from Norweg. Govt. and was asked by Ibsen to write incidental mus. to Peer Gynt. This had its f.p. in 1876 and made Grieg a nat. figure. He was a great favourite in Eng., where he and his wife gave recitals. He received Hon.D.Mus. Cambridge 1894 and Oxford 1906. Befriended Delius and Percy Grainger. Grieg's mus. eschews the larger forms of opera and sym. (he wrote a sym. in 1864 but forbade perfs. after a few had been given, though this edict has been posthumously ignored) but within his chosen scale it is deeply poetic, superbly fashioned, and, in the songs especially, emotionally passionate. His nationalist idiom transcends local boundaries by reason of the strong individuality of his work. Comps. incl.:

incidental music: Sigurd Jorsalfar (Bj; uprnsn), Op. 22 (1872); Peer Gynt (Ibsen), Op. 23 (1874--5, rev. 1885, 1891--2).

orch: In Autumn, concert ov., Op. 11 (1866); Peer Gynt, suite No. 1 from incid. mus., Op. 46 (1874--5, rev. 1885, 1891--2), suite No. 2, Op. 55 (1874--5, rev. 1891 and 1892); 3 pieces from incid. mus. for Sigurd Jorsalfar, Op. 56 (1872, rev. 1892); Lyric Suite (orch. of 4 items from Op. 54 for pf.) (1904); pf. conc., Op. 16 (1868, rev. 1906--7); 2 Elegiac Melodies (Heart's Wounds and Last Spring), Op. 34 (version for str. of 2 songs from Op. 33); Holberg Suite for str., Op. 40 (1884) (also for pf.); 2 Melodies for str., Op. 53; (1891); 2 Norwegian Melodies for str., (1869), orch. (1895), Op. 63; 4 Symphonic Dances, Op. 64 (orch. of work for pf., 4 hands) (1896--7); Sym. (1863--4, withdrawn by composer but perf. Oslo 1980 and recorded).

chorus and orch: Before the Cloister Gate, soloists and women's ch., Op. 20 (1871); Olaf Trygvason, for soloists and ch., Op. 50 (1873, rev. 1889).

voice and orch: Bergliot, reciter and orch., Op. 42 (1871, orch. 1885); The Mountain Thrall, bar., 2 hn., str., Op. 32 (1877--8); 6 Songs, v. and orch. (incl. 'Solveig's Song' from Peer Gynt) (1870--80, rev. 1891--4).

chamber music: Vn. Sonata, No. 1 in F, Op. 8 (1865), No. 2 in G, Op. 13 (1867), No. 3 in C minor, Op. 45 (1886--7); Str. Qt. in G minor, Op. 27 (1877--8); vc. sonata in A minor, Op. 36 (1883).

piano: 4 Pieces, Op. 1 (1861); 4 Humoresques, Op. 6 (1865); sonata in E minor, Op. 7 (1865); Lyric Pieces, Book 1 (8 items), Op. 12 (1867), Book 2 (8 items), Op. 38 (1883), Book 3 (6 items), Op. 43 (1884), Book 4 (7 items), Op. 47 (1885--8), Book 5 (6 items), Op. 54 (1891) (those orch. as Lyric Suite are No. 1, Shepherd's Boy, 2, Norwegian Rustic

March, 3, Nocturne, and 5, March of the Dwarfs), Book 6 (7 items), Op. 57 (1893), Book 7 (6 items), Op. 62 (1895), Book 8 (6 items), Op. 65 (1897) (No. 6 Wedding Day at Troldhaugen, also for orch.), Book 9 (6 items), Op. 68 (1898), Book 10 (6 items), Op. 71 (1901); Sketches of Norwegian Life, Op. 19 (1870--1); Ballade in G minor, Op. 24 (1875--6); 4 Albumblätter, Op. 28 (1878); Holberg Suite, Op. 40 (1884); 6 Songs transcr. for pf., Op. 52 (incl. 'Solveig's Song' as No. 4); 19 Norwegian Folk Tunes, Op. 66 (1896); Norwegian Peasant Dances, Op. 72 (1902--3); Moods, Op. 73 (1903--5).

piano (4 hands): 2 Symphonic Pieces, Op. 14 (1863--4); 4 Norwegian Dances, Op. 35 (also orch.) (1881); 2 Waltz Caprices, Op. 37 (1883); Symphonic Dances, Op. 64 (also orch.) (1897).

songs: Grieg's songs, numbering over 120, were pubd. as follows: 4 Songs, Op. 2; 6 Songs, Op. 4; 4 Songs, Op. 5; 4 Songs and Ballads, Op. 9; 4 Songs, Op. 10; 4 Songs, Op. 15; 8 Songs, Op. 18; 4 Songs, Op. 21; 3 Songs from Peer Gynt (1. Solveig's Song, 2. Solveig's Cradle Song. 3. Peer Gynt's Serenade) Op. 23; 5 Songs, Op. 25; 4 Songs, Op. 26; 12 Songs, Op. 33; 5 Songs, Op. 39; 4 Songs, From Fjeld and Fjord, Op. 44; 6 Songs (Ger. words), Op. 48; 6 Songs, Op. 49; 5 Songs, Op. 58; 6 Songs, Op. 59; 5 Songs, Op. 60; 7 Children's Songs, Op. 61; Haugtussa (The Mountain Maid), cycle of 8 songs, Op. 67 (1895); 5 Songs, Op. 69; 7 Songs, Op. 70. The best-known individual titles with opus numbers are: Hope (or Ambition), Op. 26, No. 3; 'Neath the Roses, Op. 39, No. 3; Autumn Song, Op. 18, No. 3; A Dream, Op. 48, No. 6; Eros, Op. 70, No. 2; The First Meeting, Op. 21, No. 4; From Monte Pincio, Op. 39, No. 5; The Hut, Op. 18, No. 4; I love thee, Op. 5, No. 3 (1864); Spring, Op. 33, No. 2; The Swan, Op. 25, No. 1; With a Water Lily, Op. 25, No. 3.

Grier, (Hugh) Christopher (b Derby, 1922). Eng. mus. critic. B.Mus. King's Coll., Cambridge. Mus. officer, Brit. Council, Scandinavia, 1947--9. London mus. critic, Scotsman, 1949--63. Prof. at RCM. Broadcaster. Freelancecritic since 1970.

Griffes, Charles (Tomlinson) (b Elmira, NY, 1884; d NY, 1920). Amer. composer. Studied at Stern Cons., Berlin, with Humperdinck 1903--7. On return to USA taught at boys' school in Tarrytown, NY from 1908 until his death. His mus. was beginning to be recognized as important just before he died. Much influenced by Fr. mus. impressionists, he also used Japanese and Amer.-Indian themes and oriental scales. In his later works, polymetric and polytonal features occur. Prin. works:

orch: Nocturne (1919); The White Peacock (orch. in 1919 of No. 1 of 4 Roman Sketches for pf. of 1915); Poem for fl. and orch. (1918); The Pleasure Dome of Kubla Khan (symphonic poem after Coleridge arr. from pf. piece of 1912) (1917).

dramatic: The Kairn of Koridwen, dance-drama for 5 woodwinds, celesta, harp, pf. (1916); Shojo, Japanese dance-pantomime for 4 woodwinds, str., harp, perc. (1917).

voice and piano: Tone Images, mez. (Wilde and Henley) (1912); 3 Songs (1916); 3 Poems of Fiona MacLeod for sop. (also with orch.) (1918).

piano: 3 Tone Pictures (1911--12); The Pleasure Dome of Kubla Khan (1912, orch. 1917); Fantasy Pieces (1912--14); 4 Roman Sketches (1915--16); Sonata (1917--18).

chamber music: 2 Sketches Based on Indian Themes, for str. qt. (c.1918).

Griffiths, Paul (b Bridgend, Glam., 1947). Eng. music critic. Studied Oxford Univ. Freelance critic from 1971. Chief mus. critic The Times from 1982. Contributor (especially on late 20th cent. subjects) to New Grove Dictionary of Music and Musicians (1980) and New Oxford Companion to Music (1983). Author of monographs on Boulez, Cage, Maxwell Davies, and Ligeti, and A Concise History of Modern Music (1978), The String Quartet (1983), and Bartók (1984).

Grigny, Nicolas de (b Rheims, 1672; d Rheims, 1703). Fr. organist (Rheims Cath. from 1695), comp. of Pièces d'Orgue, admired by Bach.

Griller, Sidney (Aaron) (b London, 1911). Eng. violinist. Studied RAM. Founded Griller Str. Qt. 1928 (disbanded 1961), resident qt. at Univ. of Calif. 1949--61. Head of str. dept., Royal Irish Acad., Dublin, 1963--73. Prof., RAM from 1964. C.B.E. 1951.

Grinke, Frederick (b Winnipeg, 1911). Canadian violinist. Studied with Adolf Busch and Flesch, also RAM. Member of Kutcher Qt. for 6 years, leader of Boyd Neel Orch. 1937--46, later becoming soloist and teacher. Champion of Eng. mus., notably that of Vaughan Williams, Rubbra, Berkeley. C.B.E. 1979.

Grisi, Carlotta (b Visinada, 1819; d St Jean, Switz., 1899). It. dancer. Contract at Paris Opéra 1841, creating divertissement in Donizetti's La favorite with Petipa and title-role in Giselle. London début 1836. Most admired ballerina of her time. Cousin of the sisters Grisi (below).

Grisi, Giuditta (b Milan, 1805; d Robecco, nr. Cremona, 1840). It. mez. Studied Milan. Début Vienna 1826. Bellini wrote role of Romeo for her in I Capuleti e i Montecchi.

Grisi, Giulia (b Milan, 1811; d Berlin, 1869). It. sop., sister of Giuditta, who taught her. Début in Bologna 1828, Milan 1831. Created Juliet opposite her sister in Bellini's I Capuleti e i Montecchi and Adalgisa in Norma. Sang regularly in Paris 1832--49, creating roles of Elvira in I puritani and Norina in Don Pasquale. London début 1834, singing there every season except 1842, until 1861. US début 1854. One of great singers of her day.

Grist, Reri (b NY, 1932). Amer. sop. Studied privately in USA and Europe. Began career in Broadway musicals (Carmen Jones and West Side Story). Début with NYC City Opera, 1959, and Santa Fe Opera. Queen of Night in Die Zauberflöte at Cologne, 1960; Zerbinetta in Ariadne auf Naxos, Salzburg. Guest appearances in opera at Milan, Chicago, Munich, Glyndebourne, and CG 1962, NY Met. 1966, San Francisco, Holland Festival, and Buenos Aires.

G.R.N.C.M. Graduate of the Royal Northern College of Music, Manchester.

Grofé, Ferde (Ferdinand Rudolf von Grofe) (b NY, 1892; d Santa Monica, Calif., 1972). Amer. composer, cond., and arranger. Violist in Los Angeles S.O. for 10 years, also played pf. and vn. in th. bands. Work as arranger admired by the band-leader Paul Whiteman, who engaged him to arr. the symphonic jazz which was attracting attention. Thus he orchestrated Gershwin's Rhapsody in Blue (1924). Wrote several works in popular symphonic idiom e.g. Mississippi Suite, Hollywood Suite, and, most popular of all, Grand Canyon Suite (1931), cond. Toscanini.

Groot, Cor de (b Amsterdam, 1914). Dutch composer and pianist. Studied Amsterdam Cons. Won Vienna int. pf. contest 1936. Composer of ballet, 2 pf. concs., 2-pf. conc., and solo pieces.

Gros, grosse (Fr.). Great, large. In the case of an org. stop this means of low pitch, e.g. 16' instead of 8'.

Gross, grosse (Ger.). Great, large. Größer, greater.

Grossecaisse (Fr.). big box, i.e. bass drum (It. gran cassa).

Grosselföte (Ger.). Large flute. (1) The normal fl. (2) Metal org. stop of 8' length and pitch.

Grosse Fuge (Great Fugue). Fugue in Bb major for str. qt. by Beethoven. Intended as finale of his Str. Qt. No. 13 in Bb major, Op. 130, comp. 1825--6. After f.p. in March 1826, the publisher Artaria persuaded Beethoven to substitute a less onerous finale, so the fugue was detached and pubd. as separate work, Op. 133, in 1827. Beethoven made arr. for pf., 4 hands, Op. 134. In recent times, some qts. have restored it as finale of Op. 130. Although it is customary to refer to it by its Ger. title, Beethoven wrote the title in Fr., Grande Fugue tantôt libre tantôt recherché.

Grosse Orgelmesse (Great Mass with Organ). Popular name for Haydn's Mass No. 2 in Eb, 1766, in which the org. has an important part. See also Kleine Orgelmesse.

Grosses Orchester (Ger.). Full orch.

Grosse Trommel (Ger.). Great drum, i.e. bass drum.

Grossi, Carlo (b Vicenza, c.1634; d Venice, 1688). It. composer of operas, cantatas, and church mus. Choirmaster at churches in Modena, Vicenza, and Mantua. Org. in Venice 1664--7.

Gros tambour (Fr.). Great drum. Same as grosse caisse, i.e. bass drum.

Ground Bass (It. Basso ostinato, 'obstinate bass'). Short thematic motif in bass which is constantly repeated with changing harmonies while upper parts proceed and vary. Originated in cantus firmus of choral mus. and became popular in 17th cent., particularly in Eng., as a ground for variations in str. mus. Hence the no. of 'Divisions on a ground'. Examples exist by Byrd, Purcell, Frescobaldi, Carissimi, and Cavalli. See Chaconne.

Groupe de Recherches Musicales (Group for musical research). Elec. mus. studio (the 1st), est. at Fr. Radio in 1951 by Pierre Schaeffer, which has exerted wide influence on composers invited to work there, e.g. Messiaen, Boulez, Stockhausen, Berio, and Xenakis.

Grout, Donald Jay (b Rock Rapids, Iowa, 1902). Amer. musicologist and teacher. Studied Syracuse Univ. and Harvard Univ. Taught at Harvard 1936--42; assoc. prof. of mus., Univ. of Texas 1943--5; prof. of mus. Cornell Univ. 1945--70. Books incl. A Short History of Opera (1947, rev. 1965), History of Western Music (1960, rev. 1973). Editor of operas of A. Scarlatti.

Grove, (Sir) George (b Clapham, 1820; d Sydenham, 1900). Eng. writer on mus. and teacher. Trained as civil engineer, constructing several railway stations and also taking part in building of Crystal Palace, of which he was secretary 1852--73. From 1856 became increasingly involved in mus., writing programme notes for Crystal Palace concerts for 40 years. Went with Sullivan to Vienna in 1867 on successful quest for missing items of Schubert's Rosamunde mus. and at the same time propounding the now disproved theory of a 'lost' Gastein sym. by Schubert. In 1873 began work on compilation of vast Grove's Dictionary of Music and Musicians, pubd. in 4 vols. at intervals from 1879 to 1889. First dir. of RCM 1882--94. Knighted 1883. Also wrote Beethoven and his Nine Symphonies (1884). Among his other activities were building lighthouses in W. Indies, founding Palestine Exploration fund, ed. biblical dictionary, primer of geography, and Macmillan's Magazine (1868--83).

Groven, Eivind (b Laerdal, Telemark, 1901; d Oslo, 1977). Norweg. composer and authority on Norweg. folk mus. Composed 2 syms., choral works, pf. pieces. Author of treatise on tuning according to natural intervals (1948).

Groves, (Sir) Charles (Barnard) (b London, 1915). Eng. cond. Studied RCM. Ch. master at BBC 1938--42. Assoc. cond. BBCTh. Orch. 1942--4. Cond. BBC Northern Orch., Manchester, 1944--51, Bournemouth S.O. 1951--61, WNO 1961--3, Royal Liverpool P.O. 1963--77, ENO 1978--9. O.B.E. 1958, C.B.E. 1968. Knighted 1973.

Grove's Dictionary of Music and Musicians. Largest and most far-ranging mus. dictionary pubd. in Eng. 1st compiled and ed. by George Grove (1879--89, 4 vols.); 2nd edn. ed. J. A. Fuller Maitland (1904--10, 5 vols.); 3rd edn. ed. H. C. Colles (1927, 5 vols.); 4th edn. ed. H. C. Colles (1940, 5 vols.;plsuppl.); 5th edn. ed. Eric Blom (1954, 9 vols.;plsuppl.); 6th edn. ed. Stanley Sadie (1980, 20 vols., title changed to The New Grove Dictionary of Music and Musicians). Always pubd. by Macmillan and Co., London.

Grové, Stefans (b Bethlehem, Orange Free State, 1922). S. African composer. Studied S. African Coll. of Mus. with W. H. Bell, later with W. Piston at Harvard. Teacher at Peabody Cons., Baltimore, 1957--72, then at Univ. of Pretoria. Works incl. Elegy for Strings, Sinfonia Concertante for orch., sym., vn. conc., cl. sonata, pf. trio, fl. sonata, etc.

Growing Castle, The. Chamber opera in 2 acts by Williamson, for 4 singers and chamber ens., to his own lib. based on Strindberg's Dream Play. Prod. Dynevor Fest. 1968.

G.R.S.M. Graduate of the Royal Schools of Music.

Gr. Tr. Abbreviation for Grosse Trommel(Ger.), bass drum.

Gruber, H(einz) K(arl) (b Vienna, 1943). Austrian composer, db. player, and bar. In Vienna Boys' Choir, 1953--7. Studied at Vienna Hochschule für Musik 1957--63, followed by private study with G. von Einem 1963--4. Db. player in Die Reihe ens. from 1961. Prin. db., Tonkünstler Orch. 1963--9. Co-founder of 'MOB Art and Tone ART' ens., 1968--71. Joined Austrian Radio S.O. 1969. Soloist in Frankenstein!!, Liverpool 1978. Works incl.:

orch: Manhattan Broadcasts, light orch. (1962--4); Frankenstein!!, pan-demonium for bar. chansonnier and orch. (1976--7); Phantom-Bilder, small orch. (1977); Vn. Conc. (1977--8); Charivari (1981); Rough Music, conc. for perc. and orch. (1982).

ens: Die Vertreibung aus dem Paradies (The Expulsion from Paradise), for speakers and 6 solo instr. (1966, rev. 1979); 3 MOB Pieces, for 7instr. and perc. (1968, rev. 1977);

Frankenstein!!, ens.version for bar. and 12 players (1979).

brass band: Demilitarized Zones (1979).

choral: 5 Kinderlieder, unacc. female vv. (1965, rev. 1980).

chamber music: 4 Pieces, solo vn. (1963); 6 Episodes from a Discontinued Chronicle, pf. (1967); Castles inthe Air, pf. (1981).

Gruenberg, Erich (b Vienna, 1924). Austrian-born violinist and cond. (Brit. cit. from 1950). Trained Jerusalem Cons. Settled in London 1946. Leader Boyd Neel Orch., Stockholm P.O. 1956, LSO 1962--5, RPO 1972. Frequent chamber-music player in str. qts. and pf. trios. Champion of contemp. vn. concs.

Gruenberg, Louis (b nr. Brest-Litovsk, now Brest, 1884; d Los Angeles, 1964). Russ.-born Amer. comp. and pianist. Studied NY, then in Berlin with Busoni. Début as pianist with Berlin P.O., 1912. Gave up concert touring for comp. on return to USA. Head of comp. dept., Chicago Mus. Coll., 1930--3. Comps. strongly influenced by jazz. Success with opera The Emperor Jones (based on O'Neill play), NY Met. 1933. His vn. conc. was written for Heifetz. Also wrote film scores. Comps. incl.: The Emperor Jones (1933), Green Mansions (for radio) (1937), Volpone (1945), operas; 5 syms. (1919--48), The Hill of Dreams for orch. (1921), Jazz Suite (1929), 2 pf. concs., vn. conc. (1944), 2 vn. sonatas, str. qt., pf. quintet, pf. pieces incl. Jazzberries, 6 Jazz Epigrams, etc.

Gruhn, Nora (b London, 1905). Eng. sop. and teacher. Studied RCM. Cologne Opera 1930--1, CG 1929--32, SW 1932--6, 1945--8.

Grumiaux, Arthur (b Villers-Perwin, Belg., 1921). Belg. violinist. Studied Brussels and Paris. Début Brussels 1940, career then interrupted by war. Début in London 1945, then worldwide career as leading soloist. Prof. of vn., Brussels Cons., from 1949. Became a baron 1973.

Grümmer, Elisabeth (b Niederjeutz, Alsace-Lorraine, 1911). Ger. sop. Began career as actress in Aachen. Singing début there 1940. Sangopera in Duisburg and Prague. Berlin Städtische from 1946, Deutsche Oper, Berlin, from 1961. Début CG 1951, Bayreuth from 1957. Notable in Wagner, Mozart, and Strauss.

Grundstimmen (Ger.). Ground voices: foundation-stops of an org.

Grunebaum, Hermann (b Giessen, 1872; d Chipstead, Surrey, 1954). Ger.-born cond. and teacher. Studied Frankfurt and Berlin. Début Coblenz 1893. Went to London, becoming ch.-master at CG 1907--33. Chief coach BNOC. Head of opera class RCM 1924--46. Cond. f.p. of Holst's Savitri at London Sch. of Opera 1916. Father of Nora Gruhn.

Grünewald, Gottfried (b Eibau, 1675; d Darmstadt, 1739). Ger. singer at Hamburg Opera from 1703; ass. cond. at Darmstadt from 1712. Toured as virtuoso on pantaleon. Comp. opera and organ mus.

Gruppen (Groups). Comp. for 3 orchs. by Stockhausen, 1955--7, each placed in a different part of the hall and each playing different mus. F. Brit. p. 1967.

Gruppetto (It.). Grouplet. The turn, a type of ornament in vocal and instr. mus. Gruppetto implies a 4-note figure, the note above, the note itself, the note below, and the note itself. This figure is perf. after the note itself or instead of it, according to whether the turn sign is placed after the note itself or over it. [ol54] The inflection of the upper or lower note of the turn (in either form) is shown by the placing of a sharp, flat, natural, etc., sign above or below. [ol90] When the gruppetto occurs after the note the taste of the performer governs the division of the time available. The general principle seems to be that the gruppetto is to be perf. fairly rapidly. To bring this about, the first example just given (if occurring in a slow tempo) might be treated thus: [ol39] whilst in a very quick tempo it might be treated as follows (indeed there might be no time to treat it in any other way): [ol33] The number of different examples given in different textbooks is very large, and no 2 textbooks quite agree, but the above statement gives the chief general principles accepted by all. They also apply, of course, to the Inverted Turn, which begins with the lower auxiliary note, instead of the upper one. [xm54] G.S.M. Guildhall School of Music and Drama.

G string (vn.). The lowest str., possessing a rich tone. Composers sometimes direct that a passage should be played entirely on that str. Bach's so-called 'Air on the G string' is really the 2nd movement from his 3rd orch. suite in D, rearr. by Wilhelmj in 1871 as a vn. solo in the key of C, the melody transposed down a 9th, and with pf.acc.

Guadagni, Gaetano (b Lodi, c.1725; d Padua, 1792). It. castrato, cont., later sop. Début Parma 1747. Joined buffa co. which visited Eng. 1748, remaining there and in Dublin until 1755. Handel engaged him to sing in Messiah 1750, and Samson. After studying with Conti in Lisbon, created role of Orpheus in Gluck's Orfeo ed Euridice, Vienna 1762, and Telemaco, 1765. Several arias in Messiah, incl. 'But who may abide', were transposed or rewritten for him by Handel.

Guajira. Sp. dance, with rhythm constantly alternating between ;D6;E8and ;FF. Also found in varied form in Cuba where it is a narrative folk-song.

Guaracha, Guaracha. Sp. and Mexican folk dance in 2 sections respectively in triple and duple time. Dancer usually accompanies himself on guitar.

Guarneri (Guarnerius). It. family, makers of vns., vcs., etc.in 17th and 18th cents. Founder was Andrea (b Cremona, c.1626; d Cremona, 1698), fellow-pupil with Stradivari of Nicola Amati. His sons were Pietro Giovanni (b Cremona, 1655; d Mantua, 1720) who settled as vn.-maker in Mantua, and Giuseppe Giovanni Battista (b Cremona, 1666; d Cremona c.1739) who developed an individual style. But most celebrated of family was Bartolomeo Giuseppe (b Cremona, 1698; d Cremona, 1744), nephew of Andrea, and known as `del Gesù', from the letters I.H.S. on his labels. Regarded as 2nd only to Stradivari. Revived early Brescian sch. traditions, making instrs. with rich, powerful tone. One was owned by Paganini, who bequeathed it to city of Genoa.

GuarneriQuartet. Amer. str. qt. formed 1964 in Vermont at suggestion of Alexander Schneider. Members are Arnold Steinhardt (b Los Angeles, 1937) and John Dally (b Madison, Wisc., 1936) vns., Michael Tree (b Newark, NJ, 1935) va., and David Soyer (b Philadelphia, 1925) vc. Visited London 1970 to perf. all Beethoven's quartets, which it has also recorded.

Guarnieri, Camargo Mozart (b Tiété, S;atao Paulo, 1907). Brazilian comp. and cond. Went to Paris 1938, studying comp. and orch. with Koechlin. Returned to S;atao Paulo, becoming cond. of Phil. Soc. and prof. at Cons. Colourful mus. using Brazilian folk mus. at times. Comps. incl. opera, 3 syms., Dansa Brasileira for orch., Brasiliana, suite for orch., 2 pf. concs., 2 vn. concs., 2 str. qts., pf. pieces, songs.

Gueden, Hilde (b Vienna, 1917). Austrian sop. Studied Vienna Cons. Worked in operetta at 16. Opera début as Cherubino, Zürich 1939. Went to Munich Staatsoper 1942 on recommendation of Strauss and Clemens Krauss. Also sang in Rome and Florence 1942--5. Salzburg Fest. 1946, joined Vienna Staatsoper 1947, CG début 1947 during visit of Vienna co. Kammersängerin, ViennaOpera, 1950. Début NY Met. 1951. Sang Anne in Amer. première of Stravinsky's Rake's Progress 1953. Specializes in Strauss roles (Daphne, Sophie, etc.), Mozart, Verdi, but equally at home in Weill and Lehár.

Guédron (Guesdrone), Pierre (b Beauce, Normandy, c.1570; d Paris, 1619 or 1620). Fr. singer, later composer, to chapel of Henry IV; subsequently master of mus. to Louis XIII. Comp. court ballets, etc. which in dramatic sense anticipated those of Lully; and pubd. 5 books of Airs de cour (1608--20). Work in general tended in same direction as that of the Florentine Camerata.

Guerre des bouffons. See Bouffons, Querelle des.

Guerrero, Francisco (b Seville, 1528; d Seville, 1599). Sp. comp. Pupil of brother Pedro Guerrero. Held various church posts in Sp., Portugal, and It., until in 1574 he was made choirmaster of Seville Cath. after 23 years as assistant. Wrote much church mus. and secular madrigals.

Guerrero, Pedro (b Seville, c.1520). Sp. comp. of madrigals, motets, and lute pieces. Elder brother and teacher of Francisco Guerrero.

Guest, Douglas (Albert) (b Mortomley, Yorks., 1916). Eng. organist and composer. Studied RCM. Dir. of mus., Uppingham Sch. 1945--50, org., Salisbury Cath. 1950--7, org.

Worcester Cath. 1957--63, dir.of mus. Westminster Abbey 1963--81, prof. RCM from 1963. Comp. Missa brevis, 1957.

Guest, George (Howell) (b Bangor, N. Wales, 1924). Welsh org. and cond. Studied St John's Coll., Cambridge. Fellow and org. St John's Coll., Cambridge. Under his guidance, the St John's Choir has become one of the finest in the world, with a continental rather than Eng. style.

Gui, Vittorio (b Rome, 1885; d Florence, 1975). It. cond. and composer. Studied S. Cecilia Acad., Rome. Début Rome, 1907, in La Gioconda. Ass. to Toscanini, Milan, 1923--5 and 1932--4. Cond. Florence Orch. from 1928--40, helped to found (1933) Maggio Musicale Fiorentino. CG début 1938. Cond., Glyndebourne Opera 1952--60, after which 'artistic counsellor'. Last cond. at Glyndebourne in 1964. Noted for revivals of rare Rossini operas. Comp. operas, sym. poems, and author of critical essays.

Guido d'Arezzo (b Paris, c.995; d Avellano, after 1033). It. theorist, teacher, and monk who reformed mus. notation. Long resident in Arezzo, hence his name. Pubd. his theories in Micrologus (1025). Inventor of solfization, whereby names 'ut', 're', 'mi' etc. were used as indications of relative positions of notes of the scale; and of the 'Guidonian Hand', an aid to memory in which tips and joints of the fingers are given names of various notes. See Hexachords.

Guildhall School of Music and Drama. Mus. acad. est. 1880 by Corporation of City of London in warehouse at Aldermanbury. Moved in 1887 to new premises in Blackfriars, when number of students had risen in 7 years from 62 to 2,700. Buildings extended in 1898 and 1970. In 1977 moved to present building in Barbican Arts Centre. Name changed to add 'and Drama' in 1935. Full-time courses. First prin. Weist-Hill 1880--92, followed by Sir Joseph Barnby 1892--6, W. H. Cummings 1896--1910, Sir Landon Ronald 1910--38, Edric Cundell 1938--59, Gordon Thorne 1959--65, Allen Percival 1965--78, John Hosier from 1978.

Guillaume Tell (William Tell). Opera in 4 acts by Rossini (his last) to lib. by de Jouy and Bis after Schiller's play (1804) based on the legend. Prod. Paris 1829, London 1830 (in version adapted by Planché and Bishop) and 1839 (orig. version), NY 1831. Operas on same subject by Grétry (1791) and B. A. Weber (1795).

Guillemain, Gabriel (b Paris, 1705; d Chaville, nr. Paris, 1770). Fr. violinist and comp. of trio syms. in It. style, str. qts., vn. sonatas, hpd. pieces. Violinist in Marchioness de Pompadour's court orch., 1747--50.

Guilmant, Félix Alexandre (b Boulogne, 1837; d Meudon, nr. Paris, 1911). Fr. organist and composer. Studied under Lemmens in Paris and Brussels. Organist, La Trinité, Paris, 1871--1901. Toured in England, USA, and Europe. Co-founder of Schola Cantorum, where he became organ prof. Also prof. of org. Paris Cons., from 1896. Comp. org. syms., 8 sonatas (1874--1909), and other works.

Guiraud, Ernest (b New Orleans, 1837; d Paris, 1892). Fr. comp. and teacher. Studied Paris Cons., winning Grand Prix de Rome, 1859 (as his father had done in 1827). 1st opera, Le Roi David, prod. New Orleans 1852. On staff Paris Cons. from 1876, prof. of comp. from 1880. Wrote treatise on instrumentation. Comp. several operas, the last, Frédégonde, being completed by Saint-Saëns (1895), ballet Gretna Green, and other works, but remembered today because he comp. the recits. for Bizet's Carmen and completed orchestration of Offenbach's Les Contes d'Hoffmann. Compiled Suite No. 2 from Bizet's L'Arlésienne.

Guitar (Fr. Guitare, Sp. Guitarra). Stringed instr., plucked and fretted, of ancient origin, its 16th-cent. ancestor being the Sp. vihuela de mano. Not unlike a lute but with flat or slightly rounded back. Now has 6 courses, tuned E--A--d--g--b--e;my. Became very popular in 19th cent: first great virtuoso of int. fame was Fernando Sor, 1778--1839; while such composers as Boccherini, Berlioz, and Paganini played and comp. for the instr. Present-day revival initiated by Spaniard Francisco Tárrega (1852--1909), and popularity has continued in 20th cent. with emergence of virtuosi such as Segovia, John Williams, and Julian Bream. Concs. have been written for guitar by Villa-Lobos, Ponce, Castelnuovo-Tedesco, Stephen Dodgson, Turina, and Richard Rodney Bennett. Also used in popular mus. (skiffle, pop, folk, etc.) and in jazz (especially electric guitar (connected to amplifier) and bass guitar). See Hawaiian guitar.

Gulda, Friedrich (b Vienna, 1930). Austrian pianist. Studied Vienna. 1st prize Geneva int. contest 1946. Worldwide reputation as recitalist. Also jazz player, having comp. several jazz pieces.

Gundry, Inglis (b Wimbledon, 1905). Eng. composer, teacher, and barrister. Studied Oxford and RCM (pupil of Vaughan Williams and Gordon Jacob). Lecturer on mus., Workers' Educational Assoc., and at univs. from 1946. Works incl. 5 operas, ballet, orch. works, and Phantasy str. qt. (Cobbett Prize 1937).

Gung'l, Joseph (b Zsàmbék, Hung., 1810; d Weimar, 1889). Hung. composer and bandmaster. Formed own band in Berlin 1843, touring Europe and visiting USA 1849. Kapellmeister to Emperor of Austria from 1876. Comp. over 300 dances and marches.

Guntram. Opera in 3 acts by R. Strauss (his 1st) to his own lib. Comp. 1892--3. Prod. Weimar 1894. Rev. 1940 for Weimar revival, also Berlin 1942. F. Eng. p. BBC broadcast 1981.

Guridi, Jesús (b Vitoria, Sp., 1886; d Madrid, 1961). Sp. composer and organist of Basque origin. Studied under d'Indy at Paris Schola Cantorum. On return to Sp. became org. prof. and later dir. of Madrid Cons. Collected Basque folk-tunes and based many of his comps. on them, incl. operas, zarzuelas, choral works, and organ pieces.

Gurlitt, Manfred (b Berlin, 1890; d Tokyo, 1973). Ger. composer and cond. Studied with Humperdinck and Karl Muck. Cond. at Essen 1911--12, Augsburg 1912--14, and Bremen 1914--27. His comps. were banned by the Nazis. Went to Japan 1939, forming Gurlitt Opera Co. Works incl. 9 operas (incl. Wozzeck, 1920, prod. 1928), Goya Symphony (1938), Shakespeare Symphony (choral) (1954), pf. quintet, chamber conc., songs, etc.

Gurney, Ivor (b Gloucester, 1890; d Dartford, 1937). Eng. composer, organist, and poet. Chorister, Gloucester Cath. 1900, pupil of Brewer. Ass. org. 1906--11. Won scholarship to RCM 1911, studying comp. under Stanford. Joined army 1915, gassed at Passchendaele 1917. Wrote poetry, setting several of his own poems to mus. as well as poetry by Housman, etc. Song-cycles, of touching beauty and promise, incl. Ludlow and Teme, for ten., str. qt., and pf., and The Western Playland for bar., str. qt., and pf. Other songs incl. Desire in Spring and Severn Meadows. Returned to RCM 1919 but declared insane 1922.

Gurrelieder (Songs of Gurra). Work by Schoenberg, comp. 1901--3 and 1910--11 and given no Op. no., being setting for 5 soloists, speaker, 3 male chs., mixed ch., and orch. of a Ger. trans. from the Danish of poems by J. P. Jacobsen. (Gurra is castle where the 14th-cent. heroine Tove lives.) Mus. is in Schoenberg's Wagnerian style but foreshadows his maturity. Requires huge orch. incl. 10 hn., 8 fl., 4 Wagner tubas, 6 timp., and iron chains. F.p. Vienna 1913, cond. F. Schreker; London (broadcast) 1928. The Song of the Wood Dove (Lied der Waldtaube) was arr. by Schoenberg for v. and chamber orch. 1922.

Gusla (gusle, guzla). Ancient 1-str. bowed instr. still popular in some Slavonic regions (not to be confused with gusli).

Guslar. A player on the gusli. Gusli (Guslee). Ancient Russ. instr. of the zither family (not to be confused with gusla). Imitated by Rimsky-Korsakov in his opera Sadko.

Gutheil-Schoder, Marie (b Weimar, 1874; d Bad Ilmenau, 1935). Ger. sop. Studied Weimar, début there 1891. Engaged for Vienna Opera by Mahler, 1900, remaining until 1926. Sang Oktavian in Rosenkavalier CG 1913 (her only London appearance). Outstanding actress, hence success in Elektra, Carmen, etc. Created role of The Woman in Schoenberg's Erwartung (Prague, 1924).

Gutierrez, Horacio (b Havana, 1948). Cuban pianist. Studied Los Angeles, then Juilliard Sch., NY 1967--70. Début Havana 1959. Soloist in concs. with leading US and European orchs. 2nd prize Tchaikovsky competition 1970.

Guy, Barry (b London, 1947). Eng. composer and db. player. Studied GSM (comp. with Buxton Orr and Patric Standford). Prin. db. player in several chamber orchs. Founder and artistic dir., London Jazz Composers' Orch. Works incl. Incontri, vc. and orch. (1969--70), 'D', 15 solo str. (1972), Anna, amplified db. and orch. (1974), Songs from Tomorrow, orch. (1975), Eos, db. and orch., (1977), 3 str. qts., Play for chamber ens. (1976), Voyages of the Moon, db. and orch. (1983), Bitz, septet (1984).

Gymel, Gimel (from Lat. gemellus, twin). The word has been used in mus. in 3 senses, all with the idea of twinship. (1) Style of singing alleged to have been common in parts of Britain as early as the 10th or 11th cents. Whilst one body of singers took the tune of a song another body would extemporize a part in 3rds beneath it. (2) Type of comp. found in the 14th and early 15th cents. in which, whilst the main tune, or cantus firmus, was sung in a lower v., 2 upper vv. sang an acc. in which they moved independently of the other v. but in 3rds with one another. (3) In 16th-cent. choral mus. the word Gymel on a vocal part means that the singers of that part are here divided (same as divisi). The restoration of the status quo is then indicated by the word semel.

Gymnopédies. 3 pf. pieces by Satie, comp. 1888. Nos. 1 and 3 orch. by Debussy 1896, No. 2 by Roland-Manuel and also by Herbert Murrill. Title refers to Ancient Greek annual fest. in Sparta in honour of Apollo, the Gymnopaidiai being choral dances perf. by naked men and boys div. by age into 3 choruses.

Gyrowetz (Jirovec^), Adalbert (b Bude^; jovice, 1763; d Vienna, 1850). Bohemian composer. His work was admired by Mozart in Vienna in 1785. Studied in Naples and Paris, lived in London 1789--92. Was of much assistance to Haydn, whom he idolised, during his two visits to Eng. Kapellmeister and Intendant of Vienna court ths. 1804--31. Compd. 30 operas (incl. Hans Sachs), 25 ballets, 40 syms., 45 str. qts., pf. sonatas, etc.

H

H (Ger.). Bnat, H dur being key of B major and H moll key of B minor.

Haas, Joseph (b Maihingen, 1879; d Munich, 1960). Ger. composer. Studied comp. with [fy45,1] *Reger in Munich 1904--8. Taught comp. at Stuttgart Cons. 1911--21, Munich 1921--50. One of founders of Donaueschingen Fest., 1921. Wrote biography of Reger (1949). Works incl. operas Tobias Wunderlich and Die Hochzeit des Jobs; oratorios Das Lebensbuch Gottes, Das Lied von der Mutter, Das Jahr im Lied, and Die Seligen; vn. sonata, str. qt., and other choral mus. and song-cycles.

Haas, Karl (Wilhelm Jacob) (b Karlsruhe, 1900; d London, 1970). Ger.-born cond. and musicologist. Studied Heidelberg and Munich Univ. Mus. adviser Karlsruhe and Stuttgart radio. Settled in Eng. 1939. Founded London Baroque Ens. 1941 to perform then unfamiliar mus. from baroque period. Public début, Nat. Gallery, 1943, last concert 1966. Ed. works of Cherubini, Boccherini, Haydn, etc.

Haas, Monique (b Paris, 1906). Fr. pianist. Studied Paris Cons. Began concert career 1927. Worldwide tours. Specialist in Ravel and other contemporary works. Taught at Paris Cons.

Haas, Robert (Maria) (b Prague, 1886; d Vienna, 1960). Ger.--Cz. cond. and musicologist. Studied Prague, Vienna, Berlin. Ass. to G. Adler in Vienna 1909, cond. th. orchs. 1910--13. Mus. librarian Vienna State Library, 1920--45. Prof. Vienna Univ. 1930. Ed. works by Monteverdi etc., but best known for his editorship of complete edn. of Bruckner's works from 1932 to 1949 when he was succeeded by Nowak. Haas restored the syms. nearer to the form in which Bruckner intended they should be heard. Author of books on Vienna Opera (1926), Mozart (1933), and Bruckner (1934).

Hába, Alois (b Vizovice, 1893; d Prague, 1973). Cz. composer. Studied with Novák at Prague Cons. 1914--15 and with Schreker in Vienna and Berlin 1918--22. Worked in Vienna as proofreader for Universal Edition, thereby learning Schoenberg's works. Studied oriental music and also Moravian folk-mus. Became prin. propagator of microtonal mus., founding and directing dept. of ;FB-tone and ;FL-tone mus. at Prague Cons. 1924--51. Wrote comps. in ;FB-tones, ;FL-tones, and some in ;FH-tones. Developed harmonic theory in ;FB-tone, ;FL-tone, and 12-tone systems. ;FB-tone and ;FL-tone instrs. (3 types of pf., harmonium, cls., and tpts.) were made for him. Folk music also influenced his works, and his 12-note works, while never abandoning tonality, are on Schoenbergian principles. Works incl.: Operas Matka (The Mother) in ;FB tones (1927--9, rev. 1964), P;akriid[fy8,1]F Království Tvé (Nezame^;stnani) (Thy Kingdom Come (The Unemployed)) in ;FL tones (1932--42), and Nová Zeme^; (The New Land) (1935--6); 16 str. qts., some in ;FB, ;FL and ;FK tones; fantasias for vc. and for pf. in ;FB tones; vn. conc. (1954); va. conc. (1956); symphonic fantasia Cesta ;AkZivota (The Way of Life) (1934); and Fantasia for nonet (1932, 12-tone) and ;D1;E7 tone, 1932.

Hába, Karel (b Vizovice, 1898; d Prague, 1972). Cz. composer and violist, brother of Alois Hába. Studied Prague Cons. 1918--23 (comp. with Novák). Ed., Cz. nat. radio journal 1929--50. Violist Cz. P.O. 1929--36. Like his brother's, his works employ microtones. They incl. str. qts; vc. conc.; vn. conc.; operas János^;ik and Stará historie (Old History); 2 syms.; choral works; and chamber mus.

Haba;atnera (Fr. Havaneise). Slow Cuban (orig. African) song and dance (Habana = Havana), which became very popular in Sp. It is in simple duple time and dotted rhythm. Famous examples are the haba;atnera in Bizet's opera Carmen ('L'Amour est un oiseau rebelle') which is an adaptation of a popular song by Yradier, and the Haba;atnera for 2 pfs. by Ravel, later incorporated in his Rapsodie espagnole for orch.

Habeneck, Fran;alcois (Antoine) (b Mézières, 1781; d Paris, 1849). Fr. cond., composer, and violinist. Studied Paris Cons. 1st vn. in Paris Opéra orch. 1815, dir. 1821--4, and cond. 1824--47 (chief cond. from 1831). Ass. prof. of vn., Paris Cons. 1808--16, teaching special class 1825--48. Founded Société des Concerts du Conservatoire 1828, conducting it until 1848 and introducing Beethoven's syms. to Fr. Cond.f.ps. of some works by Berlioz incl. the Requiem.

Hackbrett (Ger.). Chopping board, i.e. dulcimer.

Hacker, Alan (b Dorking, 1938). Eng. clarinettist. Studied at RAM and later in Paris, Vienna, and Bayreuth. On staff RAM 1959. Member of LPO 1959--66 and was founder-member of Pierrot Players 1967. Founded Matrix 1971. On staff York Univ. Has restored basset-clarinet to playing of Mozart, and given f.ps. of works by Boulez, Goehr, Birtwistle, Blake, and Maxwell Davies.

Hadley, Patrick (Arthur Sheldon) (b Cambridge, 1899; d King's Lynn, 1973). Eng. composer. Studied Cambridge and RCM. Taught at RCM 1925--62. Prof. of mus., Cambridge Univ., 1946--62. Comps., influenced by folk mus., Eng. poetry, Vaughan Williams, and Delius, mainly for vv. and orch. They incl.: Ephemera, for sop. or ten. and chamber orch. (1929); Scene from Hardy's The Woodlanders for sop. and orch. (1926); The Trees so high for bar., ch., and orch. (1931); La Belle Dame sans merci for ten., ch., and orch. (1935); The Hills for soloists, ch., and orch. (1944); Scene from Shelley's The Cenci for sop. and orch. (1951); and Fen and Flood for soloist, ch., and orch. (1954). Also many songs.

Hadow, (Sir) William (Henry) (b Ebrington, 1859; d London, 1937). Eng. educator, writer, and composer. Studied mus. at Darmstadt 1882. Lecturer on mus. Oxford Univ. 1890--9; prin., Armstrong Coll., Newcastle upon Tyne, 1909--19; vice-chancellor, Sheffield Univ. 1919--30. Comp. chamber mus. and songs. Books incl. Studies in Modern Music (1892, 1894, new edn. 1926), English Music (1931). Gen. ed. Oxford History of Music, Vol. V (The Viennese Period), 1904. Knighted 1918.

Haebler, Ingrid (b Vienna, 1929). Austrian pianist. Studied Vienna, Salzburg, and Geneva. Won Munich int. competition 1954. Specialist in Mozart concs. and Schubert sonatas. Mozart medal, Vienna, 1971.

Haendel, Ida (b Chelm, Poland, 1924). Polish-born violinist. Studied Warsaw Cons. and with Flesch and Enescu. Début London 1937. Settled in Eng., but toured worldwide. In 1952 left Eng. to live in Canada. Toured Russia 1966.

Haffner Serenade. Nickname of Mozart's Suite in D major, K250, comp. 1776 for a marriage in the Salzburg family of Haffner.

Haffner Symphony. Nickname of Mozart's Sym. No.35 in D major, K385, arr. from a serenade (but not the D major, K250) written for the Haffner family in 1782.

Hageman, Richard (b Leeuwarden, Holland, 1882; d Beverly Hills, Calif., 1966). Dutch-born Amer. composer and cond. Studied Brussels Cons. Ass. cond. Amsterdam Royal Opera, 1898, chief cond. 1900. Went to USA 1907. Cond. at NY Met. 1912--21 and 1935--6. Wrote opera Caponsacchi (prod. Freiburg 1932 and NY Met. 1937), film mus., songs, etc.

Hahn, Reynaldo (b Caracas, 1874; d Paris, 1947). Fr. composer and cond. Studied Paris Cons. 1886, comp. with Massenet. His operas incl. 2 special successes, Ciboulette (1923) and Mozart (1925). Though he wrote ballets, operetta, a cantata, pf. conc., and incidental mus., he is best remembered by his elegant and charming songs incl. Si mes vers avaient des ailes. Dir., Paris Opéra, 1945--6.

Hairpins. Nickname for the signs [cp6][cs12][cb-1] ;Lt[cs8][cp8][cb0] and [cp6][cs12][cb-1] ;Mt[cs8][cp8][cb0] which represent crescendo and diminuendo.

Haitink, Bernard (b Amsterdam, 1929). Dutch conductor. Studied vn. and cond. at Amsterdam Cons. Violinist in Netherlands Radio P.O., becoming prin. cond. 1957. Guest cond. Concertgebouw Orch. 1958--60, becoming joint prin. cond. (with Jochum) 1961, prin.

cond. from 1964. Amer. début 1958 (Los Angeles), Brit. début 1959 (visit with Concertgebouw Orch.). Prin. cond. LPO 1967--79 (art. dir. from 1970). Brit. opera début, Glyndebourne 1972 (Die Entführung), CG 1977 (Don Giovanni). Mus. dir. Glyndebourne Opera from 1977. NY Met. début 1982 (Fidelio). Mus. dir. CG from 1987. Specialist in syms. of Mahler and Bruckner. Hon. K.B.E. 1977.

Halb, Halbe (Ger.). Half. Halbe, Halbenote, Halbe Taktnote, half-note (minim); Halbepause, half-rest (minim rest).

Halbprinzipal (Ger.). Half Diapason, i.e. 4' Principal (org. stop).

Halbsopran (Ger.). Mezzo-soprano.

Halbtenor (Ger.). Baritone.

Hale (Halle), Adam de la. See Adam de la Halle.

Halek, Vac^;lav (b Prague, 1937). Cz. composer. Studied Prague Cons. Comps. incl. 2 pf. concs., 2 str. quintets, sym., tb. conc., vn. and pf. conc., Battle for Peace for org. and strs., choral works.

Halévy (orig. Lévi), Jacques (Fran; Alcois Fromental Elias) (b Paris, 1799; d Nice, 1862). Fr. composer. Pupil of Cherubini at Paris Cons., also studied in It. Grand Prix de Rome 1819. Achieved fame with opera La Juive. Taught at Paris Cons. from 1827. Chef du chant Paris Opéra 1829--45. Comp. over 30 operas, several ballets, cantatas, and songs.

Half Cadence. See Cadence.

Half Close. See Cadence.

Halffter, Cristóbal (b Madrid, 1930). Sp. comp.; Dh oser and cond. Studied with C. del Campo and A. Tansman. Works for Sp. radio. Teacher of comp. and theory, Madrid Cons. 1960--7 (dir. 1964--6). Guest cond. of leading orchs. Works incl.:

orch: Sequences (1965); Sym. for 3 groups of instrs. (1963); Anillos (1967--8); 5 Microforms (1960); Requiem por la Libertad Imaginada (1971); Elegies for death of 3 Spanish poets (1974--5); vc. conc. (1974); Fibonacci, fl. conc. (1969); vn. conc. (1979); Tiento (1980); Fantasia on a Theme of Handel, str. (1981); Sinfonia ricercata, org. and orch. (1982); Versus (1983).

choral: Yes Speak Out Yes, U.N.O. cantata, sop., bar., ch., orch. (1968); In exspectatione resurrectionis Domini, bar., male ch., and orch. (1965); Symposion, bar., ch., orch. (1968); In memoriam Anaick, reciter, ch., and orch. (1967); Jarchas de dolor de Ausencia, 12 vv. (1979). Also chamber mus. and songs.

Halffter (Escríche), Ernesto (b Madrid, 1905). Sp. composer and cond. Pupil of Falla. Lived in Portugal until he founded chamber orch. in Seville. Works incl. The Death of Carmen (1977), orch. pieces, pf. mus., etc. Completed Falla's Atlántida.

Halffter (Escríche), Rodolfo (b Madrid, 1900). Sp.-born composer (Mexican cit. from 1939), brother of Ernesto Halffter. Mainly self-taught with help from Falla. Influenced by Schoenberg. Settled in Mexico 1939. Composed orch. works and chamber mus.

Half-note (yg). Half the time-value of the whole-note or semibreve. Known in Eng. usage as 'minim' (from Lat. minima). See also Rests; Names of Notes.

Hali;Akr, Karl (b Hohenelbe, 1859; d Berlin, 1909). Cz. violinist. Studied Prague Cons. and with Joachim in Berlin. Leader of several Ger. orchs. 2nd violinist in Joachim Qt. 1897--1907.

Halka (Helen). Opera in 4 (orig. 2) acts by Moniuszko to lib. by Wolski after Wójcicki's story Góralka. F. (concert) p. Wilno 1848; (rev. version) Warsaw 1858; NY 1903; London 1961.

Hall, Ernest (b Liverpool, 1890; d London, 1984). Eng. orch. trumpeter. Trained RCM, becoming prof. of tpt., 1924--70. 3rd tpt. LSO 1911, prin. tpt. 1924--30; prin. tpt. BBC S.O. 1930--50.

Hall, Marie (Paulina) (b Newcastle upon Tyne, 1884; d Cheltenham, 1956). Eng. violinist. Pupil of Elgar, Kruse, and Sevc^;ik. Début Prague 1902, London 1903. Gave f.p. of Vaughan Williams's The Lark Ascending 1920.

Hall, (Sir) Peter (b Bury St Edmunds, 1930). Eng. theatrical producer. Dir., Oxford Playhouse 1954--5; man. dir. Royal Shakespeare Co. 1960--8; dir., Nat. Th. from 1973. Art. dir. Glyndebourne from 1984. First opera prod., Gardner's The Moon and Sixpence, SW 1957. Produced Wagner's Ring at Bayreuth 1983. His other prin. operaprods. have been: CG: Schoenberg's Moses and Aaron (1965), Mozart's Die Zauberflöte (1966), Tippett's The Knot Garden (1970), Tchaikovsky's Eugene Onegin (1971), Wagner's Tristan und Isolde (1971); Glyndebourne: Cavalli's La Calisto (1970), Monteverdi's Il Ritorno d'Ulisse in Patria (1972), L'Incoronazione di Poppea (1984), Mozart's Le Nozze di Figaro (1973), Don Giovanni (1977), Così fan tutte (1978), Beethoven's Fidelio (1979), Britten's A Midsummer Night's Dream (1981), Gluck's Orfeo (1982). NY Met.: Verdi's Macbeth (1982). C.B.E. 1963. Knighted 1977.

Hall, Richard (b York, 1903; d Horsham, 1982). Eng. composer, teacher, and poet. No formal mus. education beyond a few lessons from Bairstow. Played vc. and org. Org., Dorchester Abbey, Oxon, 1923. Org. scholar Peterhouse, Cambridge Univ., 1923--4. Ordained in C. of E. Precentor, Leeds Parish Church 1926--36. Left church 1936, chiefly because of growing interest in Eastern religion and philosophy. Mus. adv., Lancs. Community Council 1936--40. Prof. of harmony and comp., RMCM, 1938--56. Influential teacher, pupils incl. Maxwell Davies, A. Goehr, Birtwistle, D. Wilde, and A. Butterworth. Dir. of mus. Dartington Hall 1956--65, founding Dartington Str. Qt. Ordained as Liberal Catholic priest 1959. Minister, Unitarian Church, Moretonhampstead 1965--7, Horsham 1967--76, Billing- hurst 1968--76. Pubd. 7 books of poetry 1970--5. Comps., influenced by Delius, Skryabin, Schoenberg, and Berg, incl. 5 syms.; pf. conc.; 2 str. qts.; 19 pf. sonatas (1934--5); vc. conc.; Lyric Pieces, orch. (1946); sym.-poem Lemura; Creator Spiritus, vv. and orch.; Rhapsody, for org. and str. (1929); orch. fantasy The Sheep Under the Snow; songs, etc.

Hallé, (Sir) Charles (orig. Halle, Karl) (b Hagen, Ger., 1819; d Manchester, 1895). Ger.-born pianist and cond. Child prodigy pianist. Studied Darmstadt 1835; went to Paris 1836 to improve pf. technique, becoming friend of Chopin, Liszt, and Berlioz. Début in Paris in pf. trio with Alard and Franchomme, 1840. Concert tour of Ger. 1842, London 1843. Instituted first Paris series of chamber concerts 1847. Settled in Eng. 1848. First pianist to play complete series of Beethoven pf. sonatas in London (also in Manchester and Paris). Invited to settle in Manchester, 1848, where he lived for the rest of his life. Founded chamber concerts in Manchester 1848--9, choral soc. 1850, became cond. of Gentlemen's Concerts orch. 1849, cond. his first concert 1850. Founded his own series of orch. concerts Jan. 1858, thereby inaugurating what are still known as the Hallé Orch. and Hallé Concerts. Regularly appeared as soloist in concs. and as recitalist. Annual visits to London, Edinburgh, etc. Champion of new works, esp. those of Berlioz. Cond. f.p. in Eng. of Symphonie

Fantastique, L'Enfance du Christ, and La Damnation de Faust. Cond. opera seasons in Manchester 1854--5, London 1860--1. Cond. Bristol Festival 1873--93. Toured Australia 1890 and 1891 and S. Africa 1895 with 2nd wife, the violinist Wilhelmina Norman-Neruda. 1st Prin., RMCM 1893--5. Knighted 1888.

HallelujahChorus. Usually taken to mean one particular ch. out of many which exist, i.e. that which closes Part II of Handel's Messiah. At one of the 3 London perfs. in CG Th. in 1743, the whole assembly, led by George II, rose to its feet as the ch. opened, and remained standing to the end, thus establishing a tradition which is still maintained by Brit. audiences.

Hallén, Anders (Johan Andreas) (b Gothenburg, 1846; d Stockholm, 1925). Swed. composer, cond., and critic. Studied with Reinecke in Leipzig, Rheinberger in Munich. Cond. Gothenburg Mus. Union 1872--8 and 1883--4, Stockholm P.O. 1884--92, Royal Opera 1892--7, Malmö P.O. 1901--07. Prof. of comp. Stockholm Cons. from 1907. Comp. 3 operas, Missa solemnis, cantatas, symphonic poems, and songs, etc.

Hallé Orchestra. Manchester's prin. sym. orch., founded 1858 by Charles Hallé, after success of series of orch. concerts at 1857 Art Treasures Exhibition. Hallé remained cond. (and proprietor and prin. pf. soloist) until death in 1895. In interregnum Frederic Cowen was cond. until 1899 when Hans Richter took up post offered to him in 1895. Concerts managed from 1898 by non-profit-making Hallé Concerts Soc. (today with considerable financial support from Arts Council, private patronage, and local govt.). Richter left in 1911 and was succeeded in 1912 by Michael Balling who remained until 1914. No permanent cond. appointed until Hamilton Harty, 1920--33. During decade 1933--43, Beecham and Sargent, with others, wereconds. Orch. reconstituted 1943 on annual basis giving many more concerts and John Barbirolli was appointed cond., retaining post until his death in 1970. Succeeded 1971 by James Loughran who resigned 1983 and was succeeded (1984) by Stanislaw Skrowaczewski. Among works f.p. by Hallé are Elgar's 1st Sym. (1908) and Vaughan Williams's 7th and 8th syms. (1953 and 1956). Orch. gives regular series in Sheffield and Bradford, tours throughout Britain, and has made many overseas tours.

Halling. A popular solo Norweg. dance, presumed to have originated in the Hallingdal. The mus. is in simple duple time, and the steps are remarkably vigorous. Acc. played on 'Hardanger fiddle', vn. strung with 4 stopped and 4 sympathetic str.

Halm, Hans (b Munich, 1898; d Munich, 1965). Ger. musicologist. Dir., mus. section, Munich State Library from 1938. Afterdeath of Kinsky, completed and pubd. his thematic catalogue of Beethoven's works (1955).

Halsey, Louis (Arthur Owen) (b London, 1922). Eng. cond. Studied King's Coll., Cambridge. Founded and cond. Elizabethan Singers 1953--66, Louis Halsey Singers from 1967, Thames Chamber Choir from 1964. Mus. producer, BBC, from 1963.

Hambourg, Mark (b Bogutchar, 1879; d Cambridge, 1960). Russ.-born pianist, later Brit. citizen. Début with Moscow P.O. 1888, then pupil of Leschetizky in Vienna. Many world tours.

Hamraeus, Bengt (b Stockholm, 1928). Swed. composer and organist. Studied Upsala Univ. 1947--56 and at Darmstadt summer courses with Fortner, Messiaen, and K; Akrenek. Joined staff, Swedish Broadcasting Corporation, 1957: dir. of chamber mus. 1965--8, prod. dir. 1968--72. Prof., McGill Univ., Montreal, from 1972. Has comp. at elec. studios in Cologne, Milan, and Munich.

Hamburg. N. German city and port with long mus. tradition. Famous figures in its church mus. history who held office of Musikdirektor der Hauptkirchen incl. Sartorius (1604--37), Selle (1638--63), Telemann (1721--67), C. P. E. Bach (1767--88), and C. F. G. Schwencke (1788--1822). In 17th cent. Hamburg was leading centre of N. German org. mus. Schnitger (1648--1719) was important org. builder and among distinguished organists were the Praetorius brothers, Reincken, and Lübeck. Became opera centre in 1678. Keiser, who moved to Hamburg in 1695, wrote over 50 operas for the company he directed from 1703 to 1706, with Handel as apprentice. Telemann wrote several operas for Hamburg. In 19th cent., Bernhard Pollini (Pohl) from 1874 established a Wagnerian reputation and engaged Mahler as cond. (1891--7). Later cond. incl. Klemperer (1910--12), Pollak (1917--31), and Böhm (1931--4). Opera house bombed 1943, rebuilt 1955. Conds. after 1945 incl. Arthur Gruber (1946--50), Leopold Ludwig (1951--71), and Christoph von Dohnányi (1977--84). Producers such as Günther Rennert and intendants such as Tietjen (1954--9) and R. Liebermann (1959--73) lifted Hamburg to a leading place in European opera. Orch. concerts developed c.1660. C. P. E. Bach arr. concerts from 1768 for the next 20 years. Hamburg Philharmonic Orch. gave first concert in Jan. 1829 but was eclipsed from 1886 by concerts given by the opera orch. under Hans von Bülow. But Muck from 1922 transformed the playing until, when he retired in 1933, the orch. was merged with the opera orch. under joint cond. of Jochum and Schmidt-Isserstedt. After 1945 cond. incl. Keilberth and Sawallisch. In 1945 Schmidt-Isserstedt became chief cond. of Hamburg radio orch. which later toured Eng., Russ., and USA. Known as North German Radio S.O. from 1951. Gave f.p. (concert) of Schoenberg's Moses und Aron, 1954. Atzmon was chief cond. 1972--9, Tennstedt 1979--82, Wandfrom 1982.

Hamburger, Paul (b Vienna, 1920). Austrian-born pianist and critic. Studied Vienna State Acad. Settled in Eng. Worked with EOG 1953--6, Glyndebourne Opera 1956--62. Frequent accompanist and chamber mus. player. Has contributed to pubd. symposiums on Britten, Mozart, and Chopin. Translator of Hollander's Janáček.

Hamerik (orig. Hammerich), Asger (b Copenhagen, 1843; d Frederiksburg, 1923). Danish composer and pianist. Pupil of Gade and Bülow. In Paris 1864--9 was helped and taught by Berlioz. Went to Italy 1869, opera La Vendetta prod. Milan 1870. Dir. of Cons., Peabody Institute, Baltimore, 1871--98, founding sym. concerts there. Returned to Copenhagen 1900. Comp. 8 syms., 5 suites, 3 other operas, chamber mus., etc.

Hamerik, Ebbe (b Copenhagen, 1898; d Copenhagen, 1951). Danish composer and cond. Son of AsgerHamerik, with whom he studied. Cond., Danish Royal Opera 1919--22. Comp. 5 syms., several operas, and chamber mus.

Hamilton, Iain (Ellis) (b Glasgow, 1922). Scot. composer and pianist. Trained in London as engineer but won scholarship to RAM in 1947, studying comp. with Alwyn and pf. with H. Craxton. Cl. Quintet perf. 1949; 2nd Sym. (1951) won Koussevitzky award. Lecturer, Morley Coll. 1952--9, London Univ. 1955--60. Prof. of mus., Duke Univ., N. Carolina, 1961--81, becoming chairman, mus. dept. 1966. Returned to Eng. 1981. Early works showed influences of Bartók and Hindemith, and in the Sinfonia he used serial procedures. Growing interest in vocal and operatic mus. has eased tendency to austerity in his mus. Prin. works:

operas: Rondo, 1-act opera buffa; Agamemnon, 2-act (1967--9); Royal Hunt of the Sun, 2-act (1967--9); Pharsalia 1-act, (1968); The Catiline Conspiracy (1972--3); Tamburlaine (1976); Anna Karenina (1978); Dick Whittington (1980--1); Lancelot (1982--3).

ballet: Clerk Saunders (1951).

orch: Variations for str. (1948); Sym. No. 1 (1950), No 2 (1951), No. 3 (Spring) (1981), No. 4 in B (1981); ov. Bartholomew Fair (1952); cl. conc. (1950); pf. conc. No. 1 (1949), No. 2 (1960 rev. 1967); Sinfonia Concertante for vn., va., and orch. (1950); vn. conc. No. 1 (1952); conc. for jazz tpt. (1958); Scottish Dances (1956); ov. 1912 (1958); Sinfonia for 2 orch. (1958--9); Sonata per orchestrada camera (1956); Arias for small orch. (1962);

Cantos for orch. (1964); org. conc. (1964); Jubilee (1964); Circus for 2 tpt. and orch. (1969); Voyage for hn. and orch. (1970); Alastor (1970); Amphion, vn. conc. No. 2 (1971); Commedia: Concerto for Orch. (1972--3); Aurora (1975); The Alexandrian Sequence, chamber orch. (1976).

choral: The Bermudas for bar., ch., and orch. (1956); Nocturnal for 11 solo vv. (1959); Epitaph For This World and Time for 3 ch., 3 organs (1970); Te Deum; The Descent of the Celestial City, vv. and org. (1972); The Golden Sequence, ch. and org. (1973); To Columbus, ch., brass, and perc. (1975); Requiem, unacc. ch. (1979); Mass in A, unacc. ch. (1980); Vespers, ch., 2 pf., hp., perc. (1980); The Morning Watch, ch. and 10 winds (1981); St Mark Passion, SATB soloists, ch., and orch. (1982).

voice and orch: Cinque Canzone d'Amore, ten. and orch. (1957); Dialogues, coloratura sop. and small orch. (1965); Pharsalia, dramatic commentary for bar. and chamber ens. (1968); Cleopatra, dramatic scene for sop. and orch. (1978); La Ricordanza, ten. and orch. (1981).

chamber music: Cl. quintet No. 1 (1948); str. qt. (1949); va. sonata (1951); fl. qt. (1951); cl. sonata (1954); pf. trio (1954); octet for str. (1954); vc. sonata No. 1 (1958); sextet (1962); brass quintet (1964); 2nd str. qt. (1965); sonata for 3 winds (1966); 5 Scenes, tpt. and pf. (1966); fl. sonata (1966); vc. sonata No. 2 (1974); cl. quintet No. 2 (Sea Music) (1974); Hyperion, pf., cl., hn., vn., vc. (1977); Spirits of the Air, bass tb. (1977); octet (1983--4).

organ: Fanfares and Variants (1960); Aubade (1965); Threnos---in time of war (1966); Roman Music (1973); Vision of Canopus (1975).

piano: Sonata No. 1 (1951 rev. 1971), No. 2 (1973), No. 3 (1978); 3 Pieces (1955); Nocturnes with cadenzas (1963); Palinodes (1972).

songs: Spirit of Delight, song-cycle, sop. and bar. (1978); Love is Life's Spring, sop., pf. (1982).

Hamlet. Shakespeare's play (1600--1) has inspired operas and orch. mus. e.g. (1) Opera in 5 acts by Ambroise Thomas to lib. by Barbier and Carré, prod. Paris 1868, London 1869, NY 1872. (2) Opera (Amleto) by Faccio to lib. by Boito, prod. Genoa 1865. (3) Sym. poem by Liszt, comp. 1858 as prelude to play. (4) Fantasy-ov. Op. 67a by Tchaikovsky, 1888, and incidental mus. (16 items) Op. 67b, 1891. (5) Opera in 3 acts by Searle to his own lib., prod. Hamburg 1968, London 1969. (6) Ballets on the subject have used mus. by Tchaikovsky, Clerico, Gallenberg, Blacher, and Shostakovich. (7) Other operas on the subject by Gasparini, D. Scarlatti, Mercadante, Grandi, and Szokolay among others. (8) Film music by Shostakovich and Walton.

Hammerich. See Hamerik, Asger.

Hammerklavier Sonata. Title generally applied solely to Beethoven's Pf. Sonata No. 29 in Bb major, Op. 106, comp. 1817--18, but in a letter written in Jan. 1817 Beethoven said he had decided to use the word 'Hammerklavier' (Ger., 'pianoforte') on all his pf. mus. with Ger. titles, adding 'this is to be clearly understood once and for all'.

Hammerstein, Oscar (b Stettin, 1846; d NY, 1919). Ger.-Amer. impresario and businessman. Settled in NY 1863, making fortune from inventions such as cigar-making machine. From 1890 built and managed various ths. In 1906 built Manhattan Opera House, NY, engaging superb singers and producing adventurous repertory, incl. first NY perfs. of Louise, Pelléas et Mélisande, Salomé, and Elektra. In 1908 built Philadelphia Opera House, run in assoc. with his NY co. The Met. in 1910 bought his interests and stipulated he should not produce opera in the US for 10 years. So in London he built London Opera House (Stoll, Kingsway), opening in 1911 but failing after 2 seasons. Built Lexington Opera House, NY, in 1913, but the Met. legally restrained him from producing opera there.

Hammerstein, Oscar (II) (b NY, 1895; d Doylestown, Penn., 1960). Amer. librettist and producer, grandson of above. Collab. with Kern (notably in Show Boat, 1927), Romberg, Friml, and most notably with Richard Rodgers in Oklahoma! (1943), Carousel (1945), South Pacific (1949), The King and I (1951) and The Sound of Music (1959). Wrote lib. for Carmen Jones (1943), the brilliant adaptation of Carmen as an Amer. musical.

Hammond, (Dame) Joan (Hood) (b Christchurch, N.Z., 1912). New Zealand sop. Studied Sydney Cons. and played vn. in Sydney S.O. for 3 years. Début as singer 1929. Later studied singing in Vienna (1936) and in London with Dino Borgioli. Singing début London 1938 (Messiah) and in opera in Vienna 1938. Later career in opera houses in London, Vienna, Moscow, and Netherlands, repertory incl. Aida, Fidelio, and some Wagner. Member Carl Rosa Co. 1942--5. Sang with NY City Opera 1949. Sang title-role in f.p. in Eng. trans. of Dvořák's Rusalka, 1959. Worked as journalist in Australia, also excellent golfer. O.B.E. 1953, C.B.E. 1963, C.M.G. 1972, D.B.E. 1974. Retired 1965.

Hammond Organ. Type of elec. org. invented and manufactured by Hammond Organ Co., Chicago (first introduced 1933). Usually has 2 manuals and pedal kbd. Sound is prod. and controlled by electricity in simulation of pipe-org. Inventor, Laurens Hammond, also produced the Solovox, the Chord Organ, and the Novachord.

Hammond-Stroud, Derek (b London, 1929). Eng. bar. Studied with Elena Gerhardt and Gerhard Hüsch. Prin. bar. SW Opera 1961--71, CG from 1971. Noted for his Alberich in ENO Ring cycle and for his Faninal in Der Rosenkavalier.

Hampel, Anton Joseph (b 1700; d Dresden, 1771). Ger. hn.-player. In Dresden court orch. from, probably, 1731 where he was first to develop method of playing chromatic scale by hand-stopping. In about 1753 devised way of inserting crooks into body of horn rather than at the mouthpiece. Wrote hn. concertos.

Hanacca, Hanakisch (Ger.; Fr. Hanaise). A Moravian dance in simple triple time; a sort of quick polonaise.

Handbells. Small bells attached to the hands by leather straps and played by striking them together. Used for practice by change ringers.

Handel, George Frideric (orig. Händel, Georg Friederich) (b Halle, 1685; d London, 1759). Ger.-born composer and organist (naturalized Eng. from 1726). Son of a barber-surgeon who opposed mus. as his son's career though he permitted lessons from Zachau, organist and composer. Handel studied law at Halle Univ., turning to full-time mus. when his father died. He went to Hamburg in 1703 where he joined the opera house under the composer Reinhard Keiser, playing 2nd vn. in the orch. His first opera Almira, written because Keiser lost interest in the lib., which Handel took over, was prod. there in 1705, being followed by 3 others. In 1706 Handel went to Italy in a prince's retinue, meeting Corelli, the Scarlattis, and other leading figures, and rapidly attaining mastery of It. style in opera, chamber mus., and vocal mus. He was acclaimed as a genius, the rival of his It. contemporaries. His opera Agrippina was produced in Venice in 1709. The following year he was appointed court cond. in Hanover and was also invited to write an opera (Rinaldo) for London, where he quickly realized the possibilities for his own success and, after settling his affairs in Hanover, settled there permanently. For the next 35 years Handel was immersed in the ups and downs of operatic activity in London where the It. opera seria was the dominant force. In 1712 he received a pension of ;bp200 a year for life from Queen Anne, this being increased to ;bp600 by King George I, his former ruler in Hanover, for whom in 1717 he comp. the famous Water Music suite. From 1717 to 1720 Handel was resident comp. to the Earl of Carnarvon (Duke of Chandos from April 1719) at his palace of Cannons in Edgware. The 11 Chandos Anthems were the chief fruit of this appointment. In 1719 Handel, in assoc. with G. Bononcini and Ariosti, was a mus. dir. of the so-called Royal Acad. of Mus. (not a coll. but a business venture to produce It. opera). Handel travelled abroad to engage singers and in the 8 years until the acad. closed because of lack of support he comp. 14 operas, among them

Radamisto, Rodelinda, Admeto, and Tolomeo. In 1727, for the coronation of George II, Handel wrote 4 anthems, incl. Zadok the Priest, which has been sung at every Brit. coronation since then. The success of Gay's The Beggar's Opera and imitative works was the prin. cause of the falling-away of support for Handel's co. He went to It. to hear operas by composers such as Porpora and Pergolesi and to engage the leading It. singers. Back in London in partnership with Heidegger at the King's Theatre, Handel wrote Lotario (1729), Partenope (1730), and Orlando (1733). In 1734 he moved to the new CG Th., but he recognized that the popularity of It. opera was declining and began, somewhat unwillingly, to develop the genre of dramatic oratorios which is perhaps his most orig. contribution to the art of mus. Esther (1732 in rev. form) and Acis and Galatea are typical examples. Ironically, released from the conventions of opera seria, Handel's dramatic gifts found wider and more expressive outlets in the oratorio form. Scores contain stage directions and the use of ch. and orch. became more dramatic and rich. He cond. several oratorio perf. in London, 1735, playing his own org. concs. as entr'actes. Nevertheless he continued to write operas and between 1735 and 1740 comp. Ariodante, Alcina, Berenice, Serse, and Deidamia. In 1737 Handel's health cracked under the strain of his operatic labours and he had a stroke. Following his recovery, he wrote a series of oratorios, incl. Messiah, prod. Dublin, 1742. By this work his name is known throughout the world, yet it is something of an oddity in Handel's work since he was not a religious composer in the accepted sense. But its power, lyricism, sincerity, and profundity make it one of the supreme mus. creations as well as an outstanding example of devotional art. It was followed by Samson, Judas Maccabaeus, and Solomon. The success of these works made Handel the idol of the Eng., and that popularity dominated Eng. mus. for nearly 150 years after his death. It was not until Handel's operas were revived in Ger. in the 1920s that the perspective was corrected and the importance of that branch of his art was restored. Superb as are Handel's instr. comps. such as the concerti grossi, sonatas, and suites, it is in the operas and oratorios that the nobility, expressiveness, invention, and captivation of his art are found at their highest degree of development. He did not revolutionize operatic form but he brought the novelty of his genius to the genre as he found it. The scene-painting and illustrative qualities of his orchestration are remarkable even at a period when naive and realistic effects were common currency. For the last 7 years of his life Handel was blind, but he continued to conduct oratorio perf. and to revise his scores with assistance from his devoted friend John Christopher Smith. His works were pubd. by the Ger. Handel Gesellschaft in a complete edn. (1859--94) of 100 vols., ed. Chrysander, and a new edn., the Hallische Handel-Ausgabe, is in progress. Prin. comps.:

operas: Hamburg: Almira, Nero (lost), (1705), Florindo e Dafne (lost) (1707); Florence: Rodrigo (1707); Venice: Agrippina (1709); London: Rinaldo (1711), Il pastor fido (1712; 2nd version with ballet Terpsicore, 1734); Teseo (1712); Silla (1714); Amadigi (1715); Radamisto (1720); Muzio Scevola, Floridante (1721); Ottone, Flavio (1723); Giulio Cesare, Tamerlano (1724); Rodelinda (1725); Scipione, Alessandro (1726); Admeto, Riccardo I (1727); Siroe, Tolomeo (1728); Lotario (1729); Partenope (1730); Poro (1731); Ezio, Sosarme (1732); Orlando (1733); Arianna, (1734); Ariodante, Alcina (1735); Atalanta (1736); Arminio, Giustino, Berenice (1737); Faramondo, Serse (1738); Imeneo (1740); Deidamia (1740).

dramatic oratorios: Rome: La Resurrezione, Trionfo del Tempo (1708); Naples: Aci, Galatea e Polifemo (1709); Hamburg: Der für die Sünde der Welt gemartete und sterbende Jesus (Brockes Passion)(?1716); London: Haman and Mordecai (masque 1720, later rev. as Esther in 1732); Acis and Galatea (1718; rev. 1732 incorporating part of 1709 work, and 1743); Deborah (1733); Athalia (1733); Alexander's Feast (1736); Saul, Israel in Egypt, Ode for St Cecilia's Day (1739); L'Allegro, il Pensieroso ed il Moderato (1740); Messiah (1741); Samson, Joseph (1743); Semele, Belshazzar, Hercules (1744); Occasional Oratorio, Judas Maccabaeus (1746); Alexander Balus, Joshua (1747); Solomon, Susanna (1748); Theodora, Alceste (1749); Choice of Hercules (1750); Jephtha (1752); Triumph of Time and Truth (1757).

cantatas and chamber duets: Handel comp. 100 of the former and 20 of the latter. Among the best known are Silete Venti, sop. and instr. (1729); La terra è liberata (Apollo e Dafne), sop. and instr. (c.1708); and O numi eterni (La Lucrezia), sop. and continuo (1709).

churchmusic: Gloria Patri (1707); Utrecht Te Deum and Jubilate (1712--13); Dettingen Te Deum (1743); 11 Chandos Anthems (1717--18); 4 Coronation Anthems (1727: The King Shall Rejoice; Let thy hand be strengthened; My heart is inditing; Zadok the Priest); The Ways of Zion do Mourn, funeral anthem for Queen Caroline (1737).

vocal: Birthday Ode for Queen Anne (1713); 9 German Arias (1729).

instrumental and chamber music: 6 Concerti Grossi for str., woodwind, and continuo, Op. 3 (1734); 12 Concerti Grossi for str. and optional wind, Op. 12 (1740); 5 Concerti for orch. (1741); 6 organ concerti, Op. 4 (1738); 6 organ concerti, Op. 7 (1760); 6 organ concerti (1740); 15 chamber sonatas (fls., recorders), Op. 1 (1724); 3 concerti a due cori; 2 ob. sonatas; 12 fl. sonatas; 6 trio sonatas; 9 trio sonatas, Op. 2 (1722--33); 7 trio sonatas, Op. 5 (1739); va. da gamba sonata; 8 suites de pièces for hpd. (1720); 8 suites de pièces (1733); 6 Fugues (1736). See also Harmonious Blacksmith.

orch: Water Music (c.1717); Music for Royal Fireworks (1749).

Handel Opera. Founded 1955 as Handel Opera Society by Charles Farncombe, at suggestion of E. J. Dent, to revive interest in Handel's operas. First prod. was Deidamia, 1955, at St Pancras Town Hall. Moved in 1959 to Sadler's Wells Th. Has revived over 20 Handel works, many for the first time since Handel's lifetime. Name changed to Handel Opera 1977. Singers appearing with the company have incl. Richard Lewis, Geraint Evans, James Bowman, Janet Baker, Joan Sutherland, and Anna Reynolds.

Handford, Maurice (b Salisbury, 1929). Eng. cond. and hn.-player. Studied RAM. Prin. hn. Hallé Orch. 1949--61. Assoc. cond. Hallé Orch. 1966--71. Staff cond. CBSO, prin. cond. Calgary P.O. 1971--5.

Hand Horn. The 'Natural' French horn, i.e. without valves, which can produce only the notes of the harmonic series, together with some obtained by placing the hand in the bell of the instr.

Händl, Jacob (b Krain, 1550; d Prague, 1591). Ger. composer. Kapellmeister at Olmütz, c.1579, later cantor in Prague. Wrote 16 masses, many motets, and other church mus. Handel's Funeral Anthem is based on a Händl motet. Also known as Gallus.

Handley, Vernon (George) (b Enfield, 1930). Eng. cond. Studied GSM. Début 1961 Bournemouth S.O. Prof., RCM 1966--72. Guest cond. of most Brit. orchs. Cond. Ulster Orch. from 1985. Specialist in Eng. mus.

Hand Organ. Barrel Organ. The word 'Hand' distinguishes it from the 'Finger Organ' (played from a kbd.).

Handy, W(illiam) C(hristopher) (b Florence, Alabama, 1873; d NY, 1958). Amer. composer whose parents had been slaves. Studied org. but was only allowed to play sacred mus. Left home at 18 to become vagrant musician, playing tpt. in brass bands. Became co-proprietor of mus. publishing business in Memphis. Among works he published were his own Memphis Blues (1912) and St Louis Blues (1914). Known as 'father of the blues'.

Hanff, Johann Nikolaus (b Wechmar, 1665; d Schleswig, 1711). Ger. organist and composer for his instr. Influenced J. S. Bach.

Hannikainen, Tauno (b Jyväskylä, 1896; d Helsinki, 1968). Finnish cond. and cellist. Studied Helsinki Cons. and in Paris with Casals. Prin. cellist Helsinki Orch. 1916--19; cond. Finnish opera orch. 1922--7. Settled in US 1940. Cond., Duluth S.O. 1942--6, ass. cond.

Chicago Civic S.O. 1947--50. Cond., Helsinki City S.O. 1951--63. Visited Eng. as guest cond., Hallé Orch.

Hanover Square Rooms. Formerly London's prin. venue for concerts, built by Gallini, J. C. Bach, and K. F. Abel and opened in 1775 with a Bach-Abel subscription concert. Salomon est. concerts there in 1786 at which, in 1791--2 and 1794--5, Haydn's 12 Salomon syms. were introduced. From 1833--69 the Phil. Soc.'s concerts were given there. Closed 1874.

Hänsel und Gretel. Opera in 3 acts by Humperdinck to lib. by Adelheid Wette (his sister) based on story by brothers Grimm in Kinder und Hausmärchen (1812--14). Prod. Weimar 1893 (R. Strauss cond.); London 1894; NY 1895.

Hansen. Danish publishers of mus., founded 1853 by Jens Wilhelm Hansen. At first published educational mus., but later issued works by Gade and other Danish composers. Branch opened in Leipzig 1887 (closed during Second World War) and a Swedish branch, Nordiska Musikforlag, in 1915. New Ger. branch established 1951 in Frankfurt and in 1957 assoc. began with London firm of J. & W. Chester. Composers in Hansen list incl. Nielsen, Holmboe, Backer-Grupndhal, Svendsen, Sinding, Alfvén, Rosenberg, Bäck, Sibelius, and Kilpinen. Recently some Lutoslawski has been published by them.

Hans Heiling. Opera in prol. and 3 acts by Marschner to lib. by Devrient. Prod. Berlin 1833, Oxford 1953, Wexford, 1983.

Hanslick, Eduard (b Prague, 1825; d Baden, nr. Vienna, 1904). Austrian critic and writer of Cz. descent. Studied mus. with Tomásek and law at Prague and Vienna Univs. Deeply impressed by Wagner's Tannhäuser in Dresden, 1845, about which he wrote long critical article. Settled in Vienna 1846, contributing articles on mus. and in 1848 becoming mus. ed. of Wiener Zeitung, while working as civil servant. Mus. critic Die Presse 1855--64, Die Neue Freie Presse 1864--95. His book Vom Musikalisch-Schönen (Beauty in Music) was pubd. 1854. Lecturer in history and aesthetics of mus., Vienna Univ., 1856--95 (prof. from 1861). His Beauty in Music aligned him with the purist Leipzig school, represented by Mendelssohn, Schumann, and Brahms, against the Weimar school of Liszt and Wagner whose 'music of the future' had to comprise elements other than mus. His early admiration of Wagner changed to critical hostility with his review of Lohengrin in Vienna in 1858. Wagner's reaction was such that in the orig. poem of Die Meistersinger the character of Beckmesser was called Veit Hanslich. But those who regard Hanslick merely as the bigoted opponent of Wagner, Strauss, Bruckner, etc. should read his criticism, which is among the best and most penetrating ever written.

Hanson, Howard (Harold) (b Wahoo, Nebraska, 1896; d Rochester, NY, 1981). Amer. composer and educator, of Swed. descent. Studied comp. with Goetschius in NY. Won Amer. Prix de Rome, 1921, spending 3 years at Amer. Acad. in Rome. In 1924 became dir. of Eastman Sch. of Mus., Rochester, NY, holding this post for 40 years. Est. Amer. fests. at Rochester in 1925 at which hundreds of works by Amer. composers have received f.p.s. Dir. of Institute of Amer. Mus., Rochester Univ., from 1964. Known as 'the American Sibelius', hismus. reflects a similar romantic outlook firmly rooted in tonality. His book Harmonic Materials of Modern Music (NY 1960) shows his grasp of contemporary technical devices. Prin. works:

orch: Syms., No. 1 (Nordic) (1921), No. 2 (Romantic) (1930), No. 3 (1938), No. 4 (Requiem) (1943), No. 5 (Sinfonia Sacra) (1955), No. 6 (1968), No. 7 (Sea), with ch. (1977); Lux aeterna, symphonic poem with va. obbl. (1923); organ conc. (1926); Pan and the Priest, symphonic poem with pf. obbl. (1926); pf. conc. (1948); Mosaics (1958); Summer Seascape (1958); Summer Seascape II (1966); Bold Island Suite (1961).
opera: Merry Mount (3 acts, NY Met. 1933).

choral: Lament for Beowulf, ch. and orch. (1925); Heroic Elegy, ch. and orch. (1927); 3*Songs from Drum Taps*, vv. and orch. (1935); Song of Democracy, soloists, ch., and orch. (1957); Song of Human Rights, cantata (1963); New Land, New Covenant, oratorio (1976). chamber music: pf. quintet (1916); str. qt. (1923). Also works for pf. and songs.

Happy Birthday to You. Song composed by Clayton F. Summy, head of Chicago mus. publishing firm (est. 1888), popular as choral greeting on birthdays. Used---not knowing it was Summy's copyright---by Stravinsky as basis for his short Greetings Prelude, comp. for Monteux's 80th birthday, 1955.

Happy Prince, The. Opera in 1 act by Williamson for children's and women's vv., pf. duet, perc., and optional str. quintet, to his own lib. based on Oscar Wilde's fairy-tale. Prod. Farnham Fest., 1965.

Harawi, chant d'Amour et de Mort. Song-cycle by Messiaen for sop. and pf. (1945), one of 3 of his works inspired by Tristan and Isolde legend (the others being 5 Rechants and Turangalîla). F.p. Brussels 1946.

Hardelot, Guy d' (Mrs. W. I. Rhodes, née Helen Guy) (b Hardelot, Boulogne, 1858; d London, 1936). Fr. composer. Studied Paris Cons. Toured USA with Calvé, 1896. After marriage, settled in London. Wrote many songs (incl. Because, 1902) which went into repertory of Melba, Calvé, Plan; Alcon, Maurel, and others.

Harewood, George (Henry Hubert Lascelles), 7th Earl of (b London, 1923). Eng. opera administrator, writer, and ed. Enthusiasm for opera stimulated in It. when prisoner of war. Assoc. with EOG from its inception. Founded magazine Opera 1950 (ed. 1950--3). Board of dir. CG 1951--3, contr. of opera planning 1953--60. Dir., Leeds Fest. 1958--74; dir., Edinburgh Fest. 1961--5. Man. dir. SW Opera (ENO) 1972--85. Ed., 8th and 9th edns. of Kobbé's Complete Opera Book, 1954 and 1976.

Harfe (Ger.). Harp.

Hark, the Herald Angels Sing. Hymn orig. written by Charles Wesley (1743) beginning 'Hark, how all the welkin rings'. G. Whitefield incl. it in his Collection of 1753, substituting the familiar first line. It was further altered in other hymn publications in 1760, 1774, and 1775. In 1782 it was added to the suppl. of Tate and Brady. Dr. W.H. Cummings, organist of Waltham Abbey, fitted the tune of the 2nd no. of Mendelssohn's Festgesang to the words for his choir and pubd. the adaptation in 1856. It soon became very popular. Mendelssohn thought the tune would 'never do to sacred words'.

Harmonica. Name given at different times to various mus. instrs. Today its prin. meaning is the mouth-organ, a small wind instr. invented in 1830s with metal reeds, 1 to each note, which is held against the lips and moved from side to side according to the note desired. The term also meant mus. glasses (see Glass armonica).

Harmonic Bass. Org. stop; same as Acoustic Bass.

Harmonic Flute. Org. stop usually of 8' length but 4' pitch, pipes being pierced at half-length: silvery tone.

Harmonic Piccolo. Org. stop of 4' length and 2' pitch---on principle of Harmonic Flute.

Harmonics. The lowest tone of the harmonic series (the 'fundamental') is the 1st harmonic, the next lowest the 2nd harmonic, and so on. These other tones are the 'upper partials' or 'overtones', at fixed intervals above the fundamental, an octave, then a perfect 5th, etc. On

str. instrs., 'playing in harmonics' refers to harmonics other than the 1st, i.e. the overtones. To obtain these, the str. must be set vibrating in fractions of its length. On an open str. the result is a natural harmonic; on a 'stopped' str. (a finger used to stop and another lightly placed) it is an artificial harmonic. In brass instrs. harmonics are produced by varying the method of blowing. Every note of normal mus. instr. is a combination of the fundamental and certain upper partials. The only exception is the tuning-fork.

Harmonic Trumpet. Org. stop (see Trumpet) embodying (in upper pipes, at any rate) constructional principle of Harmonic Flute; 8' pitch.

Harmonie (Fr., Ger., 'harmony'). Harmonie, Musique d'Harmonie, Harmoniemusik, etc. means (1) a band of woodwind, brass, and perc. instr., as distinct from Fanfare, a band of brass and perc.; or (2) the wind instr. of an orch.

Harmonie, Basse d' (Fr.). Ophicleide.

Harmonie, Cor d' (Fr.). Valveless Fr. hn. See Hand horn.

Harmonie, Trompette d' (Fr.). The ordinary modern trumpet.

Harmonie der Welt, Die (The Harmony of the World). Opera in 5 acts by Hindemith to his own lib. based on life of 17th-cent. astronomer Johannes Kepler (author of De harmonia mundi). Comp. 1956--7 (earlier sketches). Prod. Munich 1957. Preceded by orch. sym. in 3 movements comp. 1951, f.p. Basle 1952, f. Brit. p. Edinburgh 1953 cond. Furtwängler.

Harmonielehre (Ger.). Study, teaching, and theory of Harmony.

Harmoniemesse (Wind-band Mass). Popular name for Haydn's Mass No. 12 in Bb, of 1802, which makes a fuller, but not exclusive, use of wind instr. than is common in Haydn's Masses.

Harmoniemusik (Ger.). Mus. for wind instr.

Harmonious Blacksmith, The. Nickname for air and variations in Handel's 5th hpd. suite in E in the 1st set of 8 suites (1720). The name was bestowed after Handel's death and has no connection with the circumstances of the work's comp.

Harmonium. Small portable example of the reed org. family dating from early 19th cent. Perfected by Debain of Paris c.1842, but the instr. made by Alexandre achieved wider popularity. It is blown by 2 pedals operated by left and right foot working in alternate strokes to drive air through bellows. Used as substitute for org. to acc. hymns etc., but has been used by Dvořák in his Bagatelles (with 2 vn. and vc.) and by R. Strauss in Ariadne auf Naxos.

Harmony. The simultaneous sounding (i.e. combination) of notes, giving what is known as vertical mus., contrasted with horizontal mus. (Counterpoint). Composers, in much the greater proportion of their mus., maintain in their minds some melody which ranks as the principal one, and which they intend the listener to recognize as such, whilst other melodies which are combined with it, or chords with which it is acc., rank as subsidiary. The word chord may be defined as any combination of notes simultaneously perf., and even when the main process in the composer's mind is a weaving together of melodic strands he has to keep before him this combinational element, both as regards the notes thus sounded together and the suitability of one combination to follow and precede the adjacent combination. At different periods composers have given more attention to 1 or the other of the 2 aspects of their work: (a) the weaving together of melodic strands and (b) the chords thus brought into existence from point to point. The former aspect of the result is the Contrapuntal element

(see Counterpoint) and the latter the Harmonic element. In less elaborate mus. (as, for instance, a simple song with pf. acc.) the contrapuntal element may be unimportant or even non-existent. Counterpoint necessarily implies also harmony, but harmony does not necessarily imply counterpoint. Over a long period the resources of harmony may be said to have widened: new combinations introduced by composers of pioneering spirit have been condemned by unaccustomed ears as ugly, have then gradually come to be accepted as commonplace, and have been succeeded in their turn by other experimental combinations. The following definitions concern traditional and basic harmonic procedures: (a) diatonic harmony: Harmony which confines itself to the major or minor key in force at the moment.

chromatic harmony: Harmony which employs notes extraneous to the major or minor key in force at the moment. (b)

open harmony: Harmony in which the notes of the chords are more or less widely spread.

close harmony: Harmony in which the notes of the chords lie near together. (c)

progression: The motion of one note to another note or one chord to another chord. (d) triad: A note with its 3rd and 5th (e.g. C--E--G).

common chord: A Triad of which the 5th is perfect.

major common chord: A Common Chord of which the 3rd is major.

minor common chord: A Common Chord of which the 3rd is minor.

augmented triad: A Triad of which the 5th is augmented.

diminished triad: A Triad of which the 5th is diminished. (e) root of a chord. That note from which it originates. (For instance, in the common chord C--E--G we have C as the root, to which are added the 3rd and 5th.)

inversion of a chord: The removal of the root from the bass to an upper part.

first inversion: That in which the 3rd becomes the bass (e.g. E--G--C or E--C--G).

second inversion: That in which the 5th becomes the bass (e.g. G--E--C or G--C--E).

third inversion: In a 4-note chord that inversion in which the fourth note becomes the bass. (For instance, in the chord G--B--D--F the form of it that consists of F--G--B--D or F--B--G--D, etc.)

fundamental bass: An imaginary bass of a passage, consisting not of its actual bass notes but of the roots of its chords, i.e. the bass of its chords when uninvolved. (f) concord. A chord satisfactory in itself (or an interval that can be so described; or a note which forms a part of such an interval or chord).

consonance[nm]: The same as Concord. [smdiscord]: A chord which is restless, requiring to be followed in a particular way if its presence is to be justified by the ear (or the note or interval responsible for producing this effect). See, for instance, the examples given under Dominant (Seventh) and Diminished (Seventh).

dissonance[nm]: The same as Discord. [smresolution]: The satisfactory following of a discordant chord (or the satisfactory following of the discordant note in such a chord).

suspension: A form of discord arising from the holding over of a note in one chord as a momentary (discordant) part of the combination which follows, it being then resolved by falling a degree to a note which forms a real part of the second chord.

double suspension: The same as the last with 2 notes held over. (g) anticipation: The sounding of a note of a chord before the rest of the chord is sounded.

retardation: The same as a Suspension but resolved by rising a degree.

preparation: The sounding in one chord of a concordant note which is to remain (in the same 'part') in the next chord as a discordant note. (This applies both to Fundamental Discords and Suspensions.)

unprepared suspension: A contradiction in terms meaning an effect similar to that of Suspension but without 'Preparation'.

fundamental discord: A discordant chord of which the discordant note forms a real part of the chord, i.e. not a mere Suspension, Anticipation, or Retardation. Or the said discordant note itself (e.g. Dominant Seventh, Diminished Seventh, etc.).

passing note: A connecting note in one of the melodic parts (not forming a part of the chord which it follows or precedes). (h)

false relation: The appearance of a note with the same letter-name in different parts (or 'voices') of contiguous chords, in one case inflected (sharp or flat) and in the other uninflected. (i) pedal (or 'Point d'Orgue'): The device of holding on a bass note (usually Tonic or Dominant) through a passage including some chords of which it does not form a part.

inverted pedal: The same as the above but with the held note in an upper part.

double pedal: A pedal in which two notes are held (generally Tonic and Dominant). From Wagner onwards the resources of harmony have been enormously extended, and those used by composers of the present day often submit to no rules whatever, being purely empirical, or justified by rules of the particular composer's own devising. Among contemporary practices are: Bitonality--in which two contrapuntal strands or 'parts' proceed in different keys. Polytonality--in which the different contrapuntal strands, or 'parts', proceed in more than one key. Atonality--in which no principle of key is observed. Microtonality--in which scales are used having smaller intervals than the semitone. In the 20th cent. greater freedom in the treatment of the above procedures has developed, together with a much wider application of dissonance. Chords of 7th, 9th, 11th, and 13th are treated as primary chords, and there has been a return to the use of pentatonic scales, medieval modes, and the whole-tone scale. A prin. revolution c.1910 was the abandonment of the triad as the prin. and fundamental consonance. Composers such as Bartók, Stravinsky, Schoenberg, and Webern widened the mus. spectrum of tone-colour by showing that any combination of notes could be used as a basic unresolved chord. The tritone has been used as the cause of harmonic tensions in place of tonic-dominant relationships. Another 20th-cent. harmonic feature is the 'layering' of sound, each layer following different principles of organization. Milhaud produces bitonal passages from two layers in different tonalities. Since 1950 much mus. has been comp. in which harmony has hardly any place, for example in some of the serial works of Boulez and Stockhausen. Where non-pitched sounds are used, harmony no longer exists and its place is taken by overtones, densities, and other concomitants of 'clusters', etc. In amplification of this entry see Added Sixth, Augmented, Consecutive, Counterpoint, and Chromatic Intervals.

Harnoncourt, Nikolaus (b Berlin, 1929). Ger. cond. and musicologist. Studied Vienna Acad. of Mus. Cellist in Vienna S.O. 1952--69. Founder-member Concentus Musicus of Vienna 1954, reviving early mus. on orig. instr. Ed. of perf. edns. of Monteverdi's Il ritorno d'Ulisse in Patria and L'incoronazione di Poppea and of Bach choral works.

Harold en Italie (Harold in Italy). Sym. (No. 2) for orch., with solo va., by Berlioz, Op. 16, inspired by Byron's Childe Harold. After a Paris concert of Berlioz's mus. in Dec. 1833, Paganini asked Berlioz for a va. work in which he could display his Stradivarius instr. Berlioz sent him the 1st movement which Paganini rejected because it gave him too little to play. The work was completed in 4 movements and f.p. Paris 1834, solo va. C. Urhan.

Harp. This instr., of very ancient lineage, can be simply defined as an open frame over which is stretched a graduated series of str., set in vibration by plucking with the fingers. In the modern orch. harp the series is not normally chromatic, as it is in the pf., having merely 7 different notes with the octave, these being in the major scale of B (treated for convenience as that of C<sub>b</sub>). There are 7 pedals, each affecting one note of this foundational scale; each pedal works to 2 notches, and by depressing it to its first or 2nd notch, respectively, the vibrating lengths of all the relevant strings are simultaneously shortened by fractions representing a semitone and a tone: thus all keys become possible, and by depressing all the pedals together the pitch of the complete instr. can be raised from C<sub>b</sub> (the normal key) to C<sub>nat.</sub> or C<sub>#</sub>. The usual compass is 5;FD octaves from C. Chords are normally played in more or less rapid succession of their notes, in the form understood by the word arpeggio (It. arpa, Harp). The typical 'sweeping' (glissando) action of the hand may be used in many kinds of scale (but evidently not in the chromatic scale, nor in any other scale passage employing more than 8 notes to the octave). In addition, of course, single str. may be plucked individually or in small groups. The instr. described above is the double-action harp, introduced by Érard (c.1810), the word 'double' marking its differences from its predecessors on which the pitches could be raised only a semitone. One earlier form of the harp is the Welsh harp or telyn, with 3 rows of str., the 2 outer rows (tuned in unison or octaves) giving the diatonic scale and the inner row the intermediate semitones: a simple modulation was effected by touching one of the inner str. The harp has been much used as a solo instr. in Wales from time immemorial and in Eng. domestically during the Victorian period. It was a frequent member of the early 17th-cent. orch. but in later times was rarely found again in orch. use until the 19th cent. when the great Romantic orchestrators---Berlioz, Wagner, Strauss, Mahler, Elgar, etc.---made effective use of it. In the 20th cent. it has been used in chamber mus. (e.g. by Debussy and Ravel). There are several harp concs. See also Chromatic Harp, Double Harp, Clarsach, Dital Harp, Aeolian Harp.

Harper, Edward (James) (b Taunton, 1941). Eng. composer, pianist, and cond. Studied Christ Church, Oxford. Lecturer, Faculty of Mus., Edinburgh Univ., dir., New Music Group of Scotland. Comps. incl. pf. conc. (1969), Ricercari in memoriam Luigi Dallapiccola for chamber ens. (1975), Fantasias I (chamber orch.) and II, for 11 solo str. (1976), sonata for chamber orch. (1971), opera Fanny Robin (1974), 7 poems by e.e. cummings, sop. and orch. (1977), Sym. (1978--9), quintet for fl., cl., vn., vc., pf. (1974), Chester Mass, ch. and orch. (1979), cl. conc. (1981--2), Intrada after Monteverdi, chamber orch. (1982), Hedda Gabler, opera (1984--5).

Harper, Heather (b Belfast, 1930). Irish sop. Studied TCL. Sang in BBC Chorus. Opera début Oxford 1954 as Lady Macbeth. Sang The Woman in first Brit. stage perf. of Schoenberg's Erwartung, 1960. Glyndebourne début 1957, CG 1962, Bayreuth 1967 (Elsa). Roles incl. Arabella in Strauss's opera, Ellen Orford in Britten's Peter Grimes, and Elsa in Lohengrin. Sang in f.p. of Britten's War Requiem, 1962 and Tippett's 3rd Sym. 1972. C.B.E. 1965. Retired from stage 1984.

Harp Quartet. Name for Beethoven's Str. Qt. No. 10 in Eb major, Op. 74, comp. 1809, because of harp-like pizzicato arpeggios in 1st movement.

Harpsichord Family (Virginals, Spinet, Harpsichord). The harpsichord is a wing-shaped kbd. instr. in which the str. are plucked mechanically. It was developed during the 15th cent., the earliest surviving example (in the Victoria and Albert Museum, London) having been made in Bologna in 1521, but there are illustrated representations of the instr. dating from nearly a century earlier, and a reference in a Ger. poem of 1404 to the clavicimbalum, the earliest recorded use of the name from which the It. word clavicembalo is derived. The hpd. is fundamentally a mechanized psaltery. Each key operates a mechanical device known as the 'jack', equipped with a small leather or quill plectrum attached to a pivoted tongue. When the key is released the jack descends and, by positioning of a spring, the tongue pivots back, allowing the plectrum to pass the str. silently on its return. When the jack is back in its orig. position, a felt damper silences the vibration of the str. Very few contrasts of tone or dynamics are possible, variation in finger touch having little effect. Italy was the home of the first important sch. of hpd. makers; at the end of the 16th cent., however, Antwerp became the centre of activity, particularly for the family of Ruckers. Their aim was to give the players some tonal contrast, a typical Ruckers single-manual instr. having a compass of four octaves from C and two sets of strings, one 8' and one 4'. Hand stops in the right-hand side of the case brought one or both sets of jacks into contact with the strings. Ruckers also prod. a 2-manual hpd., the lower manual a 4th below the upper. From the 17th cent. to the end of the 18th, the hpd. was the indispensable supporting basis for continuo in almost every instr. combination, as well as being a popular domestic instr. With the development of the pf., the hpd. fell into semi-oblivion during the 19th cent., but in the 20th it has been revived both by modern composers, several of whom---e.g. Falla and McCabe---have written concs. for it, and in the authentic perf. of baroque mus. The Dolmetsch family played a major part in the revival, and there are several distinguished modern hpd. manufacturers. 20th cent. virtuosi have incl. Wanda Landowska and Ralph Kirkpatrick. Virginal or Virginals. This plucked kbd. instr. was first mentioned c.1460. The origin of the name is not, as is generally supposed, Eng. nor has it anything to do with Elizabeth I, but it is widely accepted that the name derives from the fact that young ladies were regularly depicted playing the instr. The main differences from the hpd. are in the oblong shape of the soundbox, the placing of the str. parallel to the kbd. instead of at right-angles, and the existence of 2 bridges. Sometimes one sees references to 'double virginals' or 'a pair of virginals'. The origins of these terms are obscure, since a double-manual virginal was extremely rare; a likely explanation is that they referred to the instr.'s compass. Eng. virginal mus. of the 17th cent. is of major importance; colls. of it incl. the Fitzwilliam Virginal Book, My Ladye Nevells Booke, and Benjamin Cosyns Virginal Book. The earliest pubd. coll. was Parthenia (1611). Spinet. This resembles the virginals in having one str. to a note, but differs from it in being not rectangular but wing-shaped in an uneven 6 sides with the longest containing the kbd. It has a 4-octave compass. The str. either run roughly parallel to the kbd. as with the virginals, or diagonally in front of the player. (In the Clavicytherium, however, a rarer form than that described above, the str. ran perpendicularly like those of an upright pf.) The spinet was in use from the later 15th cent. to the end of the 18th.

Harrell, Lynn (b NY, 1944). Amer. cellist. Studied Juilliard Sch., NY, Curtis Institute, Penn., master classes with Piatigorsky and Casals. Début recital, NY 1960. Prin. cellist Cleveland Orch., 1965--71. Soloist since 1971, appearing with major Amer., Brit., and European orchs. Brit. début was 1975, with LSO.

Harrhy, Eidwenn (b Trowbridge, Wilts., 1949). Welsh soprano. Studied RCM, singing in Così fan tutte 1970 and winning Imperial League of Opera prize. After study in London and Paris and concert appearances, made strong impression in Handel operas in 1974. CG début 1974 (Wellgunde) and ENO 1977 (Adèle in Rossini's Le Comte Ory). Has sung often with WNO, Opera North, Kent Opera, and Glyndebourne Touring Opera.

Harris, (Sir) Augustus (b Paris, 1852; d Folkestone, 1896). Eng. impresario. Son of CG stage-manager. Ass. manager to Mapleson. Manager, Drury Lane, 1879--94, managing Carl Rosa opera seasons there 1883--7. Formed opera co. 1887, engaging de Reszke, Maurel, Melba, etc. Manager, CG from 1888, achieving brilliant success, paying careful attention to production details. Introduced opera in its orig. language to CG and was sturdy champion of Wagner's operas, presenting Ring cycles at CG 1892, cond. Mahler. Knighted 1891.

Harris, Renatus (b France, c.1652; d Salisbury, 1724). Eng. org.-builder (of 39 instr.). His grandfather (Renatus), father (Thomas), and sons (Renatus and John) were also org.-builders.

Harris, Roy (Ellsworth) (b Lincoln County, Nebraska, 1898; d Santa Monica, Calif., 1979). Amer. composer. Studied Univ. of Calif., Berkeley, 1919. Private mus. pupil of Arthur Farwell, Modest Altschuler, and Arthur Bliss. From 1926 to 1929 studied in Paris with Nadia Boulanger. His 1st sym., cond. Koussevitzsky in Boston, 1934, earned him the reputation as America's leading symphonist, confirmed by 3rd sym. in 1939. Taught at many colls., incl. Juilliard Sch. and Cornell Univ., becoming composer-in-residence at Univ. of Calif. His music is basically diatonic and consonant, its rugged rhythmic qualities and falling intervals, combined with a melodic flavour of hymn-tunes and folk-tunes, making him an Amer. counterpart of Janáček, without the Czech's genius. Prin. works:

orch: Syms.: No. 1 (Symphony 1933) (1934), No. 2 (1936), No. 3 (1939), No. 4 (Folksong, with ch.) (1940), No. 5 (1943), No. 6 (Gettysburg Address) (1944), No. 7 (1952), No. 8 (San Francisco) (1962), No. 9 (Polytonality) (1963), No. 10 (Abraham Lincoln) (1965), No. 11 (1968); American Portraits (1929); When Johnny Comes Marching Home (1935); Prelude and Fugue for str. (1936); Farewell to Pioneers (1936); Time Suite (1937); Ode to Friendship (1944); pf. conc. No. 1 (1945); accordion conc. (1946); conc. for 2 pf. (1947);

Kentucky Spring (1949); pf. conc. No. 2 (1953); Ode to Consonance (1957); Elegy (1958); Horn of Plenty (1964); conc. for amplified pf. (1968).

choral: Songs for Occupations (unacc.) (1934); Symphony for Voices (unacc.) (1936); Challenge 1940, bar., ch., and orch. (1940); Cantata, ch., organ, brass (1943); Mass for male ch. and organ (1943); Psalm 150 (1955); Give me the splendid silent sun, bar. and orch. (1959); Canticle to the Sun, cantata (1961).

chamber music: Songs for a Rainy Day for str. qt. (1925); str. qts. No. 1 (1930), No. 2 (1933), No. 3 (1939); pf. trio (1934); pf. quintet (1937).

Harris, (Sir) William (Henry) (b London, 1883; d London, 1973). Eng. organist and composer. Studied RCM under Parratt (org.) and Stanford (comp.). Organist, New Coll., Oxford, 1919–28, Ch. Ch., Oxford, 1928–33, St George's Chapel, Windsor, 1933–61. Cond., Oxford Bach Choir 1926–33. Prof. of org. and harmony RCM, 1923–53. Dir. of mus. studies, Royal Sch. of Church Mus., 1956–61. Comp. The Hound of Heaven for bar., ch., and orch., church mus., and org. works. K.C.V.O. 1954.

Harrison, Beatrice (b Roorkee, India, 1892; d Smallfield, Sussex, 1965). Eng. cellist. Studied RCM. Début with Queen's Hall Orch. 1907, then studied in Berlin with Hugo Becker. Frequently played in recitals with her violinist sister May (1891–1959). Delius's double conc. was written for them. Notable exponent of Elgar conc., which she recorded with composer. Gave f.p. of Delius's vc. sonata, 1918, and f. Eng. p. of his vc. concerto, 1923. In early BBC broadcasts played vc. in Surrey wood to acc. of nightingale. Her sister studied at RCM and with Auer in St Petersburg. London début in Mendelssohn conc.

Harrison, Julius (Allen Greenway) (b Stourport, 1885; d Harpenden, 1963). Eng. composer, cond., and writer. Studied with Bantock at Birmingham and Midland Institute. Cond. opera CG 1913. In Paris 1914 to help Nikisch and Weingartner prepare Wagner perfs. Conducted for Beecham Co. and BNOC (1922–7). Cond. Scottish Orch. 1920–3. Cond., Hastings Municipal Orch. 1930–40 (doing splendid work for Brit. mus.). Prof. comp. RAM. Works, influenced by Elgar, incl. Mass in C and Requiem; cantata Cleopatra; suite Worcestershire Pieces; Cornish Sketches for str., Bredon Hill for vn. and orch., str. qt., songs, etc. Contributor to various books on mus.; specialist on Brahms.

Harrison, Lou (b Portland, Oregon, 1917). Amer. composer and teacher. Studied San Francisco State Coll. and with Henry Cowell. Organized concerts with John Cage. Taught at Mills Coll., 1936–9. Studied with Schoenberg 1941. Went to NY 1943, writing mus. criticism and working as copyist and ballet composer. Ed. some of Ives's mus., incl. 3rd Sym. of which he cond. f.p. 1947. Later taught in N. Carolina and took many jobs not connected with mus. His works reflect his busy and restless outlook: they combine Schoenbergian and aleatory procedures, use quarter-tones, call for extraordinary devices for producing unusual sounds, and emulate medieval polyphony and gamelan rhythms. Comps., in many genres, incl. opera Rapunzel, str. sextet Schoenbergiana, vn. conc., sym., Young Caesar (puppet opera), several ballets, chamber mus., and songs.

Harrison, Sidney (b London, 1903). Eng. pianist, teacher, and writer. Studied GSM. Prof. of pf., GSM 1927–65, RAM from 1965. Outstanding broadcaster. First to give televised pf. lesson (1950).

Harrowing of Hell, The. Cantata, Op. 9, for ten. and bass soloists and ch. by A. Milner, comp. 1956.

Harsányi, Tibor (b Magyarkanisza, 1898; d Paris, 1954). Hung. composer, pupil of Kodály. Settled in Paris 1923. Wrote operas, ballets, sym., vn. conc., chamber works, etc.

Hart, Fritz (b London, 1874; d Honolulu, 1949). Eng. conductor and composer. Studied RCM 1893--6, becoming friend of Holst, Vaughan Williams, and Hurlstone. Became th. cond. and went in 1908 to Australia. Dir., Melbourne Cons. from 1915. Cond. Melbourne S.O. 1928. Prof. of mus., Univ. of Hawaii 1936--42. Cond. Honolulu S.O. 1932--49. Wrote 20 operas, 514 songs, sym. (1934), 3 vn. sonatas, 2 str. qts., and choral works. Style influenced by Eng. folk-song.

Hartig, Heinz Friedrich (b Kassel, 1907; d Berlin, 1969). Ger. composer. Studied in Kassel, Berlin, and Vienna, and with Blacher. From 1948 cond. mus. for Brecht prods. in Berlin. Teacher at Berlin Hochschule from 1951. Works incl. Mass to text by Dylan Thomas, oratorio Wohin? employing tape with conventional forces, chamber opera Escorial, and ballet Das Tor. Also concs. for pf., for vn., and for guitar, songs with orch., and chamber mus.

Hartmann, Johan Peter Emilius (b Copenhagen, 1805; d Copenhagen, 1900). Danish composer. Dir., Copenhagen Cons. from 1867. Comp. syms., vn. conc., and several operas, incl. Ravn(en) (The Raven) (1832, text by Hans Christian Andersen).

Hartmann, Karl Amadeus (b Munich, 1905; d Munich, 1963). Ger. composer. Studied Munich Acad. of Mus. with Joseph Haas, 1923--7, and later with Hermann Scherchen and Webern. Works perf. in 1930s but he withdrew from public life because of opposition to Nazi régime. After 1945 organized Musica Viva concerts of new works in Munich. His mus. is very much of its time, with marked polyphonic tendencies and showing traces of such varied influences as Bruckner, Berg, Stravinsky, and Blacher. Comp. 8 syms. (No. 1 for cont. and orch. to text by Whitman) between 1936 and 1962; also 2 str. qts. (1933 and 1945--6), opera Des Simplicius Simplicissimus Jugend (Cologne 1949, comp. 1934--5), vn. conc., pf. conc., va. conc.

Hartmann, Rudolf (b Ingolstadt, 1900). Ger. opera producer and impresario. Chief resident producer Altenberg 1924, Nuremberg 1928--34 and 1946--52; Berlin State Opera 1934--8. Specially assoc. with cond. Clemens Krauss and operas of R. Strauss at Munich 1938--44 and 1953--67. Author of Richard Strauss, the Staging of his Operas and Ballets (Fribourg 1980, Eng. trans. 1981).

Harty, (Sir) (Herbert) Hamilton (b Hillsborough, Co. Down, 1879; d Brighton, 1941). Irish composer, cond., organist, and pianist. Church organist at age 12, later holding posts in Belfast and Dublin. Helped by Esposito. Settled in London 1900 where he quickly won attention as composer and as brilliant pf. accompanist. Gradually his conducting took priority. Cond. opera at CG and LSO concerts. Appointed permanent cond. Hallé Orch. 1920, holding post until 1933 and re-establishing orch. as one of finest in Europe. Cond. LSO and other orchs. from 1933. Comps. incl. pf. quintet, Irish Symphony, vn. conc., pf. conc., Ode to a Nightingale for sop. and orch., sym.-poems With the Wild Geese and The Children of Lir, cantata The Mystic Trumpeter for ch. and orch., also modern orchestrations of Handel's Water Music and Fireworks Music. Knighted 1925.

Harvey, Jonathan (Dean) (b Sutton Coldfield, 1939). Eng. composer and teacher. Cellist in Nat. Youth Orch. Studied Cambridge and Glasgow Univer. and with Erwin Stein and Hans Keller. Impressed Stockhausen at Darmstadt 1966, and studied with Babbitt 1969--70. On staff, mus. dept., Southampton Univ. 1964--77, Sussex Univ. from 1977 (prof. from 1980). Comps., some of which use tape, incl.:

church opera: Passion and Resurrection (1981).

orch.: Sym. (1966); Benedictus (1970); Persephone Dream (1972); Inner Light III (1975); Smiling Immortal (ballet), chamber orch. and pre-prepared tape (1977); Whom Ye Adore (1981); Bhakti, chamber ens. and quad. tape (1982); Easter Orisons, str. (1983).

instr. and chamber: Dialogue, vc. and pf. (1965); Variations, vn. and pf. (1965); 4 Images after Yeats, pf. (1969); Inner Light I, instr. and tape (1973); pf. trio (1971); Round the Star and Back, pf. and ens. (1974); str. qt. (1977); Album, wind quintet (1978); Be(com)ing, cl., pf. (1979); Con-celebration, fl., cl., vc., pf., perc. (1979, rev. 1980); Modernsky Music, 2 ob., bn., hpd. (1981); Curve with Plateaux, vc. (1982); Nataraja, fl., pf. (1983).

vocal and orch: Cantata I (1965), Cantata IV---Ludus Amoris, sop., ten., speaker, ch. and orch. (1969); Cantata VI, ch. and str. (1970); Cantata VII---On Vision, sop., ten., speaker, chamber group, and tape (1971); Inner Light II, vv., ens., and tape (1977); Hymn, ch. and orch. (1979).

voice and instr: Angel Eros, v. and str. qt. (1973); Cantata II---3 Lovescapes, sop. and pf. (1967); Cantata III, sop. and chamber ens. (1969); Cantata V---Black Sonnet, 4 singers and wind quintet (1970); The Dove Descending, ch. and org. (1975); Correspondences, mez. and pf. (1975); Cantata X---Spirit Music, sop., 3 cl., and pf. (1975); Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis, ch. and org. (1978); Resurrection, ch. and org. (1981).

tape: Time-Points, magnetic tape (1970); Veils and Melodies, 3 prepared tapes (1978); Mortuos plango, Vivos voco, computer-manipulated concrete sounds (1980).

unacc. voices: I Love the Lord (1976); O Jesu, Nomen dulce, motet (1980).

organ: Toccata, with pre-rec. tape (1980).

Harvey, Trevor (Barry) (b Freshwater, I.o.W., 1911). Eng. cond., critic, and broadcaster. Worked for BBC (ass. ch. master) 1935--42. Free-lance cond. from 1946. Cond. Sir Robert Mayer children's concerts 1951--73, Brit. Youth Orch. 1960--72.

Harwood, Basil (b Woodhouse, Glos., 1859; d London, 1949). Eng. composer and organist. Pupil of Reinecke in Leipzig. Organist, Ely Cath., 1887--92, Christ Church, Oxford, 1892--1909. Composer of org. sonatas and many church anthems, etc.

Harwood, Elizabeth (b Barton Seagrave, 1938). Eng. sop. Studied RMCM 1955--60. Successful career in concert hall and opera house. Won Ferrier Prize 1960. Opera début Glyndebourne 1960. SW 1961--5. CG début 1967 (in Arabella). Guest singer at Salzburg, Aix, and Vienna fests. NY Met. début 1976 (Fiordiligi in Così fan tutte). Particularly fine Strauss singer.

Háry János (John Háry). Opera in prol., 5 parts, and epilogue by Kodály to lib. by Paulini and Harsányi after poem by Garay. Prod. Budapest 1926, NY 1960, London 1967. Orch. suite of 6 movements drawn from opera f.p. NY 1927, cond. Mengelberg.

Haskil, Clara (b Bucharest, 1895; d Brussels, 1960). Romanian pianist, later Swiss citizen. Studied in Bucharest, Vienna, and at Paris Cons. with Cortot and Fauré, later in Berlin with Busoni. Début Bucharest 1904. Concert career began in 1910. Exponent of classical and early romantic composers.

Hasler. See Hassler, Hans.

Hassan, or The Golden Journey to Samarkand. Play by James Elroy Flecker (1884--1915) for the 1st prod. of which in Darmstadt 1923 Delius comp. incid. mus. incl. songs, dances, and choral episodes. The Intermezzo and Serenade exist in several arrs. and there is a Suite arr. Fenby 1933.

Hasse, Johann (Adolph) (b Bergedorf, 1699; d Venice, 1783). Ger. composer. Sang at Hamburg Opera as ten. 1718--19, then at Brunswick where his opera Antioco was prod. 1721. Went to Naples 1724, studying with Porpora and A. Scarlatti and writing several popular operas. Married singer Faustina Bordoni. Dir., Dresden court opera 1731--63, also visiting London and It. Most of his MSS. destroyed in siege of Dresden. Moved to Vienna 1763, composing operas to Metastasio librettos in opposition to Gluck and eventually setting almost all Metastasio's opera texts. Lived in Venice from 1775. Despite nationality, It. by style and inclination. Wrote over 100 operas, also masses, oratorios, sinfonias, etc. Hearing Mozart's Ascanio in Alba in 1771 said: 'This boy will cause us all to be forgotten'.

Hasselmanns, Alphonse (Jean) (b Liège, 1845; d Paris, 1912). Belg.-born harpist (Fr. citizen from 1903). Prof. of harp, Paris Cons. from 1884. Virtuoso player who composed many pieces for the instr. His son Louis (b Paris, 1878; d San Juan, Puerto Rico, 1957) was a cellist and cond. Cond. of Fr. repertory at NY Met. 1922--37.

Hassler (Hasler), Hans (Leo) (b Nuremberg, 1562; d Frankfurt-am-Main, 1612). Ger. composer and organist. Studied in Venice with A. Gabrieli. Organist at Augsburg 1586--1600, Nuremberg 1601--08, Dresden from 1608. Wrote It. canzonette, cantiones sacrae, madrigals, masses, and motets.

Haubenstock-Ramati, Roman (b Kraków, 1919). Austrian composer (Polish-born). Studied Kraków Univ. Mus. dir., Radio Kraków 1947--50. Dir., state mus. library and prof. of mus., Tel Aviv Acad. Worked at Fr. Radio musique concrète studio, 1957. Settled in Vienna 1957--68. Composer of several elec. works. Much concerned with new methods of notation. Organized 1st exhibition of graphic scores, Donaueschingen 1959. Works incl. opera America (based on Kafka); Symphony 'K', Les Symphonies de timbres, Petite musique de nuit, Psalm for orch., Nocturnes I and II for orch., chamber mus., and choral pieces.

Hauer, Josef Matthias (b Wiener Neustadt, 1883; d Vienna, 1959). Austrian composer. Self-taught. Met Schoenberg 1919. In 1919, independently of Schoenberg, developed 12-note system and wrote his first 12-note piece, Nomos. Method based on 44 combinations (tropes) of 12 notes of the octave, each subdivided into 6-note groups. Works incl. operas Die schwarze Spinne and Salambo (comp. 1929, f.p. Vienna 1983), oratorio Wandlungen, pf. conc., vn. conc., Hölderlin songs, 3 str. qts. From 1939 all his works bore the title Zwölftonspiel (12-note piece).

Haug, Hans (b Basle, 1900; d Lausanne, 1967). Swiss composer and cond. Cond., Swiss Radio orch., Lausanne, 1935--8, Zürich 1938--43. Wrote 8 operas, incl. Tartuffe (1937), oratorio Michelangelo, sym., vn. conc., pf. conc., guitar conc., 3 str. qts.

Haugtussa (Norweg. The Mountain Maid). Song-cycle for sop. and pf., Op. 67, by Grieg, comp. 1895, being settings of 8 poems by Arne Garborg written in archaic Norweg. and pubd. 1895. The songs are 1. Det syng (The Singing), 2. Veslerny (Little Maid), 3. Blaaberri (Bilberryslopes), 4. Mote (Meeting), 5. Elsk (Love), 6. Killingsdans (Kidlings' dance), 7. Vond dag (Evil Day), 8. Ved gjaetle-bekken (By the brook).

Hauk, Minnie (orig. Mignon Hauck) (b NY, 1851; d Tribschen, Lucerne, 1929). Amer. mez. Studied New Orleans and NY. Début Brooklyn 1866, CG 1868. First Amer. and London Carmen, but also famous as Norma, Amina, and other bel canto roles. Sang at NYMet. 1890--1. Formed own opera co., but after one year retired to live with husband in Wagner's villa Tribschen. After war became blind and poor; supported by funds from Amer. opera enthusiasts.

Haunted Ballroom, The. Ballet in 1 act, mus. and lib. by Geoffrey Toye, choreog. by de Valois. Prod. London 1934.

Hauptstimme (Ger.). Prin. v. or part.

Hauptthema (Ger.). Prin. subject of a comp.

Hauptwerk (Ger., 'chief work'). Great Organ.

Hausegger, Siegmund von (b Graz, 1872; d Munich, 1948). Austrian composer and cond. Cond. Hamburg Phil. 1910--18, Konzertverein, Munich, from 1920. Dir., Munich Acad. of Mus. 1920--34. Wrote operas, symphonic poems, songs, etc.

Hausmann, Robert (b Rottleberode, 1852; d Vienna, 1909). Ger. cellist. Pupil of Müller and Piatti. Member of Count Hochberg's qt., Dresden, 1872--6; of Joachim Qt. 1879--1907. Prof. of vc. Berlin Hochschule from 1876. Gave f.p. of Brahms's 2nd vc. sonata, Op. 99, in 1886 and, with Joachim, of Brahms's Double Concerto (Cologne 1887).

Hausmann, Valentin (fl. 16th cent.). Ger. organist and composer. Organist at Gerbstadt, near Merseburg. Comp. secular songs, dances, church mus., instr. pieces, etc.

Hautboy. Obsolete Eng. name for oboe, derived from Fr. hautbois ('loud wood') from which the It. oboe was derived.

Hautcousteaux. See Auxcousteaux, Artus.

Haute Danse (Fr., 'High Dance'). An old general term covering any dance in which the feet were lifted, as distinguished from the Basse Danse, in which they were kept close to the floor.

Havanaise (Fr.). Same as Habañera.

Hawaiian Guitar. Type of guitar introduced by Portuguese which has distinctive str. tunings. The str. are 'stopped' with a small moveable metal bar which goes across all str., in order to obtain the characteristic portamento effect.

Hawes, William (b London, 1785; d London, 1846). Eng. composer, cond., and violinist. Chorister, Chapel Royal, 1795--1801. Violinist, CG orch. 1802--5. Gentleman, Chapel Royal, 1805, master of choristers 1817. From 1812, master of choristers, St Paul's Cath. Dir. of Eng. opera at Lyceum Th., 1824--36. Adapted many operas for Eng. stage, incl. Mozart's Così fan tutte and Don Giovanni. Introduced Weber's Der Freischütz to Eng., 1824, adding some airs of his own. Wrote glees and madrigals.

Haydn, Franz Joseph (b Rohrau, 1732; d Vienna, 1809). Austrian-born composer of pure Ger. stock. The son of a farmer-wheelwright, Haydn showed immediate mus. precocity and at the age of 5 was given into the care of a Hainburg schoolmaster called Franck, who taught him the rudiments of mus. At 8 went to Vienna as choirboy at St Stephen's. When his v. broke at 17, he lived in poverty as a teacher and became accompanist and servant to the It. composer and teacher Porpora. He worked for two aristocratic patrons in 1750s, and in 1761 was engaged as vice-Kapellmeister at Eisenstadt by Prince Paul Esterházy. Haydn remained with the Esterházy household for 30 years, for both Prince Paul and his successor Prince Nikolaus, who reigned from 1762 to 1790, were passionate mus.-lovers. In 1766 Nikolaus built the palace of Esterháza (modelled on Versailles) on the south side of the Neusiedlersee, spending the greater part of each year in this isolated home. Haydn's art benefited from this seclusion. 'There was no one near to confuse me, so I was forced to become original', he said. His duties were numerous; besides administrative work and caring for the court musicians, he cond. the orchestra, arr. and dir. operatic perfs., played in chamber mus., and produced a stream of works in many genres, incl. incidental mus. for plays, to please his patron. Haydn's fame spread from Esterháza throughout Austria, Ger., and It. as his syms. were pubd. Fr. edns. of his works began to appear in the 1760s and later in London. In 1785 he was commissioned by Cadiz to compose an oratorio without words on the Saviour's 7 Last Words, and by the Parisian soc. Concert de la Loge Olympique to compose 6 syms. By this time he had become friends with Mozart, for whom he had the highest admiration. Their works from this date (1781) betray mutual influence. Haydn's life at Esterháza ended in 1790 when Prince Nikolaus died and his successor dismissed the musicians, though leaving

Haydn his salary and title. Haydn left the castle for Vienna where he accepted an invitation from the impresario J. P. Salomon to visit London. He stayed in England from 1 Jan. 1791 to the middle of 1792, being feted, lionized, and entertained by royalty. He comp. syms. 93--98 on this visit, when he was deeply impressed by the 1791 Handel Fest. in Westminster Abbey. In July 1791 the hon. degree of D.Mus. was conferred on him by Oxford Univ. On his return to Vienna he bought a house there and accepted Beethoven as a pupil, an uneasy relationship for both great men. In 1794 he visited Eng. again, having been commissioned by Salomon to write 6 new syms. This 2nd visit lasted from Feb. 1794 to Aug. 1795 and was even more successful artistically and, especially, financially than the first. The Esterházy family had now reconstituted their mus. est., but Haydn comp. only for special occasions and was allowed to concentrate on his work as a composer. Between 1796 and 1802 he wrote 6 magnificent settings of the Mass. In 1797 he comp. his Gott erhalte Franz den Kaiser, which was adopted as Austria's nat. anthem. But his chief pre-occupation at this time was his oratorio Die Schöpfung (The Creation), f.p. privately in Vienna, 1798. This was followed by Die Jahreszeiten (The Seasons), f.p. 1801. From then on, Haydn's health began to fail, though he made several more public appearances, he died during the Fr. occupation of Vienna. If Haydn's life was comparatively uneventful, his vast output of mus. is notable for the number of delights and surprises contained in almost every work. Yet though the number and magnitude of Haydn masterpieces are constantly amazing, his mus. for long failed to exert as powerful a sway over the public as that of Mozart and Beethoven. He is regarded as the 'father' of the sym. (which he was not) and of the str. qt., but some treasurable Haydn lies in his vocal mus., in his oratorios, masses, and in his operas (which are still in process of re-discovery). In all his mus. his inventive flair seems inexhaustible. He delighted in exploiting the capabilities of solo instr. and virtuoso performers, and every genre in which he worked he enlarged, extended, and re-shaped. The syms. are a remarkable example of his development of a particular form, hallmarked by deep feeling, drama, elegance, wit, and, in the final 12, a Mozartian perfection of all these qualities combined. But much the same can be said of the qts. and masses; nor should the kbd. sonatas be overlooked. The cataloguing of Haydn's works has been the object of considerable scholarship. It was begun in 1766 by Haydn himself, aided by the Esterházy court copyist Joseph Elssler, whose son Johann (1769--1843) later became Haydn's copyist and faithful servant. Haydn worked on this list until about 1805. Pohl prepared a MS. catalogue, and for the Breitkopf and Härtel complete edn. Mandyczewski assembled his list of 104 syms. (omitting 3 now acknowledged as such). Modern scholarship, led by H. C. Robbins Landon, has amended this list, and a thematic catalogue has been ed. by Hoboken in which works are given Hob. nos. in the manner of Köchel's Mozart catalogue. Haydn's works are too numerous to be listed in full detail. The following is a concise list of the prin. comps.:--[cm operas: 20 were comp., some of the first being lost. The extant 15 incl. La Canterina (1766), Lo Spezziale (1768), Le Pescatrici (1769), L'Infedeltà delusa (1773), L'Incontro improvviso (1775), Il Mondo della Luna (1777), La vera constanza (1778), L'isola disabitata (1779), La fedeltà premiata (1780), Orlando Paladino (1782), Armida (1783), Orfeo ed Euridice (1791); also 5 puppet operas incl. Philemon und Baucis (1773) and Dido (1776).

masses: No. 1 in F (Missa brevis) (1750), No. 2 in Eb (Grosse Orgelmesse) (1766), No. 3 in C (St Cecilia) (1776), No. 4 in G (1772), No. 5 in Bb (Kleine Orgelmesse) (c.1775), No. 6 in C (Mariazellermesse) (1782), No. 7 in C (In tempore belli--Paukenmesse) (1796), No. 8 in Bb (Heiligmesse) (1796), No. 9 in D minor (Nelson) (1798), No. 10 in Bb (Theresienmesse) (1799), No. 11 in Bb (Schöpfungsmesse) (1801), No. 12 in Bb (Harmoniemesse) (1802). Also Mass in G (c.1750).

cantatas and oratorios: Stabat Mater (1767); Applausus (1768); Il Ritorno di Tobia (1774-5); Die sieben letzten Worte unseres Erlösers am Kreuz (The Seven Last Words of Our Saviour on the Cross, 1st version (str. qt.) 1785, 2nd version 1796); Die Schöpfung (The Creation) (1797--8); Die Jahreszeiten (The Seasons) (1798--1801).

symphonies: Nos. 1--5 (1757); No. 6 in D (Le Matin), No. 7 in C (Le Midi), No. 8 in G (Le soir) (c.1761); No. 9 in C (c.1762); No. 10 in D (c.1761); No. 11 in Eb (c.1760); No. 12 in E,

No. 13 in D (1763); No. 14 in A, No. 15 in D (1764); No. 16 in Bb, No. 17 in F, No. 18 in G, No. 19 in D, No. 20 in C (all before 1766, prob. 1761--2); No. 21 in A, No. 22 in Eb (The Philosopher), No. 23 in G, No. 24 in D (1764); No. 25 in C (c.1761--3); No. 26 in D minor (Lamentatione) (c.1770); No. 27 in G (c.1760); No. 28 in A, No. 29 in E, No. 30 in C (Alleluja), No. 31 in D (Horn Signal) (1765); No. 32 in C, No. 33 in C (c.1760); No. 34 in D minor (c.1766); No. 35 in Bb (1767); No. 36 in Eb (c.1761--5); No. 37 in C (c.1757); No. 38 in C (Echo) (c.1766--8); No. 39 in G minor (c.1768); No. 40 in F (1763); No. 41 in C (c.1769); No. 42 in D (1771); No. 43 in Eb (Merkur), No. 44 in E minor (Trauer) (c.1771); No. 45 in F# minor (Abschied), No. 46 in B, No. 47 in G (1772); No. 48 in C (Maria Theresia) (c.1768--9); No. 49 in F minor (La Passione) (1768); No. 50 in C (1773); No. 51 in Bb, No. 52 in C minor (c. 1771--3); No. 53 in D (L'Impériale) (c.1780); No. 54 in G, No. 55 in Eb (Der Schulmeister), No. 56 in C (1774); No. 57 in D (1774); No. 58 in F, No. 59 in A (Feuersymphonie) (c.1776--8); No. 60 in C (Il Distratto) (1774); No. 61 in D (1776); No. 62 in D, No. 63 in C (La Roxolane) (c.1780); No. 64 in A (c.1775); No. 65 in A (c.1771--3); No. 66 in Bb, No. 67 in F, No. 68 in Bb, No. 69 in C (Laudon) (c.1778); No. 70 in D (1779); No. 71 in Bb, (c.1779--80); No. 72 in D (c.1763--5); No. 73 in D (La Chasse) (1780--1); No. 74 in Eb (1780); No. 75 in D (1779); No. 76 in Eb, No. 77 in Bb, No. 78 in C minor (1782); No. 79 in F, No. 80 in D minor, No. 81 in G (1783--4); No. 82 in C (Bear) (1786); No. 83 in G minor (La Poule) (1785); No. 84 in Eb (1786); No. 85 in Bb (La Reine) (1785); No. 86 in D ([sm1786]); No. 87 in A (1785); No. 88 in G, No. 89 in F (c. 1787); No. 90 in C, No. 91 in Eb (1788); No. 92 in G (Oxford) (1789); No. 93 in D, No. 94 in G (Surprise), No. 95 in C minor, No. 96 in D (Miracle) (1791, London); No. 97 in C (1792, London); No. 98 in Bb (c.1792, London); No. 99 in Eb (1793, Austria); No. 100 in G (Military), No. 101 in D (Clock), No. 102 in Bb (1794, London); No. 103 in Eb (Paukenwirbel, Drum Roll), No. 104 in D (London) (1795, London).

concertos: Vc. in C (c.1765), in D (1783); Klavier in D (c.1784), Klavier and str. in G; hn. No. 1 in D (1762), No. 2 in D (c.1764); 2 hn. and str. in Eb; for lira organizzata No. 1 in C, No. 2 in G, No. 3 in G, No. 4 in F, No. 5 in F (c.1786); organ conc. (1756); for tpt. in Eb (1796); for vn. No. 1 in A, No. 2 in C, No. 3 in G (c.1765); for vn., pf., and str. in F (1766); Sinfonia Concertante in Bb for ob., bn., vn., vc. (1792).

string quartets: Op. 1 (6 qts., 1760); Op. 2, nos. 7--12 (1755--60); Op. 9 (6 qts., 1771); Op. 17, nos. 25--30 (1771); Op. 20, nos. 31--6 (1772); Op. 33, nos. 37--42 (1781); Op. 42, no. 43 (1758); Op. 50, nos. 44--9 (c.1787); Op. 51, nos. 50--6 (1785, 7 Last Words from the Cross); Op. 54, nos. 57--9 (c.1788); Op. 55, nos. 60--2 (c.1788); Op. 64, nos. 63--8 (c.1790); Op. 71, nos. 69--71 (1793); Op. 74, nos. 72--4 (1793); Op. 76, nos. 75--80 (c.1797); Op. 77, nos. 81--2 (c.1799); Op. 103, No. 83 (1802--3).

keyboard: 60 sonatas (c. 1761--94), Variations in F minor (1793).

chamber music: 32 pf. trios; 6 sonatas for klavier and vn.; fl. qts; lute qt; divertimentos for str. trio; str. trios; 126 baryton trios; 32 pieces for mechanical clocks; and Notturnos for lira organizzata.

solo cantatas: Arianna a Naxos for mez. (1789); Berenice che fai (1795).

vocal: Qts. and trios (1796 and 1799); Alfred---Chorus of the Danes (1796); 12 Canzonettas to Eng. words for solo v. and pf. (1794--5) incl. My mother bids me bind my hair, Spirit's Song, Piercing Eyes, She never told her love; 450 arrs. of Brit. folk-songs (1791--1805).

Haydn, (Johann) Michael (b Rohrau, 1737; d Salzburg, 1806). Austrian-born composer, brother of Franz Joseph Haydn. Chorister, St Stephen's, Vienna, 1745--55, also deputy organist. Court mus. and Konzertmeister to Archbishops of Salzburg 1763 to end of his life. Wrote 40 syms., vn. concs., hn. concs., tpt. conc., hpd.-and-va. conc., fl. concs., str. quartets, operas, masses, and vast amount of other church mus. Weber and Diabelli were among his pupils. His Requiem in C minor was perf. at his brother's funeral.

'Haydn' Quartets. Name customarily given to set of 6 str. qts. by Mozart (No. 14 in G, K387(1782), No. 15 in D minor, K421 (1783), No. 16 in Eb, K428 (1783), No. 17 in Bb, Hunt, K458 (1784), No. 18 in A, K464 (1785), No. 19 in C, Dissonanzen, K465 (1785)), because he ded. them to Haydn, who played 1st vn. in perfs. at Mozart's house. (Mozart played the va.).

Hayes, William (b Gloucester, 1707; d Oxford, 1777). Eng. composer and organist. Organist, Worcester Cath., 1731--4, Magdalen Coll., Oxford, 1734--42, prof. of mus., Oxford Univ., 1742--77. Comp. cantatas, catches, glees, church mus.

Haym, Hans (b Halle, 1860; d Elberfeld, 1921). Ger. cond. Studied singing and pf. at Munich. Mus. dir. Elberfelder Gesangverein, 1890. Friend and champion of Delius, cond. f.p. of Paris (Elberfeld 1901), unpubd. 1st version (1897) of pf. conc. (Elberfeld 1904), and f. complete p. in Ger. of Mass of Life, 1909.

Haym, Nicola (Francesco) (b Rome, 1678; d London, 1729). It. cellist, composer, and librettist, of Ger. parentage, who took leading role in establishing It. opera in London. Played violone in private orch. in Rome under Corelli 1694--1700. From 1701 to 1711 was in London as chamber musician to Duke of Bedford. Played cello in orch. when Clayton's Arsinoe was first all-sung opera in It. style to be given at Drury Lane. Wrote lib. for Handel's Teseo (1713) and Radamisto (1720) and between 1723 and 1728 wrote 8 more libs. for him, viz. Ottone, Flavio (1723), Giulio Cesare, Tamerlano (1724), Rodelinda (1725), ? Admeto (1727), Siroe, Tolomeo (1728). From 1718 was string bass player in service of Duke of Chandos at Cannons, playing in Handel oratorios. Comp. oratorios, anthems, etc.

Head, Michael (Dewar) (b Eastbourne, 1900; d Cape Town, 1976). Eng. composer, singer, and pianist. Prof. of pf. RAM, from 1927. Comps. incl. cantata, light operas, works for ob., and many songs (in which he acc. himself).

Headington, Christopher (John Magenis) (b London, 1930). Eng. composer, pianist, and writer. Studied at RAM, later with L. Berkeley. Joined BBC mus. staff 1964. Comps. incl. pf. preludes, pf. sonatas, vn. conc., 2 str. qts., song-cycles, etc.

Head Voice. Method of vocal tone prod. in high register, so called because singer experiences sensation of v. vibrating in the head.

Hear my Prayer (Hör mein Bitten). Hymn by Mendelssohn for sop. solo, choir, and org. (also orch.) comp. 1844 for Bartholomew's concerts in Crosby Hall, London, where f.p. 1845.

Heart of Oak (not 'Hearts of Oak'). This bold patriotic song comes from a pantomime, Harlequin's Invasion, written by Garrick in 1759, the mus. being supplied by Boyce. It is a topical song, alluding to 'this wonderful year' (the victories of Minden, Quiberon Bay, and Quebec).

Heart's Assurance, The. Song-cycle for high v. and pf. by Tippett on poems by Sidney Keyes and Alun Lewis. Commissioned by Peter Pears. Comp. 1950--1. F.p. London 1951 (Pears and Britten).

Heather. See Heyther, William.

Hebden, John (fl. 1740--50). Eng. cellist, bassoonist, and composer. Prin. cellist in London th. orchs. Comp. 6 concerti grossi for str. which were ed. R. Wood in 1980 and revived, after 200 years of neglect, by the Scottish ens. Cantilena. Also wrote 6 solos for fl. and continuo.

Hebrides, The (Mendelssohn). See Fingal's Cave.

Hecht, Eduard (b Durkheim, 1832; d Manchester, 1887). Ger. composer, cond., and teacher. Went to Paris 1851; settled Manchester 1854, becoming chorus-master of Hallé Choir and ass. cond. of Hallé's concerts. Cond. of several Manchester choral socs. Lecturer, Owens Coll. (now Univ.) from 1875. Comp. sym., cantatas, str. qts., songs.

Heckel, Johann Adam (b Adorf, 1812; d Biebrich, 1877). Ger. instr-maker. Founded own firm at Biebrich, 1831. Worked on improvements to bn. and cl. Son Wilhelm (1856--1909) invented heckelphone 1904.

Heckelclarina. Rare type of cl. invented by Ger. firm of Heckel expressly for shepherd's pipe part in Act 3 of Wagner's Tristan und Isolde (cor anglais is usually preferred).

Heckelphone. Bass ob. (octave lower thanob.) made by Ger. firm of Heckel in 1904. Used by R. Strauss in Salome and Elektra and by Delius, as 'bass oboe' in Dance Rhapsody No. 1, Fennimore and Gerda, Songs of Sunset, Arabesk, and Requiem.

Hedges, Anthony (John) (b Bicester, 1931). Eng. composer, pianist, writer, and teacher. Studied Oxford and RAM. Lecturer RSAM 1957--62, Hull Univ. from 1962 (senior lecturer from 1967). Comps. incl. opera, orch. mus., choral works, anthems, chamber mus., partsongs, and ballet.

Hedley, Arthur (b Newcastle upon Tyne, 1905; d Birmingham, 1969). Eng. scholar and writer. Studied Durham Univ. and Paris Sorbonne. Specialist in mus. of Chopin, about whom he wrote book and many articles.

Heel. Thatend of the bow of a str. instr. at which it is held, as distinguished from the other end, which is called 'point'.

Heger, Robert (b Strasbourg, 1886; d Munich, 1978). Ger. composer and cond., studied with Schillings in Munich. Cond. début Strasbourg 1907; opera cond. Nuremberg 1913--21, Vienna 1925--33, Berlin 1933--50, Munich from 1950. Cond. many times at CG 1925--35, esp. operas of Strauss, and cond. f. Brit. p. of Strauss's Capriccio 1953. Comp. 5 operas, incl. Lady Hamilton (1951), 3 syms., vn. conc., vc. conc., cantatas, and songs.

Heifetz, Jascha (b Vilna, Lithuania, 1901). Russ.-born violinist (Amer. citizen from 1925). Lessons at 3 from father, public début in Vilna at 5. Entered St Petersburg Cons. at 8 as pupil of Auer. While still student played concs. with Berlin P.O. under Nikisch, and in Vienna and Leipzig. Family went to USA 1917, where Heifetz made début in that year. Thereafter worldwide reputation as among very greatest violinists. Commissioned Walton conc., 1939. In later years played principally in chamber mus.

Heiligmesse (Holy Mass). Popular name, derived from the special treatment of the words 'Holy, holy' in the Sanctus, for Haydn's 8th Mass in Bb, 1796.

Heiller, Anton (b Vienna, 1923; d Vienna, 1979). Austrian composer, organist, and harpsichordist. Prof. of org., Vienna Acad. 1945. Composer of chamber sym., 5 masses, radio ballad Fran; Alcois Villon, etc.

Heinze, (Sir) Bernard (Thomas) (b Shepparton, Victoria, 1894; d Sydney, N.S.W., 1982). Australian cond. and teacher. Studied Melbourne Univ., RCM, in Paris under d'Indy, and in Berlin with Willy Hess. Returned to Australia 1923. Prof. of mus., Melbourne Univ., 1925--57, dir. State Cons., N.S.W. 1957--66. Cond. Melbourne S.O. 1933--49. Knighted 1949.

Heldenleben, Ein (A Hero's Life). Orch. tone-poem, Op. 40, by R. Strauss. Comp. 1897--8, f.p. 1899 in Frankfurt (though ded. to Mengelberg and Concertgebouw Orch. of Amsterdam). In the 5th of the 6 sections, the 'Hero's Works of Peace', Strauss quotes from several of his own comps.

Heldentenor (Ger., 'heroic tenor'). Ten. with powerful v. of wide range capable of such parts as Huon in Weber's Oberon, Bacchus in Strauss's Ariadne auf Naxos, and most of the Wagner ten. parts.

Helffer, Claude (b Paris, 1922). Fr. pianist. Pupil of R. Casadesus until 1939. After war studied harmony and comp. with Leibowitz. Début Paris 1948. Specialist in 20th-cent. pf. mus., having given f.ps. of works by Amy. Has recorded complete solo pf. music of Schoenberg, also works by Boulez and Barraqué.

Helicon. Form of bass tuba made so that it may be wrapped round the player's body and rest on the shoulder (useful when played on the march). So called because of helical (spiral) shape. Largely displaced by modified version, Sousaphone.

Heliogabalus Imperator. Tone-poem ('allegory for music') by Henze (1972) after Enzensberger. F.p. Chicago (cond. Solti) 1972.

Heller, Stephen (b Pest, 1813; d Paris, 1888). Hung. pianist and composer. Studied in Vienna. Settled in Paris 1838. Friend of Liszt, Chopin, Hallé, and Berlioz. Visited Eng. 1850 and 1862. Wrote well over 100 short pf. pieces and items of chamber mus.

Hellertion. Elec. instr. developed in Frankfurt in 1936 by Bruno Helberger and Peter Lertes. Similar to theremin, but with a guide kbd. and pedals to regulate vol. and tone-quality. Range of nearly 6 octaves, capable of 4-part harmony, and able to simulate human v. and some instrs. Played by pressure on 4 leather bands stretched across front, which sets up a current.

Hellflöte (Ger.). Clear flute (an org. stop).

Helliwell, Clifton (b Farnworth, 1907). Eng. pianist and teacher. BBC mus. staff as accompanist 1929--61; staff of RMCM 1961--72; head of kbd. studies RNCM 1972--8.

Hellmesberger, Joseph (b Vienna, 1828; d Vienna, 1893). Austrian violinist, cond., and teacher. Father and brother were also violinists. Pupil of father. Cond., Vienna Gesellschaft concerts 1851--9, prof. of vn., Vienna Cons. 1851--77, dir., Vienna Cons. 1851--93. Founder and leader, Hellmesberger Qt., 1849--91.

Hellmesberger, Joseph (b Vienna, 1855; d Vienna, 1907). Austrian violinist and composer, son of above. 2nd vn. in Hellmesberger Qt. from 1875, succeeding as leader 1891. Prof. of vn., Vienna Cons. from 1878. 2nd cond., Vienna Opera 1899. Cond. Vienna P.O. 1901--3. Court cond. Stuttgart 1904--5. Comp. 10 operettas.

Helm, Everett (b Minneapolis, 1913). Amer. composer and writer. Studied at Harvard Univ. with W. Piston and H. Leichtentritt. Later had comp. lessons from Malipiero (1936--7) and Vaughan Williams (1937--8). In 1941 worked with Milhaud at Mills Coll. Holder of various teaching posts. Active as mus. critic from 1948. Works incl. opera, sym. for str., 2 pf. concs., 2 str.qts., 2 pf. sonatas, db. conc., etc.

Helmholtz, Hermann (Ludwig Ferdinand) [fy65,3] von (b Potsdam, 1821; d Charlottenburg, 1894). Ger. authority on acoustics (also medical man and prof. of physiology at various univs.). Most famous work is Sensations of Tone (1863, Eng. trans. by A. J. Ellis, 1875).

Heltay, László (István) (b Budapest, 1930). Brit. cond. of Hung. birth. Studied at Liszt Acad., Budapest, with Kodály and Bárdos. On staff Budapest Radio 1952--6. Left for Eng.

1956. Founded Schola Cantorum, Oxford, 1960. Brit. cit. 1962. Dir. of mus., Merton Coll., Oxford, 1962--4. Ass. cond. New Zealand B.C. S.O. 1964--6. Dir. of mus., Gardner Centre, Sussex Univ. from 1968. Founded Brighton Fest. Chorus.

Hely-Hutchinson, (Christian) Victor (b Cape Town, 1901; d London, 1947). S. African-born composer, cond., pianist, and administrator. Studied RCM and as pupil of Tovey. On BBC staff from 1926, becoming head of mus., Midlands Region (Birmingham) from 1933. Prof. of mus., Birmingham Univ. 1934--44. Dir. of mus., BBC, 1944--7. Works incl. A Carol Symphony, pf. quintet, va. sonata, and settings of Edward Lear's Nonsense Songs.

Hemidemisemiquaver (;ye). The 64th note (i.e. 1/64th of a semibreve in value).

Heming, Percy (b Bristol, 1883; d London, 1956). Eng. bar. Studied RAM and with Henschel, later in Dresden with Grose. Opera début, London 1915 in Gounod's Roméo et Juliette. Prin. bar. BNOC from 1922. SW 1933--5. Ass. art. dir. (to Beecham), CG 1937, art. dir. CG Eng. Co. 1937--9. Art. adviser, CG 1946--8. Notable Amfortas, Scarpia, etc.

Hemiola or Hemiola. This rhythmic device consists of superimposing 2 notes in the time of 3, or 3 in the time of 2, e.g.: [ol40] [xnA rhythmic device much used in cadential progressions by composers up to and including the baroque period.

Hemmings, Peter (William) (b Enfield, 1934). Eng. administrator and singer. Ed. Cambridge Univ. Repertory, planning man., SW Opera 1959--65, gen. man. New Opera Co. 1957--65; gen. administrator Scottish Opera 1962--77; dir. Australian Opera 1977--80. Man. dir. LSO 1981--4. Dir. Los Angeles Opera from 1984.

Hempel, Frieda (b Leipzig, 1885; d Berlin, 1955). Ger. sop. Entered Leipzig Cons. as pianist, going to Stern Cons., Berlin, on decision to become singer. Début Breslau, then Berlin 1905 and Schwerin 1905--7. Berlin Opera 1907--12. London début CG 1907, NY Met. 1912. 1st Berlin and NY Marschallin in Der Rosenkavalier, 1911 and 1913. Retired from opera 1921 (Chicago), continuing to give concerts.

Hemsley, Thomas (Jeffrey) (b Coalville, 1927). Eng. bar. Stagedébut London 1951 as Aeneas to Flagstad's Dido. Prin. bar., Aachen Opera 1953--6, Deutsche Oper-am-Rhein 1957--63, Zürichopera 1963--7. Glyndebourne from 1953, Bayreuth 1968--70, guest singer CG, Scottish Opera, ENO etc. Notable Beckmesser. Also sings in oratorio, cantatas, Lieder recitals, etc.

Henderson, Roy (Galbraith) (b Edinburgh, 1899). Scottish bar. Studied RAM. Début Queen's Hall, London, 1925. Opera début CG 1929 as Donner in Rheingold. Member Glyndebourne co. 1934--9 (Papageno, Almaviva, etc.). Noted in concert and recital work. Retired 1952. Prof. of singing RAM 1940--74. Private pupils incl. Kathleen Ferrier. Cond. of several choirs, incl. Nottingham Oriana Choir 1936--52. C.B.E. 1970.

Henry, Pierre (b Paris, 1927). Fr. composer. Studied Paris Cons. 1937--47. Comp. pupil of Messiaen and Boulanger. Dir., Groupe de Recherches de MusiqueConcrète, Fr. Radio, 1950--8, working with Pierre Schaeffer. Founded 1st private elec. studio in Fr. at Apsome, 1958. Works incl. Le Voile d'Orphée (1953), La Reine verte (1963), Messe de Liverpool (1967), Gymkhana (1970), all with elecs.

Henry VIII (b Greenwich, 1491; d Windsor, 1547). Eng. king (from 1509). Talented musician and composer. Attrib. to him are 17 songs, several pieces for viols, masses, and motets. The anthem O Lord, the Maker of All Things, however, is not by Henry, as was long supposed, but by W. Mundy.

Henry VIII. (1) Opera in 4 acts by Saint-Saëns to lib. by Détroyat and Silvestre. Prod. Paris 1883, CG 1898. (2) Incidental mus. to Shakespeare's play by Sullivan, 1878, and by German, 1892.

Henry Watson Music Library. Prin. mus. library in Manchester, part of the corporation's Central Reference Library. Basis was coll. of 5,000 books and many more scores handed over in 1899 by Henry Watson (b Burnley, 1846; d Salford, 1911), organist, cond., and teacher at RMCM, to Manchester Corporation and since greatly expanded.

Henschel, (Sir) George (orig. Isidor Georg) (b Breslau, 1850; d Aviemore, Scotland, 1934). Ger.- born bar., pianist, cond., and composer. Brit. citizen from 1890. Public début as pianist, Berlin 1862. Leipzig Cons. 1867--70. Sang Hans Sachs in concert perf. of Die Meistersinger, Munich 1868. Berlin Royal Cons. 1870--4. London début 1877. 1st cond. Boston S.O. 1881--4. Prof. of singing, RCM 1886--8. Cond., London Symphony Concerts 1886--96. Cond. Scottish Orch. 1891--5. Acc. himself as singer. Continued to broadcast and record until past 70. Comp. 3 operas, str. qt., choral works, songs, etc. Knighted 1914.

Henselt, Adolf von (b Schwabach, Bavaria, 1814; d Warmbrunn, Silesia, 1889). Ger. pianist and composer. Pupil of Hummel (pf.) at Weimar and of Sechter (comp.) at Vienna. Went to St Petersburg 1838, becoming court pianist and teacher of Royal family. No tours after 1838 yet acclaimed as one of greatest pianists. Comp. pf. conc., 2 sets of 12 Studies, pf. pieces, etc.

Hen, The (Haydn). See Poule, La.

Hen Wlad fy Nhadau. See Land of my Fathers.

Henze, Hans Werner (b Gütersloh, Westphalia, 1926). Ger. composer and cond. Studied at Brunswick State Mus. Sch. 1942--4, Heidelberg 1946. Studied privately with Fortner, 1946--8. Studied Schoenberg's 12-note system with Leibowitz at Darmstadt 1948. Mus. dir. Hessian State Opera's ballet, Wiesbaden, 1950. Settled in Italy 1953. Politically Henze moved in the 1960s to the extreme Left and many of his works after that date reflect revolutionary ideals and dogmas. Henze's mus. style is bewilderingly diverse, reflecting his fertile imaginative gifts and his refusal to be 'tied down' by formulae. As much a Fr. or It. composer as a Ger. one, he can adopt at will Schoenbergian, Stravinsky, or aleatory styles. Sensuous lyricism, rich and delicate tone-colours, and easy mastery of choral writing are among the prin. features of his work. Prin. works:

operas and music theatre: Das Wundertheater (1-act, after Cervantes, for actors and orch., 1948; new version for singers 1964); Boulevard Solitude (1951); König Hirsch (1952--5; reduced version as Il Re Cervo, 1962); Der Prinz von Homburg (after Kleist) (1958); Elegy for Young Lovers (1959--61); Der junge Lord (1964); Das endeeine Welt (1964, stage version of radio opera, 1953); Ein Landarzt (1964, stage version of radio opera, 1951); The Bassarids (1965); Moralities (3 scenic cantatas to Auden text, 1967); Der langwierige Weg in die Wohnung der Natascha Ungeheuer (The Tedious Way to the Place of Natasha Ungeheuer) (1971); La Cubana (vaudeville, 1973); We Come to the River (1974--6); Don Chisciotte della Mancia (version of Paisiello, 1976); Pollicino (children's opera, 1979); Il Ritorno di Ulisse in Patria (realization of Monteverdi, 1980--2); The English Cat (lib. by E. Bond) (1983).

radio operas: Ein Landarzt (Kafka) (1951); Das Ende einer Welt (1953).

ballets: Ballett-Variationen (1949, Suite 1949); Rosa Silber (1950, Suite 1950); Maratona (1956, Suite 1956); Undine (1956--71, 2 Suites 1958); Tancredi (1964 rev. of Pas d'action 1952, Suite 1952); Orpheus (1978).

chamber ballets: Jack Pudding (1949, Suite 1949); Die schlafende Prinzessin (arr. of Tchaikovsky for small orch. 1951); Labyrinth (1951, choreog. fantasy for orch. 1950); Der Idiot (1952); Des Kaisers Nachtigall (after Andersen, 1959, Suite 1959).

incidental music: Der tolle Tag (Beaumarchais) (1951); Les Caprices de Marianne (Musset/Ponnelle) (1962); Der Frieden (Aristophanes/Hacks) (1964).

orch: Syms.: No. 1 (for chamber orch. 1947, rev. 1963), No. 2 (1949), No. 3 (1949--50), No. 4 (1955), No. 5 (1962), No. 6, for 2 chamber orch. (1969), No. 7 (1982--4); Symphonic Interludes from Boulevard Solitude (1953); Quattro Poemi (1955); Antifone (1960); Los Caprichos (1963); Symphonic Interludes from Der junge Lord (1964); 3 Symphonic Studies (1955--64); The Hunt of the Maenads (from The Bassarids) (1965); Telemanniana (1967); Heliogabalus Imperator (1971--2); Tristan, preludes for pf., orch., tape (1973); Ragtimes and Haba; atneras, brass band (1975); Suite from Pollicino (1979); 2 Dramatic Scenes from Orpheus (1979); Barcarola (1983).

chamber orch: Sinfonie (1947, rev. for full orch. as Sym. No. 1, 1963); Symphonic Variations (1950); Sonata for Strings (1957--8); 3 Dithyrambs (1958); 4 Fantasies (3movts. from Chamber Music 1958 with new Adagio), 8 instr. (1963); In memoriam: Die weisse Rose (1965); Fantasia für Streicher (1966, from film mus. for Der junge Törless); Fragments from a Show (from Natasche Ungeheuer), hn., 2 tpt., tb., tuba (1971); Suite from film mus. Katharina Blum (1975); Amicizia, cl., tb., vc., pf., perc. (1976); Aria de la folia españa; atnola, orch., also chamber orch. (1977); Apollo trionfante, wind,perc., db. (1979); Arien des Orpheus, guitar, hp., hpd., str. (1979); Canzona, ob., 3 vas., vc., pf., hp. (1982); I Sentimenti di Carl P. E. Bach (transcr. of Fantasia for pf. and vn., 1787), fl., hp., str. (1982); Cinque piccoli concerti (interludes from The English Cat), 8 instr. (1983); Sonata for 6 (1984).

concertos: Chamber Conc., pf., fl., str. (1946); vn. conc. No. 1 (1947), No. 2, vn., bass-bar., 33 instr., tape (1971); concertino, pf., wind, perc. (1947); pf. conc. No. 1 (1950), No. 2 (1967); Jeux des Tritons (from Undine), pf., orch. (1956--7/1967); Ode to the West Wind, vc., orch. (1953); Concerto per il Marigny, pf., 7 instr. (1956); Double Conc., hp., ob., str. (1966); db. conc. (1966); Compases para preguntas ensimismadas, va., 22 players (1969--70); Il Vitalino raddoppiato, vn., chamber orch. (1977); Musik, vc., chamber orch. (1977); Le Miracle dela Rose, cl., 13 instr. (1981).

voice and instr: Ein Landarzt, monodrama, bar., orch. (1951--64, see also radio opera); Whispers from Heavenly Death (Whitman), high v., 8 instr. (or pf.) (1948); The Reproach (Der Vorwurf) (Werfel), aria for bar., tpt., tb., str. (1948); Apollo and Hyacinth, alto, 9 instr. (1949); 5 Neopolitan Songs, mez. or bar., chamber orch. (1956); Nocturnes and Arias, sop., orch. (1957); Chamber Music 1958 (Hölderlin), ten., guitar, 8 instr. (1958); 3 Hölderlin Fragments, v., guitar (1958); Ariosi (Tasso), sop., vn., and orch. (or pf. 4 hands) (1963); Being Beauteous (Rimbaud), coloratura sop., hp., 4 vc. (1963); Essayon Pigs, bar., chamber orch. (1968); El Cimarrón, bar., fl., guitar, perc. (1969--70); Voices (22 songs),mez., ten., 15 instr. (1973); The King of Harlem, mez., instr. ens. (1979); 3 Auden Poems, v., pf. (1982--3).

choral: 5 Madrigals, ch., 11 instr. (1947); Lullaby of the Blessed Virgin, boys' ch., 9 instr. (1948); Chorus of the Captured Trojans (from Goethe's Faust II), ch., orch. (1948, rev. 1964); Novaede Infinito Laudes, cantata, 4 solo vv., ch., small orch. (1962); Cantata della Fiaba Estrema, sop., small ch., 13 instr. (1963); Choral Fantasia (Bachmann), chamber ch., tb., 2 vc., db., org., perc., timp. (1964); Muses of Sicily (Virgil), conc. for ch., 2 pf., wind, timp. (1966); Das Floss der Medusa, oratorio for sop., bar., speaker, ch., 9 boys' vv., orch. (1968); Jephte (realization of Carissimi's oratorio, 1650), 3 sop., alto, ten., 2 bass, 6 vv., instr. (wind, hp., perc., guitar, banjo, mandolin) (1976); Canzoni für Orpheus, unacc. ch. (1980).

chamber music: Str. Qts.: No. 1 (1947), No. 2 (1952), No. 3 (1975--6), No. 4 (1976), No. 5 (1976); vn. sonata (1946); sonatina, fl., pf. (1947); Chamber Sonata, pf., vn., vc. (1948, rev. 1963); Serenade, vc. (1949); Quintet, fl., ob., cl., hn., bn. (1952); 3 Tentos (from Chamber Music 1958), guitar (1958); Der junge Törless, fantasia (after work for str. orch.), str. sextet (1966, trans. of Fantasia für Streicher); Memorias de El Cimarrón, guitar (1970); Carillon, Récitatif, Masque, mandolin, guitar, hp. (1974); Royal Winter Music (2 sonatas on Shakespearean characters), guitar (1975--6 and 1979); L'Autunno, wind quintet, fl., cl., ob., hn., bn., with interchangeable instr. (1977); va. sonata (1979); Capriccio, vc. (1983).

keyboard: Variations, pf. (1949); pf. sonata (1959); Lucy Escott Variations, pf. or hpd. (1963); 6 Absences, hpd. (1961); Divertimenti, 2 pf. (1964); Toccata senza Fuga from Orpheus, org. (1979); Euridice, hpd. (1981).

Heptatonic. Scale or mode based on seven pitches to the octave.

Herabstrich (Ger.). Down-bow, in vn. and va. playing. [fy65,3] Heraufstrich is up-bow.

Herbage, Julian (Livingston) (b Woking, 1904; d London, 1976). Eng. musicologist and writer. Career in th. before joining BBC 1927--46 (ass. dir. of mus. 1940--6). Helped to plan and produce Promenade concerts until 1961. Ed. and cond. works by Locke, Purcell, Bach, Arne, and Handel. Wrote books and essays on Handel's Messiah, Sibelius, Bax, and Tchaikovsky. With wife Anna Instone (b Cardiff, 1912; d London, 1978), presented BBC's weekly Music Magazine on radio 1944--73.

Herbert, Victor (b Dublin, 1859; d NY, 1924). Irish-born (Amer. citizen) composer, cond., and cellist. Studied Stuttgart Cons.; prin. cellist Stuttgart court orch. 1883--6. Went to USA 1886, becoming prin. cellist, NY Met. orch., and in other orchs. Also appeared as soloist and cond. military bands. First operetta, Prince Ananias (NY 1894) was success and was followed by over 300 others, incl. Naughty Marietta (1910) and Sweethearts (1913). Wrote 2 operas, Natoma (1911) and Madeleine (1914). Cond., Pittsburgh S.O. 1898--1904. Also comp. symphonic poem Hero and Leander, 2 vc. concs., Irish Rhapsody, etc.

Herbig, Günther (b Ústí nad Labem, Cz., 1931). Cz.-born Ger. cond. Studied at Weimar State Acad. of Mus. Cond. Dresden P.O. 1972--7, Berlin S.O. 1977--83. Eng. début 1973, London. Chief guest cond., BBC Northern S.O. (now BBC Philharmonic) 1980--4. Cond. Detroit S.O. from 1984.

Herman, Woody (Woodrow Charles) (b Milwaukee, 1913). Amer. jazz saxophonist, clarinettist, and composer. Formed own band 1936, re-formed 1946, 1947 and 1950. Worldwide tours. Comps. incl. Blues in the Night and At the Woodchoppers' Ball. Stravinsky wrote his Ebony Concerto for him, 1945.

Hérodiade (Herodias). Opera in 4 acts by Massenet to lib. by P. Milliet and 'H. Grémont' (G. Hartmann) after story by Flaubert (1877). Prod. Brussels 1881, New Orleans 1892, London 1904 (under title Salome).

Hérold, (Louis Joseph) Ferdinand (b Paris, 1791; d Les Ternes, Paris, 1833). Fr. composer. Entered Paris Cons. 1806, studying with Adam and Méhul. Grand Prix de Rome 1812. 1st opera prod. Naples 1815. Returned to Paris 1815, composing 12 operas and several ballets in 14 years. Gained biggest success with Zampa (1831) followed by Le Pré aux Clercs (1832). Among his ballets were La Fille Mal Gardée (1828) and La Belle au Bois dormant (1829). Also comp. 2 syms., 3 str. qts., 4 pf. concs., and pf. pieces.

Herrmann, Bernard (b NY, 1911; d Hollywood, 1975). Amer. composer and cond. Studied Juilliard Sch. of Mus. under B. Wagenaar. Founder-cond. New Chamber Orch. 1931--4. Mus. dir. CBS 1934--40, cond.-in-chief CBS S.O. 1942--59. Champion of Ives's mus. and also of Eng. composers---not only Elgar and Vaughan Williams, but Rubbra, Brian, Bax, Cecil Gray, and Cyril Scott. Also an enthusiast for Raff. Lived in London for several months each year. Wrote successful scores for Orson Welles and Hitchcock films. His opera Wuthering Heights and other comps. have an expressive and lyrical warmth which compensates for some lack of originality. Comps. incl.:

opera: Wuthering Heights (1940--52).

orch: Sym. No. 1 (1940); vn. conc. (1937); For the Fallen (1943); Suite, The Devil and Daniel Webster (1941); Welles Raises Kane (1942); Sinfonietta, str. (1935).

choral: Moby Dick, cantata for 2 ten., 2 basses, ch. and orch. (1936--8); Johnny Appleseed (1940).

chamber music: Echoes for str. qt. (1932); Aubade (1933).

films: Citizen Kane, The Devil and Daniel Webster, The Snows of Kilimanjaro, The Magnificent Ambersons, Jane Eyre, Marnie, Psycho, Jason and the Argonauts, Beneath the Twelve-Mile Reef, Fahrenheit 451.

Herstrich (Ger.). A bow movement towards the player, i.e. the down stroke in vc. and db. playing. See also Hinstrich.

Hertel, Johann Wilhelm (b Eisenach, 1727; d Schwerin, 1789). Ger. violinist and composer. Studied with F. Benda. Kapellmeister at Schwerin from 1754. Wrote 36 sym., several conc., pf. sonatas, etc.

Hertz, Alfred (b Frankfurt, 1872; d San Francisco, 1942). Ger.-born cond. Studied at Hoch Cons., Frankfurt. Début Halle 1891. Held various cond. posts in Ger.; in 1902 went to USA (becoming Amer. citizen). Cond. of Ger. opera at NY Met. 1902--15, during which time he cond. f. stage p. of Parsifal outside Bayreuth in 1903, thereby infringing Bayreuth copyright and ensuring that no Ger. opera house again employed him. Cond. 1st US perfs. of Strauss's Salome and Rosenkavalier and f.p. of several Amer. operas. Cond. CG 1910. Cond. San Francisco S.O. 1915--29. First to conduct at Hollywood Bowl, July 1922.

Herunterstimmen (Ger.). 'To tune down' a str. to (nach) a specified note.

Herunterstrich (Ger.). Down-bow in vn. and va. playing.

Hervé (pen-name of Florimond Ronger) (b Houdain, 1825; d Paris, 1892). Fr. composer, singer, and organist. Pupil of Auber. Org., St Eustache, Paris, 1845--53. Cond. several th. orchs. in Paris and appeared as singer and actor, sometimes in his own works. Wrote over 100 operettas, incl. Don Quixote et Sancho Pan; Alca, Le Petit Faust, and Cléopâtre. Cond. at Empire Th., London, from 1886. Also wrote 'heroic symphony' The Ashanti War (London 1874).

Herz, Henri (Heinrich) (b Vienna, 1803; d Paris, 1888). Austrian composer and pianist. Studied Paris Cons., becoming prof. of pf. there 1842--74. Worldwide tours as pianist and soloist in his own works (incl. 8 concs.). Est. pf. factory in Paris. Contrib. to Hexameron.

Herzogenberg, Heinrich von (Baron von Herz-zogenberg-Peccaduc) (b Graz, 1843; d Wiesbaden, 1900). Austrian pianist and composer. Pupil of Dessooff at Vienna Cons. Dir., Bach-Verein, Leipzig, 1875--85. Prof. of comp. Berlin Hochschule für Musik 1885. Dir., Meisterschule für Komposition, Berlin, 1888--92 and 1897--1900. Wrote 3 syms., 3 oratorios, mass, requiem, chamber mus., etc.

Hes (Ger.). The note Bb. (Usually, however, the Germans call this note B; see H above.)

Heseltine, Philip. See Warlock, Peter.

Hess, (Dame) Myra (b London, 1890; d London, 1965). Eng. pianist. Studied at GSM and, from 1902, at RAM with Tobias Matthay. Début 1907, London (Beethoven 4th conc., cond. Beecham). Thereafter one of England's leading pianists, especially in mus. of Schumann, Beethoven, Mozart, and Bach. Her transcription of chorale from Bach's church cantata No. 147 under title 'Jesu, joy of man's desiring' was immensely popular. During World War II, founded and dir. series of lunchtime recitals at Nat. Gallery, London, which played important role in sustaining morale. C.B.E.1936, D.B.E. 1941.

Hess, Willy (b Mannheim, 1859; d Berlin, 1939). Ger. violinist. Lived in USA 1865--72, making début with Theodore Thomas Orch. Studied in Berlin with Joachim 1876--8. Leader, opera orch., Frankfurt, 1878--86. Prof. of vn., Rotterdam Cons. 1886--8. Leader, Hallé Orch. 1888--95; prof of vn. RCMC 1893--5, Cologne Cons. 1895--1903 (also leader of Cologne Gürzenich Concerts and Qt.), RAM 1903--4. Leader, Boston S.O. 1904--10. Prof. of vn. Berlin Hochschule 1910--28 and leader of Hali; Akr Qt., Darmstadt 1931--3.

Heuberger, Richard (Franz Joseph) (b Graz, 1850; d Vienna, 1914). Austrian composer, cond., and critic. Cond. Vienna Singakademie 1878--81, Männergesangverein 1902--9. Mus. critic in Munich and Vienna 1881--1901. Prof., Vienna Cons. from 1902; ed. of various periodicals. Comp. 3 operas, sym., cantata, partsongs, and 6 operettas incl. Der Opernball (The Opera Ball, 1898), Heure espagnole, L' (The Spanish Hour). Opera (comédie musicale) in 1 act by Ravel to lib. based on his own comedy by Franc-Nohain. Comp. 1907--9. Prod. Paris 1911, London 1919, Chicago 1920.

Heward, Leslie (Hays) (b Liversedge, 1897; d Birmingham, 1943). Eng. cond. and composer. Chorister, Manchester Cath., 1910, ass. organist 1914. Studied RCM 1917. Mus. dir., Westminster Sch. 1920. Cond. opera for BNOC. Mus. dir. S. African Broadcasting Corporation and cond. Cape Town Orch., 1924--7. Cond. CBSO 1930--43.

Hexachord. A group of 6 consecutive notes regarded as a unit for purposes of singing at sight---somewhat as the octave is in 'movable-doh' systems. It was introduced (or perfected) by Guido d'Arezzo in the 11th cent. and was still widely current up to the 17th. There were 3 different Hexachords, the Hard one beginning on G, the Natural one beginning on C, and the Soft one beginning on F. It will be realized that these overlapped in their range, and that a singer reading a piece of mus. might haveto pass from one to another if its compass extended beyond one of those sets of 6 notes. The names of the notes were taken from the opening syllables of 6 lines of a Lat. hymn, which syllables happened to ascend a degree with each succeeding line. These names were Ut, Re, Mi, Fa, Sol, and La. Letter names were also then in use for the notes, but these were absolute names, as they are still, whereas the hexachordal names were relative to the group in use at the moment, as their successors the modern Tonic sol-fa names are relative to the key in use at the moment: the Sol-fa system (on its pitch side) may, indeed, be looked upon as a modernization of the hexachordal system, which served well in the period of simple modal mus. (see Modes) but was incapable of application to the increasing complexities of a key system. To the Hexachords Guido added the device of The Guidonian Hand. In the 20th cent. the term is applied to a coll. of 6 pitch classes considered eithersimultaneously or as a succession, esp. in reference to segments of 12-note rows. Unconnected with medieval term.

Hexameron (Six Days). 6 variations for pf. on march from Bellini's I Puritani, each written by a different composer-pianist --- Liszt, Thalberg, Pixis, Herz, Czerny, and Chopin --- with introduction, connecting links, and finale by Liszt. F.p. Paris charity concert 1837, the composers sitting at a pf. apiece and each playing his own variation. Liszt later added orch. acc. and played whole series at recitals.

Hexatonic. Mode or scale based on system of six different pitches to the octave, as in Whole-tone scale.

Heyther (Heather), William (b Harmondsworth, c.1584; d Westminster, 1627). Eng. musician. Gentleman of Chapel Royal from 1615. Founded mus. lecture at Oxford Univ. 1626--7.

Heyworth, Peter (Lawrence Frederick) (b NY, 1921). Amer.-born Eng. mus. critic. Studied Balliol Coll., Oxford. Mus. critic of the London Observer, from 1955. Biographer of Klemperer.

Hiawatha. Cantata in 3 parts by Coleridge-Taylor, text from Longfellow's poem of this title. Part 1, Hiawatha's Wedding Feast, f.p. London 1898, Part 2, The Death of Minnehaha, f.p. Hanley 1899, Part 3, Hiawatha's Departure, f.p. London 1900 (as part of f. complete p. of trilogy). Frequently perf. in pageant form.

Hidalgo, Elvira de (b Aragón, 1892; d Milan, 1980). Sp. sop. Début Naples 1908 as Rosina in Rossini's Il barbiere di Siviglia. Début NY Met. 1910, BNOC 1924. Became teacher at Athens (pupils incl. Callas), and Ankara.

Hidden Fifths (or Octaves). The progression in similar motion of 2 parts to perfect 5th (or octave) from such an interval in the same 2 parts in the previous chord, so that a pedant might find a 5th (or octave) in intermediate hiding (e.g. C-G in ten. and sop. proceeding to A-E in next chord).

Hildegard of Bingen (b Bemersheim, 1098; d Rupertsberg, 1179). Ger. abbess, mystic, and writer. Took veil at 15. Became superior at Benedictine monastery of Disibodenberg 1136. C.1147 founded monastery on the Rupertsberg, near Bingen, Rhine Valley. Wrote lyrical poetry from 1140, setting it to her own mus., much of it of strong individuality and complexity. She collected it together in 1150s under title Symphonia armonie celestium revelationum. Her morality play, Ordo Virtutum, a kind of pre-opera, representing the struggle for the soul between 16 virtues and the devil, contains 82 melodies. Edn. of her mus., ed. by J. Gmelch, pubd. Düsseldorf 1913.

Hill, Alfred (b Melbourne, 1870; d Sydney, N.S.W., 1960). Australian cond., composer, violinist, and teacher. Studied at Leipzig Cons., playing in Gewandhaus Orch. Settled in N.Z. where he collected Maori mus., using it in his comps. Prof. of harmony and comp., N.S.W. Cons. 1915--35. Works incl. 8 operas, 10 syms., cantata Hinemoa, Maori Rhapsody, 17 str. qts., songs, etc. O.B.E 1953, C.M.G. 1960.

Hill, Thomas (Henry) [fy65,3]Weist (b London, 1828; d London, 1891). Eng. violinist and cond. Pupil of Sainton at RAM. First to play Mendelssohn conc. in USA. 1st Prin., GSM 1880--92.

Hill & Son, W. Firm of London org.-builders, later W. Hill & Son & Norman & Beard. Founded 1755 by John Snetzler. William Hill became partner in 1825, firm changing name to his in 1838. Built orgs. in York Minster, Ely, Worcester, and Manchester Caths., Birmingham Town Hall, etc.

Hill & Sons, W. E. London firm of vn. makers and dealers founded by Joseph Hill (1715--84).

Hillbilly Songs. The traditional songs (largely of European origin) of the primitive peoples of the mountain regions (e.g. Appalachians) of the S.-E. parts of the USA.

Hiller, Ferdinand (b Frankfurt, 1811; d Cologne, 1885). Ger. pianist, cond., and composer. Pupil of Hummel, with whom he visited Beethoven on his deathbed, 1827. Lived in Paris 1828--35; 1st to play Beethoven's 5th pf. conc. in Paris. Held cond. posts in Frankfurt, Düsseldorf, and Cologne. Founded Cologne Cons., 1850, becoming dir. until 1884. Cond. of It. opera in Paris 1852--3. Wrote 6 operas, 2 oratorios, 3 syms., 3 pf. concs., vn. conc., cantatas, chamber mus., and pf. pieces.

Hiller (Hüller), Johann Adam (b Wendisch-Ossig, 1728; d Leipzig, 1804). Ger. composer. Studied in Dresden and Leipzig. Settled in Leipzig 1758, becoming cond. of several organizations. Regarded as founder of the Singspiel, which he based on the Ger. Lied. First of these was Der Teufel ist los (The Devil is at large), 1766, followed by 11 others. Also wrote church mus.

Hiller, Lejaren (b NY, 1924). Amer. composer. Had lessons at Princeton Univ. from Sessions and Babbitt. Worked as research chemist; experimented in composition with computers, collaborating with Leonard Isaacson with whom in 1957 he produced Illiad Suite (named after the computer). This was first computer-composition. Dir., experimental mus. studio, Illinois Univ. 1958--68; prof of comp., State Univ. of NY, Buffalo, from 1968. Works incl. pf. conc. (1949); Computer Cantata (1963); 7 Electronic Studies (1963); Rage over the Lost Beethoven (1972); many works for stage, films, and television.

Hilton, John (b c.1560; d Cambridge, 1608). Eng. composer and organist (Trinity Coll., Cambridge). Wrote anthems and madrigals, latter incl. Fair Oriana, Beauty's Queen in The Triumphs of Oriana.

Hilton, John (b ?Cambridge, 1599; d London, 1657). Eng. composer and organist (St Margaret's, Westminster), son of above. Comp. church mus., Ayres of ballett type, etc., and 'Catch that Catch Can', coll. of rounds, canons, and catches (1625).

Himmel, Friedrich Heinrich (b Treuenbrietzen, 1765; d Berlin, 1814). Ger. composer. Studied Dresden and in It. Court Kapellmeister, Berlin, 1795. Visited Russia, England, and Austria. Wrote operas and operettas (Ger. and It.), sym., pf. conc., and church mus. incl. anthem Incline Thine Ear.

Hindemith, Paul (b Hanau, 1895; d Frankfurt, 1963). Ger.-born composer, cond., violist, and teacher. Studied comp. at Hoch Cons., Frankfurt, 1913--17, under Arnold Mendelssohn and Bernhard Sekles, and vn., va., and cond. under F. Bassermann. Became 1st violinist in Frankfurt Opera orch. 1915 and Rebner Qt. Served in Ger. Army 1917--19, but continued to compose and to play in str. qt. Returned to opera orch. Left Rebner Qt. 1921. Two 1-act operas, Mörder, Hoffnung der Frauen and Das Nusch-Nuschi were cond. by Fritz Busch, Stuttgart 1921 and by Ludwig Rottenberg (whose daughter, Gertrud, Hindemith married in 1924) in Frankfurt 1922 (with a 3rd opera Sancta Susanna). These works, later disowned as prentice pieces, had a succès de scandale. His 2nd str. qt. was perf. Donaueschingen 1921, by qt., with Hindemith as violist, led by Licco Amar. This led to the permanent est. of the Amar Qt., which played only modern works. Hindemith left the Frankfurt Opera orch. in 1923, concentrating on his work with the Amar Qt. and as a member of the selection committee for Donaueschingen fests. In 1927 Hindemith became teacher of comp. at Berlin Hochschule für Musik. Among his pupils were Franz Reizenstein, Walter Leigh, and Arnold Cooke. Also working in Berlin were 2 cond. who had championed Hindemith's mus., Furtwängler at the Phil. and Klemperer at the Kroll Opera. In 1929, because of pressure of work, Hindemith disbanded the Amar Qt. His satirical opera Neues vom Tage (News of the Day) was prod. in Berlin under Klemperer in summer 1929 (the 1st opera to incl. a sop. singing in her bath); and his cantata Lehrstück, to a text by Brecht, created a scandal at the 1929 Baden-Baden Festival. In Oct. 1929 Hindemith made his 1st visit to London, where he was soloist in the f.p. of Walton's va. conc., having met Walton at Salzburg in 1923. In 1933, the year Hitler came to power, Hindemith began work on an opera on the subject of the painter Matthias Grünewald, a medieval artist with a social conscience. He arr. 3 interludes as a suite, which he called the Mathis der Maler (Matthias the Painter) Sym.

These were performed by the Berlin P.O. under Furtwängler in Mar. 1934 and were an immediate success. But official criticism of his mus. now began to be voiced publicly.

(Hitler had once been shocked by the sop.-in-the-bath scene in Neues vom Tage.)

Furtwängler wrote an article in Nov. 1934 defending Hindemith and opposing his 'political denunciation'. As a result of the ensuing controversy, the Nazis forbade prod. of the Mathis opera. In 1935 Hindemith accepted an invitation from Turkey to est. a mus. sch. On his return from Ankara, he found the régime friendlier towards him and a Frankfurt première for Mathis seemed possible. But in 1936, after 'demonstrative' applause for Kulenkampff's playing of the new vn. sonata, Goebbels banned all further perfs. of Hindemith's mus. After a further spell in Turkey in 1937, Hindemith resigned from the Berlin Hochschule and sailed for NY. In May 1938 Mathis der Maler was staged in Zürich, but mention of the event was forbidden in Ger. newspapers. In Feb. 1940 he again sailed for the USA, this time to stay indefinitely. He was appointed visiting prof. of the theory of mus. at Yale Univ., and also was head of advanced comp. at the Berkshire summer fest. at Tanglewood, where his pupils in 1940 incl. Lukas Foss and Leonard Bernstein. In 1945 he became an Amer. citizen. He returned to Europe in 1947, visiting Italy, Holland, Belgium, Eng., Ger., Austria, and Switzerland where he renewed friendship with Furtwängler. In 1949--50 he spent a year at Harvard Univ. as Norton Prof., giving the Charles Eliot Norton lectures, later pubd. as A Composer's World. In 1951 he accepted a teaching post at Zürich Univ., dividing his time with his duties at Yale, but in 1953 resigned from Yale and returned to Europe, conducting Beethoven's 9th Sym. at the 1953 Bayreuth Fest. Hindemith is invariably associated with the term Gebrauchsmusik (utility mus.) but this is a misleading and drab name for his attitude to his art, which was that audiences should participate as well as listen. In his Berlin teaching days, therefore, he comp. works which could be used for teaching and would also provide material for amateurs. His title for this type of work was Sing-und Spielmusik (Music to Sing and Play). Examples are his children's opera Wir bauen eine Stadt (Let's Build a Town) --echoed years later by Britten in Let's Make an Opera)---and Plöner Musiktag (A Day of Music in Plön), which is a series of instr. and choral pieces written for schoolchildren in Schleswig-Holstein. Like his friend Walton, Hindemith began as an enfant terrible and ended by being regarded by the avant-garde as an ultra-conservative. He rejected the extremist methods of the avant-garde (but this did not prevent him from writing for an early elec. instr., the trautonium). His early works show the influences of Strauss and Reger, succeeded by Stravinsky and Bartók. As his style developed, his rhythmic drive and partiality for contrapuntal textures grew more evident, coupled with a reticent lyricism. This lyricism grew more evident at the time of Mathis der Maler, while his harmonic idiom was based on well-controlled dissonant tensions. Tonality was the firm basis of all his comps. The severe reaction against his mus., which eventually slackened, was as unjust as it was unthinking. The best of his mus. occupies an important place in the history of 20th-cent. comp. Prin. works:

operas: Mörder, Hoffnung der Frauen (Murder, the Hope of Women), 1-act, text by Kokoschka, Op. 12 (1919); Das Nusch-Nuschi, 1-act, text by Blei, Op. 20 (1920); Sancta Susanna, 1-act, text by Stramm, Op. 21 (1921); Cardillac, Op. 39 (1926, new version 1952); Hin und Zurück, Op. 45a (1927); Neues vom Tage (1928--9, new version 1953); Mathis der Maler (1933--5); Die Harmonie der Welt (The Harmony of the World), (1956--7); The Long Christmas Dinner (Das lange Weihnachtsmahl) (1960). Also realization of Monteverdi's Orfeo (1943).

theatre pieces: Tuttifäntchen, mus. for children's Christmas play (1922); Lehrstück (Lesson on Consent), cantata to text by Brecht (1929); Wir bauen eine Stadt, children's opera (1930).

ballets: Der Dämon, Op. 28 (1922); Nobilissima Visione (1938); Hérodiade (1944).

chorus and orch: Das Unaufhörliche (The Perpetual), oratorio for sop., ten., bar., and bass, ch. and orch., text by G. Benn (1931); Requiem When Lilacs Last in the Dooryard Bloom'd (text by Whitman) for mez., bar., ch., and orch. (1946); Ite, angeli veloces (Go, flights of angels), cantata to text by Claudel in 3 parts: I, Triumphgesang Davids, for alto, ten., ch., orch., wind band, and spectators (1955), II, Custos quid de nocte, for ten., ch., and orch. (1955), III, Cantique de l'espérance, for mez., ch., orch., wind band, and spectators (1953); Mainzer Umzug, sop., ten., bar., ch., andorch. (1962).

orch: Lustige Sinfonietta, Op. 4 (1916); Dance Suite, Das Nusch-Nuschi, Op. 20 (1921); Concerto for Orchestra, Op. 38 (1925); Concert Music for pf., brass, and harps, Op 49 (1930); Concert music for str. and brass, Op. 50 (1930); Philharmonic Concerto (1932); Sym., Mathis der Maler (1934); Symphonic Dances (1937); Suite Nobilissima Visione (1938); The Four Temperaments, theme and vars. for str. and solo pf. (1940, perf. as ballet 1944); Sym. in Eb (1940); Symphonic Metamorphosis of Themes by Carl Maria von Weber (1940--3); Symphonia Serena (1946); Sinfonietta in E (1949--50); Sym. in Bb for concert band (1951); Sym. Die Harmonie der Welt (1951); Pittsburgh Symphony (1958); March (1960).

kammermusik series: No. 1 for small orch. Op. 24 (1922); Kleine Kammermusik for wind quintet Op. 24 No. 2 (1922); No. 2 (pf. conc. with 12 instr.) Op. 36 No. 1 (1924), No. 3 (vc. conc. with 10 instr.) Op. 36 No. 2 (1925), No. 4 (vn. conc.) Op. 36 No. 3 (1925), No. 5 (va. conc.) Op. 36 No. 4 (1927), No. 6 (va. d'amore conc.) Op. 46 No. 1 (1927), No. 7 (organ conc.) Op. 46 No. 2 (1927).

concertos (besides those above): Concert Music for va. and large chamber orch., Op. 48 (1930); Concert Piece for trautonium and str. (unpubd.) (1931); Der Schwanendreher, for va. and small orch., based on folk-songs (1935); Trauermusik for va. and str. (1936); Vn. Conc. (1939); Vc. Conc. (1940); Pf. Conc. (1945); Cl. Conc. (1947); Hn. Conc. (1949); Conc. for woodwinds, harp, and orch. (1949); Conc. for tpt., bn., and str. (1949); Organ Conc. (1962).

voice and orch: Die junge Magd, 6 Trakl songs for cont., fl., cl., str. qt., Op. 23 No. 2 (1922); Das Marienleben, 15 Rilke songs for sop. and pf., Op. 27 (1922--3; rev. version 1948, begun 1936; version with orch. Nos. 1--4 1938, Nos. 5--6 1959); Die Serenaden, cantata for sop., ob., va., vc., Op. 35 (1924).

chamber music: 3 Pieces for vc. and pf., Op. 8 (1917); Str. Qt. No. 1, Op. 10 (1918), No. 2, Op. 16 (1920), No. 3, Op. 22 (1921), No. 4, Op. 32 (1923), No. 5 (1943), No. 6 (1945); Vn. sonata in Eb, Op. 11 No. 1, in D, Op. 11 No. 2 (1918); Va. sonata in F, Op. 11 No. 4, for solo va. Op. 11 No. 5, vc. sonata Op. 11 No. 6 (1919); solo va. sonata Op. 25 No. 1, va. d'amore sonata Op. 25 No. 2, solo vc. sonata Op. 25 No. 3, va. sonata (unpubd.) Op. 25 No. 4 (1922); cl. quintet Op. 30, solo va. sonata (unpubd.) Op. 31 No. 4, Canonic sonata for 2 fl. Op. 31 No. 3 (1923); sonatas for solo vn. Op. 31 Nos. 1 and 2 (1924); str. trio Op. 34 (1924); 3 Pieces for cl., tpt., vn., db., pf. (1925); trio for pf., va., heckelphone (or tenor saxophone) Op. 47 (1929); 14 Easy Duets for 2 vn. (1931); str. trio (1933); Scherzo for va. and vc. (1934); vn. sonata in E (1935); fl. sonata (1936); bn. sonata, 3 Easy Pieces for vc. and pf.; qt. for cl., vn., vc., pf.; ob. sonata (1938); va. sonata in C, vn. sonata in C, cl. sonata, harp sonata, tpt. sonata (1939); cor anglais sonata, tb. sonata, A Frog he went a-courtin, vars. for vc. and pf. (1941); sax. sonata (1943); vc. sonata, septet for wind instr. (1948); db. sonata (1949); sonata for 4 hn. (1952); tubasonata (1955); octet (1957--8).

piano: Tanzstücke, Op. 19 (1920); Suite 1922 (1922); Klaviermusik, Op. 37 (part I 1925, Part II 1926); Mus. for film Vormittagsspuk for player-pf. (unpubd.) (1928); pf. sonata No. 1 in A, No. 2 in G, No. 3 in Bb (1936); sonata (4 hands) (1938); sonata for 2 pf. (1942); Ludus Tonalis (1942).

organ: Organ sonatas Nos. 1 and 2 (1937), No. 3 (1940).

vocal: 8 Lieder for sop. and pf., Op 18 (1920); 6 Songs on Old Texts, unacc. ch., Op. 33 (1923); 4 3-part choruses for boys (1930); 2 Hölderlin Songs (1933); 4 Hölderlin Songs (1935); 5 Songs on Old Texts, unacc. ch. (rev. version to Eng. texts of 6 Songs, 1923, Nos. 1, 2, 3, and 6, with new song Wahre Liebe, 1937); 3 Choruses for male vv., 6 Chansons for ch., Variations on an Old Dance Song for male vv. (1939); La Belle Dame Sans Merci for v. and pf., 7 Songs to Eng. texts (1942); Sing on There in the Swamp, v. and pf. (1943); To music (1944); Apparebit repentina dies, ch. and brass (1947); 2 Songs to words by Oscar Cox for v. and pf. (1955); 12 Madrigals for ch. (1958); Mass for unacc. ch. (1963). 13 Motets for sop. or ten. and pf. (comp. in following order: No. 8 (1940--41), No. 13 (1943), Nos. 2 and 11 (1944), Nos. 5 and 7 (1958), Nos. 3, 4, 6, 9, 10 (1959), Nos. 1 and 12 (1960).

communal and educational music: Spielmusik for str., fls., obs., Op. 43, No. 1; Lieder für Singkreise (Songs for Group Singing) for unacc. ch., Op. 43 No. 2 (1926); Schulwerk für Instrumental-Zusammenspiel (Educational Music for Instrumental Ensembles) for str., Op. 44 (1927); Sing- und Spielmusik für Liebhaber und Musikfreunde (Music to Sing and Play, for Amateurs and Music-lovers), Op. 45, Frau Musica for 2 solo vv., ch. and str., Op. 45 No. 1 (1928, as In Praise of Music 1943); Plöner Musiktag (1932).

books: The Craft of Musical Composition (Unterweisung im Tonsatz) Vol. I, Theoretical (1935-7), Vol. II, Exercises in 2-partwriting (1938--9), Vol. III, 3-part Writing (posth.); A Concentrated Course in Traditional Harmony (1942--3); Elementary Training for Musicians (1945--6); A Composer's World: Horizons and Limitations (Norton Lectures, Harvard 1949--50; pubd. in Eng. 1950, in Ger. as Komponist im seiner Welt, 1953); Johann Sebastian Bach, Heritage and Obligation (Frankfurt Lecture, 1950).

Hindemith, Variations on a Theme of. Orch. work by Walton comp. 1962--3 to commission by Royal Phil. Soc. for its 150th anniversary concert. Theme is from 2nd movement of Hindemith's vc. conc. (1940) and 7th var. quotes 4 bars from Mathis der Maler. F.p. London 1963, cond. composer.

Hingston, John (d London, 1688). Eng. composer and organist. In choir of York Minster, 1618, and possibly pupil of O. Gibbons. Organist to Cromwell 1654--8. From 1660 keeper of orgs. to Charles II. Purcell was his apprentice in 1673.

Hinrichsen, Max (b Leipzig, 1901; d London, 1965). Ger.-born publisher. Joint man. dir. Peters Edition, Leipzig, 1931--7. Went to London 1937, founding Peters Edition, London, and Hinrichsen Edition. Contributed valuably to revival of early Eng. organ and choral mus. Authority on J. S. Bach.

Hinstrich (Ger., 'away-stroke'). The up-bow on vc. and db. (see also Herstrich).

Hin und Zurück [nm(There and Back). Opera (Sketch mit Musik) in 1 act by Hindemith to lib. by M. Schiffer based on Eng. revue sketch. Prod. Baden-Baden 1927. Tanglewood 1940, London 1958. The plot and, in part, the mus. go into reverse at the half-way point.

Hipkins, Alfred (James) (b London, 1826; d London, 1903). Eng. pianist and scholar, authority on ancient instrs. In 1840 joined firm of Broadwood & Sons, London. Tuned Chopin's pfs. in Eng. 1848. One of first to revive study of hpd. and clavichord. Wrote books about them. Left coll. of instrs. to RCM. Also expert on standard of pitch.

Hirt (Ger.). 'Herd', 'Herdsman'. Hirtenlied, 'Herdsman's Song', etc.

Hirt aufdem Felsen, Der (Schubert). See Shepherd on the Rock, The.

His (Ger.). The note B#. Hisis, the (probably theoretical) note B##.

Hislop, Joseph (b Edinburgh, 1884; d Lundin Links, 1977). Scot. ten. and teacher. Studied Stockholm, making début at Royal Opera 1914, before further study in It. Début CG 1920 as Rodolfo in La Bohème. Distinguished operatic career. Taught at RAM and GSM and in Stockholm (1936--49).

Histoire du Soldat, L' (The Soldier's Tale'). Work in 2 parts by Stravinsky 'to be read, played, and danced'. Comp. 1918 to Fr. text by C. F. Ramuz based on Russ. tale. Orch. of 12 instrs., 2 speaking parts, 2 danced parts (no singers). Prod. Lausanne 1918, NY 1928, London (concert 1920). Also suite of 8 movements with orig. orch. or of 5 movements for vn., cl., and pf. (Lausanne 1919).

Histoires naturelles (Natural histories). Song-cycle for v. and pf. by Ravel to poems by Jules Renard, comp. 1906, f.p. Paris 1907. 1. Le Paon (The Peacock), 2. Le Grillon (The Cricket), 3. Le Cygne (The Swan), 4. Le Martin-pêcheur (The kingfisher), 5. La Pintade (The guinea-fowl). Orch. version by M. Rosenthal.

Hitschiriki. Japanese instr. like a bamboo fl., with 7 finger-holes and 2 thumb-holes. Shrill tone.

Hityokin. Japanese vertical fl. made of bamboo.

H.M.S. Pinafore, or The Lass that loved a Sailor. Comic opera by Sullivan to lib. by Gilbert. Prod. London (Opéra Comique), Boston, and San Francisco 1878; NY and Philadelphia 1879.

Hob. Abbreviated prefix to nos. in the Hoboken catalogue of Haydn's works.

Hoboe (Hoboy). Name sometimes given to the oboe.

Hoboken, Anthony van (b Rotterdam, 1887; d Zürich, 1983). Dutch musicologist. In 1927 founded Vienna nat. archive of photographs of mus. MSS. Compiler of definitive catalogue of Haydn's works, 1st vol. appearing 1957. Works are given 'Hob.' nos., followed by Roman numeral and Arabic figure, e.g. Hob IV. 6.

Hobrecht. See Obrecht, Jacob. Hochschule, Berlin. In full the Staatliche Akademische Hochschule für Musik, formerly the Royal HighSchool for Mus. Founded 1869, with Joachim as dir.

Hochzeit des Camacho, Die (The Wedding of the Camacho). Comic opera in 2 acts by Mendelssohn, Op.10, to lib. based on an episode in Don Quixote. Comp. 1825, prod. Berlin 1827.

Hochzeitsmarsch (Ger.). Wedding March.

Hocket ('hiccup'; Lat. hoquetus, Fr. hoquet, It. ochetto). Device in medieval vocal mus. whereby rests were inserted into vocal parts, even in the middle of words, to intensify expressive effect.

Hoddinott, Alun (b Bargoed, 1929). Welsh composer. Studied Univ. Coll., S. Wales, and with A. Benjamin. Lecturer, Cardiff Coll. of Mus. and Drama 1951. Lecturer, Univ. Coll., S. Wales, 1959--65, Reader 1965--7, Prof. of Mus. since 1967. Arnold Bax Medal 1957. C.B.E. 1983. Comps. are strongly structured, romantic in feeling, and deeply serious. Serialist technique used without strict formal adherence. Prin. works:

operas: The Beach of Falesá (3 acts, lib. by Glyn Jones based on story by R. L. Stevenson, prod. Cardiff 1974); The Magician (1 act, lib. by John Morgan, prod. Cardiff 1976 --- previously as Murder the Magician on TV 1976); The Rajah's Diamond (1978--9) (1 act, lib. by Myfanwy Piper, prod. TV 1979); The Trumpet Major (3 acts, lib. by Myfanwy Piper based on T. Hardy, 1981).

orch: Syms., No. 1 (1955), No. 2 (1962), No. 3 (1968), No. 4 (1969), No. 5 (1973), No. 6 (1984); Fugal Overture (1953); Nocturne (1953); Serenade for Strings (1958); 4 Welsh Dances (1958); Folk-Song Suite (1962); Ovs., Jack Straw (1964), Pantomime (1966); Variants (1966); Night Mus. (1967); Sinfoniettas, No. 1 (1968), No. 2 (1969), No. 3 (1970), No. 4 (1971); Concerto Grosso No. 1 (1965), No. 2 (1966); Fioriture (1968); Divertimento (1969); Investiture Dances (1969); The Sun, the Great Luminary of the Universe (1970);

Aubade (1972); The Hawk is set free (1972); The Floore of Heav'n (1973); Landscapes (1975); Lanterne des Morts (1981).

concertos: Cl. (1954); harp (1958); pf., No. 1 with wind and perc. (1960), No. 2 (1969), No. 3 (1966); va. (1958); vn. (1961); organ (1967); hn. (1969); ob. (1971); Aubade and Scherzo, hn. and str. (1965); Nocturne and Dance, harp and orch. (1959); Nocturnes and Cadenzas, vc. and orch. (1969); Ritornelli, tb., wind, and perc. (1974); The Heaventree of Stars, vn. and orch. (1980); Doubles, ob., hpd., str. (1982).

choral: Cantata Dives and Lazarus, sop., bar., ch., and orch. (1965); Black Bart, ballad, ch. and orch. (1969); Eryri, ch. and orch. (1969); 4 Welsh Folk Songs, vv. and orch. or pf. (1965); The Tree of Life, sop., ten., ch., organ, and orch. (1971); cantata Sinfonia Fidei, sop., ten., ch., and orch. (1977).

chamber music: Str. qt. (1966); pf. quintet (1972); septet (1956); sextet (1960); divertimento for ob., cl., hn., bn. (1963); vn. sonatas, No. 1 (1969), No. 2 (1970), No. 3 (1971), No. 4 (1976); harp sonata (1964); cl. sonata (1967); vc. sonata No. 1 (1970), No. 2 (1977); hn. sonata (1971); suite for harp (1967); pf. trio (1981).

piano: Sonatas, No. 1 (1959), No. 2 (1962), No. 3 (1965), No. 4 (1966), No. 5 (1968), No. 6 (1972).

songs: A Contemplation Upon Flowers, 3 songs for sop. and orch. (1976); Landscapes, 5 songs for high v. and pf. (1975); Roman Dream, scena for sop. and instr. ens. (1968); Ancestor Worship, songcycle (1972).

Hodgson, Alfreda (b Morecambe, 1940). Eng. mez. Studied at Northern Sch. of Mus., Manchester, first as cellist. Début Liverpool 1961, London 1963. Several appearances in opera, but mainly heard in oratorio, Mahler, Elgar, etc.

Hodie (Lat. 'On this day'). Christmas cantata for mez., ten., bar., boys' vv., ch., and orch. by Vaughan Williams, f.p. Worcester 1954. Orig. title This Day (Hodie), the composer preferring Hodie, which has been generally adopted. Text, selected by composer, incl. settings of words from Bible, Milton, Herbert, Hardy, Drummond, Coverdale, Ballet, and Ursula Vaughan Williams.

Hoengen, Elisabeth (b Gevelsberg, 1906). Ger. mez. Studied Berlin Univ. and Hochschule. Opera début Wuppertal 1933. Düsseldorf opera 1935--40, Dresden 1940--3, Vienna State Opera from 1943. Sang at CG, London, 1947, 1959--60. NY Met. 1951--2. Teacher at Vienna Acad. 1957--60. Specialist in dramatic roles (Herodias, Ortrud, etc.).

Hupffding, Finn (b Copenhagen, 1899). Danish composer. Studied under Joseph Marx. Teacher of comp., Copenhagen Cons. 1931, prof. 1949, dir. 1954. Works incl. 5 operas, incl. The Emperor's New Clothes, after Andersen, 4 syms., ob. conc., 2 str. qts., wind quintet, ob. sonata.

Hoffman, Grace (b Cleveland, Ohio, 1925). Amer. mez. Studied Manhattan Sch. of Mus., NY, and in It. Member of Zürich Opera. 1953--5. Bayreuth 1957--70. NY Met. 1958. CG début 1959 (Eboli).

Hoffman, Irwin (b NY City, 1924). Amer. cond. and violinist. Studied Juilliard Sch. Cond. Vancouver S.O. 1952--64, ass. cond. Chicago S.O. 1964--70, cond. Belg. Radio and TV S.O. 1972--6.

Hoffman, Ludwig (b Berlin, 1925). Ger. pianist. Studied Vienna, Berlin, and Cologne. Début Cologne 1953. He served on many int. pf. competition juries.

Hoffmann, Bruno (b Stuttgart, 1913). Ger. player of and composer for Glass armonica. Début London 1938 when he revived Mozart's quintet (K617). His name for the instr. is 'glass harp'.

Hoffmann, E(rnst) T(hedor) A(madeus) (orig. Wilhelm, but adopted name Amadeus in homage to Mozart) (b Königsberg, 1776; d Berlin, 1822). Ger. writer, mus. critic, composer, and cond. Had mus. lessons while studying law. Was th. cond. from 1808 at Bamberg, Leipzig, and Dresden. Comp. 10 operas, incl. Undine (Berlin 1816), ballet, sym., mass, pf. sonatas, etc. Best known for his essays and tales, which have remarkable bizarre humour. His character, the Kapellmeister Kreisler, inspired Schumann's Kreisleriana. He himself is the hero of Offenbach's Les Contes d'Hoffmann.

Hoffmann, Karl (b Smichov, 1872; d Prague, 1936). Cz. violinist. Founded Bohemian Str. Qt. 1892. Prof. of vn., Prague Cons., from 1922.

Hoffmann, Leopold (b Vienna, 1738; d Vienna, 1793). Austrian composer. Kapellmeister, St Stephen's Cath., Vienna, from 1772 (Mozart assisted him in 1791). Wrote sym., concs., church mus., etc.

Hoffmeister, Franz Anton (b Rothenburg, 1754; d Vienna, 1812). Austrian composer and mus. publisher. Mus.-dealer in Vienna 1784-98; founded Bureau de Musique, Leipzig, 1800, with Kühnel. Returned to Vienna 1805, becoming active as composer. Wrote many works for fl., cl., and str., over 65 syms., operas, songs, church mus., etc.

Hoffnung, Gerard (b Berlin, 1925; d Hampstead, 1959). Ger.-born artist, humorist, and tuba-player. Settled in Britain as child; educated Highgate, and Hornsey Sch. of Art. Contrib. as free-lance artist to various publications from 1940. Made series of illustrations, 1949, to Ravel's L'Enfant et les sortilèges. Founded Hoffnung Mus. Fests. at which various witty mus. parodies were perf. Drew series of amusing drawings of mus. subjects. Soloist in London, 1958, in Vaughan Williams' stuba conc.

Hofhaimer, Paul (b Radstadt, 1459; d Salzburg, 1537). Austrian organist and composer. Organist Imperial Chapel Innsbrück, 1480--1519., Salzburg Cath. from 1526. Wrote much org. mus., of which little survives, and several 4-part songs.

Hofmann, Josef (Józef Kazimierz) (b Podgorze, Kraków, 1876; d Los Angeles, 1957). Polish-born pianist and composer (Amer. citizen from 1926). Son of a pianist-conductor and opera singer, showed prodigious talent and made début as pianist at 6, appearing as soloist with Berlin P.O. at 9. Toured Europe, made NY début at 11. Amer. tour halted midway by action of soc. for prevention of cruelty to children, enforcing unwilling retirement until he was 18. Returned to Europe to study with Moszkowski and Anton Rubinstein. Returned to platform 1894, followed by regular world tours. Settled principally in USA from 1898. Dir. of Curtis Institute, Philadelphia, 1926--38. One of greatest players of Chopin, Liszt, and romantics. Comp. sym., 5 pf. concs., pf. sonatas, and many pf. pieces. Sometimes used pseudonym 'Michel Dvorsky'.

Hofmann, Peter (b Marienbad, 1944). Ger. tenor. Studied Karlsruhe Hochschule. Début Lübeck 1972 (Tamino), member Stuttgart Opera from 1973. Siegmund in the 1976 centenary prod. of The Ring at Bayreuth and CG. Sang Parsifal at CG 1979 and Salzburg Easter Fest. 1980. San Francisco 1977 (Siegmund); Lohengrin at NY Met. 1980 and with CG in Manchester 1981. Sings Tristan in 1983 recording with Bernstein.

Hofmannsthal, Hugo von (b Vienna, 1874; d Rodaun, nr. Vienna, 1929). Austrian author, poet, and playwright. With Max Reinhardt, founded Salzburg Fest. in 1920. Librettist for several works of Richard Strauss: the operas Elektra (1906--8), Der Rosenkavalier (1909--10), Ariadne auf Naxos (1912, 2nd version 1916), Die Frau ohne Schatten (1914--18), Die ägyptische Helena (1924--7), and Arabella (1928--32), the ballet Josephslegende (1913--14), Der Burger als Edelmann (Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme) (1912 and 1917); ed. with Strauss of Beethoven's ballet Die Geschöpfe des Prometheus; cantata Tüchtigen stellt das schnelle Glück (1914). Also librettist for Wellesz's Alkestis (1924).

Hofoper (Ger., 'Court opera'). Title given up to 1918 to the Court or Royal opera houses in many Ger. and Austrian cities, e.g. Vienna Hofoper, which became Staatsoper (State Opera) in 1919.

Hogwood, Christopher (Jarvis Haley) (b Nottingham, 1941). Eng. harpsichordist and conductor. Studied hpd. with Rafael Puyana and Gustav Leonhardt. Founder-member with David Munrow of Early Music Consort, 1967. Frequent broadcaster. Founder and dir., Academy of Ancient Music, from 1973. Author of book on the trio sonata, 1979.

Hohlföte (Ger., 'hollow flute', i.e. hollow-sounding fl.). Metal or wooden org. stop of 8' length and pitch.

Holberg Suite (Holbergiana; Ger. Aus Holbergs Zeit, From Holberg's Time). Pf. suite in 5 movements by Grieg comp. 1884 and orch. for str. in same year, both versions Op. 40. Written to celebrate bicentenary of birth of Norweg. dramatist Ludvig Holberg (1684--1754).

Holborne, Anthony (d ?London, 1602). Eng. composer. Pub. The Cittharn Schoole (1597, modern edn. by Kanazawa 1973) containing 57 pieces for cittern and bass viol; and Pavans, Galliards, Almans, and other Short Aires (1599).

Holborne, William (d after 1602). Brother of Anthony. 6 of his airs are incl. in The Cittharn Schoole.

Holbrooke, Joseph (Josef Charles) (b Croydon, 1878; d London, 1958). Eng. composer and pianist. Mus.-hall pianist at age of 12. Studied RAM 1893--6 under Corder (comp.) and F. Westlake (pf.) Pianist-cond. for travelling pantomime 1899. After perf. of his tone-poem The Raven (1900) his works were much in demand at Eng. fests., but did not hold their place and are rarely heard. Comp. trilogy of Celtic operas 1911--15. Controversial writer (e.g. Contemporary British Composers 1925) and frequent polemicist against 'Establishment'. Prin. works:

operas: Pierrot and Pierrette (1909); trilogy, The Cauldron of Anwen comprising The Children of Don (1911), Dylan (1914), and Bronwen (1915).

orch: Symphonic poems, The Raven (1900), Ulalume (1904), Queen Mab (1904), Byron, with ch. (1906), Apollo and the Seaman, with ch. (1908), Variations on Three Blind Mice, vn. conc. Also much chamber mus., pf. pieces, songs, part-songs, etc.

Hold, Trevor (b Northampton, 1939). Eng. composer and poet. Studied Nottingham Univ. Lecturer on mus. Aberystwyth and Liverpool Univs., later on staff of Leicester Univ. Works incl.: Gunpowder Plot Music for orch.; ov. My Uncle Silas; Rondo for str. orch.; Requiescat, for speaker, ch., brass sextet; The Falcon, church drama; The Pied Piper, entertainment for children; Early One Morning, high v. and guitar; Cinquefoils for pf. quintet.

Hölderlin-Fragmente, Sechs (Six Hölderlin Fragments). Setting by Britten, Op. 61, for v. and pf. of 6 poems by German poet Hölderlin. Comp. 1958.

Holidays Symphony (Ives). See New England Holidays.

Höller, Karl (b Bamberg, 1907). Ger. composer. Teacher at Hoch Cons., Frankfurt, 1937--45, Munich Cons. 1946--72. Composer of 2 syms., Variations on a Theme of Sweelinck for orch., 2 vn. concs., 2 vc. concs., org. conc., 6 str. qts., 8 vn.sonatas, film mus.

Höller, York (Georg) (b Leverkusen, 1944). Ger. composer. Studied at Cologne Musikhochschule 1963--8 (with Zimmermann and A. Kontarsky). Répétiteur, Bonn municipal th., 1968--9. Worked with Eimert at Cologne elec. studio. Comps. incl.:

orch: Topic (1967); Pf. Conc. (1970); Chroma (1972--4); Arcus (1978); Umbra (1979--80); Mythos (1979--80).

chamber music: Vc. sonata (1969); Epitaph, vn., pf. (1969); Antiphon, str. qt. (1977); Moments musicaux, fl., pf. (1979).

electronic: Horizont (1972); Tangens (1973); Klanggitter (1976).

piano: 5 Pieces (1964); Diaphonie, 2 pf. (1965); Sonate informelle (1968).

Holliger, Heinz (b Langenthal, Switz., 1939). Swiss oboist and composer. Studied Berne Cons. and Basle Cons., 1955--9, Paris Cons. 1962--3, (ob. with Cassagnaud and Pierlot, pf. with Yvonne Lefébure, comp. with Veress and Boulez). 1st ob., Basle Orch. 1959--64. Prof. of ob., Freiburg Musikhochschule, 1966. Works written for him by Berio, Huber, K; Akrenek, Henze, Penderecki, Stockhausen, etc. His own comp. incl. Erde und Himmel, cantata for ten. and 5 instr.; Elis, 3 nocturnes for pf. (1961); 3 Liebeslieder for alto and orch.; Schwarzgewebene Trauer for sop. and 3 instr.; 4 Bagatelles for sop. and pf. (1963); Glühende Rätsel for alto and instr. (1964); Der magische Tänzer, for 2 singers, 2 dancers, 2 actors, ch., orch., tape (1965); Trio for ob., va., harp (1966); Siebengesang for ob., orch., vv., amplifiers (1967); h for wind quintet (1968); Dona nobis pacem for 12 unacc. vv. (1968--9); Pneuma for 34 winds, organ, perc., radios (1970); Cardiophonie, for 1 wind player (1971); Str. Qt. (1974--5); Atembogen for orch. (1975); Chaconne, vc. (1976); NOT 1, monodrama for sop. and elec. (1980).

Hollingsworth, John (Charles) (b Enfield, 1916; d London, 1963). Eng. cond. Studied GSM. Assoc. cond. R.A.F. S.O. 1940--5. Cond. much film mus., also ballet and opera at CG from 1950. Assoc. cond., Henry Wood Proms 1949--63.

Holloway, Robin (b Leamington Spa, 1943). Eng. composer. Studied St. Paul's Cath. Choir Sch., Cambridge Univ., and Oxford Univ. Ass. lecturer in mus., Cambridge Univ. from 1974. One of most gifted and interesting of younger school of Eng. composers, with a richly romantic style owing something to Strauss but not merely backwards-looking. Works incl.:

opera: Clarissa (1975).

orch: Concertino No. 1 (1964, new finale 1968--9), No. 2 (1967, menuetto added 1974), No. 3 (Hommage to Weill) for 11 players (1975); Concerto for Orchestra (1966--9); Second Concerto for Orchestra (1979); Divertimento No. 1 (amateur orch.) (1968); Scenes from Schumann, 7 paraphrases (1969--70); Domination of Black, sym. poem (1973--4); Romanza, vn. and small orch. (1976); Idyll, small orch. (1979--80); Aria (Dark Air), chamber orch. (1979--80); Sonata, hn. and orch. (1979--80); Adagio and Rondo, hn. and orch. (1979--80); Serenata Notturna, 4 hn., small orch. (1982); Second Idyll, small orch. (1983).

ens: Garden Music, 8 players (1962, rev. 1967); Conc. for organ and wind (1965--6); Fantasy-Pieces, on Heine Liederkreis of R. Schumann, for 13 players (1971); Evening with Angels, 16 players (1972); Divertimento No. 2, wind nonet (1972); The Rivers of Hell, 7 players (1977); Serenade in C, octet (1979); Ode, 4 winds and str. (1980); Showpiece (Concertino No. 4), 14 players (1982--3).

voice[nm(

s) [smand orch: The Wind Shifts, 8 poems of W. Stevens, high v. and str. (1970); Cantata on the Death of God, sop., ten., bass soloists, speaker, ch., org., orch. (1972--3); Sea Surface Full of Clouds, cantata, sop., cont., counterten., ten. soloists, small ch., chamber orch. (1974--5); Clarissa Symphony, sop., ten., orch. (1976, 1981); Brand, ballad for solo vv., ch., org., orch. (1981).

voice[nm(

s) [smand ens: 3 Poems of William Empson, mez. and ens. (1964--5); Music for Eliot's 'Sweeney Agonistes', 3 or 4 speakers and 5 players (1965); In Chymick Art, cantata, sop., bar., 9 players (1965--6); Melodrama, 3 poems of S. Plath, speaker., male ch., ens. (1967); Divertimento No. 3 (Nursery Rhymes), sop., wind quintet (1977); Conundrums (Divertimento No. 4), sop., wind quintet (1977, 1979); Moments of Vision, speaker, vn., vc., pf., perc. (1984).

unacc. chorus: The Consolation of Music (1967--71--77); 5 Madrigals (1973); Hymn for Voices, (1977); He-She-Together[nm] (1978).

song-cycles and songs: 4 Housman Fragments, sop., pf. (1965--6); 4 Poems of Stevie Smith, unacc. sop. (1968--9); Banal Sojourn, 7 Stevens poems, high v. and pf. (1971); Georgian Songs, 10 songs, bar. and pf. (1972); 5 Little Songsabout Death (S. Smith), unacc. sop. (1972--3); Lights Out, 4 songs for bar. and pf. (1974); In the Thirtieth Year, 5 songs for ten. and pf. (1974); Author of Light, 4 songs for cont. and pf. (1974); The Leaves Cry, 2 songs for sop. and pf. (1974); This is Just to Say, ten., pf. (1977); The Blue Doom of Summer, v. and harp (1977); Willow Cycle, ten., harp (1977); From High Windows, 6 poems by P. Larkin, for bar. and pf. (1977); Killing Time, unacc. sop. (1978); The Noon's Repose, 3 songs for ten. and harp (1978--9); Wherever We MayBe, 5 songs by R. Graves, for sop. and pf. (1980--1); The Lovers' Well, bass-bar. and pf. (1981); Women in War, revue for 4 female vv. and pf. (1982).

chamber music: 3 Slithy Toves, 2 cl. (1978); sonata for vn. solo (1981); Suite for Saxophone (1982).

brass band: From Hills and Valleys (1983).

Hollreiser, Heinrich (b Munich, 1913). Ger. cond. Began career with opera posts in Wiesbaden, Darmstadt, and Mannheim. In 1942 at Munich Staatsoper. Mus. dir. Düsseldorf Opera 1945--52, Vienna 1952--61, Berlin 1961--4. Bayreuth début 1973 (Tannhäuser). Cond. f. Ger. p. of Britten's Peter Grimes (Hamburg, 1947).

Hollweg, Werner (Friedrich) (b Solingen, 1936). Ger. ten. Studied Detmold Acad. of Mus. Début Vienna 1962. Int. career in opera and concert-hall.

Hollywood Bowl. Natural open-air amphitheatre (65 acres) near Los Angeles, Calif., purchased in 1919 and in which since 1922 concerts of the Los Angeles P.O. are given annually for 9 weeks from July to September. Seats 25,000 and has remarkable acoustics.

Holmboe, Vagn (b Horsens, Jutland, 1909). Danish composer. Studied Royal Cons., Copenhagen, 1926--30 (comp. with H:Upffding) and in Berlin 1931 with E. Toch. In 1930s collected Romanian and Danish folk music. Teacher Royal Danish Institute for Blind 1940--49, mus. critic Politiken 1947--55. Teacher at Royal Danish Cons. 1950--65. Comps. incl. 11 syms., 3 operas, Requiemfor Nietzsche, 3 chamber syms., 14 str. qts. (1926--75), 13 concs., 14 motets.

Holmès (orig. Holmes), Augusta (Mary Anne) (b Paris, 1847; d Paris, 1903). Irish-born composer (under pseudonym Hermann Zenta) who lived in Paris. Studied comp. with Franck 1875. Wrote syms., symphonic poems, 4 operas, and choral works.

Holmes, Ralph (b Penge, 1937; d Beckenham, 1984). Eng. violinist. Studied RAM with David Martin, then in Paris with Enescu. London début 1951 with RPO. Amer. début 1966 (NY, Houston S.O. and Barbirolli). Prof. of vn., RAM, from 1964. Had all major 20th cent. vn. concs. in his repertoire. Also played in chambermus.

Holst, Gustav (Theodore) (b Cheltenham, 1874; d London, 1934). Eng. composer of Swed. descent. Trained as a pianist, his father being a pf. teacher. In 1892 he became organist and choirmaster at Wyck Rissington, Glos. His operetta Lansdowne Castle was prod. in Cheltenham in 1893, after which his father sent him to the RCM to study comp. under Stanford and the org. under Hoyte. At the same time he learned the tb., his pf.-playing being handicapped by chronic neuritis in the arm. In coll. holidays he played the tb. on seaside piers in the White Viennese Band. He left the RCM in 1898, having formed there a lifelong friendship with Vaughan Williams which extended to frank and detailed criticism of each other's comps. He worked as a trombonist in the Carl Rosa Opera 1898--1900 and Scottish Orch. from 1900 to 1903 and learned a smattering of Sanskrit in order to be able to trans. hymns from the Rig Veda which he wished to set to mus. His Cotswolds Symphony (unpubd.) was perf. in Bournemouth 1902 by Dan Godfrey and in 1905 his Mystic Trumpeter was perf. at the Queen's Hall. In 1903 he became mus. teacher at a Dulwich girls' sch., holding this post until 1920, and in 1905 he became dir. of mus. at St Paul's Girls' Sch., Hammersmith, retaining this appointment until his death. At this time, too, like Vaughan Williams he became deeply interested in Eng. folksong, and in 1907 became mus. dir. at Morley Coll., holding this post until 1924. At all the schs. where he taught he raised both standards and taste. In 1908 he went on holiday to Algeria (bicycling in the desert), the direct mus. result of which was an orch. suite Beni Mora. On return he comp. his chamber opera Savitri. In 1911 he cond. at Morley College the f. modern p. of Purcell's The Fairy Queen, and in 1913 began work on a large-scale orch. suite The Planets, sketching Mars just before World War I began in 1914. In that year he set Whitman's Dirge for 2 Veterans for male vv., brass, and drums. At this time he went to live in Thaxted, Essex, where in 1916 he organized a Whitsuntide Fest., singing and performing mus. by Bach, Byrd, Purcell, and Palestrina. Later that year Savitri was prod. in London and in 1917 Holst began his choral work The Hymn of Jesus. He was unfit for war service, but in 1918 was offered the post of YMCA mus. organizer among the troops in the Near East. As a parting present a wealthy friend, Balfour Gardiner, arranged a private perf. of The Planets in Queen's Hall, cond. Adrian Boult. The f. public p. was in 1919 and was Holst's first major public success. On return to Eng. later in 1919 he was appointed prof. of mus. at University Coll., Reading, and joined the teaching staff of the RCM. His comic opera The Perfect Fool was perf. at CG in 1923 while Holst was conducting at a fest. at the Univ. of Michigan at Ann Arbor. In 1924 he comp. his Choral Symphony on poems by Keats which was f.p. at the 1925 Leeds Fest., the same year that his 1-act Falstaff opera At the Boar's Head was staged by the BNOC. The ill-health from which he had always suffered in some degree plagued him more after he fell from a platform while rehearsing at Reading in 1923 and comp. became an arduous burden. But in 1927 he wrote his tone-poem Egdon Heath (the title given by Thomas Hardy to a stretch of countryside in Dorset), to a commission from the NY S.O. This was followed in 1929 and 1930 by 12 Songs by Humbert Wolfe, the Double Conc., an opera The Wandering Scholar, the Choral Fantasia (perf. 1931 at the Gloucester 3 Choirs Fest.), and the prelude and scherzo, Hammersmith, for orch. These works gave promise of a new, richer, and more lyrical phase, as did the Brook Green Suite and Lyric Movement of 1933. But in 1934, after an operation, Holst died in the plenitude of his powers. His mus., while owing something to folk-song influence and to the madrigalian tradition of Byrd and Weelkes, is intensely orig. and has a visionary quality similar to that found in Vaughan Williams but expressed with more austerity and greater natural technical facility. His Planets suite, now a popular orch. showpiece, is markedly eclectic, but its finest movements, Mars, Venus, Saturn, and Neptune, show varied aspects of Holst's style. His genius as a teacher and his feeling for the community spirit engendered by mus. also contributed to the outstanding part he played in Eng. mus.-making in the first 2 decades of the 20th-cent. Prin. works:

operas: Savitri, Op. 25 (1908); The Perfect Fool, Op. 39 (1918--22); At the Boar's Head, Op. 42 (1924); The Wandering Scholar, Op. 50 (1929--30).

ballet: The Lure (1921, ed. for orch. by I. Holst and C. Matthews, 1981).

orch: Suite de Ballet in Eb, Op. 10 (1899); A Somerset Rhapsody, Op. 21b (1906--7); 2 Songs Without Words, Op. 22 (1906); Beni Mora, Oriental Suite in E minor, Op. 29 No. 1 (1910, rev. 1912); Suite No. 1 in Eb, Op. 28a, for military band (1909), Suite No. 2 in F, Op. 28b (1911); Invocation, vc. and orch. (1911); St. Paul's Suite, Op. 29 No. 2, for str. (1912--13); Japanese Suite, Op. 33 (1915); Suite, The Planets, Op. 32 (1914--16); Ballet mus. from

The Perfect Fool, Op. 39 (1918); A Fugal Overture, Op. 40 No. 1 (1922); Fugal Concerto, Op. 40 No. 2, for fl., ob. (or 2 vn.), and str. (1932); Egdon Heath, Op. 47 (1927); A Moorside Suite, for brass band (1928); Conc. for 2 vn. and orch., Op. 49 (1929); Hammersmith, Op. 52, prelude and scherzo for military band and for orch. (1930--1); Capriccio, jazz-band piece (1932, ed. Imogen Holst 1967); Brook Green Suite for str. and optional woodwind (1933); Lyric Movement for va. and orch. (1933); Scherzo (from unfinished sym.) (1933--4).

choral: 5 Part-Songs Op. 9a (1899--1900); Ave Maria, Op. 9b, for female vv. (1900); 5 Part-Songs, Op. 12 (1902--3); King Estmere, Op. 17, Old English ballad for ch. and orch. (1903); The Mystic Trumpeter, Op. 18, scena for sop. and orch. (1904, rev. 1912); Songs from 'The Princess', Op. 20a, for female vv. (1905); 3 Choral Hymns from the Rig Veda, Op. 26 No. 1, for ch. and orch. (1908--10), Op. 26 No. 2 (3 Hymns) for female vv. and orch. (1909), Op. 26 No. 3 (4 Hymns) for female vv. and harp (1910), Op. 26 No. 4 (4 Hymns) for male vv. and orch. (1912); Hecuba's Lament, Op. 31 No. 1, for cont., female ch., and orch. (1911); The Cloud Messenger, Op. 30, ode for ch. and orch. (1910, rev. 1912); 2 Psalms for ch., str., and org. (1912); Hymn to Dionysus, Op. 31 No. 2, for female ch. and orch. (1913); Dirge for 2 Veterans, for male vv., brass, and perc. (1914); This have I done for my true love, Op. 34, for unacc. ch. (1916); 6 Choral Folksongs, Op. 36, for unacc. ch. (1916); 3 Festival Choruses, with orch. (1916); The Hymn of Jesus, Op. 37, for 2 ch., semi-ch., and orch. (1917); Ode to Death, Op. 38, for ch. and orch. (1919); I vow to thee, my country, unison song with orch. (to central melody from Jupiter, No. 4 of The Planets) (1921); First Choral Symphony, Op. 41, for sop., ch., and orch. (1923--4); 2 Motets, Op. 43, for unacc. ch. (1924--5); 7 Part-Songs, Op. 44, (to poems by Bridges) for female vv. and str. (1925--6)---No. 7 is Assemble, all ye maidens; The Golden Goose, Op. 45 No. 1, choral ballet with orch. (1926); The Morning of the Year, Op. 45 No. 2, choral ballet with orch. (1926--7); Choral Fantasia, Op. 51, for sop., ch., org., brass, and str. (1930); 12 Welsh Folksongs for unacc. ch. (1930--1); 6 Choruses, Op. 53 (to words trans. from Lat. by Helen Waddell) for male vv. and str. (or org., or pf.) (1931--2); 6 canons, (to words trans. from Lat. by H. Waddell) for equal unacc. vv. (1932).

solo songs: 4 Songs, Op. 4, for v. and pf. (1896--8); 6 songs, Op. 15, for bar. and pf. (1902--3); 6 Songs, Op. 16, for sop. and pf. (1903--4); 9 Hymns from the Rig Veda, Op. 24, for v. and pf. (1907--8); 4 Songs, Op. 35, for v. and vn. (1916--17); 12 Songs by Humbert Wolfe, Op. 48, for v. and pf. (1929); 2 Canons (to words trans. from Lat. by H. Waddell) for 2 equal vv. and pf. (1932).

chamber music: 6 Instrumental pieces (variously for 2 vn., vn. (or vc.), and pf.) (1902--3); wind quintet (1903); Terzetto for fl., ob., and va. (1925).

piano: 2 Pieces (1901); Toccata (1924); Chrissemas Day in the Morning, Op. 46 No. 1 (1926); 2 Folksong Fragments, Op. 46 No. 2 (1927); Nocturne (1930); Jig (1932).

Holst, Henry (b Copenhagen, 1899). Danish violinist. Studied Royal Danish Cons., Copenhagen, and later in Berlin with Willy Hess. Début Copenhagen 1919. Leader, Berlin P.O. 1923--31. Prof. of vn. RMCM 1931--46, 1950--3, RCM 1946--54, Royal Danish Cons. from 1953; guest prof. Tokyo 1961--3. Frequent conc. soloist. Gave f. Eng. p. of Walton conc. 1941.

Holst, Imogen (Clare) (b Richmond, Surrey, 1907; d Aldeburgh, 1984). Eng. cond., ed., and writer. Daughter of Gustav Holst. Educated St Paul's Girls' Sch. and RCM. Ed. several of her father's works and cond. them for recordings. Mus. dir., arts centre, Dartington Hall, 1943--51. Dir. of Aldeburgh Fest. and for several years mus. ass. to Britten. Author of biography and other books about Gustav Holst, also on Britten and Byrd. C.B.E. 1975.

Holy Boy, The. No. 3 of 4 Preludes for pf. by Ireland, comp. 1913--5. Orch. for str. 1941, for str. qt. 1941; arr. for org. (by Alec Rowley) 1919, for brass ens. (by R. E. Stepp) 1950, for v. and pf. (poem by Herbert S. Brown) 1938, for unacc. ch. 1941, for str. qt. 1941.

Holy Sonnets of John Donne. Setting of 9 Donne sonnets for high v. and pf. Op. 35, by Britten. Comp. 1945 after visit to Ger. concentration camps.

Holzbauer, Ignaz (b Vienna, 1711; d Mannheim, 1783). Austrian composer. Mus. dir. Vienna court th. 1745, court Kapellmeister, Stuttgart 1751, Mannheim 1753. Comp. about 40 syms., several operas, chamber works, and much church mus. Admired by Mozart. His opera Günther von Schwarzburg (1776) used recit. instead of spoken dialogue.

Holzblasinstrumente (Ger., `wood-blown instruments'). The woodwind.

Holzflöte (Ger.). `Wooden flute' (org. stop).

Holztrompete (Ger.). (1) Wooden tpt., or Alphorn; Swiss folk instr. for playing simple tunes. (2) Wooden instr. with bell of cor anglais, one valve, and cup mouthpiece invented to play shepherd's tune in Act 3 of Wagner's Tristan und Isolde (nevertheless, a cor anglais is usually employed for this passage).

Homage March. See Huldigungsmarsch.

Homage to the Queen. Ballet in 1 act, mus. by Malcolm Arnold, choreog. Ashton, prod. London 1953 on night of Queen Elizabeth II's Coronation.

Home, Sweet Home. Melody by Henry Bishop, comp. 1821 for album of nat. airs, described as `Sicilian'. In 1823, with words by J. H. Payne (1791--1852), incorporated in Bishop's opera Clari. Tune occurs, altered, in Donizetti's Anna Bolena, leading to action by Bishop for `piracy and breach of copyright'.

Homme Armé, L' (The Armed Man). Old Fr. folk-song used by Dufay, Palestrina, and more than 20 other composers in 15th, 16th, and 17th cents. as a cantus firmus in their Masses, which then became known by this title. Maxwell Davies, in the 20th cent., wrote Missa super 'L'HommeArmé' for speaker and ens. (1968).

Homophone. 2 harp str. tuned to produce the same note.

Homophony (Gk., `Same-sounding'). Term applied to mus. in which the parts or vv. move `in step' with one another, instead of exhibiting individual rhythmic independence and interest, as in Polyphony. Many modern hymn-tunes are homophonic, whereas Bach's settings of Ger. chorales and many Handelian choruses are polyphonic.

Honegger, Arthur (b Le Havre, 1892; d Paris, 1955). Swiss composer. Studied Zürich Cons. 1909--11, Paris Cons. 1911 (comp. with Widor, orchestration with d'Indy). Member of group of Fr. composers known as Les Six from 1920. His Le Roi David won him wider fame in 1921, but this was eclipsed in 1924 by f.p. of his representation of a locomotive in Pacific 231. From these works he moved nearer to a neo-romantic style with overtones of baroque influence from his admiration for Bach. His mus. remained tonal and often has strong emotional impact, as in his dramatic oratorio, based on a Claudel `mystery play', Jeanne d'Arc au bûcher. His syms. were championed by the cond. Charles Munch. He visited the USA several times and despite ill-health taught in his last years at the École Normale in Paris. Prin. works:

theatre: [fy75,1] Le Roi David, dramatic psalm (1921); Judith, biblical opera (1925); Antigone (1927); Amphion, ballet-melodrama, speaker, bar., 4 female vv., ch., orch. (1929); Jeanne d'Arc au bûcher, stage oratorio (1934--5); L'Aiglon, 5-act opera with Ibert (1935); Charles le téméraire (1943--4).

orch: Pastorale d'Été (1920); Chant de Joie (1923); Pacific 231 (1923); concertino forpf. and orch. (1924); Rugby (1928); vc. conc. (1929); Syms., No. 1 (1929--30), No. 2 for str. and tpt. (1941), No. 3 (Liturgique) (1945--6), No. 4 (Deliciae basiliensis) (1946), No. 5 (Di tre re) (1951); Mouvement symphonique No. 3 (1932--3); Nocturne (1936); La Construction d'une cité (with Milhaud) (1937); Concerto da camera for fl., cor anglais, and str. (1948); Monopartita (1951).

voice and orch: Chanson de Ronsard, with fl. and str. (1924); 3 Chansons populaires (1926).

choral: Cantique des Cantiques (1926); Les Cris du Monde (1930--1); La Danse des Morts (Claudel), solo vv., ch., orch. (1938); Chant de libération (1944); Une Cantate de Noël (1941/1953).

chamber music: Str. qts., No. 1 (1916--17), No. 2 (1936), No. 3 (1936--7); Sonatas for pf. and vn., No. 1 (1916--18), No. 2 (1919); va. sonata (1920); vc. sonata (1920); vn. sonatina (1932); vn. sonata (1940).

ballets: Les Mariés de la Tour Eiffel (with Les Six) (1921); L'appel de la montagne (1945). [q]Also incidental mus. for plays, mus. for films (incl. Mayerling, 1935, and Pygmalion, 1938), radio mus., many songs, and pf. pieces.

Hook, James (b Norwich, 1746; d Boulogne, 1827). Eng. composer and organist. Organist and composer Marylebone Gardens 1769--73, Vauxhall Gardens 1774--1820. Wrote oratorio, org, conc., pf. sonatas, cantatas, and over 2,000 songs, best-known being Sweet Lass of Richmond Hill.

Hopak. See Gopak.

Hope-Jones, Robert (b Hooton Grange, Cheshire, 1859; d Rochester, NY, 1914). Eng. org. builder. Started own business 1889. Settled in USA 1903, founded Hope-Jones Organ Co. 1907, selling patents and plant in 1910 to Wurlitzer. Invented several electrical and tonal devices.

Hopf, Hans (b Nuremberg, 1916). Ger. ten. Studied Munich with Paul Bender. Opera début 1936. Munich Opera 1949. CG 1951--3, 1963, NY Met. 1952--5. Sang at Bayreuth and Salzburg Fest.

Hopkins (orig. Reynolds), Antony (b London, 1921). Eng. composer, pianist, and educator. Studied RCM 1939--42. Mus. dir. Intimate Opera Co., 1952, writing several chamber operas for it. Composer of mus. for films, radio, and th. His series 'Talking About Music' has been regular and valuable contribution to educational radio for many years. Works incl. operas Lady Rohesia (1948), Three's Company (1954), ballet Café des Sports, and pf. mus. C.B.E. 1976.

Hopkins, Edward (John) (b Westminster, 1818; d London, 1901). Eng. organist and composer. Organist, Temple Church 1843--98. Wrote church mus. Authority on org. construction and, with Rimbault, author of The Organ, its History and Construction (1855 and subsequent edns.).

Hopkins, John (Raymond) (b Preston, 1927). Eng. conductor and administrator. Studied vc. at RCM 1943--6 and cond. at GSM 1947--8. Salzburg Mozarteum 1949. Apprentice cond. Yorkshire S.O. 1948--9, ass. cond. BBC Scottish Orch. 1949--52, cond. BBC Northern Orch. 1952--7. Went to N.Z. 1957 as cond. Nat. Orch. In 1963 became dir. of mus. Australian Broadcasting Commission until 1973 when he was appointed dean of Sch. of Mus., Victoria Coll. of Arts, Melbourne. O.B.E. 1970.

Hopkinson, Francis (b Philadelphia, 1737; d Philadelphia, 1791). Amer. composer, harpsichordist, poet, and politician (one of signatories of Declaration of Independence, 1776). Wrote 1st surviving piece of mus. by an American, the song My days have been so wondrous free (1759). Hpd. pieces, pub. 1788, dedicated to George Washington.

Hoquet. Same as Hocket.

Horenstein, Jascha (b Kiev, 1898; d London, 1973). Russ.-born cond. Studied in Vienna; pupil of F. Busch and F. Schreker. Cond. Vienna S.O. 1923, then worked in Berlin and at Düsseldorf Opera from 1929. After 1933 worked in Fr., Russ., Poland, and Belg. Amer. début 1940. Frequent guest cond. of Brit. orchs. CG début 1961 (Fidelio). Fine interpreter of Mahler and Bruckner.

Horizon Chimérique, L' (The Fanciful Horizon). Song-cycle of 4 songs by Fauré, Op. 118, to poems by J. de la Ville de Mirmont, comp. 1921, f.p. 1922.

Horn. (1) See Horn Family. (2) Org. stop like Trumpet but fuller and smoother in tone.

Horn, Charles Edward (b London, 1786; d Boston, Mass., 1849). Eng. composer and singer, son of Karl F. Horn. Actor-singer in London from 1809. Settled in USA 1833, producing ballad-operas in NY. Returned to Eng. 1843, but settled finally in Boston from 1847. Comp. oratorios, operettas, and songs incl. Cherry Ripe.

Horn diapason. 8' org. stop of str.-like tone ('Horn' being a misnomer).

Horn Family. Brass instr. The modern hn. is an intricately coiled tube of over 11'; it is of 'FB' bore at one end but widens gradually until it terminates in a large bell of 11"--14" diameter: the mouth-piece is funnel-shaped. All these details differentiate it from the trumpet. The principle on which the notes are obtained is that of all brass instr. There are 2 main forms of the hn.: the Natural Horn and the Valve Horn. The Natural Horn is restricted, at any given moment, to one pitch of the harmonic series; the Valve Horn can at will be switched from the harmonic series at one pitch to that of another, so making any note of the chromatic scale instantaneously available. Its technique is more difficult to acquire than that of any other instr. in the orch. The basset-horn and cor anglais are not horns but reed instruments. See French horn.

Horn, Karl Friedrich (b Nordhausen, 1762; d Windsor, 1830). Ger. organist and composer. Settled in London 1782. Mus.-master to Queen Charlotte 1789--83, to Princess Augusta 1793--1811. Organist St George's Chapel, Windsor, from 1823. Comp. pf. sonatas. Ed., with Samuel Wesley, of Bach's Wohltemperierte Klavier (1810--13). Author of treatise on thoroughbass.

Horne, Marilyn (b Bradford, Penn., 1934). Amer. mez. Studied Univ. of S. California. Dubbed singing v. (for Dorothy Dandridge) in film of Carmen Jones, 1954. Opera début as Hatain in The Bartered Bride, Los Angeles 1954. Member of Gelsenkirchen opera co. 1956--60. Sang Marie in Berg's Wozzeck, San Francisco 1960; NY début 1962 in Beatrice di Tenda. NY Met. début 1970 (Adalgisa in Norma). CG 1965 (Wozzeck). Appeared in series of 19th cent. belcanto operas in partnership with Joan Sutherland, beginning in NY in 1961 in Beatrice di Tenda (concert perf.) and incl. Semiramide and Les Huguenots. Repertory extends from Handel to Wagner.

Hornpipe. The word has 2 meanings: (1) An obsolete instr., consisting of a wooden pipe with a reed mouthpiece (a single 'beating' reed), and, at the other end, a hn. as 'bell'. Common in the Celtic parts of Brit. (2) A dance once popular in the Brit. Isles only, to which that instr. was orig. the usual acc. Properly a solo dance; earlier examples of the mus. are in simple triple time, but by the end of the 18th cent. this had changed to simple duple. This dance was later chiefly kept up by sailors. Purcell, Handel, and others wrote hornpipes.

Horn Signal. Nickname for Haydn's Sym. in D major, 1765, No. 31 in Breitkopf edn. (Hob. I: 31). So called because of calls written for 4 horns in slow movement.

Horoscope. Ballet in 1 act, lib. and mus. by Constant Lambert, choreog. Ashton. Comp. 1937. Prod. London 1938. Orch. suite.

Horovitz, Joseph (b Vienna, 1926). Austrian-born composer, cond., and teacher. Settled in Eng. in 1938. Educated Oxford and RCM. Ass. dir. Intimate Opera Co. 1952--63, ass. cond. Glyndebourne 1956, prof. of comp., RCM from 1961. Composer of two 1-act operas, 11 ballets, vn. conc., tpt. conc., chamber mus. Arr. of witty parodies for Gerard Hoffnung's mus. fests. in London.

Horowitz, Vladimir (b Kiev, 1904). Russ.-born pianist (Amer. cit. 1944). Studied Kiev Cons. until 1921. Début Kharkov 1921, followed by study with Felix Blumenfeld. Toured Europe. Amer. début 1928. London début 1928. Settled in US, marrying Toscanini's daughter. Career as int. virtuoso of highest rank interrupted by illness 1936--39. From 1953 played only for recordings. Returned to concert-platform, NY 1965.

Horsley, Colin (b Wanganui, N.Z., 1920). New Zealand pianist. Studied RCM. Début Manchester with Hallé Orch. 1943. Gave f.p. of L. Berkeley's pf. conc. 1948. Taught at RAM and RMCM. Frequent tours. O.B.E. 1963.

Horst, Louis (b Kansas City, 1874; d NY, 1964). Amer. pianist, cond., composer, and teacher. Closely assoc. with modern US dance. Cond. for Denishawn Co. 1915--26, mus. dir. for Martha Graham 1926--48. Teacher of dance comp. in NY 1928--64. Scores for Graham incl. Frontier and Celebration.

Horszowski, Mieczyslaw (b Lwów, 1892). Polish-born pianist (Amer. citizen 1948). Studied with Leschetizky in Vienna. Début Warsaw 1901. Toured Europe, frequently partnering the cellist Casals. Settled NY 1940. On staff Curtis Institute from 1942. Played at Aldeburgh Fest. 1984.

Horton, John (William) (b Nottingham, 1905). Eng. author, organist, and teacher. Studied Durham Univ. Worked for BBC 1937--47; sch. mus. inspector 1947--67. Author of books on Grieg, Brahms, Mendelssohn, and César Franck.

Hotter, Hans (b Offenbach-am-Main, 1909). Austrian bass-bar. Began as organist and choirmaster, turned to opera. Début Opava 1929. Sang in Prague 1932--4 and Hamburg 1934--7, then joined Vienna and Munich Operas. CG début 1947, NY Met. 1950--4. Bayreuth Fest. from 1952. Outstanding Wotan in Wagner's Ring; created Strauss roles of Commandant in Friedenstag and Olivier in Capriccio. Sang Jupiter in unofficial Salzburg f.p. of Strauss's Die Liebe der Danae, 1944. Prod. Ringat CG 1962--4. Sang his last Wotan in Paris, 1972.

Hotteterre, Jacques (-Martin) ('le Romain') (b Paris, 1674; d Paris, 1763). Fr. flautist, bassoonist, and instr. maker, best known of Fr. family of woodwind instr. makers, composers, and performers active in 17th and 18th cents. Called himself 'le Romain' probably because of visit to It. in his youth. By 1708 was bassoonist in Grands Hautbois and flautist in 'chamber of the king'. Much sought-after as teacher. The flutes he made are magnificent instrs. Wrote Principes de la flûte traversière (1707, Eng. trans. 1968), L'art de préluder sur la flûte traversière (1719), and Méthode pour la musette (1737). Pubd. 2 books of suites for fl. and bass (1708, 1715).

Housatonic at Stockbridge, The. 3rd movement of Ives's Three Places in New England for orch., sometimes played separately.

House of the Dead, From The (Z Mrtvého Domu). Opera in 3 acts by Janáček to his own lib. based on Dostoyevsky's novel (1862) about his experiences in prison. Comp. 1927--8. Prod. Brno 1930, Edinburgh 1964, London 1965. Part of orch. prelude was taken by Janáček from unfinished vn. conc. (1927--8) to be called Pilgrimage of the Soul (Putování dusky). Problem arises over final 17 bars of this opera inserted by O. Zitek, B. Bakala, and O. Chlubna at the f.p. (1930) which is choral and optimistic; Janáček's orig. ending was more realistic, with an orch. epilogue of 27 bars, and this has been restored in perfs. cond. by Mackerras and Armstrong.

Houston Symphony Orchestra. Founded in Houston, Texas, 1913 with Julian Paul Blitz as cond., succeeded 1916 by Paul Berge until 1917. Reorganized 1930, with Frank St Leger as cond. 1931--5, Ernst Hoffmann 1936--47. Hoffmann increased size and standards of orch. Cond. after him were Efrem Kurtz 1948--54, Beecham 1954--5, Stokowski 1955--60, Barbirolli 1961--7, Previn 1967--9, Foster 1971--8, Comissiona art. adv. 1980, cond. from 1984.

Hovhaness, Alan (b Somerville, Mass., 1911). Amer. composer, cond., and organist of Armenian and Scot. descent. Studied New England Cons. and at Tanglewood with Martin Anu. Worked in Boston 1940--7, taught at Boston Cons. 1948--52, then settled in NY. Prolific composer, deeply interested in Eastern mus. style, which embraces aleatory procedures as in Lousadzak (Coming of Light) 1944, combines Western elements with modal harmony, Eastern rhythms, and the exotica of Chinese and Balinese instrs. Works incl. 52 syms., operas, Mysterious Mountain for orch., Fantasy on Japanese Woodprints for xylophone and orch. (1965), And God Created Great Whales (1970) for humpbacked whale solo (on tape) and orch., choralworks, chamber mus., etc.

Howard, Ann (b Norwood, 1936). Eng. mez. Studied in London and Paris. Opera début London 1964 in Zigeunerbaron. Leading roles with ENO, CG, Scottish and Welsh Opera, and in Canada and USA. Specialities Carmen, Fricka, Azucena, and Hélène (Offenbach).

Howard, Leslie (John) (b Melbourne, Victoria, 1948). Australian pianist and composer. Studied in Australia, It., and London. Début Melbourne 1967, London 1975. On teaching staff Monash Univ. 1970--3. Notable Liszt exponent. Composer of opera, hn. sonata, etc.

Howarth, Elgar (b Cannock, Staffs., 1935). Eng. conductor, composer, and trumpeter. Studied at Manchester Univ. and RMCM. Trumpeter in Vesuvius Ens. and Philip Jones Brass Ens. Prin. tpt., RPO 1963--8. Guest cond. London Sinfonietta from 1969, dir. from 1973. Cond. f.p. of Ligeti's La grand macabre, Stockholm 1978, and London première, ENO 1982. Has often cond. and comp. for brass band.

Howell, Dorothy (b Handsworth, 1898; d Worcester, 1982). Eng. composer and pianist. Studied RAM under McEwen and Matthay. Prof. of harmony and comp. RAM 1924--70. Comp. incl. symphonic poem, pf. conc. (1923), ballet, chambermus., and songs.

Howell, Gwynne (Richard) (b Gorseinon, 1938). Welsh bass. Studied RMCM (part-time) from 1963. Joined SW Opera 1968, début as Monterone in Rigoletto. CG début 1970 (Salomé). Sang in f.p. of Maxwell Davies's Taverner, 1972. Fine singer in oratorio and concert repertoire.

Howells, Anne (Elizabeth) (b Southport, 1941). Eng. mez. Studied RMCM where in 1963 she sang Eros in f. Eng. p. of Gluck's Paride ed Elena. Glyndebourne ch. 1964--7. Début CG as Florain La Traviata 1967. Amer. début 1972 (Chicago). NY Met. 1975. Leading roles at CG, ENO, Scottish Opera, WNO, Milan, Wexford, Chicago, etc.

Howells, Herbert (Norman) (b Lydney, Glos., 1892; d London, 1983). Eng. composer, organist, and teacher. Studied with Brewer at Gloucester 1905--11, RCM 1912--16 (comp. with Stanford). Mass in Dorian Mode perf. Westminster Cath. 1912. Sub-organist, Salisbury Cath., 1917. Several comp. perf. at 3 Choirs Fests. in 1920s. Succeeded Holst as dir. of mus., St Paul's Girls' Sch., 1936--62, prof. of mus., London Univ., 1954--64. On staff RCM from 1920. Frequent adjudication at mus. fests. Organist, St John's Coll., Cambridge, 1941--5. His work, influenced by Elgar and Vaughan Williams, has strong individuality, at its finest in the Missa Sabrinensis and at its most eloquent in the Hymnus Paradisi, where some affinity with the choralwriting of Delius may be detected. One of few 20th cent. composers to write for clavichord. The pieces in his two major works for it are musical portraits of friends, incl. Herbert Lambert, Thomas Goff, Vaughan Williams, Finzi, etc. C.B.E. 1954, C.H. 1972. Prin. works:

orch: Merry-Eye and Puck's Minuet (1917--20); Procession (1922); Pastoral Rhapsody (1923); pf. conc. (1924); Elegy for Strings (1937); vc. conc. (1937); Concerto for Strings (1938); Pageantry Suite (brass band, 1934); Music for a Prince (1948).

choral: Sir Patrick Spens, ch., orch. (1918); 3 Carol-Anthems, ch. (1918--20; No. 2 is A Spotless Rose); A Kent Yeoman's Wooing Song for 2 soloists, ch., and orch. (1933); Requiem, unacc. ch. (1936); Hymnus Paradisi for sop., ten., ch., and orch. (1938, f.p. 1950); Missa Sabrinensis, for sop., cont., ten., bar., double ch., and orch. (1953); Inheritance (1953, in Garland for the Queen); St. Paul's Service (1954); An English Mass (1956); Take him, earth, for cherishing (motet on the death of Pres. Kennedy) (1964); The Coventry Mass, ch. and org. (1964).

voice and acc: 4 French Chansons, v. and pf. (1918); In Green Ways, v. and pf. (1915, rev. with orch. 1928); King David, v. and pf. (1921); Sine Nomine, soloists, organ, and orch. (1922).

chamber music: Pf. Qt. in A minor (1916); Phantasy Quartet (1917); Rhapsodic Quintet, cl. and str. (1919); In Gloucestershire (str. qt.) (1924); cl. sonata (1946).

organ: 3 Rhapsodies (1917); 2 organ sonatas, De Profundis (1960); Fugue, Chorale, and Epilogue; Sarabande for the Morning of Easter.

clavichord: Lambert's Clavichord, 12 pieces (1926--7); Howells's Clavichord, 20 pieces (1955--61). ^Also about 65 songs incl. several settings of De la Mare, of which King David (1921) is a favourite.

Howes, Frank (Stewart) (b Oxford, 1891; d Oxford, 1974). Eng. mus. critic. Educated St John's Coll., Oxford. Staff mus. critic for The Times 1925--60 (chief critic from 1943). Chairman, Eng. Folk Dance and Song Soc. 1938--45 and ed. of its journal 1927--46. Author of books on Vaughan Williams, Walton, Eng. mus. renaissance, and aesthetics. Lecturer at RCM. C.B.E. 1954.

Hrotta. Another name for the Crwth.

Hubay, Jenö (b Budapest, 1858; d Budapest, 1937). Hung. violinist, composer, and cond. Studied with his father Karl Hubay (1828--85), composer, cond., and vn. teacher. Public début at 11; entered Berlin Hochschule 1871, studying for 5 years with Joachim. Paris début 1878. Prof. of vn., Brussels Cons. 1882--6, Pest Cons. 1886--1919, dir. Budapest Acad. 1919--34. Led str. qt. Pupils incl. Szigeti, Telmányi, and Jelly d'Arányi. Comp. 8 operas, incl. Der Geigenmacher von Cremona (1893) and Anna Karenina (1915), 4 syms., incl. Dante Symphony (ch.), 4 vn. concs., chamber mus., etc.

Huber, Hans (b Eppenburg, 1852; d Locarno, 1921). Swiss composer. Studied Leipzig Cons. 1870--4. Taught Basle Mus. Sch. 1889--1918 (dir. from 1896). Wrote 9 syms. (incl. William Tell and Böcklin), 4 pf. concs., vn. conc., 2 pf. quintets, 5 pf. trios, 9 vn. sonatas, 5 operas, oratorio, cantatas, etc.

Huber, Klaus (b Berne, 1924). Swiss composer and violinist. Studied Zürich Cons. 1947--9, then privately with Willy Burkhard and (1955--6) with Blacher. Taught vn. Zürich Cons. 1950--60, harmony at Basle Cons. from 1961. Comps. incl. Turnus, for orch. and tape (1974), Litania instrumentalis for orch., Tenebrae for orch., Moteti cantiones for str. qt., Noctes intelligibilis lucis for ob. and hpd. (1961), Tempora, conc. for vn. and orch., Psalm of Christ, bar. and ens., Invention and Chorale, orch., Jot oder Wann kommt der Herr Zurück, opera, and several other chamberworks.

Huberman, Bronislaw (b Czestochowa, 1882; d Nant-sur-Cosier, 1947). Polish violinist. Pupil of Michalowicz and C. Grigorovich. Début in Vienna aged 10; played Brahms conc. in composer's presence at 14; London début 1894. Int. career, based on Vienna until 1936. Founded Palestine (now Israel) S.O. 1936.

Hucbald (b c.840; d Saint-Amand, Tournai, 930). Fr. monk, remembered for his treatise De harmonica institutione (? c.880) which describes the gamut and themodes.

Huddersfield Choral Society. Amateur choir founded in Huddersfield, Yorkshire, in 1836. Regular concerts given since 1881. During 1930s had 400 members, but has since been reduced to 230. Has sung at most Brit. fests. and made many recordings. Its Messiah perf. is renowned. First overseas tour to Netherlands, 1928. Vienna Mus. Fest. 1958, Boston, Mass. 1965. Has also visited Berlin, Brussels, and Lisbon. At one time had its own orch. but now sings with independent orchs. Sir Henry Coward and Sir Malcolm Sargent were conductors for over 30 years each. Other cond. have incl. John Pritchard (1973--80) and Owain Arwel Hughes. Its chorus-masters have incl. Herbert Bardgett, Eric Chadwick, and Douglas Robinson. For centenary in 1936 Vaughan Williams wrote Dona Nobis Pacem.

Hughes, Arwel (b Rhosllanerchrugog, 1909). Welsh composer and cond. Studied RCM with Vaughan Williams. On staff BBC in Wales from 1935 (head of music, BBC Wales 1965--71). Cond. BBC Welsh Orch. 1950. Comp. opera Menna (1950--1), suite for orch., 3 str. qts., oratorio, etc. O.B.E. 1969.

Hughes, Herbert (b Belfast, 1882; d Brighton, 1937). Irish composer and critic. Studied RCM. Collected and arr. many Irish folk-songs. Mus. critic, Daily Telegraph, 1911--32.

Hughes, Owain Arwel (b Cardiff, 1942). Welsh cond., son of Arwel Hughes. Studied Univ. Coll., Cardiff, and RCM (under Boult and Harvey Philips). Professional career began 1968. Studied with Haitink in Amsterdam and Kempe in London. Guest cond., WNO and ENO. Mus. dir., Royal Nat. Eisteddfod of Wales, 1977.

Hughes, Spike (Patrick Cairns) (b London, 1908). Eng. writer, composer, and broadcaster, son of Herbert Hughes. Studied in Vienna with Wellesz 1923--5. For a time led jazz band. Mus. critic Daily Herald 1933--6. Jazz critic of The Times 1957--67. Comps. incl. light music, film scores, etc. His Cinderella (1938) was first opera specially comp. for television. Author of books on operas of Mozart, Puccini, and Verdi, history of Glyndebourne Opera (1965, rev. 1981), and 2 vols. of entertaining autobiography.

Hugh the Drover, or Love in the Stocks. Opera in 2 acts by Vaughan Williams to lib. by Harold Child. Comp. 1910--14, rev. 1924 and 1956. Prod. London 1924, Washington 1928.

Huguenots, Les. Opera in 5 acts by Meyerbeer to lib. by Scribe and Deschamps. Prod. Paris 1836, New Orleans 1839, London 1842.

Huldigungsmarsch (Ger., 'Homage March'). (1) By Wagner, 1864, in honour of his patron, King Ludwig II of Bavaria. Orig. for military band. Orch. version, partly scored by Raff, f.p. at laying of foundationstone at Bayreuth, 1872. (2) By Liszt, in honour of Grand Duke of Saxe-Weimar. For pf., 1853, scored by Raff 1853; rev. and re-scored by Liszt 1857. (3) By Grieg, Op. 56, No. 3, in the Sigurd Jorsalfar mus., also known as 'Triumphal March'.

Hull, (Sir) Percy (Clarke) (b Hereford, 1878; d Farnham, 1968). Eng. organist and cond. Ass. organist to Sinclair at Hereford Cath., 1896--1914; organist, 1919--49; cond. 3 Choirs Fests. Knighted 1947.

Hullah, John Pyke (b Worcester, 1812; d London, 1884). Eng. composer, organist, and educator. Propagator from 1840 of Wilhem's fixed-doh method of sight-singing. Prof. of vocal mus., Queen's Coll. and Bedford Coll., London, 1844--74, Inspector of Training Schools UK from 1872. Comp. operas (1 to lib. by Dickens), church mus., part-songs, and songs.

Hume, Tobias (b ?c.1569; d London, 1645). Eng. composer and army officer. His First Part of Ayres for lyra-viol was pub. 1605, with fanciful titles such as 'Tickle me quickly' and the instruction, thought to be the first recorded use of col legno, to 'drum this with the back of the bow'. In 1607 his Captaine Humes Poeticall Musicke constituted the largest pubd. repertory of solo lyra-viol music to that date.

Humfrey (Humphrey), Pelham (b London, 1647; d Windsor, 1674). Eng. composer. Chorister of Chapel Royal 1660--4, then studied with Lully in Paris. Gentleman of Chapel Royal 1667, Master of the Children 1672. Taught Purcell. Comp. incidental mus. to Shakespeare's The Tempest, sacred and secular songs, anthems, and other church mus.

Hummel, Johann Nepomuk (b Pozsony, 1778; d Weimar, 1837). Austrian pianist and composer. Lived and studied pf. with Mozart 1785--7. Début Vienna 1787 at Mozart concert. Toured Holland and Britain studying in London with Clementi. In Vienna, 1793, studied comp. with Albrechtsberger and Salieri. Kapellmeister to Prince Esterházy 1804--11. Kapellmeister at Stuttgart 1816--18, then at Weimar 1819--37. Toured extensively, conducting the Ger. Opera in London, 1833. Pubd. pf. sch. 1828. Comp. numerous works incl. pf. concs. and sonatas, bn. conc., mandolin conc., operas, oratorios, and much chamber mus. Mus. has melodic grace and abundant craftsmanship. Pf. writing influenced Chopin. His relationship with Beethoven fluctuated but they were reconciled at Beethoven's death-bed. Was pall-bearer at Beethoven's funeral and played at his memorial concert. Schubert dedicated his last 3 pf. sonatas to him (but publisher altered the dedications after Schubert's death).

Humoresque (Fr.), Humoreske (Ger.). Title given by some composers to a lively and capricious (sometimes a little sad) instr. comp. Famous examples are by Dvořák (particularly No. 7 of his 8 Humoresques for pf., Op. 101, 1894), and Schumann, for pf., Op. 20, 1839. Mahler orig. conceived his 4th Sym. as a 'symphonic Humoresque'.

Humperdinck, Engelbert (b Siegburg, 1854; d Neustrelitz, 1921). Ger. composer. Studied Cologne Cons. 1872--6 under F. Hiller and later at Munich. Met Wagner in It. 1879 and was invited to assist in preparation for prod. of Parsifal at Bayreuth. Taught theory, Barcelona Cons., 1885--6. Prof. of harmony, Hoch Cons., Frankfurt, 1890--6, also acting as mus. critic for Frankfurter Zeitung. His opera Hänsel und Gretel, which effectively uses a Wagnerian idiom for a fairytale, was a success at Weimar, 1893, and subsequently elsewhere ever since. His other operas failed to emulate its success. Dir., Berlin Akademische Meisterschule for comp. from 1900. Prin. works:

operas: Hänsel und Gretel (1893); Dornröschen (1902); Die Heirat wider Willen (1905); Königskinder (1910); Die Marketenderin (1914); Gaudeamus (1919).

incidental music: Merchant of Venice (1905); The Winter's Tale and The Tempest (1906); As You Like it (1907); Lysistrata (1908); The Miracle (1911); The Blue Bird (1912).

songs: Kinderlieder.

Humphrey, Pelham. See Humfrey, Pelham.

Hungarian Dances (Ungarische Tänze). 21 pf. duets by Brahms pubd. in 4 vols. between 1852 and 1869. 3 were orch. by him, and he arr. some for pf. solo (Nos. 1--10).

Hungarian Rhapsodies. 19 comps. for pf. by Liszt, comp. 1846--85. Of these 12 were orch., some by Franz Döppler. The Hungarian Fantasia for pf. and orch. is based on No. 14. There are discrepancies between the numbering of pf. and orch. versions.

Hunnenschlacht (Battle of the Huns). 11th of Liszt's 12 symphonic poems. Comp. 1856--7, f.p. Weimar 1858. Inspired by Kaulbach's mural of legend of battle in the air between ghosts of slain Huns and Romans after Battle of Chalons in 451.

Hunt, Donald (Frederick) (b Gloucester, 1930). Eng. cond., organist, and composer. Studied RCO and RCM and with Herbert Sumsion. Ass. organist Gloucester Cath. 1948--54, dir. of mus. Leeds Parish Church 1957--74, organist Worcester Cath. from 1975. Composer of church mus., org. sonata, carols, etc.

Hunt Quartet. Nickname for Mozart's Str. Qt. No. 17 in Bb (K458, 1784), ded. to Haydn, and so called because of the 1st subject of 1st movement.

Hunt, The (Haydn). See Chasse, La.

Hunt, Thomas (fl. early 17th cent.). Eng. composer of churchmus., etc. Contributed madrigal Hark, did you ever hear so sweet a singing? to The Triumphs of Oriana (1601).

Hunter, Rita (b Wallasey, 1933). Eng. sop. Joined SW ch. 1954. Studied with Clive Carey, Eva Turner, and Redvers Llewellyn. CG début (3rd Norn) 1963. Prin. sop. SW from 1965. Prin. sop., ENO, the Brünnhilde of their Eng. Ring cycle, 1970. NY Met. début 1972 (Brünnhilde in Die Walküre). C.B.E. 1980.

Hüpfend (Ger., 'hopping'). In str. playing, 'with springing bow', i.e. spiccato.

Hurd, Michael (John) (b Gloucester, 1928). Eng. composer, cond., author, and teacher. Studied Oxford. Comps. incl. operas, cantatas, church mus., chamber mus., songs. Books on Britten, Elgar, Vaughan Williams, Gurney, opera, sea shanties, soldiers' songs; author of The Oxford Junior Companion to Music (1979).

Hurdy-gurdy (organistrum, symphonia, chifonie, organica lyra, vielle à roue 'wheel fiddle'). A portable medieval str. instr., shaped like a viol, dating (in Europe) from early 12th cent. 1st str. instr. to which kbd. principle was applied. The instr. is hung round the player's neck or strapped to the body at an angle whichlets the keys fall back under their own weight. Bowing action replaced by wheel cranked by a handle. Outer rim of wheel, coated with resin, makes all str. resonate at once, providing a continuous drone like a bagpipe. Fingering is also mechanized, the same str. being stopped at different points to produce required scale. Orig. required 2 players, but during 13th cent. improvements enabled solo perf., thus transforming its use from a cumbersome instr. to one capable of providing dance mus. By 14th cent. there were 6 str. and a kbd. compass of 2 chromatic octaves. Application of the term to any instr. worked by turn of a handle, e.g. barrel-org., streetpf., is incorrect. See Lira organizzata. Hurford, Peter (John) (b Minehead, 1930). Eng. organist and composer. Studied RCM and Cambridge Univ. 1948--52. Début, London (Festival Hall) 1957. Master of the Mus., St Albans, from 1958. Comps. incl. church mus. and org. suites. O.B.E. 1984.

Hurlstone, William (Yeates) (b London, 1876; d London, 1906). Eng. composer and pianist. Studied RCM 1894--8 with Stanford (comp.) and Dannreuther (pf.). Soloist in own pf. conc., London, 1896. Wrote much chamber mus., ballad Alfred the Great, and Fantasie-Variations on a Swedish Air (1903) for orch. Prof. of counterpoint RCM, from 1905.

Hurst, George (b Edinburgh, 1926). Eng. cond. of Romanian and Russ. parentage. Studied pf. with J. Isserlis, then entered Royal Cons., Toronto. Studied cond. with Monteux. Cond., York S.O. Penn., 1950--55, London début 1953 (with LPO); ass. cond., LPO 1955--7. Prin. cond., BBC Northern S.O. 1958--68; Bournemouth S.O. 1969--71; art. adviser and cond. Bournemouth Sinfonietta to 1978, then free-lance.

Hurtig (Ger.). Allegro, i.e. nimble, quick.

Hurwitz, Emanuel (b London, 1919). Eng. violinist and cond. Studied RAM. Leader, Aeolian Str. Qt. from 1970. Leader, Melos Ens. 1956--72, ECO 1947--69, New Philharmonia Orch. 1969--71. Cond. N.W. Youth Chamber Orch. from 1976. Frequent player in various chamber ens. C.B.E. 1978.

Husa, Karel (b Prague, 1921). Amer. composer and cond. of Cz. birth. Studied Prague Cons. 1941--5 and in Paris 1946--51 with Boulangérand Honegger (comp.) and Cluytens and Fournet (cond.). Cond. of various orchs. in Prague and Paris. Ass. prof. Cornell Univ. Mus. Dept. 1954--61, prof. from 1961. Comps. incl.:

orch: 3 Frescoes (1947); pf. concerto (1949); Sym. No. 1 (1953); Portrait for str. (1953); 4 Easy Pieces for str. (1955); Fantasies (1956); Poem for va. and orch. (1959); Mosaïques; Elegy and Rondo for alto sax. and orch. (1961); Serenade for wind quintet and str. (1963); Conc. for brass quintet and str. (1965); Music for percussion (1966); Conc. for alto sax. and band (1967); Music for Prague (1968); The Steadfast Tin Soldier, speaker, orch. (1974).
chamber music: Str. Qts. No. 1 (1948), No. 2 (1953), No. 3 (1968); vn. sonatina (1945); Evocations of Slovakia for cl., va., and vn. (1951); wind trio (1966); pf. sonata (1949); vn. sonata (1972--3).

Hüsch, Gerhard (b Hanover, 1901; d Munich, 1984). Ger. bar. Début Osnabrück 1923. Sang in opera in Bremen 1924--7, Cologne 1927--30, and Berlin 1930--42. Début CG 1930. Particularly noted for Lieder singing.

Hutchings, Arthur (James Bramwell) (b Sunbury-on-Thames, 1906). Eng. teacher, author, and composer. Prof. of mus. Durham Univ. 1947--68, Exeter Univ. 1968--71. Author of books on Schubert, Delius, Mozart's pf. concs., and church mus. Contrib. to many reference books.

Hüttenbrenner, Anselm (b Graz, 1794; d Ober-Andritz, 1868). Austrian composer. Studied in Vienna with Salieri. Acquainted with Beethoven and Schubert.

Huygens, Constantijn (b The Hague, 1596; d The Hague, 1687). Dutch composer and perf. on a variety of instr., incl. viol, lute, org., theorbo, and guitar. Visited London 1618 and twice thereafter. Comp. nearly 900 instr. and vocal pieces.

Hyde, Walter (b Birmingham, 1875; d London, 1951). Eng. ten. Studied RAM with G. Garcia. Sang Siegmund in Richter's Eng. Ring, CG 1908. Sang regularly at CG 1908--32, with Beecham Co. and later with BNOC. First Eng. Sali in Delius's A Village Romeo and Juliet.

Hydraulis. Ancient instr., also known as water org., said to have been invented by Gr. Ktesibios c.

250 bc Resembled small modern org. Kbd. operated by series of levers, each with a return mechanism, pressed down by fingers to obtain required notes. Water was used to stabilize wind pressure. In 4th cent.

ad hydraulic mechanism was replaced by bellows, enabling much louder tone. See also Organ.

Hymn. Song of praise to the deity or a saint. Particularly assoc. with Anglican church where words and melodies of hymns are especially popular for congregational singing. Books of hymns and hymn-tunes of special significance are Hymns Ancient and Modern (1861 and many subsequent edns.), The Yattendon Hymnal (Bridges, 1899), The English Hymnal (1906, rev. 1933, mus. ed. Vaughan Williams, in which some folk tunes were adapted as hymn-tunes), and Songs of Praise (1925, rev. 1931, mus. ed. Vaughan Williams and Martin Shaw). In Eng. hymn-books, tunes are given an identifying title such as a Latin translation, or the name of a town or village, e.g. Down Ampney (Vaughan Williams's birthplace) is title of his Come down, O love divine.

Hymnen (Anthems). Comp. by Stockhausen which exists in 3 versions, incl. one for elec. instr. and musique concrète, and one with added soloists, (both 1966--7). A shorter version with orch. was made in 1969. The anthems are nat. anthems.

Hymn of Jesus, The. Work for 2 ch., women's semi-ch., and orch., Op. 37, by Holst to words trans. by Holst from the apocryphal Acts of St John. Comp. 1917. F.p. London 1920, cond. Holst.

Hymns from the Rig Veda. 23 settings by Holst of his trans. of words from the Sanskrit. There are 5 sets: 9 Hymns for solo v. and pf., Op. 24, 1907--8; 3 Choral Hymns, Group I, for ch. and orch., Op. 26, 1908; 3 Choral Hymns, Group II, for women's vv. and orch., Op. 26, 1909; 4 Choral Hymns, Group III, for women's vv. and harp, Op. 26, 1909--10; 4 Choral Hymns, Group IV, for men's vv., str., and brass, Op. 26, 1912.

Hymn to St Cecilia. Setting of text by W. H. Auden for unacc. 5-part ch. by Britten, Op. 27. Comp. 1942. F.p. London 1942.

Hymn to St Magnus. Work by Maxwell Davies for sop. and chamber ens. F.p. London 1972, cond. composer.

Hymnus Amoris (Hymn of Love). Cantata, Op. 12, by Nielsen, comp. 1896 to Danish text by A. Olrik, Latin text by J. L. Heiberg, for sop., ten., bar., and bass soloists, children's ch., mixed ch., male ch., and orch. F.p. Copenhagen 1897, cond. Nielsen; f. Eng. p. Birmingham 1959.

Hymnus Paradisi (Hymn of Paradise). Requiem by Howells for sop. and ten. soloists, ch., and orch. to texts selected by him from Latin Mass for the Dead, Psalm 23, Psalm 121, the Burial Service, and the Salisbury Diurnal (trans. G. H. Palmer). Comp. 1938 in memory of his son, but not released for perf. until 1950 (Gloucester Fest.). Some of the themes in Hymnus Paradisi were first employed in Howells's Requiem for unacc. ch., comp. in 1936. The Requiem was reassembled from MS. and perf. in 1980.

I

I (It.). The (masc. plural).

Ibéria. No. 2 of Debussy's Images for orch. Comp. 1905--8, f.p. 1910, Paris. In 3 sections: 1. Par les Rues et par les chemins (By highways and byways); 2. Les Parfums de la nuit (Night Scents); 3. Le Matin d'un jour de fête (Morning of festival day). This evocation of Sp. was written by a composer who went to Sp. for one day in his life---to see a bullfight.

Iberia. 4 books (1906--09) containing 12 pf. pieces by Albéniz, several being orch. by Arbós.

Ibert, Jacques (Fran; Alcois Antoine) (b Paris, 1890; d Paris, 1962). Fr. composer. Studied Paris Cons. 1909--13. Dir., Fr. Acad., Rome, 1937--55, ass. dir. Paris Opéra and Opéra-Comique 1955--7. Works, light and witty in style, incl.:

operas: Angélique (1926); Le Roi d'Yvetot (1928); Gonzague (1930); L'Aiglon (with Honegger, 1935).

ballets: L'Eventail de Jeanne (with 9 other composers, 1927); Le Chevalier errant (1935).

orch: Escales (1922); Divertissement (1930, adaptation frommus. for Lebiche's play Un Chapeau de paille d'Italie (The Italian Straw Hat)); fl. conc. (1934); concertino da camera for alto sax. (1935); Louisville Concerto (1953); Sym. No. 2 ('Bostoniana') (1955--61).

chamber music: Capriccio for 10 instr. (1938); Str. qt. (1937--42); Trio for vn., vc., harp (1942).

voice and piano[nm (or [smorch.)]: Le Petit Âne blanc (The Little White Donkey) (1940, from Histoire No. 2 for pf., 1922).

Ice Break, The. Opera in 3 acts by Tippett to his own lib., comp. 1973--6. Prod. CG 1977, Kiel 1978 (as Wenn das Eis bricht).

Idée fixe (Fr.). Fixed idea. Term used by Berlioz, in his Symphonie fantastique and elsewhere, for what is in essence a leitmotiv or motto-theme. Berlioz borrowed the term from medicine, where it means 'a delusion that impels towards some ab-normal action'.

Idiophone. Term for mus. instr. which produce sound from their own substance, e.g. castanets, cymbals, bells, etc. Can be struck, plucked, blown, or vibrated by friction. One of 4 classifications of instr. devised by C. Sachs and E. M. von Hornbosteland pubd. in Zeitschrift für Ethnologie, 1914. Other categories are aerophones, chordophones, and membranophones, with electrophones recently added.

Idomeneo, Re di Creta, ossia Ilia ed Idamante (Idomeneus, King of Crete, or Ilia and Idamante). Opera seria in 3 acts by Mozart (K366) (comp. 1780--1) to It. lib. by G.B. Varesco, after Danchet's lib. for Campra's Idoménée (1712) and the ancient legend. For Vienna private perf. in 1786 Mozart made additions to the score incl. new sop. aria Non temer, amato bene (K490), now sung in many modern perfs. Prod. Munich 1781, Karlsruhe 1917, Dresden 1925, Glasgow 1934, Tanglewood 1947, Glyndebourne 1951, NY 1951, London 1962 (1st CG prod. 1978). For revival at Vienna, 1931, R. Strauss ed. (liberally) the score and added mus. of his own, with text rewritten by L. Wallerstein, and Wolf-Ferrari ed. the work for Munich, 1931. Many textual and other special musicological problems attend this opera. For details, see W. Mann's The Operas of Mozart (1977).

Idyll. In literature a description (prose or verse) of happy rural life, and so sometimes applied to a mus. comp. of peaceful pastoral character (e.g. Wagner's Siegfried Idyll).

Idyll: Once I Passed through a Populous City. For sop., bar., and orch. by Delius to text by Whitman. Comp. 1930--2, containing re-working of parts of early opera, Margot-la-rouge (1901--2).

Igloi, Thomas (George) (b Budapest, 1947; d London, 1976). Hung.-born cellist. Studied RAM and with Fournier and Casals. Début London 1969. Winner, BBC vc. competition 1969, Casals int. vc. competition, Florence, 1971; soloist with leading orchs.

Il(It.). The (masc. sing.).

Île joyeuse, L' (The Island of Joy). Pf. piece by Debussy comp. 1904 and inspired by one of Watteau's 2 pictures, L'Embarquement pour Cythère, which delicately depicted early 18th-cent. scene of party about to embark for the island sacred to Venus.

Iliffe, Barrie (John)(b Westcliff, 1925). Eng. concerts administrator. Concerts manager, RLPO, 1951--5, orch. manager, Philharmonia 1955--6, Cape Town Orch. 1956--8, London Mozart Players 1961--3, gen. manager New Philharmonia 1964--5. Head of Mus., Brit. Council since 1966.

Illica, Luigi (b Piacenza, 1857; d Piacenza, 1919). It. playwright and librettist. Wrote, or helped to write, over 80 opera libs., among them (with Giacosa) those for Puccini's Manon Lescaut, La Bohème, Madama Butterfly, and Tosca; also for Catalani's La Wally, Mascagni's Iris, and Giordano's Andrea Chénier. Illuminations, Les (The Illuminations). Song-cycle for high v. and str. orch., Op. 18, by Britten, comp. 1938--9, text being 9 prose-poems by Fr. poet Arthur Rimbaud written 1872--3 (Les Illuminations and Poèmes en prose). F.p. London, 1940 (Nos. 5 and 7 perf. separately in Birmingham and London 1939).

Images (Pictures). Title given by Debussy to 2 works: (1) Images for orch. (Gigues, 1909--12, orch. Caplet; Îberia, 1905--8, and Rondes de Printemps, 1905--9). First perf. as triptych, Paris 1913 cond. Pierné. (2) 2 sets for solo pf., set 1 (1905) containing Reflets dans l'eau, Hommage à Rameau, Mouvement; set 2 (1907) containing Cloches à travers les feuilles, Et la lune descend sur le temple qui fut, and Poissons d'or.

Imaginary Landscape. Title of 5 perc. works by Cage in which he also developed his interest in unusual and elec. sounds. No. 1 (1939) is for two variable speed gramophone turntables, frequency recordings, muted pf., and cymbal; No. 2 (March) is for perc. quintet (1942); No. 3 (1942) for perc. sextet; No. 4 (March No. 2) for 12 radios, 24 players, and cond. (1951); No. 5 (1952) is a score for making a recording on tape using any 42 gramophone records.

Imbrie, Andrew (Welsh) (b NY, 1921). Amer. composer and pianist. Studied pf. with Leo Ornstein 1930--42, later with R. Casadesus. Studied comp. privately with Sessions 1938--48. Taught at Univ. of Calif. from 1948 (prof. from 1960). Prix de Rome 1947, working in Rome 1947--51, 1953--4. Works incl. opera (Christmas in Peebles Town, 1962--3), 4 syms., vn. conc., 3 pf. concs., fl. conc., Legend for orch., chamber sym., vc. sonata, 4 str. qts., pf. sonata, Psalm 42 for male ch. and org., Drum Taps for ch. and orch.

Imitation. Compositional device in part-writing involving repetition by one v. of more or less the phrase previously stated by another v. In Canon and Fugue, imitation is according to a strict regulated pattern.

Imitazione, Aria d'. See Aria.

Immortal Hour, The. Mus. drama in 2 acts by Boughton to own lib. based on works of 'Fiona Macleod' (William Sharp). Prod. Glastonbury 1914, London 1922, NY 1926.

Imperfect Cadence. See Cadence.

'Imperfect' Time'. See Common Time.

Impériale, L' (The Imperial). Nickname for Haydn's Sym. in D major, No. 53 in Breitkopf edn., comp. c.1780. Name first used in 19th-cent. Paris catalogue of Haydn syms. for unknown reason.

Imperial Mass. Another name for Haydn's Nelson Mass.

Impresario, The (Der Schauspieldirektor). Comedy with mus. in 1 act (K486) by Mozart to lib. by G. Stephanie. Prod. Vienna 1786, London 1857, NY 1870.

Impressionism. Term used in graphic art from 1874 to describe the work of Monet, Degas, Whistler, Renoir, etc., whose paintings avoid sharp contours but convey an 'impression' of the scene painted by means of blurred outlines and minute small detail. It was applied by musicians to the mus. of Debussy and his imitators because they interpret their subjects (e.g. La Mer) in a similar impressionistic manner, conveying the moods and emotions aroused by the subject rather than a detailed tone-picture. To describe Debussy's harmony and orchestration as impressionist in the sense of vague or ill-defined is to do them a severe injustice. Some of the technical features of musical impressionism included new chord combinations, often ambiguous as to tonality, chords of the 9th, 11th, and 13th being used instead of triads and chords of the 7th; appoggiatura used as part of the chord, with full chord included; parallel movement in a group of chords of triads, 7ths, and 9ths, etc.; whole-tone chords; exotic scales; use of the modes; and extreme chromaticism.

Impromptu (Fr.). Literally 'improvised' or 'on the spur of the moment', but in 19th cent., name given to short piece of instr. mus., often in song-like form, e.g. those by Schubert, Chopin, and Schumann. In 20th cent., term has been used by Britten for rev. 3rd movement of his pf. conc.

Improvisation (or extemporization). A perf. according to the inventive whim of the moment, i.e. without a written or printed score, and not from memory. It has been an important element in mus. through the centuries, viz. (1) from the 12th to the 17th cents., in vocal descant when a part was improvised by one singer to a notated part sung by another. (2) in 17th and 18th cents. in the 'divisions' of viol players, i.e. the improvised decoration of the notes of a tune by shorter notes. Also the kbd. player's improvisation of the figured bass. (3) In the 18th cent. the filling-in of the preludes to kbd. suites which Handel and others often indicated merely as a series of chords from which the perf. was to develop his material. (4)^From 18th cent., the cadenza in concs. (sometimes written out, but often left to the virtuoso to invent). (5) In 18th and early 19th cents., the kbd. perfs. by which Bach, Mozart, Beethoven, Hummel, Clementi, and others enthralled their audiences by brilliant displays of improvisation. (6) The same as (5) by organists such as Bruckner and Widor, this practice still being fairly common among organists. (7) In jazz, improvisation by solo instrumentalists is part of the idiom's attraction. (8) Aleatory or indeterminate features of 20th-cent. works are of an improvisatory nature. (9) The term is sometimes used as the title of a notated work which is intended to convey an impression of improvisation.

In Alt (It.). Notes are in alt which are in the octave immediately above the top line of the treble stave; the next octave is in altissimo.

In a Summer Garden. Rhapsody for large orch. by Delius, comp. 1908. F.p. London 1909, rev. version Edinburgh 1913. The garden was Delius's own at Grez.

Inbal, Eliahu (b Jerusalem, 1936). Israeli cond. Studied Paris Cons. under Fourestier and at Hilversum and Siena. Won Cantelli int. competition for cond. 1963. Chief cond. Frankfurt Radio S.O. from 1974. Opera début cond. Strauss's Elektra, Bologna 1969.

Incalcando (It.). Warming-up, i.e. getting faster and louder.

Incidental Music. Mus. written for atmospheric effect or to accompany the action in a play. It was provided 'incidentally' as far back as Gr. drama. Purcell wrote much incidental mus. for the th. of his day, and there are dozens of superb examples since the early 19th cent., e.g. Beethoven's for Goethe's Egmont, Mendelssohn's for Shakespeare's A Midsummer Night's Dream, Grieg's for Ibsen's Peer Gynt, Bizet's for Daudet's L'Arlésienne, Sibelius's for Maeterlinck's Pelléas et Mélisande, Walton's for Shakespeare's Macbeth, etc. Music for films and TV is also in a sense 'incidental music'.

Incoronazione di Poppea, L' (The Coronation of Poppaea). Opera in prol. and 3 acts by Monteverdi (his last) to a lib. by Busenello after Tacitus. Prod. Venice 1642, Naples 1651, Paris, concert version ed. d'Indy, 1905, stage 1913, Northampton, Mass., 1926, Oxford 1927. First opera on an historical, otherthan biblical, subject. In the 20th cent. there have been several edns., incl. those by K;akrenek, d'Indy, Benvenuti, Malipiero, Ghedini, W. Goehr, Harnoncourt, Curtis, and R. Leppard (first version f.p. Glyndebourne 1962, London 1971; second version f.p. Glyndebourne 1984). New edn. by Roger Norrington for Kent Opera 1974. In some respects this was the first 'modern' opera by virtue of its treatment of human emotions and personalities and its anticipation of a leitmotiv technique of comp.

Incorporated Society of Musicians. Assoc. of professional musicians founded in 1882. Meetings are held regularly in regional branches, and an annual conference is held in one of the large cities of the U.K. Examinations conducted by the soc. were dropped in 1928.

Incredible Flutist, The. Ballet with mus. by Walter Piston. Prod. 1938. Concert suite from the ballet f.p. 1940.

Indes galantes, Les (The courtly Indies). Opéra-ballet in prol. and 3 entrées by Rameau to lib. by Louis Fuzelier. Prod. Paris 1735, with 4th entrée 1736, NY 1962. Each entrée tells a love-story from a different part of the world: 1. Le Turc généreux (The generous Turk). 2. Les Incas de Pérou (The Incas of Peru). 3. Les Fleurs, feste Persane (The Flowers, Persian festival). 4. Les Sauvages (The Savages).

Indeterminacy. Much the same as aleatory, but specially the principle by which a decision of the performer of a comp. replaces a decision of the composer.

India, Sigismondo d' (b Palermo, c.1582; d ? Modena, before 1629). It. composer and singer. Said to be of noble birth and spent 1600--10 travelling in It., visiting several courts. Probably met Monteverdi in Mantua 1606. Dir. of chamber mus. to the Duke of Savoy in Turin, 1611--23, during which period most of his mus. was written. Moved to Modena 1623--4, then to Rome where in 1625 his sacred opera Sant' Eustachio was perf. in Cardinal Maurizio's palace. Returned to Modena 1626. Regarded as most important composer of secular vocal mus. in early 17th cent. It. after Monteverdi. Collections of his works were pubd. in Milan and Venice from 1609 to 1623. Blended styles of Marenzio, Wert, Gesualdo, and Monteverdi into a rich polyphonic style of his own, with daring harmonies and treatment of dissonance.

Indianische Fantasie (Indian Fantasy). Busoni's Op. 44 for pf. and orch. Comp. 1913. Based on Amer. Indian themes.

Indianisches Tagebuch (Indian Diary). Work by Busoni, Book I being for pf. solo and Book II for orch. Comp. 1915.

Indian Queen, The. Semi-opera in 5 acts by Purcell, with text by Dryden and R. Howard about rivalry between Mexicans and Peruvians. Prod. London 1695, the final masque in Act V being by Daniel Purcell.

In dulci Jubilo (In sweet joy). 14th-cent. Ger. macaronic carol; Eng. version c. 1540. Popular setting for solovocal octet and 5-pt. chorus by Robert L. Pearson dates from 1834.

Indy, Vincent d'. See D'Indy, Vincent.

Inextinguishable, The (Det uudslukkelige). Title of Sym. No. 4 by Carl Nielsen, comp. 1915--16. F.p. Copenhagen 1 Feb. 1916; f.p. in England London, 22 June 1923, cond. Nielsen.

Infinite Canon (Perpetual Canon). Canon in which each v., having reached the end, begins again, and so indefinitely.

Inflection. In plainsong, the general name given to such parts as are not in monotone, i.e. incl. the intonation, mediation, and ending, and excl. the recitation.

[fy65][cc13,3,8,8][dt6p3,0p6g,6p3][ol0] Inflection of Notes. [el2][bt

sharp[nm[qc[nt[smdouble sharp[qc[et[btRaising thenote a half-step or semitone [ntRaising the note a full-step or tone [et[bt#[qc[nt×[qc[et[bt flat[nm[qc[nt[smdouble flat[qc[et[btLowering the note a half-step or semitone [ntLowering the note a full-step or tone [et[btb[qc[ntbb[qc[et[el2]^After a Sharp or Flat the Natural Sign nat. restores the note to its normal pitch. After a Double Sharp or Double Flat the Sign # or b (or nat.# or nat.b) changes the pitch of the note to that of a single sharp or flat. After a Double Sharp or Double Flat the Sign nat. (rarely given nat.nat.) restores the note to its normal pitch. Any of these various signs is understood to affect not only the note before which it immediately occurs, but also, unless contradicted, any other notes on that same line or space of the staff throughout the measure (bar), and if the last note of the measure is thus inflected and is tied to the same note at the opening of the next measure, that latter also is understood to be included in the inflection. Additions are made to the names of the notes as shown above: Because of several irregularities in the Ger. names it has been thought best to set these out in full. Notice particularly the names marked _ [el4]Ingegneri, Marco Antonio (b Verona, c.1547; d Cremona, 1592). It. composer and church musician.
Pupil of V. Ruffo. Choirmaster, Cremona Cath. from 1579. Comp. masses, motets, 8 books of madrigals, and 27 Responsoria for Holy Week. Taught Monteverdi.

Ingham, Steve (b London, 1951). Eng. composer. Studied at York Univ. 1972--5, later with Donald Erb in Indiana and with Ferneyhough in Ger. 1977--80. Northern Arts composer fellow, Newcastle upon Tyne Univ., 1980--2, lect. in mus. 1984. Comps. incl. Ein frohlich Wesen, orch. (1980), Élégie, str. qt. (1981), and Indiana Suite, small orch. (1982).

[ts1][bm2][cc27][dt2p6,1g,3p6,p9g,4p6,1g,3p6,p9g,4p6,0p9g,4p3][ru5] [ol2]
[bt[nt#[qc[nt×[qc[ntb[qc[ntbb[qc[ntnat.[qc[xm3][ru5,27][ol2] [btEnglish[qc[ntsharp[qc[ntdouble sharp[qc[ntflat[qc[ntdouble flat[qc[ntnatural[qc[xm5][ru5,27][ol2] [bt[acGerman[qc[nt_ ^Cis _ ^Dis _ ^Eis _ ^Fis _ ^Gis _ ^Ais _ ^His [rr[xh(The sign is called Kreuz) [nt[xr[ah_ ^Cisis _ ^Disis _ ^Eisis
_ ^Fisis _ ^Gisis _ ^Aisis _ ^Hisis [rr[xh(The sign is called Doppelkreuz) [nt[xr[ah_ ^Ces
_ ^Des _ ^Es _ ^Fes _ ^Ges _ ^As _ ^B [rr[xh(The sign is called Be) [nt[xr[ah_ ^Ceses _ ^Deses _ ^Eses _ ^Feses _ ^Geses _ ^Ases _ ^Bes [rr[xh(The sign is called Doppel-Be) [ntThe sign is called Quadrat or Auflösungszeichen (release-sign) [et[xr[ah[ol5][ru5,27][ol2] [btFrench[qc[ntdièse[qc[ntdouble-dièse[qc[ntbémol[qc[ntdoublebémol[qc[ntbécarré[qc[xm5][ru5,27][ol2] [btItalian[qc[ntdiesis[qc[ntdoppio diesis[qc[ntbemolle[qc[ntdoppio bemolle[qc[ntbequadro[qc

Inghelbrecht, Désiré (Émile) (b Paris, 1880; d/Paris, 1965). Fr. cond. and composer. Cond. Swedish Ballet in Paris and London. Ass. cond. Pasdeloup concerts. Ass. cond. Opéra-Comique 1924, cond. 1932; cond. Paris Opéra 1945--50. Cond. Fr. Nat. Radio Orch. Author of several books. Comp. opera, ballet (El Greco), choral, orch., and chamber mus.

Ingłott, William (b 1554; d Norwich, 1621). Eng. composer and organist. Organist, Norwich Cath. from 1608. Comp. a Te Deum, pieces for virginals, madrigals, etc.

In Honour of the City. Cantata by Dyson, setting of poem by William Dunbar (1465--1520), f.p. Lincoln 1928.

In Honour of the City of London. Cantata for ch. and orch. by Walton, setting of poem by William Dunbar, f.p. Leeds 1937; f. London p. Dec. 1937, cond. Walton.

In modo di (It.). In the manner of.

Innig (Ger.). Inmost, heartfelt. So the noun Innigkeit. Word frequently used by Eng. mus. critics to describe mystical or spiritual passages in the mus. of, for instance, Beethoven and Bruckner.

In nomine (In the name). A type of contrapuntal instr. comp. by 16th-cent. Eng. comps., usually for consort of viols but sometimes for lute or kbd. based on a version of a piece of plainchant. First used by Taverner, when he comp. an instr. piece based on the theme to which he set the words 'In nomine Domini' in his Gloria Tibi Trinitas Mass. This set a fashion, and the name 'In nomine' was adopted for this type of piece.

Insanguine, Giacomo (b Monopoli, Bari, 1728; d Naples, 1795). It. composer, sometimes called Monopoli. Comp. several operas, incl. Didone abbandonata (1769), and church mus.

Institut de recherche et de co-ordination acoustique-musique. Laboratories and elec. studios, part of the Georges Pompidou Centre, Paris, inaugurated 1977 under directorship of Boulez, for experiment and research into modern compositional techniques. Known as I.R.C.A.M.

Instrumentation. Writing of mus. for particular instrs., especially referring to composer's knowledge of what is practicable on various instrs. Also used in sense of orchestration.

Instruments, Musical. Objects or devices for producing mus. sound by mechanical energy or electrical impulses. They can be classified as: (1) Str. (plucked or bowed). (2) Wind (played by blowing direct into the mouthpiece or through a reed). (3) Perc. (of determinate or indeterminate pitch). (4) Elec. Note that the pf., though it has str., is percussive in its mechanism, so is not easily classified. For the classifications of instr. by C. Sachs and E. M. von Hornbostel pubd. in 1914, see aerophones, chordophones, idiophones, and membranophones, with electrophones as additional category. For the Sachs-Hornbostel introduction to their classifications, see New Grove, Vol. 9, pp. 241--5.

Intavolatura (It.). Entablature. Term denoting 'scoring' used in Elizabethan period. Referred to arr. of madrigals for kbd. perf.

Intégrales. Work for small orch. and perc. by Varèse, comp. 1924--5, f.p. NY 1925.

Intendant (Ger.). Superintendent. Administrative dir. (not necessarily artistic or mus. dir.) of a Ger. opera house or th.

Interlude. Piece of mus. played between other pieces, such as an org. passage played between verses of a hymn, or between the acts of a play, or between scenes in an opera (e.g. the Sea Interludes in Britten's Peter Grimes). Also used as a title of a mus. work without above connotations.

Intermezzo (Intermedio) (It.; Fr. Intermède). In the middle. This word has undergone several changes in application, viz., (1) Originally, in 16th-cent. It., a mus. entertainment interpolated between sections of more serious fare, such as songs or madrigals, or between the acts of a play. Earliest recorded was at Florence 1539. In France, the intermèdes were sometimes on a sumptuous scale and sometimes comprised ballet only. Those by Lully for Molière's plays preceded or followed the comedy in addition to separating its acts and in some cases had nothing to do with the plot, e.g. the Ballet des Nations which concluded Le bourgeois gentilhomme (1670). (2) With the development of opera seria, based invariably on mythological legends, the intermezzo became popular because of its contrasted, more realistic, and topical, often comic, characters. At the beginning of the 18th cent., comic characters were admitted into opera seria in scenes near the end of an act, thus forming a separate plot, an intermezzo. Most popular of these intermezzi was Pergolesi's La serva padrona (The maid as mistress) (1733). From this form developed opera buffa. (3) By the 19th cent. the word had come to be applied in the same sense as interlude; and for a short orch. piece inserted into an opera to denote a lapse of time, as in Mascagni's Cavalleria Rusticana, or summarizing events as in the 'Walk to the Paradise Garden' in Delius's A Village Romeo and Juliet. (4) A short movement in a sym., conc., or sonata, e.g. the slow movement of Schumann's pf. conc. (5) Short independent pf. pieces by Brahms, Schumann, etc.

Intermezzo. 'Bourgeois comedy with symphonic interludes' in 2 acts by R. Strauss, comp. 1917--23 to his own lib. (based on a marital incident in his life, the two main characters being portraits of himself and his wife Pauline). Prod. Dresden 1924, Vienna 1927, NY 1963, Edinburgh 1965, Glyndebourne 1974.

Internationale. Socialist song composed by P. Degeyter (1848--1932) to words by Eugène Pottier, a Lisle woodworker. Was official anthem of Communist Russia until 1 Jan. 1944. Not the same as The Red Flag.

International Folk Music Council. Organization formed in London in 1947 at conference representing 28 countries. First pres. Vaughan Williams, succeeded 1958 by Maud Karpeles. Devoted to int. research into folk mus., arranges fests., etc.

International Musical Society. Soc. devoted to musicological research, having about 20 nat. sections which combined for purposes of publication and conferences. Founded 1899 in Leipzig, terminated 1914 by World War I. Work carried on by International Musicological Society.

International Musicological Society (International Society for Musical Research). Founded 1927 to resume and continue the work of the International Musical Society. Headquarters at Basle. Publishes journal, Acta Musicologica.

International Society for Contemporary Music. Soc. founded after fest. by young Viennese composers in Salzburg in 1922, under first presidency of E. J. Dent. Many nat. sections. Annual fest. held each year at a different place, at which the works of contemporary composers of all nationalities are given a hearing. Works to be played are chosen by int. jury. Known as I.S.C.M.

Interpretation in mus. is merely the act of perf., with the implication that in it the performer's judgement and personality have a share. Just as there is no means by which a dramatist can so write his play as to indicate to the actors precisely how they should speak his lines, so there is no means by which a composer can indicate to a performer the precise way in which his mus. is to be sung or played---so that no 2 performers will adopt the same slackenings and hastenings of speed (incl. Rubato), the same degree of emphasis on an accented note, and so forth. The matter is further complicated by composers' latitude in use of metronome markings as applied to a term such as allegro or moderato (e.g. varying in one work from ;ya = 160 to ;ya = 100 for allegro). Thus there is no 'right' or 'wrong' interpretation in the strict sense, but in matters of style and taste, a performer's 'interpretation' may be felt by listeners to be out of sympathy with, or a distortion of, the composer's intentions.

Interrupted Cadence. Chord of the dominant followed by that of sub-mediant.

Interval. The 'distance' between 2 notes is called an 'interval', i.e. the difference in pitch between any 2 notes. The 'size' of any interval is expressed numerically, e.g. C to G is a 5th, because if we proceed up the scale of C the 5th note in it is G. The somewhat hollow-sounding 4th, 5th, and octave of the scale are all called Perfect. They possess what we may perhaps call a 'purity' distinguishing them from other intervals. The other intervals, in the ascending major scale, are all called Major ('Major 2nd', 'Major 3rd', 'Major 6th', 'Major 7th'). If any Major interval be chromatically reduced by a semitone it becomes Minor; if any Perfect or Minor interval be so reduced it becomes Diminished; if any Perfect or Major interval be increased by a semitone it becomes Augmented. Enharmonic Intervals are those which differ from each other in name but not in any other way (so far as modern keyboard instruments are concerned). As an example take C to G# (an augmented 5th) and C to Ab (a minor 6th). Compound Intervals are those greater than an octave, e.g. C to the D an octave and a note higher, which may be spoken of either as a major 9th or as a compound major 2nd. Inversion of Intervals is the reversing of the relative position of the 2 notes defining them. It will be found that a 5th when inverted becomes a 4th, a 3rd becomes a 6th, and so on. It will also be found that perfect intervals remain perfect (C to G a perfect 5th; G to C a perfect 4th, etc.), while major ones become minor, minor become major, augmented become diminished, and diminished become augmented. Every interval is either Concordant or Discordant. The Concordant comprise all perfect intervals and all major and minor 3rds and 6ths; the Discordant comprise all augmented and diminished intervals and all 2nds and 7ths. It therefore follows that all Concordant intervals when inverted remain Concordant and all Discordant intervals remain Discordant. Musical examples of Intervals are as follows:[ln1]

In the Faery Hills (An Sluagh Sidhe). Symphonic poem by Bax, comp. 1909, f.p. London 1910. The Faery Hills are in Co. Kerry, Ireland. One of 3 tone-poems comp. under the composite title Eire.

In the South (Alassio). Concert-ov. (tone-poem) by Elgar, Op. 50, f.p. London 1904. Sketched at Alassio, the work being an impression of Italy, its landscape and its imperial past.

In the Steppes of Central Asia (V sredney Azii), In Central Asia). 'Orchestral picture' by Borodin, comp. 1880 to acc. tableau vivant at exhibition marking Alexander II's silver jubilee. Represents approach and passing of a caravan.

Intimate Letters (Listy d'Anu veřejné). Sub-title of Janáček's Str. Qt. No.2, comp. in 22 days 1928; so called because it is autobiographical in content, the letters concerned being those he wrote to Kamilla Stoesslová between 1917 and 1928 (he wanted to call it 'Love Letters'). F.p. Brno 1928; f.p. in England 1936 (broadcast).

Intolleranza 1960 (Intolerance 1960). Opera in 2 parts for 5 singers, mime, ch., and orch. by Nono to his own lib. based on an idea by A. M. Ripellino. Comp. 1960--1. Prod. Venice 1961.

Intonation. (1) The opening phrase of a plainsong melody, perhaps so called because it was often sung by the precentor alone, giving the pitch and (in the Psalms) the 'tone' of what was to follow. (2) The act of singing or playing in tune. Thus we speak of a singer or instrumentalist's 'intonation' as being good or bad.

Intoning. The singing upon one tone or note, as is done by the clergy in parts of the Roman, Anglican, and other liturgies.

Intrada. The It. equivalent of the Fr. Entrée. Used as name for a movement by 18th-cent. composers and also in 20th cent. (e.g. in Vaughan Williams's Concerto Grossso).

Introduction. The beginning of a piece of mus., sometimes but not necessarily thematically linked to what follows (as in Elgar's Introduction and Allegro for Strings). Many syms., especially among those by Haydn, Mozart, and Beethoven, have extensive slow introductions to the first movement.

Introduction and Allegro. (1) Elgar's Op. 47, for str. qt. and str. orch., comp. 1905 (theme sketch 1901) and f.p. London 1905. Contains melody inspired by hearing Welsh singers on a distant hillside. (2) Bliss wrote an Introduction and Allegro for full orch. (1926). (3) Ravel's Septet (1905) is entitled Introduction and Allegro for hp., fl., cl., str. qt.

Introit. Part of the Proper of the Mass. Initial chant, usually comprising antiphon with one verse and the Gloria patri. Also organ piece which replaces all or part of the sung Introit.

Invention. Name given by J. S. Bach to 15 of his shorter kbd. comps. in 2 parts or 'voices', incl. in his Klavierbüchlein, 1720. They are highly contrapuntal, being largely in the nature of imitation. Each works out some short melodic motif. Bach also left another 15 comps. in the same style, now known as his '3-part Inventions', to which he gave the title 'Symphonies'. The term was used before Bach's day for short vocal or instrumental pieces by Dowland, Janequin, and Negri, among others. It has occasionally been revived in the 20th cent., e.g. by Blacher and Berg.

Inventionshorn, Inventionstrompete (Ger.). Invention Horn, Invention Trumpet. The prefix 'Inventions' has been used to characterize several novelties. The Inventionshorn was the work of Charles Clagget (1740--c.1795) who united 2 instr., one in D and the other in Eb, in such a way that the player had both at command and could thus gain the advantage of the full chromatic scale. Clagget's work, patented 1788, was made possible by the invention, by the hn. player Hampel of Dresden, of curved sliding crooks called 'inventions', hence the name. The term Inventionstrompete seems to have been applied not only to the tpt. equivalent of the Inventionshorn but also to 2 earlier novelties, a short horn in F with crooks for every key down to Bb, and the 'Italian Trumpet' (coiled into horn shape).

Inversion. Literally, the turning upside down of a chord, interval, counterpoint, theme, or pedal point. A chord is said to be inverted when not in its 'root position'. For inversion of intervals, see Interval.

Inversion, Canon by. See Canon.

Inverted Cadence. See Cadence.

Inverted Mordent. See Mordent.

Inverted Pedal. See Harmony.

Inverted Turn. See Gruppetto.

Invertible Counterpoint. See Counterpoint.

Invisible City of Kitezh, The (Skazaniye o nevidimom grade Kitezhe i deve Fevronii; The legend of the invisible city of Kitezh and of the maid Fevronia). Opera in 4 acts by Rimsky-Korsakov to lib. by V. Belsky. Comp. 1903--5. Prod. St Petersburg 1907, London (concert) 1926.

Invitation to the Dance (Aufforderung zum Tanz). Title of Rondo Brillant in Db, Op. 65, for pf. by Weber (1819), representing a ballroom scene. Arr. for small orch. by Lanner, c.1828. Often heard in arr. for orch. by Berlioz (1841), and sometimes, much altered, in one by Weingartner. Adopted by Diaghilev's Russian Ballet as mus. for Le Spectre de la rose.

In Windsor Forest. Cantata for ch. and orch. by Vaughan Williams containing 5 items adapted from his opera Sir John in Love. F.p. London 1931.

Ioannidis, Yannis (b Athens, 1930). Gr. composer. Studied pf. at Athens Cons. 1946--55, then organ, comp., and hpd. at Vienna Acad. 1955--9. Settled in Caracas and became Venezuelan cit. 1968. Prof. of harmony, Caracas Cons. 1971--6. Returned to Athens 1976. Several orch. works, incl. Tropic (1968) and Orbis, pf. and orch. (1975--6), also chamber mus. and songs.

Iolanta (Tchaikovsky). See Yolanta.

Iolanthe, or The Peer and the Peri. Operetta in 2 acts by Sullivan to lib. by Gilbert. Prod. London and NY 1882.

Ionian Mode. See Modes.

Ionisation. Work for perc. instr. by Varèse comp. 1929--31, f.p. NY, 1933.

Iphigénie en Aulide (Iphigenia in Aulis). Opera in 3 acts by Gluck to lib. by Du Roullet after Racine's play based on Euripides. Prod. Paris 1774, Philadelphia 1935. Gluck used 3 nos. from Don Juan in this score. Also opera by Jommelli (1751).

Iphigénie en Tauride (Iphigenia in Tauris). Opera in 4 acts by Gluck to lib. by Guillard after Euripides. Prod. Paris 1778, London 1796, NY Met. 1916 (in version by R. Strauss, 1889--90). Ger. version 1781. Also opera by Jommelli (1771).

Ippolitov-Ivanov, Mikhail (Mikhaylovich) (b Gatchina, 1859; d Moscow, 1935). Russ. composer and cond. Studied St Petersburg with Rimsky-Korsakov. Head of Tiflis Cons. 1883--93. Reputation est. with Caucasian Sketches for orch. 1894. Prof. of comp. and harmony, Moscow Cons. 1893--1935 (dir. 1905--22). Cond., Bolshoy Opera from 1925. Wrote patriotic songs and marches such as Song of Stalin. Comp. 6 operas, the best of which (The Last Barricade, 1933--4) dealt with a Revolutionary subject. Added 3 acts to Mussorgsky's unfinished opera The Marriage (1931). Comp. sym., symphonic poem, 2 str. qts., vn. sonata, cantatas, songs, etc. [cm[ol0] I.R.C.A.M. See Institut de Recherche et de Coordination Acoustique-Musique.

Ireland, John (Nicholson) (b Bowdon, Ches., 1879; d Washington, Sussex, 1962). Eng. composer and pianist. Studied RCM 1893--1901 (comp. with Stanford, pf. with Cliffe). Org., St Luke's, Chelsea, 1904--26. Prof. of comp. RCM 1923--39, pupils incl. Britten, Bush, Searle, and Arnell. He made his reputation with chamber mus. and with pieces for pf. solo in which his understanding of the instr. is paramount. His songs are in the best Eng. tradition and are typical of Ireland's style, which owes more to French influences than to English and has an individual restraint and austerity which is highly attractive. He did not compose syms. or large-scale choral works, but his orch. tone-poems and ovs. are colourfully scored and his pf. conc., with its racy jazz interludes, is among the best in the genre by an Eng. composer. Prin. works:

orch: Tritons, symphonic prelude (c. 1905); Bagatelle (orig. for vn. and pf. 1911, arr. for orch. 1916); Concertino Pastorale for str. (1939); pf. conc. in Eb (1930); Epic March (1942); The Forgotten Rite, prelude (1913); Legend for pf. and orch. (1933); A London Overture (orig. for brass) (1936); Mai-Dun, symphonic rhapsody (1920--1); The Overlanders, suite arr. Mackerras from film mus. (1946--7); Satyricon, ov. (1946); Downland Suite for str. (1932).

chorus and orch: Vexilla Regis (1898); Greater Love Hath No Man, motet (1912, orch. 1924); These Things Shall Be, cantata for bar. (or ten.), ch., and orch. (1936--7).

brass band: Downland Suite (1933); Comedy Overture (1934, orch. as A London Overture 1936); Maritime Overture (1944).

voices: Greater Love Hath No Man (sometimes called Many Waters cannot quench Love), motet for treble, bar., ch., and org. (1912, with orch. 1924); The Holy Boy, unacc. carol (orig. pf. prelude 1913--5, arr. for vv. 1941, for org. 1919, for v. and pf. 1938, for brass (by Robert E. Stepp) 1950, for str. 1941); Adam Lay Ybounden, unacc. carol (1956); Man in his labour rejoiceth, with pf. (1947); Island Praise, unacc. male vv. (1955).

chamber music: Sextet for cl., hn., str. qt. (1898); Str. qts.; No. 1 in D minor (1895), No. 2 in C minor (1897); Phantasy Trio in A minor (1908); Piano Trio in E (1917); Bagatelle for vn. and pf. (1911, arr. for orch. 1916); Vn. Sonata No. 1 in D minor (1908--9, rev. 1917), No. 2 in A minor (1915--17); Vc. Sonata in G minor (1923, arr. for va. by Tertis, 1941); Fantasy Sonata for cl. and pf. (1943); The Holy Boy (arr. for str. qt. 1941).

piano: Sonata in E minor (1918--20); sonatina (1926--7); Decorations (3 pieces incl. The Island Spell) (1921); 4 Preludes (No. 3 is The Holy Boy) (1913--15); Rhapsody (1915); 3 London Pieces (No. 1 is Chelsea Reach) (1917--20); Merry Andrew (1918); The Towing-Path (1918); Summer Evening (1919); 2 Pieces (For Remembrance and Amberley Wild Brooks) (1921); Equinox (1922); Prelude in Eb (1924); Ballade of London Nights (c. 1929, pubd. 1968); Greenways (3 Lyric Pieces) (1937); Sarnia: An Island Sequence (3 pieces) (1940--1); 3 Pastels (1941).

songs and song-cycles: 5 Songs of a Wayfarer (c. 1905--11); Sea Fever (1913); The Holy Boy (orig. pf. piece, 1913, arr. as song to poem by H.S. Brown 1938); I Have Twelve Oxen; If there were Dreams to sell (1918); The Land of Lost Content (6 Housman poems) (1920--1); 3 Hardy Songs (cont.) (1925); 5 Poems by Thomas Hardy (bar.) (1926); We'll To The Woods No More (3 Housman poems) (1926--7); 6 Songs Sacred and Profane (1929--31).

Iris. Opera in 3 acts by Mascagni, to lib. by Illica. Prod. Rome 1898; rev. version Milan 1899, Philadelphia 1902, London 1919.

Irische Legende (Irish Legend). Opera in 5 scenes by Egk to his own lib. based on Yeats's The Countess Cathleen (1892). Prod. Salzburg 1955. (Rev. 1970).

Irish Symphony. (1) Sub-title of Stanford's Sym. No. 3 in F minor, Op. 28, comp. 1887. (2) Title of sym. by Harty, based on Irish folk-songs; popular scherzo 'The Fair Day' often played separately. Comp. 1904, rev. 1915 and 1923. (3) Title of Sym. in E minor by Sullivan, 1864--6.

Irmelin. Opera in 3 acts by Delius to his own lib. Comp. 1890--2, prod. Oxford 1953. The orch. prelude, frequently played separately, was comp. 1931.

Irregular Cadence. See Cadence.

Irregular Rhythmic Groupings. (Duplets, Triplets, Quadruplets, etc.) [qc] Various combinations are possible other than those shown below, and it is hardly possible to list them or to lay down rules. When an irregular combination occurs the performer should observe the other notes of the measure, and he will quickly realize into what fraction of the measure the irregular grouping is to be fitted.

Irving, (Kelville) Ernest (b Godalming, 1878; d Ealing, 1953). Eng. cond., particularly of th. and film mus. Mus. dir., Ealing film studios 1935--53, engaging several leading Brit. composers to write film mus. Dedicatee of Vaughan Williams's Sinfonia Antartica.

Irving, Robert (Augustine) (b Winchester, 1913). Eng. cond. Studied RCM. Ass. cond. BBC Scottish Orch. 1945--8, mus. dir. SW (later Royal) Ballet 1949--58, NY City Ballet from 1958.

Isaac (Isaak), Heinrich (b Brabant, c.1450; d Florence, 1517). Flemish composer. From 1485 to 1493 in service of Lorenzo de' Medici at Florence as org., choirmaster, and teacher of his children. Court composer at Innsbruck 1497. Returned to Florence 1502 and also served at Ferrara. Comp. much church mus. and many secular songs. Wrote mus. for a religious drama by Lorenzo, many of whose poems he also set. Regarded as one of major figures of the Després era.

Isaacs, Edward (b Manchester, 1881; d Manchester, 1953). Eng. pianist and composer. Studied RMCM and in Berlin, Vienna, and Leipzig. Débuts Berlin and Manchester 1904. Dir., Manchester mid-day concerts 1923--53. Blind for almost last 30 years of his life. Wrote pf. conc., pf. trio, etc.

Isaacs, Leonard (b Manchester, 1909). Eng. pianist and administrator, son of Edward Isaacs. Studied RCM, and with Cortot and Petri. Joined staff of BBC 1936, becoming mus. programme organizer 1948--50 and head of mus. for 3rd Programme. Prof. of mus., Univ. of Manitoba, 1963.

Isador, Michael (b Philadelphia, 1939). Amer. pianist. Studied Paris Cons., Juilliard Sch., NY, and with Ilona Kabos in London 1962--5. DébutPhiladelphia 1951. Taught at Univ. of Calif. and San Francisco Cons. 1965--8, Univ. of Capetown 1969--71. Settled in Eng. 1975.

Islamey. Oriental fantasy for pf. by Balakirev, 1st version, comp. 1869, 2nd version, comp. 1902. Orch. by Casella 1907.

I.S.C.M. International Society for Contemporary Music.

Isepp, Martin (Johannes Sebastian) (b Vienna, 1930). Austrian-born pianist and harpsichordist. Studied Oxford and RAM. On staff Glyndebourne Opera from 1957 (chief coach 1973); taught at Juilliard Sch., NY, 1973--6. Accompanist to several leading singers, notably Janet Baker.

Isle of the Dead, The (Ostrov myortvykh). Symphonic poem Op. 29 by Rakhmaninov, comp. 1909 and inspired by Böcklin's painting of that name (Insel der Toten). F.p. Moscow 1909.

I.S.M. Incorporated Society of Musicians (Britain).

Isola disabitata, L' (The Desert Island). Opera (azione teatrale) by Haydn to lib. by Metastasio. Prod. Esterháza 1779, Washington D.C. 1936, Wexford 1982.

Isometric (from Gr. isos, equal). Having the same rhythm in every v. or part (i.e. proceeding in chords rather than in freely moving counter-point).

Isorhythm (from Gr. isos, equal). Term coined in 1904 by F. Ludwig to describe the principle found in medieval mus., c.1300--1450, whereby the same rhythmic pattern recurs in successive repetitions of the melody. It was usually applied to the ten. part of a motet which would consist of a short repeated rhythmic pattern; the melody in the ten. part was also often repeated but not in synchronization with the rhythmic repetition. Rhythmic repetition was known as talea, melodic as color. In the mus. of Machaut and de Vitry, the rhythmic pattern was not repeated in the same note values but in proportional diminution, e.g. original values were halved or reduced by a third. Nor did these composers confine isorhythm to the ten. parts but extended it to upper vv., especially in hocket. Eng. composers at the end of the 14th cent. developed isorhythm in all vv., so that it took two appearances of the talea to accommodate one of the color.

Isouard, Nicolò (b Malta, 1775; d Paris, 1818). Maltese composer, known sometimes as Nicolò. Studied pf. in Paris, completing studies in Naples. 1st opera prod. Florence 1794. Returned to Paris 1799, becoming popular opera composer in rivalry to Boieldieu. Of over 35 operas prod. in 16 years, the best was Cendrillon (1810), but also set Il Barbiere di Siviglia (c.1796). Comp. sacred works, airs, and romances.

Israel in Egypt. Oratorio by Handel, to Biblical text probably compiled by him. Comp. 1738, f.p. London 1739. Famous for its superb double choruses. The ch. Egypt was glad was borrowed, unacknowledged, from a canzona by Kerll—indeed, up to a third of the music was taken from other composers.

Israel Philharmonic Orchestra. Formerly known as Palestine S.O., founded in 1936 by Huberman. Toscanini cond. first concert, December 1936. Since 1951 has made frequent tours. Chiefconds. have incl. Jean Martinon, Paul Kletzki, and, since 1968, Zubin Mehta, but many guest cond.s. Based in Tel Aviv.

Israel Symphony. For 2 sop., 2 cont., bass, and orch. by Bloch. Comp. 1912--16; f.p. NY 1916.

Istel, Edgar (b Mainz, 1880; d Miami, 1948). Ger. composer and musicologist. Studied Munich Univ. (comp. with Thuille). Writer and teacher in Munich 1900--13; lecturer in Berlin 1913--19; worked in Sp. 1920--36, leaving there for Eng. and then (1938) USA. Comp. several operas and choral works; author of several books on Wagner, also on Cornelius, Paganini, comic opera, etc.

Istesso (It.). Same. Used in such connexions as L'istesso tempo, 'The same speed'—usually meaning that, though the nominal value of the beat has changed, its actual time duration is to remain the same: for instance, the former beat may have been ;ya (say in 4 time) and the new one ;ya. (say in 6 time) and these are to have the same time value.

Istomin, Eugene (b NY, 1925). Amer. pianist of Russ. parentage. Studied Curtis Institute 1939 with Horszowski and Serkin. Début with Philadelphia Orch., 1943. Prades Fest. with Casals 1950. Played in pf. trio with Isaac Stern and Leonard Rose.

Instrumento d'acciaio (It.). Instrument of steel. Mozart's name for his glockenspiel in Die Zauberflöte.

Italiana in Algeri, L' (The Italian girl in Algiers). Comic opera in 2 acts by Rossini to lib. by Anelli. Prod. Venice 1813, London 1819, NY 1832.

Italian Caprice. Orch. work by Tchaikovsky, Op. 45, comp. 1880, often known by mixed It.-Fr. title Capriccio italien.

Italian Concerto. Instr. comp. by Bach for solo hpd. with 2 manuals, pubd. in 2nd section of Klavierübung, 1735. He seems to have used the term to draw attention to the facts that there are (a) passages of alternation and contrast, and (b) 3 movements, so resembling the It. concerto grosso.

Italian Girl in Algeria, The (Rossini). See Italiana in Algeri, L'.

Italian Serenade (Italienische Serenade). Work for str. qt. by Wolf, 1887. Later arr. for orch. (1892) and ed. Reger.

Italian Sixth. See Augmented Intervals.

Italian Song-book (Wolf). See Italienisches Liederbuch.

Italian Symphony. Title given by Mendelssohn to his Sym. No.4 in A major, Op. 90. Begun in It. 1830--1 and completed 1833 but not pubd. until 1847 (it was his 3rd sym. in order of comp.). F.p. London 1833.

Italienisches Liederbuch (Italian Songbook). 46 songs for v. and pf. by Wolf, all being settings of poems trans. from the It. by Paul von Heyse (1830--1914) and pubd. in 1860 under title Italienisches Liederbuch. Wolf's songs were comp. in 2 parts, Book I of 22 songs 1890--1, Book 2 of 24 songs in 1896. Some were later orch. by Wolf, others by Reger.

Iturbi, José (b Valencia, 1895; d Los Angeles, 1980). Sp. pianist and cond. Studied Valencia and Paris Cons. Head of pf. dept., Geneva Cons. 1919--23. London début 1923, Philadelphia 1928. Began active cond. career 1933 in Mexico City and NY. Mus. dir. Rochester P.O. 1935--44. Appeared in several films.

Ivan IV. Correct name of opera in 4 (orig. 5) acts by Bizet to lib. by F. H. Leroy and H. Trianon orig. written for Gounod. Comp. ?1862--3, rev. 1864--5. Efforts to have it prod. having failed, Bizet withdrew it. Incomplete MS. of score passed to Paris Cons. in 1929. Private stage perf. of this version was given at Mühringen Castle, Württemberg, 1946 under title Ivan le Terrible. Completed and rev. (reduced to 4 acts) by Henri Busser, perf. Bordeaux 12 Oct. 1951, Cologne 1952. Bizet used portions of score in other works. Perf. of orig. version broadcast by BBC 1975.

Ivanhoe. Opera in 5 acts by Sullivan (his only 'grand opera') to lib. by J. Sturgis after Scott's novel (1819). Comp. 1890. Prod. London 1891 (run of 160 perfs.), Berlin 1895.

Ivan Susanin. Orig. title of Glinka's opera A Life for the Tsar by which it is now known in Communist and some other countries.

Ivan the Terrible (Rimsky-Korsakov). See Maid of Pskov, The.

Ives, Charles (Edward) (b Danbury, Conn., 1874; d NY, 1954). Amer. composer, one of the most extraordinary and individual figures in the history of Western mus. In his works, many of the innovative and radical procedures adopted by younger avant-garde composers are anticipated or foreshadowed in some degree. His father was a town bandmaster who experimented with tone clusters, polytonality, quartertones, and acoustics, inspiring similar interests in his son. What fascinated George Ives, and later his son, was the clash of rhythm and tone resulting from two bands playing different tunes at a parade, or from his wife whistling at her housework and a boy elsewhere practising the pf. He would make Charles sing in a key different from the acc. 'to stretch our ears'. At 14 Charles became organist at Danbury Baptist Church, composing in 1891 his Variations on 'America'. He entered Yale Univ. in 1894, studying org. with Dudley Buck and comp. with Horatio Parker (with whose conventional outlook Ives soon grew weary). Ives wrote his first sym. while at Yale, played the org. at Centre Church on the Green, and tried out some of his comps. on the local th. orch. In 1898 he graduated and moved to NY as a clerk in an insurance co., taking up several organist posts. In 1907 he and a friend formed their own insurance agency, which became very successful. Ives divided his time between business and mus., working long hours and damaging his health. He worked on a 2nd Sym. from 1900 to 1902 and a 3rd from 1904--11. Mahler was interested in this latter work but died before he could conduct it. From 1910 to 1918 Ives was at his most prolific, working on several comps. simultaneously. In 1918 he was seriously ill, sustaining cardiac damage; he gradually reduced his business activities, retiring in 1930, and he comp. little new after 1917, devoting the rest of his life to revising his comps. and thereby contributing to the chaotic state of his MSS., which led to untold difficulties in perf. He planned a Universe Symphony in which several different orchs., with huge choirs, were to be stationed in valleys, and on top of mountains. In 1919 Ives decided to publish some of his mus., without copyright or performing rights. The vast Concord Sonata and 114 songs were issued in this way. The 1st perf. in NY of orch. mus. by Ives was in Jan. 1927 when Eugene Goossens cond. 2 movements from the 4th Sym. It was a failure. However, Ives's mus. was beginning to attract champions, among them the lecturer Henry Bellamann, the French pianist Robert Schmitz, and the composers and condns. Henry Cowell, Wallingford Riegger, Carl Ruggles, Nicolas Slonimsky and, later, Bernard Herrmann and Lou Harrison. Slonimsky bravely cond. perfs. of Three Places in New England in Boston, NY, and Los Angeles from 1930--2 and later cond. Ives works in Europe. Slonimsky also made the first Ives recording (1934) and Herrmann cond. the first Ives broadcast (c.1933). The pianist John Kirkpatrick devoted nearly 10 years to mastering the complexities of the Concord Sonata in consultation with Ives and played it in NY and elsewhere in 1939, arousing considerable enthusiasm. (It was f.p. in New Orleans in 1920.) In 1947 the 3rd Sym., perf. in NY that year, won the Pulitzer Prize, to Ives's dismay (he gave the prize money away). The 4th Sym. was not heard in its entirety until 11 years after Ives's death, when Stokowski cond. it. Ives's mus. is sometimes called primitive but is in fact highly sophisticated. It is, like it or not, entirely honest mus., the outpouring of its stubborn and unusual creator, who delighted in pointing out that he had written most of his works before those by Stravinsky and Hindemith which some critics claimed had influenced him. The juxtaposition of incongruous elements, derived from the Danbury bands, occurs even in his earliest works. His Psalm 67 of 1893 is in 2 keys throughout. Even in the Dvořákian 1st Sym. the use of tonality is remarkably free and unconventional. Jazz is drawn upon in his first pf. sonata; in the psalm settings for choir of 1896--1900 occur whole-tone scales, a 12-note row, tone clusters, polytonality, and polyrhythms. Aleatory procedures are anticipated in The Unanswered Question where the cond. is told to cue in various parts at will. In several of the orch. works the memory of the 2 bands playing different marches in different keys and tempi is vividly re-created. He 'borrowed' consistently from popular sources such as songs and hymns, or from other composers---over 170 such sources have been positively identified by scholars. Prin. works:

orch: New England Holidays (sometimes called Holidays Symphony): 1. Washington's Birthday. 2. Decoration Day. 3. Fourth of July. 4. Thanksgiving and/or Forefathers' Day (with ch.) (1904--13); Orchestral Set No. 1 (Three Places in New England) (1908--14); Orchestral Set No. 2 (1909--15); Robert Browning Overture (1908--12); The Unanswered Question (1906); Over the Pavements (1906); Central Park in the Dark in the Good Old Summertime (1906); The Gong on the Hook and Ladder (or Firemen's Parade on Main Street) (1911); Rainbow (1914, as song 1921); Hymn (arr. for orch. 1921); Largo Cantabile (1921); Set for th. or chamber orch. (1906--11); Tone Roads No. 1 (1911), No. 3 (1915); Sym., No. 1 in D minor (1895--8), No. 2 (1900--02, some sketches earlier), No. 3 (The Camp Meeting) (1904--11), No. 4 (1910--16, with ch. in finale); Variations on 'America' (orch. arr. by W. Schuman). ;ob Dates of comp. of the syms. are approximate, since Ives himself said he was not sure when he wrote them.;cb choral: The Circus Band (1894), bass soloist, ch., and orch.; December (1912--13), ch. and orch.; Duty (c.1912), ch. and orch.; Easter Carol (1892), ch. and orch.; General William Booth Enters Into Heaven (1914), bass soloist, ch., and orch. (also v. and pf.); Lincoln The Great Commoner (ch. and orch. 1912, v. and pf. 1914); Majority (ch. and orch. 1914--15, v. and pf. 1921); The New River (1911, rev. 1913 and ? 1921), ch. and orch.; On The Antipodes (1904), ch. and orch. 1915, v. and pf. 1923; Psalm 14 (c.1897), Psalm 25 (c.1897), Psalm 54 (c.1896), Psalm 67 (1898), Psalm 100 (c.1898), Psalm 135 (c.1899), Psalm 150 (1896), for unacc. ch., orch., and org. or orch., Psalm 90 (1896--1901, 1923--4), for sop., ten., ch., and orch.; Serenity (ch. and orch. 1909, v. and pf. 1919); 3 Harvest Home Chorales (c.1898--1912), ch. and orch. or ch., brass, and org.; Vita (ch. and orch. or org. 1912, v. and pf. 1921); Walt Whitman (ch. and orch. 1913, v. and pf. 1921); An Election, or Nov. 2, 1920 (male vv. or unison ch. and orch. 1920, v. and pf. 1921).

chamber music (incl. v. and chamber ens.): Song for Harvest Season, mez. and brass quintet (c.1893); The Children's Hour, mez. and ch. orch. (1901); Chromatimelodtune for brass qt. and pf. (1909, 1913, 1919); From the Steeples and the Mountains, brass quintet (1901); The Indians, mez. and chamber orch. (1912), v. and pf. (1921); Largo, vn., cl., and pf. (1901); Vn. Sonata No.1 (1903--8), No. 2 (1903--10), No. 3 (1902--14), No.4 (1892--1906, 1914--15); Str. Qt. No. 1 (A Revival Service) (1896), No. 2 (1907--13); Pf. Trio (1904--11).

piano: Over 20 Studies for pf., incl. Nos. 2, 5, 6, 7, 8, and 9 (The Anti-Abolitionist Riots), Nos. 15, 18, 20, 21 (Some South-Paw Pitching), No. 22 (Twenty-Two), and No. 23 (Baseball Take-off) (1907--9); 5 Take-Offs (Seen and Unseen, Rough and Ready, Song without (good) Words, Scene Episode, Bad Resolutions and Good) (1906--7); Sonata No. 1 (1901--9), No. 2 (Concord, Mass. 1840--1860) with solos for va. and fl. (1911--15); 3-Page Sonata (1905); 6 Protests (Varied Air and Variations) (1916); 3 Quarter-Tone Piano Pieces for 2 pf. (1923--4); Celestial Railroad, arr. from 2nd movt. of 4th Sym. (c.1924).

organ: Prelude, Adeste Fideles (1897); Variations on a National Hymn, 'America' (c.1891, also arr. for orch. by W. Schuman).

songs: Pubd. in the following colls.: 3 Songs; 4 Songs; 7 Songs; 9 Songs; 10 Songs; 11 Songs and 2 Harmonizations; 12 Songs; 13 Songs; 14 Songs; 19 Songs; 34 Songs; Sacred Songs.

Ivogün, Maria (Ilse von Günther) (b Budapest, 1891). Hung. sop. Studied Vienna. Member of Munich Opera 1913--25. Created role of Ighino in Pfitzner's Palestrina, Munich 1917. CG début 1924 as Zerbinetta in Strauss's Ariadne auf Naxos (a role in which Strauss described her as 'without rival'), Berlin Municipal Opera 1925--34. Devoted herself to teaching after retirement (pupils incl. Elisabeth Schwarzkopf and Rita Streich).

Iwaki, Hiroyuki (b Tokyo, 1932). Japanese cond. Studied Tokyo Univ. Début Tokyo 1956. Chief cond. Melbourne S.O., mus. dir. and cond. N.H.K. S.O., Japan. [xm[xm0] [ts1][bm2][cc27][dt5p6,1g,10p3,10p3][ol0] [ol3][ru5,27][ol2] [bt[ntTwo in the time of three:

Duplet or Couplet

3 4 [nt6 8 [et [ol3][ru5,27][ol2] [bt[ntThree in the time of two: [et[btTriplet (see also under 'Sextolet' below) [nt2 4 [et [ol3][ru5,27][ol2] [bt[ntFour in the time of three:

Quadruplet

3 4 [nt6 8 [et [ol3][ru5,27][ol2] [it6p6]Five in the time of four---or of three:
[it0][btQuintuplet [nt3 4 [nt6 8 [et [ol3][ru5,27][ol2] [btSextolet or Sextuplet (and Double Triplet) [ntSix in the time of four: [ntIf a grouping of 3; Pl3 is desired it should be written as below: [et[bt[nt2 4 (really a triplet) [nt2 4 (really a double triplet) [xm3][ru5,27][ol2] [it6p6]Seven in the time of four---or of six: [it0][btSeptolet, or Septuplet, or Septimole [nt2 2 [nt6 4

J

Jabo (Sp., in old Sp. Xabo). A solo dance in a slow triple rhythm.

Jacchini, Giuseppe Maria (b Bologna, c.1663; d Bologna, 1727). It. cellist and composer. Studied cello with Domenico Gabrielli (b Bologna, 1651; d Bologna, 1690). Cellist in orch. S. Petronio 1689--96 and 1701--27. Famous for tpt. and str. sonatas. Wrote pioneering solo vc. sonata.

Jack. See Harpsichord.

Jackson, Francis (Alan) (b Malton, 1917). Eng. organist, composer, and cond. Studied Durham Univ. and with Bairstow. Organist Malton church 1933--40; organist and master of the mus., York Minster 1946--82. Frequent recitalist. Comps. incl. monodramas (speaker, ch., and orch.), org. sonatas, Variations on a Theme by Vaughan Williams, sym. in D minor (orch.), and numerous org. pieces, anthems, canticles, etc. O.B.E. 1978.

Jacob, Gordon (b London, 1895; d Saffron Walden, 1984). Eng. composer, teacher, and cond. Studied RCM under Stanford, Boult, and Howells. On staff RCM as prof. of theory, comp., and orchestration 1926--66. Author of textbooks on orchestration and its technique. Transcr. for full orch. and brass band Vaughan Williams's English Folk-Song Suite, orig. for military band, and for full orch. his Variations for brass band. Comps. incl. 2 syms. (1929, 1944), sinfonietta (1942), 2 va. concs. (1925, 1979), 2 pf. concs. (1927, 1957), bn. conc. (1947), hn. conc. (1951), vn. conc. (1953), 2 ob. concs. (1933, 1956), cl. conc. (1980), ballets, and numerous arrs. C.B.E. 1968.

Jacobi, Frederick (b San Francisco, 1891; d NY, 1952). Amer. composer, cond., and pianist. Studied NY with R. Goldmark (comp.) and at Berlin Hochschule. Ass. cond. at NY Met. 1913--17. Studied mus. of Pueblo Indians, living among them in New Mexico and Arizona. Indian themes and Jewish liturgical mus. are the main influences on his works. Taught at Juilliard Sch., NY, 1936--50. Comp. opera The Prodigal Son (1943--4), 2 syms., Indian Dances for orch., Sabbath Evening Service, Ode to Zion, vc. conc., pf. conc., vn. conc., 3 str. qts., pf. pieces, songs, etc.

Jacobin, The (Jakobin). Opera in 3 acts by Dvořák to lib. by M. Červinková-Riegrová. Comp. 1887--8. Prod. Prague 1889, London 1947.

Jacobs, Arthur (David) (b Manchester, 1922). Eng. mus. critic, ed., and translator. Mus. critic Daily Express 1947--52, then freelance critic for var. newspapers. Deputy ed. Opera magazine 1962--71; ed. British Music Yearbook 1971--80; ed. A New Dictionary of Music (1958, rev. 1967, 1973, 1977), Choral Music symposium 1963. Wrote A Short History of Western Music (1972), Arthur Sullivan, a Victorian Musician (1984), and contrib. to many other books and publications. Librettist of Maw's One-Man Show (1964) and translator of over 20 opera libs. Lecturer in mus. history, etc., at RAM from 1964. Head of mus. dept., Huddersfield Polytechnic, 1979--85 (prof. from 1984). Visiting lecturer to several Amer. univs.

Jacobs, Robert L(ouis) (b Melbourne, Victoria, 1904). Australian writer and teacher. Studied privately in Vienna and Berlin. Extra-mural lecturer, London Univ. 1947--72. Author of books on Wagner, harmony, etc.; contrib. to encyclopedias.

Jacobson, Maurice (b London, 1896; d Brighton, 1976). Eng. composer and publisher. Studied RCM with Stanford and Holst. Mus. reader to J. Curwen & Sons from 1923, becoming dir. 1933, chairman 1950--72. Comps. incl. cantatas The Hound of Heaven, The Lady of Shalott, Symphonic Suite for Str., chamber mus., etc. Arr. several works by Vaughan Williams. O.B.E. 1971.

Jacotin, Jacques (b 1445; d Antwerp, 1529). Flemish composer whose identity is speculative. His chansons were pubd. by Attaignant. Also composed sacred mus.

Jacques, Reginald (b Ashby-de-la-Zouch, 1894; d Stowmarket, 1969). Eng. cond. and composer. Organist, Queen's Coll., Oxford. Cond. Oxford Harmonic Soc. 1923--30, Oxford Orch. Soc. 1930--6, London BachChoir 1932--60. 1st mus. dir. of CEMA (later Arts Council) 1940--5. Founded Jacques Orch. 1936, remaining cond. Author of books on school mus. and v. training. C.B.E. 1954.

Jaeger, August (Johannes) (b Düsseldorf, 1860; d London, 1909). Ger. musician who settled in Eng. in 1878, working for printer of maps in the Strand, London. Joined staff of mus. publishers, Novello, in 1890, becoming head of publishing office. Was responsible for seeing works by Novello composers into print, especially those by Elgar, whose greatness he recognized. Became intimate friend of Elgar, their correspondence having since been pubd. Immortalized in Elgar's Enigma Variations as 'Nimrod' (Nimrod in the Bible was a hunter; Jäger = hunter in Ger.). To say, as is sometimes committed to print, that he was 'Elgar's publisher' is inaccurate.

Jahn, Otto (b Kiel, 1813; d Göttingen, 1869). Ger. archaeologist, philologist, and writer on mus. Held professional posts in Greifswald, Leipzig, and Bonn. Author of Life of Mozart (1st edn., 4 vols. Leipzig 1856--9, 2nd edn., 2 vols. 1867, 3rd edn. 1889--91, 4th edn. 1905--7. Eng. trans. 1882). Collected material for biographies of Haydn and Beethoven which was passed, respectively, to Pohl and Thayer. One of founders in 1850 of Bach Gesellschaft.

Jahreszeiten, Die (Haydn). See Seasons, The.

Jakobsleiter, Die (Jacob's Ladder). Unfinished oratorio by Schoenberg, comp. 1917--22, for sop., 3 tens., 2 basses, speaking ch., ch., and orch., to his own text. Scoring completed by Winfried Zillig. F.p. (1st part) Hamburg 1958; (completed version) Vienna 1961; f.p. in England, London 1965.

Jalas, Jussi (b Jyväskylä, 1908). Finn. cond. Cond. at Finn. Nat. Th. 1930--45, cond. Helsinki Nat. Opera from 1945. Guest cond. in Eng., USA, and Europe. Son-in-law of Sibelius.

Jaleadas (Sp.). The 'Seguidillas Jaleadas' dance (see Seguidilla) is a vigorous form, showing the influence of the cachucha.

Jaleo (in old Sp., Xaleo). Sp. solo dance in slow triple time.

Jalousieschweller (Ger.). Venetian-blind swell. The org. swell pedal.

Jamaican Rumba. Short piece for 2 pf. by Arthur Benjamin, pubd. in 1938. Arr. for many other combinations, particularly small orch.

James, Ifor (b Carlisle, 1931). Eng. hn.-player and cond. Hn.-player in Hallé, RLPO, and other orchs. Member, Philip Jones Brass Ens. Cond. of brass bands.

James, Ivor (b London, 1882; d London, 1963). Eng. cellist. Studied RCM, where later he was prof. of vc. and chamber mus. from 1919. Member of Eng. Str. Qt. 1909--25, Menges Qt. from 1931. C.B.E. 1953.

James, Philip (b Jersey City, NJ, 1890; d Southampton, NY, 1975). Amer. composer and cond. Studied Coll. of City of NY. Comp. pupil of R. Goldmark. Cond. operettas of Victor Herbert 1919--22. Faculty of Mus. NY Univ. 1923 (head of dept. 1933--55). Won NBC prize 1932 for satirical suite Station WGZBX. Works incl. ballet Judith (1927), ov. Bret Harte, 2 syms., symphonic poems, choral works (incl. General William Booth Enters Into Heaven), chamber mus.

Jam Session. Informal perf. by jazz musicians improvising collectively.

Janáček, Leos; (b Hukvaldy, E. Moravia, 1854; d Ostrava, 1928). Cz. composer, cond., organist, and teacher. Although he was 47 when the 20th cent. began, he is essentially a 20th-cent. composer. His father was a choirmaster. At 11, Janáček entered the Augustinian monastery, Brno, as a choirboy, studying mus. with Pavel Křížek. In 1872 he became a junior master at Brno teachers' training coll., and was at the Prague Organ Sch., 1874--6. He went to Leipzig and Vienna in search of fame and fortune but returned disappointed to Brno as mus. master at the training coll. His early comps. met with little success, but he became deeply involved with Moravian folk music, working with Bartos^; on editing, harmonizing, and performing folk-songs. He also founded Brno Organ Sch. in 1881, becoming dir. and remaining as organizer until 1919. In 1894 he began work on his 3rd opera, Jen;anufa, which was perf. in Brno with considerable success in January, 1904, the year of his 50th birthday. He had every right to expect it would then be staged in Prague, but some years earlier he had severely criticized a comp. by Karel Kova;Akrovic who was now head of the Prague Opera. He refused to hear Jen;Anufa and it took Janáć^;ek's friends until 1916 to have the work accepted for Prague---even then, Kova;Akrovic insisted on 'editing' it himself, for which he received a royalty. Nevertheless the opera was a triumph, as it was in Max Brod's Ger. version in Vienna and Cologne in 1918. This success at the age of 62, coupled with the formation of the Cz. republic, was a tremendous creative spur to Janáć^;ek and in the last 10 years of his life he produced a series of works full of originality, vitality, and power. The opera The Excursions of Mr Brouc^;ek (1917) and the orchestral rhapsody TarasBulba (1918) were followed by the song-cycle The Diary of One Who Disappeared, the operas Ká;akta Kabanová and The Cunning Little Vixen, the concertino for pf. and chamber orch., the Sinfonietta, 2 str. qts., the wind sextet Mládi, the Glagolitic Mass, and 2 more operas, The Makropulos Affair and From the House of the Dead. Mus. history can offer few, if any, parallels with this upsurge of sustained inspiration---an inspiration partly derived from his unconsummated love for a young married woman whom he met in 1917 and to whom he wrote over 600 letters. Janáć^;ek's early works belong to the 19th-cent. world of Dvo;Akrák and Smetana. But in his maturity, from Jen;Anufa onwards, his individual style developed. His works are based on short bursts of melody, strongly rhythmical, like vocal exclamations, these deriving from his fascination by speech-rhythms. He noted in sketch-books phrases he overheard in town and countryside, particularizing the moods in which they were spoken. Themelodic fragments undergo sudden changes of tonality and mood, being built by simple but unusual means to strong emotional climaxes. His harmonic language, however, was in no way innovative. His staple fare in this respect comprised common chords, 7ths, 9ths, and the whole-tone scale, but what is unusual is his spacing and juxtaposition of chords. His orchestration is equally striking and unusual, often seeming harsh and raw but invariably being apt and effective. He liked to use instr. at the extremes of their range. Janáć^;ek's operas have held their place in the repertory since they were first perf. in Europe but only since the 1950s has the Eng. public been awakened to their originality and beauty, largely through the efforts of the cond. Charles Mackerras, who has also purged the scores of corruptions and accretions by other hands. The emotional range of the operas is wide: jealousy, hatred, love, and guilt are explored in Jen;Anufa and Ká;akta Kabanová, nature and the eternal round of the seasons in the fantasy The Cunning Little Vixen, satire in The Excursions of Mr Brouc^;ek, and harsh reality in The Makropulos Affair and the extraordinary From the House of the Dead---yet in all these disparate works the principal element is a compelling faith in humankind and its grip on life. Prin. works:

operas: ;akSárka (text by Zeyer) (1887--8, rev. 1918 and 1924); The Beginning of a Romance (Poc^;átek Románu) (1891, prod. 1894); Her Foster-Daughter (Její Pastorky); akna, known as Jen;anufa (1894--1903, rev. before 1908); Fate (Osud) (1903--5, rev. 1906--7); The Excursions of Mr Brouc^;ek (Výlety pana Brouc^;ka) (1908--17); Ká;akta Kabanová (Katya Kabanova) (1919--21); The Cunning Little Vixen (P;akríhody lis^;ky Bystrous^;ky) (1921--3); The Makropulos Affair (Ve^;c Makropulos) (1923--5); From the House of the Dead (Z Mrtvého Domu) (1927--8).

orch: Suite for Strings (1877); Idyll for strings (1877); Suite (c.1891); Lachian Dances (Las^;ske tance) (1889--90); overture Jealousy (;akZárlivost) (1894); ballad The Fiddler's Child (;akSuma;akrovoDíté^) (1912); rhapsody Taras Bulba (1915--18); symphonic poem The Ballad of Blanik (Balada blanická) (1920); Sinfonietta (1926); symphonic poem Danube (Dunaj) (1923--8, completed by O. Chlubna).

chorus and orch: Lord, have mercy on us (Hospodine pomiluj ny) for double ch., solo qt., wind orch., organ, harp (1897); Amarus, solo, ch., and orch. (c.1897, rev. 1901, 1906); At the Inn of Solan (Na Solani ;AkCarták) male ch., solo, and orch. (1911); The Eternal Gospel (Ve^;c né Evangelium) solo, ch., and orch. (1914--15); Glagolitic Mass (Glagolská ms^;e) sop., alto, ten., bass, ch., organ, and orch. (1926); Nursery Rhymes (;akRikadla) 9 vv., pf., and 11 instr. (1925, rev. 1927).

chorus: Ploughing (Oriani) male ch. (1876); The Wild Duck (Kac^;ena Divoka) (c.1885); 4 Choruses, male vv. (1886); The Wreath (Vinek) for 4 male ch. (1904); 4 Moravian Choruses for male vv. (1904); Songs of the Hradc^;any (Hradc^;anské Pis^;kic^;ky) 3 ch. for women's vv. (1916); Diary of One Who Disappeared (Zápisník Zmizelého) song-cycle for ten., cont., 3 women's vv., and pf. (1917--19); Wolf Tracks (Vle^;í stopa), sop., women's ch., and pf. (1916); Kaspar Rucky, women's ch. (1916); Teacher Halfar (Kantor Halfar) male vv. (1906, rev. 1917); The Czech Legions (;akCeské Legie) male ch. (1918); The Wandering Madman (Potulny s^;ilene) sop., male ch. (1922).

chamber music: Dumka, vn. and pf. (c.1880); Fairy Tale (Pohádka) vc. and pf. (1910, 2nd version 1923); vn. sonata (1914, rev. 1921); Str. Qt. No.1 (Kreutzer Sonata) (1923), No.2 (Intimate Letters) (Listy d;Anuve^;rné) (1928); Youth (Mládi), wind sextet (1924); concertino for pf. and chamber orch. (c.1925); Capriccio for pf. (left hand) and chamber orch. (c.1926).

piano: Vallachian Dances (1888); National Dances of Moravia for pf. (4 hands), Books 1 and 2 (1891), Book 3 (1893); On an Overgrown Path (Po zarostlém Chodníc^;ku) 15 short pieces (7 orig. for harmonium) (1901--8); Sonata 1:x:1905 (A street scene; Z ulice) (the day a worker was killed by a soldier for demonstrating for a Cz. univ. in Brno); In the Mists (V mlhách) (1912); Moravian Dances, 2 books (1912); In the Threshing House (1913).

solo voice: Song of Spring, v. and pf. (1897); Folk Poetry of Hukwald, 13 songs for v. and pf. (1899); A Garland of Moravian Folk Songs, 53 songs coll. by Bartos^; and Janác^;ek, with pf. acc. by Janác^;ek, Book 1 (1892), 2 (1901).

Janác^;ek Quartet. Cz. str. qt. formed 1947 by students of Brno Cons. First public concert, Brno, Oct. 1947. Adopted name Janác^;ek Qt. after Prague début 1949. Toured Poland 1949, Middle East 1955, W. Berlin 1956. First visit to Brit. 1958. Original members were Ji;akrí Trávnic^;ek, (b Vlas^;tovic^;ky, 1925; d Brno, 1973) and Miroslav Matyás (b Brno, 1924), vns.; Ji;akrí Kratochvíl (b Ivanc^;ice, 1924), va.; and Karel Kafka (b Znojmo, 1921), vc. Trávnic^;ek was succeeded by Bohumil Smejkal (b Brno, 1935); Matyás by Adolf Sýkora (b Brno, 1931) in 1952. Has made close study of Janác^;ek's two qts., also those by Bartók, Shostakovich, Britten, and Novák. Always performs from memory.

Janequin (Jannequin), Clément (b Châtellerault, nr. Poitiers, c.1485; d Paris, 1558). Fr. composer. Studied for priesthood. Choirmaster, Angers Cath. from 1537. Comp. over 250 chansons, some of which were pubd. by Attaignant. Settled in Paris 1549, becoming compositeur du roi. Entered Paris Univ. as a student when over 70. Wrote two Masses based on two of his chansons. Introduced bird-song and other programmatic effects. His Le bataille de Marignan (1515) imitates sword-clashes, warriors' cries, and other sounds.

Janiewicz (Yaniewicz), Feliks (b Wilno, 1762; d Edinburgh, 1848). Polish violinist and composer. Visited Vienna 1785, meeting Haydn and Mozart; then 3 years in It.; Paris 1787--90. Visited Eng. 1792, playing in London, Bath, Liverpool, and Manchester. Took part in Haydn's London concerts 1794. Settled in Liverpool 1800, founding publishing firm 1803. One of founders of Phil. Soc., London. Lived in Edinburgh from 1815, retiring in 1829. Comp. vn. concs., chamber mus., etc.

Janigro, Antonio (b Milan, 1918). It. cellist and cond. Studied Milan Cons. and École Normale de Musique, Paris. Début 1934. Worldwide reputation as solo cellist. Head of advanced vc. class, Zagreb Univ. 1939--53; cond. Zagreb radio-TV orch. 1954--64; founder of chamber ens., I solisti di Zagreb (12 musicians) 1954, cond. until 1967; cond. Angelicum Orch., Milan, 1965--7; cond. Saar chamber orch. from 1968; head of advanced vc. class Schumann Cons., Düsseldorf, from 1965.

Janis (orig. Yanks), Byron (b McKeesport, Penn., 1928). Amer. pianist. Début Pittsburgh 1937. Studied with Adele Marcus and Horowitz. Soloist with NBC S.O. 1943, recital début, NY 1948. European début, Amsterdam 1952; toured USSR 1960 and 1962.

Janissary Music (Ger. Janitscharenmusik). Term once used for the imitation-Turkish mus. produced by triangle, cymbals, and bass drum as in Mozart's Die Entführung aus dem Serail. The Janissaries were the Sultan's bodyguard, disbanded 1826, who had a band.

Janko Keyboard. Pf. kbd., invented in 1882 by Paul von Janko (b Totis, 1856; d Constantinople, 1919), with 6 manuals, each giving a whole-tone series of notes. The finger keys of each kbd. were on one level; the kbds. were arr. so that the hands could move easily over all 6 as over the keys of a typewriter. The span of the octave was reduced and large chords were easy. Won praise from Liszt and Anton Rubinstein but never became popular.

Jannaconi, Giuseppe (b Rome, 1741; d Rome, 1816). It. composer. Succeeded Zingarelli as choirmaster, St Peter's, Rome, 1811. Wrote 32 masses, 52 psalm-settings, many motets, etc.

Janowitz, Gundula (b Berlin, 1937). Ger. soprano. Studied at Styrian Cons., Graz. Début Vienna State Opera 1960 as Barbarina in Le Nozze di Figaro. Bayreuth Fest. 1960. Sang Countess in Figaro at re-opening of Paris Opéra 1973. CG début 1976 (Donna Anna), Glyndebourne 1964. Noted Lieder singer.

Janowski, Marek (b Warsaw, 1939). Polish-born cond. (now W. Ger. cit.). Studied Cologne High Sch. of Mus. and in Siena. Ass. cond. in Aachen, Cologne, and Düsseldorf opera houses, later guest cond. Cologne, Hamburg, Munich, Paris, and Berlin Opera. Mus. dir. Freiburg Opera 1973--5, Dortmund 1975--9. Cond. Radio France from 1984. Also guest cond. Berlin P.O. etc. London début 1969 (Brit. première of Henze's Der junge Lord with Cologne Opera). Amer. opera début 1983 (San Francisco), NY Met. 1984 (Arabella). Art. adv. RLPO from 1983. Cond. firstcompact disc recording of Wagner's Ring.

Janssen, Herbert (b Cologne, 1892; d NY, 1965). Ger.-born bar. (Amer. citizen 1946). Studied Cologne and Berlin. Début Berlin 1922, CG 1926 (annual visits until 1939). Member of NY Met. 1939--52. Singer of Wagnerian roles such as Gunther, Kothner, Amfortas, and Kurwenal.

Janssen, Werner (b NY, 1899). Amer. composer and cond. Studied Univ. of Calif. Cond. début Rome 1931. Amer. début with NY P.O. 1934. Cond. Baltimore S.O. 1937--9, Janssen S.O. of Los Angeles 1940--52, Utah S.O. 1946--7, Portland S.O. 1947--9, San Diego P.O. 1952--4. Comps. incl. Louisiana Suite (1929--30), Dixie Fugue (1932), 2 str. qts., film mus.

Japanese Fiddle. A 1-str. instr. sometimes seen in the hands of Eng. street perfs., etc.

Jaques-Dalcroze, Émile (b Vienna, 1865; d Geneva, 1950). Swiss composer and teacher. Studied Geneva, Vienna (with Bruckner), and Paris. On staff Geneva Cons. 1892, developing his gymnastique rythmique, known as 'Eurhythmics', exercises for expressing rhythmical aspects of mus. by physical movements. Influence on ballet. Taught method 1910--14 at Hellerau, Dresden. Founded Institut Jaques-Dalcroze in Geneva 1915. Wrote several books on subject. Comp. 5 operas (incl. Sancho Panza, 1896), operetta, 2 vn. concs., 3 str. qts., pf. pieces, etc.

Jardin clos, Le (The Enclosed Garden). Song-cycle of 8 songs by Fauré, Op.|106, to poems by Charles van Lerberghe, comp. 1914--15.

Jarnach, Philipp (b Noisy, 1892; d Börnson, 1982). Fr.-born Catalan composer. Studied in Paris 1912--14. Taught at Zürich Cons. 1915--21. Mus. critic, Börsen-Kurier, Berlin, 1922--

7. Studied with Busoni, whose opera Doktor Faust he completed. Prof. of comp., Cologne Cons. 1927--49; dir., Hamburg Cons. 1949--59. Composer of orch. and choral works, str. qt., unacc. vn. sonatas, 2 pf. sonatas, etc.

Järnefelt, Armas (b Viborg (now Viipuri), 1869; d Stockholm, 1958). Finnish-born composer and cond., naturalized Swed. 1910. Cond. Viipuri orch. 1898--1903, Helsinki opera 1903--7, Royal Opera, Stockholm, 1907--32, Helsinki opera 1932--6. Brother-in-law of Sibelius. Said to have introduced Wagner's mus. to Finland. Comps. incl. Praeludium for orch. (1907), Berceuse, pf. pieces, etc.

Jarred, Mary (b Brotton, Yorks., 1899). Eng. cont. Member, Hamburg Opera 1929--32, later at CG. Notable also for singing in oratorio.

Jarrett, Keith (b Allentown, Pa., 1945). Amer. jazz pianist and composer of Scottish-Irish and Hungarian descent. Child-prodigy pianist. In early teens toured with Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians. Studied Berklee Sch. of Mus., Boston. Was offered schol. to study with N. Boulanger in Paris but went instead to NY where he formed his own jazz group and occasionally played with a Miles Davis band. His solo piano improvisations embrace classical and jazz history, rarely with direct quotations, and he has been classified with the 'back to romanticism' movement of Rochberg and Del Tredici. Has been soloist in pf. concs. by Hovhaness and McPhee. Comps. incl. Ritual for pf. and The Celestial Hawk, a pf. conc.

Järvi, Neeme (b Tallin, Estonia, 1937). Estonian-born conductor. Studied Tallin and Leningrad Cons. (with Mravinsky). Début at Kirov Th. (Carmen). Dir., Estonian Opera 1963. Won 1st prize, Accademia di St Cecilia, Rome, 1971. Emigrated to USA 1980. Prin. guest cond. CBSO 1981--4, prin. cond. SNO from 1984.

Jazz (etymology obscure). A term, which came into general use c.1913--15, for a type of mus. which developed in the Southern States of USA in the late 19th cent. and came into prominence at the turn of the century in New Orleans, chiefly (but not exclusively) among black musicians. Elements which contributed to jazz were the rhythms of W. Africa, European harmony, and Amer. 'gospel' singing. Before the term Jazz was used, ragtime was the popular name for this genre. Ragtime lasted from c.1890 to c.1917. It was an instr. style, highly syncopated, with the pf. predominant (though a few rags had words and were sung). Among the leading exponents of the pf. rag were Scott Joplin, Jelly Roll Morton, and J. P. Johnson, with the cornettists Buddy Bolden and King Oliver. Some rags were notated (e.g. Joplin's Maple Leaf Rag) but the majority were improvised. About 1900 also, the 'blues' craze began. 'Blues' implies a largely vocal form and a depressed frame of mind on the part of the perf. The form originated from Negro spirituals, and made use of a blend of major and minor harmony, and non-tempered scale intervals. In instr. blues the prominent instrs. were tpt., cornet, cl., sax., or tb. A leading figure of the blues era was the black composer W. C. Handy whose Memphis Blues (1909) and St Louis Blues (1914) are jazz classics.

Outstanding blues singers have been Bessie Smith and, later, Billie Holiday. The subsequent history of jazz has embraced a diversity of styles, e.g. Dixieland, from c.1912, which borrowed elements from both ragtime and blues and made a feature of group improvisation led by the trumpeter. The principal Dixieland musicians included the trumpeters King Oliver and Louis Armstrong, the trombonists Kid Ory and Jack Teagarden, the saxophonist Sidney Bechet, the pianists Jelly Roll Morton and Earl Hines. In the 1920s, jazz became more sophisticated as it spread to New York, Paris, and London and became a social 'rage'. The jazz arranger emerged and with him the bigger band: harmony became more conventional, melodies were played by a full instr. section with the solos as central display-pieces, like cadenzas. These 'big bands' had marked individual styles. Paul Whiteman popularized 'symphonic jazz' using vns. and elaborate arrs. At the other extreme was the Negro style of Duke Ellington, the first great jazz composer. A 'Chicago' style revived smaller bands and more improvisation (its star was the trumpeter Bix Beiderbecke). The 1930s coincided with the style known as 'swing'. The swing bands---led by such virtuoso instrumentalists as Benny Goodman (cl.), Jimmy Dorsey (alto sax.), Gene Krupa (drums), Glenn Miller (tb.), Tommy Dorsey (tb.), Artie Shaw (cl.)---concentrated on precision, arr., and good ens. work. Though Ellington's band was influenced by swing, its members were such superb players and such strong individualists that improvisation still played a large part in his comps. Swing yielded in the 1940s to 'be-bop', principally for smaller groups of perhaps 7 players. Rhythm was the prime feature of be-bop, allied to scat singing (vocalizing to nonsense syllables). Tempi were fast and great virtuosity was needed. The dominant player was the alto saxophonist Charlie Parker (1920--55). Also important were Dizzy Gillespie (trumpeter), Stan Getz (tenor saxophonist), and Kenny Clarke and Max Roach (drummers). 'Be-bop' was later rechristened 'modern jazz'. Among its derivatives were 'cool' jazz, led by Getz and Miles Davis, and by Shorty Rogers (tpt.) and Lennie Tristano (pf.). In the 1960s 'free jazz' was pioneered but the jazz scene was overshadowed by the emergence of 'pop' and the pop groups, e.g. the Beatles, the Rolling Stones, and many others, these comprising usually a vocalist, guitarist(s), and perc. 'Hard rock' was a development from this period, and elec. instrs. were commandeered, as in other branches of mus. The influence of jazz on so-called 'serious music' has been widespread and beneficial. Ives composed ragtime pieces for th. orch. as early as 1902; Debussy in 1908 wrote the Golliwogg's Cakewalk; Ravel used the blues in his vn. sonata, and both his pf. concs. are jazz-influenced; Stravinsky wrote ragtime pieces and composed the Ebony Concerto (1945) for Woody Herman; Hindemith, Poulenc, Weill, K. Akrenek, Lambert, and Copland all used jazz features, as did Berg in Lulu. Duke Ellington and Bill Russo are among the leading composers of jazz, while those who have written works throwing a bridge between jazz and symphonic forms incl. Gershwin, Rolf Liebermann, Leonard Bernstein, Gunther Schuller, Richard Rodney Bennett, and John Dankworth.

Jazz Calendar. Ballet in 7 parts, mus. by Richard Rodney Bennett, choreog. Ashton, comp. 1963--4, prod. CG 1968. Based on rhyme 'Monday's Child is Fair of Face' .|. etc.

Jeanne d'Arc au bûcher (Joan of Arc at the Stake). (1) Dramatic oratorio for 4 speakers, 3 sops., cont., ten., bass, ondes Martenot, ch., and orch. by Honegger to text by Claudel. Comp. 1935. F.p. Basle 1938; f.p. in England, London, BBC 1947, staged 1954; San Francisco 1954. (2) Scena for mez. and pf. by Liszt, 1845.

Jeffreys, George (b c.1610; d Weldon, Northants, 1685). Eng. composer. Thought to have studied in Italy. Org. to Charles I at Oxford during Civil War. In 1646 became steward to Sir Christopher Hatton at Kirby, Northants, remaining until death. Worked as amateur composer, only one work being published in lifetime. Wrote mainly church mus., influenced by It. Baroque, particularly Monteverdi and Gesualdo. Collected works ed. Peter Aston, from 1970. Works incl. 35 Eng. anthems, over 70 Latin settings, secular songs, str. fantasias (1629), and mus. for plays (1631).

Jehan Marie-Thérèse (b St Gildas-des-Bois, 1944). Fr. organist. Studied Paris, début 1957. Recitals throughout Europe.

Její Pastorky; akna (Janáć^;ek). See Jen; Anufa.

Jelinek, Hanns (b Vienna, 1901; d Vienna, 1969). Austrian composer. Mainly self-taught but studied with Schoenberg, Berg, and Schmidt. Comps., in 12-note idiom, incl. Symphonia brevis for orch., and 5 other syms., 12-Note Primer for pf., Prometheus (Goethe) for v. and orch. Wrote treatise on 12-note comp. (1952--8).

Jemnitz, Sándor (b Budapest, 1890; d Balatonföldvár, 1963). Hung. composer. Studied Budapest Acad., in Leipzig with Reger and Straube, and in Berlin (1921--4) with Schoenberg. Returned to Hung. 1916. Mus. critic, Népszava of Budapest, 1924--50. Prof. at Bartók Cons., Budapest, from 1951. Wrote books about Mendelssohn, Chopin, and Mozart.

Comps. incl. 3 vn. sonatas, tpt. qt., 2 str. trios, conc. for str. orch., sonatas for several solo instr. (e.g. 5 for pf., 3 for vn., and for vc., harp, va., fl., org., tpt., db., etc.).

`Jena' Symphony. Name given to orch. work found by F. Stein in 1909 at Jena, Ger., and long attrib. to Beethoven. H.|C. Robbins Landon in 1957 est. it was comp. by Friedrich Witt.

Jenkins, John (b Maidstone, 1592; d Kimberley, Norfolk, 1678). Eng. composer. Musician in service of Charles I and Charles II but mainly in private service in Norfolk. Wrote many Fancies for viols or org., 12 sonatas for 2 vns., str. bass, and continuo (org. or theorbo) (1660), light pieces called rants, and songs, catches, etc.

Jenkins, Newell (Owen) (b New Haven, Conn., 1915). Amer. conductor and scholar. Studied in Munich (with Orff) and NY. Début as cond., Freiburg 1935 (Dido and Aeneas). Founded Yale Opera Group, New Haven, 1940. Cond., Bologna Chamber Orch. 1948--53. Founder and dir., Piccola Accademia Musicale, Florence, 1952. Founder, Clarion Concerts, NY, 1956. Expert on music of Sammartini, J. M. Kraus, and Cherubini.

Jensen, Adolf (b Königsberg, 1837; d Baden-Baden, 1879). Ger. composer and pianist. Worked in Russia and Denmark until 1860. Comp. over 150 songs, unfinished opera Turandot, cantatas, chs., etc.

Jen;anufa. Opera (Moravian music drama) in 3 acts by Janáček. This is title by which it is known outside Czechoslovakia, where it retains its orig. title of Her Foster-daughter (Její Pastorky; Akna). Lib. by composer based on story by G. Preissová. Comp. 1894--1903, rev. 1906, 1911, 1916. Prod. Brno 1904, Prague 1916, Vienna 1918, NY Met. 1924, London 1956. Orig. version of ov., comp. 1894, was pubd. in 1906 as independent orch. piece Jealousy (;akZárlivost). Since 1916 opera has usually been performed in edn. with re-orch. by Prague cond. Kovačkovic, but Mackerras and others have restored orig. scoring.

Jephte. (1) Oratorio by Carissimi to Lat. text based on biblical words. For 6 vv. and continuo; comp. 1650. Version by Henze for 7 solo vv., 6 vv. ch., 4 fl., perc., hp., guitar, mandolin, banjo, 1976. (2) Oratorio (Jephtha) by Handel to text by Morell based on Bible. F.p. London 1752.

Jeremiah. Sym. No. 1 by Leonard Bernstein for orch. with mez. soloist in last movement to words from Book of Jeremiah. F.p. Pittsburgh, Jan. 1944, cond. Bernstein, with Jennie Tourel.

Jeremiás^; Jaroslav (b Písek, 1889; d ;akCeské Bude^;jovice, 1919). Cz. composer and cond. Studied Prague Cons. and with Novák. Comp. opera Stary Kraje (The Old King) (1912), oratorio Jan Hus (1915), tone-poem, songs, etc.

Jeremiás^; Otakar (b Písek, 1892; d Prague, 1962). Cz. composer, brother of Jaroslav Jeremiás^;. Studied Prague Cons. and with Novák. Dir. of mus. sch. at Bude^;jovice 1918--30. Chief cond. Prague Radio 1930--45, dir. Prague Opera 1945--7. Comp. 2 syms., operas The Brothers Karamazov (1928) and Till Eulenspiegel (1949), cantatas, chamber mus., etc.

Jerger, Alfred (b Brno, 1889; d Vienna, 1976). Austrian bar. Studied Vienna. Began career as cond., Passau 1913; singing début 1917. Munich Opera 1919--21, Vienna 1921 remaining as leading bar. until 1953. Created roles of The Man in Schoenberg's Die glückliche Hand, Vienna 1924, and Mandryka in Strauss's Arabella, Dresden 1933 and CG 1934. After retirement was prod. at Vienna Volksoper and teacher at Acad.

Jeritza, Maria (orig. Mizzi Jedlitzka) (b Brno, 1887; d Orange, NJ, 1982). Cz. sop. Studied Brno. Opera début as Elsa in Lohengrin at Olmütz, 1910. Engaged 1912 for Vienna Volksoper. Created role of Ariadne in Strauss's Ariadne auf Naxos, Stuttgart 1912. Member, Vienna Court (State) Opera 1913--32, 1949--52, creating roles of Marietta in Korngold's Die tote Stadt and the Empress in Strauss's Die Frau ohne Schatten. NY Met. 1921--32, where she was first Amer. Jen; Anufa, Turandot, and Helen (in Strauss's Die ägyptische Helena). Sang at CG 1925--6 (début as Tosca). Of striking personal beauty and acting ability.

Jerusalem. (1) Setting for unison ch. by C. H. Parry of Blake's poem. Comp. and f.p. 1916. Orch. by Elgar for Leeds Fest. 1922. (2) Oratorio by H. H. Pierson, Norwich Fest. 1852.

Jérusalem. Fr. version by Verdi, 1847, of his opera I Lombardi alla prima crociata (1842), made for Paris with lib. re-fashioned by Vaëz and Royer. Contains some new mus.

Jerusalem, Siegfried (b Oberhausen, 1940). Ger. tenor. Began career as bassoonist in various Ger. orchs. Opera début Stuttgart 1975. Regular appearances in Vienna, Hamburg, and Bayreuth since 1977 in Wagnerian roles of Lohengrin, Siegmund, Parsifal, and Walther.

Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring. Eng. name for chorale Jesu, bleibet meine Freude in J. S. Bach's church cantata No. 147, Herz und Mund und Tat und Leben, orig. orch. for tpt., ob., str., and org. but best known in pf. transcr. by Myra Hess of choral arr. by Hugh P. Allen with poem by Robert Bridges. Chorale melody is Werde Munter by Johann Schop, 1641.

Jeu (Fr.; plural Jeux). (1) Game, play, etc. (2) Stop (org.), e.g. Jeux d'anche, Reed Stops; Jeux de fonds, Foundation Stops (see Fonds d'Orgue); Grand jeu or Plein jeu, Full Org.

Jeu de cartes (Card Game). Ballet 'in 3 deals' with lib. and mus. by Stravinsky, comp. 1936, choreog. Balanchine, prod. NY Met. 1937. Also orch. suite.

Jeu de clochettes (Fr.). Play of little bells, i.e. Glockenspiel.

Jeune, Claude le (b Valenciennes, c. 1530; d Paris 1600). Fr. composer of psalm-settings and many secular chansons and instr. pieces.

Jeune France, La (Fr.). Young France. Group of Fr. composers formed in Paris in 1936 to re-establish then unfashionable idea of 'a personal message' in comp. Members were Baudrier, Jolivet, Lesur, and Messiaen.

Jeunesse d'Hercule, La (The Youth of Hercules). Symphonic poem by Saint-Saëns, Op. 50, 1877.

Jeunesses Musicales (Fr.). Musical Youth. Int. organization formed in Belg., 1946 as La Fédération internationale des jeunesse musicales, later with over 30 member-nations. Aim to spread love of mus. among youth of all lands. Arr. congresses and exchange-visits.

Jeux (Games). Ballet (poème dansé) by Debussy comp. in 1912-13 and f.p. Paris 1913 by Diaghilev's co. with choreog. by Nijinsky. The scenario, also by Nijinsky, involves a game of tennis.

Jeux d'eau (Fountains). Work for solo pf. by Ravel, comp. 1901, f.p. Paris 1902.

Jeux d'enfants (Children's Games). Suite of 12 pieces for pf. duet comp. by Bizet in 1871. Nos. 2, 3, 6, 11, and 12 were orch. by Bizet as Petite Suite d'Orchestre and perf. Paris 1873. 5 were orch. also by Karg-Elert (nos. 6, 3, 4, 11 and 12 in order of perf.) and nos. 6, 3, 2, 11 and 12 were arr. by H. Finck.

Jewels of the Madonna, The (Wolf-Ferrari). See Gioielli della Madonna, I.

Jewess, The (Halévy). See Juive, La.

Jewish Music. It is apparent from the Old Testament and from archaeological discoveries that instr. and vocal mus. has always played a part in Jewish life, both on sacred and secular occasions. After the destruction of the Second Temple, instr. mus. was banned as a token of mourning, but the shofar was retained as the ritual horn and decorative bells were attached to the curtain covering the Ark. Instr. mus was later permitted at weddings and festive events. The oldest element of synagogue mus. is still the cantillation of biblical texts, from which synagogue prayer chants derived. These chants were orally transmitted from generation to generation by cantor-composers. In the middle of the 19th cent. cantorial schools were founded as moves towards a printed repertory began. 19th-cent. Jewish liturgical composers incl. Solomon Sulzer (1804--90), Samuel Naumburg (1815--80), Hirsch Weintraub (1811--81), and Boruch Schorr (1823--1904). In the 20th cent., liturgical services have been comp. by Paul Ben-Haim, Bloch, Milhaud, and Castelnuovo-Tedesco.

Jew's Harp (Fr. rebube, guimbarde; Ger. Trumpel). One of the simplest and most widely distributed instr., being found throughout Europe and Asia. It consists of a tiny iron frame, open at one end, in which end a single strip of metal vibrates. The frame is held between the teeth, and the strip then twanged by the finger. The strip, in itself, is obviously capable of producing only one note, but the harmonics of this note become available by resonance, through various shapings of the cavity of the mouth. Thus tunes can be played. The origin of the name is unknown and seems to be unconnected with Jewry. The name 'Jew's Trump' was recorded in 1545.

Jig. (1) A dance once popular in Eng., Scot., and Ireland, in the last of which its popularity was of longest duration. For its general character and music see Gigue. (2) In the late 16th and 17th cents., the term was applied to a lively song and dance item, of comic character, used to terminate theatrical perfs. (3) Title of last movement of an 18th-cent. orch. suite. See Gigue.

Jílek, Frantis^ek (b Brno, 1913). Cz. cond., pianist, and composer. Cond. début Nat. Th., Brno, later working in Prague, Helsinki, Florence, Leipzig, etc. Prof. of cond., Janáć^ek Acad. of Mus. Arts. Dir. of opera, Brno State Th. Authority on Janáć^ek.

Jingling Johnny (Fr. pavillon chinois or chapeau chinois). Perc. instr., now obsolete, also known as 'Turkish Crescent' or 'Turkish Jingle'. Used in military bands. It comprised a long stick surmounted by a tent-shaped construction, with an inverted crescent lower down the stick, small bells and the like being suspended from both of these. Used by Berlioz in his Symphonie funèbre et triomphale.

Jirák, Karel (Boleslav) (b Prague, 1891; d Chicago, 1972). Cz. composer and cond. Pupil of Novák in Prague and Foerster in Vienna. Cond. at Hamburg Opera 1915--18, prof. of comp., Prague Cons. 1920--30, mus. dir. Cz. radio 1930--45. Settled in USA 1948, joining faculty of Chicago Mus. Coll. Comp. opera, 6 syms., 7 str. qts., song-cycles, etc.

Joachim, Joseph (b Kitsee, 1831; d Berlin, 1907). Hung. violinist and composer. Gave first concert at age of 7. Studied in Vienna 1839--43 under Hellmesberger and Boehm. Went to Leipzig Cons. 1843, where he was welcomed by the dir., Mendelssohn, playing at Gewandhaus concerts and, in 1844, in London. Returned to Leipzig, studying with Mendelssohn and David. In 1849 became leader of Weimar court orch., under Liszt, and leader and soloist to the King of Hanover 1853--66. In 1868 went to Berlin as head of the new Hochschule für ausübende Tonkunst, forming Joachim Quartet following year. Frequent visitor to England (hon. Mus.D., Cambridge, 1887). Superb interpreter of classical conc., especially that by Beethoven (for which he wrote cadenzas). Dedicatee and first player of Brahms's conc., and dedicatee of Dvořák's conc., which he refused to play. Was close friend of Brahms until rift when his marriage broke up and Brahms sided with Frau Joachim (the singer Amalie Weiss). This rift was healed by Brahms's Double Conc. Comp. 3 vn. concs. (incl. Hungarian Concerto), 5 ovs., songs, etc. Orchestrated Schubert's Grand Duo (1855).

Joachim Quartet. Str. qt. founded in Berlin in 1869 by Joseph Joachim, who was 1st vn. 1869--1907. Other members were: 2nd vn., E. Schieber 1869--72, H. de Ahna 1872--92, J. Kruse 1892--7, K. Hali;Akr 1897--1907; va., H. de Ahna 1869--72, E. Rappoldi 1872--7, E. Wirth 1877--1907; vc., W. Müller 1869--79, R. Hausmann 1879--1907. Annual series of concerts in Berlin from 1869. Visits to Vienna, Budapest, Rome, Paris, and London (1900). Hali;Akr led the qt. during Joachim's illness in 1907, and formed his own qt. after Joachim's death.

Job. (1) Masque for dancing in 9 scenes and epilogue by Vaughan Williams, founded on Blake's Illustrations of the Book of Job. Comp. 1927--30. F.p. (concert) Norwich 1930, (ballet) London 1931. (2) Oratorio by Parry, f.p. Gloucester 1892. (3) Opera (sacra rappresentazione) in 1 act by Dallapiccola, text by composer from Book of Job, comp. 1950, f.p. Rome 1950.

Jochum, Eugen (b Babenhausen, 1902). Ger. cond. Studied Augsburg and Munich Acad. Opera coach at Munich 1924--5, Kiel 1926--7. Cond. Kiel opera 1927--9. Chief cond., Duisburg 1930. Cond. for Berlin radio and State Opera 1932--4. Mus. dir. Hamburg State Opera 1934--45, Hamburg P.O. 1934--49. Founder and chief cond. Bavarian Radio Sym. Orch. 1949--61. Joint chief cond. Concertgebouw Orch., Amsterdam, 1961--4, then chief cond. Bamberg S.O. 1969--78. Regular visitor to Eng. as cond. of LPO. Cond. laureate LSO 1975.

Jodelling (Yodelling; from Ger. Jodel). A type of vocal expression common in Switzerland and the Tyrol, which employs an alternation of normal v. production with falsetto in simple rhythmic tunes.

Johannesburg Festival Overture. Ov. by Walton written for 70th anniv. of city of Johannesburg, 1956. F.p. Johannesburg, cond. Sargent, 1956.

Johnesen, Grant (b Salt Lake City, 1921). Amer. pianist. Studied with Petri and Casadesus. Début with NY P.O., 1944. Several tours of Europe and USSR. Dir., Cleveland Institute of Mus.

Johansson, Bengt (Viktor) (b Helsinki, 1914). Finnish composer and cond. Studied Sibelius Acad., Helsinki; mus. supervisor Finnish Radio from 1952, début as cond. 1952. Lecturer in mus. history, Sibelius Acad. since 1960. Comps. incl. opera The Castle, Requiem (1962), 3 Electronic Études, 3 Classic Madrigals (1967), Cantata humana (1969).

John (Jo;atao) IV, King of Portugal (b Villa-Vi;Alcosa, 1603; d Lisbon, 1656). Patron of mus. and composer of church mus. such as well-known Crux fidelis. Wrote defence of 'modern music' 1649.

Johnny strikes up (K;Akrenek). See Jonny spielt auf.

John of Fornsete (b Forncett, Norfolk; d 1238 or 9). Eng. monk at Reading Abbey where he kept the records and hence is credited as being composer of Sumer is icumen in.

Johnson, Edward (fl. 1570--1602). Eng. composer of madrigals, virginals pieces (3 in Fitzwilliam Virginal Book) and psalm-tunes. Contrib. 6-part madrigal Come, blessed byrd, to The Triumphs of Oriana.

Johnson, Edward (b Guelph, Ontario, 1878; d Guelph, 1959). Canadian ten. and opera administrator. Studied NY, where he made début 1908 in O. Straus's Waltz Dream. Studied in Florence with Lombardifor 2 years. It. début Padua 1912 as Andrea Chénier. Sang first It. Parsifal at Scala, Milan, under Toscanini 1914. Prin. ten. roles in Milan, Rome, Buenos Aires, Rio, and Madrid 1914--19. Chicago Opera 1919--21, NY Met. 1922--34. First Met. Pelléas, 1925. Gen. man. NY Met. 1935--50.

Johnson, Graham (b Bulawayo, 1950). Rhodesian-born Eng. pianist. Studied RAM 1967--72, and later with G. Parsons. Début, London 1972. Art. dir. Songmakers' Almanac from 1976. Accomp. to Schwarzkopf, de los Angeles, Baker, etc.

Johnson, Hunter (b Benson, N. Carolina, 1906). Amer. composer. Studied Univ. of N. Carolina, 1924--6, Eastman Sch. of Mus. 1927--9. Head of comp. dept., Michigan Univ. 1929--33. Won Amer. Prix de Rome 1933, going to Europe for 2 years' study. Teacher at Manitoba Univ. 1944--7, Cornell Univ. 1948--53. Illinois Univ. 1959--65, Texas Univ. 1966--71. Comps. incl. sym. (1932), pf. conc. (1936), Concerto for Orchestra (1944), ballet Letter to the World (1940, suite for chamber orch., 1952, for full orch. 1959), and Deaths and Entrances (1943), chamber mus., etc.

Johnson, John (b c.1540; d c.1595). Eng. composer and lutenist at court of Elizabeth I from 1579. Developed lute duet. Earliest of major lutenists of period.

Johnson, Robert (b London, c.1583; d London, 1633). Eng. composer and lutenist. Appointed as one of King's Musicians 1604. Composed instr. pieces, catches, and songs. His settings of Full Fathom Five and Where the Bee Sucks from Shakespeare's The Tempest are thought to have been comp. for the orig. production.

Johnson, Robert Sherlaw (b Sunderland, 1932). Eng. composer and pianist. Studied Durham Univ. 1950--3, RAM 1953--7, and in Paris 1957--8 with Boulanger (comp.) and Février (pf.). Lecturer, Leeds Univ., 1961--5, York Univ., 1965--70. Lecturer, Oxford Univ. from 1970. Specialist in mus. of Messiaen and author of book on him. Works incl. opera The Lambton Worm (1978); Songs of Love and Springtime, sop. and pf.; Carmen Vernalia, sop. and chamber orch. (1972); Praises of Heaven and Earth, sop., pf., and tape (1969); Green Whispers of Gold, sop., pf., and tape (1971); Festival Mass of the Resurrection, ch. and orch.; The Resurrection of Fêng-Huang, sop., unacc. ch. (1968); Where the Wild Things Are, sop. and tape; Triptych, for fl., cl., va., vc., pf., and perc. (1973); 3 pf. sonatas (1963, 1967, 1976); 2 str. qts., cl. quintet (1974); 7 Short Piano Pieces (1968); Asterogenesis for pf. (1973); Anglorum Feriae, sop., ten., ch., orch. (1977).

Johnston, Benjamin (b Macon, Georgia, 1926). Amer. composer. Studied Cincinnati Cons., Univ. of Calif., Mills Coll., Univ. of Illinois, and Columbia-Princeton Elec. Mus. Center. Pupil of John Cage 1959--60. Comps., which use microtones, serialism and indeterminacy, incl. 4 str. qts., dance-opera, sonata for microtonal pf., and 2 Oboes and 2 Tablas and 2 Banyas, using 142--tone just-intonation scale.

Johnstone, Maurice (b Manchester, 1900; d Harpenden, 1976). Eng. composer, cond., and administrator. Studied RMCM and RCM. Secretary to Beecham 1932--5, mus. staff BBC in London and Manchester 1935--60 (head of mus. programmes 1953--60). Works incl. Tarn Hows for orch. (1949), The Oak and the Ash, orch. (1953), Dover Beach for bar. and orch. (1943), mus. for brass band.

Jolie Fille de Perth, La (The Fair Maid of Perth). Opera in 4 acts by Bizet to lib. by St Georges and Adenis, based on Scott's novel (1823). Comp. 1866. Prod. Paris 1867, Manchester and London 1917.

Jolivet, André (b Paris, 1905; d Paris, 1974). Fr. composer. Studied harmony at Paris Univ. with Paul Le Flem, 1927--32, comp. with Varèse 1928--30. One of founders of Jeune France group 1936. Cond. and later mus. dir. Comédie-Française 1943--59, prof. of comp., Paris Cons. 1965--70. Interested in and influenced by oriental mus. and unusual instr. sonorities. Prin. works:

orch: Syms., No.|1 (1953), No.|2 (1959), No.|3 (1964), 5 Danses rituelles (1939), Symphonie des danses (1940), Guignol et Pandore (1943), Conc. for Ondes Martenot (1947), concertino for tpt., str., pf. (1948), fl. conc. (1949), pf. conc. (1950), harp conc. (1952), bn. conc. (1954), tpt. conc. No.|2 (1954), Suite transocéane (1955), 3 Interludes de la vérité de Jeanne (1956), Suite française (1957), perc. conc. (1958), Les amants magnifiques, variations on Lully (1960), Sym. for str. (1961), vc. conc. No.|1 (1962), No.|2 (1966), Heptade for tpt. and perc. (1971), vn. conc. (1972).

stage: Dolorès, ou le miracle de la femme laide, opera (1942); Ariadne, ballet (1964--5).

voice and orch: 3 Chants des hommes, bar. (1937), Les Trois Complaintes du soldat (1940), Songe à nouveau rêvé, sop. (1970).

chorus: Kyrie (1938), La Tentation dernière de Jeanne d'Arc (1941), Mass, Uxor tua (1962), Le Coeur de la matière (1965).

chamber music: Str. qt. (1934), Pastorales de Noël, fl., bn., harp (1943), Poèmes intimes, v. and pf. or chamber orch. (1944), Chant de Linos, fl., vn., va., vc., harp (1944), Serenade, wind quintet (1945), Suite rhapsodique, vn. (1965), Cérémonial en hommage à Varèse for 6 percussionists (1968).

piano: Mana (1935), Sonata No.|1 (1945), No.|2 (1957). [ql]Also incidental mus., songs, etc.

Jommelli, Niccolò (b Aversa, Naples, 1714; d Naples, 1774). It. composer. Studied Naples. Comp. first opera 1737. Worked in Rome and Bologna 1740--1. Visited Vienna 1749, forming friendship with Metastasio, most of whose texts he subsequently used, several of them more than once. Kapellmeister to Duke of Württemberg, Stuttgart, 1753--69, composing 17 operas. Returned to Naples 1769, but his work no longer found favour. Comp. over 80 operas and much church mus. Anticipated Gluck in use of dramatic recit. and in abandonment of da capo arias unless they had dramatic point. Among his operas were: L'errore amoroso (1737), Merope (1741), Ifigenia in Aulide (1751), La clemenza di Tito (2 versions, 1753 and 1765), Ifigenia in Tauride (1771).

Jones, Daniel (Jenkyn) (b Pembroke, 1912). Welsh composer and cond. Studied RAM and in Vienna. O.B.E. 1968. Works incl. 10 syms., vn. conc., operas The Knife and Orestes, oratorio St Peter, cantata The Country Beyond the Stars, incidental mus. for Under Milk Wood (Dylan Thomas), 8 str. qts., str. trio, sonata for 3 kettledrums.

Jones, Geraint (Iwan) (b Porth, 1917). Welsh organist, cond., harpsichordist. Début Nat. Gallery 1940. Founder, Geraint Jones Singers and Orch. 1951. Dir. Lake District Fest. since 1960. Dir. Int. Org. Fest., Manchester, 1978.

Jones, Gwyneth (b Pontnewynydd, 1936). Welsh sop. Studied RCM and at Siena and Zürich. Notable Leonore in Fidelio with WNO, Oktavian in Der Rosenkavalier at CG. Frequent guest appearances at Vienna Opera since 1966, Rome, Munich, Milan, San Francisco. Sang Brünnhilde in Der Ring des Nibelungen at centenary Bayreuth Fest. 1976. NY début 1966 (concert), Met. 1972 (Sieglinde). C.B.E. 1976.

Jones, Parry (b Blaina, Monmouth, 1891; d London, 1963). Welsh ten. Studied RCM, Italy, and with John Coates. Became prin. ten. with Beecham and D'Oyly Carte cos. 1915--19. Prin. ten. Carl Rosa Opera 1919--22, BNOC 1922--8, then CG Eng. (touring) Co. Sang at CG 1946--55. Sang in first Eng. concert perfs. (BBC) of Wozzeck (1934) and Mathis der Maler (1939). Notable career in oratorio (Gerontius, etc.). O.B.E. 1962.

Jones, Philip (b Bath, 1928). Eng. tpt. player. Studied RCM with Ernest Hall. Prin. tpt. in most leading Brit. orchs. incl. CG, RPO (1956--60), Philharmonia (1960--4), LPO (1964--5), New Philharmonia (1965--7) and BBC S.O. (1968--71). Founder and dir. Philip Jones Brass Ens. 1951. Taught at RNCM, Manchester 1973--6. O.B.E. 1977.

Jones, Robert (b c.1485; d c.1535). Eng. composer and singer. Member of Chapel Royal. Comps. incl. songs and church mus. (Mass and Magnificat).

Jones, Robert (b c.1570; d c.1615). Eng. composer and lutenist. Wrote 5 sets of 'songs and ayres' and set of madrigals. Contributed Fair Oriana to The Triumphs of Oriana (1601).

Jones, Sidney (b London, 1861; d London, 1946). Eng. composer of operettas, notably The Geisha, prod. London and NY 1896. Son of bandmaster. Became cond. Prince of Wales Th., London, for which he wrote A Gaiety Girl (1893) and other musical comedies. Cond. Empire Th. from 1905 to retirement in 1916.

Jongen, Joseph (b Liège, 1873; d Sart-Lez Spa, 1953). Belg. composer and teacher. Studied Liège Cons. (Prix de Rome 1897). Joined staff, Liège Cons. 1898, becoming prof. of harmony 1911. Prof. of counterpoint Brussels Cons. 1920, dir. 1925--39. Comps. incl. sym., vn. conc., vc. conc., pf. conc., harp conc., 3 str. qts., opera, cantata, etc.

Jongen, Léon (b Liège, 1884; d Liège, 1969). Belg. composer and pianist, brother of Joseph. Studied Liège Cons. (Prix de Rome 1913). Succeeded brother as dir., Brussels Cons. 1939. Comp. operas, cantatas, Rhapsodia Belgica for vn. and orch., vn. conc., and film mus.

Jongleur (Fr., 'juggler'). Medieval Fr. mus. entertainer or wandering minstrel who sang, played an instr., and was juggler and acrobat. See Meistersinger, Ménestrel, and Minnesinger.

Jongleur de Notre Dame, Le (Our Lady's Juggler). (1) Opera in 3 acts by Massenet to lib. by M. Léna from Anatole France's story L'Étui de Nacre (1892), this being based on medieval miracle play. Prod. Monte Carlo 1902, London 1906, NY 1908. (2) Masque by Maxwell Davies for mime, bar., chamber ens., and children's band, f.p. St Magnus Fest., Orkney, 1978.

Jonny spielt auf (Johnny strikes up). Opera in 2 parts (11 scenes) by K;Akrenek, Op.45, to his own lib. Comp. 1925--6. Prod. Leipzig 1927, NY Met. 1929, Leeds 1984. First opera to use jazz, Johnny being a Negro jazz player.

Joplin, Scott (b Texarkana, Texas, 1868; d NY, 1917). Black Amer. composer and ragtime pianist. Played pf. in brothels of St Louis and Chicago before settling in NY in 1907. Pf. rags incl. Maple Leaf Rag, The Entertainer, and Wall Street Rag. Also wrote the first ragtime operas, A Guest of Honor, to his own lib., and Treemonisha (pubd. 1911). The latter received a single perf. without scenery in 1915 and its failure contributed largely to the composer's death. Revival of popular enthusiasm for Joplin's mus. in mid-1970s due largely to efforts of Amer. pianist and musicologist Joshua Rifkin.

Jordá, Enrique (b San Sebastian, 1911). Amer. cond. of Sp. birth. Studied Madrid Univ. and in Paris with Paul Le Flem and M. Dupré. Début Paris 1938. Cond. Madrid S.O. 1940--5, Cape Town S.O. 1948--54, San Francisco S.O. 1954--63, Antwerp P.O. from 1970.

Joseph. (1) Oratorio by Handel (Joseph and His Brethren) perf. London 1744. (2) 3-act opera by Méhul, to lib. by Duval. Prod. Paris 1807, Philadelphia 1828, London (concert) 1841, CG (rev. Weingartner) 1914. (3) Oratorio by Macfarren, 1877 Leeds Fest.

Joseph I, Emperor of Austria (b Vienna, 1678; d Vienna, 1711). Patron of mus. and composer of vocal and instr. items.

Josephs, Wilfred (b Newcastle upon Tyne, 1927). Eng. composer. Studied dentistry at Newcastle Univ. and mus. with Arthur Milner. At GSM 1954--7, Paris (with Max Deutsch) 1958. Won 1st Milan int. comp. competition in 1963 with Requiem. Prolific composer of mus. for TV and films. Works incl.:

orch: 9 syms.; 2 pf. concs.; vn. conc.; conc. for 2 vn.; vc. conc.; ob. conc.; Aeolian Dances; Monk-chester Dances; Canzonas on a Theme of Rameau (str.); Variations on a Theme of Beethoven; Polemic (str.); Saratoga Concerto; ov. The 4 Horsemen of the Apocalypse; comedy ov. The Ants; Elegy for Strings; Concerto a Dodici, wind ens.; Meditatio de Beornmundo, va. and small orch.; conc. da camera, vn., hpd., str.; conc. for 4 pf. and perc. (1979); va. conc. (1983).

choral and vocal: Requiem; Mortales, soloists, ch., and orch.; Nightmusic, v. and orch.; Death of a Young Man, bar. and pf. or chamber orch.

theatre: The Nottingham Captain (mus. th.); The Appointment (TV opera); King of the Coast (children's musical); Rebecca (opera, 1983).

chamber music: 3 str. qts.; str. quintet; 2 vn. sonatas, pf. quintet, hn. trio, sonata for brass quintet, solo vc. sonata, str. trio, pf. trio (1978--9).

Josephslegende (The Legend of Joseph). Ballet in 1 act with mus. by R. Strauss to lib. by H. Kessler and H. von Hofmannsthal, choreog. Fokine. Comp. 1913--4. Prod. Paris (Diaghilev) and London, 1914, with Massine as Joseph. Also symphonic fragment for orch., 1947, f.p. Cincinnati 1949.

Joshua. Oratorio by Handel. Text by Rev. T. Morell. F.p. London 1748.

JosquinDes Près. See Després, Josquin.

Jota, La. A lively dance in triple time from N. Spain. It is perf. by one or more couples, acc. by a guitar player who also sings, and castanets.

Joubert, John (b Cape Town, 1927). S. African composer. Studied S. Africa Coll. of Mus. and RAM, London. Lecturer in mus. at Hull Univ. and Birmingham Univ. Comps. incl. syms., pf. conc., vn. conc., Déploration (1978), operas Silas Marner (1961) and Under Western Eyes (1968), church mus., The Magus, soloists, ch., orch. (1976), Herefordshire Canticles (1979), choral works, etc.

Joyce, Eileen (b Zeehan, Tasmania, 1912). Australian pianist and harpsichordist. At recommendation of Percy Grainger, studied Leipzig Cons. under Teichmuller and Schnabel. London début Prom. concert under Sir Henry Wood. Soloist with all leading orchs. C.M.G. 1981.

Jubilate. Psalm 100 in Authorized Version of Bible (Ps. 99 in Latin Psalter). Used in Anglican service as alternative to Benedictus. Has been set to mus. by many composers, incl. G. Gabrieli, Purcell, and Britten.

Judas Maccabaeus. Oratorio by Handel to text by Rev. T. Morell based on biblical incidents. Comp. in summer of 1746 on commission from Frederick, Prince of Wales, to celebrate Eng. victory over Young Pretender at Culloden and return of victorious general, Duke of Cumberland, to London. (Part 3 contains ch. See the Conquering Hero Comes.) Prod. London 1747.

Judd, Terence (b London, 1957; d Beachy Head, 1979). Eng. pianist. Studied RCM. Won Nat. Junior Pf. Competition 1967. 1st prize Brit. Liszt Pf. Competition 1976. 4th place Tchaikovsky Competition, Moscow, 1978.

Judenkünig, Hans (b Schwäbisch Gmünd, c.1450; d Vienna, 1526). Austrian composer and lutenist. Wrote 2 lute-books, with mus. in Ger. tablature, which were manuals of self-instruction.

Judith. (1) Oratorio by Parry, f.p. Birmingham Fest. 1888. (2) Opera in 3 acts by Honegger to lib. by R. Morax, prod. Monte Carlo 1926. (3) Opera in 1 act by E. Goossens to lib. by Arnold Bennett, prod. London and Philadelphia 1929. (4) Oratorio by Thomas Arne, words by Bickerstaffe, f.p. London 1761.

Juditha Triumphans (Judith triumphant). Oratorio (RV644) by Vivaldi to lib. by Cassetti, f.p. Venice 1716, f. stage ps. Schwetzingen 1981, London 1984.

Juilliard Quartet. Amer. str. qt. founded in 1946 by William Schuman when pres. of Juilliard Sch. of Mus., NY. Specializes in contemporary mus., but has also recorded and given several cycles of all the Beethoven qts. Membership has altered more than once except for the 1st vn. Robert Mann (b Portland, Oregon, 1920).

Juilliard School. Amer. mus. coll. est. in NY in 1905 as Inst. of Mus. Art. In 1923 reorganized under foundation incorporated 1920 under will of Augustus D. Juilliard, NY cotton merchant, who left around 20 million dollars for the development of Amer. mus. The composer William Schuman was pres. 1945--62, when he was succeeded by Peter Mennin. In Nov. 1969 the Sch. moved to its own building as a constituent part of the Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts. This building has 4 auditoria, incl. opera th. Name changed from Juilliard School of Mus. to Juilliard Sch. because of est. of dance dept. in 1952 and drama division in 1968.

Juive, La (The Jewess). Opera in 5 acts by Halévy to lib. by Scribe. Prod. Paris 1835, New Orléans 1844, NY 1845, London 1846.

Jukeboxes. Automatic coin-operated machines for playing gramophone records, orig. installed in Amer. inns, etc., and common in Britain in the last few decades. (Name derived from 'jouke'; local inns in southern states of USA being called 'jouke joints', perhaps from Old Eng. Jowken, to rest or sleep).

Julien. Opera in prol. and 4 acts by Charpentier to his own lib. Sequel to Louise. Prod. Paris 1913, NY 1914.

Julietta, or The Key of Dreams. Opera in 3 acts by Martin; Anu to his own lib. based on the novel La Clé des songes (1930) by Georges Neveux. Comp. 1936--7. Prod. Prague 1938, London 1978.

Julius Caesar (Handel). See Giulio Cesare.

Jullien (Julien), Louis (Georges Maurice Adolph Roch Albert Abel Antonio Alexandre Noé Jean Lucien Daniel Eugène Joseph-le-brun Joseph-Barème Thomas Thomas-Thomas Pierre Arbon Pierre-Maurel Barthélemy Artus Alphonse Bertrand Dieudonné Emanuel Josué Vincent Luc Michel Jules-de-la-Plane Jules-Bazin Julio César) (b Sisteron, 1812; d Paris, 1860). Fr. cond., composer, and impresario. Sponsored at his baptism by 35 members of local Phil. Soc., each of whom contrib. a name. Studied Paris Cons. under Halévy. Early ventures led to insolvency; fled to London where he promoted opera and promenade concerts 1838--59 with his own orch. which he cond. in highly flamboyant style.

Employed what today would be called 'publicity gimmicks'. Comp. an opera Pietro il Grande (CG 1852). Toured USA 1853--4. Lost all his mus. in CG fire 1856, investments failed 1857. Returned to Paris 1859, was arrested for debt, released, and then put in asylum where he died. Pioneer in use of the baton. Notwithstanding his indulging in such showmanship as being handed a jewelled baton on a silver salver, he had the best players in London in his orch. and was a serious figure in the popularization of mus.

Jumping Frog of Calaveras County, The. Opera in 1 act by Lukas Foss to lib. by J. Karsavina after story by Mark Twain. Prod. Bloomington, Ind., 1950.

June, Ava (b London, 1931). Eng. soprano. Member of SWchorus 1953, becoming prin. sop. 1957. CG début 1958 (in Verdi's Don Carlos). Has sung with WNO and in San Francisco (her Amer. début, as Ellen Orford in Peter Grimes), but has sung mainly with ENO, roles incl. Marschallin, Gloriana, Sieglinde, the Figaro Countess, Violetta, Tatyana, Butterfly, and Ka; aktá Kabanová.

Jung, Manfred (b Oberhausen, 1945). Ger. tenor. Bayreuth ch. 1970--3, début as soloist Dortmund 1974. Member Düsseldorf Opera from 1977. Sang Siegfried in Götterdämmerung, Bayreuth 1978; also in TV version of Chéreau's prod. of The Ring. Sang Tristan and Parsifal, Salzburg Easter Fest. 1980. Returned to Bayreuth 1983 as Siegfried in Solti-Hall Ring.

Junge Lord, Der (The Young Lord). Comic opera in 2 acts by Henze to lib. by I. Bachmann after fable Der Scheik von Alexandria und seine Sklaven (1827) by W. Hauff. Comp. 1964. Prod. Berlin 1965, London 1969.

Junge Magd, Die (The Young Servant). 6 songs by Hindemith to poems by Trakl, set for alto v., fl., cl., and str. qt. His Op. 23 No. 2. Comp. 1922, f.p. Donaueschingen 1922.

Juon, Paul (b Moscow, 1872; d Vevey, 1940). Ger. composer of Russ. birth. Studied Moscow Cons. under Arensky and Taneyev. Settled in Berlin. Prof. of comp. Berlin Hochschule 1906--34. Comp. sym. (1903), chamber sym., 3 vn. concs., triple conc., and 3 str. qts.

'Jupiter' Symphony. Nickname for Mozart's Sym. No. 41 in C major, K551 (1788). Not known why or whence name originated, but possibly first used in programme of Phil. Soc. of London concert cond. Bishop on 26 March, 1821. Mozart's son F. X. Mozart said that the nickname was coined by the impresario Salomon.

Jürgens, Jürgen (b Frankfurt am Main, 1925). Ger. conductor. Studied in Frankfurt and Freiburg. Dir. of Hamburg Monteverdi Choir 1955. Joined staff of Hamburg Univ. 1960, becoming mus. dir. 1966. Editor of works by Monteverdi and A. Scarlatti. His choir's repertory ranges from Ockeghem and Monteverdi to Henze.

Jurinac, Sena (Srebrenka) (b Travnik, Yugoslavia, 1921). Austrian sop. of Yugoslav birth. Studied Zagreb, début there 1942 as Mimi in La Bohème. Member, Vienna State Opera from 1945. London début 1947 with Vienna State Opera. Glyndebourne 1949--56 (memorable Composer and Oktavian in Strauss's Ariadne auf Naxos and Rosenkavalier). San Francisco 1959. In latter part of her career sang Kostelník^ka in Janáček's Jenůfa.

Just Intonation. System of instr. tuning whereby a single scale, usually C, was determined according to ratio of its notes. Those far removed from C would be severely out of tune, hence the introduction of equal temperament as substitute for this 'natural' non-tempered scale.

K

K. Abbreviated prefix given to nos. in (1) Köchel catalogue of Mozart's works; the letter is followed by a numeral, e.g. K491 (C minor pf. conc.). (2) Kirkpatrick catalogue of Domenico Scarlatti's works.

K. Anh. Köchel Anhang, the appendix to Köchel's catalogue of Mozart's works, some of which have the suffix K. Anh. followed by a number. In the main, works of dubious attribution are confined to the appendix.

Kabalevsky, Dmitry (Borisovich) (b St Petersburg, 1904). Russ. composer and pianist. Moved to Moscow 1918, studying pf. at Skryabin Mus. Institute 1919--25. Worked as pf. teacher and silent-cinema pianist 1922--5. Studied Moscow Cons. 1925--9 (comp. with Catoire and Myaskovsky). His pf. conc. 1929 won him fame in Soviet Union. In 1932, when Union of Soviet Composers was formed, he helped to organize Moscow branch, thereafter holding various administrative posts and writing many articles on Sovietmus. and composers. His output in the next 5 years was prolific, incl. 3 syms., the 3rd of which was a requiem for Lenin. Ass. prof. of comp., Moscow Cons. from 1932, prof. from 1939. During World War II he wrote numerous patriotic works, having joined Communist party in 1940. His post-war works reflected the official policy of 'Socialist realism'. His works comp. specially for young musicians are regarded as of particular significance. The West knows his instr. works better than his operas and operettas which are perf. in Russia. Prin. works:

operas: The Craftsman of Clamecy (known in West as Colas Breugnon) (1936--8, rev. 1953, 1969); Into the Fire (Before Moscow) (1942); The Taras Family (incorporating much of Into the Fire) (1947, 2nd version 1950, 3rd version 1967); Nikita Vershinin (1954--5); Spring Sings (1957); In the Magic Forest (1958); The Sisters (1967).

orch and choral: Syms.: No. 1 in C# minor (1932), No. 2 in C minor (1934), No. 3 in Bb minor (Requiem with ch.) (1933), No. 4 in C minor (1954); The Comedians, suite (1940); Suite for Jazz Orch. (1940); Parade of Youth, with ch. (1941); The Mighty Homeland, 2 soloists and ch. (1941--2); The People's Avengers, suite for ch. and orch. (1942); Suite, Romeo and Juliet (1956); Song of Morning, Spring, and Peace, children's ch. (1957--8); Leninists, 3 ch. and orch. (1958--9); Spring, symphonic poem (1960); Requiem, mez., bar., double ch., and orch. (1962); Of the Homeland, children's ch. and orch. (1965); Letter to the 30th Century, oratorio (1972).

concertos: Pf., No. 1 in A minor (1928), No. 2 in G minor (1935), No. 3 in D major (1952), Rhapsody for pf. and orch. (1963); Vn. conc. in C major (1948); Vc. conc. No. 1 in G minor (1948--9), No. 2 in C major (1964).

chamber music: Str. Qts. No. 1 in A minor (1928), No. 2 in G minor (1945); vc. sonata (1962).

piano: Sonata No. 1 in F major (1927), No. 2 in Eb major (1945), No. 3 in F major (1946); 4 Preludes (1927--8); 30 Children's Pieces (1938--9); 24 Preludes (1943--4).

songs: 3 Poems of A. Blok (1927--8); 8 Songs for children's ch. (1932); 7 Merry Songs (English nursery-rhymes) (1944--5); 10 Shakespeare Sonnets (1953--5); 5 Romances (1963--4). Also th. and film mus.

Kabeláč^;, Miloslav (b Prague, 1908; d Prague, 1979). Cz. composer. Studied Prague Cons. 1928--34. Cond. Prague Radio 1932--41, head of mus. 1945--57, prof. of comp. Prague Cons. 1958--62. Works incl. 8 syms. (some with org. and vv.), cantatas, chamber mus., org. pieces.

Kaddish. Jewish mourners' prayer. Set by Josephs in his Requiem and by Bernstein as 3rd Sym.

Kadosa, Pál (b Léva, Hungary (now Czechoslovakia), 1903; d Budapest, 1983). Hung. composer and pianist. Studied Budapest Acad. 1921--7 (pf. with A. Székely, comp. with Kodály). Taught pf. at Fodor Cons. 1927--43. Prof. and dean of pf. faculty, Budapest Acad. from 1945. Works incl. 2 operas, 8 syms., 4 pf. sonatas, 4 pf. concs., va. conc., conc. for str. qt. and orch., 3 str. qts., etc.

Kaffeecantate (J. S. Bach). See Coffee Cantata.

Kagel, Mauricio (b Buenos Aires, 1931). Argentinian-born composer, cond., and teacher. Studied literature and philosophy at Buenos Aires Univ., mus. privately. Choral coach and cond. at Teatro Colón, 1955--6. Moved to Cologne 1957, working at elec. studio. Has worked in th. as composer and dir. of his own works since 1963. His mus. uses tape and elec. procedures; also he has demanded 'screams and yells' from singers and the sound of balls thrown on a kettle-drum. In his later works, visual and theatrical elements ('mixed media') have predominated. Many of the scores involve indeterminacy. Works incl.: Str. Sextet (1953); Tower Music, for pre-recorded concrète and instr. sounds for 24 groups of loudspeakers, with light projections (1953); Anagrama (1957--8); Heterophonie (1959--60); Antithèse, for actor, elec., and audience sounds (1962); Diaphonie, for 2 projectors, ch., and orch. (1962--4); Tremens, scenic montage (1963--5); Kommentar und Extempore, soliloquies with gestures (1965--7); Music for Renaissance Instruments (1965--7); Str. Qt. (1966--8); Variations without Fugue, orch. (1971); Programm, Gespräche mit Kammermusik, vv. and ens. (1971--2); Kantrimusik, Pastorale für Stimmen und Instrumente (1973--5); Dressage, 3 perc. instr. (1977); th. piece Ex-Position, with gymnasts (1978); Rhythm-machines, for gymnasts or dancers, 2 perc., rhythm-generators (1978); Chorbuch (1978) (arr. of 53 Bach chorales for amplified mixed ch. and pf.); Die Erschöpfung der Welt (The Exhaustion of the World), mus. theatre for 6 solo vv., 6 actors, 2 chs., and orch. (1974--8).

Kahnt, Christian Frederik (b Leipzig, 1823; d Leipzig, 1897). Ger. mus. publisher. Founded his firm at Leipzig 1851. Pubd. works by Liszt and Mahler. Firm moved to Bonn 1950 and then to Wasserburg.

Kaim, Franz (b Kirchheim, 1856; d Munich, 1935). Ger. patron of mus. who founded Kaim concerts in Munich 1893, building hall and starting orch. (Kaim Orch.). Works by Mahler and Strauss were perf. at Kaim concerts which, in 1908, were absorbed by new Konzertverein. The orch. in 1924 became the Munich P.O.

Kaisermarsch (Emperor March). Orch. work by Wagner, comp. 1871 to celebrate Ger. victory in Franco-Prussian War of 1870 and election of Wilhelm I as Ger. emperor. F.p. Berlin 1871.

Kaiserquartett (Haydn). See Emperor Quartet.

Kaiser-Walzer (Emperor Waltz). Waltz, Op. 437, by Johann Strauss II, comp. 1888 in honour of Emperor Franz Josef to mark 40th anniversary of his accession. Arr. for chamber ens. 1925 by Schoenberg.

Kajanus, Robert (b Helsinki, 1856; d Helsinki, 1933). Finn. cond. and composer. Studied Oslo, Leipzig, and Helsinki. Founded Helsinki Phil. Soc., 1882, cond. Helsinki P.O. until 1932. Taught mus. at Helsinki Univ. 1897--1926 (prof. from 1908). Friend and interpreter of Sibelius, several of whose syms. he cond. for early recordings. Comp. syms., cantatas, hymns, etc.

Kakadu Variations. Variations on 'Ich bin der Schneider Kakadu' for pf. trio, Op. 121a, by Beethoven, probably comp. in 1798 but not pubd. until 1824. Song is by Wenzel Müller from mus. play Die Schwestern von Prag (The Sisters from Prague), (1794). Kakadu is Ger. for cockatoo, but in this case refers to a character in the play.

Kalabis, Viktor (b ;AkCervený Kostelec, Cz., 1923). Cz. composer. Studied Charles Univ., Prague, 1945--9 and Prague Acad. 1948--52. Man., mus. dept., Prague Radio since 1953. Works incl. 4 syms., symphonic variations for orch., vc. conc., vn. conc., pf. conc., Concerto for Orchestra, conc. for chamber orch. ('Homage to Stravinsky'), 2 str. qts., vc. sonata, sonata for vn. and hpd., tb. sonata, cl. sonata, hn. sonata, songs, etc.

Kalevala (from Kaleva, Finland). Finn. nat. epic, transmitted orally over several centuries, on which Sibelius based several works. In 1835 Elias Lönnrot published an edn. of 12,000 verses and in 1849 a 2nd edn. of 23,000 verses in trochaic verse, unrhymed, divided into 50 cantos or runes. This has been trans. into Swed., Ger., Eng., and Fr. Sibelius works which draw on it incl. Kullervo, Pohjola's Daughter, and the Lemminkäinen works.

Kalichstein, Joseph (b Tel Aviv, 1946). Israeli pianist. Studied Juilliard Sch., NY. Début NY, 1967. Thereafter int. concert career.

Kalinikov, Vasily (Sergeyevich) (b Govt. of Orel, 1866; d Yalta, 1901 (old calendar 1900)). Russ. composer and cond. Ass. cond. Moscow It. Opera 1893--4. Ill-health compelled resignation. Comp. 2 syms., cantata, str. qt., etc.

Kalisch, Alfred (b London, 1863; d London, 1933). Eng. mus. critic and librettist. Orig. a barrister, began writing on mus. 1894, working for various papers. Strong champion of R. Strauss in Eng.; trans. libs. of Salome, Elektra, Der Rosenkavalier (much bowdlerized), and Ariadne auf Naxos. Also trans. lib. of Mascagni's Iris.

Kalkbrenner, Friedrich (Wilhelm) (b Kassel, 1785; d Enghien-les-Bains, 1849). Fr. pianist, teacher, and composer of Ger. extraction. Studied Paris Cons. 1798--1802. Lived in London 1814--23. Joined pf.-making firm of Pleyel in Paris, 1824, establishing himself as renowned teacher, whose classes Chopin attended. Wrote pf. method. Comp. 4 pf. concs., 13 pf. sonatas, and much chamber mus.

Kalliwoda, Johann Wenzel (Jan Václav) (b Prague, 1801; d Karlsruhe, 1866). Cz. composer and violinist. Studied Prague Cons. For over 30 years Kapellmeister at court of Donaueschingen. Comp. 7 syms., str. qts., ob. conc., song-cycle Das deutsche Lied.

Kallman, Chester (b Brooklyn, NY, 1921; d Athens, 1975). Amer. poet and librettist. Joint librettist with Auden for Stravinsky's The Rake's Progress and Henze's The Bassarids and Elegy for Young Lovers. Also joint translator, with Auden, of Die Zauberflöte. Trans. libs. of Verdi's Falstaff, Donizetti's Anna Bolena and Mozart's Die Entführung aus dem Serail.

Kálmán, Emmerich (Imre) (b Siófok, 1882; d Paris, 1953). Hung. composer who settled in Vienna until 1938. In Paris 1938--40, USA 1940--6. Wrote successful operettas, e.g. Tatárjárás (The Gay Hussars) (1908); Fräulein Susi (1915); Die Csárdásfürstin (The Gipsy Princess) (1915); Gräfin Mariza (Countess Maritza) (1924); Die Zirkusprinzessin (The Circus Princess) (1926).

Kalmus, Alfred (August Uhlrich) (b Vienna, 1889; d London, 1972). Eng. mus. publisher of Austrian birth. Studied law at Vienna Univ. and mus. under G. Adler. Joined mus. publishers Universal Edition in Vienna, 1909. Went to London 1936 and opened branch of Universal Ed. Unceasing champion of 20th century composers, incl. Schoenberg, Berg, Webern, Bartók, Janáček, Berio, Boulez, Stockhausen, Birtwistle, David Bedford, and Hugh Wood.

Kalomiris, Manolis (b Smyrna, 1883; d Athens, 1962). Gr. composer and pianist. Studied Athens, Constantinople, and Vienna Cons. (1901--6). Taught piano Kharkov Cons. 1906--10, pf. and harmony Athens Sch. of Mus. 1911--19. Founded Hellenic Sch. of Mus. 1919, being dir. until 1926 when he founded Nat. Sch.of Music which he directed until 1948. Comps., some of which use Gr. folk-song, incl. operas The Master Builder (1915) and The Shadowy Waters (1950--2), sym.-poems, other orch. works, pf. conc., pf. preludes, vn. sonata, etc.

Kamarinskaya (Wedding Song). Orch. fantasia on 2 Russ. folk-songs by Glinka, comp. 1848 in Warsaw. Title refers to Russ. dance. Version generally played contains revs. by Glazunov and Rimsky-Korsakov.

Kaminski, Heinrich (b Tiengen, 1886; d Ried, nr. Benediktbeuren, 1946). Ger. composer and cond. Studied in Berlin. Works, in markedly polyphonic style, incl. opera Jürg Jenatsch, 2 str. qts., str. quintet, cl. qt., church mus.

Kaminski, Joseph (b Odessa, 1903; d Gedera, Israel, 1972). Russ.-born violinist and composer. Studied Warsaw, Vienna, and Berlin. Went to Tel Aviv 1935, becoming leader Palestine S.O. 1937--69. Wrote vn. conc., tpt. concertino, etc.

Kammer(Ger.). Chamber. So Kammercantate, Chamber Cantata (see Cantata); Kammerduett, Kammertrio, Chamber Duet, Chamber Trio (i.e. for a room rather than a concert hall); Kammerconcert, Kammerkonzert, either Chamber Concert, or Chamber Concerto; Kammermusik, Chamber Music; Kammersymphonie, Chamber Symphony.

Kammermusik (Chamber Music). Title given by Hindemith to 7 instr. works comp. between 1922 and 1927: No. 1 for small orch., No.2 (pf. conc.), No. 3 (vc. conc.), No. 4 (vn. conc.), No. 5 (va. conc.), No. 6 (viola d'amore conc.), No. 7 (org. conc.).

Kammersänger(in) (Ger.). Chamber Singer. Esteemed honorary title bestowed by Ger. and Austrian gopts. on distinguished singers.

Kamu, Okko (b Helsinki, 1946). Finn. cond., composer, and violinist. Studied Sibelius Acad. 1952--67. Début as violinist early 1950s, in str. qt. 1965, as cond. 1968--9. Violinist in Helsinki P.O. 1965--6, leader Finn. Nat. Opera Orch. 1966--9, 3rd cond. at Nat. Opera 1968--9. Guest cond. Royal Swedish Opera 1969--70. Cond. Finn. Radio S.O. 1970--7. Chief cond. and mus. dir. Oslo P.O. 1975--9. Chief cond. Helsinki P.O. from 1979. Guest cond. of Brit. orchs. (London début 1970, New Philharmonia). Won Karajan cond. competition 1969. Composer of film mus., songs for children, etc.

Kanawa, Kiri te. See Te Kanawa, Kiri.

Kantele. Finnish variety of Gusli, plucked with the fingers.

Kapell, William (b NY, 1922; d nr. San Francisco, in air crash, 1953). Amer. pianist of Russ. and Polish parentage. Studied Philadelphia Cons. NY début 1941. Brilliant virtuoso with deep musical sensibility. Never playedin Eng.

Kapelle (Ger.). Chapel. A term at one period applied to thewhole staff of clergy, musicians, etc., attached to a royal chapel or the like. In time it came to be used for any organized body of musicians employed at court, etc., and from this it ultimately became a designation for any orch. body, from sym. orch. to dance band.

Kapellmeister (Capellmeister) (Ger.). The dir. or cond. of a Kapelle. Kapellmeistermusik became, sometimes unfairly, a derogatory term applied to mus. 'composed to order'.

Kapr, Jan (b Prague, 1914). Cz. composer, pianist, and teacher. Studied Prague Cons. Mus. dir. Prague Radio 1939--46, prof. of comp. Janác^ek Acad., Brno, 1961--70. Works incl. 8 syms., 7 str. qts. (one with bar. solo), 3 pf. sonatas, cl. concertino.

Karajan, Herbert von (b Salzburg, 1908). Austrian cond. Studied (to become pianist) Salzburg Mozarteum and Vienna Univ. and Cons. Début Salzburg Landestheater 1927 in Fidelio. Cond. Ulm Opera 1929--34; Aachen 1934--42; Berlin State Opera 1938--45; art. dir. Vienna State Opera 1957--64. Cond. at Bayreuth 1951--2, Salzburg Fests. Founded Salzburg Easter Fest. 1967. Cond. Berlin P.O. since 1954. Assoc. also with Philharmonia Orch., Orchestre de Paris (1969--70), and La Scala, Milan. One of outstanding cons. of post-1945 era, his career having been halted up to 1947 because of his Nazi affiliations. Also opera producer on stage and film.

Karel, Rudolf (b Pilsen, 1880; d Terezín, 1945). Cz. composer. Comp. pupil of Dvořák. Prof. of comp. and orch., Prague Cons., 1923--41. Wrote 2 operas, sym., symphonic poems (incl. The Demon, 1920), oratorio Resurrection, cantatas, chamber mus., etc. Died in Ger. concentration camp.

Karelia. Ov. and suite for orch., Opp. 10 and 11 by Sibelius, comp. 1893. Karelia is province in southern Finland.

Karfreitagzauber (Wagner). See Good Friday Music.

Karg-Elert (orig. Karg), Sigfrid (b Oberndorf-am-Neckar, 1877; d Leipzig, 1933). Ger. composer, pianist, and organist. Studied Leipzig Cons., becoming prof. there 1919, succeeding Reger. Best known for strikingly orig. org. comps. Works incl. pf. conc., 5 pf. sonatas, 28 pf. preludes, vc. sonata, vn. sonata, str. qt., chamber sym., org. sonata, 66 Chorale Improvisations for org. (1908--10), Fantasia and Fugue in D for organ, 20 Preludes and Postludes for org., 2 sonatas for harmonium, Scènes pittoresques for harmonium, choral works. Arr. Elgar's syms. for pf. solo.

Karłumowicz, Mieczysław (b Wiszniewe, 1876; d Tatra Mountains, 1909). Polish composer. After spells in Heidelberg, Prague, and Dresden, settled in Warsaw, studying vn. Gave up career as violinist because of bad health, concentrated on comp., studying in Berlin 1895--1901 with Urban. Dir., Warsaw Mus. Soc. from 1905. In 1907 settled at Zakopane, at foot of Tatra Mountains. Died in avalanche. Works incl. sym. ('Revival', Odrodzenie) (1902); vn. conc. (1902); and several sym.-poems, incl. Stanisław i Anna O; aaswiecimowie. Strongly supported 'Young Poland' group of Szymanowski, Fitelberg, and Szeluto. His sym.-poems, in an individual style derived from Wagner and Strauss, reflect Schopenhauerian obsessions with love, death, and pantheism.

Karpeles, Maud (b London, 1885; d London, 1976). English folk-song collector, ed., and scholar. With sister Helen, was one of folk dancing team who illustrated Cecil Sharp's lectures. Assoc. with Sharp's folk-song collecting from 1903, she went with him in 1916 to Appalachian Mts., collecting songs which had travelled to N. Amer. with early immigrants. Also went alone to Newfoundland 1929 and 1930 to collect songs there. Held many administrative folk-song posts, incl. hon. secretaryship English Folk Dance and Song Society. In 1947 she founded International Folk Music Council, attending its conferences in many countries, first as secretary and later pres. Wrote biography of Cecil Sharp and ed. many colls. of folk-songs. O.B.E. 1961.

Karr, Gary (Michael) (b Los Angeles, 1941). Amer. double-bass player. Début recital NY 1962, also soloist with NY P.O. European tour 1964. Has commissioned concertos from Henze and Schuller.

Kars, Jean-Rodolphe (b Calcutta, 1947). Austrian pianist. Studied Paris Cons. 1958--64 and with Katchen. London début 1967. Winner of 1968 Messiaen Comp., Royan.

Kassern, Tadeusz (Zygflyd) (b Lwów, 1904; d NY, 1957). Polish composer. Studied in Lwów and Poznán, later in Paris. Sought asylum in USA 1948, teaching in NY. Works incl. operas, conc. for str., conc. for sop. and orch., pf. sonatas, fl. conc., db. conc., choral mus.

Ká;akta Kabanová (Katya Kabanova). Opera in 3 acts by Janáček to his own lib. based on the play The Storm (Groza) (1859) by A. N. Ostrovsky (1823--86) in Cz. trans. by V. akCervinka. Comp. 1919--21. Prod. Brno 1921, London 1951, Cleveland, Ohio, 1957. (This was first Janáček opera to be staged in London, but a Brno perf. had been broadcast in 1948.)

Katchen, Julius (b Long Branch, NJ, 1926; d Paris, 1969). Amer. pianist. Studied NY. Début 1937 with Philadelphia Orch. Settled in Paris and had int. career as virtuoso with wide repertory.

Kate and the Devil (;akCert a Kác;a). Opera in 3 acts by Dvořák to lib. by A. Wenig. Comp. 1898--9. Prod. Prague 1899, Oxford 1932.

Katerina Izmaylova. Title given to rev. version (1956) of Shostakovich's 4-act opera Lady Macbeth of the Mtsensk District (Ledi Makbet Mtsenskovo uyezda), comp. 1930--2 as Op. 29. Lib. by A. Preys and composer, after story (1865) by N. Leskov. Prod. Moscow 1934, Cleveland, Ohio, 1935, London (concert) 1936. Rev. version, Op. 114, Moscow 1963, London CG, 1963, San Francisco 1964. Orig. version was unperf. in USSR after Jan. 1936 when Soviet newspaper Pravda attacked it as 'leftist' and discordant, but there were prods. in Venice 1947 and Düsseldorf 1959.

Katin, Peter (Roy) (b London, 1930). Eng.-born pianist (now Canadian cit.). Début London 1948. Noted as interpreter of Chopin, Rachmaninov, and Tchaikovsky.

Katz, Mindru (b Bucharest, 1925; d Istanbul, 1978). Romanian pianist. Studied Bucharest Royal Acad. Début with Bucharest P.O. 1947. Début in West (Paris) 1957, London début 1958. Settled in Israel 1959. On staff Rubin Acad. of Mus., Tel Aviv Univ., 1962 (prof. from 1972).

Kaun, Hugo (b Berlin, 1863; d Berlin, 1932). Ger. composer. Studied Berlin Hochschule 1879--80, by which time he had comp. 160 works. Lived in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, 1887--1902, during which time he comp. the symphonic poems Minnehaha and Hiawatha. Returned to Berlin as teacher 1902. Comp. 4 operas, 3 syms., symphonic poem Sir John Falstaff, 3 pf. concs., choral works, chamber mus., etc.

Kay, Ulysses Simpson (b Tucson, Arizona, 1917). Amer. composer. Studied with Hanson and B. Rogers at Eastman Sch. of Music and later with Hindemith at Yale. Won Prix de Rome and worked in It. 1949--52. Prof. of mus., Lehman Coll. of City Univ., NY, from 1968. Works incl. 4 operas, ob. conc., Concerto for Orchestra, Suite for orch., sym., ballet Dance Calinda, cantata Song of Jeremiah, 3 str. qts., pf. sonata, fl. quintet, etc. Kazoo (Fr. mirliton). Children's mus. instr., consisting of a short tube with membrane at each end, played by humming or singing into a side-hole to produce effect similar to comb-and-paper.

Kb. (Ger.). Abbreviation for Kontrabass, i.e. the db.

Keffe, Bernard (b London, 1925). Eng. cond. Prof. of cond. TCL. Noted broadcaster and introducer of televised mus. Made Eng. trans. of Janáček's Diary of One who Disappeared.

Keel Row (Keel = boat). Song of unknown orig. which first appeared in print in A Collection of Favourite Scots Tunes (Edinburgh, c.1770) but is principally assoc. with Newcastle and Tyneside district. Quoted by Debussy in the 3rd movement (Gigues) of his Images for orch.

Keen (Irish Caoine). Irish funeral song acc. by wailing (keening). Reproduced in Vaughan Williams's opera Riders to the Sea.

Keene, Christopher (b Berkeley, Calif., 1946). Amer. cond. Founded own opera co. while at Univ. of Calif., staging two of Britten's operas. Worked as ass. to Kurt Adler at San Francisco Opera. Ass. to Menotti, Spoleto Fest. 1968. NY City Opera from 1970, conducting Ginastera's Don Rodrigo; art. supervisor from 1982. Mus. dir. Syracuse S.O. 1975--84. Cond. f.p. of Villa-Lobos's Yerma, Santa Fe, 1971. NY Met. début 1971.

Keilberth, Joseph (b Karlsruhe, 1908; d Munich, 1968). Ger. cond. Studied Karlsruhe, joined town's opera co. as répétiteur 1925, becoming cond. Mus. dir. 1935--40. Cond., Ger. P.O., Prague, 1940--5. Mus. dir. Dresden State Opera 1945--50; cond. Bavarian State Opera, Munich, 1951--68 (dir. from 1959); art. dir. Hamburg P.O. 1950--9, cond. Bamberg S.O. 1949--68. Bayreuth Fest. 1952--6. Notable Strauss interpreter. Died while cond. Tristan.

Keiser, Reinhard (b Teuchern, 1674; d Hamburg, 1739). Ger. composer. Pupil at Thomasschule, Leipzig. At court of Brunswick 1694 where he succeeded Kusser. Moved to Hamburg 1696, achieving success with opera Mahumet II. In next 40 years comp. over 100 operas for Hamburg, becoming dir. of the opera 1703--7. Visited Copenhagen, Ludwigsburg, etc., returning to Hamburg 1724. Cantor of cath. 1728. Regarded at one time as greatest orig. genius Ger. had prod. His operas contain magnificent florid arias and instrumentation which was emulated by Handel, who was violinist and harpsichordist for Keiser at Hamburg. Keiser's operas incl. Der hochmütige, gestürtzte und wieder erhabene Croesus (1710, rev. 1730, modern edn. 1912, rev. 1958), Die Römische Unruhe (1705), Die verdammt StaatSucht (1705), Fredegunda (1715), and Der Lächerliche Prinz Jodelet (1726). Keiser also wrote dramatic and striking oratorios, and settings of the Passions, incl. Der blutige und sterbende Jesus (1704), and St Mark Passion (1717).

Kéler-Béla (Adalbert von Keler) (b Bárta, 1820; d Wiesbaden, 1882). Hung. violinist, bandmaster, composer, and cond. Worked in Vienna, Berlin, and Wiesbaden. Wrote waltzes and light mus. of brilliant character.

Kell, Reginald (Clifford) (b York, 1906; d Frankfort, Kentucky, 1981). Eng. clarinettist. Studied RAM 1929--32. Prin. cl. Beecham's LPO 1932--6 and CG orch. 1932--6, LSO 1936--9, Liverpool P.O. 1942--5, and Philharmonia 1945--8. Went to USA 1948. Prof. at Aspen Mus. Fest., Colorado, 1951--7. Returned to Eng. 1971, but died in USA. Prof. cl., RAM, 1935--9 and 1958--9. Noted for artistic use of vibrato. Published Kell method, NY 1968.

Keller, Hans (b Vienna, 1919). Austrian-born violinist, violist, mus. critic, and author (naturalized Eng., 1948). Member of BBC mus. division 1959--79. Joint ed. of book on Britten. Contrib. to many periodicals. Authority on Assoc. football. See Functional Analysis.

Kelley, Edgar (Stillman) (b Sparta, Wisconsin, 1857; d NY, 1944). Amer. composer, organist, and author. Studied Chicago and Stuttgart. Organist in San Francisco and Oakland, mus. critic, San Francisco Examiner 1893--5. Worked in San Francisco 1880--6 and 1892--6, coming into contact with Chinese and their mus. Acting prof. and orch. cond., Yale Univ. Sch. of Music 1901--02. Taught in Berlin 1902--10, returning to USA to teach comp. at Cincinnati Cons. Works incl. incidental mus. to Macbeth and Ben Hur; 2 syms. (No. 1 Gulliver---His Voyage to Lilliput, Op. 15; No. 2 New England); pantomime suite Alice in Wonderland; Pilgrim's Progress; pf. quintet; str. qt., etc.

Kelly, Bryan (b Oxford, 1934). Eng. composer, pianist, and cond. Studied RCM 1951--5 with Jacob and Howells, then Paris with Boulanger. Taught at RSAM. Prof. of comp. RCM from 1962. Has written several works for children. Prin. comps.:

orch: Latin Quarter Overture (1955), Music for Ballet (1957), The Tempest Suite, str. (1964), Cookham Concertino (1969), ob. conc. (1972), guitar conc. (1978), Sym. (1983); for brass band: Divertimento (1969), Edinburgh Dances (1973), Andalucia (1976), Concertante Music (1979).

chamber music: 3 Pieces, vn. and pf. (1959), Aubade, Toccata, and Nocturne, guitar (1964), 2 Concert Pieces, cl. and pf. (1964), Zodiac, cl., pf. (1978), Suite parisienne, brass quintet (1979).

chorus and orch: Tenebrae Nocturnes, ten., ch., and orch. (1965), The Shell of Achilles, ten. and orch. (1966), Stabat Mater, sop., bass, ch., and orch. (1970), At the round earth's imagined corners, ten., ch., str. (1972), Let there be light, sop., narrator, ch., and orch. (1972--3), Latin Magnificat, ch. and wind instr. (1979).

vocal: Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis ('Latin American'), ch. and org. (1965), Sleep Little Baby, carol, SATB (1968), O Be Joyful (Caribbean Jubilate), ch. and org. (1970), Abingdon Carols, unacc. ch. (1973), Te Deum and Jubilate, ch. and org. (1979).

keyboard: Pf. sonata (1971); Prelude and Fugue, org. (1960); Pastorale and Paean, org. (1973).

children: Herod, do your worst, nativity opera (1968); On Christmas Eve, suite of carols for vv. and pf. (1968); The SpiderMonkey Uncle King, opera pantomime (1971); Half a Fortnight, unison vv., pf., perc. (1973).

Kelly, Frederick (Septimus) (b Sydney, N.S.W., 1881; d in action, Beaucourt-sur-Ancre, 1916). Australian composer and pianist. Studied Frankfurt under Knorr, 1903--8, then in London. As adviser to Classical ConcertSoc., London, promoted contemporary mus. Comp. pf. pieces and other small works.

Kelly, Michael (b Dublin, 1762; d Margate, 1826). Irish ten. and composer. Studied with Arne and later with Rauzzini. Début Dublin 1779 in Piccinni opera, then further study in Naples. Sang for 4 years at Vienna Court Opera, becoming friend of Mozart and creating roles of Basilio and Curzio in Le Nozze di Figaro, 1786. Sang in London 1787; actor-man. King's Th., London, 1793. Comp. mus. for plays and songs. Retired 1811. Wrote amusing and informative Reminiscences (1826; ed. R. Fiske, 1975).

Kelterborn, Rudolf (b Basle, 1931). Swiss composer and cond. Studied in Basle, Salzburg (cond. with Markevich), and Detmold (comp. with Fortner). Taught at Basle and at Detmold (1960--8). Prof. of comp. Zürich Musikhochschule from 1968. Works incl. 2 operas, incl. Ein Engel kommt nach Babylon (An Angel comes from Babylon) (1977), oratorio Die Flut, 3 syms. (incl. No. 3, Espansioni, for orch., bar., and tape), 3 str. qts., 2 chamber syms., octet, etc.

Kemble, Adelaide (b London, 1814; d Warsash, Hants., 1879). Eng. sop. Concertdébut London 1835. Went to It. to study with Pasta. Opera début as Norma, Venice 1839. Sang same role in Eng. at CG, 1841. Retired 1843 on marriage to E.J. Sartoris.

Kemp, Barbara (b Kochem an der Mosel, 1881; d Berlin, 1959). Ger. sop. Studied Strasbourg, début there 1903. Leading sop. Berlin Opera 1913--31. NY Met. 1922--4. Bayreuth Fest. (Senta and Kundry) 1914--27. Wife of Max von Schillings. Became stage dir. in Berlin in 1930s.

Kemp, Ian (b Edinburgh, 1931). Scottish musicologist and teacher. Studied at Cambridge Univ. with R. Orr and P. Hadley. Worked for Schott's 1954--64. Lect. in mus. Aberdeen Univ. 1964--71, Cambridge Univ. 1972--6. Prof. of mus. Leeds Univ. 1977--81, Manchester Univ. from 1981. Author of books on Tippett and Hindemith, ed. Vol. 13 New Berlioz Ed.

Kempe, Rudolf (b Niederpoyritz, Dresden, 1910; d Zürich, 1976). Ger. cond. Studied Dresden with F. Busch. Began career as oboist in Dortmund, becoming prin. oboist Leipzig Gewandhaus Orch. 1929--36. Répétiteur and junior cond. Leipzig Opera 1936--42. Cond. début Leipzig 1935, Lortzing's Der Wildschütz. Cond. opera Chemnitz 1945--8, Weimar 1948--9, Dresden 1949--53, Munich 1952--4. CG début 1953 with Munich company. NY Met. 1954--6. Bayreuth from 1960 incl. new prod. of Der Ring des Nibelungen. Cond. Ring cycles at CG 1955--9. Succeeded Beecham as chief cond. RPO 1961--3, art. dir. from 1964, prin. cond. for life from 1970. Cond. Delius centenary fest. 1962. Art. dir. Tonhalle Orch., Zürich, 1965--72, Munich P.O. 1967. Prin. cond. BBC S.O. 1975--6. Recorded complete orch. works of R. Strauss.

Kempen, Paul van (b Zoeterwoude, Leyden, 1893; d Hilversum, 1955). Dutch cond. and violinist. Leader Concertgebouw Orch. under Mengelberg. Cond. Dresden P.O. 1934--42. Cond. Berlin State Opera 1940, Aachen Opera 1942. Chief cond. Hilversum Radio from 1949, and in Bremen from 1953.

Kempff, Wilhelm (Walter Friedrich) (b Jüterbog, 1895). Ger. pianist and composer. Trained by his father and by Barth and Kahn in Potsdam and Berlin. Reputation grew from 1916 as virtuosopianist. Dir., Stuttgart Hochschule für Musik, 1924--9. Noted for playing of Beethoven and classics. Comp. opera King Midas, 2 syms., vn. conc., pf. conc., chamber mus., and choral works.

Kennedy Center for Performing Arts. Arts centre in Washington, D.C., opened in 1971 and named in honour of late President J. F. Kennedy (assassinated 1963). Contains concert hall seating 2,700, opera house (2,300), and drama th. First event was Bernstein's Mass (Sept. 1971).

Kennedy, Michael (b Chorlton-cum-Hardy, Manchester, 1926). Eng. critic, author, and journalist. On staff of Daily Telegraph in Manchester from 1941 (northern ed. from 1960); staff mus. critic from 1950. Author of histories of Hallé Orch. (1960 and 1983), RMCM (1971), and biog. studies of Vaughan Williams (1964), Elgar (1968, rev. 1982), Barbìrolli (1971), Mahler (1974), Strauss (1976), and Britten (1981). Ed., Concise Oxford Dictionary of Music (3rd. ed. 1980), Oxford Dictionary of Music (1st ed. 1985). O.B.E. 1981.

Kennedy, Nigel (b Brighton, 1956). Eng. violinist. Studied Yehudi Menuhin Sch. (initially as pianist). Went to Juilliard Sch., NY, 1972. Début London 1977. Rapidly went to forefront of Eng. violinists. Toured Hong Kong and Australia as soloist with Hallé Orch., 1981. Amer. tour 1985. Regarded as one of finest exponents of Elgar conc. Regular jazz/improvisation concerts with S. Grappelli.

Kennedy-Fraser, Marjory (b Perth, 1857; d Edinburgh, 1930). Scots singer and collector of folk-songs. As child, toured as accompanist to father, the singer David Kennedy (1825--86). Studied singing in Milan and with M. Marchesi in Paris. When widowed, taught singing and in 1905 visited Outer Hebrides, where she began coll. of folk-songs which she arr. and pubd. for v. and pf.

Kent Bugle. Obsolete (since 1815) bugle with keys similar to saxophone. Invented 1810 by Irish bandmaster Halliday and named after Duke of Kent, who took interest in it.

Kent Opera. Eng. opera company founded 1969 by Norman Platt and Roger Norrington. Regularly plays in Canterbury and Tunbridge Wells, but has toured widely in the southern counties and has visited Manchester and various fests. Casts are mixture of experienced and new singers, and repertory has extended from well-known Verdi, Mozart, and Britten to rare works by Handel (f.p. of Atalanta since 1736 in 1970), Telemann, and others. Staged Tippett's King Priam in 1984--5 season. Norrington's edns. of 3 Monte-verdi operas (The Coronation of Poppea, Orfeo, and The Return of Ulysses) were given in 1974, 1976, and 1978. In 1984 Ivan Fischer succeeded Norrington as mus. dir.

Kentner, Louis (Philip) (b Karvinna, Hungary (now Czechoslovakia), 1905). Hung.-born pianist (Brit. citizen 1946). Studied Liszt Acad., Budapest (pf. with Székely, comp. with Kodály). Recital début 1920, soon making int. reputation. Settled Eng. 1935. NY début 1956. Gave f. Hung. p. of Bartók's 2nd pf. conc., Budapest 1933, f.p. (with Ilona Kabos) of conc. for 2 pf. and perc., London 1942, and f.p. in Europe of 3rd pf. conc., London 1946. Noted player of Liszt. C.B.E. 1978.

Kenton, Stan(ley Newcomb) (b Wichita, Kansas, 1912; d Hollywood, 1979). Amer. band leader, pianist, and composer. Protagonist of 'progressive jazz'. Established reputation at ballroom in Balboa, Calif., where his Peanut Vendor became a hit. Wrote ballet Hommage to the Princess, 1956, for wedding of Prince Rainier of Monaco to Amer. actress Grace Kelly. Elaborate arrs. a feature of his later style.

Keraulophon (Gr.). Horn-pipe voice. Rarely-found metal labial org. stop of 8' pitch, resembling Fr. hn. in tone quality.

Kerll (Kerl), Johann (Kaspar) (b Adorf, Saxony, 1627; d Munich, 1693). Ger. organist and composer. Studied with Carissimi in Rome (and possibly with Frescobaldi). Kapellmeister, Munich 1656--73. Taught in Vienna 1674--7, becoming court organist 1677--92. Comp. operas, masses, motets, etc. Handel 'borrowed' from one of his canzonas for ch. 'Egypt was glad' in Israel in Egypt.

Kerman, Joseph (Wilfred) (b London, 1924). Amer. scholar and critic. Studied Princeton Univ. Prof. of mus., Univ. of Calif. since 1974, having previously been on staff 1951--71. Prof. of mus. Oxford Univ. 1971--4. Books incl. Opera as Drama (1956, in which Tosca is described as 'a shabby little shocker'), The Beethoven Quartets (1967).

Kern, Adele (b Munich, 1901; d Munich, 1980). Ger. sop. Début Munich 1924. Frankfurt Opera 1924--9. Vienna State Opera 1929--30, Munich Opera 1937--46. CG début 1931. Salzburg Fest. 1927--35. One of singers in famous Clemens Krauss perfs. of Strauss and Mozart in Frankfurt, Munich, and Vienna.

Kern, Jerome (David) (b NY, 1885; d NY, 1945). Amer. composer. Studied with Paolo Gallico. Wrote his first successful song in 1904. Comp. several popular musicals incl. Oh, Boy (1917), Sally (1920), Sunny (1925), Show Boat (1927), Music in the Air (1932), and Roberta (1933). Show Boat contained the songs 'Ol' Man River', first sung by Paul Robeson, and 'Can't help Lovin' dat Man of Mine'. Also comp. 'Smoke Gets in your Eyes' (in Roberta) and other popular melodies, several being featured in films.

Kerr, Harrison (b Cleveland, Ohio, 1897; d Norman, Oklahoma, 1978). Amer. composer. Studied Cleveland 1913--20, Amer. Cons., Fontainebleau, 1921 (comp. with N. Boulanger). Various teaching and admin. posts in USA and worked as a critic. Works incl. 3 syms., vn. conc., 2 pf. sonatas, str. qt., pf. trio, vn. sonata, Sinfonietta for chamber orch., opera The Tower of Kel.

Kertész, István (b Budapest, 1929; d nr. Herzliya, Israel, 1973). Hung.-born cond. (Ger. naturalization). Studied Liszt Acad., Budapest, and Rome. On staff Budapest Acad. 1952--7, then cond. at Györ, Hung., 1953--5. Cond. Budapest State Opera 1955--7, Augsburg 1958--63, Cologne Opera from 1964, prin. cond. LSO, 1965--8 and guest cond. of most leading orchs. Brit. début 1960 (Liverpool), Amer. début 1961, CG 1965. Drowned while swimming.

Kes, Willem (b Dordrecht, 1856; d Munich, 1934). Dutch cond. and violinist. Studied Leipzig Cons. and with Wieniawski and Joachim. Leader of several Dutch orchs., first cond. Concertgebouw of Amsterdam 1888, Scottish Orch. 1895--8. Cond. Moscow Phil. Soc. 1898, dir. Moscow mus. sch. 1901--5. Dir., Koblenz orch. and mus. sch. 1905--26.

Ketèlbey, Albert (William) (Vodorinski, Anton) (b Birmingham, 1875; d Cowes, I.o.W., 1959). Eng. composer and cond. Studied TCL. Cond. London th. orchs. Comp. comic opera, Concertstück for pf. and orch., wind quintet, but best known for orch. works such as In a Monastery Garden (1915), In a Persian Market (1920), Bells Across the Meadows (1921), and Sanctuary of the Heart (1924).

Kettledrum. See Drum.

Kettledrum Mass (Haydn). See Paukenmesse. Key. (1) As a principle in mus. comp., implies adherence, in any passage, to the note-material of one of the major or minor scales (see Scale)---not necessarily a rigid adherence (since other notes may incidentally appear), but a general adherence, with a recognition of the Tonic (or 'key-note') of the scale in question as a principal and governing factor in its effect. For instance we speak of a passage as being 'in the key of' C major, or F minor, and also use the same terms to describe a comp. (or movement) as a whole---in this latter case implying merely that the key mentioned is that in which the piece begins and sometimes but not always (e.g. Mahler) ends and is its governing one (see Modulation). If a piece in several movements is so spoken of it does not necessarily mean more than that the first movement (usually also the last one) is in that key. The element of key crept into European mus. in the early 17th cent., as the Modes gradually fell out of use: it remained of supreme importance to the end of the 19th cent. but in the 20th cent., many composers, led by Schoenberg, have abandoned tonality. See Atonal. (2) A lever on an instr. which is depressed by finger or foot to produce a note, e.g. on a pf. by finger, on an org. by foot, on woodwind by finger (the levers covering the airholes).

Keyboard. (1) A frame, or set, of keys presented in a continuous arr. The purpose of kbds. is to enable the 2 hands (e.g. on pf. or harmonium) or the 2 hands and 2 feet (org.) readily to control the sounds from a much larger number of str., reeds, or pipes than could otherwise be controlled. One standardized apparatus of this sort, which has been gradually developed over a long period, has come to be universally adopted: it is by no means the most convenient imaginable, but the conservatism of musicians will probably prevent its supersession unless some drastic change in the scales used in mus. (e.g. by the general adoption of Microtones) makes such a change imperative. The unchanging span of the octave is determined by the average span of the human hand. The earliest kbd. was, apparently, that of the org., used for perf. of sacred melodic plainsong. In those days, mus. was still modal and the longer finger-keys, as we still have them, were all that were needed. With the coming into use of the practice of musica ficta a B $\flat$  was found to be desirable and space for it was made by placing a short finger-key between the A and B $\natural$ . (It appears that a few kbds. like this still existed as late as the beginning of the 17th cent.) Other finger-keys were similarly added, and our present-day kbd. of 7 different long and broad keys and 5 short and narrow ones so came into existence. This still leaves out many notes (e.g. B $\#$ , if required, has to be played as C, F $\flat$  as E, etc.). The restricted no. of keys which the individual can manipulate, and the necessity of avoiding the high cost of providing a large number of extra organ pipes, str., etc., precluded the provision of further finger-keys, and the difficulty was overcome by methods of tuning, at first, partially, with Mean-tone tuning and then, fully, with Equal Temperament tuning (see Temperament). There have been a good many attempts at the invention of a kbd. which would be free (or largely free) from this principle of compromise, but whilst some of them have been scientifically interesting none has proved of practical value in mus. making. Various ingenious inventions, such as the Janko kbd., have also proved ephemeral. (2) The term is also used generally, as in 'keyboard works', to indicate that the works may be played on more than one kind of kbd. instr.

Keyboardof Light. See Prometheus---the Poem of Fire.

Key (Keyed) Bugle. Treble brass instr. of the ophicleide type, introduced about 1810 but fading from the scene when the modern cornet appeared. See also Kent bugle.

Keyed (Bass) Horn. Not a hn., but an improved form of Serpent, without that instr.'s twisting shape.

Key-note. The prin. (and lowest) note of the scale outof which a passage is constructed. Same as Tonic.

Keys, Ivor (Christopher Banfield) (b Littlehampton, 1919). Eng. teacher, composer, and organist. Studied RCM (1936--8). Ass. organist Christ Church, Oxford, 1938--40, 1946--7. Dir. of mus., Queen's Coll., Belfast, prof. 1951. Prof. of mus. Nottingham Univ. 1954--68, Birmingham Univ. 1968--86. Comps. incl. cl. conc., vc. sonata, choral works. Frequent broadcaster. C.B.E. 1976.

Key-Signature. The sign, or no. of signs, written at the beginning of each staff, to indicate the key of the comp. Use of a key-signature dispenses with the need to write accidentals (sharps or flats) for the notes affected throughout the comp. The keys of C major and A minor require no accidentals. The 'natural' form of the minor scale determines key-signature. Major and minor key-signatures are indicated thus: [In1]^The white note in each case represents the major key, the black note the minor key with the same signature (called 'Relative Minor'). It will be observed that, starting from C, the keynotes of the sharp keys rise 5 notes (a perfect 5th) each remove, and that the keynotes of the flat keys fall 5 notes (a perfect 5th) each remove. It will also be observed that in the sharp major keys the keynote is immediately above the last sharp. And that in the flat major keys the keynote is 4 notes below the last flat (i.e. is at the pitch of the last flat but one in the signature). And that 3 notes down any major scale we come to the keynote of its relative minor or, conversely, 3 notes up any minor scale we come to the keynote of its relative major. Note that keys with 6 sharps (F# major and D# minor) are (on kbd. instr.) the equivalents of the keys with 6 flats (Gb major and Eb minor), and that keys with 7 sharps (C# major and A# minor) are the equivalents of the keys with 5 flats (Db major and Bb minor). Thus composers use either one or theother of these signatures, but it is much easier to write in Db with 5flats than in C# with 7 sharps. The order of the sharps in the signatures is by rising 5ths, and the order of the flats by falling 5ths. Sharps---F^C^G^D^A^E^B---Flats[qc[el3]Thus, one order is the other reversed.

Khachaturian, Aram (Ilyich) (b Tbilisi (Tiflis), 1903; d Moscow, 1978). Armenian composer. Planned to be biologist, but at 19 became vc. student at Gnessin Sch., Moscow, later joining comp. class as pupil of Mikhail Gnessin. In 1929 entered Moscow Cons. as pupil of Miaskovsky. His Trio (1932)attracted the attention of Prokofiev, who arranged perf. in Paris. His 1st Sym. (1934) was a success at its f.p. in April 1935, but even greater was that of his pf. conc. (1936). Held various state posts. His 2nd Sym. and vc. conc. incurred official disapproval in 1948 and he switched to comp. of film mus. In 1950 he began to teach at Gnessin Institute and Moscow Cons. and developed as cond. of his own works,travelling to It., Eng., Latin America, and elsewhere. In 1956 his ballet Spartacus was acclaimed by Moscow critics as a masterpiece. His mus. is colourful and has continued the nationalist tradition of the St Petersburg sch. Prin. works:

ballets: Happiness (1939); Gayane (incorporating mus. from Happiness) (1940--2, rev. 1952; 2nd version with new plot 1957); Spartacus (1954, rev. 1968).

orch and chorus: Syms.: No.1 in E minor (1934), No. 2 in A minor(1943), No. 3 (1947); Dance Suite (1932--3); Poem about Stalin, with ch. (1938); 3 Suitesfrom Gayane (1943); Ode in memory of Lenin (1948); 4 Suites from Spartacus (Nos. 1--3, 1955--7, No. 4, 1967); Ode of Joy, mez. and ch. (1956); Lermontov Suite (1959).

concertos: Pf. in Db major (1936); Vn. in D minor (1940); Vc. in E major (1946); conc.-rhapsody for pf. (1955, rev. 1961); conc.-rhapsody for vn. (1961); conc.-rhapsody for vc. (1962).

chamber music: Vn. sonata in D (1932); Trio for pf., cl., and vn. (1932).

piano: Poem (1927); 7 Recitatives and Fugues (1928--66); Suite (1932); 3 Marches (1929--34); sonatina in C (1958); sonata (1961).

incidental music: Macbeth (1934, 1955); King Lear (1958).

films: Lenin (1948--9); Battle of Stalingrad (1949); Othello (1955).

Khamma. Ballet-pantomime in 3 scenes (légende dansée) by Debussy, scenario by W. L. Courtney and Maud Allan. Comp. and pubd. 1911--12 with pf. acc. Prelude orch. Debussy, rest by Koechlin under composer's supervision, 1912--3, f.p. Paris 1924. First stage perf. Paris 1947.

Khovanshchina (The Khovansky Affair). Unfinished opera in 5 acts by Mussorgsky to lib. by composer and V. Stasov. Completion and orch. by Rimsky-Korsakov, prod. St Petersburg 1886, Paris and London 1913 in version (now lost) altered by Stravinsky and Ravel, Philadelphia 1928. Later completed by Shostakovich (1959).

Khrennikov, Tikhon (Nikolayevich) (b Elets, 1913). Russ. composer. Studied at Moscow Cons. with Shebalin. Held various official Soviet posts; as sec.-gen. of Union of Soviet Composers, denounced Prokofiev and others for 'formalism' in 1948. Became leader of Soviet Composers' Union, retaining post for over 25 years. Teacher of comp., Moscow Cons. from 1963. Works incl. 3 operas, 3 syms., vc. conc., vn. conc., 2 pf. concs., songs, and film scores.

Kidson, Frank (b Leeds, 1855; d Leeds, 1926). Eng. scholar of folk-song and dance. One of founders of Folk-Song Soc. Authority on Brit. mus. publishing 1558--1830.

Kienzl, Wilhelm (b Waizenkirchen, 1857; d Vienna, 1941). Austrian composer. Studied at Prague and Leipzig Univs. and with Liszt at Weimar. Adopted Wagnerian principles for his 9 operas and mus. plays, mostsuccessful being Der Evangelimann (The Evangelist) (1894).

Kiepura, Jan (b Sosnowiec, 1902; d NY, 1966). Polish ten. Studied Warsaw. Début Lwów 1924 as Faust. Sang leading operatic roles in Vienna, Berlin, Milan, Budapest, and Buenos Aires 1926--39. NY Met. 1938--41, début as Rodolfo in La Bohème. Made career in films. Sang withwife, Hung. sop. Marta Eggerth (b 1912).

Kilpinen, Yryö (b Helsinki, 1892; d Helsinki, 1959). Finn. composer and critic. Studied Helsinki Cons. and in Berlin and Vienna. Mus.critic in Helsinki 1919--31. Taught at Helsinki Cons. State pension enabled him to compose. Wrote over 800 songs, also pf. sonatas, etc.

Kindermann, Johann Erasmus (b Nuremberg, 1616; d Nuremberg, 1655). Ger. composer and organist. By 15 was singing and playing vn. in concerts in Frauenkirche, Nuremberg. Went to It. 1635, possibly becoming pupil of Monteverdi and Cavalli. In 1640 becameorg. of Egidienkirche, Nuremberg, being also in demand as teacher. His Harmonia organica (1645) contains 25 contrapuntal pieces. Comp. over 100 pieces for wind or strings and many for str. and hpd. Perhapsthe first Ger. composer to employ scordatura.

Kinderscenen (Scenes from childhood). Suite of 13 pieces for pf. by Schumann, Op. 15, comp. 1838. No. 7 is Träumerei.

Kindertotenlieder (Songs of the death of children). Song-cycle of 5 songs for bar. (or cont.) and orch. or pf. by Mahler, to poems by Rückert. Comp. 1901--4, pubd. 1905, f.p. Vienna 1905.

Kindler, Hans (b Rotterdam, 1892; d Watch Hill, Rhode Island, 1949). Dutch-born (later Amer. citizen) cellist and cond. Studied Rotterdam Cons. Solo cellist with Berlin P.O. 1910. Went to USA 1914, prin. cellist Philadelphia Orch. 1914--21. Took up cond. 1927. Founded Nat. S.O., Washington, D.C., 1931, remaining cond. until 1948.

King, Alec (Alexander) Hyatt (b Beckenham, 1911). Eng. librarian, bibliographer, and critic. Joined staff Brit. Museum 1934. Supt., mus. room at BM, 1944--76. Authority on Mozart, Handel, and mus. printing.

King Arthur, or The British Worthy. Semi-opera in prol., 5 acts, and epilogue by Purcell to lib. by Dryden, but really a play with extensive mus. Prod. London 1691, NY 1800.

King Christian II. Play by Adolf Paul for which in 1898 Sibelius wrote incidental mus., suite from it (7 movements) being his Op. 27.

Kingdom, The. Oratorio, Op. 51, by Elgar for 4 soloists, ch., and orch. to words selected from the Bible. Comp. 1901--6. Sequel to The Apostles. F.p. Birmingham 1906.

King, James (b Dodge City, 1925). Amer. tenor. Began career as bar. Teachers incl. Max Lorenz. Prof.opera début Florence 1961 (Cavaradossi in Tosca). Made career mainly in European opera houses, singing Strauss's Bacchus in Vienna 1963, Siegmund at Bayreuth 1965, and Calaf in Milan 1968. Sang Emperor in Die Frau ohne Schatten at NY Met. (1966)and CG (1967).

King Lear. Mus. works inspired by Shakespeare's play (1606) incl. (1) ov. by Berlioz, Op. 4, comp. 1831; (2) ov. and incid. mus. by Balakirev, 1859--61; (3) 2 movements of incid. mus. by Debussy 1904; (4) opera by Reimann, 1978. (5) mus. by Shostakovich, comp. 1970, for Russ. film of Shakespeare's play in B. Pasternak's trans. Various opera composers, incl. Verdi and Britten, have contemplated but abandoned King Lear projects.

King of Prussia Quartets. Title given to the last 3 str. qts. written by Mozart---No. 21 in D, K575 (1789), No. 22 in Bb, K589 (1790) and No. 23 in F, K590 (1790)---commissioned by King Friedrich Wilhelm II of Prussia, a cellist (hence the prominent vc. parts). 6 were requested, but only 3 written.

King Olaf, Scenes from the Saga of. Cantata, Op. 30, by Elgar for sop., ten., and bass soloists, ch., and orch. on text by Longfellow with additions by Acworth. Comp. 1894--6, f.p. Hanley, Staffs, 1896, London (Crystal Palace) 1897.

King Priam. Opera in 3 acts by Tippett to his own lib. based on Homer's Iliad. Comp. 1958--61. Prod. Coventry 1962, Karlsruhe 1963, London (concert) 1980, Canterbury (and tour) by Kent Opera 1984--5, CG 1985 (cond. E. Howarth).

King, Robert (fl. London 1676--1728). Eng. composer of songs and th. mus. Member of Charles II's band from 1680 remaining in royal band until 1728. Promoted public concerts in London from 1689.

King Roger (Król Roger). Opera in 3 acts by Szymanowski to lib. by J. Iwaszkiewicz and composer. Comp. 1918–24. Prod. Warsaw 1926, Palermo 1949, London 1975.

King's Singers, The. Male-v. ens. of 6 singers (2 counterten., ten., 2 bar., bass) formed in 1968 and so called because orig. members, with one Oxonian exception, were choral scholars at King's College, Cambridge. Specialize in part-songs and in arrs. of various genres, incl. humorous songs. Range from Monteverdi to Noël Coward, with several works written specially for them by contemporary composers.

KingStag (Henze). See König Hirsch.

King, Thea (b Hitchin, 1925). Eng. clarinettist. Studied at RCM with F. Thurston (whom she married 1953). Prin. cl. London Mozart Players 1956–64, ECO from 1964. Member of Melos Ens. from 1974. On staff RCM from 1961. Specialist in 20th cent. Brit. mus., but has also revived 18th and 19th cent. works for cl., e.g. those by Crusell.

King, William (b Winchester, 1624; d Oxford, 1680). Eng. composer and organist. Organist, New Coll., Oxford, from 1664. Comp. songs, ayres, church mus.

Kinsky, Georg (b Marienwerder, 1882; d Berlin, 1951). Ger. musicologist. Teacher at Cologne Univ. 1921–32. Prepared catalogue of Beethoven's works, completed after his death by Hans Halm, pubd. 1955.

Kipnis, Alexander (b Zhitomir, Ukraine, 1891; d Westport, Conn., 1978). Russ.-born bass (Amer. citizen from 1931). Studied Warsaw, graduating as cond., then in Berlin. Sang in operetta, Berlin 1913. Hamburg Opera 1915–17, Wiesbaden 1917–22, Berlin Städtische Oper from 1919, Berlin State Opera from 1930. Left Ger. 1935. Vienna Opera 1935–8. US début, Baltimore 1923, Chicago Opera 1923–32, NY Met. 1940–6. Début at CG 1927, returning 1929–35 as Hagen, King Mark, etc. Sang at Bayreuth Fest. 1927–33, Glyndebourne (1936, Sarastro), and Salzburg. Also notable Lieder singer. Taught at Juilliard Sch., NY, till he was past 80.

Kipnis, Igor (b Berlin, 1930). Amer. harpsichordist and critic, son of Alexander Kipnis. Studied Harvard Univ. Worked for radio until taking up hpd. Début 1959. Contrib. to periodicals.

Kirbye, George (b c.1565; d Bury St Edmunds, 1634). Eng. composer of motets and madrigals. Contribution to East's Psalter, 1592. His 6-part Bright Phoebus was incl. in The Triumphs of Oriana.

Kirchner, Leon (b Brooklyn, NY, 1919). Amer. composer and pianist. Studied mostly in Los Angeles, with Stravinsky, Schoenberg, Toch, and Klemperer, and later with Bloch and Sessions. Taught at Univ. of S. Calif., Mills Coll., and Harvard Univ. (since 1961, becoming prof. of mus. 1966). Comp., in idiom of Berg and Schoenberg but not 12-note, incl.: Sinfonia, 2 pf. concs., 3 str. qts., conc. for vn., vc., 10 winds, and perc., pf. sonata, choral mus.

Kirckman, Jacob (b Bischweiler, nr. Strasbourg, 1710; d Greenwich, 1792). Ger. organist and composer. Settled in Eng. c.1730 to work for Tabel, hpd.-maker, and became first of line of distinguished hpd.-makers. Organist, St George's, Hanover Square. Wrote several org. pieces. Succeeded by nephew, Abraham, who extended business to pf. manufacture. Business merged with Collard, 1898.

Kirkby, Emma (b Camberley, 1949). Eng. soprano. Studied Classics at Oxford and taught before 1974 London début. Specialist in early mus. and has sung with Academy of Ancient Music, London Baroque, and Consort of Musicke. Amer. début 1978 and three tours of Middle East with lutenist Anthony Rooley. Repertory ranges from the Italian quattrocentro to arias by Handel, Mozart, and Haydn.

Kirkby-Lunn, Louise (b Manchester, 1873; d London, 1930). Eng. mez. Studied Manchester and RCM. Début London 1893 in Schumann's Genoveva. Début CG 1896. Carl Rosa Opera 1897--9, CG 1901--14, 1919--22, NY Met. 1902--3, 1906--8, 1912--14. Notable in Wagner roles. Sang Elgar's Sea Pictures in NY with Mahler cond. 1910.

Kirkpatrick, John (b NY, 1905). Amer. pianist. Studied Princeton Univ. and in Paris with N. Boulanger and Nouneberg. Member of mus. faculty, Cornell Univ. from 1946. Gave famous perf. of Ives's Concord Sonata, NY, Jan. 1939.

Kirkpatrick, Ralph (b Leominster, Mass., 1911; d Guilford, Mass., 1984). Amer. harpsichordist. Studied in Paris with Landowska and Boulanger. Début, Cambridge, Mass., 1930. Prof. of mus., Univ. of Calif. 1964, Yale Univ. 1940--76 (prof. from 1965). Biography of Domenico Scarlatti (1953) incorporated catalogue of his works which has been accepted as definitive, works being given 'K' nos. Ed. of over 60 Scarlatti sonatas, J. S. Bach's Goldberg Variations, etc.

Kirnberger, Johann Philipp (b Saalfeld, Thuringia, 1721; d Berlin, 1783). Ger. composer. Pupil of J. S. Bach 1739--41. Wrote many choral works and fugues for Klavier, also theoretical treatises. Violinist in service of Frederick the Great, 1751--4.

Kirshbaum, Ralph (b Denton, Texas, 1946). Amer. cellist and cond. Studied Dallas with Aronson and at Yale Univ. with Parisot, then in Paris. Début with orch. Dallas 1959. Settled in London 1971. NY début 1975. Plays in pf. trio with György Pauk (vn.) and Peter Frankl (pf.).

Kiss, The (Hubic<sup>h</sup>;ka). Opera in 3 acts by Smetana, comp. 1875 to lib. by E. Krásnohorská, after story by J. Mu;Akzáková (1871). Prod. Prague 1876, Liverpool 1938.

Kissentanz (Ger.). Cushion Dance.

Kit. Pocket fiddle, about 16" in length, used by dancing masters in the 18th and early 19th cents.

Kitezh, The Tale of the Invisible City of (Rimsky-Korsakov). See Invisible City of Kitezh, The.

Kithara. Ancient Gr. str. instr. shaped like lyre but plucked by fingers.

Kitchen Department. Humorous term referring to orch.'s perc. section.

Kittl, Johann Friedrich (Jan Bed;akrich) (b Orlik nad Vltavou, 1806; d Lissa, 1868). Ger.-Bohemian composer. Dir., Prague Cons. 1843--65. Friend of Wagner, who gave him his lib. Die Franzosen vor Nizza which he comp. as Bianca und Giuseppe (1848). Also wrote 3 other operas, 4 syms., chamber mus., songs.

Kjerulf, Halfdan (Charles) (b Christiania, 1815; d Grefsen, 1868). Norweg. composer, nationalist in feeling. Studied law but took up journalism in 1840 while studying mus. theory, eventually at Leipzig (1850--1). Returned to Norway as pf. teacher. Wrote over 100 songs, many being settings of Bj;Uprnson, choral and pf. comps. His songs combined influence of Ger. Lieder with Norweg. folk mus., paving the way for Grieg.

Kl. Abbreviation for Klarinette (Ger.), i.e. Clarinet.

Kl. Fl. Abbreviation for kleine Flöte (Ger.), i.e. Piccolo.

Klafsky, Katharina (b Sz. János, Hungary, 1855; d Hamburg, 1896). Hung. sop. In ch. of Vienna Komische Oper 1874. Tuition from M. Marchesi. Sang opera at Leipzig 1876--86. London début 1882 in Die Walküre. Hamburg Opera 1886--95. Sang in London 1892, under Mahler, in roles of Leonore (Fidelio), Brünnhilde, and Isolde. Returned 1894, adding Elsa and Agathe (Freischütz). Married cond. Otto Lohse 1895. Prin. sop., Damrosch Ger. Opera, NY, 1895--6. [ls1][bm2][cc27][ol7] Sharp_ Flat_ Major_ Minor_ Major_ Minor [ol4]
C G ^D | A ^E B ^F# ^C# G# D# | ^A# [ol4]
A E ^B F# ^C# G# D# | ^A# [ol4]
C F Bb Eb Ab ^Db ^Gb Cb [ol4]
A D G C F ^Bb ^Eb Ab [ol8] [ol0] [emlx[cc13][

Klangfarbenmelodie (Ger.). Melody of tone colours. Term introduced by Schoenberg in his Harmonielehre (1911) to describe the contrasts in timbre which he introduced in the 3rd of his 5 Orchestral Pieces (1909) and which now constitute a structural element in modern comp. comparable in importance with pitch, duration, etc. Further explorations into the possibilities of melodic construction with points of tone colour were carried out by Webern.

Klappenhorn(from Ger., Klappen, keys). Key Bugle.

Klarinette(n) (Ger.). Clarinet(s).

Klaviatur (Ger.). Keyboard.

Klavier (Clavier) (Ger.). Keyboard. Term for pf., hpd., clavichord, or any other domestic kbd. instr. In Eng. the word is chiefly used as synonym for organ manual.

Klavierauszug (Ger.). Pf. arr.

Klavierbüchlein (Little keyboard-book). Title given by J. S. Bach to 3 colls. of his kbd. mus.: (1) Pieces for the instruction of his eldest son, Wilhelm Friedemann Bach, 1720. (2) Similar but small coll. for his 2nd wife, Anna Magdalena, 1722. (3) Larger coll. for his wife, 1725, incl. some vocal pieces.

Klavierstück (Ger.). Pf. piece.

Klavierstücke I--XI (Piano Pieces I--XI). 11 pf. pieces by Stockhausen comp. between 1952 and 1956, with IX and X rev. 1961. Many new techniques of pf.-playing are introduced for perf. of these pieces. The XIth is one of the first works in open form. It has 19 sections printed on one large sheet of paper; the player has to play any piece at random, selecting his own tempo etc. Other permutations follow. F. complete p. Darmstadt 1966 (Aloys Kontarsky).

Klavierübung (Klavier Exercise). J. S. Bach's title, borrowed from Kuhnau, for hpd. and org. works issued in 4 sections; (a) 6 partitas or German Suites, 1731; (b) 2 pieces for double-manual hpd., the Italian Concerto and Partita in B minor (or French Overture) 1735; (c) org. works incl. 'St Anne' Fugue 1739; (d) Goldberg Variations, 1742.

Klebe,Giselher (Wolfgang) (b Mannheim, 1925). Ger. composer. Studied Berlin Cons. 1941-3, and with Blacher 1946--51. Worked for Berlin Radio. Uses serialism in several comps. Prin. works:

operas: Die Räuber (1957); Die Tödlichen Wünsche (1959); Die Ermordung Cäsars (1959); Alkmene (1961); Figaro lässt sich scheiden (Figaro seeks a divorce) (1963); Jacobowsky und der Oberst (1965); Das Märchen von der Schönen Lilie (1969); Ein wahrer Held (based on Synge's Playboy of the Western World) (1975); Das Mädchen aus Domrémy (1976); Das Rendez-vous (1977). (All dates are of f.p.)

ballet: Menagene (after Wedekind) (1958).

orch: Con moto; Divertissement joyeux; Die Zwitschermaschine; 2 Nocturnes; 4 Syms; conc. for vn., vc., and orch.; vc. conc.

chamber music: Va. sonata, 2 str. qts., vn. sonata, wind quintet, pf. quintet. Also choral works, pf. pieces, songs.

Kleber, Leonhard (b Göppingen, c.1495; d Pforzheim, 1556). Ger. organist at Pforzheim from 1521. Comp. pieces for org. and kbd. pubd. among 112 items in org. tablature (1521--4).

Klecki. See Kletzki, Paul.

Kleiber, Carlos (b Berlin, 1930). Ger.-born cond. (Austrian cit. 1980). Son of Erich Kleiber. Studied chemistry but turned to mus., Buenos Aires 1950. Répétiteur, Gärtnerplatz, Munich, 1953. Cond. Potsdam Opera, 1954--6, Vienna Volkstheater 1956--8. Cond. Düsseldorf Opera 1956--64, Zürich Opera 1964--6, Stuttgart from 1966, Munich from 1968. Cond. Wozzeck at Edinburgh Fest., 1966. Bayreuth Fest. 1974--6 (Tristan). CG début 1974 (Rosenkavalier). Milan 1977 (Otello). Guest cond. of leading sym. orchs.

Kleiber, Erich (b Vienna, 1890; d Zürich, 1956). Austrian-born (Argentinian citizen 1938) cond. Studied Prague Cons. and Univ. Cond., Darmstadt court th. 1912--18, Wuppertal 1919--21, Mannheim 1922--3. Gen. mus. dir. Berlin State Opera 1923--34, one of its most brilliant periods, incl. f.p. of Berg's Wozzeck, 1925 (after, it is said, 137 rehearsals). Amer. début 1930 with NY P.-S.O. Resigned post 1934 over Hindemith controversy with Nazis, leaving Ger. Cond. Buenos Aires 1937--49, Amsterdam 1933--8. British concertdébut 1935 (LSO). Début CG 1938, working there regularly 1950--3, cond. f. Eng. stage perf. of Wozzeck (1952) and notable Der Rosenkavalier perfs. Returned to post at Berlin StateOpera 1955, but resigned because of political interference before taking it up.

Klein, Kleine (Ger.). (1) Little, as in Kleine Flöte (little fl., i.e. piccolo), Eine kleine Nachtmusik (A Little Night Music). (2) Minor (of intervals).

Kleine Nachtmusik, Eine (A Little Night Music, or Serenade). Comp. in 4 movements (K525) by Mozart (for which occasion is not known) dating from 10 Aug. 1787. It is the Serenade No. 13 in G major, scored for 2 vn., va., and bass, or small str. orch. Orig. MS. recovered in 1955, indicates that a 5th movement, a 1st minuet, was torn out.

Kleine Orgelmesse (Little Organ Mass). Nickname for Haydn's Mass No. 5 in Bb (see also Grosse Orgelmesse).

Kleine Trommel (Ger.). Small drum. The side drum; otherwise Snare Drum.

Klemperer, Otto (b Breslau, 1885; d Zürich, 1973). Ger.-born cond. and composer. Studied Frankfurt Cons. and in Berlin with Pfitzner. Later encouraged by Mahler, whom he assisted with rehearsals of 8th Sym., Munich 1910. Cond. of opera Ger. Nat. Th., Prague, 1907--10, Hamburg 1910--12, Bremen 1913, Strasbourg 1914--17, Cologne 1917--24, Wiesbaden 1924--7, Berlin 1927--33 (first at Kroll Opera then State Opera). Cond. first Berlin perfs. of Cardillac, Oedipus Rex, Die glückliche Hand, etc. Cond. Los Angeles P.O. 1933--9. Seriously ill 1939, remaining partially paralysed. Cond. Budapest Opera 1947--50, Montreal S.O. 1950--3. Began assoc. with Philharmonia Orch., London, 1951, becoming prin. cond.

1959 and cond. for life in 1964. Cond. series of famous Beethoven concerts. Cond. and prod. Fidelio at CG 1961, Die Zauberflöte 1962, and Lohengrin 1963. Retired 1972. Comp. 6 syms., Mass, songs, etc.

